

Opportunities to build wealth are all around me

Opportunities to build wealth are all around me.

Making money comes easily to me. Whether I have a lot of money in my bank account right now is of little consequence, because I always have my ability to make more.

There are always ways for me to make the money I desire. I can see opportunities for building wealth in everything I do.

Sometimes, opportunities to build wealth may appear small at first, but I can see how, with patience and persistence, they can become excellent money-makers.

Not all wealth-building opportunities amass a great fortune overnight and that is okay.

I am open to the opportunities that surround me. Many times, the situations with the best moneymaking potential may present themselves in surprising ways, so I am ready at all times.

I look at wealth as something more than just money. True wealth is providing value to others and receiving that same value in return in whatever form of payment that it comes in.

If I seek ways to build wealth, I can find it.

I look to others that I admire and ask openly for guidance to help reach their level of success.

Today, I choose to seek out opportunities for building wealth. I am open to wealth in all forms and feel grateful for the many opportunities that surround me.

Self-Reflection Questions:

1. What forms of wealth are present in my life?
2. Has an unexpected opportunity ever helped to bring me wealth?
3. Who are some people I look up to that have achieved the level of wealth that I desire?
