My mind is a magnet attracting opportunity and abundance into my life.

My thinking is so powerful. It attracts opportunities and abundance to me. I choose to follow both my heart and my brain when considering an opportunity.

I learn that regardless of the amount of money another person makes, another job is always out there.

I resist the fear of change or unknown futures and trust my ability to attract opportunities that align with my desires. I focus on the things that interest me and cultivate my interests by doing activities that match my passions.

I am aware of the energy I put out into the universe. As I focus on things that interest me, I put out more positive energies.

People notice my positivity and start asking me questions. I get invited to events and occasions beyond my wildest imaginations.

I seek mentors to help me develop a skill or learn something new and surround myself with people who inspire me.

I remember that we are all connected, and one person's success affects everyone else. I honor my intuition and follow my gut instinct. I turn all rejections into learning opportunities.

I know that I am the only one responsible for my level of success.

Today, I accept that, despite my inability to control everything, I can control what I think! Therefore, I refuse to let fear dictate my decisions. I make choices based on what I believe and commit to making wiser choices today than yesterday.

Self-Reflection Questions:

1. What has changed today, either personally or professionally?
2. Am I allowing myself to dream big and pursue opportunities within my reach?
3. Am I allowing fear to dictate how I live my life?
