

I am worthy of wealth and abundance

I am worthy of wealth and abundance.

I know in my heart that the world is full of abundance. I also know that I am worthy of receiving and enjoying that abundance, both as my birthright and from my thoughts and actions that enable me to bring them into my life.

I know there is enough for everyone to live a life of abundance. I wish this for everyone.

I am worthy of wealth. I was born with the right to be wealthy and to enjoy a wealthy lifestyle if I so choose. Wealth is my birthright.

However, I also earn the right to be wealthy through my thoughts and actions each day. I live like someone worthy of great wealth.

I am putting my very best efforts out into the world. I am releasing the very best that I can produce for the world to consume.

I know that I have to give in order to receive. I share my time and money with others and abundance is returned to me.

But I know there is more to life than wealth. I am worthy of receiving an abundance of positive experiences, knowledge, and love.

I want all the abundance this life has to offer, and I know that I am worthy of abundance on every level.

I am completely open to everything positive the world has to offer.

Today, I allow myself to be wealthy. I allow myself to be abundant. I am confident that all the wealth and abundance I desire are coming to me as quickly as possible. I am continuing to make myself worthy. Wealth and abundance are mine.

Self-Reflection Questions:

1. What is the greatest gift I have to give to the world? How can I monetize that gift?
2. In what areas of my life am I already abundant?
3. In what areas of my life am I not abundant? What is my plan for bringing more abundance into my life?
