

I've been friends with Christine Bish for about five years now. She first appeared on my show INDIVISIBLE with John Stubbins in 2020, during our first season. Since then, she's returned as a guest multiple times as a candidate for the United States Congress representing California's 6th District, based in Sacramento.

As a veteran and citizen journalist, I regularly receive calls about government corruption. I vet these tips carefully and prioritize cases that are credible, substantiated, and important to the American people. I deal with whistleblowers, government insiders, and elected officials at every level.

About four years ago, Christine called me to discuss Representative Adam Schiff, following earlier conversations we had regarding Congresswoman Doris Matsui. At the time, Schiff was still in the U.S. House of Representatives. Since then, Schiff was censured by Congress and later ran for and was elected to the United States Senate in 2024.

Christine's investigation into Adam Schiff began well before his Senate campaign and includes serious allegations of mortgage fraud, among other violations. On April 30, 2025, she submitted a formal complaint to the Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA), focused specifically on Schiff's mortgage activity. Darren Ellis, a legal researcher and document preparer, assisted in compiling the report. The complaint included over 300 pages of documentation.

While the complaint centered on Schiff's mortgage filings, the broader allegations are substantiated by additional public records, including tax filings, voter registration history, and other verifiable data, which collectively point to a pattern of false representations and potential fraud.

On May 27, 2025, FHFA Director Bill Pulte officially referred the mortgage fraud portion of the case to federal prosecutors for review.

Then, on July 17, 2025, President Donald J. Trump publicly acknowledged the seriousness of the allegations and stated that Adam Schiff must be held accountable.

However, the mortgage issue is only one part of a larger set of concerns. The investigation outlines additional allegations that may involve:

- Voter fraud
- Homeowner's insurance fraud
- Theft by deception
- Lying under oath

Each of these may warrant separate criminal referrals and legal proceedings, depending on applicable jurisdictions and evidence thresholds.

As a citizen journalist with access to the evidence, I make this public appeal directly to President Trump: Please consider facilitating a formal meeting where this evidence can be reviewed in detail by appropriate federal authorities. The investigative file includes source documents, video interviews, media appearances, and supporting research.

It is also time for federal prosecutors with jurisdiction in California, Maryland, or Washington, D.C., to review the full scope of the allegations. If further indictments are warranted, they must proceed independently, guided by the law and the evidence.

If it is determined that Adam Schiff obtained his Senate seat through fraud or falsified filings, the Senate must be prepared to take appropriate action to investigate and, if necessary, expel him.

This case has gained the attention and support of credible investigative journalists and media outlets, including:

- Chanel Rion (OANN)
- Seamus Bruner and the team at Peter Schweizer’s Government Accountability Institute
- John Solomon (Just the News)
- Emerald Robinson (The Absolute Truth)
- Contributors at NEWSMAX, FOX News, Real America’s Voice, and other respected platforms

More information, including links to coverage, interviews, and official filings, can be found at SchiffExposed.com.

Stay Informed. Stay Engaged.

Visit SchiffExposed.com to sign up for updates on criminal referrals, prosecutorial actions, and accountability in government.

The rule of law must apply equally, no matter how powerful the individual is.

#SchiffExposed
John Stubbins