FRITZ-ALDER
PRECAST

A photograph of a construction site. In the foreground, a blue metal fence runs across the bottom. Behind it, a complex steel structure is under construction. Two workers in bright orange safety gear and hard hats are visible. One worker is on a ladder, and another is on a higher level. A large, rectangular concrete slab is being lowered into place by a crane, suspended by cables. The background shows a multi-story building with windows and some greenery under a clear sky.
