

I easily and effortlessly attract financial abundance

I easily and effortlessly attract financial abundance.

All the money I need is available to me. I have access to a never-ending supply of financial abundance.

My income is always increasing, and my potential income is limitless. Whatever I need appears to me whenever I need it. I easily and effortlessly attract money.

Life brings financial opportunities on a regular basis. I know that there is an opportunity right now that can add significantly to my wealth. If I keep my eyes open, I can see it.

I open myself to spotting these opportunities. I aggressively pursue them. I do my part to create financial abundance.

Steady financial progress is my goal. I am moving forward and consistently enhancing my financial position. I am committed to avoiding silly financial mistakes.

Money flows to me in unexpected ways from unexpected sources. I am regularly surprised by the way money appears in my life. I am financially blessed.

I express gratitude each day for the financial abundance in my life. My gratitude attracts even more wealth into my life.

Today, I am committed to allowing wealth to flow into my life. I accept the opportunities presented to me, and I pursue those opportunities to the best of my ability. I am easily and effortlessly attracting financial abundance.

Self-Reflection Questions:

1. What are the biggest financial opportunities I have missed? Why did I fail to recognize or pursue them?
2. What financial opportunities exist in my life right now?
3. Am I open to the idea of being wealthy? If not, why?