

My career is growing and evolving

My career is growing and evolving.

I happy with the direction my career is heading. My future is promising, and I am excited about my career prospects. Things are really happening for me right now. I expect good things to happen for me professionally.

I have clear and written goals for my career. I know where I want to be in one, five, and ten years from now. I have every intention of achieving these goals.

I fully intend to be successful.

I have all my work-related bases covered. I am on time and prepared each and every day. I am pleasant to my coworkers. I ensure that the amount of work I complete each day is significant.

I learn all I can from the people around me. I develop relationships that can help me in the future.

I build the skills I need to rise to the next level. I know my strengths and weaknesses. I leverage my strengths and work to strengthen the areas in which I am weak.

My resume is up to date, and my interview skills are growing. I feel confident I can handle a bigger job and more responsibility.

Today, I am committed to be the best employee I can be. I am keeping an eye on the future and looking for my next big break. My career is growing and evolving.

Self-Reflection Questions:

1. What can I do right now to grow my career and my prospects for the future?
2. What opportunities do I have at work that I am failing to take advantage of?
3. What is my dream job? What is my plan to get there?