

Tour Safely with DC by Foot

Beside sharing our love and great stories about Washington, DC our priority is making sure you enjoy your time with us safely.

BEFORE THE TOUR:

Tours are taken at your own risk. You are responsible for personal preparation on tours, including but not limited to bringing appropriate clothing, footwear, drinking water, and protection from weather.

Tours are rain or shine but tours may be delayed or rescheduled in event of severe weather. Guests who provide contact information will be contacted if a tour is delayed or cancelled.

DC by Foot and scheduled guides are available by text and email if guests have questions regarding weather, traffic, event delays but guests are responsible for how and when they arrive to and depart from tour.

The booking party is responsible for sharing all information regarding the tour and our Terms and Conditions with any other persons included in the reservation.

ON THE TOUR

Tours take place in urban environments. Use designated pathways, remain with tour group, and use caution when navigating roads, bike paths, and any obstacles in sidewalk.

In the case of unexpected circumstances, such as construction or parades, follow the directions of the tour guide to get through the area safely.

Minors must be accompanied by supervising adults on all tours.

Tours take place primarily outdoors. Guides will use best judgement for delaying, ending early or redirecting tours based on weather but guests are responsible for their own safety while on tour, including but not limited to listening to guide regarding finding safe cover nearby, following guide in event of rerouting, departing the tour area safely in the event of ending tour early.

AFTER THE TOUR

Your contact information is used solely to register and contact you regarding updates for the particular tour you reserved. This includes providing it to the assigned guide so they can share their contact information and asking for feedback after the tour.
