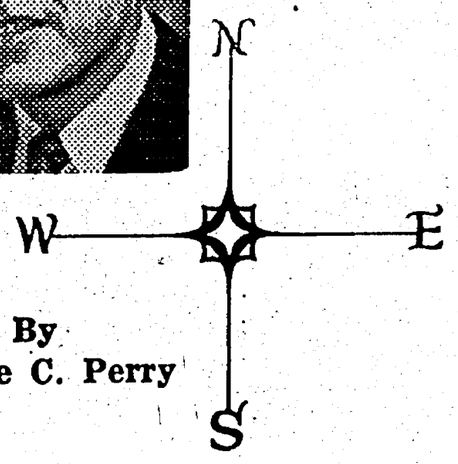
6. Name the man who journeyed from Pethor to the land of Moab, displeasing God. Even his ass could see that he shouldn't go, first balking, and then crushing his foot against a stone wall.

7. Naomi found herself a widow and grief stricken over the loss of two sons in the foreign land of Moab. Thus, she determined to return, with one daughter-in-law, Ruth, to her home-land. Name the historic city to which she went.

8. Why did Nehemiah leave Shushan, the palace of Artaxerxes, in Babylon to journey to the city of Jerusalem?



9. Name the prophet who, when directed by God to go to Nineveh, went rather to Joppa intending a voyage to Tarshish (the ancient equivalent of "the end of the earth") but was hindered by God's hand in fulfilling his plan.

10. Name three persons who travelled from Judea to Egypt so that the prophecy might be fulfilled: "Out of Egypt I have called my son."

ANSWERS: 1. Haran, Gen. 11:31-12:4; Acts 7:3, 4. 2. To seek a wife, Gen. 28:2. 3. To Egypt, to see his son Joseph, Gen. 45:25 ff. 4. Fleeing for his life, to Midian, Ex. 2:15. 5. Mount Nebo, Deut. 34:1. 6. Balaam, Num. 22:22-35. 7. Bethlehem of Judah, Ruth 1:19. To rebuild the walls, Neh. 2:1-8. 9. Jonah, Jonah 1:1-17. 10. Joseph, Mary, Jesus, Mt. 2:13-15.

HERE AND THERE

By
Eugene C. Perry

Vancouver, B.C.: A Teacher's Workship is planned for a Saturday in February to include all the congregations of B.C. and as far south as Seattle. The first of its kind in this area it is to be held in the Oakridge building.

One was baptized on November 17 and another the following Lord's day.

HERE AND THERE

Lethbridge, Alta., Nov. 4: "Bro. Jack Frost did the preaching in a recent meeting. According to Bro. Emerson Gould his preaching was "very disturbing to many" and dangerous. An article warning against this particular teaching and for the stated purpose of curbing it cannot be printed because of our pledge to keep the GOSPEL HERALD free of this matter for the present. Let us pray that the churches in southern Alberta might continue to serve the Lord in peace.

Calgary, Alta.: Lynn Anderson of Salmon Arm, B.C. preached a meeting here the first week in November. Just previous to this he held meetings in Swift Current and Lloydminster, Saskatchewan.

Edmonton, Alta.: "Another $100 of the evangelist's support is being assumed by us in Edmonton, providing some relief to the churches in Sherman and Tyler, Texas. Coupled with the $150 undertaken last year, we can see that a substantial progress toward self-support has been made.

"The payments on the building are to be completed in 1965, and this together with continued growth in membership should see us standing on our own in 1966.

"The 1964 budget was set at $145. raised from last year's $128." Contributions have been averaging $133 per week in contrast to $55.00 about two years ago.

"The congregation is at peace . . . showing increasing concern for bringing others to Christ. We have in some measure shared the Gospel with those in Whitecourt and Red Deer during the past year . . . The devotional guide, Power for Today, will continue to come into our homes in the new year, along with the wonderful Canadian monthly, the Gospel Herald.

HERE AND THERE

North Weyburn, Sask.: "Members of the Airport Church of Christ have purposed to give $144.13 weekly for the coming year. This is an increase of nearly 50% over last year's budget.

"In addition to aiding the Allen Bells in Africa, plans are to send $50 monthly to Ray McMillan, India, former student at WCC.

Moose Jaw, Sask.: Gerald Fruzia of Edmonton held a meeting in this place. He writes, "The meeting in Moose Jaw was most enjoyable, with evening crowds numbering from 55 to 97 during the two weeks. A fine eldership leads the congregation and Bruce Tetreau is the talented evangelist. The present meeting house is for sale and they hope to start construction on a $50,000 building in the spring. It is designed to seat 350. They are putting chairs in the aisle to handle their attendance now.

HERE AND THERE

Manson, Man.: We would like to report a meeting with Brother Clinton Brazle of North Weyburn. From October 27th till November 3 Bro. Brazle. had a training class for the children each night from 7.30 till 8 p.m. This proved very interesting for young and old. We have arranged to have Bro. Brazle with us for our fall meeting in '64." —A. H. Rogers.

HERE AND THERE

Sault Ste Marie, Ont.: Eastside: Clyde Lansdell of North Bay held a meeting here December 8-15. At least three were baptized. We understand that this church could still use help on the building expenses. Address, 331 Eastern Ave.

Ice Lake, Ont.: A few years ago we gave a missionary enroute to Nigeria many leftover copies of the Gospel Herald to stuff in his barrells when packing. A letter was directed from a group in Nigeria to the church in Ice Lake. Much checking and correspondence followed and it is now evident that a group of about 3000 in Nigeria split leaving about 300 still in contact with Bro. Harrell. As a result of his efforts, Bro. Joe Cross visited them and was invited to preach. This resulted in the baptism of 32 and the replacement of the denominational name on their building with the simple designation, Church of Christ.

Brother Harrell writes, "I have never been able to determine just how they knew about the church at Ice Lake but from remarks made in some of their letters I think they must have taken it from a Gospel Herald. So you see, your labours have not been in vain either."

The Harrell family have been blessed in the arrival on December 3 of Byron Leslie and Brother Harrell has asked us to mention in the Gospel Herald their great gratitude to the many churches and Christians that have "literally showered us with gifts."

Word has been received that the Personal Work class taught by Bro. Kenneth Reed of the University of Alabama will come with him to Manitoulin Island in late August. About thirty of them will spend ten days teaching from house to house while Brother Reed holds a meeting.

Sudbury, Ont.: The bulletin issued for this church by Brother Bethel Bailey under the title "The Pathfinder" has been enlarged to several pages and renamed the "Canadian Missionary" with the stated purpose of keeping the brethren informed of progress especially in the northern area of this province. We had been attempting to do the same but no doubt there is plenty of room for more. From it we quote, "At the end of the year the congregation in Meaford, Ont. will be discontinuing their support to the Sudbury work. Is there a congregation that can accept this responsibility? . . . $20.00 monthly.

"Brother John Frost and family of Sundridge are making definite plans to move to Sudbury to assist

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

NORTHERN RHODESIA

Bro. J. A. Brittell writes from Sinde Mission: "The critical conditions are closing in, causing the immigration of Europeans to other lands. The future outlook of the African Christian is not bright. Some few isolated villages seem to be less affected by the present conditions. One of these is village Simalundu, about 86 miles down in the Gweembe Valley, where headman Simalundu and his 400 subjects were shifted from the Kariba area where the Dam was built.

"They are really raw Africans. Orville, BaPetrose and some of our older boys have been working with these for some time. They found them without a school, many without clothes, but worst of all, without Christ. They have daily classes with 80 children, teaching them to read simple English and Tonga so they may be able to read the Bible. They are also helping them make clothes for the children. Each morning the headman and from 30 to 75 others come for chapel. The headman seems to be a very sensible and hardworking man.

"It seems that God has opened this door to take Christ to an untouched portion of His great vineyard. Pray that others may hear the call and reclaim other portions so infested with tares, before the door is closed."

Bro. H. E. Peirce reports 25 baptisms in the past two months and the starting of the 11th and 12th congregations near his "headquarters" in Lusaka, in the vast copper mining regions near the Congo border.

At Kabanga Mission, near Kalomo, there is a pressing need for more school teachers. The missionaries are given the direction of the public schools and are permitted to teach Bible daily to all the students.

SOUTHERN RHODESIA

Baptisms at Nhowe Mission totaled 316 during the first nine months of 1963. Workers there include Bro. and Sis. Roy Palmer, Bro. and Sis. Rhinard Troup, Bro. and Sis. Mark Legg, Bro. Blayton Waller, Bro. and Sis. Lloyd Gifford, and Sis. Monica Steininger. Sis. Troup and Sis. Steininger are both graduate nurses and operate the infirmary, treating some 700-800 patients each month, as well as teaching daily women's Bible classes. Several evangelists have gone out from Nhowe to begin churches in other areas. Bro. Dick Clark now works among the natives in Salisbury, the capital. Bro. and Sis. Jesse Brown, now on leave in the United States, plan to start a new work in Gatooma when they return, and Bro. and Sis. Loy Mitchell, also in the United States, will move from Nhowe to a new work in Umtali when they return.

The Hillcrest church in Abilene is in need of some help to keep the Nhowe mission out of debt.

AUSTRALIA

Bro. Ron Durham reports that there are now 37 members of the church in Perth, Western Australia, more than three times as many as there were last year.

Bro. and Sis. Carmelo Cassela are returning to the United States for a visit in December. They work in Brisbane, Australia.

LEBANON

Bro. Everett Huffard who preaches in Jerusalem, Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan, and Bro. Andy T. Ritchie, Searcy, Arkansas, recently helped with a gospel meeting in Beirut, Lebanon, where Bro. Carl Matheny preaches. Three were baptized.

SYRIA

Bro. Everett Huffard has written from Jordan asking that some church send missionaries into Damascus, Syria, where good contacts have been made for the church.

VARIOUS COUNTRIES

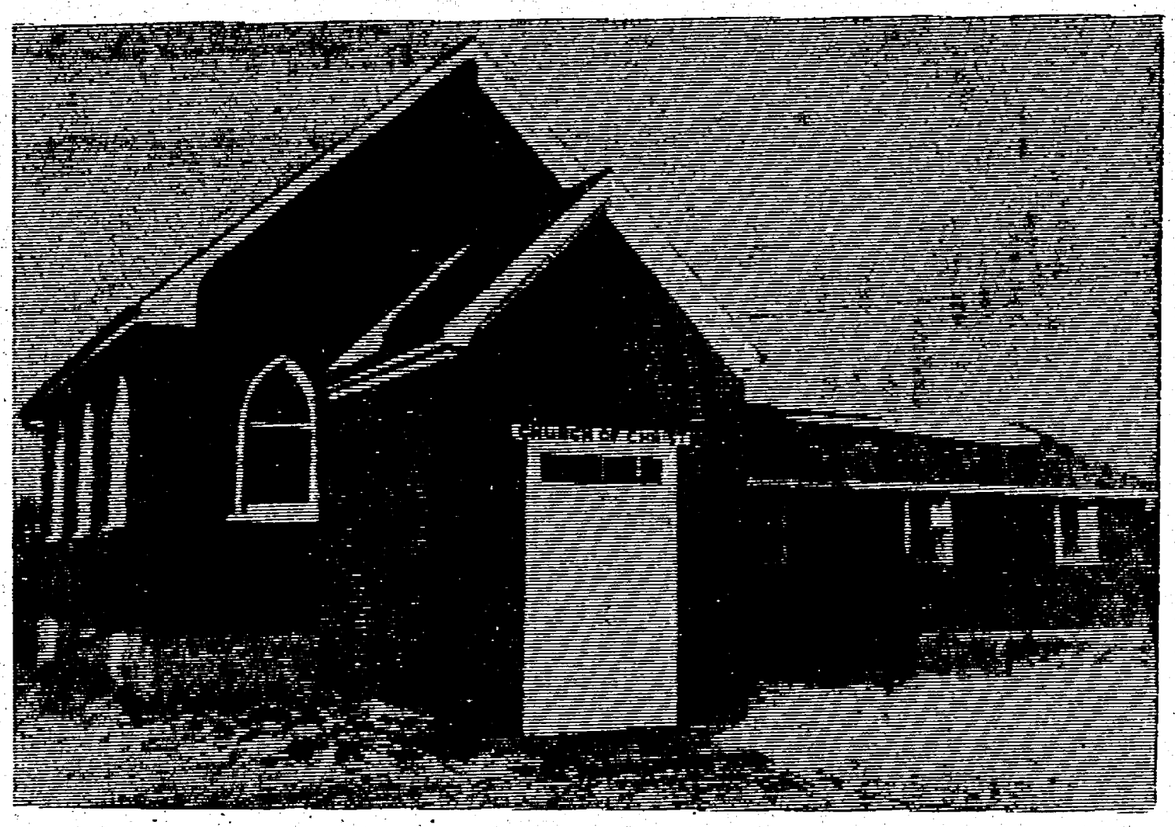
The following summarizes some of the advertising programs offering Bible Correspondence Courses in many parts of the world, some in countries where there is yet no church or no missionary.

The small church in Anaconda, Montana, has completed translation of the first lessons of a Bible course to be distributed in Ecuador. A Chilean native, working as a translator for the Anaconda Copper Co., has done the work for them. The course is being advertised in the only national magazine in Ecuador.

The church in Alhambra, California now has 22,941 families studying the Bible by means of correspondence courses.

Bible study courses are also being advertised in newspapers in Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa.

The church in Pompano Beach, Florida, is making plans to advertise Bible study courses in local newspapers in Liberia, in advance of the arrival on that mission field of Bro. Van Tate, now preaching in Pompano Beach.



Brethren in Denmark have raised the necessary funds to place ads in six or seven leading magazines in that country.

Bro. Wallace Hayes and Bro. Richard Kruse are placing an ad in the Finnish Readers' Digest.

During the past 18 months the church in Lahore, Pakistan, has been offering a Bible study course through advertisements in the Pakistan Times, an English language newspaper. More than 500 students have enrolled. Bro. Gordon Hogan, the missionary there, has received threats of physical harm if he did not stop advertising "Bible education system business." He is continuing the same work.

The Luxemburger Post, which goes into 10,000 homes in the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, is carrying ads for Bible courses in English, German and French, prepared by missionaries in Brussels, Belgium, and paid for by the church in Redondo Beach, Calif. French-language lessons are already being sent by the church in Brussels to students in The Cameroons, Chad, Congo Republic, Madagascar and Upper Volta.

CHURCH OF CHRIST, GRIERSVILLE, ONT.

Griersville Meeting House

In glancing over the records of the church, the first service was held on November 23rd in 1879 in a meeting house about four miles south of the present location of the church building. About the turn of the century a building was purchased in the hollow just north of Griersville and used until 1942. It was about this time when S. M. Jones held a meeting here in which 27 were baptized. It was this same year when the present building was erected chiefly by members of the congregation. In the fall of 1960 our building became inadequate for our attendance, and a new addition was built on to the building to be used for classrooms.

At one time the congregation reached a very low ebb, since many of the older members had moved away, or passed to the great beyond. When I was a boy, many talented men served at Griersville in the persons of the Elfords, Whitfields, MacKays and many others, especially Brother Philip White, the Davisons, the Canns and many others. Since 1930 the work has been left mostly on younger shoulders. Owing to my limited education I haven't done any more than my duty which certainly wasn't elaborate. But with the co-operation of the brethren we are striving for the faith that was once and for all delivered unto the saints.

We have an adult class and several younger classes each Lord's day morning, and Bible study once through the week. Our membership at present would be between 50 and 60, but like many others, they are not all regular in attendance. Some of our brethren help in the services at Heathcote and Vandeleur congregations.

Through the years many preachers have held meetings at Griersville such as C. W. Petch, G. B. Hancock, W. F. Neal, S. M. Jones, Fred Cowan, W. F. Cox, C. G. McPhee, J. C. Bailey, John Whitfield and many others. We invite you to visit with us at any time when it is convenient for you to do so.

CHURCH OF CHRIST VANDELEUR, ONT.

On behalf of the members of the congregation that meets at Vandeleur, which is in the Markdale area, we extend our thanks to all who have been so deeply concerned and have helped us in this small part of God's vineyard.

We started meeting in the Vandeleur Community Hall on May 16, 1962. We have had three classes in Sunday school, and worship each Lord's day until the present. Some of the speakers have been: Clyde Lansdell, Marvin McDonald, Morris Cann, Philip Petch, William Smart, Walter Dale, Stanley Baker, Grant Preston, Leslie Cramp, Robert Davison and Ermon Bains.

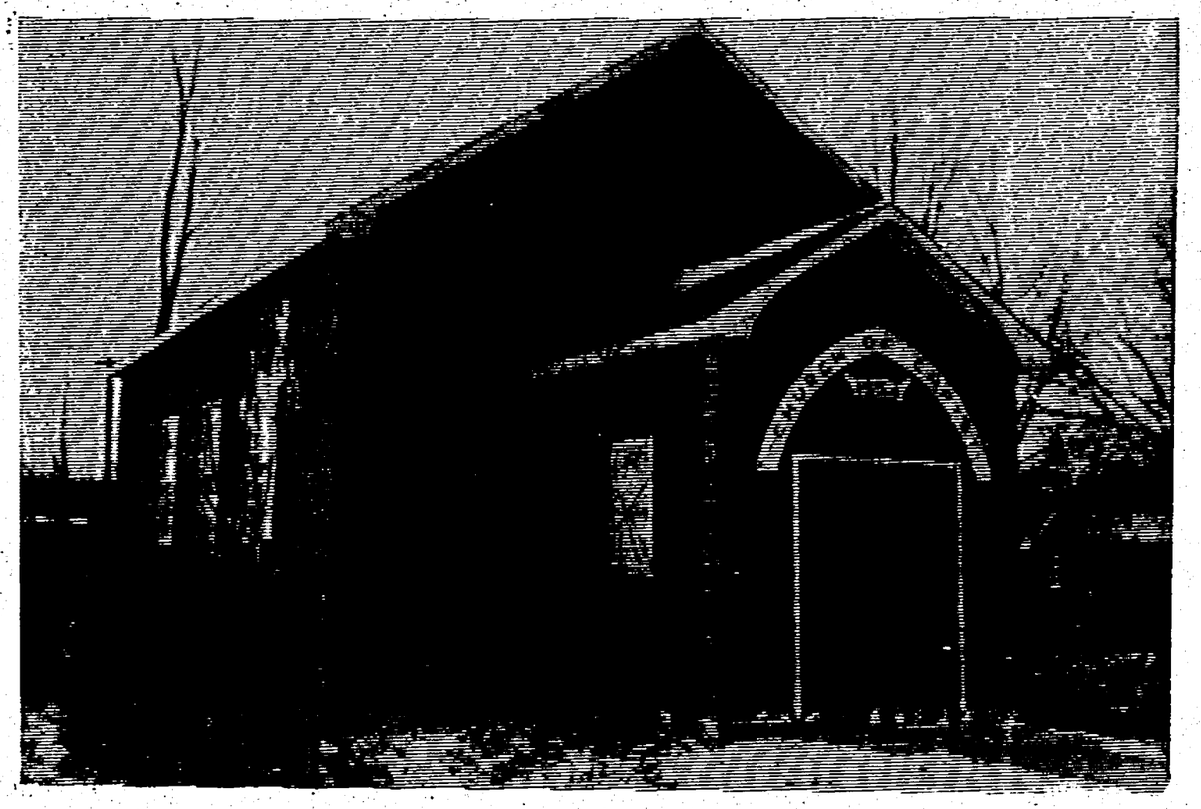
We also have group Bible studies each Thursday night at one of the homes of the brethren, with the help of Brother Louis Pauls and his wife. We look forward to this as a help to us through each week.

The attendance on Lord's day is fourteen faithful members, their children and some two or three visitors.

While we have not had additions to the church, as we would hope to have in the future, I feel that growth has taken place. In a reasonable length of time the brethren, one and all, have grown in ability, being able to take part in any activity of the worship service. This makes our efforts more than worthwhile.

We anticipate building in the near future and lay aside a portion towards that end. In closing this brief report we ask for your prayers that the work here may continue and prosper that we might abide in the love of Christ, Who is the Head of all things even to the church.

—Don Petch



(Since the Meaford congregation makes it possible for us to drive to Vandeleur each Thursday to assist these good brethren, we are constrained to ask you to read this report over again the second time. The talent that has been developed within this small group in such a short while is really commendable. They need help with a regular speaker as well as a new building as soon as possible. Why not write a letter of encouragement to them while you think of it? The purpose of these special issues should be partly to encourage one another unto love and good works. L. Pauls)

HERE AND THERE

Christ For the World will be discontinued on CHLO St Thomas, and CKLB, Oshawa, at the first of the year. The programme is being moved from Orillia CFOR, to Barrie, CKBB. New time and station will be 6:30, Sunday evening, 950 on the dial. Tentative plans are being made for North Bay.

Jordan, Ont.: Average collections have increased each month from $264.88 in July to $302.09 in November with a high of $332.04. Two baptisms have been reported recently, one a lady in Welland.

CHURCH OF CHRIST HEATHCOTE, ONT.

Heathcote Meeting House

As many of the older brethren will recall a well established congregation once met at Cape Rich. This was the home of the late W. F. Cox. This part of the country was taken over by the government for war training purposes, which caused the church to close in that area. However, several members settled in the Heathcote district and with the few members in that area they met for worship in a hall.

Sometime in the fifties they built a meeting house of their own, and since that time their numbers have decreased, as at least two families have moved away. There are still about twenty members, but they do not have a full time preacher. Brethren from Meaford and Griersville help with the work there. Several members are descendants from the Griersville congregation.

Brother J. C. Bailey has held meetings there, also Brother C. G. McPhee who tells of a full house at the time of the opening service of the present building. The last special meeting was held by Bro. Pennock back in 1959 when there were six additions.

—Written by Morris Cann

(There are six congregations within half an hours drive from Meaford, counting Meaford itself. There is a great opportunity in this immediate area. The new building at Barrie has just been opened up in October. There is no reason why the work should not grow with such opportunities! L. Pauls)

CAN PREACHERS BE CHALLENGED?

A few months ago I wrote an article in the Gospel Herald, hoping to challenge our preachers to support Bro. Ray McMillan in India. In the article I suggested that if each preacher would contribute just $5.00 per month, Bro. McMillan would be assured of his support. I further stated that if any preacher absolutely could not affort such a donation he should write me and I would send him the $5.00.

I received but one response. A young preacher in Ontario wrote an encouraging letter stating that he was going to send his $5.00 and that some of the brethren in the congregation he serves would also be contributing on a regular basis.

When I wrote the first article, only ONE preacher in Canada was supporting Bro. McMillan. There are now THREE.

"I'd rather see a sermon than hear one anyday".

OUR DEPARTED

BURDETT

On November 19th, the kindly, gentle spirit of Sister Laura Burdett, answered the call that awaits us all and her redeemed and immortal soul took its flight to realms beyond. Her stay of 92 years on earth was a longer journey than most of us will make. While here her life was an adornment in the kingdom of God. She was faithful to her trust through years of anxiety, while she waited on her companion, without complaint. She could always see the good in others. She loved the church and her brethren in the Lord.

Sister Burdett was born in England, where she married and her family was born. She was born again into Christ at Geach Street, Birmingham, before coming to the land of her adoption. For a period of time she resided in Saskatchewan, later moving to St. Catharines, where she has been a faithful member of the Lord's Church since 1914. Up until near the end, her mind was clear and she took a great interest in her family, friends and church. Most of her friends in life had crossed the river of death, and those who remained did not think of her leaving home, but going home.

In her immediate family, she leaves three sons and one daughter, Oliver, Buffalo, N.Y., William, Largo, Florida; Ernest, St. Catharines and (Dora) Mrs. Stanley Hughes, Niagara Falls, N.Y., together with other relatives and a host of friends in and out of the church.

On November 22nd., amid flowers and tears the congregation assembled at the Tallman Funeral Home to look for the last time at the kindly features of a Mother in Israel, who loved and was loved by all who knew her.

HERE AND THERE

Ottawa, Ont.: November 17 saw 76 in attendance for Bible classes which meant the attaining of a goal standing for some two years. A fine preacher's home has been built next to the church building. Collections are running over $100 per week.

NEWMARKET, ONTARIO

by Bro. Dennis Bromley, 158 Cherrywood Drive

In September, 1959, my family and I moved to Newmarket. Upon arriving we worked with the Pine Orchard congregation.

In March, 1962 we were able to utilize the public school, here in the subdivision for Sunday afternoon Bible school classes. Bro. and Sis. Clare Preston from Stouville, Sis. Gladys Stevens of Sharon, and Bro. and Sis. John Slater of Toronto, offered their services to help with the teaching. Bible class attendance now numbers in the sixties. We are confident that God will bless them for their devotion to this work.

Gladys Steven's Class Of 11, 12, 13 Year Olds

John Slater's Class Of 9 and 10 Year Olds

Entire Group

In December, 1962 Bro. and Sis. Calvin Nelson began to help Sis. Nelson teaching one of the classes as we found it necessary to form a new one due to expansion.

In March, 1963 we began a worship service following the Bible classes with Bro. L. Wesley Jones doing the preaching:

In September, 1963 Bro. and Sis. Wesley McCloud moved into the subdivision and at the same time Bro. and Sis. Clarke Preston let it be known that they would drive up from Woodbridge to lend their assistance.

It was decided at this time to include the breaking of bread in the afternoon service. Thus, the work here has now developed from the Sunday afternoon Bible classes to the formation of a new congregation of the Lord's Body numbering 12 adults and 15 children. We regret the loss of the Clark Prestons but his work has called him back to Northern Ont. once more.

Tuesday evening Bible study is now being conducted in member's homes and a meeting of young people on Saturday evening in our home here in North Newmarket.

We are now endeavouring to raise support to secure Bro. Ron Meecham as full time evangelist. Our appeal for support has reached many of you already, but if there are others of you who can help us we would be most grateful.

The Church here wishes to take this opportunity to thank Bro. Jones heartily for his wonderful encouragement and support. He has certainly been an inspiration to us all.

In '64 the Church is planning: (1) to secure property for a building, (2) to make arrangements with Bro. Jones for an area wide convassing drive and Gospel meeting (3) to hold its first vacation Bible school this summer.

Anyone wishing further information concerning the work here is invited to write to Bro. Dennis Bromley, 148 Cherrywood Dr., Newmarket.

with the work there."

Sarnia, Ont.: Bro. Friley of Port Huron speaks once each Lord's day. We regret to hear of some dissatisfaction here over the "one cup" issue resulting from the ill chosen efforts of a recent visitor. May peace and harmony reign.

Toronto, Ont., Strathmore Blvd.: Brother H. Dale, elder and long time faithful worker, has moved to London where it is expected that he will be useful to the young church there. Contributions for September and October averaged $343, about $12 above budget.

Cornwall, Ont.: "Parcels have already arrived, also money. Many thanks to all who have helped . . . If any of the churches have used bedding of any kind, we have a family now attending services that could use it. Also clothing for almost any age. Cornwall has been a depressed area for five years so there is an open door here for welfare work of all kinds." — Thomas Hotchkiss.

PINE ORCHARD, ONTARIO

The forming of the Church of Christ at Pine Orchard occurred about 1904, when a few members who lived in this district and were meeting with the Church of Christ at Stouffville felt the need for local meetings.

Brother Charles Brandon, Sr. opened his home for the Lord's Day meetings. Worship continued here until the home could no longer accommodate the conngregation, at which time they engaged the Temperance Hall, on the fifth concession of Whitchurch Township just north of Pine Orchard corner.

At this location Brother Charles W. Petch held a protracted meeting, at which was a good response to the gospel preaching. At a later date he purchased a farm in this district and laboured with the congregation.

They continued to worship at this location for approximately nine years, prior to the erection of the church building on its present site in 1916.

Under capable leadership and co-operative effort the work of the Lord progressed in this district.

By this co-operative attitude and the effort put forth by the membership, they were privileged to host the June Meeting on June 11th and 12th, 1932; with Brother H. McKerlie as the guest speaker.

This was one occasion when our well known June Meeting was held in a tent.

We enjoyed and deeply appreciated the co-operation of the WHOLE community. The Agriculture Society at Newmarket provided the tent (free gratis). Roadhouse and Rose at Newmarket supplied chairs (no charge) and without solicitation the neighbors contributed baking and other foods; as we provided meals for all who attended. Truly a community effort to further the work of the Lord.

In 1959-60 we felt the need to expand our facilities and added a basement to the present building, which gives greater advantages for Sunday School and other work. In 1962 our members numbered forty three. The membership was widely dispersed, coming from Newmarket, Uxbridge and Stouffville, as well as the local community.

A hearty invitation is extended to all to come and worship with us.

COLLINGWOOD, ONTARIO

The church in Collingwood, after having met in homes and rented halls for a number of years, moved into their present building located at 171 Ste. Marie Street in October, 1946, with a total of seven members. There was a congregation of the church in Collingwood before the turn of the century but it was lost in the 'digression' and the introduction of instrumental music.

For a number of years various individuals met in homes and rented halls to try to continue the practice of New Testament Christianity in this city.

In recent years Bro. Frank Kneeshaw has been instrumental in keeping the church assembling, although rapid progress has not been made. The church has been limited with regard to male members to lead and take an active part in any kind of program of work.

Due to geographical location and lack of industrial development there has not been a rapid increase in population of this area, but rather the church has lost members as they have searched elsewhere for economic security.

With outside support the church has had a number of men to assist in pulpit preaching during past years. Clinton Elliott, Al Stroop, Jim O'Neal and Lorne Ashby have worked with this group. In April of 1960 Bro. Jim Hunt and his family moved to Collingwood and worked with this congregation for three years. Bro. Hunt worked especially hard but with little visible results. I believe he acquainted many people with the New Testament church. He was limited by a lack of co-workers and funds to secure necessary tools with which to work.

In August, 1963 the writer's family moved to Collingwood to help in the work here. We now have 16 attending members. There are yet the many limitations of previous years, but we believe that many of these things will soon be removed from the path of progress.

A number of congregations in Kentucky and especially Warren

Bro. and Sis. Woodrow Hazelip

County are supporting the Hazelips. Lehman Avenue of Bowling Green is most active in this support. Other assistance is planned. We believe the highlight of our work thus far will be realized in the Campaign for Christ in the summer of 1964. Pray for us that the Word may have free course.

SAULT STE MARIE, McNAB STREET

Our work with this congregation in Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario began November 1st of this year. We appreciate the confidence of the brethren in asking us to serve here. It is our prayer that the Lord will be able to use us in this part of his vineyard and that we will be able to serve Him faithfully.

WHO FAILED?

There is a strong likelihood that those from Arkansas would score as high as those from Michigan or Ohio.

The most disturbing implication in the results of these tests is not that a group of freshmen made bad scores in a Bible test. The real surprise is, that a large number of young people, ninety per cent of whom are members of the Lord's church, would score lower than the national average of young people entering denominational colleges. As a people we once had the reputation of being strong on our knowledge of the contents of the Bible. Can it be that this is no longer deserved?

When these young peopole could not answer the questions correctly, others, many others, were shown to have failed. Let us notice some of those who were involved in this failure.

Many parents obviously had failed to bring up their children in a knowledge of God's Word. They may have given them food, clothing, security, comfort and pleasure — perhaps too much pleasure — but they failed to give them a knowledge of God from the only reliable source. The pressures of modern living have caused some parents to be too busy to take a personal interest in their children's spiritual education. Some Christians have turned this responsibility over to the church and the school completely with disappointing results.

The fact of the matter is that many churches have failed to instruct their young people on an effective basis. Bro. Benson reveals that 55% of these freshmen "did not know who wrote II Timothy; 31% did not know the position of the Book of Jude in relationship to other books in the Bible; 56% did not know who wrote the Book of Acts; 92% did not know in which of the four gospels to find the conversation on the new birth between Jesus and Nicodemus."

Preachers have failed to instruct their hearers in the great fundamentals of the faith. Young people who sit at the feet of many preaching brethren are starving for the Bread of Life and are not having it served to them. Some of these men are preaching sermons regularly which blend philosophy, morality and ethics, but which do not ground the hearers in exact Bible teaching on matters of human need and human destiny. Fortunately this class of preacher has not been attracted in any great numbers to Canadian churches.

Bible school teachers have failed in their efforts to teach effectively. We are emphasizing the need for good graded classes and materials more than ever before. Obviously, some churches have not taken this matter seriously enough.

Elders have failed to feed the flock. Many godly elders have done a remarkable job of overseeing the teaching program of the churches under their oversight. In some cases, it seems that the elders have failed to make sure that the educational program of the congregation was Bible - centered and effective. There are few worse failures that could be laid to their charge.

We are optimistic enough to believe that these failures can be overcome in future years. This will not be accomplished by wishful thinking. Neither will it be corrected by a refusal to admit the failures of the past. This new year should mark the turning point.

Let us begin together a positive and vigorous program to make our young people the best - informed young people on earth in Bible knowledge. This program will begin in Christian homes. It will continue in the Bible school and church. Nothing but our best is good enough in this vital effort. LEARN MORE IN 64!

NONPROGRESSIVES

to be found in both the National and World Councils. The warnings of Communist infiltration and Roman Catholic learnings are not completely unfounded. The World Council has evolved from a loose collection of churches seeking a common ground for unity into an ecclesiasticism—a superchurch body—which is determined to dominate and unite its members at any cost. It is obvious that the affiliation of the "digressives" with such interdenominational bodies has destroyed their plea for New Testament Christianity.

Yes, the "nonprogressives" can teach these digressive brethren a number of lessons. The first is that it is dangerous to put human desires above a "thus saith the Lord." Secondly, when the emphasis on saving souls is removed from our teaching or preaching, we have lost our reason for existence. It is an indication that we either do not know fully the desperate need of mankind for salvation or, worse, we do not care. Finally, history teaches that man's attempt to remedy supposed shortcomings in God's plan for the church can lead only to disaster. The Missionary Societies, open membership and affiliation with bodies in the Ecumenical movement are retrograde steps.

While we are patting the loyal churches on the back for their stand against these things, it might be well for us to note that some of the complimentary things said about our brethren in this article are only partly true.

There is little reason for us to be self - satisfied or complacent. Many of our pulpits have ultra-soft preaching. Many of our people are relatively uninformed about fundamental doctrines. The morality and ethics of our people could stand considerable improvement. In short, while we contrast favourably with open digression, we fail in the application of the things for which we are noted.

May God give us of His grace that our love for Him "may abound yet more and more in knowledge and all discernment; so that ye (we) may approve the things that are excellent; that ye (we) may be sincere and void of offence unto the day of Christ; being filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are through Jesus Christ, unto the glory and praise of God." (A.S.V. Phil. 1:9-11).

MADRAS, INDIA

To the Readers of the Gospel Herald:

We have moved from Shillong, Assam to Madras in India. We now have what we hope will be our address as long as we are in India. So we would like all correspondents to take note of our new address:
J. C. Bailey,
Annex 19, Aspiran Garden,
Madras 10, India
This does not affect the mailing address of other workers. Brothers Donald Perry, David Hallett, and Ray McMillan will still get their mail at Mawlai Phudmawri, Shillong, Assam. (It is as far by railroad from Shillong to Madras as it is from Regina to Montreal and a few more miles for good measure.)

During the first month of living in Madras seven have rendered obedience to the gospel. (There were twelve obeyed the gospel when I was here in the summer.) The Christian Church preacher has taken his stand with the local church here. He was born a Brahmin. He talks English fluently but his native tongue is Tamil. He shall act as my interpreter and translator. I hope to see him preaching entirely on his own in the very near future.

The tract work is continuing. When we get from the printers the material that is there we shall have put out more than 30,000 tracts. These have been put out in three languages and the work of translating is not yet completed.

The readers of the Gospel Herald have seen these tracts in articles published there from my pen.

Last week we got a parcel from the good sisters of a congregation. We had to pay more than ten dollars in duty. Clothes are needed here but are not the pressing problem, food is. This is a hot country and people do not need many clothes but they do need to eat. FOR THE PRESENT WE WOULD SUGGEST THAT YOU JUST SEND US THE VALUE OF THE POSTAGE ON THE PARCEL YOU WOULD SEND AND WE SHALL SEE THAT SOME ONE EATS. We are not talking for the brethren that are working in Shillong. There is a greater need for clothes there and if they can make arrangements to us them then do not let what I have said detract from sending THERE. I AM SPEAKING FOR OUR WORK IN MADRAS.

We have found a brand new house to live in. It has plenty of room and it is in a very beautiful spot. It is a long way to the nearest denominational church. WE THANK GOD.

We could not use direct contributions of money in Assam. We can here. It is not safe to send it without registering it but we can use cash, or American Express Money Orders.

Give us the tools and we shall get on with the job.

They Shall All Be Taught Of God — Jesus

To everyone that is alive to the affairs of the church they know that the work of the church in India has been largely neglected. It is true that years ago there was some work here but so far as I know it was all swallowed up by the digressives. Several American brethren in recent years made a determined effort, or efforts, to enter India but always they were refused visas by the Indian government. Then it was discovered that Canadians could enter without visas. There are now four men here from Canada and two of us are married.

The first duty of the Christian is to tell the story. It is for God to give the increase. How could we reach the most people with at least one message? We can not use radio here. We have found out that these people love to read. They will accept and read a religious tract much more readily than they will in Canada. Also they will print them here for about one third of what it costs in Canada.

We could put out 1,000,000 tracts in the four years we are here. This means, of course, that many will put out t acts beside myself. Bro. Ray McMillan put out 1800 tracts in one day. Yesterday we put out 3800 tracts here in Madras. We are putting out tracts every day. If we had more Tamil tracts we could have gone over the 4000 mark. We ran out of Tamil tracts. So you can see this is no idle dreams. DO YOU WANT TO SAY WHEN I COME HOME THAT WE HAVE DISTRIBUTED IN INDIA ONE MILLION TRACTS? SHALL WE BE ABLE TO SAY ONE MILLION SOULS HAVE HEARD AT LEAST ONE MESSAGE?

I do not intend to spend all my time giving out these tracts but we can use members here that need the few rupees we would give them to buy rice. We would be accomplishing two things. You can have 4000 tracts printed for just over $4.00. HOW MANY THOUSANDS CAN THE LORD DEPEND ON YOU PUTTING OUT? GIVE US THE TOOLS AND WE SHALL BE DILIGENT IN THE WORK.

Fields White Unto Harvest

On November 24th we began a meeting in a hut that cost us about $25.00. This was our first effort to reach people of the Telugu race with the gospel. There were good crowds from the beginning and good interest as the results testify.

There were 37 baptized into Christ. All of these were heads of families but two. Some had been nominal Christians, some had been Hindus and one had been a Roman Catholic. That we are happy hardly describes our reaction. We are convinced that many more are ready to obey when they hear the gospel preached.

I have never been busier in my life than I am right now in this work. My health has never been better to meet this challenge.

And to think that only months ago we thought that the door into India was closed. Let us see that we neglect not this open door. How wonderful are the ways of the Lord.

This morning Brother Paul Nathan called on a man that is a doctor with whom we have been working for some weeks. He told Paul he would be chased from the house if he were baptized. We are praying hard for this man. In India up to now we have baptized many more men than women.

WORSHIP WITH THE KHASI

By Donald E. Perry,
Shillong, India

It is a new experience for me and my fellow - workers and family to worship in an assembly where "unknown tongues" are used. The Khasi language is unknown to us and the English is unknown to a number of the Khasi Indians who worship with us here in Shillong, Assam, India. Most of the worship services are in Khasi, a tribal language of about six hundred thousand people here in the Khasi hills of Assam. We preach in English and a translation is made into Khasi as we speak. Our worship experience under such circumstances is often not very edifying.

Here in Mawlai (a suburb of Shillong the capital of Assam State) we meet three times on Sunday and twice during the week for regular worship and study. Meetings on Sundays are at 10:30 a.m., 2:00 p.m., and 7:30 p.m. Sunday morning we have no preaching as such but a separation into classes after the Lord's Supper. Otherwise the order of service is much the same as in most places in Canada. No collection of offerings is made on Sunday morning, but rather in the afternoon after preaching. The Lord's Supper is also (to those absent in the morning) served in the afternoon but with no comment or prayers. Usually a young man is asked to read the scripture lesson and lead in prayer. This is usually done with no previous preparation or plan. Week meetings are on Wednesday and Saturday evenings. These are usually study meetings though we find it difficult to realize a two way communication in teaching due to the language problem. The Sunday afternoon service is usually the largest in number of people present. Twenty-five or thirty may meet then. There are often only ten or fifteen present for the other services.

The songs are sung from small song books that have been prepared from songs taken from Christian Hymns Book I. They are in Khasi with the music at the beginning of the song in "do" "re" "me's". We follow along being familiar with the English songs and are gradually becoming familiar with the same songs in Khasi. We sing some but understand little of what we sing. During reading and prayer we are pretty well on our own. Remarks made at the Lord's supper are not understood by us. Preaching certainly is limited when it must be done through a translator. We have several Khasi brethren here that can translate for us, and we believe they do a fairly good job. The emotional force is difficult to deliver through a mediator and it is probably difficult to work up the same feeling when one must wait for translation from sentence to sentence. We are working on the Khasi language but it comes slowly.

We feel frustrated sometimes. We are used to watches that we can check against accurate time regularly. Here few people have watches. When they do have them they are often incorrect. It does not seem to bother them if they meet too early or too late in terms of announced times. Sunday morning they usually meet closer to eleven o'clock than ten-thirty, and in the afternoon on Sunday the meetings usually start before the planned two o'clock time. Other meetings may be off—often early, though sometimes late. We would like to see more planning and preparation go into the worship services, as well as into the whole program of work. We do not wish to force our ways on them but hope to establish a working relationship with the brethren here that will enable better planning to take place.

Sunday school classes here are very poorly planned and taught. I teach a class in English each Sunday morning and my wife takes our small children in a class. My class often has just those of us from Canada in it though sometimes others do come in. There is one class for small children taught in Khasi, and one adult class in Khasi. I hope that we might be able to realize some improvement here. The length of time allowed for the classes seems to be indefinite. Sometimes there is no class for the children at all, i.e., the Khasi children.

The building we worship in is adequate for the most part. There are no heating facilities so that in the winter it can be quite cool sitting. A number of the windows have not been put in yet. Breezes can blow through. The building is of concrete structure. The electric wiring is in but we use kerosene lanterns. We sometimes run into difficulties with the pressure lanterns but can usually see to read. I am not sure how soon we can get the electricity installed. Soon I hope. I don't really care to be pumping the lantern during a sermon.

Our worship here in this situation is something new for us; sometimes frustrating, not always edifying. We try to be in the spirit but often do not have the understanding.

SHILLONG LETTER

Mawlai Phudmawri
Shillong, Assam, India
December 11, 1963

Since returning from Calcutta the first part of November, with the Jeep, I have had some opportunity to get out to visit in villages. In any direction from Shillong one must travel through hills. There are opportunities of preaching the gospel in these villages, for people will come to listen, especially when we have the amplifier along. By using the amplifier on the Jeep battery we have done damage to it and will have to replace it. This is rather unfortunate as we will have to replace it with an Indian made battery which will not be as good. It will cost us about $35.00.

We baptized a Kasi boy who has been associated with the church and school here. We are holding home teaching meetings Monday night now. Usually we are able to teach some in such meetings who will not come to the church building. We are endeavouring to establish a working arrangment with the brethren here so that we can plan with them to further the cause of Christ here.

Yours in Christ
Donald E. Perry

OUR DEPARTED

SISTER SIGNE BERTINA MACLEOD

Sister Signe MacLeod, nee Jelsing was taken to be with Christ on Saturday, November 30, 1963. Her body was laid to rest in Hillcrest Memorial Gardens at Saskatoon on Wednesday, December 4, 1963. Sister MacLeod had suffered for almost two years with an incurable illness. She is survived by her husband Hector, five sons, Donald, Warren, Arden, Ian and Peter and one daughter, Lavina Ann.

Sister MacLeod obeyed the gospel while she was going to high school in Radville, Sask., in 1927, and since that time she has maintained a keen interest, and taken an active part in the work of the church wherever she has been. She was one of the first of the young people in the church in Saskatchewan to attend a Christian College. In the thirties, she attended a session at Freed Hardeman College in Tennessee. She took an active part in conducting Summer Bible schools in the southern part of Saskatchewan and was a strong advocate at the beginning of the Radville Christian College, now the Western Christian College, and has been a strong supporter ever since. She always made it her policy to be present on the Lord's day no matter how far she had to travel to be there.

Sister MacLeod taught school for many years in Saskatchewan until failing health prevented her. She taught for many years when salaries were very low and payment was partially made with a promissory note.

In 1933, Signe was married to Brother Hector MacLeod and to them were born four sons and one daughter. Her children on coming to years of accountabily have obeyed the gospel and many are taking an active part in the work of the Lord.

Sister MacLeod's patient enduring of suffering was an inspiration to the many who visited her both at home and in the hospital during her illness. She calmly made plans for the passing over and carried with her the ever-present wit that made her company so charming. She never complained about her lot and when she suffered pain, she was careful to hide it behind a cheerful smile. The writer has enjoyed the hospitality of her home often and feels that his life has been enriched by knowing her.

At the funeral service, many hymns were sung by Christians who knew and appreciated her. We look forward with sweeter anticipation to being with Him who saved us and those whom we love in Christ.

Wilfred Orr

SISTER MARGARET WREN

The hearts of the congregation of the church at Windsor were saddened by the passing of one of the pioneer sisters of this area on November 18th, 1963. Sis. Wren had nearly reached the three score year and ten mark, and the life she lived as a Christian is one that can be commended to young and old alike.

She will be sorely missed by all here and especially by her survivors, Bro. Charles Wren and his family, but what a joy to know that none of us need sorrow as those who have no hope, for she surely knew in whom she believed and was persuaded that He was able to keep her until this day. Her faith never wavered, neither did her steps falter, for she was an earnest contender for the faith and never missed an opportunity where she could join in the study of His word. She continued steadfastly in His doctrine until the Lord's Day previous to her passing to be with Him and so we can say with the revealed word of Christ to John in Revelation, blessed are they that do His commandments that they may have a right to the tree of life and may enter in through the gates of the city. We believe that this right can be claimed by our beloved sister and I'm sure, should she have lived in Biblical times, she would have been referred to by the apostles as one of the faithful women.

May those thoughts of her past encourage us, and may the thoughts of her life beyond console those who remain and may all of us so live that we, too may be able to claim access to our everlasting home and eternal life.

SERVING GOD

By Robert W. Lawrence, Worcester, Mass.

It is significant that the Hebrew language uses one and the same word to denote work, service and worship. In biblical thought, serving God is not limited to certain religious ordinances; religion must bear upon every area of life or it is next to worthless. The teaching of the Bible is that the child of God is serving Him as truly at the worker's bench as in the church pew. "Whatever your task," Paul exhorts, "work heartily, as serving the Lord and not men" (Colossians 3:23).

For Israel serving God was not simply submitting to some cosmic force; it was rather "having personal dealings with Someone." (Nature exhibited God but it did not exhaust the idea of God.) In both testaments, service to God must be undivided. "Thou shalt have no other gods before me" and "No man can serve two master."

It can be helpful to think of serving God in terms of covenant, conversion, and commitment.

COVENANT

The God-Abraham covenant ceremony is described in Genesis 15:7ff. The term comes from the sacrificial custom of dividing the animals in two and passing between the parts. It is richly symbolic and the text states that "a smoking fire pot and a flaming torch passed between these pieces," and "on that day the Lord made a covenant with Abram . . ." (15:17f). An additional feature of a covenant is seen in Jeremiah 34:18: "And the men who transgressed my covenant and did not keep the terms of the covenant which they made before me, I will make like the calf which they cut in two and passed between its parts." A covenant had terms and to break the terms was to break the covenant.

Numerous individual and limited covenants are mentioned in the Bible. But in the course of redemption, the writer of Hebrews can speak of two—a first and a second, or an old and a new 8:7, 13). The new covenant, of which Christ is the mediator, has made the old which came through Moses, obsolete. In each covenant there were two partners assumed, closely linked but not on equal footing. One commands, the other must obey. It belongs

Mercy Or Sacrifice, Which?

By Paul Mann, Matthew 9:13

But when the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the angels with him, then shall he sit on the throne of his glory: and before him shall be gathered all the nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as the shepherd separateth the sheep from the goats; and he shall set the sheep on his right hand, but the goats on the left. Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: for I was hungry, and ye gave me to eat; I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink; I was a stranger, and ye took me in; naked, and ye clothed me; I was in prison, and ye came unto me. Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee hungry, and fed thee? or athirst, and gave thee drink? And when saw we thee a stranger, and took thee in? or naked, and clothed thee? And when saw we thee sick, or in prison, and came unto thee? And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these my brethren, these least, ye did it unto me. Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into the eternal fire which is prepared for the devil and his angels: for I was hungry, and ye did not give me to eat; I was thirsty, and

THE COMMAND ALL MUST OBEY

By J. C. Bailey

THE BIBLE IS TRUE. There are a number of reasons why I accept that statement. I shall tell you one reason why I believe that the Bible came from the mind of eternal God. The prophecies of the Bible are fulfilled. No man can foretell the future with accuracy. The Bible never errs. Therefore it is not the product of man but of Jehovah God.

The Bible tells us in Isaiah chapters 13 and 14 that Babylon would be destroyed. History tells us that Babylon was destroyed, and in the way that God said it would be destroyed. The Bible tells us in Zephaniah, chapter two and in the book of Nahum how Nineveh would be destroyed. History shows us that is just what happened. The Bible tells us that Tyre would be destroyed. This prophecy is fulfilled in the most minute detail. Read about it in Ezekiel chapter 26. Then pick up any good history book and you will find that every one of these cities is in the exact condition today that the Bible foretold thousands of years ago. We have given three examples but we could give hundreds of examples. (If you get a copy of our tract IT IS TRUE, you can gain more information from it.)

The God who foretold these remarkable things has commanded all men to repent. Listen! "The times of ignorance therefore God overlooked; but now He commandeth men that they should all everywhere REPENT; inasmuch as He hath appointed a day in which He will judge the world in righteousness by the man whom He hath ordained; whereof He hath given assurance unto all men, in that He hath raised Him from the dead (Acts 17:30, 31). God appointed a day in which He judged Nineveh, Babylon and Tyre. In each case these nations failed to repent of their sins. Now God is going to some day judge all men. I know this is true by what He has done.

Why is Punishment for Sin Long Delayed?

Why does this world with all its wickedness stand? I shall show you why. "The Lord is not slack concerning His promises as some count slackness; but is longsuffering to you-ward, not wishing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance" (II Peter 3:9). So we can go on in sin if we choose and face a fate worse than the fate of Tyre, Babylon, or Nineveh. We can repent of our sins, turn to the Lord Jesus Christ and have the hope of life eternal. He who never lies has promised just that. He has said: "And having been made perfect, He became unto all them that obey Him the author of eternal salvation" (Hebrews 5:9). Are you willing to follow Nineveh, Tyre and Babylon into the fruit of unrepentant life or will you surrender to God in repentance?

Why We Should Repent?

Listen to the Word of God: "Or despiseth thou the riches of His goodness and forbearance and long suffering, not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?" (Romans 2:4). God gives us the sunshine. God gives us the rain. God gives us the bounties of harvest. God gives us the heart to love and be loved. The closer we come to God the greater this is. This is subject to proof. Jesus said to judge a tree by its fruit. The fruit of Christianity is good. Do we despise, and go on living in our sins?

Again we read: "And He said unto them, Thus it is written, that the Christ should suffer, and rise again from the dead the third day; and that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in His name unto all the nations, beginning from Jerusalem" (Luke 24:46 and 47). God showed His supreme love in that He sent His Son to die for us. HE CONQUERED DEATH. He assures us that if we obey Him that we too shall rise from the dead to die no more. In order to reach this happy state we must REPENT. We must know no other allegience but to Jehovah God through Jesus Christ.

Too often we look on the sins of others and think that they should repent of them, and they should, but we fail to see that we must repent of our sins. Jesus said: "I tell you, Nay: but except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish" (Luke 13:5).

What is Repentance?

What does God require of us when He tells us to repent or perish? Some say that to repent means to be sorry for our sins. Repentance is more than being sorry for our sins, "For godly sorrow worketh repentance unto salvation" (II Corinthians 7:10). Judas was sorry for his sins but he went out and hanged himself. Our sorrow must be GODLY sorrow. Sorrow is not repentance but it will WORK repentance.

Jesus gave us examples to show us what repentance is. He said the people of Nineveh repented (Matthew 12:41). We find that the people of Nineveh turned every one from his evil way (Jonah 3:10). Jesus said that a certain young man repented when he did what his father told him to do (Matthew 21:29).

Have you repented? Have you turned from your evil way? Are you resolved to do the will of your Father who is in heaven? If you have not then you have not repented. WHY SHOULD WE PERISH?

NOTICE OF WITHDRAWAL

The churches in Canada are urged to take notice of the fact that the brethren in Montreal are no longer in fellowship with Roy Shaw and Della (Bourdage) Shaw. This action was taken in July of 1963 because of their entering an unscriptural marital relationship. It is hoped that correction will be made by them in due course.

NEEDED: CHURCHES WHO WILL REPRODUCE THEMSELVES

M. Norvel Young

A R Holton impressed me with a sermon at the Vermont Avenue church in Los Angeles several years ago. The main point was that every church should be reproducing itself. Each church should be producing more Christians than she receives from other areas. She should be producing more elders and preachers than she is using.

I know of hundreds of churches who have grown simply because they are receiving more Christians than they are losing, but many of them are not reproducing themselves. If they were deprived of Christians transferring to them, they would gradually die out.

I would like to stress the responsibility of each church to multiply, to reproduce Christians. Especially would I like to lay on each congregation the challenge to produce more gospel preachers.

Are elders doing their duty if they call on others to supply the dedicated and prepared gospel preachers the congregation needs? Should Bible class teachers be satisfied if they do not inspire some boys to become preachers? Should parents be content if they do not, as a group, provide such a home environment that a significant number of boys do not choose to preach Christ? Many boys do not aspire to become gospel preachers because their mothers and fathers do not want them to make this choice.

There is a critical shortage of prepared and dedicated preachers. Millions have been spent to provide new buildings but relatively little time or money has been spent to prepare preachers to preach in them!

It is time to take stock. Check and see how many faithful preachers your congregation has produced in the last thirty years, then see how many preachers have been used by the congregation. Some of you will be pleased but many will be disappointed.

May I challenge each Church of Christ to take the essential steps now to produce more humble, faithful, zealous ,gospel preachers.

REFLECTIONS:

Words are the vehicles of thought. The Old and New Testaments are revelations of the mind of God — Words, announcing the thoughts of God. Human language was chosen, for even though the message originated in the Eternal Mind, it was addressed to the human mind.

Many key words of Scripture cannot be limited to the uses, definitions grammatical constructions of the Bible. Church, saint, Christian and baptism are illustrations. For example, we live on St. Vincent Street.

When seeking to understand a Bible passage, we search for the Bible meaning of the word. In conversation and literature, we are at liberty to use such Bible words other than as they are used in the Bible.

Just so, we are at liberty to express Scriptural truth with other than Bible words; as, for example, we do when we use the word "Bible" itself.

These things should be in mind when we use such good and useful expressions as, "Speaking where the Bible speaks," etc.

THE CHRISTIAN AND HIS WILL

M. Norvel Young

This is a special thirty-four page pamphlet edited by Walter Burch and published by 20th Century Christian. It meets a need which some of us have felt for years. It answers many questions which serious Christians have been asking about wills. John C. Stevens, Robert S. Bell, T. E. Burch, William J, Teague, John F. Hay, Jesse P. Sewell, Omar Bixler, and Jim Bill McInteer are some of the writers. Every Christian should have a will and he or she should make it count for Christ. Through the generosity of a friend a free copy of this pamphlet will be mailed to you if you will write to me at 7851 South Budlong Avenue, Los Angeles 44, California.

SPIRITUAL MATURITY — A PREREQUISITE TO UNITY

November 22, 1963, will go down in history as a day of shock and sorrow to the people of the free world. A young man in the prime of life was struck down by an assassin's bullets. Two weeks ago during a visit to Dallas, we talked to a young doctor and his wife who were in the crowd when the tragedy struck. They described the sudden excitement, the incredulity and the horror that came over the people when the presidential car sped away, carrying its terrible load of wounds and death. John F. Kennedy now belongs to the ages. For better or for worse, his race is run.

Nearly two thousand years ago another young man was put to death by fanatics. His death did not seem to shock the crowds. His burial was not attended by kings. No effort was made to apprehend, his murderers. His death seemed to put the lie to His claims. How wrong can man's judgment be?

After three days, He acted. 1. He arose from the tomb; 2. called a nucleus of trusted followers together, 3. convinced them of His power over death, and 4. gave them a commission and a promise. "He led captivity captive and gave gifts unto men." 1. Sin could no longer hold men. 2. The fear of death was removed. 3. Even the grave could be conquered from this time forth.

Three great purposes are stated: 1. The perfecting of the saints; 2. The work of ministering; 3. The building up of the church. In reality these blend into one great purpose — Spirituality Maturity — The Prerequisite of Unity.

I. WHAT IS CHRISTIAN MATURITY?

A. Spiritual maturity is the ability in spiritual affairs to hold true values. Give a baby a ten dollar bill and he will likely tear it up. Give an eight-year-old the bill and he will buy candy or toys. Give it to a mature person and he will spend it wisely. Most adults understand the value of money.

Paul prayed that the brethren at Philippi might learn how to "approve things that are excellent" (Phil. 1:10). Sometimes we may be carried away by the goal of mere members or the false philosophy that "the end justifies the means." Sometimes brethren are so anxious to erect their own set of values that they trample under foot the things that the Lord counts valuable. Notice again the passage where the voice of inspiration tells us that love is greater than faith (I Cor. 13:13). Some of my brethren have turned this around to make faith the more important. Spiritual maturity will show love toward the unlovely.

B. It is the ability to be not easily offended.

The size of a man can be measured in part by the nature of things that offend him. Children can be offended by significant things. Mature people learn to save their objections for things that count.

Brethren need to learn how to differ on matters of opinion without raising barriers to agreement on matters of faith.

C. It is ability to admit mistakes. A mature Christian will place truth above personal pride. Many great difficulties in church work have hinged around some personality who was too small to admit an error of judgment. One of the most difficult admissions from man are the three words: "I was wrong." A big man will be able to do this.

D. Christian maturity is the state where Christianity means more than life. A mature person says with Paul: "I have been crucified with Christ, and it is no longer I that live, but Christ liveth in me; and that life which I now live in the flesh I live in faith, the faith which is in the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me" (Galatians 2:20).

TEACHING GOD'S WORD

HOW ADULT TEACHING CAN BE IMPROVED No. 3

H. Ralph Perry, London, Ontario

We continued our study of some of the main methods to choose from in teaching adults.

4. Panel

This is a form of discussion where a selected group discusses a topic before an audience or the rest of the class. The teacher usually acts as moderator. The panelists discuss informally the topic under consideration after the moderator gets the discussion under way.

The rest of the class should be allowed to ask questions and make comments after the panel is finished. The moderator must sum up the lesson and see that a proper Bible answer or conclusion is reached.

The panel members should have opportunity to get together on the topic before serving. The panel should include various view points on the topic. The topic should be of first hand experience or personal interest to the panelists and class.

5. Symposium

We might call this a formal panel. Each speaker gives a short talk. There is usually no discussion among those participating. Discussion and questions from the class may follow.

6. Forum

Another specialized form of the discussion method is the forum. It involves the presentation of a specialized subject by an authority. This is followed by a class discussion. It should be used when information on a specific topic is desired and the teacher is not qualified. An effective use of the method is to secure first hand information of mission fields. Another occasion for its use might be when a doctrinal point rests on understanding the Greek language.

7. Debate

This is a specialized form of argument in which one or two persons discuss an important question in a regulated or systematic way. Two sides to the question are presented to the class for consideration.

The purpose of such in Bible teaching is not to have a winner but to generate thought through the forceful presentation of opposing views. The rest of the class should be involved at the conclusion of the debate to banter the ideas around. The teacher guides the session to a Biblical conclusion. This could be used effectively but has some dangers.

8. Buzz Session

In this method the class is divided into small groups to discuss a given point. There is a leader appointed for each group to guide the discussion. A secretary reports the group's findings to the class.

This can be used effectively to get the class session warmed - up after the teacher has presented a topic or proposition. Again it could be used towards the end of a session to decide what action should be taken by the members of the class as a result of the lesson.

The buzz session method should not be overworked but will be helpful in securing class participation in the lesson.

9. Interviews

This method may well be used with a highly specialized topic. One teacher used it when dealing with irregularities in the trial of Jesus. A Christian lawyer was interviewed. Use this method when a missionary speaks to your class. Some preach sermons instead of telling about their work. Have well prepared questions ready that come out of the interests and needs of the class. The possibilities in using this method are interesting.

10. Story Method

We realize that the story method is usually used with younger children. But stop and think of the sermons and lessons you have enjoyed profitably and remember most. Usually illustrations or stories have been used effectively. Jesus used stories extensively with adults. Nothing will gain attention quicker or arouse the emotions and move the will. Illustrations clarify truth. They also cause application as students put themselves into the characters of the story.

The story method must be used with other methods for if we did nothing but tell a string of stories our teaching would be considered shallow and entertaining. Use a few good stories in each lesson if possible. They should bear directly on the point.

11. Life Situations

This is a story that does not pretend to be an actual fact and it usually presents a dilemma or problem to be solved. This can be used to start a discussion.

An example is a story of a man receiving a fair increase in salary. Should he continue living at his present good standard of living or give most of the increase to the Lord or should he improve his standard of living, take trips, and buy a new car?

A life situation, even though not necessarily true, should be realistic and plausible. The conclusion should not be too obvious if a good discussion is desired.

12. Inductive or Direct Bible Method

I was in a class where this method was demonstrated. It was thrilling to look at a passage and through observation of a paragraph of scripture discover what was said. Spiritual lessons and applications were then drawn from these observations.

This is an extremely effective method of study to be used with adults but it calls for great skill on the part of the teacher in asking questions and directing discussion to a right meaning of the Word. It is effective because it requiries a maximum of student participation.

Editors note: We are grateful to Brother Ed Bryant for the following excellent article. Bro. Bryant has been one of our most faithful contributers, and we look forward to even more words of wisdom from his pen in the future.

THE CHURCH OF TOMORROW — TODAY!

By Ed Bryant
Toronto, Ontario

In days gone by, a boy learned a trade by the system of apprenticeship. He bound himself to a journeyman or master of his trade, doing all the menial tasks connected with the work, until such time as he could be trusted with the practice of the trade itself. Two purposes were served. First, it offered a steady supply of cheap labour for the journeyman, and second, opportunity was afforded the young to learn a means of livelihood.

While history records many abuses of the system, it still got the job done. In a modified form, apprenticeship is still practiced today.

In the Lord's church there are many tasks to be performed, and a wide variety of talents are in demand. It is not to be supposed that all young men can become preachers, nor can all become elders. It may be that the young man of today will be able to fill many jobs that will be required in the local congregation, thus increasing his usefulness to the cause of Christ. One fact, however, stands out. If he is ever to fill any of the tasks in the church, he must begin his apprenticeship NOW.

Adults are prone to refer to our young men and women as "the church of tomorrow", and the writer admits to having been called to task for his use of the same thoughtless expression. When any person, of any age, is added to the body of Christ by obedience to the gospel, he is, in fact, a part of the "church of TODAY"! There is nothing to prevent his service in the church, in whatever capacity he may be fitted. This is not to say, however, that he could step at once into the office of elder or deacon, for he would not be scripturally qualified. But he can step into the WORK of the local congregation, learning by doing, progressing by practice. Your present preacher, your song leader, your Bible teacher, your own bishops, your deacons all realize that they will not be here forever, and that one day, soon or late, their shoes must be filled by YOU. They can help you find your own talents, and develop them. They can encourage you to greater heights of service than they themselves have attained. It would give them great joy if you came to them and asked their assistance in training you.

Of course, your Bible teacher may be a bit flabbergasted to hear your request, and your preacher might have to sit down right away as soon as you tell him your desire. But give them a little space to recover, and they will be on your side, helping you to fit yourself for greater service — not tomorrow— but TODAY.

You represent the greatest untapped source of strength and talent to which the church is heir. The things you can do, or can be taught to do, are needed by the church NOW. If you are to be fitted for even greater service later, it is best to begin the fitting while it is yet day. By developing and exercising your God-given talents, you draw yourself closer to the church and farther away from the world and it's fatal allurements. It is true that being thus active, you will become more familiar with the problems that face those who must conduct the public worship, or plan the future activities of the congregation, but this will sharpen your ability to handle these matters in the future.

Working closely with the leaders of your congregation will also help you to appreciate them more. You will be better able to see their great strength, and perhaps to discover that they are after all human beings like yourself, who must depend upon God for wisdom, guidance, vision, and strength. It is a humbling experience to hear your own name borne up to the throne of God in the prayer of a righteous man.

The secret of happiness is to be found only in serving others. Jesus taught this while here on earth, providing the example as he stooped to wash the disciples' feet. "It is more blessed to give than to receive", applies not only to our material gifts, but also to the primary gift, which alone makes all other gifts acceptable — the gift of ourselves. (II Cor. 8:1-5).

Be not content to remain the "church of tomorrow". That which we call "tomorrow", when it comes, will have changed it's name to "today". This keeps it forever in the future. You are the church of today. Your help and your service is needed NOW. Souls which perhaps you alone may be able to reach are dying in sin all around you. If youth is to be reached for Christ, the voice of youth must be raised and heard. You cannot make it so by hiding your light under a bushel basket.

DAYBREAK

"I felt the touch of Jesus' hand
Just at the break of day,
And heard Him say most tenderly
"Come, kneel with Me and pray."

I answered, "Lord, I gladly kneel
To see all men as whole."
Then came to me a radiance
That filled my heart and soul.

MERCY OR SACRIFICE

ye gave me no drink; I was a stranger, and ye took me not in; naked, and ye clothed me not; sick, and in prison, and ye visited me not. Then shall they also answer, saying, Lord, when saw we thee hungry, or athirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and did not minister unto thee? Then shall he answer them, saying, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye did it not unto one of these least, ye did it not unto me. And these shall go away into eternal punishment; but the righteous into eternal life. (Matthew 25:31-46).

Brother, you and I shall stand before the King in judgment, and be placed with those on the right or the left, to receive the verdict of our eternal destiny: this summons shall not be evaded.

Is it strange to your ears that Jesus should teach that our final destiny shall be determined by works?—yes, WORKS. Not OUR works of righteousness; but HIS works of MERCY. CONSIDER each item, and REALIZE that each act is the action of MERCY!.! You will recall that Jesus told the multitudes, in His sermon in the mountain, "Blessed are the MERCIFUL for they shall obtain mercy." Now here, in a view of the final judgment, we hear Him proclaim to those who PRACTICE MERCY, "Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world." While you look back over your record now, reconsider Jesus' answer to those condemned, "Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as you did it not unto one of these LEAST, (referring to certain ones amidst the righteous persons of His right,) ye did it not unto me." "And these," He said, "shall go away into eternal punishment." I don't know about you, but the message I get is that the righteous shall be accepted because they have shown mercy to even the least of those whom Jesus is pleased to call brethren; while the condemned shall be turned away because he has not shown mercy to those least of Jesus' brethren.

Who ARE Jesus' brethren? what nationality? on which continent? "WHOSOEVER shall do the will of my Father who is in heaven, he is my brother,—" (Matthew 12:50). "—my brethren are these that hear the word of God, and do it." (Luke 6:21).

If we neglect to preach the gospel to the 'lesser' peoples, so that they have not an opportunity to HEAR and DO the will of God, (for they would certainly become a burden and a hamper to us anyways,) won't we then be clear of this judgment? Perhaps. Yes, perhaps God will require their blood at our hands! For the benefit of your eternal welfare, please turn to Ezekiel, chapter three, and read verses 16 to 21. Judge you, which will bring greater condemnation,

But that you may know how God hates the merciless, turn to Hosea, and read verse 6 of chapter 6: "For I desire goodness, (or kindness, K.J.V. —mercy,) and not sacrifice; and the knowledge of God more than burnt-offerings." Notice how Jesus applied this Scripture in Matthew 9:13: (And I also suggest we apply this to our own selves,) "Go ye and LEARN what this MEANS, I desire MERCY, and NOT SACRIFICE: for I came not to call the righteous, but SINNERS." If you have difficulty in grasping what Jesus is driving at, here is a thought that may make it clear: the sacrifice mentioned here, is sacrifice to God; but the mercy cannot be toward God, for God is not in need of mercy. The obvious conclusion then appears, that God regards that man who goes about showing mercy to those in need of mercy, more than he who spends his time in worshipping the Almighty; and that He loves that man whose knowledge of God galvinizes him into action toward his fellowman, more than he whose knowledge merely stimulates his lips to praises of Jehovah.

But let us not forget the Scripture, brethren, "I desire MERCY AND NOT SACRIFICE." Our God desires 'mercy' MORE than 'sacrifice'. We showed that the mercy 'desired' of us is not toward God, for He is not in need of mercy. To whom then shall we show mercy, TOWARD THOSE JESUS REVEALED TO US IN THE 25TH CHAPTER OF MATTHEW!

Who are these brethren in need of all these things? There are few in our own land, we agree. But we are not so short-sighted that we cannnot see beyond our own borders into other lands where multiplied millions have not had the opportunity to hear the Gospel ONCE; while in our land we have heard some 'form of the gospel' so many times that our ears have become dull of hearing. Ironically, many (perhaps even many millions.) who have not heard the Gospel of Christ will accept it with open hearts, and will embrace the teachings of Christ with great joy and love when they are presented to them. I refer specifically to India; for it is obvious that the Father has opened the door for the Gospel to be borne to that heathen benighted land. My brethren in Christ, IF WE OPEN OUR HEARTS AND HANDS TO THESE PEOPLE, I forsee hundreds of thousands of these precious souls turning to the Saviour before brother J. C. Bailey and his co-workers return in five years time. First, we must show mercy to the people of India, by giving generously to this work in money and prayers that the Gospel may be preached to as many as possible, in fact, throughout the length and breadth of India if God shows the way. Secondly, we must share our over-abundance of good things with these new disciples, or fall under the condemnation of the King in Matthew 25:41; for millions of India's people are hungry, never experience the feeling of well-being that comes with a full stomach. Millions are poorly housed or lack shelter altogether. Millions are in need of clothing. Millions are in a state of almost constant ill-health and malnutrition, living a short life and dying from diseases of malnutrition and starvation. (The average life-expectancy of an Indian boy born in 1951 was THIRTY-TWO AND ONE - HALF years!) Accurate information is not available (for obvious reasons) as to how many are under a bondage of unjust debts and charges bearing usurous interest rates.

If you don't feel a burden of responsibility toward the people of India, brother, may God have mercy on your soul and lead you to God alone to set and modify the conditions of the covenant. God reserves the right to accept or reject man's offerings, witness Cain and Abel and Nadab and Abihu (Genesis 4:1ff; Leviticus 10:1ff). To take liberties with a covenant was reckoned among the worst kinds of offense. The covenant under which Christians serve is different from the obsolete one and far superior to it, but certain principles basic to the idea of a covenant still abide.

CONVERSION

In biblical usage conversion means turning or returning. The residents of Lydda and Sharon, upon seeing Peter's miracle "turned to the Lord" (Acts 9:35). The Gentiles who "turn to God" are not to be burdened with circumcision (Acts 15:19). Repentance and turning to God appear conjointly (Acts 3:19; 19:20). The Thessalonians "turned to God from idols, to serve a living and true God" (I Thess. 1:9). Turning to the Lord results in a veil being removed from the mind (2 Corinthians 3:15f).

Conversion (the noun occurs only once in the N.T., Acts 15:3) is at times revolutionary as in the case of Saul of Tarsus and the Philippian jailer (Acts 9; Acts 16); at other times it is not so radical but still is fundamental to man's relationship with God (cf. the Ethiopian nobleman, Acts 8). At the hands of some today conversion becomes rank emotionalism; with others it is coldly disregarded altogether or displaced with some form of humanism. But conversion is "more than a change of mind, more than undergoing some experience; it is a concrete change to a new way of life. . . —a turning in one's tracks and going in a new direction" Interp. Dict. Bib. v. I, p. 676).

Those who lapse after entering the covenant through Christ need to be converted also. Peter had been enrolled in the apostolate. His life and work were eminent. But Satan sifted him like wheat—and he fell. But the fall was not fatal. As Theophylact notes, "The blast of temptation struck down the leaves; but the root stood fast." In warning Peter of this coming trial, Jesus said to him, "When you have been converted, strengthen your brethren."

Concerning the lapsed, James writes: "My brethren, if any one among you wanders from the truth and some one brings him back, let him know that whoever brings back a sinner from the error of his way will save his soul from death and will cover a multitude of sins" (James 5:19f). The lapsed Christian is called a "sinner" and needs to be converted. A truth-possessor can become a truth-loser. Only truth brings freedom and binds one to God.

In His grace, God has given us a book in which examples of conversion are clearly set forth—Acts of Apostles. These examples of conversion took place under the direction of inspired preachers. We can follow them with assurance. By them we can also compare the conversions that take place under any contemporary preaching. It must be concluded that any conversion that differs materially (not incidentally) from the cases in Acts is to that extent faulty and must not be trusted. (It was pointed out earlier that the one who is expected to obey the terms of the covenant must not presume upon the graces of the one who initiated it.)

COMMITMENT

Commitment is also involved in serving God. It suggests giving oneself to another; it suggests belonging to another. Even in the midst of peril Paul can speak of "the God to whom I belong and whom I worship (serve)" (Acts 27:23). The churches of Macedonia were extolled because of their commitment—"first they gave themselves to the Lord and to us by the will of God" (2 Corinthians 6:5). It is commitment that causes one "to lead a life worthy of the Lord, fully pleasing to him, bearing fruit in every good work and increasing in the knowledge of God" (Colossians 1:10). It springs from an awareness of a stewardship entrusted to one (1 Corinthians 9:17). Commitment to God leads Christians to "deal with the world as though they had no dealings with it" (1 Corinthians 7:31). This means that they disdain luxurious living and prodigality.

Commitment necessarily means that the whole self, life and being are pointed in one direction. Jesus found unacceptable the man who wanted first to bury the dead or say good-bye to those at home. God's reign and righteousness are primary matters.

A minister was addressing a group of college students. He turned to the chairman of the meeting and asked, "What are you living for?" The student replied, "I am going to be a pharmacist." "I understand," the minister continued, "that this is how your are going to earn your living but what are you living for," After a moment the young man thoughtfully admitted, "Sir, I am sorry, but I guess I haven't thought that through."

The commitment of Ananias and his wife Sapphira was not as good as it looked. Demas became so enamored of "this present age" that he forsook his old companion (2 Timothy 4:10). Chrysostom paraphrased it thus: "Having loved ease and safety, chose rather to live daintily at home than to suffer affliction, than to endure hardship, with me, and with me to bear these present dangers." In sharp contrast with Demas was the faithful commitment of Luke whom Paul styled "the beloved physician."

It is said that when Marie Antoinette was traveling to Paris to be crowned queen that the soldiers removed all the sick and crippled people from the roads and streets the queen would use. But when another Ruler, Jesus Christ, came to the earth He went out of his way to find such people. "They that are well do not need a physician," He said. "I am not come to be ministered unto but to minister" was His rule of life. This was perfect commitment. It brought joy; it brought sorrow, too. It meant weariness—the kind that leads to perfect rest. It meant scorn. It meant a crown of thorns. It meant the pain and infamy of a cross. But it also meant exaltation (Philippians 2:9).

Book Reviews

Books to be reviewed in this column should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont., Canada.

Sorrow and Joy, edited by J. D. Thomas, Biblical Research Press, Abilene, Texas. 204 pages, $4.50.

This book is designed to aid ministers of the gospel as they assist people in the time of sorrow and also the time of joy. It contains forty sermons suitable for use at funerals and four wedding ceremonies. Most of the funeral sermons are full length, but a number of them are in outline form.

Although the majority of the sermons are for general use a number are suggested especially for specific occasions. Some are only appropriate for the funeral of Christians. Others are specifically for a Christian wife and mother, a child, an aged Christian and a gospel preacher.

Forty authors contributed to this volume. They are among the best known evangelists in the brotherhood. Included are Batsell Barrett Baxter, Leroy Brownlow, Willard Collins, Don Gardner, Otis Gatewood, Cleon Lyles, Gus Nichols, Frank Pack, Earl West and M. Norvel Young.

Roy F. Osborne gives some helpful comments in the preface to his sermon. He writes, "It is the feeling of this writer that funerals and weddings should be approached from a very warm and personal point of view. Certainly there are no times in people's lives when they are more emotionally involved than on these occasions. Sterotyped sermons and set formats should be avoided at all costs. Too many wedding ceremonies and funeral services are cold affairs in which the preacher simply repeats the set formula with only the names changed from the last time he did the same thing. It would seem that those who dedicate their lives to serving their fellowman would be especially careful to be warm and personal at a time when those to be served are so emotionally sensitive."

If those who obtain this book will consider the above comments they will fine it a source of many helpful suggestions.

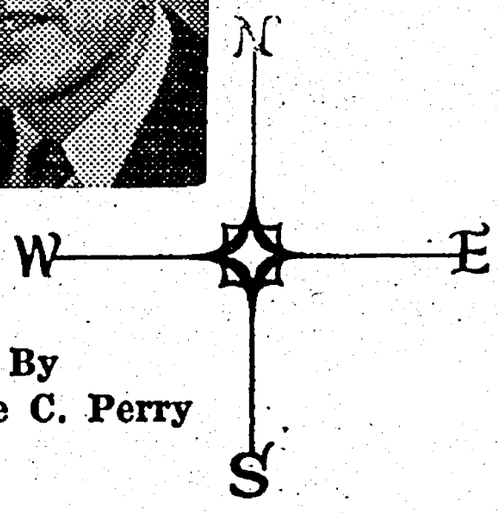
BIBLE QUIZ

II Timothy 2:15; 3:16, 17

The Bible is God's Word. It is the meat and drink of the spiritual life. Christians need to study it daily. These questions will help to indicate something of how effective your study has been.



CHRIST AND THE PHARISEES

1. Complete: "For I say unto you, That except your ..... exceed the ..... of the scribes and pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven."
2. Christ was a dinner guest of whom when the Pharisees complained, "Why eateth your Master with Publicans and sinners?"
3. What action of Christ's on the Sabbath caused the Pharisees to rebuke him, and to which Christ responded, "For the Son of man is Lord even of the sabbath day"?
4. What was Christ's answer to the Pharisees' request, "Master, we would see a sign from thee"?
5. What excessive custom maintained by the Pharisees prompted Jesus to quote the scripture, "In vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men"?
6. Identify the question the pharisees put to Jesus to entangle him which caused Jesus to respond, "Show me a coin."
7. Complete: Jesus said, "The scribes and the pharisees sit in .... All therefore they bid you observe, observe and do; but do not after their works; for they say, and do not."
8. Complete: "Woe unto you, scribes and pharisees, hypocrites! for you compass land and sea to make one ....., and when he is made, ye make him twofold more the .... than yourselves."
9. Complete: "Woe unto you, scribes and pharisees, hydrocrites! for you pay tithes of ...., and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, ... and ....."
10. Complete: "Woe unto you, scribes and pharisees, hypocrites! for you make clean the outside of the ..... and ....., but within they are full of ..... and ....."

BOUND VOLUME No. 29

Readers who wish to keep the issues of the GOSPEL HERALD for future reference will be pleased to learn that Volume 29 may now be added to your collection. A limited number have been prepared and are now ready for shipment at $2.00 each. This is just the price for a subscription which means that we have collected and bound them at cost to the buyer. Volumes 26, 28, 29 are $2.00 each or any three for $5.00. Volumes 19 through 25 are $1.50 each or any three for $3.00.

HERE AND THERE

We are most grateful to the brethren who have helped to make up the special issues of the past two months. We have received many notes of appreciation in regard to these issues on the progress of the churches in given areas. Brother Clyde Lansdell of North Bay, Ont. began the series by collecting and submitting the materials on the church in Northern Ontario. He writes us of an error in the news about the McNab Street church in Sault Ste Marie. It seems that the name of Rex Smith, the first full time preacher, who began his labours in June, 1957 was accidentally omitted. We join with him in apologizing for this omision and any other errors which might appear in this series. Beyond this, we hereby request brethren who spot an error to please let it be known.

Brethren Wesley Jones, Barrie, and Louis Pauls, Meaford, are due our appreciation for the special materials appearing in last month's paper. It is our intention to continue the series with the March issue featuring Hamilton and Western Ontario and the April issue the Niagara Peninsula. We should very much like to hear from brethren who will volunteer to do, Toronto and Eastern Ontario, Eastern Canada, Manitoba, the various areas of Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. We hope to conclude the series by a complete summarization in one issue. May we hear from interested brethren.

HERE AND THERE

Victoria, B.C.: The Word of Life program on Station CFAX has been cancelled due to a change in the station programming which allows no speaking on the station for more than one minute except the news. Funds formerly used for this will go toward the proposed new building.

Nanaimo, B.C.: A December report indicates that the building was progressing with the plastering in process. This building promises to be a real asset to the work.

Vancouver, B.C.: A group of students who came from Columbia Christian College in November to help with the meeting in Vancouver were so impressed with the opportunities that they have formed the "Canada Club" on their campus. Some will work in B.C. in the summer months. They plan to be on hand in Victoria during the gospel meeting in March.

The first Wednesday of each month is visitation night by all of the congregation and is working very well.

January 23 began a training series for teachers at the mid week services. A Teacher Workshop is scheduled for February 15 for the area.

HERE AND THERE

Medicine Hat, Alta.: J. Corley was replaced as preacher by J. C. Clifford during the past summer. This church held three meetings this year, in March, June and October with some visitors attending. There have been singing schools and personal work classes conducted. A little 14 page paper the "Gospel Harvester" is being published and distributed monthly. This church is still repaying on lots and building which payments they hope to complete by the end of 1965. Jack Frost held the October meeting. Lethbridge news in the January Gospel Herald was not intended to reflect on to churches in southern Alberta nor to be unjust to Bro. Frost.

Carman, Man.: This church is in the process of engaging a new preacher. Brother Aaron Swart has been away since June 1st.

Dauphin, Man.: Brother Glen Dods was away in the U.S. for 46 days in behalf of the work in Dauphin. He returned on faith, still considerably short of sufficient support.

He begins with this year a five minute daily radio program at $6.00 per day. A Medical Doctor is personally underwriting half of this and others are encouraged to help with the other half.

The church now meets in a rented dwelling house at 916 Main St. S.. A meeting was held in early December and a three day lectureship is planned for April.

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

PHILIPPINES

The church in Baguio City, Philippines, distributes free Bible courses in three languages, English, and two dialects, Tagalog and Ilocano. The Ilocano course is a translation of Bro. Bill Carrell's (Tokyo, Japan) course written especially for those in the Far East not acquainted with the Bible or the things therein. A future project is to translate the course into still another dialect, Visayan.

HOLLAND

Bro. Roy Davison, who formerly labored with the church in Sarnia, arrived in Holland Sept. 11 to work with Bro. Danny Boyd and the small church in Utrecht. His address is A. V. Bergenstraat 31, Utrecht, Netherlands.

Bro. and Sis. Bill Richardson, who have spent some 14 years in the Holland mission field are returning to the United States this fall. He will continue to speak and work on behalf of the Dutch work, but has no plans at the present time to return to Holland, at least until after their five children have finished school. The Richardsons are from Oldfield, Missouri.

THAILAND

The third annual Southeast Asian Workshop for missionaries and native church workers in the Orient was slated to be held December 2 to 7 in Bangkok. In connection with the workshop Bro. Gus Eoff of Fort Worth, Texas, was to preach in a gospel meeting in Bangkok December 1-8.

A member of the church in Bangkok, Sis. Srisa-ad Viriyathien, has enrolled in the Bible college at Baguio City, Philippine Islands, to better prepare herself for work with the church in her native land. She is the first "foreign" student to enroll in Philippine Bible College.

HAITI

Bro. Resident Joseph, a native of Haiti who was baptized in Nassau, Bahamas, is now enrolled in Michigan Christian College preparatory to preaching the gospel in his own island country. Political conditions in Haiti have temporarily halted efforts of American missionaries to enter Haiti.

ITALY

The first gospel sermon ever preached in the city of Pisa was delivered October 6 by Bro. Gian Luigi Giudidi. Bro. Gerald Paden led the gathering in singing gospel songs and Brethren Romano Sardi of Leghorn, Marcello Pasqui, and Truman Scott of Pistoia, and Harold Mobley of Florence also assisted in the service.

On November 17 a Bible Chair operated by members of the church of Christ opened officially at the University of Milano. The chair is the first of its kind in Europe.

Co-ordinating the local program as Director of Studies will be Dr. Fausto Salvoni, a gospel preacher known throughout Europe and the United States for his scholarship. Before his conversion Brother Salvoni was a leading Roman Catholic scholar and university professor.

The chair will be fully Italian, directed by Italians with Italian teachers for Italian students. It will be open to both Christian and non-Christian students, proposing to "teach the Bible adequately, to develop capable church leadership; and to the non-member, give an understanding of New Testament Christianity."

The University professors and administrators are watching the Bible Chair with great interest. They see an opening door to a field of study in which Italian Universities have been denied the right to enter, writes Bro. Gerald Paden, a pioneer in the Italian mission work. Heretofore, all Biblical research has been limited to the study of Catholic dogma. Only subjects indirectly related to the Bible were permitted on the course of study.

SOUTHERN RHODESIA

Brother and Sis. Loy Mitchell, now of Rotan, Texas, plan to leave in January to return to Southern Rhodesia where they worked for four years before returning home for further schooling in 1962. He will be supported by the church in Rotan where he has preached while attending Abilene Christian College.

When the Mitchells return, they plan to establish a church in Umtali, third largest city of Southern Rhodesia, with a population of 40,000.

Brother Mitchell is the son of Bro. Owen Mitchell, one of the elders at the Hillcrest church in Abilene which supports Bro. and Sis. Roy Palmer and Bro. Clayton Waller in Southern Rhodesia. Two more former Hillcrest members, Bro. and Sis. Rhinard Troup, are also working in that country, supported by the College Church in Abilene.

DENMARK

Bro. and Sis. Thomas M. Gordon of Denver, Colo., have announced plans to enter Denmark as missionaries early in 1964. The Gordons will be filling the vacancy created by the return to the United States of the Ben Williams family. They will be working in Aarhus along with the John Catheys.

Bro. Gordon has been working with the South Denver church of Christ for the past five years.

TAIWAN

Bro. Robert C. Frazier, who spent three years on Taiwan (Formosa) while a member of the United States Air Force, is returning there with his wife and four children to preach the gospel. He presently is working with the church in LaFollette, Ten.

Bro. Frazier plans to work with the native islanders rather than the refugee Chinese mainlanders. The Roy Mullinax family is the only other missionary family on the island at present.

London, Ont.: The Fennel Avenue church in Hamilton set aside one week's collection in September for the London building, $325. An individual donated three blackboards, three flannel boards, two bulletin boards and two easels.

The London building is scheduled for completion on or about February 15th. Attendance at Bible classes recently reached 85.

SPIRITUAL MATURITY

E. Christian maturity is the state, where the Christian learns to live above fear and anxiety. Our Lord taught, "Be not therefore anxious, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink, or wherewith shall we be clothed." Christian growth is needed to trust in God completely.

A story is told concerning a man who was so afraid of his shadow and so disliked his own footsteps, that he determined to run away from them. But the oftener he raised his feet, the more footsteps he made, and though he ran very hard, his shadow never left him. From this he inferred that he went too slowly, and ran as hard as he could without resting — the consequence being that his strength broke down and he died. He was not aware that by going into the shade he would have got rid of his shadow, and that by keeping still he would have put an end to his footsteps. Anxiety does not pay.

F. Christian maturity will cause us to mirror the mind of Christ. Paul speaks of this happy state to the saints at Philippi: "Have this mind in you which was also in Christ Jesus" (Philippians 2:5).

II. WHAT IS THE MEASURE OF MATURITY?

A. Psychology has various ability tests to measure emotional and intellectual maturity. We are psychologists. The other day a psychologist told us how to distinguish a psychotic and a neurotic from a normal person. A normal person knows that two plus two equals four. The psychotic is sure that it is five. The neurotic knows that it is four but it bothers him. We believe that we have some spiritual neurotics.

B. It is most important that we establish a true measure for spiritual maturity. In this case, we are measured by the fullness of the stature of Christ. The word helikias in our text has two basic meanings.

1. Age. 2. Size or stature. The second of these seems to be the obvious use here. The passage reminds us that the church is going to be measured at all times by a divine measurement.

It will find a standard that it can never absolutely achieve. If a man puts his standard low enough, he can always judge favorably about himself or the congregation. If all other men were just four feet high, a six-foot man would seem to be a giant. In our case, we are measured by a giant's measure.

C. Christ is referred to as the perfect head. The body needs to grow to match nobility of the head. All of us have seen caricatures where some man's head was given a dwarf's body. The result is ridiculous. Each of us needs to grow spiritually to the standard shown by the head. When the church and its members become mature, the body glorifies the head. Otherwise, there isan absurb contrast.

D. Christ's spiritual stature overwhelms us. Men listened to His teaching, and said, "He speaks as one having authority." A group of soldiers sought to apprehend him and ended up worshipping him. Their report was "Never man so spake." His scripture was not shown in his words alone, but in his actions as well. A hardened Roman officer watched Him die a hideous death and cried out, "Truly, this was the Son of God." A Roman governor examined Him and said, "I find no crime in Him." His example gives scope for a lifetime of growth.

D. The Apostle Paul distinguished three stages or aspects of Christian maturity. These are the three "aces" from the Greek word "eis", which is repeated three times and translated "unto" (ASV).

1. The first is intellectual where a degree of knowledge is added to faith. 2. The second is a personal maturity of character based on faith and knowledge. 3. The third is that larger maturity where the individual sets out to conform to the highest example know — Christ, the Son of God. This growth in three stages may be paralleled by the growth of similar individuals in a congregation.

III. WHAT IS THE FULLNESS OF CHRIST?

The term pleroma or fullness is one that Paul borrowed from the Gnostic philosophers. Just as later Christians pulled down pagan temples and used their beams to build Christian church buildings, Paul wrecked the false teachings of his day, using their terms to describe the glory of Christ and the church.

The use of the term "fullness" here designates perfection or completeness. Christ is to us an inexhaustible source of goodness and life. Just as the Mediterranean Sea is ever losing volumn by evaporation, and yet is always full, because it can draw a fresh supply through the Straits of Gibraltar from the Atlantic, Christ represents an infinite source of divine attributes.

IV. THE REASON FOR SPIRITUAL MATURITY IS PLAIN.

A. Negatively stated, it is the refutation and refusal of error. The picture is of crafty men gambling with loaded dice to rob the Christian of spiritual riches: "by the sleight of men, in craftiness of error." The gift of church government and organization was to bring about maturity in the early church. When qualified men were respected in their efforts, unity would result. The same principle holds today.

B. Affirmatively stated, the spiritual maturity will help the Lord's church to "speak the truth in love." This in turn "maketh the increase of the body unto the building up of itself in love." Could any purpose be more sublime or necessary?

CONCLUSION: If we were to sum up the thesis of our text under three heads, they would be these: 1. Accept church government. 2. Be united. 3. Grow up and think big.

Brethren, we have accentuated the first two commands for years. In a world that contains three billion souls and which is growing at the rate of about 50 million a year, we need to adjust our spiritual objectives. Narrowness is not soundness. Bigness cannot be equated with error. We are commanded to grow to the stature of the fullness of Christ. Zeal, daring, sacrifice and love are the order of the day.

TEACHING GOD'S WORD

the lesson will help to determine the method used. A discussion takes time.

2. Age, Background Test

The age and background of a group will be a definite factor in selecting a method. Debate wouldn't be good with an elderly class or a nursery class.

3. Variety Test

One method used too often becomes monotonous. Too much variety could be confusing.

4. Purpose Test

What the teacher is aiming to accomplish will have a great deal to do with what method is selected.

5. Teacher Ability

Some teachers will do better at lecturing than anything else. Others might be ineffective in lecturing but do very well in leading a discussion.

6. Equipment Test

If the equipment and facilities necessary for some method are not available the method cannot be used.

7. Content Test

If a subject is controversial a good method will be debate.

II. Variety In Assignments

Realizing that we get most out of that which we put most into, we should realize that assignments or home work should be given in Bible teaching.

Let there be variety in giving assignments. Here are a few possibilities: reading in the Bible and related books or papers on a given topic, research and report to class on a certain topic connected with a lesson, keeping of a note book, writing of a paper on some subject, work assignment such as speaking to some lost person about Christ before the next class session, the making of a model of a synagogue, tabernacle, etc., (Some might laugh at this but adults are making models of almost everything these days. One would learn much through research and model making. The class and other classes would profit from this.)

III. Variety in Visual Aids

Too often adult teachers neglect to use audio-visual aids. These can be used with almost every teaching method with adults. Really adults are grown up children and are attracted by pictures, objects, models, etc. almost as much as children. We, like children, remember more of what we see and hear than we do of what we just hear.

There is quite a variety of aids available for use. Some are: maps, charts,, flannelgraph material, chalkboard, globe, objects, news clippings, filmstrips and other films, models, and even pictures and other display materials.

Remember that variety creates interest and enthusiasm. It puts vitality into teaching. May we plan to use variety in presenting our lessons, in giving assignments, and in using aids to teaching. I firmly believe we will be more successful in teaching.

Be careful not to go overboard in the use of variety. It could be confusing and too disrupting to those who have been accustomed to sitting and listening. We recommend a gradual and careful change to variety so that new techniques can be mastered before rushing into others. Seek above all for methods requiring pupil participation.

to repentance before it is too late. I ask you, if we fail to take advantage of this opportunity to show mercy to the people of India for whom God has opened the door, will He then have mercy on us? (Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy) or will He perhaps unleash upon us and our children, in judgment, the death and destruction of a nuclear holocaust, bringing those of us who remain, to the conidtion of the people of India, and taking from us the kingdom, to give it to other people who will bring forth the fruits thereof!!

Brethren, take heed! Do I speak of myself? Or do I in truth speak the Word of Christ? If you judge that I speak the Truth, then turn now to do all you can for the people of India, (or any other to whom God has opened the door of mercy,) for the time will not be long; and then may God show mercy upon you and yours. (More about India in the next issue, the Lord willing).

MORE CONGRATULATIONS

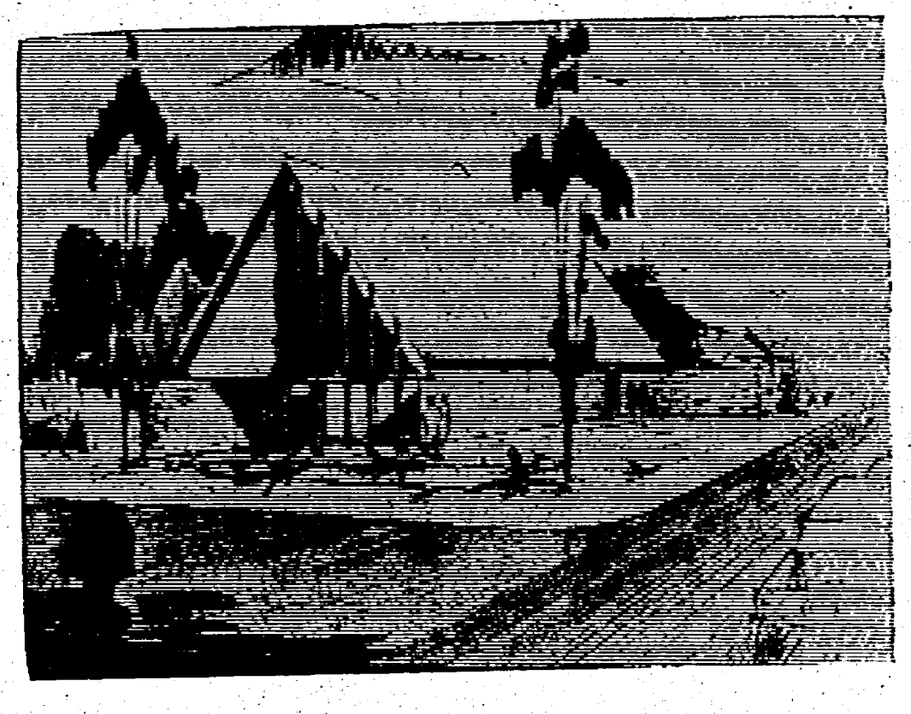
We are so very gratefull to the many who have sent in encouragement and to those who have sent messages of congratulations. As mentioned elsewhere in this issue, brother J. C. Bailey has sent $10 from India to cover six new subscriptions to persons in that country. This is especially appreciated coming from the former editor of the GOSPEL HERALD and one who so ably conducted it for almost 20 years.

Jerry Rushford, a student in Oklahoma Christian College has sent us 10 names. We are encouraged by this.

Mrs Betty Anderson of Idaho writes, "I thought you would like to know that of all the church papers, or rather the papers put out by those of the church, I like yours the best . . . I like especially the "Gleanings from Foreign Fields," the "Bible Quizz" and most of the articles . . .

Ed Bryant of Strathmore Blvd. in Toronto has sent us two fine congratulatory messages which we appreciate very much. The last reads, "Again let me salute you and the Herald for the wonderful work done by you both among Christians and others."

"Congratulations and best wishes for the future. I feel the articles in the GOSPEL HERALD are splendid. I am happy to pass mine on to friends after I've read it. Teaching and admonition is of high quality." Gladys Whitfield.



"Congratulations are in order for the new face the Herald has assumed. To my mind the November issue is one of the best.

PROPOSED BUILDING FOR MONTREAL

The brethren in Montreal, Quebec are contemplating the construction of a permanent building sometime in the spring of 1964, provided that the necessary funds are raised. The building, designed by a local architect, is to have an auditorium seating capacity of 200, with eight class rooms. It is also to include a preacher's study and a nursery. The two storey class room wing will be arranged on a split-level with the auditorium. A corner lot, now fully paid for, in the attractive suburb of Lachine, is the building site.

The estimated cost of the building is fifty thousand dollars. Thirty thousand, in cash, is needed before construction. Of this amount $20,000 has already been raised in cash and pledges. This leaves $10,000 to be raised before next spring. The remaining $20,000 is to be secured by a loan.

There is little doubt but what the building will be a tremendous asset to the work in the Montreal area. Besides giving more permanency to the present English-speaking work, it should also help pave the way for a French work. Brother S. F. Timmerman, Jr., who has served the past 16 years in Belgium, is planning to join the efforts in Montreal in the fall of 1964. While assisting the English work, he plans to direct his efforts toward the overwhelming French population. It is hoped that an independent French work will eventually be established.

Montreal, being the chosen site for the 1967 World's Fair, is a key center of North America for transportation and industry. A permanent building will help the brethren do a more effective work.

SAUT STE MARIE, ONT.

McNab Street, December 15, 1963: Even at this early date we are happy to report the increased interest, both in the Lord's day meetings as well as the Thursday night bible study. The congregation report it is the most interesting study they have ever engaged in.

Plans are to begin a men's training class early in the New Year. Public speaking will be one of the main subjects to be engaged in as well as other things necessary to maintain good order.

A weekly bulletin is to be published each week for distribution to all who would like to have the news of our activities. Please let us hear from you if this would be of interest to you.

The ladies of the congregation hold a Bible study in the various homes every second Tuesday. The interest in this meeting is very good and many fine lessons are being taught. Sister Ogden is to be commended for the excellent job she is doing.

A sing-song is conducted once a month for the purpose of learning new songs and practising others. It is hoped that the interest in this last activity will improve in the months ahead.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Brother Aubrey Patterson began work with the Madison Heights congregation June 14, 1963. He has spoken several times for our congregation in the past and is on our speaking schedule. He has led in singing and has taught a Bible class since June. I have known Brother Patterson for about 10 years and worked with him in an extended personal worker's program previously.

He was baptized 1952, attended Great Lake Christian College 1955-57, Montreal Mission work June 1957 to January 1960, Michigan Christian Junior College 1960 until now.

We are glad to have Brother Patterson his wife Nancy, and their children Carol Ann, Roger and Brenda with us.

The light that came was from His face.
All 'round it seemed to glow.
I saw in it a healing power
For everyone I know.

It shines for all the sick at heart
And on their beds of pain;
Each time I see a human need
That light shines back again."

TRACTS, BAPTISMS AND PICKPOCKETS

This is the day that the world calls Christmas. It is surprising how much attention is paid to it in this country that is supposed to be Hindu.

Last night our printer, the man who is now printing most of our tracts, came at 2:30 a.m. He brought fruit and a lai of flowers that he had his little daughter put around the neck of Sister Bailey and myself.

That was a little more pleasant than the other experience that I had. For the first time in my life I was relieved of my money by pickpockets. I had been carrying my money in two purses, as I had been informed that pickpockets were bad in India. They took both of them and one purse that I valued very highly. My birth certificate went along with the purses and the money.

When I got home and discovered the loss I ran over to a neighbours and phoned the police. They shifted me from one department to the other and the second department told me to send in a complaint. I had a clue that could have led to the return at least of the purse and birth certificate if it had been followed up immediately but the police were apparently not as much interested in it as I was.

Despite the perplexing adversities with which we have to deal the work here continues to prosper. There have now been 73 baptisms in the Madras area this year. We expect to baptize several more in this area before the end of the year. The future looks bright indeed but we do have problems.

We have now put out 92,000 tracts. This counts those used at Shillong as well as here. The number will pass 100,000 before we say good bye to this year.

We have now over 70 students in our Bible Correspondence Course. We have started work on putting out a course in Tamil as well as English. This is one of the things that we shall, the Lord willing, do early in the New Year.

As this work grows so our financial needs increase.

Several have been sending money directly to the field. Some have failed to register this money. This is a very dangerous practice. We lost three hundred dollars that way. The money has been traced. The church at Granite City made it up to me and they will eventually suffer no loss. The bank will make it good that issued or cashed it. I am not sure which.

IF YOU SENT MONEY AND YOU HAVE NOT RECEIVED AN ACKNOWLEDGEMENT FROM US then you should enquire into it at once. We acknowledge promptly all money received. If you wish to send money direct that is fine but be SURE to register your letter.

We have big plans for 1964, the Lord willing. First, we expect to start a training class to get men ready to help assume a greater part of the load. I have one most excellent helper in Brother Paul Nathan. Brother Ellery is an efficient man but he has an office job and a large family to care for.

We expect to have a Bible Correspondence Course in Tamil, functioning with the new year.

We expect to have ten congregations by the end of 1964. We expect that there will be 200 baptisms in the work here in the Madras area in this coming year. All this if the Lord wills.

This is a little late but the October issue of the Gospel Herald only came a few days ago. I want to join with those who are CONGRATULATING THE EDITORS. I think the pickpockets left me enough that I can join with others in sending in my ten dollars.

Preachers, and much more missionaries, depend on the religious press for much free time and space from the editors. This is freely given but I KNOW from past experience that bills have to be paid. I notice the editors tell us that they are not pressed financially but there is a sense of feeling of success that comes from a growing subscription list that we need to give these brethren. Those who get the paper will get far more in value than what you are giving.

We expect readers of the Gospel Herald to support the efforts of the Canadian workers in India. You would be without much information if you did not have the Gospel Herald.

BELL'S RETURN FROM AFRICA

Many of the churches of Christ in Canada and the U.S.A. are acquainted with Bro. Allan Bell and his family now in Central Africa working in the mission fields.

In his last letter, Allan with reluctance reported that they have decided to return to Canada in June of 1964. There are several reasons why this decision was reached:

(1) The political situation in Africa is in a state of unrest.

(2) The educational system is in an unheaval.

(3) Bro. Bell's health has been very poor. He is very slow in shaking the results of malaria which he contacted last summer.

Many things could be said of their sacrifice and the fruits of their labours. Just in his last letter of November 16 he reports 11 baptisms. When they return to Canada in June this will make a total of eight years work in Africa. This will be the last time Bro. Bell will be appealing for help as he intends on remaining in Canada upon his return.

We at this time use the means of this paper to solicit your help in raising the necessary fund. We appeal to congregations or to individuals for donations whether large or small.

The total amount needed to bring the Bells back to Canada is $2,500.00. Since Bro. Bell must pay for his fare several months in advance we must raise this needed amount by March 1, 1964.

Send your donations to-day to: Church of Christ, Bell Travel Fund, c/o Wayne Kemp, 2166 Rae Street, Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada.

OUR DEPARTED

SISTER GLADYS SEARLE

Sister Gladys Searle obeyed the gospel while a young lady with the church at Lestershire England. She came to Canada at the age of 21, and settled in Toronto. She worshipped with the congregation that then, met on Bathurst Street, and when it sold out, she worshipped with the Fern Avenue Congregation until she with her husband and children moved to St. John N.B. thirteen years ago. Her husband predeceased her by nine years. About nine months ago she moved to Victoria B.C. Here she once again was united with the Lord's church.

Suffering a stroke in August, she was placed in hospital there for a time. After recovering sufficiently, she came to Toronto to reside with one of her sons. Her health gradually waned, and consequently, she suffered four heart attacks. She spent the last three weeks in the Scarboro General Hospital until the final call came.

She is survived by three sons and one daughter and a number of grandchildren. It was the writer's privilege to speak a few words of comfort to those left behind, being ably assisted by Bro. A. S. Herron, an elder at Bayview Church of Christ.

LANE

Suddenly at his late residence in Gainsborough Township, Isaac Lane passed away at the age of 76. He had enjoyed good health until the end when he suffered a heart seizure. He lived and died on the farm where he was born.

He and his wife had formerly been members of the church at Rosedene. His wife predeceased him in 1951.

He is survived by his son Arnold, at home, and one daughter (Beulah) Mrs Oscar Robbins, St. Catharines; one brother, Eli Lane and five grandchildren.

The funeral service was held at the Tallman Funeral Home, Campden, with burial in the Hillside Cemetery.

SISTER ELSIE GAY

Sister Elsie Gay passed away suddenly on January 8th. We have not received further details but hasten to extend our sympathy to the relatives and to the brethren at the Maplewood Avenue church in Toronto where she worshipped.

(Romans through Jude). It has gone through seven printings since August 1962 and has been widely acclaimed. Recently there has been a great demand for it to appear in paperback.

Most of us have given or heard speakers paraphrase passages of Scripture. This is often done to attempt to bring out the full meaning of the text. The original Greek is such a rich and varied language that many English words are often needed to translate one Greek word. Many of the words used in the standard translations are not readily understood by the average reader or listener.

Much could be said in commenting on this fine work. But perhaps a sample of the translation would be the best means of demonstrating its value. Here is the rendering of Titus 2:11-14: "For the free gift of eternal salvation is now being offered to everyone; And along with this gift comes the realization that God wants us to turn from godless living and from sinful pleasures and to live good, God - fearing lives day after day, looking forward to that time when His glory shall be seen—the glory of our great God and Saviour Jesus Christ, Who died under God's judgment against our sins, so that He could rescue us from constant falling into sin and make us His very own people, with cleansed hearts and real enthusiasm for doing kind things for others."

have now begun worshipping in the basement part of our new building, although we were not able to buy our heating system. We set up a temporary unit which is serving the purpose very well.

"We opened with a protracted meeting with Bro. Clyde Lansdell of North Bay, who certainly gave us good lessons. Meetings were from December 8th through the 15th.

"The interests was good throughout the entire week, with the largest attendance the last meeting (Sunday evening). A number of outsiders attended every meeting with as many as fifteen one evening. We rejoiced when five precious souls answered the call of the gospel and were baptized for the remission of sins.

"I would like to thank both the McNab and Livingstone Creek congregations for their assistance in helping to make our meeting a success." H. N. Bailey.

North Bay, Ont.: A meeting for young people has been started meeting in a home each Friday. The River Street church in Valdosta, Georgia is considering a concentrated campaign in North Bay this summer.

Buildings: Churches have recentcently opened new buildings at Concord, Ottawa, Niagara Falls, St. Catharines and Barrie. New buildings are underway or contemplated at London, Montreal and North Bay.

Barrie, Ont.: Both this church and that at Collingwood hope to be able to purchase buses for use on a regular Sunday route. They have appealed for help suggesting the fifth Sunday contribution as a means of making these purchases possible.

Newmarket, Ont.: This church announces the beginning of mid-week meetings on Tuesday nights, and of young people's meetings on Saturday nights. Seventeen young people were present at the first of the latter meetings.

W. Jones of Barrie continues to speak at the 4 p.m. Sunday services. Hopes of obtaining a full time worker are growing.

Toronto, Strathmore: The Elders are now receiving funds for the establishing of a new congregation at Port Arthur - Fort William. If every member of the church in Canada would give only $1 per month over the next 36 months, the result would be a self-supporting congregation.

Strathmore collection on December 22 was $718.

The Sarnia church sponsored the afternoon service at the Home for the Aged, at Romeo, Michigan, Sunday, January 12th. There were nineteen made the trip. The following brethren took part: song leader, Aubrey Hibbard; prayer, Ralph Hibbard; the table, Bruce Waldeck; passing emblems, David Hibbard; scripture reading, Ross Gennoe. Bro. Bill Friley gave the sermon. Closing prayer Bruce Waldeck.

Sister Fargher of the Windsor congregation is in the Whitfield Nursing Home in Sarnia.

Windsor, Ont.: "We continue to be blessed with encouraging growth here at Windsor, as two more were baptized into Christ recently." Ray L. Miller.

Beamsville, Ont.: Keith Thompson has been invited to remain with the church for his seventh year. "Ten were baptized during the year, four were restored and two placed membership. Three of those baptized and two of those restored were Great Lakes students."

Average weekly contributions for 1962 were $236, for the first six months of 1963, $247 and for the last half $275 making a 1963 average of $261. The budget was $252 and has been raised by $38 to $290 for 1964.

Fenwick, Ont.: "In the last six months of 1963 we had an average Lord's Day morning attendance of a little above 49." Low 40 and high 62. M. Craddock.

Port Colborne, Ont.: "The average Lord's Day morning attendance for the last six months of 1963 was a little better than 30". Low 18 and high 46. M Craddock.

Kingston, Ont.: William Garrison was restored during the fall after some 20 years away from the church.

The showing of one of the cottage meeting filmstrips resulted in a request for permission to invite others. The next meeting showed that the others were 20 women of the women's group of the Westbrook United Church.

A meeting is planned for February 9-19. The baptistry is ready for use and the seats in the auditorium are newly upholstered. The exterior of the building is being covered with white aluminum siding. Financial assistance would be very much appreciated.

Ottawa, Ont.: The residence for the preacher has been completed, next door to the church building, and Brother Clutter and family have moved in. The goal of 75 in Bible study has been reached or exceeded and will be raised. The new budget calls for $137.50 per week.

Halifax, N.S.: A nurse, formerly of the Salvation Army, was baptized recently. An ad in the paper recently resulted in five more Bible correspondence students. Mill Village church is putting an ad in the "Family Herald". The radio program over CFDR in Dartmouth has been favourably received by the station management and the public and will be continued into 1964. Extra help is needed to continue it the whole year.

PREACHERS OF TODAY

Volume II of this work is being prepared. It will carry up to date information on the 2700 preachers who appeared in Volume II and include hundreds of young preachers. Preachers who wish to be included should write to Batsell Barrett Baxter, "Preachers of Today", P.O. Box 126, Nashville, 12, Tenn. for the forms. "We hope this new volume will encourage many young men to plan to preach the gospel of Christ as it honors those who have given their lives in this greatest of all callings." — M. Norvel Young.

Niagara Falls, N.Y.: Bro. Ernest Raines, formerly a construction manager with Peden Construction, is the new preacher with this church. He preached in a special series January 12-17 in which there were six restorations.

Hamburg, N.Y.: The new building completed here under the supervision of Ernest Raines is now in use and will be formally opened in an all day meeting on February 2. The chorus of Great Lakes Christian College will participate in the afternoon. This date will be the beginning of a gospel meeting with Leonard Waggoner of Cleburne, Texas as the speaker.

Oklahoma Christian College has been selected to be featured on a half-hour ABC national radio network program aired coast-to-coast March 8.

Because of its "advanced learning concepts, its religious - academic approach and its program on American principles," OCC is one of 13 colleges in the nation selected for the American Broadcasting Company's program series, "Presenting the Small College."

JUNE MEETING

The Beamsville, Ontario church will conduct the 1964 June Meeting with Don Gardner of Ohio Christian College as the speaker. He will preach a meeting the following week.

SPECIAL ISSUE: "THE CHURCH IN WESTERN ONTARIO"

For the promotion of NEW TESTAMENT CHRISTIANITY

VOL. 30, No. 2 BEAMSVILLE, ONTARIO March, 1964

ARE WE READY?

Jim Hawkins, Victoria, British Columbia

"Sanctify in your hearts Christ as Lord: being ready always to give answer to every man that asketh you a reason concerning the hope that is in you, yet with meekness and fear" (1 Pet. 3:15). It has been a sure sign of progress within the last few years, that churches of Christ have been taking definite steps in enabling every Christian to give "an answer for the hope that is in him". A surge of new emphasis has been placed upon this facet of the work of the church. Personal work and cottage meeting training classes have been inaugurated in many of our congregations. The result has been an increase in the numbers who have obeyed their Lord.

Since the advent of the restoration movement in North America, we have gone through stages in the matter of individual christian evangelization. At first, even the opponents of the New Testament christians admitted that christians were "walking Bibles", being able often to "out-argue" even denomination preachers. But this situation deteriorated, to the point that few could handle themselves in any kind of religious discussion — it became the preachers duty to know and preach the Bible. Thankfully, we are moving back in the other direction again.

But may I challenge your thinking for a moment with the question: "Are we really ready to meet the modern man of 1964. Do we have a 'reason concerning the hope within us' which will convince, convict, and convert the hearer?" I don't think so. I am afraid that you and I are still trying to fight the battles of 100 years ago that the Campbells, the Smiths, and the Stones fought. Yes, there is still the same sin, division, sectarianism, and hatred now as there was then. But the problem is that the Deveil is promoting these sins in a much different way than he did 100 years ago.

Today, the Universities of our States and Provinces are grinding out the new leaders of our governments at every level, the leaders of business and industry, and those in every field we might Mercy Or Sacrifice, Which?

(Matthew 9:13)

In the first part of this discussion, I set forth, I believe, secured by the Scriptures from successful controversy, that we are duty - bound to extend the hand of mercy to all for whom God has opened the door of salvation and shown the way of lovingkindness and mercy. And our mercy must be, (not only for the souls of men, but) for their bodies as well. (See Matthew 25:31-46). Also, "Or know ye not that your body is a temple (sanctuary) of the Holy Spirit which is in you, which ye have from God? and ye are not your own; for ye were bought with a price: glorify God therefore in your BODY." (I. Corinthians 6:19, 20).

God has opened the door of mercy for the people of India. With the responsibility this incurs, are you now prepared to stand in judgment before Christ and hear Him pronounce, either: "Come," or "Depart"? It will be a crushing blow to every soul who professes Christ, to hear Him say, "Depart from me, ye cursed, into eternal fire which is prepared for the devil and his angels". And the hollow echo will follow down through the empty ages of everlasting anguish, "Inasmuch as ye did it not unto one of these least, ye did it not unto me."

As I was preparing this, a piece

THE EARNEST OF OUR INHERITANCE

L. Wesley Jones

We grope for an explanation of the sterility and coldness observed in the lives of so many Church members. There is no one cause, and so, most of our diagnoses contribute something worthwhile and helpful. Our purpose in this paper is to suggest another analysis. Too many of us are like the disciples of John, found in Ephesus by Paul (Acts 19) —We have not so much as heard whether there be any Holy Spirit.

Newness, a walk, quickening, mortification of the deeds of the flesh, confidence from witness, help with our praying, fruit, a spirit of faith, the cry of "Abba, Father", waiting with hope, access to God's throne, unity and fellowship, are some of the things that are said to be OF, THROUGH, BY or WITH the Spirit (Romans 8, Galatians 4, 5, 2 Corinthians 4, Ephesians 2, 4, Philippians 2). An improper relationship with the Spirit will mar these blessings and many others. Some of these may be completely missing from our lives, and the result is a dreadfully dull concept of the Christian life. There is a lack of sparkle and fullness in dutifully living up to rules of faith which we have embraced. When one gives up the world for Christ, and is then deprived of a relationship with the Holy Spirit through error or misunderstanding, a vacuum is the inevitable result.

The Mystery of the Spirit

Through our human nature we easily grasp the meaning of a Father and Son relationship, and a brother to brother relationship. God is our Father, Christ is the Son of God, and our Elder Brother. While nature does not teach us all we need to know about these two members of the Divine Family, it does supply us with a comfortable foundation upon which to enlarge our understanding. We do not have this help from nature in our study of the Holy Spirit. There is something almost automatically mysterious about a "spirit".

There may be a deeper reason for this difficulty. The Holy Spirit's best known function in the divine scheme is that of revelation. Without the work of the Spirit, God's planning and Christ's execution of those plans, would be known to us only through unreliable tradition. This means that we are dependent upon the Spirit. If this appears as a circle of logic, it would be well for us to remember that this is God's arrangement, and that it is our privilege to step into the circle.

Finally, our problems often grow out of a curiosity about "how" the Spirit does certain work. We are not content to accept the fact that this work is done. A greater interest in "what" the Spirit does, and a willingness to gladly accept what the Scriptures say He will do for us, will do much to solve this problem.

Ephesians 1:13, 14

"In whom ye also trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation: in whom also after that ye believed, ye were sealed with that Holy Spirit of promise, which is the earnest of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession, unto the praise of his glory."

In Word Pictures of the New Testament, Robertson defines "earnest" in this text as meaning "part payment on the total obligation". There is unanimous agreement upon this definition. The Christian "inheritance" is the reward of faithful Christian living. A most familiar passage to Bible students is 1 Peter 1:4, where this reward is referred to as "incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven . . ." Each time the word "inheritance" is used it is a rebuke to the Eternal Security Doctrine, which asserts that we already have Eternal life, and that we cannot lose it because it is eternal.

Other Bible Passages

Paul declares then that the Ephesians heard and believed the gospel. They were then sealed with the Holy Spirit as "part payment on the total obligation" until such time as they would receive the final reward. Trust, or belief, in this case stands for the whole plan of salvation, just as other acts do in other passages. Thus, we have before us a Bible passage which states that when a sinner obeys the gospel he is given a part of his reward in the form of the Holy Spirit. This passage becomes parallel to a number of familiar texts, and a corroboration of others. As parallels we suggest Acts 2:38 and 5:32.

Acts 2:38, Repent, be baptized, receive gift of Holy Spirit. Acts 5:32, Obey Him, given Holy Spirit. Eph. 1:13, 14, Heard, Trusted, Sealed with Holy Spirit, an earnest.

Ephesians certainly takes it place beside I Thessalonians 4:8 and 1 Corinthians 6:19. In these, which we urge you to read immediately, we call attention to such strong expressions regarding the presence of the Holy Spirit in the Christian life, as "hath also given us his Holy Spirit", "which is in you", and "which ye have of God."

We have passages which say that the Holy Spirit is to be given to the saved man at the time of his obedience. And other passages which say that the Holy Spirit has been given to such men at their obedience. Our Ephesian text sheds more light on the nature of the gift than any of the others. We should also keep in mind 2 Corinthians 1:22 and 5:5.

What Could God Owe Man?

The obligation of the "earnest" implies that God owes man a debt. Just what sort of a relationship does the new-borne creature have with God that calls for such language as this? Four words will help us with this:

Covenant — Hebrews 8:10, Matthew 26:28 are among the references that will state clearly that God and the saved man have a covenant relationship. This is a working relationship which seeks the Eternal Reward of the soul. God gives to the cleansed sinner a "part-payment" to constantly remind him that God will fulfill His partnership in this covenant.

Promise — Titus 1:2 puts eternal

by M. Norvel Young, in the December 12 Christian Worker, impressed me. He says: "The U.S. Department of Commerce reports that Americans will receive about five hundred billion dollars in income after taxes. This means 180,000 Americans have more to spend than 500,000,000 Europeans who are the next richest people on earth. (I do not understand Canadians are less rich than Europeans; I assume brother Young tacitly includes Canadians as Americans, although we are not as rich as our southern neighbors. P.I.M.) The Department also indicates that we spend one-fourth of our income on luxuries." Further: "—as we obtain more gadgets, bigger houses, and larger cars, we are in greater danger of falling in love with this present world and neglecting spiritual values." Would it be presumptuous to suggest we are past the danger that we HAVE 'arrived', as the expression goes?

Now, for some facts about India, gleaned from America's 1962 edition.

The land area is about the same as that of the North American continent. Based on a 1951 census and an official 1958 estimate, we can estimate a population of around 425 million, (nearly double that of Canada and U.S.), which is increasing at the rate of 5½ million per year. This increase is less than that of the world average, which is 1.6%; North America's is 1.7%.) The annual birth rate is around 17 million; the death rate nearly 11½ million. A boy born in 1951 had an average life-expectancy of 32½ years.

In the 1951 census 303 million were classified as Hindus, 35 million — Muslims, around 8 million — other non-christian religions, while just over 8 million were classified as of Christian religions, (less than ¾%.) These include Roman Catholic, Eastern Orthodox, etc.

Over 80% of the people live in villages, where the caste system appears in its fullest development.

About 70% of the people depend on agriculture for their livelihood. 25% of the village families hold 84% of the land. In the 1951 census nearly 50% of the rural population dwelt in villages of 500 to 2000 persons, over 25% in villages under 500, nearly 20% in villages of 2000 to 5000, only a little over 5% in villages of over 5000.

Americana states: "But no matter what the geography of a specific village, POVERTY, PETTY TYRANNY, and REPETITIVENESS (emphasis mine, P.M.) are the common pattern." The city people must be better off, surely. I will quote again, "most city dwellers are employed in service and distributive occupations which add little to the national income. The results can be seen in the DEEPENING POVERTY of the cities, in the PROLIFERATION OF RURAL HOUSING TYPES in UNCONGENIAL URBAN SLUM SETTINGS, and in the OVERFLOW OF THE POPULATION INTO THE STREETS IN SEARCH OF LIVING QUARTERS." (Emphasis mine, P.M.)

The Americana says this about housing constructions: "In 1953-1954 a national sample survey was made of conditions in 53 towns and in the cities of Bombay, Calcutta, Delhi, and Madras. It found that nearly ONE FOURTH (emphasis mine) of the houses had plinths, (footings) walls and roofs of mud. About 44% of the houses had one room; 28%, two rooms; 12%, three rooms; and only 16%, four or more rooms. About 46% of the houses had less than 100 square feet per head. These figures DO NOT tell the FULL STORY of the urban SLUM BUILDING ITSELF—." (Emphasis mine) "In any available spot there are squatters' shacks made of corrugated iron, reed and wattling, mud or whatever else is handy."

These should be sufficiently convincing evidences of the poverty-striken and desperate circumstances of these people to move us in compassion to help them.

A letter from J.C. Bailey reveals that the people of India are hungering and thirsting after righteousness and they will read religious tracts that come into their hands. They are ready for the Gospel. Many are turning to Christ. Brother Carlos informs me that in one district near Madras, in less than three weeks (from the last week of November to December 13, 1963), forty-one were baptized into Christ, and he expected five more to become obedient within the next day or two.

I understand that brother and sister Bailey are working with a man by the name of Ellery, and with the native people in Madras; and brother Carlos says the people accept the gospel message in the form of a tract with such eagerness, that they now envision printing and distributing one billion tracts within five years. The people are turning to Christ in such numbers, that brother Bailey now expects they will have started ten congregations by the close of this year (1964).

These things fill my heart with joy, brethren; but they have also made me realize that a tremendous responsibility has been laid on the shoulders of every one of us. It takes a lot of fellowship and a lot of co-operation to carry the work forward as our Saviour would have us do; yes, and it will take a lot of sacrifice and MERCY to establish Christianity in its fulness on the Indian continent. But in so doing we shall save millions from the power of sin and death, and our own selves from the damnation of the devil; otherwise be warned that God will judge us as He has judged every people who do not the works of righteousness. Not only will He allot us the wages of death in eternity; but I urge you earnestly to take seriously the warning to expect God to unleash upon us a nuclear holocaust to carry us and our children into eternity and bring those of us who remain, after the clouds of radiation have cleared, to the same conditions of hunger and poverty as of those whom we now hesitate to help.

Over ten million people die in India every year, most of them having never heard the Gospel. What are you doing to help? Remember Jesus' warning: "Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye did it not unto one of these LEAST YE DID IT NOT unto me. And these shall go away into eternal punishment."

THE RICHER YEARS

Time was when the old rocking chair got most people beyond the age of fifty. It seemed that many resigned themselves to an inactive life. They had either provided for their own subsistences during their earlier years or moved in with their children on the family farm or town house. Retirement meant little responsibility and little activity.

Modern medical knowledge, improved diet, and better living conditions have not only improved man's longevity substantially, they have made it possible for many people to be alert and active to a much later age than their forefathers. Modern pension plans have made it possible for many people past three score years to live independently and well. The policy of industry now is to retire people early and to accent youth in their personnel. What should people do with their remaining year?

The first impulse of people in this category of independent unemployment is to travel. Travel soon becomes boring unless more than average funds are available to take them great distances. Another impulse soon takes over — the desire to find a suitable hobby or preoccupation. This can be enjoyable and healthy depending on the nature of the activity. The human mind and body need a sense of purpose and a satisfaction in accomplishment.

Several wonderful people that I know have chosen to make the last years of their lives their richer years. They have devoted themselves to the service of the Master in one capacity or another. They have found joy in filling a need that never will be exhausted. They are no longer the unneeded and unused of earth. Their cup of satisfaction wells up and runs over. Why could not more of our brethren enjoy a similar experience?

What can such people do? Age, training and sex help to decide this question. Then too, opportunities vary with congregations and areas.

Many of my brethren are capable speakers and have preached for years while supporting themselves at secular employment. Some of the more capable of these could move to work with congregations that cannot support a younger man sufficiently. With a wealth of experience and with sufficient time to prepare sermons regularly, these men could render a real service. Some might need their income supplemented by partial support from the congregation. It would be practical and just for this support to be furnished where needed. This is one logical answer to the shortage of preachers.

Some congregations have one or more individuals in the retired category who specialize in visiting the sick and in helping with benevolence. This is the work of Christians in general. It can be also the area of special service of one who has sufficient time and the understanding brought by experience. Why cannot certain of our older brethren study up on the methods of sickroom visitation? They could bring happiness to a multitude in the years that God continues their own strength. These acts of mercy and benevolence can make the latter years the richer years.

Every congregation of any size has a great deal of office work that piles up until the evangelist or elders can find time to deal with it. Some retired office worker could handle this most efficiently and easily if it could be understood that this would free a preacher for more spiritual activities. Many hours of every preacher's time are spent pounding a typewriter or winding a mimeograph machine. Often this could be remedied if a dedicated volunteer would take over.

Some larger congregations hire two preachers to handle a large and varied program of work. In many cases one of the elders could work full time in place of the second preacher. He could serve without support or, if circumstances warranted, supported to supplement his income. There is as much or more authority in the New Testament for the support of elders so employed, life in the form of a promise. The scoffer and the unbeliever have often asked whether God will keep His promises (2 Peter 3:1-9). Christians are Standing On The Promises, and the presence of the Holy Spirit in their lives shows them to be fully justified.

THE EARNEST

Faithfulness — Hebrews 10:23, "Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised)." Revelation 2:10, "Be thou faithful unto death . . ." God has taken every measure to abundantly assure us that there is no reason to ever question His faithfulness. For this very reason we would never question His intentions to punish the wicked as He has said that He will, for this in turn would reflect upon His intentions to reward the righteous in His faithfulness.

Agreement — 2 Corinthians 6:16, "And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols?" There is no agreement between God's temple and idols. There is none between Christians and the temple of idols. But these thoughts suggest that there is an agreement, a partnership or fellowship (I John 1:6) between God and the children of God. This agreement involves a mutual pledge of faithfulness. Man has proved that he should be required to make such a pledge. God has proved that He will keep His word without such a pledge, and the fact that He makes it anyway, in giving the Holy Spirit, is a further evidence of His abundant grace.

Words like surety and undertaking may have even more technical and legal implications than those we have used (Isa. 38:14; Job 17:3). In any case, God and the new Christian enter a delightful relationship, in which each pledges himself to the other. The new-borne one is clean, redeemed by the blood of the lamb. He is received by a loving Father who has pardoned him, and now gives assurances which the human being cannot deserve. Having remitted his sins, God now gives to him a little bit of heaven — A portion of his final reward, part payment on the total obligation, the Holy Spirit as an earnest!

Holy Spirit and Fire

We have seen gospel preachers hard pressed to explain Matthew 3:11, 12, in keeping with otherwise clear and Scriptural positions on the Holy Spirit. We have given the matter no little thought ourselves. One may often be at a loss to reinforce his view that the second pronoun "you" has reference to a select group—"He shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and with fire." Not believing that Holy Spirit baptism is for all, not even believing that it is for a continuing group of select Christians in all ages, we find it difficult to satisfy even a sincere listener that the "you" in John's statement means all comers in reference to water baptism, but only the apostles and certain Gentiles in reference to Holy Spirit baptism. Some have even argued with some sophistry that these select persons were there in the audience at this time.

Consider another view of the passage. Verse twelve would indicate that the judgment is under consideration. We believe that in the judgment Christ will baptize all the wicked in fire. It it out of harmony with any Scriptural principle to suggest that in that same judgement Christ will over-whelm all of the redeemed with the Holy Spirit? John's purpose here is to show the superiority of Christ. While he, John, could use only water as an element in baptism, Christ would have available to Him two others—Holy Spirit and fire.

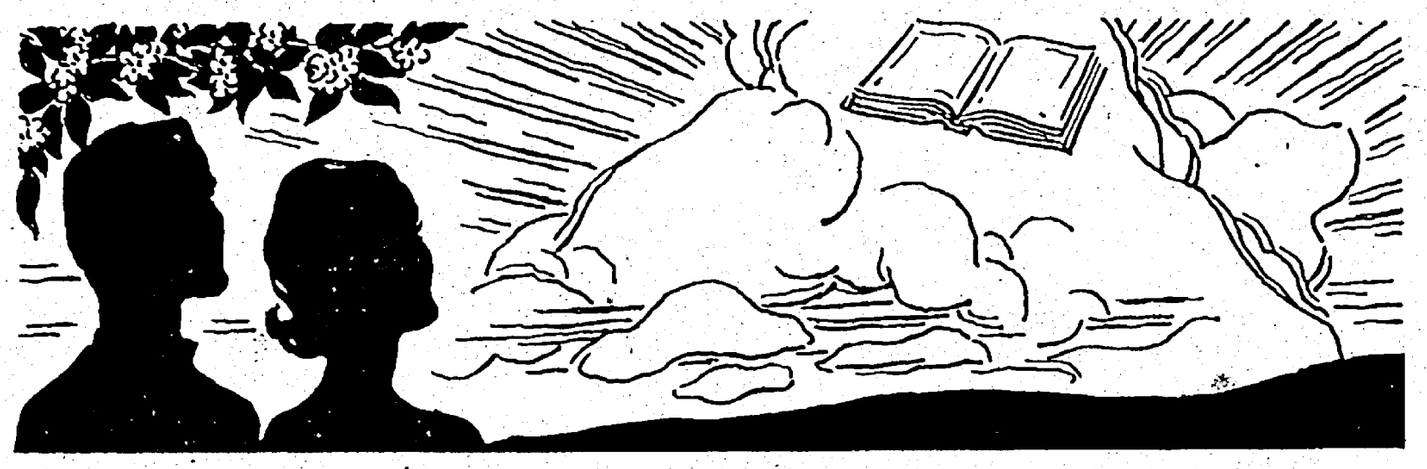
Such an interpretation would not only eliminate all problems with the pronouns, but would be completely in harmony with the passages we are studying. When one obeys the gospel he is given an earnest of the Spirit. This is a part of what he is to later receive. At the remission of sins he is given the gift of the Holy Spirit. May he not then receive an over-whelming of the Spirit when he has been judged righteous in the last Great Day?

"I Have the Holy Spirit"

Should a Christian have any hesitancy in saying this? It is not a boast for we could not deserve it. We fulfilled the gospel conditions, and therefore have the Spirit as God has promised. Our confidence is not in the way we feel—Some mysterious new emotion in the bosom. Human emotions are not that dependable, and while we are enthused and thrilled at having the Spirit in our lives, we cannot rely upon these feelings alone as evidence of His presence.

We are too frightened by statements of confidence concerning the presence of the Spirit. We are fearful that someone will think we are saying we were saved by the Holy Spirit, without obedience. Remember: We are discussing what the Holy Spirit does for the man who has believed and obeyed. The plan of salvation is not under consideration here. We are also uneasy that someone will say that the Spirit is doing something in violation of the word. But this is not what we are saying. The Holy Spirit that wrote the Word, is the Holy Spirit who comes to dwell in the new - borne Christian. In one of these works He will not contradict what He has done or said in the other.

Some have gone to such extremes in their assertions about the Spirit, that we have withdrawn to an opposite extreme. We have invented phrases, such as "All that the Spirit does He does through the written word," because these are convenient.



We are the first to realize that the Spirit will not do for us today some of the things He did for First Century Christians, before the Written Word was complete. But we protest the constant practice of talking about what the Spirit will not do for us. Let's spend more time learning what the Spirit will do for us.

In Conclusion

We have before us the means by which the Church becomes a Spirit filled body. Like other bodies, without a Spirit, this body could not live. As God wants forgiveness on the terms of the gospel, He adds the saved to the Church and gives to them the Earnest of the Spirit. If we do not "grieve" or "quench" the Spirit, if we will pray for strength through the Spirit (Eph. 3:16), the Spirit filled body, the Church, will

WOW!

Talk about just plain hard work! The following quiz was contributed by (who else?) Bro. H. F. Thompson, of Kingston, Ontario. If you like a challenge, if you like to be double-dared, then here it is! All you have to do is follow the instructions, and find the answers in the book of First Samuel. Those of you who accept the challenge, would you be kind enough to send (if you would care to) your answers and reactions to Bro. Thompson? Send to Bro. Thompson at 446 College St., Kingston, Ontario. I dare you!

QUIZ TEST ON FIRST SAMUEL

1. Unscramble the words in the left column. All are proper names.
2. Connect with a line the related words in the right column.

Example: THIRCS ..... CHRIST ..... Sacrifice

1. HHIEECLAM	.....	1. Better than ten
2. USALEM	.....	2. Murderer
3. RIBHATAA	.....	3. Provoker
4. PINHOH	.....	4. Giver
5. BIGALIA	.....	5. Martyr
6. IDDVA	.....	6. Faithful
7. KNHLAEA	.....	7. Merciful
8. THOGLIA	.....	8. Disobedient
9. HENNNIPA	.....	9. Beloved
10. DOGE	.....	10. Escaped
11. BALAN	.....	11. Careless
12. ULAS	.....	12. Wicked

G.L.C.C. PLANS YOUTH RALLY

On April 25, 26, and 27, Great Lakes Christian College will host the young people of Southern Ontario and adjacent American States to a three day Youth Rally. The theme of the lessons to be presented will be—"All things through Christ."

Highlights of the weekend include: outstanding speakers, a debate, group discussions, a sunrise service, group singing, devotionals, and an excursion to Niagara Falls and surrounding area.

The weekend begins Friday evening and will continue until Sunday afternoon. Overnight accommodation and meals will be provided by the College.

Plan now to be a part of the three days of fun and fellowship planned for Christian young people.

as their is for the preacher's support.

This is but a brief and suggestive discussion of the ability that some Christians have to make their retirement years their richest years. Unfulfilled longings and plans to serve God which one may have stifled in the busy years can never be replaced completely. For some, at least, there is the opportunity of making new plans and finding a sense of fulfillment.

Many brethren have found this to be the answer for retirement. They have been able to partake of life's true meaning, as they busy themselves in service to their Lord and their fellows. Why not give it a try in your life if circumstances permit? —R.D.M.

After years of faithful service, Margaret Carnegie of Hamilton has been forced to give up this service to Omagh Bible School. The opportunity to serve has been accepted by Mrs. John MacKay, 7 Locust Ave., Toronto 15.

It is a pleasure to record that the $800 deficit in the Omagh funds has been met by generous contributions.

ARE WE READY?

like to name. But almost to a man, these are coming out bereft of their faith, and modernistic to the core. The Seminaries of the leading denominations are no better. Canada's leading Protestant denominations are admittedly modernistic, and their Seminaries are turning out religious preachers and leaders, so modernistic, that they will accept hardly a single one of the basic concepts that you and I consider fundamental in Christianity — the verbal inspiration of the Scriptures, the divinity of Christ, the supernatural, or the three fundamentals of the Gospel.

The modern generation which is taking its place in the world, and those who follow them, do not have the basic orientation into the belief in the fundamentals of Biblical history and doctrine as have you and I. Many of Canada's young adults today know more of the writings of Kant, Marx, Nietzche, and Heidegger, than they know of Matthew, Mark, Luke, or John. Their thinking and concepts have been molded into the patterns of rationalism, naturalism, or existentialism, and not by the thinking of Jesus, Paul, or Peter. More and more, these are becoming the teachers in our primary and high schools. It certainly should not be alarming to us when our son comes home and says: "Dad, I think maybe evolution is right after all", or our daughter says "My teacher said that marriage and morals and all that was just superstition, and that as we get more educated we will forget these things".

In every facet of our society the results of such teaching are being felt:

In religion, the current "ecumenical binge" or "unity at any cost" is but one example. A respect for the authority of Jesus Christ dictated through the words of the Bible is absolute foolishness to these people. They are interested in the creation of a super-church, and not in the renewal of the "unity of the Spirit". The New Testament church, doctrine, and worship has no place in their concepts. It is archaic.

In Morals our nation is reaping the results of Freud's and Darwin's concept of man. When man becomes nothing more than a "glorified animal", when you degrade the dignity of man, and deny him a basic God-given moral code, then you can expect crime, delinquency, sexual promiscuity, illegitimacy, and the breakdown of the home.

And Ethics are no different. When man "learns" that the law governing him is not "Love thy neighbor", but the "survival of the fittest", it is not surprising when ethical standards slide down-hill. When payola becomes a way of life, graft is just accepted in government, and businesses say that they have to lie, cheat, and steal to keep going, then it is evident that men have left the lofty concepts of the Master of Galilee and have "descended to the jungles" with Darwin.

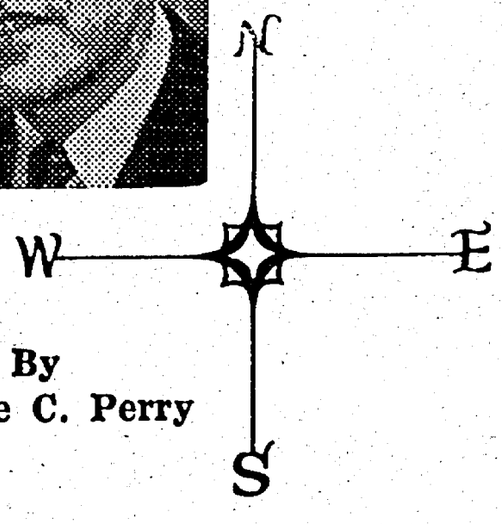
This presents a revolting situation and task that are facing the church today. But what are we going to do? As the days go by, I am afraid we will see the ranks of the fundamental believers diminish, and they will be replaced by unbelievers. Will we be ready to teach them, bring them to Christ? Yes, Christ is the answer for all men, even the modernist, though he doesn't believe in Him. In the past, we have simply passed them by, saying "They're not interested". And we feel we are absolved of all responsibility. But our real problem is that as yet we haven't shown them wherein Christianity will benefit them. We haven't shown them that pure Christianity is the best life, has the loftiest ideals, the purest motives, the most noble purpose, and most satisfying ultimate goal. Herein lies our task.

How can we accomplish this? First, it must be emphasized that it cannot be accomplished by members of the church who are literally "chomping at the bit" in the desire to get away from the restraining influence of the authority of Jesus Christ so they can begin to "pitch their tents toward" liberalism. Nor can it be accomplished by carnal and worldly-minded christians who either do, or would give most anything to be able to, "enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season". Half-hearted, worldly, and two - faced Christianity will never get the job done.

But it can be done by those who know God, and know what Christianity really is and means in the life of an individual. Christianity is indeed an intellectual religion, but it is also an experienced and practiced religion. We will never be able to impress or teach a modernist, until the transformation of mind wrought by Jesus results in a transformation of our lives into a spiritually mature child of God.

We are also going to have to learn why we believe what we believe. It isn't enough to believe because mother and the preacher do. We must study and find the sound and logical evidences which support our faith in the fundamentals of God's Word. Encourage the preacher to preach on them. Encourage your Bible class teacher to teach on them. Encourage the elders to prepare for counseling you and others in these fields. Have home discussion periods designed for dealing with these problems.

And most of all, we are going to have to learn thoroughly what God says in His will, coupling this with the daily asking for wisdom from above. We cannot teach that which we do not know.



When the restoration movement was beginning to pick up momentum and make its mark here in North America, the ugly head of modernism raised itself right within our ranks. And out of all those in the brotherhood, only one man was able to wage any kind of an active and consistent fight against it. That was J W McGarvey. Everyone else was not prepared or was unconcerned. By the time the brotherhood in general woke up, liberalism in one form or another had stolen the bulk of the body of Christ.

Today we have an equally great task. We have first ourselves and our own faith to protect. We have the church to protect. We have our own children to protect from the onslaughts of infidelity beckoning from school, modernistic religion, and the world as a whole. And there is a world of people at our doorstep, hopelessly lost, bereft of faith,

Nanaimo, B.C.: "The dates for the meeting at Nanaimo have been changed to March 1-8. Bro. Lynn Anderson will be the speaker." The church building walls have been plastered in a beautiful ivory tone and it is hoped that the floor can be covered in time for the meeting.

This church held its first V.B.S. in 1963 with 94 in attendance. The school was considered successful but was terribly understaffed. Any who can are invited to consider helping this year August 10-14.

Victoria, B.C.: "The dates for the next Victoria meeting are March 29 to April 5. The preacher will be Bro. Clinton Brazle of North Weyburn, Sask.

Prince Albert, Sask.: This church is overseeing the purchase of a meeting trailer from the Outlook church. Immediate needs are for $150 to meet a note now due. A balance of $947 remains and the brethren would like to pay it off by July 1. The trailer will be used to help start work in mission areas in Saskatchewan.

Weyburn, Sask.: Jim Hawkins of Victoria will be at the Airport church in a meeting March 10-18. This church has decided to help Ron Pauls this summer in his planned effort in New Brunswick.

Lynn Anderson of Salmon Arm, B.C. will be in a meeting with the 10th and Bison church in Weyburn, April 26 - May 3.

Ice Lake, Ont.: A reader has added the following to the report on the church in Ice Lake in the December issue. "T. W. Bailey held 25 meetings at Ice Lake from the year 1914 to 1940. Most of these were two weeks, over three Sundays long. In the year 1915 a meeting was three weeks, four Sundays long and 18, mostly young men, were baptized.

Sault Ste Marie, Ont.: It has been drawn to our attention that, rather than Rex Smith being the first full time preacher as reported in the January issue, Bro. T. W. Bailey worked full time with this church for 14 years beginning in 1943 after a year in Northern Quebec.

We thank any readers who draw our attention to any inaccuracies in these special issues or for that matter in any issues. We hasten to assure that such errors and ommissions are not intentional.

North Livingstone, Ont.: A new room on the east end of the meeting house provides an enlargement to the auditorium and a large classroom. The young peoples' class which averages 20 has the use of this room.

Sudbury, Ont.: Some of Brother Bailey's support has been discontinued of recent months leaving him with $150 promised for the month of February. This is not enough, nor can the local church supplement it sufficiently.

North Bay, Ont.: Local collections averaged $62.00 in December. Cottage meetings are in progress. Mrs. Jacqueline Bonell was baptized on January 26 necessitating a journey to Sundridge where a horse trough was used for the immersion. Two days a month are being set aside for the passing out of tracts in the neighbourhood of the place of meeting. This will use the whole congregation and will mean repeated visits with different tracts. Efforts are still being made to raise money for a radio program and an office. Also some expected support for Bro. Lansdell has not materialized and he needs some others to help.

V.B.S. dates have been set for August 17-21.

Barrie, Ont.: "Paul and David McKenzie were baptized into Christ here Saturday, February 15. We have others for whom we are praying. Summer plans include special meetings conducted simultaneously in Barrie, Collingwood and Newmarket. These three congregations and Pine Orchard will work and benefit. Note the advertisement in this issue. Two congregations in Valdosta, Georgia, will send money and workers. Our Talent Training Class for the men of these four congregations is being well received. Brethren W. Hazelip and W. Jones are teaching." — W. Jones.

The New Year's programme was considered a great success with a high of 145 and a profitable program. Christ for the World is now on the Barrie station (950, 6.30 Sunday evening), and has been well received.

A forty-two passenger school bus has been purchased and will be used to establish a regular run for Bible classes.

Collingwood, Ont.: Looking to future expansion and the need for more attractively located quarters, this church has purchased one and one half acres in a district where new homes are being built at a good rate.

Windsor, Ont.: Last month we broke our old record for Bible school attendance, when a total of 131 were present. We fell only four short of our goal. We are presently beginning a personal work program that we feel will be of great benefit in building up the congregation. When in the Windsor area, worship with us. — Ray L. Miller.

Newmarket, Ont.: This church is now publishing its own bulletin entitled Newmarket Narrator. It is working hard to locate a full-time man to work in the area. Although only one year old, this church has a good nucleus and is quite prepared to help itself.

Owen Sound, Ont.: Jim Nicholson of Tintern is to be here in a meeting in late April or May and Ferrel Jenkins for the Fall meeting.

London, Ont.: Although there were no conversions in 1963, 12 moved from other places bringing the membership up to 24. With a goal of $45, collections reached $48.59. Bible classes reached a high of 100 and an average of 66. New goals have been set. The new building will have six and possibly eight classrooms in the basement. Ontario churches

Book Reviews

Books to be reviewed in this column should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont., Canada.

Marriage Is For Those Who Love God — And One Another by Thomas B. Warren, Warren Publications, Fort Worth, Texas, 144 pages, $3.00.

A recent issue of Time magazine featured an article on the state of modern morals. Reaction was such that the magazine received more mail about this article than for anything else it has ever printed.

Christians believe that the only answer to modern confusion about morals is to be found in the ethics of the Bible. There must be respect for the institution of marriage. The God who ordained marriage in the beginning must be recognized as the only authority on proper marriage today.

Thomas B. Warren presented a series of sermons on what the Bible teaches about marriage to the Eastridge church in Fort Worth, Texas. Many of those who heard the sermons encouraged Brother Warren to publish them.

There are five chapters in the book corresponding to the five sermons given in the series. The chapter headings are "Marriage — Why This Study Is Needed"; "Marriage — Why It Fails So Often"; "Marriage — The Profound Significance of 'I Do'"; "Marriage — Is Not For the Immature"; "Marriage — Yours Can Be A Successful One." Each chapter gives careful consideration to its topic. The author makes his points with thoroughness, conviction and clarity. He does not hesitate to comment on any necessary aspects of his theme.

It should be useful to teen-agers, those contemplating marriage and even to many married couples.

Christian Evidences by Virgil R. Trout, R. B. Sweet Co. Inc., Austin, Texas. 93 pages, 75c.

Ordinarily we do not review Bible class material. But seldom have we seen so much compressed into so little space as in this booklet. Anyone who thinks he knows a little about "Christian Evidences" should read this work and see how little he really knows! Much of the material seems too deep for the average adult class. It might require someone with the scholarship of the author to teach a class using this volume. But, nevertheless, those interested in this most important area of study will find this extremely valuable.

BIBLE QUIZ

II Timothy 2:15; 3:16, 17

The Bible is God's Word. It is the meat and drink of the spiritual life. Christians need to study it daily. These questions will help to indicate something of how effective your study has been.

gave nearly $10,000 toward this building. "Our greatest need is more consecrated workers to help in teaching God's word in Bible School, V.B.S., and follow-up personal work." — Ralph Perry.

Hamilton, Fennell Ave.: With an average contribution of $196 in 1963 a weekly goal of $225 has been set in order to meet the new budget. The three Hamilton congregations are joining hands in supporting a radio program which will present Wesley Jones of Barrie each week for one half hour at 9.30 p.m. Sundays on station CHIQ. It will commence on March first.

Fenwick, Ont.: The contribution recently reached $129.15. Alexander Bigelow of St. Catharines recently confessed faith in Christ at Fenwick and was baptized. He may attend at St. Catharines.

Jordan, Ont.: Sunday morning attendance reached a high average of 149 in January and 111 in the evening. This church spent almost $11,000 in evangelistic work during 1963. Some support went to 10 different preachers and two radio programs. May we all learn from this fine example.

Beamsville, Ont.: "January was a great month for missionary work at the church in Beamsville. Four hundred dollars was sent to support Bro. Perry in India. Two hundred dollars was sent to help Bro. Joe Cannon to spread the gospel in Okinawa. Five hundred dollars was sent to Brother Martin in Nigeria to assist Nigerians in preaching the gospel and to assist them in preparing to preach.

Toronto: The Toronto churches have planned a full day of "Spiritual Medications" in the Thorncliffe Public School, Leaside, Toronto for March 27. The day begins at 9 a.m. and features exhibits, workshops, speeches (Dean Clutter of Ottawa and Wesley Jones of Barrie) and singing.

As reported last issue, Phyllis White, a retired school teacher, left in January to teach Bible classes in Scotland. "Phyllis, of course, has her pension to live on and she is paying her own expenses. Phyllis is setting a fine example to many retired people". Donna Zavitz (See editorial page. GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

INDIA

"I am writing this on January 1 and the New Year is off to a good start for we baptized three today among the Telugu people."

— J. C. Bailey
Annex 19, Aspiran Garden,
January 28, 1964.

I have been told by the grapevine that some people are anxious to help with the India work but they do not know how, or where, to send their money. We shall try to help you in that regard.

If you want to help Donald Perry then send the money to him at Beamsville where it will be banked for him. He can draw it from there. If you want to write to him, his address is Mawlai Phudmawri, Shillong, Assam, India. If anyone so desires, funds can be sent directly to him in India. Postal money order is the best means.

If you want to help Ray McMillan then you can send the money to George Husband at Wawota, Sask. Ray's address is as above.

If you want to help David Hallett you can send it either to the church in St. Catharines, or Hailfax, Nova Scotia, I think. At least they can tell you what to do.

If you want to help the work in the Madras area then you send the money directly to me. IF YOU DO BE SURE TO REGISTER YOUR LETTER. You may send it to Bro. MAURICE BUCKINGHAM, 1143 Henleaze Ave., Moose Jaw, Sask. He places it to my credit there and I draw it once a month.

We have now put out more than 150,000 tracts since coming to India. Our Bible Correspondence work has grown until we now have more than 100 students in English and more than 80 in Tamil. There have been more than 80 baptized in the Madras area.

Despite the fact that I have lost about 39 pounds since coming to India I am feeling fine. I work long hours. Sister Bailey and the girls are all fine too.

If they gave degrees from the University of Hard Knocks I am sure that I should soon have earned a degree but in the meantime our work is both rewarding and challenging.

Brotherly, J. C. Bailey

Shillong: Some of the readers of the Herald have seen some of the colour slides that we have sent to Canada from here. We hope that this will give you a bit of a picture of things here. The pictures sometimes seem to show things as more colourful than they actually are. Nevertheless there are many beauties here to be seen and appreciated. Right now during the dry winter season the grass and some of the trees have turned brown with frost and lack of moisture.

Many aspects of our work, of course, cannot be pictured with the camera. We are coming to love and appreciate many of the brethren here. Though with some we do not communicate very well due to the language problem we do enjoy being with them. We have progressed to the point that we enjoy singing the hymn's in Khasi with the brethren. We even have some of our own morning devotions with the singing in Khasi. Things are not as strange any more and we feel more at home.

However, we may not have a home if the evil purposes of the former leader here, Prenshon Kharlukhi, are realized. We have difficulty understanding his purposes, but he is trying desperately to get us out of here. We have tried to work with the church as a whole and not just with him. This has not worked as he has been accustomed to running everything. Many people in years past have left the church due to this and have gone to the Christian Church or to some denomination. We have been served a notice to get out of the building here where we reside above the church building. The brethren here have asked us to ignore that notice from the lawyer and to stay in. On February 12 we received a Court Injunction which is supposed to restrain us from interfering with Kharlukhi's activities as trustee to the property. So it has now become a case for the courts. We trust things will work out for the advance of Christ's kingdom. We plan to go ahead as we have been doing. We will open the Mawlai Christian School on February 17 and continue to teach and preach, the Lord willing.

We expect Bob Hare from Austria here for a short meeting beginning March 9th.

— Donald E. Perry

ENGLAND

Wembley: "The work here goes very well but we are handicapped to some degree by not having a building of our own. Property is so scarce and the prices so high that it might be some time before we can get our own place in which to worship. Our membership is over 100, though of course all of these are not as faithful as they should be. Last Sunday we had a work day in which our members went out visiting the dilatory members and friends. This was very successful.

"During the late summer or fall, Sister Lake and I propose to return to Western Canada as our time here, or for that matter, anywhere away from Canada is at an end. Our passports expired two years ago and we are now working here on a two year extension which expires next December. At the moment we are trying to raise support to go into Southern Alberta or British Columbia and start a church or churches in that vast area where there are but very few churches. So far, no church has offered to assist us in our project, but we pray that we will be able to raise the necessary funds to carry out our proposed work." — E. P. Lake.

HAMILTON & SOUTHWESTERN ONTARIO

H. Ralph Perry

This issue of the Herald features the work of the church in Southwestern Ontario and the Hamilton area. First, we thank the editors for requesting this and using the pages of the Herald to inform the brethren of what is being attempted for Christ and to encourage one another in good works. Second, we thank all the churches for co-operating so well with the requested articles and photos.

When one looks at the map of Southwestern Ontario he realizes that there are vast areas still in need of the gospel. One hundred fulltime workers could move into this area tomorrow and still there would be many towns and villages without a labourer. Here we have Chatham, 30,500 pop.; St. Thomas, 22,000; Woodstock, 22,000; Stratford, 22,000; Kitchener, 75,000; Waterloo, 23,000; Galt, 28,000, and Guelph, 40,000 without churches. In the Hamilton area are Burlington, 47,000; Oakville, 40,000, and Dundas, 13,000 without churches. Besides there is Brantford, 56,000 and Sarnia, 51,000 with churches but no fulltime workers. Besides these larger centers, there are many towns and villages of fair size and no churches.

With London as the center, look north as far as Owen Sound and you will find no church; look south to Lake Erie and you find no church; look west to Sarnia and you find no church; look southwest to Windsor and you find only the small church in Glencoe, a town of 1,100; look east to Hamilton and you find less than 10 brethren meeting in Brantford. Here is a tremendous area in great need of gospel witnesses.

The Kitchener area is a prime target for new work. We would like to see Ontario churches or some church in the U.S. plan for a beachhead into this populous and developing area. Greater Kitchener has a population of 155,000. Here are prosperous industries and thrifty people. The University of Waterloo with its unique engineer training and Waterloo Lutheran University are both located here. Close at hand are Galt, Preston, and Guelph. It would be good if a well organized campaign to be followed up with a fulltime worker, could go into Kitchener.

THE CONGREGATION AT SARNIA

The work at Sarnia has been one of slow progress and solid achievement. It is said that the first sermon preached for the church here was the last sermon of Brother Samuel Whitfield, father of Fred of Sarnia, Roy of California and John of Owen Sound. From this beginning, the church grew under a succession of evangelists such as J. C. Bailey, Tom Bailey, Charles Black, L. J. Keffer, George Johnson, Bethel Bailey, Albert Bennetts, A. A. Gallagher and Roy Davison, to mention just a few. These men were some of the most dedicated men in the brotherhood labouring under great handicaps and often at great personal sacrifices.

About 1940 the congregation moved into its own home, a basement auditorium in which they met until Brother Nelson Bailey and several others from Sault Ste. Marie assisted us in erecting our superstructure. We began using this in 1952.

Our present membership is 51. Brother Bill Friley, a high school teacher of Port Huron, Michigan, is labouring with us on a part time basis. Bible school attendance averages about 48. Classes for the whole family are held on Friday evening. These average about the same as Bible School.

We are helping to support three missions in Ontario: The Sudbury work under Bethel Bailey, the Huntsville work under Bro. Gordon Dennis, a son of the Sarnia congregation and that of London under Brother Ralph Perry. An ambitious vacation Bible School is being planned for this summer. It is hoped that we may obtain the use of one of Sarnia's schools for this effort. Cottage meetings are being held by some of the members here and hope is being held for an abundant harvest in this corner of the vineyard.

THE WINDSOR WORK

The work in Windsor began around September, 1924. At that time a group of brethren from Britain who were living in Windsor were worshipping in Detroit, and, with the help of the Detroit brethren, open air meetings were held at the river front in Windsor.

Meeting house with elders, brethren Adam Bruce, Bill Brown and Charles Wren

Soon after this, fifteen or sixteen members met in a school house on Wyandotte St. West.

Later, lots were purchased at another location and a building was moved onto them and a foundation was laid for a larger building for the future. However, this was vacated when a large meeting house was purchased at our present location. The first meeting held there was on March 11th, 1939.

We now have a membership of about 80 and on Lord's Days our average attendance in the morning is about 100 and in the evening between 50 and 60. We have an excellent Bible School for all ages with a chartered bus to transport the children. Recently we had a record attendance of 131.

Our week night Bible Study has been steadily increasing with classes for adults and young folks. Our average attendance has been around 40. The sisters meet once during the week also.

In 1963, Bro. Ray Miller began working with the congregation. Four young men were recently baptized.

Plans for 1964 include a Vacation Bible School and two Special Meetings. We believe there is still a great future for the church in Windsor and we are encouraged with our progress to date.

We have three elders, W. Brown, C. Wren and A. Bruce — the latter two being among the few remaining original members. The deacons are R. Dockeray, T. Hamilton, J. Atherton, J. Gibson, H. Monforton and M. Horrocks.

While we have made progress, our aim is to make more in '64.

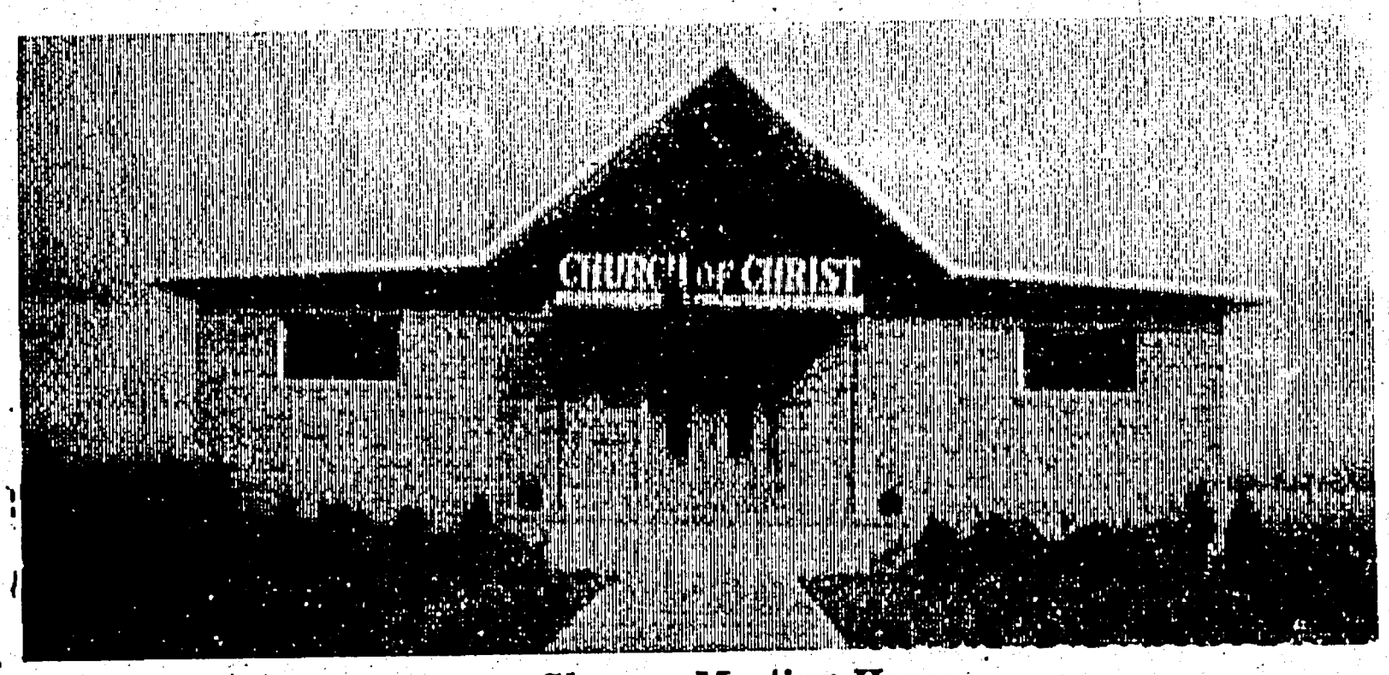
—Adam Bruce

THE BRANTFORD WORK

There is presently some uncertainty concerning the early years of the church in Brantford. Perhaps some readers can supply more detailed information than is contained herein.

Bro. Harry McArdle and Bro. John Attaway were meeting in or near Brantford in the 1930s or before. In the early 1940s the Earl Spiece family, the William Neilson family and brethren from Preston met in the Temple Building on Dalhousie Street. It appears that interest weakened during the war years and meetings discontinued with most of the members travelling to Preston (18 miles) to meet with the church there for a time. It seems that the treasury funds were taken to Preston at this time.

In the early 1950s the church at Tintern began to take an active interest in helping to establish regular meetings in Brantford once more. The Earl Spiece family had become Christians at Tintern many years before. Tintern members began to come and hold afternoon services in their home in Brantford. Brother Roy Cogdill was at that time holding meetings in various Ontario cities in an effort to establish new congregations. Arrangements were made for him to preach a meeting in an upstairs room at 11 Queen St. in mid February, 1964. Brother Herman Mason assisted in various ways.



The results of this meeting were quite encouraging. Four were baptized and one discovered. Afterwards the Tintern church sent Eugene Perry each week to assist in the services which were held in the Y.M.C.A. for a time. Membership numbered between twenty and thirty. Two were baptized that summer. Some felt that it would be an advantage to have a building so a house was purchased at 12 Allenby Ave. and made into a meeting room with an apartment on the second floor.

Brother John Fant of the U.S. came in the Fall of 1954 supported by the church in Beamsville. Difficulties arose with some of the new members, some members moved away and the work became discouraging. It became necessary for Bro. Fant to take secular employment for a time. He moved away in 1956 after which the Don Halls family of Tintern moved into the apartment. Don did the preaching and supported himself by secular work. Efforts to build up a Bible school were not very successful. They moved after about two years and the small church, having lost several by death and removal and some by estrangement was left to carry on by itself. Brethren Halls and Perry came to help some but much of the public work fell on the shoulders of John Barlow who had been baptized in the meeting of 1954.

During these years meetings were held by G. Kramar, R. MacDonald,

GLENCOE GROWTH

Glencoe Meeting House

The Church of Christ now meeting in Glencoe had its beginning in the little hamlet called Woodgreen on No. 2 Highway about three miles east of the Village of Wardsville. In the fall of 1903 Brothers Maitland Watterworth and S. M. Jones held a six week's meeting which resulted in the establishment of the church at that time.

A vacated Baptist Church house, still in good condition of repair, was obtained for use and the church was allowed to continue to use this building until 1911 when its use any longer was refused and the brethren then erected a modest building of 20' x 30' of their own. Services continued here until the spring of 1961 when a change was made due to the Department of Highways requiring the church house to be moved to allow improvement of highway. It was accordingly decided to move the building to the Village of Glencoe, its present location.

Early in the summer of 1904 the services of evangelist Brother S. Whitfield were obtained to work with the young church, which continued until his death in 1925. During this time many meetings were held, not only at Woodgreen, but also in various school houses within a radius of six miles or so of Woodgreen. These meetings resulted in many hearing the word and some responding thereto. In this way the church continued to grow for some years.

After the death of Brother Whitfield, Brother J. C. Bailey took up the work for another couple of years. From then on Brother John S. Whitfield had charge of ministering to the church until 1946, after which time he took up work with the church at St. Catharines. Until 1961 the local brethren took charge of the services. Since moving into Glencoe Brother George Johnson of Jordan has been coming to speak twice each Lord's day.

Among the preachers who have held meetings for the church while at Woodgreen are Brethren Geo. A. Klingman, Charles Petch, W. F. Neil, Madison Wright and W. F. Cox. Since moving to Glencoe Bro. Claude Wilsford held three meetings and Brother Jim Nicholson two meetings. These meetings have resulted in eight baptisms and one restoration.

The Sunday School has not grown as was hoped and a Vacation Bible School has not as yet been held.

Progress will be slow for sometime as there is much prejudice to break down.

The church now has a comfortable church house in which to meet as the building underwent a complete remodelling in 1961 when the auditorium was completely improved both inside and out. Three classrooms, a wash room and a vestibule were added and a baptistry was installed. — A. Purcell

H. Hazelip and Roy Merritt. The difficulty of keeping up the property and the fact that it was not used much in the absence of a preacher resulted in its sale in the Fall of 1960. Since that time Lord's Day morning meetings have been directed by Brother Barlow in his home at 34 Sarah St. Brother Barlow is to be commended for his faithfulness and devotion in continuing stedfastly without financial support from the church.

The church at Tintern has maintained an interest by sending someone to visit and to encourage the meetings twice each month. The present membership of six meets faithfully each Sunday morning for worship but conducts no other regular activities.

The city of Brantford has a listed population of 55,000 but it has been estimated that about 125,000 people live within a seven mile radius of the city. This city has one of the widest varieties of industries of any city in Canada. It is located in an agricultural area. The small church here has come through some trying times and needs our encouragement.

There are funds in the treasury to hold some meetings or employ a preacher if someone suitable will show an interest. The challenge here is too big for the small group, some of whom are elderly. What is needed is a concerted effort by some mission minded church in sending a worker and helping to lay plans, obtain a building and hold forth the gospel of salvation. E.C.P.

THE FOREST CITY

"The Forest City", London, Ont. is strategically located in the heart of prosperous Southwestern Ontario half way between the huge cities of Detroit and Toronto. It is known for its tree - lined streets, lovely parks, and residential areas. London on the Thames is named after its mother city in England as are many of its streets, parks and other landmarks. Here we have Blackfriars Bridge, St. Paul's Cathedral, Pall Mall, Piccadilly, Chelsea Green, Covenant Garden Market, Trafalgar Street, and Hyde Park.

London Meeting House Under Construction

London with a population of 176,000 ranks as Canada's 10th largest city and Ontario's 4th. It is fast becoming one of the leading educational centres of Canada with its ever expanding University of Western Ontario, Teachers' College, London College of Bible and Missions, a Trade Institute under construction and a College of Education to begin soon.

This rapidly expanding city is the industrial, medical, commercial, transportation, recreational, financial, and manufacturing capital of Southwestern Ontario. The diversity of manufactured products by London firms is the basis for the economic and employment stability of London which is unsurpassed in Canada. London is Canada's 5th ranked financial center and only recently was stated to be only behind Montreal and Toronto in the investment field.

The church is young in London and is making steady progress. Early in 1958 Bro. and Sis. Ron Mason started to meet in their home. After being joined by a few others they started to meet in a room in the Y.M.C.A. in June 1959. In July 1960 Bro. and Sis. Ralph Perry and family moved to London to work fulltime with the church. The mission - minded Granny White church in Nashville, Tenn. has supported the Perrys in this work from the beginning. Their understanding and encouragement have been outstanding.

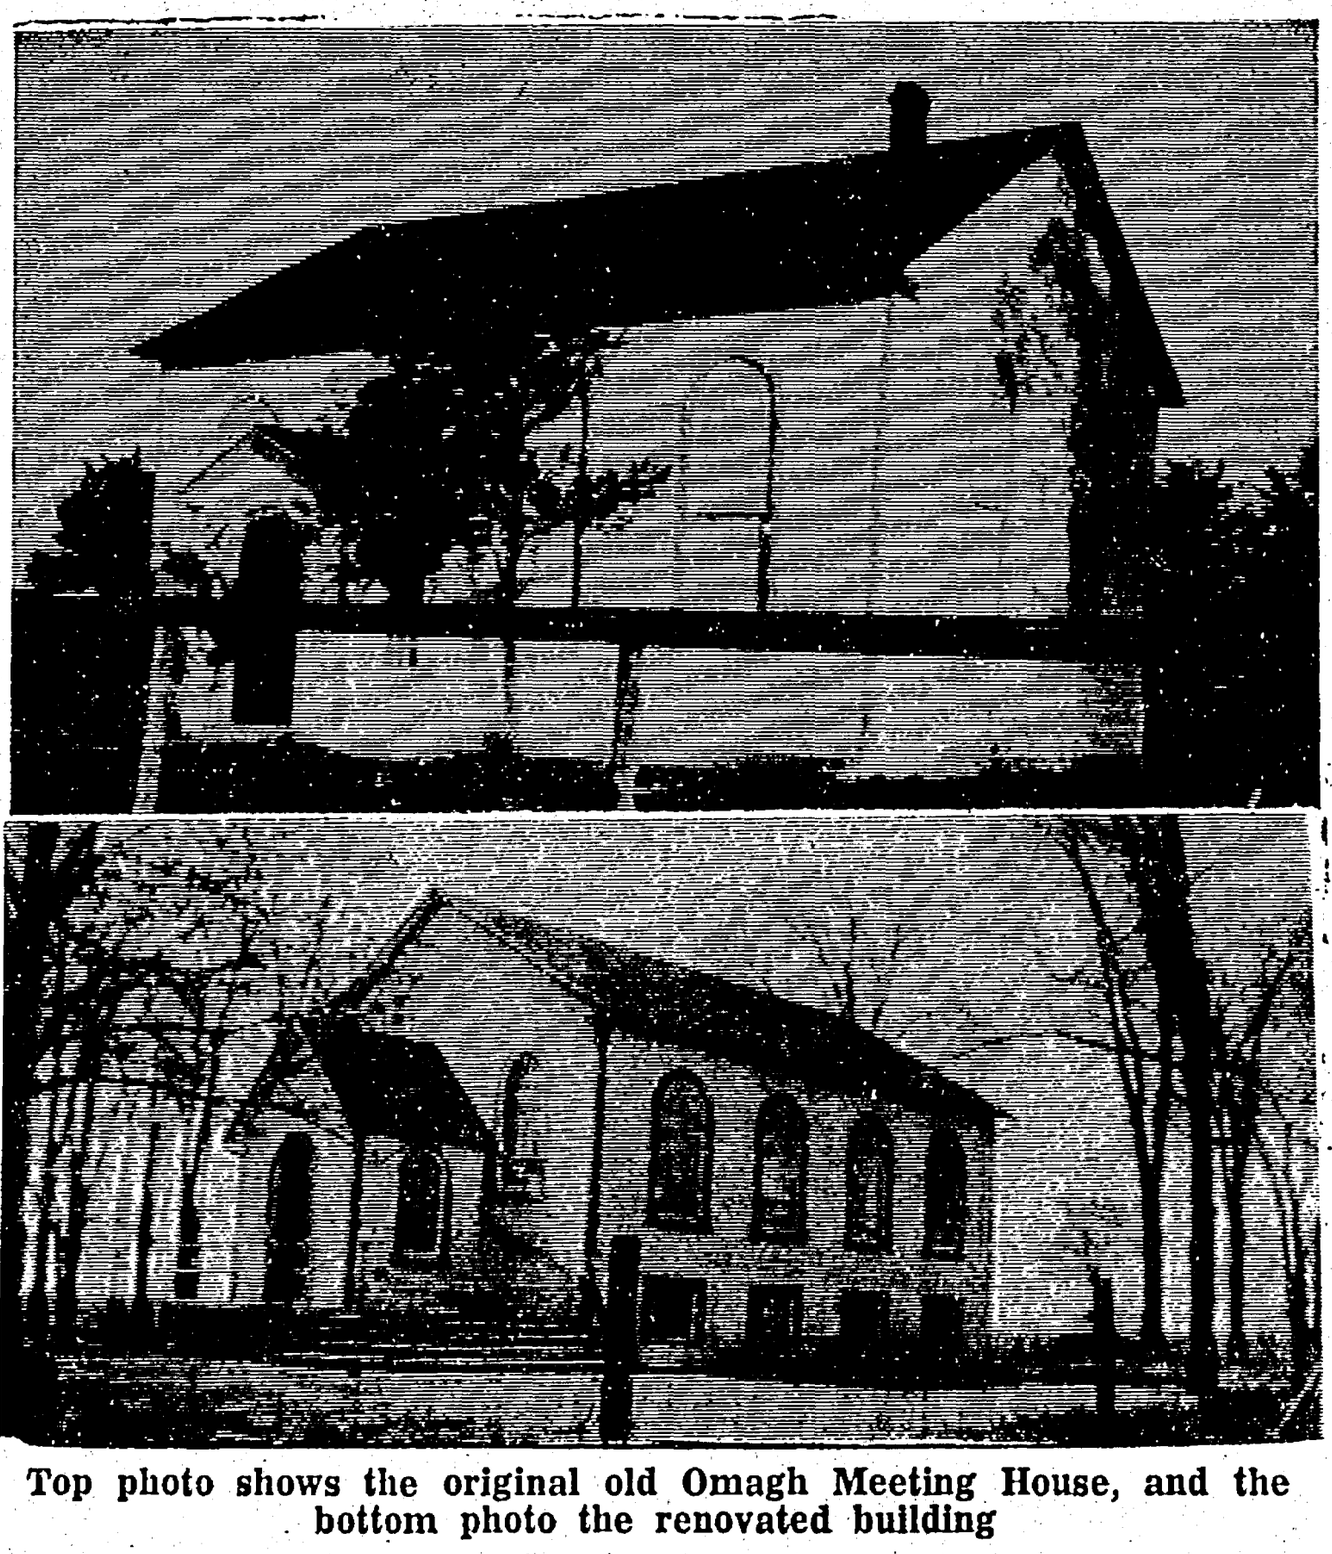
The passing of Sis. Ron (Shirley — the spark in the work) Mason, the subsequent moving of Ron to St. Catharines and the leaving for other areas of a few others caused a set back. Discouragement almost engulfed us but the Lord has been with us and the prospects are much brighter today.

In June 1962 we moved our work to Huron Heights, a rapidly expanding subdivision in northeast London. Sunday morning classes and worship are conducted in Evelyn Harrison Public School. Other gatherings are in homes. This seems to have been a very wise move. The opportunities are beyond us.

Our greatest opportunity appears to be work with children. Along with a personal work campaign a group of A.C.C. students helped with our first Vacation Bible School in 1962. This averaged 304 in attendance. Last year we averaged 307 with help from a group from Plymouth, Michigan church. They camped at Fanshawe Park and they plan to return in 1964. Some from Sarnia and other places helped both years.

On October 6th, 1963 we reached 100 in regular Bible school and averaged 66 for the year, after averaging 38 in 1962 and 21 in 1961. The prospects in this area are greater — IF — we only had more qualified teachers. We have eight classes now and should have at least 10. People are moving into new homes in the area almost every week. Many would come to our classes but we hesitate to inform them because of lack of teachers. This opportunity will not always be present as other churches are building in the area.

A new church building is under construction on a two acre track of land, located at Huron Street, the main traffic artery of Huron Heights. It will seat 126 in the auditorium, contains a nursery, study, washrooms, and 10 teaching areas with a possibility of 12. Churches and individuals from Labrador to Victoria in Canada, and from Florida to California in the U.S. have generously donated to this effort. Ontario churches have been the chief donors. Noteworthy is the St. Catharines church which set aside about $6,500.00 for us over a period of two and one-half years. Without this fellowship we could not be building this $27,000. structure now, and we are grateful, indeed. Construction was to be completed in February but likely will not be finished until close to April. Tentatively we plan to have an official opening May 10th.



The London church now has a membership of 23. Twelve moved here in 1963. One has since moved to Toronto. We appreciate the presence and help of the Clarence Vance family, the Victor Dale family, and Bro. and Sis. H. Dale, retired from secular work and formerly an elder with the Strathmore church in Toronto. These folks have moved here to help with the progress of the gospel. Here is an example for others. More are needed to teach classes we need desperately to start. Please consider London, the hub for spreading the gospel in Southwestern Ontario. We will assist you in securing employment.

1964 — our goal is to reach a membership of 35 to 40, a high of 125 in Bible school, 325 in V.B.S., and average between $60. and $65. in our contributions each week. We would like to see an evangelistic campaign conducted here this summer before the 50 evangelical churches of London conduct their city-wide campaign in 1965. If we had such, could you assist? Please write H. R. Perry, 53 Tewksbury Crescent, London, Ontario.

The Omagh Church of Christ building was completed in 1851, on land donated by James Beatty Sr. Prior to this members met in a school house south of the village.

A James Beatty from Toronto donated doors, windows, pews and a table and a nephew hauled them from Toronto using oxen.

The original pews are still being used and are constructed of one inch pine boards up to two feet wide, something rarely found today.

Originally the seats were tiered with the preacher standing on the lower level looking up to his audience. In 1947 the building was raised and five classrooms, a furnace room and storage rooms installed in the basement. The pews were put on the floor level.

For years Bros. Walter and Wm. McCartney did most of the speaking. Bro. Charles Petch and later Bro. Tom Bailey were with us steady for a while. Bro. Alex Stewart came frequently in the 1930's then for several years various speakers and students from Toronto and Hamilton spoke Sundays. The next step forward was having Bro. George Johnson for mid-week Bible Study and he along with Bros. Arthur Walker, Lloyd Snure and Albert Jones each speaking one Sunday per month. Bro. Donald Perry came out for one year on Thursday evenings after Bro. Johnson left.

In 1960 Bro. Murray Smith took over most of the speaking and in October 1961 Bro. Ray Miller was hired full time until June 1963. In July 1963 Bro. Bill Bunting started work here.

The recent average attendance has been: morning worship, 66; evening worship, 30; Bible school, 63; mid-week Bible study, 27. January's average contribution was $113.03.

We have 42 members at present. There are 94 listed in the Church Directory which includes children and several who attend regularly but are not yet members.

A recent change in the mid-week Bible study includes a class for children and another one for the teenage group.

In September 1963 we purchased a residence for the preacher on King's Court Crescent in Milton. This should be a benefit in making contacts with the people in town. Some have already discussed the church and shown interest and we hope that this interest will soon bring new members.

THE PRESTON CHURCH

The first meeting of the church of Christ in Preston was held around 1945 or 1946 in the home of members there. For quite some time all meetings were held in member's homes because a hall could not be obtained.

For several years before this a few members travelled to Brantford every Sunday to worship with the Lord's church there. Then the meetings were switched to Preston and the Brantford members travelled to Preston for some time. After this they began to meet as two separate congregations in Preston and Brantford.

The Preston congregation now meets in "Unity Hall", rented from the Orange Lodge. Bible classes and morning worship are held in this hall but since it is not available on Sunday evenings, Bible studies are held in members homes in Preston and Kitchener. The congregation now numbers 10 members with 11 in Sunday School, who are between the ages of two and fifteen years. All male members take an active part in all services and the preaching of the gospel on the Lord's Day is shared by different members.

Although there haven't been any additions to the church recently, we feel that the church in this area will increase because of the interest shown by Sunday school pupils in the study of the Bible. The church has lost several members in recent years through the lack of interest, and two other families have moved away.

SANFORD AVENUE, HAMILTON

This congregation began meeting at the above address in September of 1921. The history previous to this was varied. There was a congregation of Disciples of Christ in this city at a date earlier than 1870. They had a building of their own at Cathcart and Wilson Streets. This was sold and the congregation at a later date became tenants. The building again being sold, the building at 77 Sanford Ave. was purchased. At the start of the work at this location Bro. C. G. McPhee, now of St. Catharines, held a two weeks meeting. From then on outstanding preachers have held meetings. The congregation at various times have had a regular located preacher.

Our membership is less than it was 18 or 20 years ago, but there is a reason, as during that time two congregations have been established. In 1946 a few brethren went to Ivon Ave., starting a school in a garage. In 1947 Bro. Andy Ritchie came up with a group of young people and had a large tent meeting. With the support of Sanford Ave. at the start, this work has prospered.

The same is true of Fennell Ave. on the mountain. At least 20 brethren, formerly of Sanford Ave., meet with either Ivon or Fennell. This partly explains the reduction of our numbers. The work at Fennell was started in 1951.

The number of members at this time is approximately 50. The attendance at the morning meeting is from 60 to 70 including children. The average weekly offering is $90. At the Sunday school there is an average of 53. This shows a slight increase from 1958 when the average was 49.

Since our 1963 V.B.S. the attendance has shown a gradual increase. The V.B.S. had an average daily attendance of 122 divided into seven classes. This school was ably directed by Bro. Ralph Perry of London, Ont. The teachers and assistants numbered 16.

We are now interested in joining with Ivon Ave. and Fennell in a radio broadcasting effort. Later in the year under consideration is a located preacher.

We have a number of young people and children growing up who attend Bible school and other meetings and we are hopeful for their future in the work of the congregation.

now twenty-six."

The new budget calls for a 14% increase in contributions. This is to cover the radio program and the housing and board of 10 Abilene Christian College students who will work in meetings and Vacation Bible Schools during the summer. Regular outside support of $190 a month needs to be supplemented by an additional $170 to complete the planned program.

Eleven new correspondence course students have resulted from the ad in the Family Herald.

express its appreciation to the many members of the church who gave so willingly of their time and energy to preach the gospel here on Sunday mornings. Guest speakers travelled from such places as Toronto, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Sarnia and Aldershot. Also Great Lakes Christian College students travelled from Beamsville quite frequently.

With the members working we know that this congregation will expand in the coming years. Growth has been slow here due to the fact that there never has been a full time worker or steady preacher, and for many years there was only one male member of the church. In our district are several well populated cities such as Galt, Kitchener, Waterloo and Guelph with a total population of well over 250,000 where the gospel can be preached and many souls won for Christ.

With the closing of this short summary of the work of the church here, we would like to extend an invitation to anyone in our area to come and worship with us.

IVON AVENUE, HAMILTON

On May 26, 1946, Ivon Ave. Church of Christ had its beginning in a small building, as a Bible school with four teachers from Sanford Ave. congregation. Good interest was shown from the neighbourhood and on September 22, 1946 a protracted meeting was held with Brother W. F. Cox as speaker. This meeting was followed by a gospel service each Lord's day evening with Bro. Cox as speaker, following the evening service at Sanford Ave.

Ivon Avenue Meeting House

These evening services continued until February 9, 1947 at which time a group of 10 members from Sanford Ave. assembled at 11 a.m. for Breaking of Bread, for the first time. Other services were at 3 and 8 p.m. On May 4, 1947 Bro. Cox began full time as evangelist with Ivon and continued until January 1, 1956.

In June, 1947, a group of 20 young Christian workers, under the able direction of Bro. Andy T. Ritchie, Jr., all from Harding College in Searcy, Ark., with the help of some Christians in the areas, canvassed all the homes and held meetings in a large tent each evening throughout the month of June. Attendance was good and as a result of this campaign 10 precious souls were baptized into Chirst.

The lot on which the tent stood was purchased and work was started in October, 1947 on a basement, which was completed by August, 1948. Much of the work was done by the brethren and friends who volunteered. A Vacation Bible School was held, in the new building, followed by a gospel meeting conducted by Bro. Andy T. Ritchie Jr. and Bro. W. Medearis. The cost of the building was approximately $8,000. This amount was cleared off by July 1, 1954. The average attendance to the services was about 25. Protracted meetings were held nearly every year with different preachers sponsored by their home congregation.

By January 1, 1956, Bro. W. F. Cox, who was then 79 years old, felt he should retire from full time preaching. At that time Bro. Robert Davidson took over as evangelist and was with us until January 1, 1959. Our work continued to grow, especially the Bible School, until the brethren thought we needed better facilities. March 1, 1958, a Building Fund was started in order to get the upper storey on our church building. Donations of $4,196.02 mostly by ourselves, with a loan of $7,000.00 made it possible to complete the top of our building. Opening services for the new auditorium were held on December 6, 1959. Bro. W. F. Cox, who was 83 years old, spoke at the 11 o'clock service.

Bro. Keith Wallace worked with the congregation part time in 1959 and 1960. Bro. Ray Miller began full time work in June 1960 until October 1961. Bro. Wallace and several other speakers have helped out whenever needed in the past few years.

Bro. Harold Tabor from Great Lakes Christian College has worked with the congregation since November, 1961, helping on Sundays and at mid-week services.

The last two meetings have been held by Bro. Dan Deffenbaugh and Bro. E. C. Meadows in 1961 and Bro. Wesley Jones in 1962.

During the past seven years there have been eighteen baptisms, making a total membership of thirty-six at the present time.

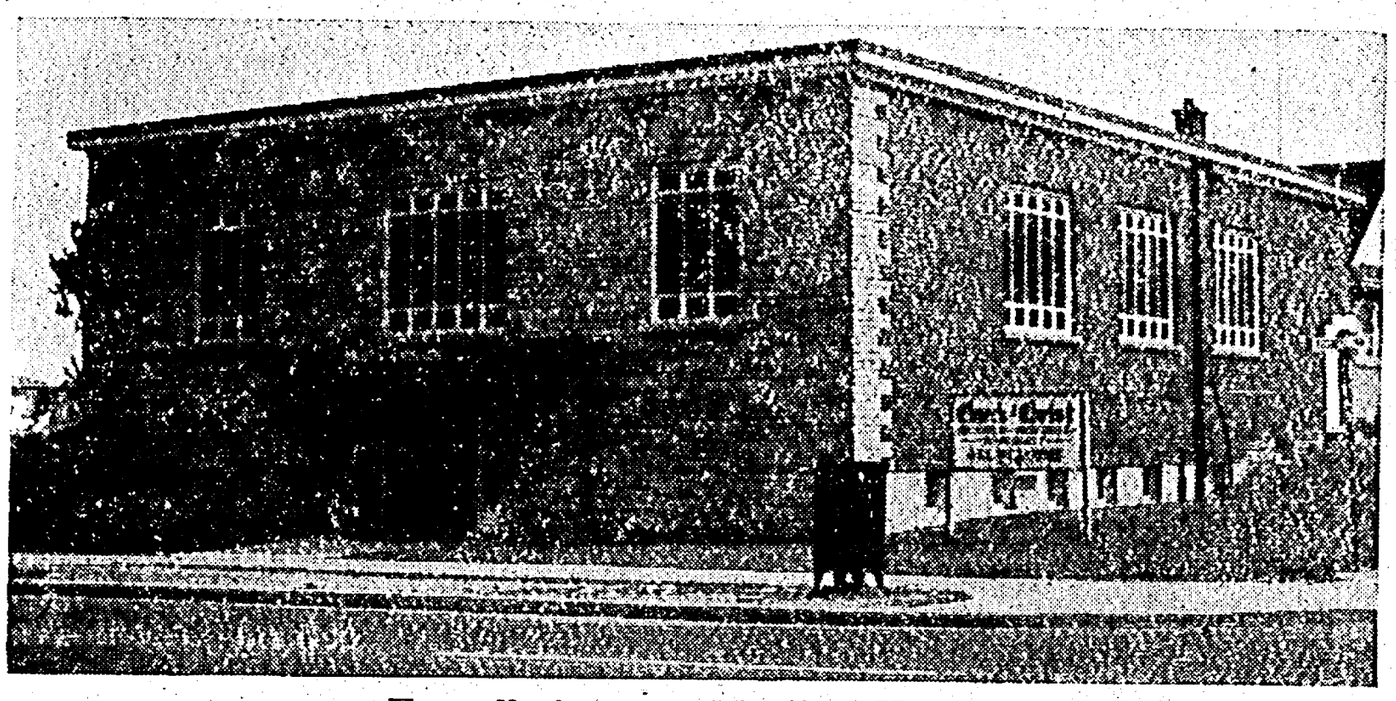
The average attendances are: 1960, Sunday morning, 47, evening, 34, Bible school, 54, collection, $69.45; 1961, Sunday morning, 46, evening, 35, Bible school, 54, collection, $73.33; 1962, Sunday morning, 42, evening 33, Bible school 64, collection, $75.50; 1963, Sunday morning, 43, evening 33, Bible school, 65, collection, $94.62. The 1963 Tuesday evening Bible study average attendance has been 26.

In November, 1963, the final payment on the building loan was made. At the present time we are not receiving any financial help, but would like to thank all who have helped in the past.

We are now looking for a full time preacher to work with us here, that we may accomplish more for the Lord.

EDITORIAL POLICY

We have been receiving a number of excellent articles written by our brethren in the U.S. Some of these have been published in recent months; others are still in our files. We appreciate the helpfulness of the brethren who have submitted these but trust that they will be patient and understanding if their articles are not printed immediately.



It was decided at a recent meeting of the editors and publishers that, although we do not reject such articles, we will strive to encourage more articles from brethren on the field in Canada and that, in view of this, such will take precedence over those received from distance points. Timeliness of articles and availability of space will bring about variations in this policy.

HAMBURG OPEN HOUSE

An estimated 350 people enjoyed the stimulating and inspiring program marking the first anniversary of the Hamburg, N.Y. congregation on February 2, and showing the lovely new church plant. A "standing-room-only" audience shared in the program presented by representatives of the church in Hamburg, Rochester, Buffalo, and the Great Lakes Christian College Chorus. The church followed this with its first gospel meeting with Leonard Waggoner of Cleburne, Texas preaching.

FENNELL AVE., HAMILTON

Fennell Avenue, Meeting House

The congregation of the church of Christ meeting at Fennell Ave. in Hamilton has been in existence for twelve years. The first building, just 20' x 30' in size was built almost in the middle of nowhere. As the community grew so did the congregation. It was soon found necessary to enlarge the meeting house. This was actually done twice, the end of the building was first knocked out and 20' added, then the side, and the present structure capable of seating 275 with eight completed classrooms in the basement, three more on the main floor with two more under construction, became the reality of a dream.

Fennell Ave. has been fortunate in many respects. It was blessed with the support of the Sanford Ave. congregation in its early days. The moving of the Westdale congregation to worship with it also contributed greatly. Two of those brethren, Bro. Albert Jones and Bro. Lloyd Snure, are currently serving as elders. Our building programme was helped greatly by the conversion of Bro. Mike Bachuk who continues to serve as one of the deacons.

It was in September of 1951 that the work was begun as the result of the vision of the Sanford Ave. brethren. Starting as a Bible school meeting on Lord's day afternoon and an evening gospel service the mission point soon grew until on January 27th, 1952 morning services began and the Fennell Ave. congregation as such came into existence.

As in many other instances the Bible school has been a major factor in the growth of the work. Bro. W. Richardson, Bro. M. Bachuk and Bro. A. Walker along with many fine Bible teachers have been instrumental in promoting this growth. From a noisy bedlam of 80 students in our original building we have grown to a record of 144 students studying the Bible in well equipped classrooms. The Vacation Bible Schools that have been held have also contributed greatly to the growth of our work as have the special "Visitors Sundays" when the parents are personally invited to meet the teachers and stay for morning worship.

Of the original 17 members of the congregation most remain to this day. We mourn Bro. Charlie Duncan and Bro. Eric Middleton who contributed much in the early days of our effort. No history of Fennell Ave. would be complete without mention of Bro. Edwin Fisher — without his patient persistance behind us many of the things now accomplished would not be a reality.

Among those who have laboured in "word" as well as in deed we remember Bro. Walter Cartwright, Bro. Roy Merritt who was our evangelist during the formative years, Bro. Bob Davison and Bro. David Johnson. Bro. Johnson is our present evangelist, a brother who can be highly commended for his work's sake.

Under the direction of its elders and deacons Fennell Ave. looks forward to many more years of growth in the Lord's work. Attendance is growing, new classes are beginning, as our vision expands so does our budget. Truly we have been blessed by the Lord. The really important thing is not what has been done but what will be done.

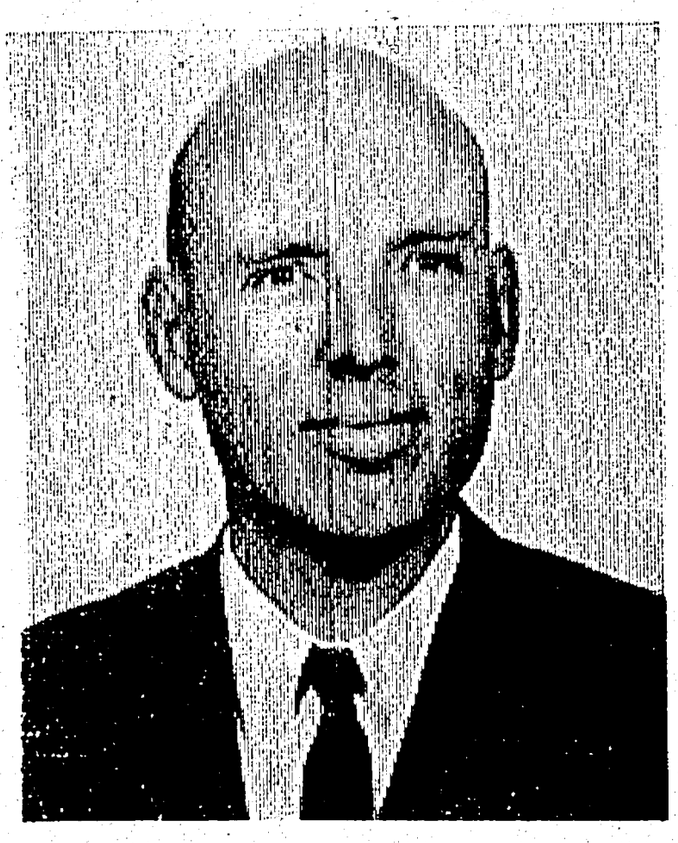
BELL LETTER

Dear Brethren:

Edna is in the hospital at present. She has been unwell most of the time since our return to Rhodesia in August of 1962. My own health has been poor at times, too, but just now after a good round of malaria medicine, I feel better. The children are all quite well at present.

Our passage home is booked for July. We are to leave Cape Town on the 4th of July (if all goes well) on a freighter of the Christenson Canadian Line.

Today is election day here in N. Rhodesia. We pray that conditions may stay peaceful. There has been a good deal of trouble between the various groups of Africans — a good many deaths, too. But, it hasn't been general, mostly in the mining cities in the north of the country.



Thus far, the work of the church has not been hindered. We must have had thirty, or more, baptisms right here at Namwianga during the last half of 1963. Some of our young men are going to Nhowe Mission in S. Rhodesia to take preacher training. Our schools are going along much as usual. I taught secular subjects and Bible at the European School and Bible to the older African students in the evenings. This year, my work is similar, but somewhat lighter as Bro. J. C. Shewmaker is back again. Edna has taught Bible only part of the time because of poor health.

Yours in Christ,

Allan Bell

(Ed. Note: The church in Regina has sent out an appeal to Christians all across the country to send in one dollar or more each to help make up a travel fund so that this fine family can purchase the return fare. PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR QUEBEC CITY

Brother Owen Aikin

Excitement is beginning to mount among the brethren in the province of Quebec as new workers pledge their efforts to help evangelize Canada's largest province. The latest announcement of such comes from Owen Aikin, who is presently serving in Paris, France. In a recent letter to the writer he states, "After careful and prayerful consideration of the matter, Elda and I have made our decision, subject to God's will, to move to Quebec City and begin the work there". The Aikins are tentatively making plans to sail from France to Canada the first part of June. After arriving in Quebec City for a short visit, they plan to spend some time in the U.S., visiting friends and relatives, raising funds, and doing some graduate work at Abilene Christian College. They hope to begin their efforts in Quebec City by the time school starts in the fall.

Brother Aikin, a native of Texas, attended Abilene Christian College 1941-1944. In 1943 he married Elda Jean Hook, also from Texas. After working with the churches in Jerome, Idaho and Dallas, Oregon (1944-1947), he went back to ACC, graduating in 1949, with a B.A. degree in Bible. He then served the church in Vancouver, Washington, before leaving for France in 1950. Being the third family to arrive in France (followed the Maurice Halls and the Melvin Andersons), they remained in that field for the next eight years. A return to Texas was prompted by a desire to do graduate work at ACC, and to make U.S. citizens out of their two foreign-born, adopted children. This also gave sister Aikin a needed change. They, with three children, returned to France in 1960 and have been there since.

(Another family slated to enter Quebec Province this year are the S. F. Timmermans, who have laboured the past 16 years in Belgium. They plan to work with the present congregation in Montreal until such time that it is advisable to start a French work.)

Quebec City with its 250,000 inhabitants is the provincial capital and is considered to be the seat of French Canadian culture. The Aikins decision to work there was greatly influenced by the fact that there is no group, either English-speaking or French, meeting there at the present, plus the factor of being able to use their years of experience in French to the Lord's advantage.

After making several trips to Quebec City, the writer feels conditions are promising for starting a congregation there. The English Bible correspondence course, offered by the Montreal church, has found its way into many Quebec City homes, which has already opened the door for teaching. A teaching ad, placed in a leading French language newspaper, has also brought considerable response from the city. Should anyone care to write to Brother Aikin, his address is: 79, Rue de Suresnes, Nanterre (Seine), France.

SUNDRIDGE NEWS

"We are planning a teacher training school for the last week - end (March 27-30). Ralph Perry has agreed to conduct it for us. Members from other congregations are invited to be with us. Overnight accommodation will be provided for all from a distance.

"Our young people's meeting on Friday night is gaining in strength. We have good interest from the teenagers who are attending and it looks like a permanent project. We are also having increased interest of a regular nature from visitors to our Sunday night services."

HELP SOUGHT AT SOO

We feel that we can encourage interest in our efforts by keeping people informed of what we are doing. Last summer we began building a permanent place of worship for the East Side Church in Sault Ste. Marie. We are now meeting in the basement of this building.

This coming January (1965) there will be an amalgamation of Greater Sault Ste. Marie and the two outlying townships, making the population almost 80,000. Our problem it to complete the general construction of the building before that time. Even now there is a by-law which requires architect's plans and specifications and engineer supervision for any public building constructed. However, since I was well known, the building inspector has made possible a permit to build on the plans we had prepared ourselves. Permits are generally granted for a six months duration but we were granted a special permit which would not expire until November 1964. If we can have the building closed in with the outside completed by that time it will save the Church about $3,000.00.

The building, when complete, will seat 152 in the auditorium and has seven classrooms, a study and baptistry. The township engineer evaluates this building at $40,000.00 when completed.

We are able to supply all the labour required. Our problem is that of obtaining materials. It will be necessary to raise $6,000.00 this coming summer in order to be able to meet the deadline. If any are interested and feel able to help us to accomplish this we would appreciate it very much. If anyone would like more information, write to: East Side Church of Christ, 331 Eastern Avenue, Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario.

G.L.C.C. LECTURESHIP REPORT

Almost unbelievably good weather, increased crowds at every session, and outstanding addresses by some 22 speakers combined to make the '64 Great Lakes Lectureship one of the finest in the history of the series. The concentration of every topic upon the letter to the Ephesians provided an unusual, intensive study of this rich book. The importance, the nature, and the blessing of the unity of the Lord's church were presented powerfully by the various speakers. A clear insight into the plans and the challenges of the Lakehead project, or "Target Canada," was made possible through a total of four different speeches given by men associated with this work. Warm fellowship was enjoyed by many brethren gathering from distant points. Many received the hospitality of brethren in the Beamsville district as more homes than ever were opened to provide overnight accommodation.

Several changes in the Lectureship arrangements proved beneficial: the entire evening series were conducted in the auditorium of the local high school permitting consistently larger gatherings; special luncheons were planned and these proved to be very beneficial—the WAVES catered to almost 50 guests each day in luncheons held in honor of Canadian Evangelism, The Gospel Herald, "Target-Canada," and Christian Education. The WAVES also catered to almost 300 people at the second annual Christian Education Fellowship Dinner held on the closing evening of the Lectureship. An opportunity to contribute to the support of the College was given at the close of the week's activities resulting in $1,100 for Christian Education.

Both during the Lectureship and since, many words of commendation have been received. Typical was this statement: "I feel that the program and the fellowship of the Great Lakes Lectureship this year was as fine as any lectureship I have ever attended." I personally believe the calibre of the lessons given was of the very highest, a credit to those who participated and to the brotherhood in general.

The theme of the Lectureship in '65 was announced on the closing evening: "The Mind of Christ." For the third year the lectureship will center on the teachings of one book—for the coming year the book of Philippians.

ADAMS

The late Susie H. Adams was born at Rockway, Ontario 73 years ago. Since her marriage to Harry Adams, who predeceased her about 15 years ago, she resided at Smithville. For the last several years she has been inactive and confined to a home.

She was a member of the Smithville Church of Christ and took an interest in community affairs.

She is survived by two sons, Frank and William of Smithville; three daughters, Mrs. Ernest Coulter, Lewiston N.Y.; Mrs. Frank York, Smithville, and Mrs James Konkle, Niagara Falls, Ontario.

The funeral service was conducted from the Merritt Funeral Home, with the interment in the Queen's Lawn Cemetery, Grimsby.

O'NEIL

Jacqueline O'Neil was born, lived and died in the city of St. Catharines. She suffered a fall several years ago and she never recovered from the effects. She suffered much of the time until quietly passing away in Hotel Dieu, on the morning of February 12th.

Jacqueline had a kindly disposition and was very near to her many friends and loved ones. Through the influence of some of her friends, she attended Great Lakes Christian College, and it was there that she learned the truth, and was baptized into Christ by Bro. Thompson. She looked forward to preparing herself for service as a nurse.

Sister O'Neil is survived by her parents, grandparents and a host of other relatives and friends.

Her funeral service was held from the Winter & Winter Funeral Home, amid a profusion of flowers and sorrowing friends. Many of the teachers and students from Great Lakes Christian College attended. Those who assisted with the service, were Geoffrey Ellis and Keith Thompson. Burial was in Victoria Lawn Cemetery.

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

SISTER LAURA ROBINSON

Sister Laura Robinson, formerly a member of the Cape Rich congregation and for the past twenty years a member at Meaford, Ontario, passed away on January 23rd in her eighty sixth year in the Meaford General hospital. She had been a patient there since November.

Sister Robinson was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Trouton. Following her marriage to Leonard Robinson they farmed in the Cape Rich vicinity. Mr. Robinson died in 1922 and in the early forties sister Robinson retired to Meaford where she has resided up to the time of her death.

The deceased is survived by one son Edgar, "Ted" of Meaford, one grandchild, two brothers, Earl of Meaford, and Wilbert of Arthur.

The funeral service which was held in the Gardiner funeral home and was largely attended which along with the many floral tributes indicated the esteem and respect that was held for sister Robinson. Her genial good nature and cheerful disposition, in spite of recurrent ill health, as well as her kindly ways will not soon be forgotten by her many friends, acquaintances and loved ones. Brother L. Louis Pauls and the writer conducted the service.

KEEPING THE COLLEGE CHRISTIAN

by Geoffrey Ellis

Keeping the College Christian is both a legitimate and an important responsibility. By way of definition, the use of "Christian" as descriptive of College suggests that the controlling principles, the underlying beliefs of the College are characteristically Christ-centered. It is used as an identification of the College's purpose. It is used not as a statement of the College's achievement but as the ideal of its existence. It is a public testimony to the dedication of its staff, its administration, and its supporters to the things that are Christ's. It is a usage that complies with the injunction, "Whatsoever you do in word or deed do all in the name of Christ."

No extended apologetic needs to be given for the establishing of an educational institution committed to a teaching program solidly based in the bedrock of Scriptures. Overwhelming secularism, materialism, sensualism, and atheism permeate our world — and especially the seats of learning in this world. Not only should Christian people do something positive in providing an education that is thoroughly Christian, they should publicly proclaim their intention.

To suggest the need for "keeping" the College Christian gives rise to the possibility of its decline from an original high calling. Historically, many schools have experienced a retreat from the Christian idealism of their founders. Such a possibility, however, does not nullify the reason for a Christian College's existence. Rather, this awareness should sharpen the vigilence of all in order that the college be kept Christian; for even the Church received warning about impending apostasy in the days of the apostles and has lived to see the sad day of fulfillment, and yet, this continuing threat does not deter the efforts of the faithful.

First, to keep the College Christian requires that the Bible be retained as its leading textbook, and that it continue to be re-

STRENGTHENED BY HIS SPIRIT

L. Wesley Jones

Our passage is the second text of Ephesians containing the form of a prayer which involves The Three—God, Christ and the Holy Spirit. Thus, it would do each of us good to read again, and compare, Ephesians 3:14-19 and 1:15-18. In Ephesians 3 Paul prayed for the Ephesians "to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man . . ."

It should be noted how such expressions involving not only the Holy Spirit, but God and Christ, find their way into the inspired language.

Review

In the previous lesson we observed how that our problem of relationship to the Holy Spirit could be over-simplified. We could just state the conventional triangle of Spirit, Faith and Word—"This only would I learn of you, Received ye the Spirit by the work of the law, or by the hearing of faith (Gal. 3:2)?" "Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God. (Rom. 10:17)." For today's lesson we would then reason, We have the Spirit by the word, and as we learn the word we are strengthened by the Spirit.

We have objected to this easy way out which leaves so much unsaid, and so much of the Spirit unused.

The earnest of the Spirit comes at the time of gospel obedience. It follows faith and baptism, and is

CONFORMERS OR TRANSFORMERS?

Wesley Reagan

The whole purpose of Christianity is not conformity but transformation. It was not intended to reflect the attitudes of the world but to revise them. Christianity fails when it is only a thermometer. It was intended to be a thermostat. "Ye are the salt of the earth . . . Ye are the light of the world . . . The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven." In each of these statements Jesus is emphasizing the importance of making the influence of Christianity felt. What is salt if it has no savor? what is light when it is hidden under a bushel? Of what value is leaven if it doesn't affect the whole loaf?

The individual Christian is expected to be a world-changing person. The world he changes may not be a large one, but he must improve it. The Christian cannot be one who simply watches things happen; he must make them happen. Christianity is not a spectator sport. It is a participation sport. The Christian himself has been transformed (Romans 12:2) and he must now be a transformer (Matthew 5:13-16). As salt he must make the world purer. As light he must make the world brighter. As leaven he must exert an influence which permeates society with the attitudes and standards of Christianity.

It is true that the odds are against the world being thoroughly transformed, but the real transformer doesn't care. A handful of salt in a world of impurities still kills the germs it can reach. One candle in a world of darkness still sheds what light it can. Often Christians have been browbeaten by the world into thinking that their small contribution would not make much difference. How wrong they are! Even a still, small voice will be heard by someone. Every Christian is responsible not only to do good, but to influence others to do good. Only when others live better because of us are we truly Christian. We are duty-bound to say words of encouragement and exhortation.

As the individual Christian must be a transformer, so also must congregations exert a transforming influence. Christianity by its nature is opposed to the status quo. If the world is all right like it is, there is no need for Christianity. Unless we are doing something about making it better we are not functoning as Christians. Sometimes a congregation so loses its sense of mission that it feels no responsibility for changing the world about it. Sometimes a congregation's total challenge is seen as the routine things that relate to having services and paying the bills.

The chief responsibility for vision and leadership has to lie with the elders. They set the policy for the congregation. Only rarely will a congregation look beyond the vision of its leaders. It is not up to elders to conform to congregational thinking but to lead and shape that thinking. If they merely conform they are not, in fact, leaders at all but merely reflectors. Often elders try to determine congregational feeling on a matter. This is excellent IF this information is used for the proper guidance and challenging of that feeling. It is regrettable when the elders seek to know the thinking of a congregation in order to establish limits for a program of work. Elders that want to know what the congregation is thinking so they can lead are, in this respect at least, good elders. Elders that want to know congregational thinking so they can follow have missed the whole point of their stewardship.

The qualifications of elders aim largely at the elimination of those things that would hinder a man from this quality of leadership. The qualified man is free from the encumbrances which would cloud his vision and tarnish his influence. He is the kind of godly, spiritual man that people will follow. His vision is too great to be dragged down into the mire of mediocrity and conformity. He is a leader that stands spiritually tall among men and says, Brethren, because we are Christian we must make the teachings of Christ felt in the world.

This type of elder will emphasize mission work. He will press for planning beyond current activities. He will insist on growth from the congregation and will encourage a mission program that challenges the resources of the congregation. He feels that he is not serving well unless the congregation is doing more mission work as a result of his leadership than it otherwise would do.

This kind of elder will constantly seek improvement in the teaching program of the congregation. He will seek to develop better teachers. He will look for better material and equipment. He will seek ways to promote attendance. He realizes that the fact that things are going smoothly may be due more to the lack of challenge than to good leadership. In addition to smoothness he wants to see growth and improvement in the quality of teaching.

In every other area also, this elder will be looking for ways to expand and deepen the influence of Christ and His Gospel on the world and the church. He will advocate a challenging budget which requires sacrifice and growth. He will help to develop a strong program of personal evangelism.

The elders do not bear the entire responsibility for being a transforming congregation. The problem is not so simple as saying, Our leadership conformed. This is a damning indictment of the congregation. It confesses, We have dragged down good men, lowered their sights, and discouraged their vision. No man can lead where his followers will not go. The congregation that thinks it is stable may really be stagnant. They may think they are at peace when in reality they are dead.

The individual Christian, the elders, and the congregation must be transformed and then be transformers. The influence of Christ is not felt strongly enough. Let us truly be salt with savor and light set on a stand. Let the leaven of Christianity fill the whole loaf.

FELLOW WORKERS WITH GOD

by Donald Perry

Some people take the attitude toward life that this world owes them a living. The spread of organized socialism and the welfare state have perhaps made this seem to some to be the proper way of things. In some countries where young people are given little responsibility but plenty of spending money, cars and clothes, and freedom, there may be good evidence that the "world" is providing them an easy living. This attitude may also develop in regard to the church and its work. Especially in areas where the church is new, as in mission fields, the idea may exist that it is a welfare institution to give hand-outs. It is, however, very important, if the individual and the church is to grow, that Christians realize and practise giving of themselves rather than getting unto themselves.

Many, many years ago God's people, the Jews, were challenged by a heathen nation. The heathen nation set forth a champion in the person of a giant called Goliath. No Israelite among the army of God's people would accept the challenge. A young shepherd boy named David, who had come to visit his older brothers in the army, made this matter his business. To him God's name was being put to shame and defied. He believed in God. He could not stand aside and see this continue. He took it as a personal responsibility to do something. God being with him, he challenged the giant and won, with God and a sling.

Again, when God's people were being punished in captivity but sought to return, a man took it upon himself to do something when things were not going very well. Nehemiah was a cupbearer to the king in a land of captivity. He heard that his people, the Jews, who were returning to Jerusalem, "were in great affliction and reproach: the wall of Jerusalem is also broken down and the gates thereof are burned with fire." (Nehemiah 1:3). Nehemiah wept when he heard of this. He was concerned for his people, God's people. He prayed to God. He requested help from the king in a foreign land. He led an expedition back to Jerusalem and helped build the walls of God's city.

The church today needs men and women who make God's business their business. God loved the world enough to give his son for its salvation. He has left this treasure in earthen vessels. We as Christians must take upon ourselves the responsibilities of God's work. Paul said that he and his workers, were "fellow workers with God." If the church does not spread it will be because men will not take the work of God as their work; if the church dies for lack of leadership it is because Christians do not take upon themselves the business of God as their business. May we find work with God in His kingdom.

CHRISTIAN SCHOOLS NEED TEACHERS

One of the great problems facing all educational institutions today is the problem of finding qualifed faculty members. With the increased competition from business and industry, schools are finding the problem more and more serious. This problem is even greater in our Christian schools. Each year the task of locating dedicated personnel faces the Christian school administrator. The Christian school cannot compete salary - wise with the public school. The Christian school must demand more from the teachers in hours of work. The Christian school must get more from the teacher in after-hour service. Thus, the problem of finding teachers becomes serious. Teacher-how about teaching in a Christian school? The opportunities for Christian service are unlimted. The rewards are infinite. You can have a part in moulding these young lives such as cannot be found in any other area of service. Of course, you must be prepared to work hard and sacrificially-or you won't do a good job. Great Lakes Christian College at Beamsville and Western Christian College at Weyburn are presently looking for teachers for next year. Why not approach the administration of one or both of these shoools and see if you can fit into their program. Why not be available to serve in this vitally important field of Christian endeavour?

THE CHURCH AT WORK

When someone refers to "the church at work," many will think automatically of the worship service. Others will envision various phases of benevolent work. Still others may talk of the mission programs supported by various churches in far-off places.

With the exception of the first concept, these three have their place in the total work of the church. Worship is a privilege and ought not to be classified as work. If someone refers to the obligation and responsibility involved to justify its inclusion under the term "work", we do not care to argue the point. A worshipper who views his worship as work has too low a motive and too limited an understanding.

We like the story that is told of a visitor to a Quaker meeting who was mystified to see the congregation just sitting there in meditation and silent contemplation of God's glory. "When does the service begin?" he asked the man in the pew beside him. "The service begins when the assembly is dismissed" was the quiet answer.

A desire and resolve to serve God should always be strengthened by periods of public worship. The workship itself is not so much service as preparation for service.

Too often the majority of the members of the Lord's Body have overlooked one of the greatest responsibilities of that organism — the conversion of souls in the society where it is found (Matt. 28:19-20). Far too often Christians look upon the spread of the Gospel as the work of the preacher and not the work of the whole church. If a sufficient number of souls are not won in a year, the preacher is said to be inefficient or lazy. Both of these may be true, but chances are that the whole congregation is involved in the fault.

We do not have a clergy and a laity. All of us are under commission to repeat the Gospel story to the extent of our ability and opportunity. Some would claim that they pay the preacher to do the preaching. They reason that he is trained and made free from secular labour that he may do this work without restraint. Certainly such a one has grave responsibility to do the work of an evangelist, with long hours of activity. This is not a substitute for the work of the congregation, but a complement to it.

Three major factors seem to prevent the Lord's people in this day from doing the true work of the church in their community. Others might be found, but these will suffice for the present.

The first is an indifference to the needs of one's fellow man. Who will risk offending a neighbour if he does not ever consider whether that neighbour is lost for eternity? Most Christians are convinced of the great danger to themselves and their families if they fail to obey Christ, but have simply not taken the effort to relate this danger to their neighbours to a degree where they are concerned about them as individuals. It is conceivable that these same people will rise up in judgment to ask: "Why did you not warn me?"

The second factor, closely related to the first, is a preoccupation with secular affairs. Some people find that they are in a constant rush to manage their business, education, and social affairs to a degree that they have no time for spiritual endeavours.

It is difficult to know in such cases what is cause and what is effect. Jesus said to His followers: "But seek ye first his kingdom, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you" (Matt. 6:33). Many of us put the kingdom in fifth, sixth, or seventh position. No time can be found to visit others with the Gospel. Little disposition to recruit members for such a weakly-loved kingdom resides in the hearts of luke-warm citizens. The Lord's admonition to one such group of people, "I will spue thee out of my mouth", was not meant as a warning to them alone.

The third factor is a failure of knowledge rather than of desire. Many Christians feel inadequate to teach their neighbours. Of course

TEACHING GOD'S WORD

HOW ADULT TEACHING CAN BE IMPROVED No. 4

H. Ralph Perry, London, Ontario

In previous articles we have stated that adult Bible teaching can be improved through (1) informed teachers (Bible knowledge); (2) teachers trained in the art of teaching; (3) specific preparation for each lesson; (4) teachers having a specific aim; and (5) variety of methods in lesson presentation. This article presents a sixth item of consideration in improving our adult instruction.

6. Adult Teaching Can Be Improved Through A Balanced Curriculum.

The Bible, the inspired word of God, is the textbook of our teaching. The primary purpose for the existence of an adult Bible class is to study the Bible.

The word "curriculum" has to do with the arrangement of lessons or the course of study. The Bible covers a wide variety of subjects and in order to study it with meaning and value these must be logically arranged and related. Curriculum is a more important factor than many think in the success or an adult class.

I. A Balanced Curriculum Is Needed.

Most people today are quite concerned about their physical diet. It must be balanced. Spiritually we need a balanced diet as well. Generally we are doing quite well at providing this for the children in our classes. How about the adults?

Adults need both the milk and meat of the Word. They need an overall picture of the Bible as well as a detailed knowledge of books, basic principles and doctrines. A balanced curriculum will give our adults a balanced spiritual diet. 1. Variety and good sequence are very important factors to a balanced curriculum. Just as we would become tired of steak if it were served for 40 or 50 meals in succession so we tend to become tired of Bible study if we study the same type of lessons month after month. The verse-by-verse method has been almost worn out. Do you suppose that Bible study has lost its interest, challenge, and vitality because it lacks variety.

2. A balanced curriculum should contain proper portions of the following kinds of lessons:

1. Bible Survey

This will give the student a panoramic view of the entire Bible. The main points and purposes of each book are covered and related to the history and theme of the whole Bible. This should be considered basic to any plan.

2. Book Studies

A comprehensive study is made of the details, events and doctrines of a particular book.

3. Personality Studies

The student is introduced to the great characters of the Bible. Through example and application great spiritual lessons are learned.

4. Topical Studies

The great doctrines and themes of the Bible such as love, faith, baptism, etc., are studied.

5. Practical Studies

Practical lessons showing the Christian how to apply Christ's message to life's needs and problems are included here.

It is our conviction that practical lessons are not given enough place in our teaching. We have become head learners but not life appliers. We need to meet the needs of today's adult Christians. The teacher should arouse the sense of need in the mind of his students and lead them to find God's answer to man's needs and problems in God's Word. The teacher becomes a stimulator.

Problems of every day living should be courageously faced in Bible classes. God's answer should be found. We can think of gambling (more prevalent in daily activities than we might wish to think with raffle tickets on many items), drinking, lying, dancing, smoking, cheating and many other common activities which become a problem to many Christians in today's world. They need to be led to a personal discovery of God's truth as it relates to them.

On the positive side are such needs as personally telling others about Jesus, deciding how much of my income should be given to the Lord's work, and becoming more useful as a teacher of God's word. Our responsibilities to Christ must be squarely faced.

II. Available Curriculum Materials

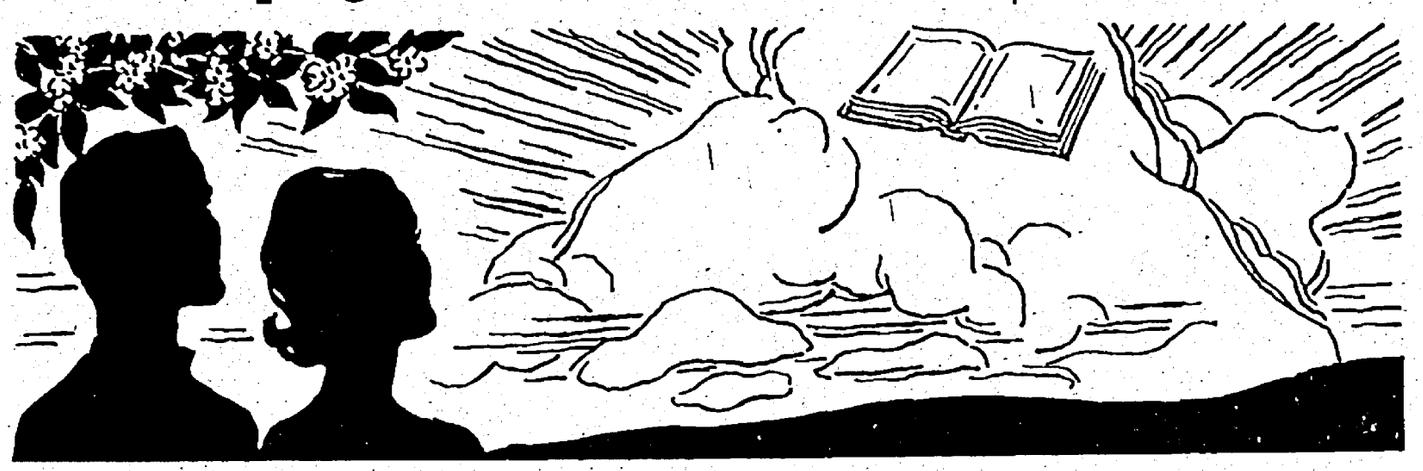
It is impossible here to discuss in detail the available adult curriculum materials being produced by our brethren. The Gospel Advocate Annual and students' quarterlies have been used extensively. We do not believe that they are the best materials available. They follow the uniform lesson plan.



With anticipation we waited the new series of adult lesson books announced by Sweet Publishing Co., called "The Living Word". Advertising state that the series "contains 36 vital studies, enough for a 9 year planned curriculum for adult studies." We have only seen about six of these but personally we have been disappointed. The books themselves contain much good material. The wide range of topics covered are excellent. It is the lack of suggestions and helps for the teachers that disappoint us. Some of the evangelical inter - denominational publishers have left us far behind here.

There are some excellent adult study books and courses being produced by our brethren on an individual or limited basis. One that has been highly recommended is by Bro. George Snure, a Canadian of whom we can be proud. It is entitled, "Jesus, Son of God," and is described as "a unique and challenging workbook study on the Gospel of Luke." Other books are to be released soon in this series.

We recommend that a well balanced curriculum of Bible instruction be planned for adult classes. In doing this mid-week and Sunday

THE LIST IS GROWING!

by Clinton Brazle
North Weyburn, Sask.

A few issues ago I urged all young Canadians who desire to dedicate their lives fully to the work of the Lord to correspond with me. At that time, the challenging number of 500 was presented as a goal. We continue to reach toward that goal.

The letters that I have received from boys AND girls have been an inspiration to me. Let some of these young people inspire you to decide on full-time service to Christ:

David McMillan, Kennedy, Sask. (13 years old), "I want to become a missionary, preferably to India." (Note: We need more big brothers who will inspire little brothers!")

Viggo Ulrich, Fairlight, Sask. (15 years old) "I plan on preaching. And in the summer farming."

Billy Ulrich, Fairlight, Sask. (13 years old) "My goal in life is to become a missonary in India or Africa."

Paula Wilson, Ice Lake, Ontario (14 years old). Now that I am a Christian I would rather spend my life in Christ's service—here in Canada . . ." (Note: this fine young lady wrote a very inspiring letter telling of her feelings and of her desire to help souls learn of Christ.)

I know there are many more who want to spend their full time in the Master's service. It is striking to note that my greatest response has come from young people living in rural areas. I believe that youngsters living in the cities can be guided to preach the word. Let's take up the challenge. Urge your young people to decide to serve in this great task. Let me hear from more of you!

LET'S MAKE A TRIP TO INDIA

J. C. Bailey
Annex 19, Aspiran Garden,

It is about 8 o'clock at night you are walking down the street. No, you likely are walking down the middle of the road. The people who sell oranges, bananas, fruits of other kinds, and vegetables are probably occupying the side walks. There will be some cloth merchants out there on the sidewalk too. A car will be making its way down the street with the horn blasting. Somehow no one gets hit. Many bicycles are going both ways. It is all very confusing for every one is travelling on the opposite side of the street to what they do in Canada.

Presently you feel something touch your foot. You look down and a man very quickly rises up touches his mouth and then his stomach. He is a beggar. He bows down at your feet to show his humility and then touches the mouth and stomach to show you he is hungry. He may be a cripple of some kind. If so you usually give. You give to so many in a week that you know what Jesus meant when He said, "Let not your left hand know what your right hand doeth". You would not know at the end of the week who you had helped, nor how many you had helped.

If you had been walking down the road at six o'clock instead of at eight you would see the cows going into the houses. They stay right there for the night. These are not the really poor houses for they could not afford a cow. Each night here in the city of Madras there are hundreds of cows as much in the house as the children. The well to do people do not have the cows in their houses.

As you walk down the street you see some bright lights moving tovered by the administration, faculty, and students as the inspired work of God. Has a College the right to teach the Bible? Yes. Inasmuch as all Christians have the right and the requirement to teach the Word of God at every opportunity, and inasmuch as Christian parents, who are faced with the obligation to bring up their children in "the nurture and admonition of the Lord, delegate Christian teachers to educate their children, it is reasonable and desireable that the Bible be taught in the Christian School. In fact, the question may well be asked, "Is it right that parents should send their children to school where the Bible is not taught and the truth of God is ignored?"

KEEPING THE COLLEGE

Second, to keep the College Christian requires that the College be supported by Christians. The College will conform ultimately to the attitudes of those who provide its financial backing. This does not mean that the Christian College should look to the treasury of the local congregation for income. The Church in its scripturally organized form has specific works to perform, ie. evangelism and benevolence. Education is a good work worthy of any individual Christian's support, but it is not an obligatory work for all Christians. To include the Christian College in the Church budget would ultimately weaken the school, for once attained the flow of support tends to become "automatic." Whereas, when dependent upon private support of individuals, and when each contribution becomes a vote of confidence, the school remains responsive to its benefactors and sensitive to its own spiritual condition. The quickest way to bring about the failure of a Christian school is for individuals to refuse to support it all the while gloomily predicting its imminent decline.

Third, to keep the College Christian requires that the school serve Christian young people. All important at any school is the spirit of its student body. The spirit of a Christian school can be the spirit of Christ only when a majority of the students are devoted to Christ. The final decision for a young person to attend the Christian school in most cases is made by the parent. An affirmation will be reached if the parent, (1) is willing to invest in this worthwhile intangible value rather than material comforts, (2) is convinced that Bible study is a sufficient reason for foregoing technical or vocational studies and the luxurious appointments of modern schools, (3) is certain that Christian associations are rather to be chosen than indiscriminate contact with a wordly culture.

Fourth, to keep the College Christian requires that it be controlled by Christians. This means that Christian people insist that the Board, the Administrators, and the Faculty be Christians in fact as well as in name. This means that a close scrutiny be maintained of the College's curriculum and program, of the Administration's decisions and policies, and of the Faculty's attitudes and teachings. This means that the College must be visited often and examined carefully by many. It means that many Christians be forthright, positive and critical in their evaluation of the College—to College officials directly. This means that many will care enough to give the very best of their attention and interest to insure that the Christian College realizes its finest destiny.

And last, to keep the College Christian requires that its noble purpose be appreciated and supported. The College is both subordinate and subservient to the Church. The College needs to keep its place—which is the providing of a Christian Education for the children of Christian parents. It must not seek a place of influence in the Church, nor seek an ascendency at the cost of the Church's decline. It must remain satisfied to join with parents in preparing young men and women to take their place as stalwart servants of God in the church. This all being true, nevertheless, a College will remain Christian if it is permitted a close association with the Church. What is true for the individual is true for the school in this case. It is injurious for the Church to take a head-in the-sand attitude toward the College's existence. The Church should encourage the school to an even higher plane of Christian endeavor. The Church should be quick to "provoke (it) unto love and good work." Public prayers should be offered for the Christian College's well being. The Church should commend the Christ-motivated sacrifice of the dedicated staff and supporting contributors. Elders and deacons, preachers and teachers should visit the school often. Needy young people should be locally assisted in attending the school. One of the best ways for the Christian school to maintain its secondary position and for it to be truly Christian is for the Church to treat it with a positive, appreciative awareness.

ward you. You hear the beating of drums and the playing of other kinds of musical instruments. As you are getting closer you see the dancers. This is a Hindu funeral procession. The body is being carried on an open coffin borne by four. They are on their way to the burning grounds. Seldom do you see any weeping.

If we had time to walk further we would see many more strange sights. At least they are very strange to Canadian eyes. However, each one of these people has a soul. Each one of these people who can read likes to read. This is almost universally true. So in order to get started on the work the church should have been doing here for many years we have prepared tracts that we pass out.

STRENGTHENED

A Prayer For Strength

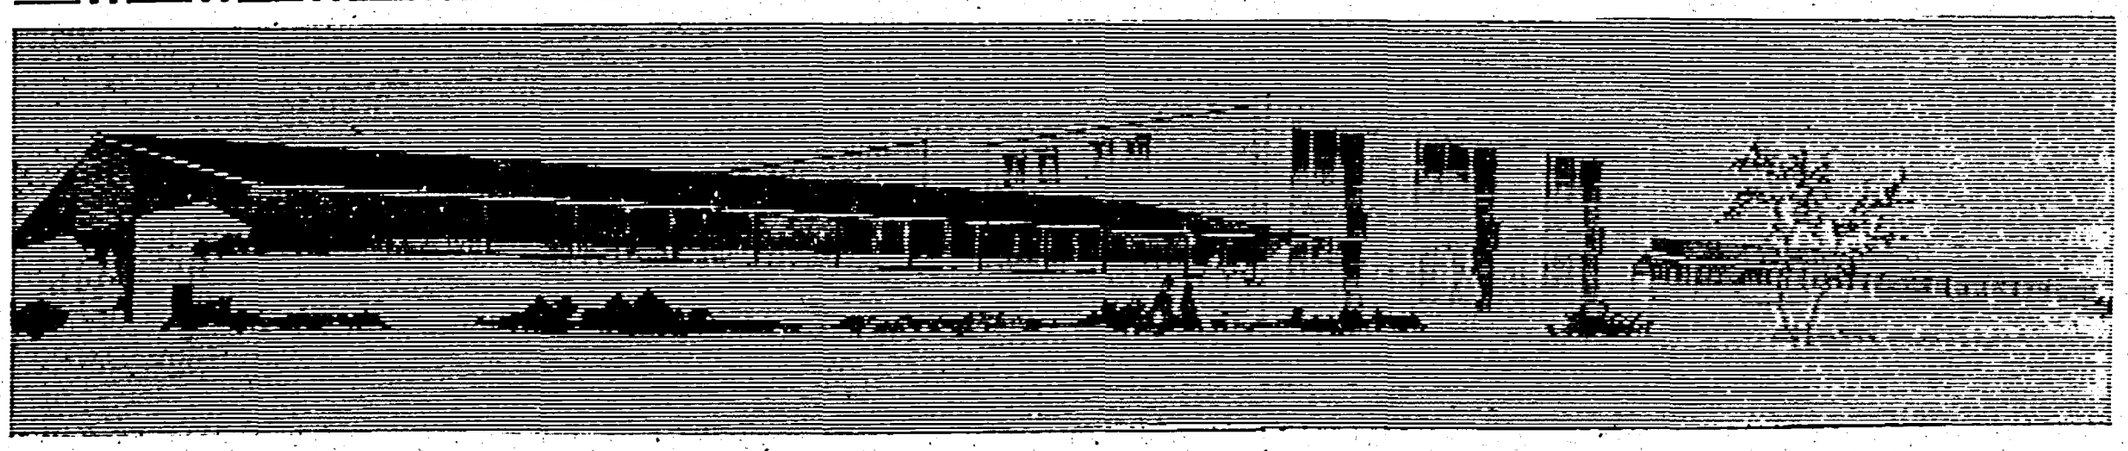
Will you read the prayer again? Is there anything about it that suggests we could not pray the same prayer today? Yet, it is a strange prayer to us. We do not hear (or use) such an expression, and would sometimes be suspicious of one who did. Now that we are sealed with the Spirit, given the Spirit, the Spirit lives in our bodies and we have the earnest of the spirit, what is more logical or orderly than this prayer?

It is a request for strength for the INNER man. Should we conclude from this that the outward man has no use for the Spirit—No relationship with Him? "What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost, which is in you, which ye have of God . . . (1 Cor. 6:19). But the outward man is to be under the control of the inner. "For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die; but if ye through the spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live. (Rom. 8:13). The outward man perishes (2 Cor. 5:4). But it is not useless (1 Tim. 4:8; Hebrews 13:15). The inner man lives on, in happiness, if renewed and strengthened. We should aim for greater health and strength of the soul, and it is likely that we would enjoy greater health in the outward man.

Holy Spirit and the Inner Man

Precisely what is it that the Holy Spirit does for the inner man? Can we put this in practical, Bible language, and begin to make use of these marvelous blessings? Here are four general statements of what the Holy Spirit will do for the Christian life.

I. The Holy Spirit is a channel of blessing. Eph. 1:3, "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly places in Christ . . ." SPIRITual blessings are blessings from The Spirit, suited to the spirit, or inner man.



II. He is a source of power in the Godly life. Through this power we abound in hope. Rom. 15:13, "Now the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the Holy Ghost."

III. He assists with prayer. Rom. 8:26, 27, "Likewise also the Spirit helpeth our infirmities, for we know not what we should pray for as we ought, but the Spirit itself maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered. And he that searcheth the hearts knoweth what is the mind of the Spirit, because he maketh intercession for the saints according to the will of God." It should be noted what this passage does not promise. It does not promise that the Holy Spirit takes over for the lazy, indifferent Christian, to pray for him when he is too careless to pray. The saint pictured here is one who prays with great feeling and supplication. Having reached a point where he cannot successfully pray as he should, the Holy Spirit intercedes for him in language which the human being cannot use—"groanings which cannot be uttered."

This is one of the clearest passages showing that the Holy Spirit does some things for the Christian which He does not accomplish through the written Word.

IV. He is involved in the answer to prayer, also. Eph. 6:18, "Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints . . ." Jude 20, "By ye beloved building up yourselves on your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Ghost."

WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO ABOUT INDIA?

J. C. Bailey

We can send them wheat to feed their hungry people while they feed millions of useless dogs. We can send them powdered milk while they keep tens of thousands of useless cows. The United States can send rice while they use their land to produce tobacco. These things can be sent free, or for a very reduced price, because India does not have foreign exchange for to pay for them but they can import beetel nut. (Beetel nut is something that they chew here that is as habit forming as tobacco. They put a green leaf in their mouth with some lime, and a piece of this brown and white nut and when they spit it is almost a fiery red. I do not know why.) The only thing that can help these conditions is the gospel. It will help India in many other ways too.

There are 430,000,000 people in India. This is the largest nation on earth outside of Communist China, by far. The gospel is supposed to be preached to these people. The church is the only people in the world who can preach the gospel to these people. WILL WE DO IT?

I have been in India less than a year now but I know that South India is a field white unto harvest. Of the time I have been here I have spent nearly half of it in Assam. In the time we have been in Madras area there have been 115 baptized and that figure will be out dated before anyone reads what I am now writing. The other Canadian workers are in Assam so this has been accomplished with the help of native workers. (Do not forget that the brethren in Assam and us are farther apart than Regina and Montreal.) The man that I depend on more than any other in coming here has turned out to be a Judas, Demas, and Diotrephes all rolled into one. We have been able to adjust to the deflection of this man with hardly a ripple in the forward march of the work.

Nigeria has more members of the church than any country outside of the United States. I see where Bro. Jimmie Lovell says that Brazil will have more members of the church than any other country in so many years. Second place belongs to India IF we give the Indian people the opportunity to obey. I am not guessing. I am here and I am offering you the proof. I must edify the young Christians as well as convert them. I must look after getting out tracts for hundreds of thousands to read that we may lay the foundation. We must carry on our Bible Correspondence work for the same purpose but ALREADY the harvest is on. ONE MAN CANNOT DO THE WORK THAT IS TO BE DONE IN SOUTH INDIA NOR CAN TEN MEN BUT they could do ten times as much as one if they worked as hard.

How are we going to get ten men into South India? There are several things that can be done. We can interest American preachers in coming to Canada and have them come with the idea of taking out citizenship papers so they can come to India. In the meantime while they are serving there you could be serving here. There are two preachers in Canada now ready to come if they were freed. God knows I love my native country and I do not want to HURT the work there to build it up here. However, I am sure God will bless us in the work there if we REALLY TAKE TO HEART THE OPPORTUNITY HE HAS PLACED ON US. WILL YOU COME IF YOU COULD? WOULD YOU REALLY HELP SOME ONE TO COME? ARE THE COMFORTS OF YOUR CANADIAN HOME WORTH MORE TO YOU THAN THE SOULS OF UNTOLD MILLIONS in India?

We could put 50 men into South India inside of a year if the church in Canada and the United States really wanted to. We could have more in preparation in Canada, or England, or Australia to come. Do you know an American preacher that would co-operate with you in this matter? Surely our earthly comforts are not as needful as the souls of men. I dare you to write to an American preacher and say: you come to Canada for five years with the idea of taking out Canadian citizenship and I will serve those five years in India. If Don Perry can come with his wife and seven children all under ten, you can come too. THINK GREAT THOUGHTS. DO GREAT DEEDS. THE REWARD WILL BE GREAT. We have come to Kadesh-barnea as far as South India is concerned. Will we go in and possess the land?

I am not one to be wildly carried away by my own enthusiasm but given proper help this work can not only grow to the place where it is the largest work of the church outside Continental United States but it will be larger than all the work done by the church outside of Continental United States. We can have ONE MILLION members of the church in India.

The Jews said they were not able. Shall we make the same foolish mistake? You remember what the Lord did to those people. We have shown you how we can get the men here. WILL WE DO IT?

If we can be of further use to you in making up your mind, or if you want to have any more information with which we can provide you then write us:

We have now put out 221,500 tracts. Do you want to help with this work? You can send money directly to us. You should register it. You can send to March 9, 1964: Brother Bob Hare of Vienna, Austria closed a good meeting with us here last night. We feel that there was good done in several ways. There were four baptized in the course of the meetings. This brings to 123 the number that have been baptized in the Madras area. Scores came into contact with New Testament Christianity for the first time. The good effects of this meeting will be felt for months to come. Brother Hare was able to visit two of the three other congregations that we have in the Madras area.

We were favoured last week with a visit from Brother K. V. George from the State of Kerala. Brother George, as many readers know, spent several years in the United States but has now returned to his native India. He is not going to have an easy time getting the truth firm-

Vancouver, B.C.: The year ended with a total of 10 baptisms and two placed membership. Seven are away attending Christian schools. The second vacant lot north of the building has been purchased for an educational building for future expansion. One was restored on Feb. 23, and another on March 1. The Mt. Baker Bible Encampment will be July 25 - August 1.

Victoria, B.C.: With 10 moving away during the year and three falling away there were 41 members left at the end of 1963. Morning attendance averaged 63 and contributions $128. Plans call for the beginning of a new building on the newly purchased site in the late summer or early fall. The 11th and Willis church in Abilene which supports brother Jim Hawkins, is planning to spearhead a campaign in Victoria in the summer of 1966 with a large meeting and a follow-up by four full-time evangelists for a year following.

Nanaimo, B.C.: Sunday morning attendance nearly doubled during the year mainly due to neighbourhood children coming to Bible school. It has been 55-60 with only 30 members. Much work was done on the building which is still not finished.

Creston, B.C.: This church with 19 members, two of whom were baptized last summer meets in a hall at the corner of 8th and Pine but has purchased property with hopes of starting to build in the spring.

Salmon Arm, B.C.: The church here has been spiritually enriched during 1963. Four moved elsewhere, six moved in and eight were baptized during the year.

V.B.S. will be July 5-9. After four years, Lynn Anderson will leave in July to attend Graduate school after which he will take up work in Kelowna along with Sam Tumlinson now with him in Salmon Arm. Ron Beckett of Vancouver (now in Freed-Hardeman College) will move to work in Salmon Arm.

Kelowna, B.C.: There are presently two lady members here and plans are progressing for the beginning of a congregation in 1965. This is a central point in the Okanagan Valley and at least 10 families and two full-time workers expect to move there together.

Estevan, Sask.: Five were baptized during 1963. Two families have moved and are with the church in Carnduff. Brother Ennis will be leaving on May 1 for a year in school before going to Pakistan. Personal work training classes are producing students who are coming to be ready to conduct classes. This should help for the gospel meeting in May. Average contribution in December was $248.20 and in 1963 was $186.33.

Moose Jaw, Sask.: Bruce Tetreau moved here during the past summer and is doing a wonderful work. Three were baptized during the year. Hopes are to complete a new building on the corner of James St. and Ninth Ave. N.W. during this year. This is a new residential area.

Bengough, Sask.: Glen Dodds directed a V.B.S. last summer and held a meeting in which two adults were baptized.

HERE AND THERE

Dauphin, Man.: Glen Dodds, sponsored by the Central Church in Norman, Oklahoma, arrived in July to work with the nine members already there. There have been a number of activities including a meeting with George Bryan of Oklahoma City preaching. Two were baptized. The church is now meeting in a rented house on 916 Main St. S. and has 13 members. Plans call for a lectureship April 17-19 on the theme "Building for Christ" based on Eph. 4:11-13. A campaign during the summer will include a V.B.S., personal work and a meeting July 19.

HERE AND THERE

Target Canda: Eldon Mimms and family of Oklahoma City will join the group moving to the Lakehead this Fall. This brings the total of those going at this time to 19.

Ice Lake, Ont.: Work is being done on the basement of the meeting house to build some new classrooms.

North Bay, Ont.: Brother Lansdell writes of prospects with optimistic enthusiasm.

Sudbury, Ont.: Woodrow Hazelip of Collingwood will be the speaker in the annual fellowship meeting at Sudbury on the Victoria holiday week end.

Barrie, Ont.: One restored and one baptized on March 15. Brother Jones has brought us 30 more subscriptions. Thanks.

Collingwood, Ont.: Response to appeals for help on our new property has been generous. Bro. Hazelip was warmly received on a recent trip to the States, and fellowship of many congregations is anticipated.

Meaford, Ont.: V.B.S. is planned for July 20-24. Meetings are being planned for May and October.

Hamilton, Ont., Ivon Avenue: W. Hazelip will be in a meeting May 4-10.

Fennell Ave: V.B.S. planned for June 29 - July 3. Meeting with Bernard Lemmons of Westfield, N.J. April 5-12 being advertised in the Hamilton Spectator.

Jordan, Ont.: Plans are going forward to establish a congregation in Wellandport. A meeting place is available and there are prospects of a full-time evangelist for the summer. The effort will begin the last week of April with a gospel meeting. This place is only 17 miles from Jordan and a nucleus of members is expected to go there.

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

POLAND

Bro. Henryk Ciszek, one of the leaders in the New Testament church in Poland since its establishment in the late 1950's, was expelled from that country late in January and is now in the United States.

Bro. Ciszek, as well as other preachers in the Polish churches, has undergone much harrassment at the hands of the government because of his activities as a Christian. He has been imprisoned three times and threatened with imprisonment a number of other times. In late October he was accused of being an American spy — of doing the same work for the United States behind the Iron Curtain that Fidel Castro is doing for Communism in the West. He was given three months to pick up his passport and leave the country.

Since Bro. Ciszek held both Polish and American citizenship (he was born in Pennsylvania but had been taken back to Poland by his parents when he was eight years old), he was advised by the American Embassy in Warsaw that he must choose one or the other. After much prayer and consultation with the Polish brethren, it was decided that Bro. Ciszek should not give up his American citizenship, but could continue to do much good for the church in Poland while living in the United States. Hence on January 13 he left Warsaw for Dallas, where he is now living. He will continue to be supported by the Urbandale church while speaking everywhere on behalf of the Polish churches.

Bro. Ciszek's wife, whom he had not seen since 1938, died last year in Russia where she had been deported to a labor camp in 1939. He also has a 25-year-old daughter whom he has never seen. She too, was taken to Russia with her mother. Since 1945 he had worked to get them released but has never succeeded. His mother was also deported, and has died in Russia. His father is still there.

Brother Ciszek leaves some 1,000 New Testament Christians in Poland where some 19 or 20 brethren ,including Brother Josef Naumiuk, are continuing to preach the Gospel despite governmental pressure.

MALAYSIA

Bro. and Sis. Howard Merches and two children, Mark, 17, and Cathy, 10, sailed from San Francisco February 7 for Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, where they will work with Bro. Frank Pierce. The family was sent by the church in York, Nebraska.

GERMANY

Bro. and Sis. Ted Nadeau and four children and Bro. and Sis. Jack Nadeau and eight children will leave June 17 for a 10-year tour of mission work in Cologne, Germany. Both men have already worked in that country, Ted for four years and Jack for nine. Both speak German fluently. Ted is being sent back by the church in Winfield, Kansas, and Jack by the Preston Road church in Dallas, Texas.

Bro. Jack Nadeau helped establish four congregations in Germany, two in Munich and one each in Augsburg and Nurnburg.

SOUTH VIET NAM

Bro. Maurice Hall and Bro. Phil Carpenter have arrived in Saigon to begin mission work in the strife-ridden country of South Viet Nam. Both have been granted visas by the government. Their first Lord's Day in Saigon, 30 native and American brethren gathered together for worship and Bible study.

SCOTLAND

Sister Phyllis White, formerly of the Bayview church in Toronto, is now teaching classes in the young church in Glasgow and making plans to help with the August campaign. She is staying with the Jerry Porter family until she can find living quarters of her own. Sister White retired from the Toronto Public School teaching system before the maximum retirement age so that she could spend more time in the Lord's work. She is supporting herself with her teacher's pension. Sister White has taught in many Vacation Bible Schools in Ontario, notably in Ottawa and Kingston, while helping these young congregations get started. She has taught Bible classes for many years in Toronto.

SOUTH AFRICA

Bro. and Sis. Charlie Tutor and four children left New York City February 28 for Grahamstown, South Africa, to establish a church. At present there are no known Christians living in the city of 40,000.

PHILIPPINES

A few weeks ago the church in Baguio City, Phillippines, printed the first lesson of a Bible correspondence course in Ilocano, one of the major Filipino dialects. With only "word of mouth" advertising, already 900 persons have requested the lessons.

"It is hard to imagine the results if we advertised in one Ilocano publications of national circulation," Brother John Robinson, one of the missionaries, states. More than 8,000,000 Filipinos speak that particular dialect.

The course has been written by Bro. Bill Carrell of Tokyo, Japan, especially for use in the Far East, and was translated into Ilocano by one of the workers in Baguio City.

HERE AND THERE

Edmonton, Alta.: March 3-5 featured a special series of lessons by P. D. Wilmeth.

St. Catharines, Ont.: Meetings are planned for April 8-19 with Bro. Wesley Jones of Barrie preaching. A most cordial invitation is extended to our brethren and friends to attend these services. All evening services are at 8 p.m.

C. G. McPhee of this church has collected the material for this Special Issue of the Gospel Herald. We thank him.

Additional Meetings: Owen Sound with Jim Nicholson, April 26 - May 3; Fern Avenue, Toronto, M. F. Hammond, May 3-9; Beamsville, May 31 - June 7, Don Gardner, Parkersburg, W.V.; Niagara Falls, N.Y., March 29 - April 3, Warren Whitelaw.

One was baptized and one restored in March at Jordan. A meeting is scheduled for May 3-10.

BEAMSVILLE CHURCH OF CHRIST

Keith T. Thompson

This congregation is over one hundred years old. Like most congregations of that age it has had its share of setbacks and disappointments as well as advances and encouragements. Those of us who live and serve here today are indebted to a host of great men and women who have gone before us. We cannot attempt to name all of them but this does not imply our lack of appreciation for their faithful efforts.

At the present time there are approximately one hundred and forty members in the Beamsville church. Our attendance is boosted by the presence of many of the staff and students from Great Lakes Christian College. Last year we averaged 152, 86, 89 for our Sunday morning, Sunday evening and Tuesday evening meetings respectively.

The church seeks to keep continually engaged in evangelistic activity. To this end we conduct cottage meetings, place articles in local papers, distribute correspondence courses, have two Gospel meetings each year, and place an exhibit at the local Fair. To edify the members the Gospel Herald and Firm Foundation are distributed to each family. Some copies of the 20th Century Christian are made available by an interested brother. Our benevolent work has been limited and we hope to improve in this area.

During the last several years we have had about a dozen responses each year. We would like to see this number greatly increased. One of our goals for 1964 is to train a number of members in conducting home Bible studies.

Like many other congregations, the Beamsville church has sent partial support to a number of locations. Last year we received what was probably our greatest challenge. When the Donald Perry family decided to go to India this congregation agreed to give them full support. This necessitated the discontinuing of support to some other places. Although we miss the Perrys very much we are confident they will do a great work in India.

The responsibility of supporting this family in a foreign land has encouraged us to give more. In the first half of 1963 our contributions averaged $247 a week, but in the second half of the year the average was $275 a week. This year our budget has been raised to $290 a week and we are confident it can be reached.

We are looking forward to sponsoring the June meeting this year. Brother Don Gardner of Parkersburg, West Virginia will be the featured speaker. In October Brother Harold Hazelip will preach in a Gospel meeting.

The Perry Family

The Beamsville church is considering an addition to the building this year. We need additional class rooms, auditorium and office space.

We hope to see an acceleration in all aspects of the Lord's work in Beamsville in 1964. We covet your fellowship and your prayers.

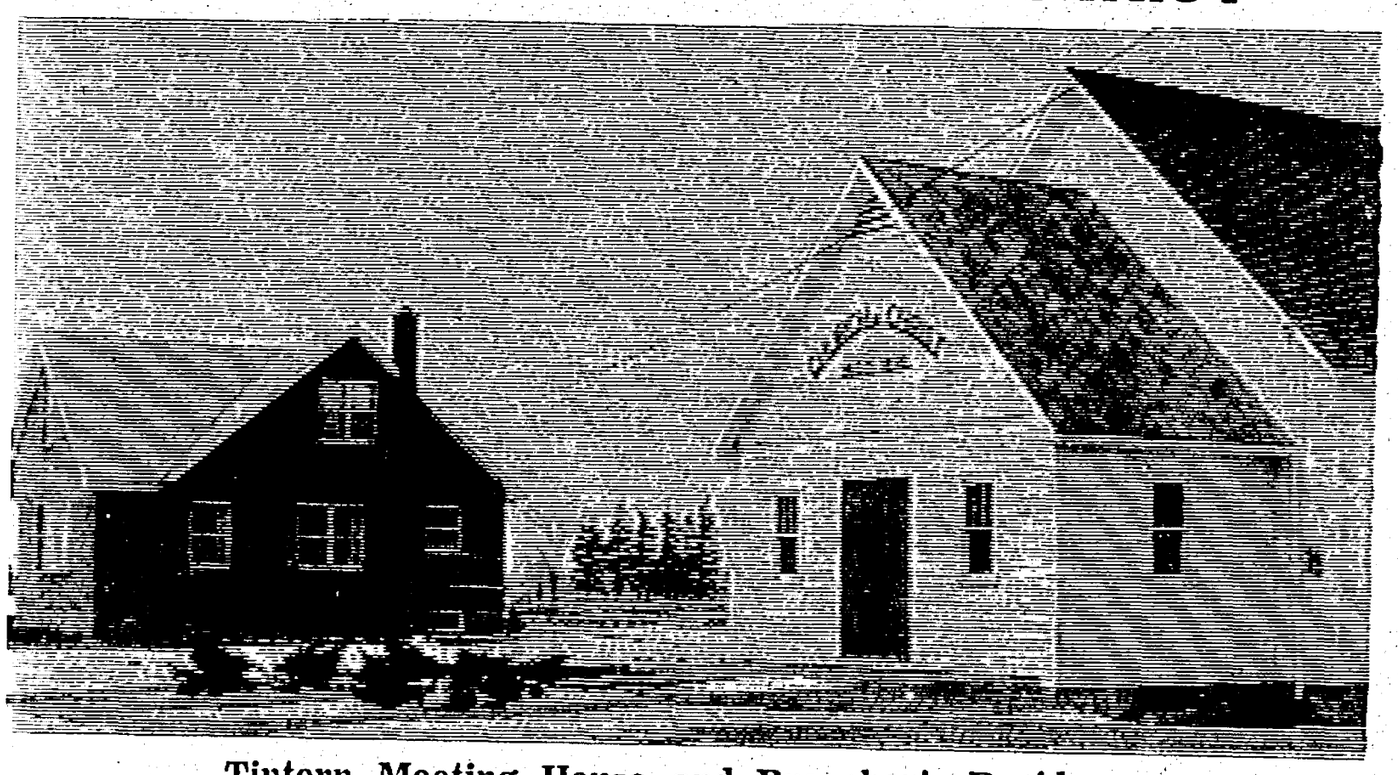
KINGSTON MEETING

I concluded a fine gospel meeting at Kingston on February 19. Our attendance ranged between 25 to 50, and I feel the church was indeed stirred and inspired. They manifested their zeal and interest in several ways, by bringing visitors to the meeting, by a more than 90% attendance and by their gracious hospitality. Certainly many valuable contacts were made, which the church there plan to follow up.

The gospel is surely needed in this well known city of Canada, with its various institutions and variety of people. The gospel can do more for people before they enter the Penal institutions than after. Canada needs a large strong church in this city. The small church there is to be commended for its zeal and determination. Your help is needed however, in order to set into motion an effective program of work.

—M. J. Knutson

MOBILE MEETING HOUSE



The church at Prince Albert, Saskatchewan purchased a trailer that has been used for a meeting place for small groups of Christians in places where the church is new. This mobile meeting house is suitable for use in localities where the church is newly established and can serve as a comfortable place of worship until a permanent building can be erected. The idea of portable buildings is not new among our denominational neighbors and has been used effectively by our brethren in some areas in the United States. The little band of Christians meeting in Prince Albert has borne much of the cost along with help from Outlook, Sask. and many other points. Several hundred dollars still remain to be paid on this trailer by July 1 so if anyone reading this is interested, you might send a contribution to the Church of Christ, 264-23rd St. W. Prince Albert, Sask.

Niagara Falls, Ont.: March 30 to April 5 are the dates of a meeting in which R. C. Oliver of Clawson, Michigan will preach. He is being supported in this effort by his home church.

TINTERN CHURCH OF CHRIST

Tintern Meeting House and Preacher's Residence

by Jim Nicholson

In order to relate the early history of the work of Christ in this area, it will be necessary to glean some information from the memories of living Christians, and the occasional religious periodical.

The Banner of The Faith contained the following information in the September issue of 1862, showing the preaching efforts of brother Oliphant in this section of Lincoln county. "The next point was at 'Mud Creek' (Tintern). In this vicinity, great interest being excited, a vast multitude assembled on the last evening —a Methodist preacher present. The people desire to hear and understand the gospel. This is the neighbourhood of brother John Huntsman, who recently withdrew from the Methodists, and united with the disciples, he having been led to this resolution on hearing brother Oliphant over a year ago, in Gainsboro."

As a result of good interest in the community, it was decided to build a place of meeting, which was completed in 1892. Sister Jennie Spiece vividly remembers the building being erected on a lot given by the late brother Lucien Huntsman.

Others have seen the day when the meeting house was filled to the last seat and some stood outside at the windows. In 1947, it was recorded that there were many empty pews, as some had forsaken the Divine injunctions of their Maker and turned back to the temporary pleasures of the world. Today, the pews are filling up again.

It is impossible to make a complete list of the names of all those who have preached to this congregation during its history.

The first evangelist to work regularly with the church was brother Herman Mason. His efforts were spread between Smithville and Tintern, Brother Mason served these churches from 1950 through 1952.

Evangelist Eugene Perry, principal of Great Lakes Christian College, served the church on a part time basis from the fall of 1952 through January 1961. During this period a basement was dug and the building moved back onto the new foundation in 1956, providing much needed classroom space. Added improvements to the building were made in 1958, providing an attractive and comfortable place of worship with more facilities for edification.

Following a series of sermons on the qualification and work of elders and deacons, the following men were chosen by the congregation and appointed by brother Perry. C. E. Hannah, A. E. Perry and O. E. Tallman were appointed as elders on June 17, 1956. Brethren B. Hannah, J. McPherson, E. Moore and J. Wallace were appointed as deacons on October 1, 1960. In 1960, the congregation made plans for the securing of a full time evangelist.

Brother Jim Nicholson, of Jordan, was hired in 1961. He is thought to be the first evangelist to work full time with this church.

Through the generosity of the late sister Eva Pysher, a lot was given to the church for the erection of a preacher's house next door to the meeting place. A comfortable house was completed in March of 1963. Clarence Spiece, of this congregation, was the builder.

In the past 15 months, the membership has increased by 13 souls as a result of 12 baptisms and 1 restoration. The present membership is 60, with 31 children of members attending who are not presently members themselves. As a means of giving deeper insight into the local work, the following averages for 1963 are submitted. The average contribution was $153.15 with an average of 67 present for 10:00 A.M. Bible study, 77 for worship Sunday morning, 60 for worship in the evening and an average of 57 for Bible study on Wednesday night.

Brother Nicholson has been supported by this congregation in meeting work. Three souls were restored to the fellowship of the church following a meeting at Owen Sound in 1962 as brethren John Whitfield and Jim Nicholson laboured together. Building on the labours of brother George Johnson, there were 3 baptisms and 1 restoration during his meeting with the Glencoe church in 1963. Membership at Smithville has recently increased by 2 baptisms as a result of the labours of the church at Tintern. Over the 15 month period, this congregation has helped directly or indirectly with 17 baptisms and 5 restorations. May God be glorified in the power of the Gospel.

The future of the church here continues to look bright with the possibilities of building expansion on the horizon. A baptistry is badly needed at this place. Excellent Vacation Bible Schools are held with over 80% of the students coming from families having no connection with the Church. A well-experienced staff is teaching nine classes on Sunday morning and five classes on Wednesday night. The preacher's house has caught the overflow of one class due to crowded conditions in the meeting house. Extra classes are being taught in the meeting place and private homes for the edification of the Saints. A regular means of per-

SMITHVILLE CHURCH OF CHRIST

Incomplete records make it difficult to give a report on the early history of the church that has met in Smithville for many years. The first trustees were Brothers Daniel Felkner, George Coon and Robert Wardell. A group from the Spadina Avenue church in Toronto participated in an all day meeting at Smithville, in 1882. Bro. George Barclay spoke in the morning, Samuel Keffer in the afternoon and Bro. Forrester in the evening. Among the brethren were Bro. and Sister James Stewart, parents of the late Alex Stewart. Another meeting was held in 1887 with W. D. Campbell of Detroit doing the preaching. At this meeting three generations of one family were baptized, Merriam Tallman, nearly 80, her son Peter and grand-daughter Charrie. It would be impossible to trace the influence of this event through the many years since. Bro. Barclay writes of the Smithville meeting in 1890 speaking of Bro. Samuel Keffer of Beamsville preaching regularly and during this year also holding a meeting assisted by Bro. Forrester and Bro. Barclay. At this meeting Brother and Sister Huntsman were baptized.

One brother, C. J. Lister of Owen Sound drove a horse from there to preach. Mention is also made of Bro. Amos Clendenan who used to walk from Jordan on Saturday to speak on Sunday. During the years from 1890 to 1953 little is recorded. Many meetings were held with preachers such as Brothers Oliphant, Hertzog, Samuel Keffer, Lemuel Keffer, Fry, Madison Wright, H. M. Evans, S. M. Jones, Alex Stewart, C. G. McPhee, O. H. Tallman, Herman Mason, G. M. Johnson and John Whitfield.

During the first half of the century the church seemed to decline from its original enthusiasm and membership until by 1950 the number was very small indeed. Only a careful assessment of the preaching and amount of work done could determine the reasons for the decline. Certainly the fact that, over the years, young people have found it necessary to move to larger centers has been a factor.

Following Herman Mason's work, Bruce Merritt of Beamsville, principal of Great Lakes Christian College, began to preach regularly on Lord's Day afternoon sometime in 1953. Later it was decided to meet in the morning and evening as well as conduct a Lord's Day Bible School. The meeting house was in need of repairs so a program was begun to raise the old structure and place a basement under it for classroom purposes. The work program continued until the whole building was remodelled and made into a very satisfactory work plant. Bro. Merritt remained with the church until his move to Niagara Falls to work with the new church there. During the same period meetings were held conducted by O. H. Tallman, Marshall Keeble, Ed Craddock, Geoffrey Ellis and John Fant who at that time was working with the church in Brantford. Bro. Bernard Lemmons of Cleveland worked with Bro. Merritt for three years in summer vacation Bible school and meetings. Schools have been held for the past five years with an average attendance of around ninety a year.

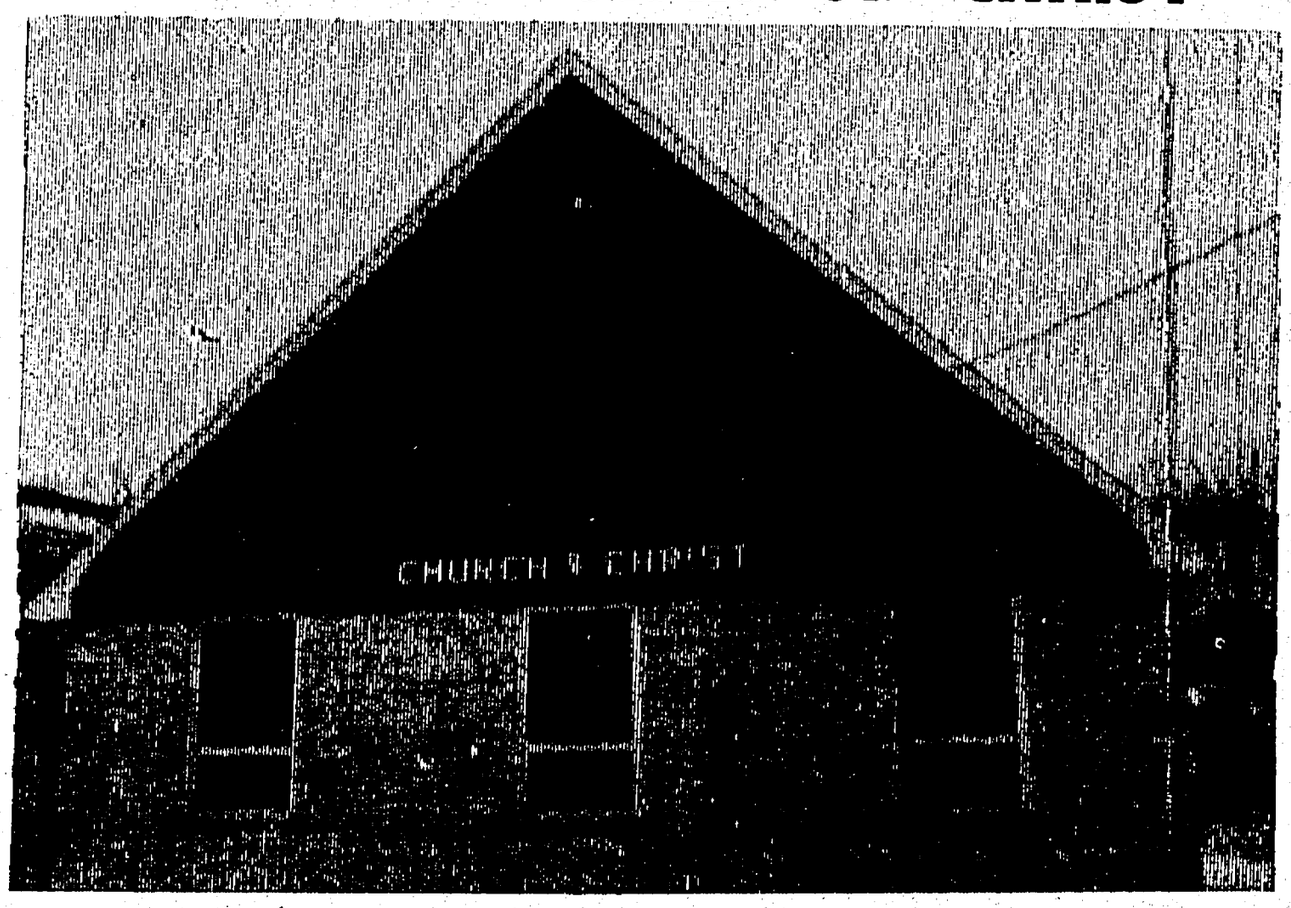
Walter Dale has worked with the church for the past three years, preaching each Lord's Day while teaching at Great Lakes Christian College during the week. Work has been slow. Some families have moved into the area and two have been baptized in the last year. A number of students from Great Lakes have assisted in the worship services and have met regularly with the church over the past few years. Their presence has filled a gap in the membership of the church. About twenty church members are meeting regularly with attendance in all, being around thirty. Warren Whitelaw held a meeting in October, 1962. The church now meets regularly on Tuesday evening for Bible study. At present some small assistance is being given the Kingston work. There are signs of interest by people in the Smithville area and the church continues to pray and hope for revival and growth into a larger and stronger congregation.

SELKIRK CHURCH OF CHRIST

The exact date when the church began in Selkirk is uncertain. In 1851 a small group of people were meeting and Bro. Clendening was the first preacher to proclaim the Gospel in Selkirk. At that time some Baptist people had a leaning toward the church and away from the creeds of that day. The church was organized in 1854, when elders James Black and Alexander Anderson of Eramosa Township, near Guelph, arrived on horseback and held an Evangelistic meeting resulting in a large number of conversions. Soon after this a church building was erected.

In 1855 James Kilgore preached for the church for a period of time. He was followed by Elder Benedict, of Buffalo, N.Y. who was compelled to flee from the country because of his opposition to the civil war. In 1875 O. G. Herzog held a meeting that lasted five weeks and resulted in a hundred souls being won for Christ.

Other Evangelists that laboured with the church were, James Lediard, A. H. Miller, Hugh McDiarmind, Allason Wilcox, H. B. Sherman, Andrew Scott, Dr. Macklin and others whose names are unknown. During the history of the church Bro. Thomas Cooper paid an Evangelist to come from the United States for two gospel meeting.



In 1889 the building was reconditioned. Shortly after this some members withdrew from the church, because of matters of faith, which disturbed the congregation. In 1894 subscriptions were received for the preacher's salary, which amounted to the sum of $250.00 a year. D. Monroe was the minister at that time.

In 1893 it was resolved to buy land and erect a meetinghouse at Sweets Corner. This was done and for a number of years the services were conducted by the elders of the church from Selkirk.

During the past years many fine preachers have worked with the church at Selkirk. Bro. Thomas

FENWICK CHURCH OF CHRIST

Fenwick Meeting House

Max E. Craddock

The Church of our Lord began meeting in Fenwick about 1899. The congregation first met in Neff's Hall, which was near where the meeting house was later to be built. Brother S. M. Jones had a great deal to do with the work being started in Fenwick. Brethren John Ostrosser, Wm. Shriner, and Wm. Crowe were also instrumental in its beginning.

The first meeting house of the Church was built in 1903. Brother Jones is also said to have been influential in the erection of this place of worship.

The names of Madison Wright, C. W. Petch, and W. F. Cox stand out in the memory of the brethren here. The memory of Brother W. F. Cox is held in high regard by the members of this congregation. Many wonderful stories have been told of efforts Brother Cox put forth at Fenwick.

In 1952 the congregation at Fenwick and the Brethren from Port Colborne met and agreed to hire Brother Louis Pauls to work with the two congregations. This manner of providing a regular minister for the congregations has continued to this time. After Brother Pauls moved to N.B., Brother Frank Alexander worked for a time in this area and he was followed by Marlin Harless. In August of 1962 Brother Max E. Craddock moved to work in this area.

The congregation has just completed an addition to the building which was built in 1903. We now have four classrooms, and two washrooms in the addition. The auditorium has been fixed up with a new lighting system and new pews and the walls done over with panels of mahogany. The old gas heater has also been replaced with modern infra-red heating.

We feel that '64 is going to be a wonderful year for us, in that we now have a better place in which to teach God's Word. We now have the space to have more, larger, and we pray more meaningful Bible classes. The people of the area seem to be becoming aware that we are in the village and we pray that we may be able to seek out and use every opportunity to teach God's Word. We ask for your prayers and also invite you to come worship with us whenever you are in our area.

morning classes and any others should all be considered so that there be no overlapping. Then check the Gospel Herald catalogue and other catalogues for study materials or write and ask what is available. Choose the study books which seem to be best.

We have thought of preparing a chart suggesting a balanced curriculum plan for adult study with suggested study books. These would be duplicated and sent free if there is enough demand for them.

Remember always that we are teaching the Bible. Other materials including teachers' quarterlies, are just aids. Someone has said that "Some teachers sound like quarterlies wired for sound."

THE CHURCH AT WORK

we are commanded to prepare for this, "being ready always to give answer to every man that asketh you a reason concerning the hope that is in you, yet with meekness and fear" (1 Peter 3:15).

Most of those who feel inadequate, or really are inadequate, would benefit from a period of activity when they would be called upon over and over again to give reason for their hope. Why not spend some time in door to door visitation and cottage meetings with some trained worker? Here is one of the greatest schools on earth.

The church has a great value. It has a glorious destiny. It also has great responsibility to work.

JORDAN CHURCH OF CHRIST

Building used by the Church for over 100 years. It has been torn down since 1951.

Congregation met in this building January 4, 1961 for the first time

The early history of the Church at Jordan appeared in the Gospel Herald in 1947 and for that reason this account will continue from that point to the present.

In existing records and minutes of the business meetings there is evidence of a surge of new life about 1940 to 1945. This was due, in part no doubt, to a men's training class conducted by Alex Stewart during his brief stay as evangelist at Jordan. This work was terminated by his sudden death while preaching in a special series of meetings at Charlton Station.

Near the end of 1945 Allen Killom began working with the congregation and at the end of his stay in February of 1948 there had been excellent signs of growth. The average attendance had increased in these two years from 40 to 70. In addition, plans seemed to be underway about 1947, '48 and '49 for some kind of a change in the meeting house which consisted of only one large room. Brother Gordon McPhee followed brother Killom and it was during this period that plans developed for the new building now located on number 8 highway. It was completed and occupied for the first time January 4, 1951. Original plans had called for a doubling of the personal giving of each member and a five year period had been set to completely erase the debt. The building cost $5,000 more than had been expected and it took one year longer than had been planned to have it debt free.

Jordan had no small part in the special efforts of brother Roy Cogdill in preaching the word at several chosen locations with the purpose of starting new congregations, and strengthening those already existing. During this concentrated effort meetings were held in Griersville, Meaford, Collingwood and Owen Sound at which place a church was started. To this work Jordan sent brother Keith Thompson and fully supported him there for some time.

Other meetings were held at Ice Lake, on Manitoulin Island and at Niagara Street in St. Catharines. In Welland a congregation was encouraged to begin meeting but later ran into difficulty and was forced to disband. Following the Welland work a meeting was held at Brantford. The church at that place was encouraged and enlarged by four baptisms and one restoration.

The final meeting of this effort was held at Huntsville. The church there first met in a rented hall but since that time they have grown into a fine congregation now meeting in their own bulding.

During the Huntsville meeting the Jordan church promised to supply what was lacking in the erection of a meeting house for the Sundridge congregation which had been meeting in the home of brother and sister Alex Preston. The building was completed during the Summer and the church met in it for worship in the fall of 1955.

This sincere interest in preaching the gospel with zeal and optimism has been responsible for the tremendous growth, both numerically and spiritually of the church at Jordan.

When these special efforts for preaching the gospel were ended a residence was erected for an evangelist and his family. This was first occupied by brother David Johnson and family and was their

PORT COLBORNE CHURCH OF CHRIST

Max E. Cradock

The Church of Christ first met in Port Colborne on April 23, 1939. Bro. W. F. Cox was the speaker for the first meeting which was held at 2 p.m. in the Odd Fellow's Hall.

Port Colborne Meeting House

In 1950 the congregation moved their place of meeting from the Odd Fellow's Hall to the Hydro Building in Humberstone. In July of 1950 they moved again, this time to a store located at 122 Main Street in Humberstone.

Brother John Whitfield was the regular speaker from 1946 through April, 1952. In May of 1952 Brother Louis Pauls began to work with the congregation at Port Colborne and also worked with the Church at Fenwick.

April the 8th, 1954 was the day a deposit was paid on a lot at 700 Steele Street as a place for the building of a meeting place. The new building was completed by January 23, 1955, on which day opening services were held.

In July, 1958 Brother Pauls left this area and moved to N.B. to begin the work of the church there. In August, Frank Alexander came here and remained until September, 1959. Marlin Harless then moved to Port in March, 1960 and worked here until November, 1961. In August, 1962, Max E. Craddock moved from Hamilton to work with this congregation.

In the past year and a half we have had cottage meetings in Port and also have enjoyed success with a Bible Correspondence Course offered by mail in the local papers.

We ask for your prayers and invite you to visit us whenever you have opportunity.

SELKIRK

Bailey and Sim M. Jones did much work in this community. Bro. Neal of Meaford has been remembered for his services there.

The church in Selkirk has lost many of its older members during the past few years. Many young people have been baptized and gone to other places in Ontario. At the present time Bro. Claude Perry preaches for the church while residing in Beamsville. Many brethren would like to see this congregation restored to the place of importance it once occupied among the churches in Ontario.

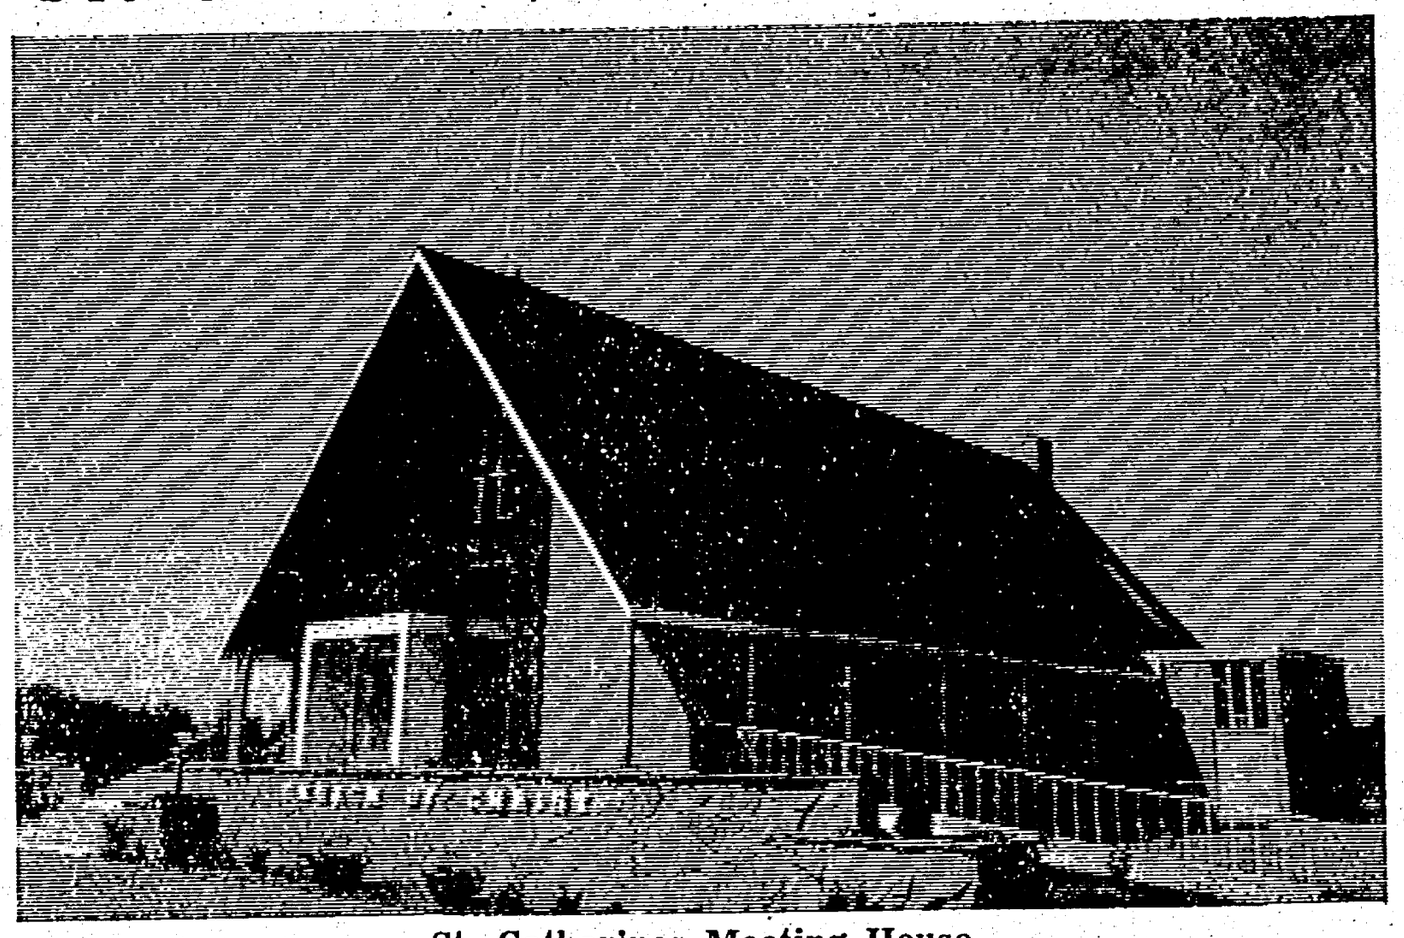
TEACHER TRAINING SERIES

"Tremendous" — was the word heard over and over at the Teacher Training Workshop in Voncouver on February 15th. Presented by the Oakridge congregation, it was attended by one hundred thirty - two teachers from sixteen congregations.

An excellent staff of eight of the finest teachers in the northwest did the teaching. O. J. Russell, minister of the central church in Portland, Oregon gave the opening and closing address in addition to a speech on counseling and guidance in a general session. Walter Trent, minister from Burlington, Washington, gave an excellent lesson on teaching materials and curriculum. Specialists in each age group conducted divided sessions both morning and afternoon.



Besides the displays in each class room, ten large displays in an assembly hall attracted much attention. These presented materials, ideas, and books useful to teachers. A sound film was shown on the work and challenge in Vancouver, Canada's third largest city. A full schedule was held all day long, with the Oakridge ladies serving the noon and evening meals.

This was the first training program of this kind to be held in the area and because of the need and overwhelming response, the elders of Oakridge plan this for an annual event.

NEWS FLASH!

Jim Hawkins, Victoria, B.C., preached in a meeting for the Airport church, Weyburn, Sask., March 10-18. Forty-three responded to the invitation of the Lord. Sixteen were baptized and 27 asked for prayers in behalf of their own shortcomings. Many groups of students as well as adults spent time on their knees in prayer. Much questioning of vital Bible subjects was done and satisfaction granted the inquirers. Late-hour baptisms were performed the last three nights of the meeting with the final session concluding after 1 a.m. God's word is still the power of God to save. Preach it where you are. A spirit of happiness and joy prevails here now that was hitherto unknown. Pray for us to help each one to grow to mature usefulness in God's service.

ST. CATHARINES CHURCH OF CHRIST

St. Catharines Meeting House

Charles G. McPhee

The first meeting of the church of Christ in St. Catharines took place in the Banner Hall, on St. Paul Street, August 1st, 1897. The preacher at that time was Madison Wright. Through his guidance and co-operation with some brethren, a building and lot were purchased at the corner of Raymond and Beecher Streets. While this building was adequate for preaching services, it lacked space for the Bible School. About fifteen years ago it was given a major overhaul. It was moved, raised and placed on a new foundation. A new entrance was constructed and Sunday School rooms provided.

In 1928 some brethren from Raymond and Beecher started a new congregation and erected a meeting house at the corner of Niagara and Manning Streets. A good work was done here among the children of the community. This building was sold about two years ago; the brethren having united their forces with the old congregation, and having the understanding that we would look for a new location and a more adequate building. On May 29, 1963 the last prayer meeting was held at Raymond and Beecher, and now it has passed into other hands. Many memories remain with the few faithful souls that have worshipped and worked to extend the Kingdom of God, when the labourers were few and preachers were sometimes hard to obtain.

While we do not have a correct record of the men who served the church; we can recall that Bro. Charles Claus and Bro. Henry Stevens were elders and did much teaching and preaching for years. About twenty-five years ago, Bro. Frank Conn and Bro. Murray Miller were appointed elders and have served the congregation up to the present time.

While we cannot name all the preachers that have served faithfully in years past, we know that many contributed their time and efforts for the conversion of sinners and edification of Saints. Here are the names of a few men that preached for the church. Madison Wright, Charles W. Petch, Harry Jackson, O. E. Tallman, Lemuel Keffer, W. F. Cox, Emerson Flannery and John Whitfield. The present preacher, Charles G. McPhee has been with the congregation since the fall of 1952. The audience on Sunday morning then was about 70. The average for the first ten weeks of 1964 is 160, and the average contribution two hundred and ninty-five dollars. Many changes have taken place by reason of baptisms and deaths, with some falling by the way. We believe that greater things will take place in the future.

This church has always taken an interest in other places. While it cannot answer every call, it has helped to support preachers in Hamilton, Port Colborne, Japan, Nova Scotia and recently donated $6,500.00 to the church in London.

In 1962 a large lot was purchased on Ontario Street, north of the Queen Elizabeth Way. Work was started on a new building in the fall and on June 3, 1963, the first sermon was preached in our new building dedicated to the work of the Lord. This building is very attractive and serviceable, with a seating capacity of 350, together with a full basement and rooms for classes. While it cost about $100,000.00, it is valued much higher, because of the donated labour, which made it possible to complete such a structure.

The church here is anxious to serve the Lord and the community. We trust and pray that the seed sown in the past will produce a rich harvest in the future. Many listen to the broadcast every Sunday morning over CKTB, which has been carried on the air since 1937.

When in St. Catharines worship with us.

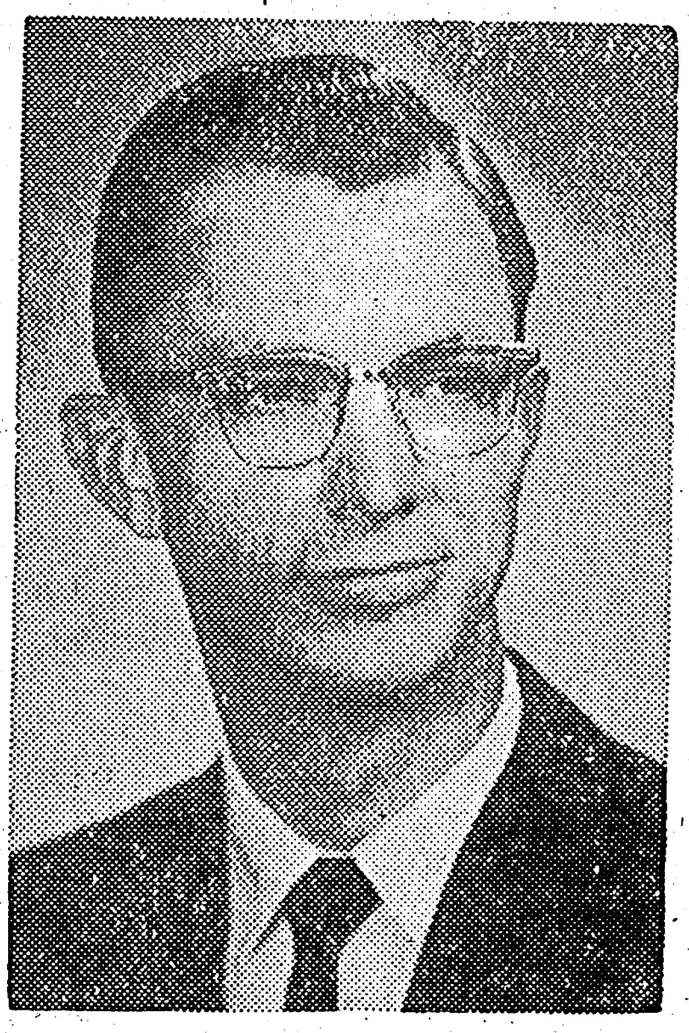
NIAGARA FALLS CHURCH OF CHRIST

Niagara Falls Meeting House

by Bruce C. Merritt

The church in Niagara Falls, Ontario was organized through the joint efforts of Bro. Geoffrey Ellis and Bro. Walter Dale and met for the first time in the Stamford Memorial Hall on October 4, 1959. The preaching and teaching responsibilities were shared by these two brethren during the first year since both were full-time teachers at Great Lakes Christian College in Beamsville. Brother Dale continued as a part-time preacher for the congregation from June, 1960 to June, 1961. By this time the congregation had grown considerably and it seemed advisable to secure a full-time preacher to assist with the next phase in the development of this new work.

Bro. Bruce Merritt, who had recently resigned as President of Great Lakes Christian College to return to full-time preaching, was invited to succeed Bro. Dale in this work. He and his family moved to Niagara Falls in June, 1961, supported fully by the East Main Street Church of Christ in Murfreesboro, Tennessee. Bro. Henry Boland and his wife, members of the Niagara Street congregation in St. Catharines, also moved to Niagara Falls about this time to contribute their efforts to this new work.



During the fall of 1961, the need for more adequate facilities for worship and Bible study became increasingly evident. An excellent building site was secured in a growing area of the city and plans were laid to erect a building as soon as funds could be secured. Due to the substantial assistance of the East Main St. and North Boulevard congregations in Murfreesboro, Tennessee, three or four other congregations in Tennessee and a number of individuals and congregations in Ontario, sufficient money became available to begin construction in April, 1962. Bro. Albert Carlesso, a building contractor and member of the congregation, donated his services as contractor for the building and due largely to this fact an excellent building with a seating capacity of 154 was erected for less than $30,000 including furnishings. The building also includes eight class rooms, washrooms and on each side of the fibre-glass baptistry a dressing room.

Bro. Merritt continued on a full-time basis with the congregation until June, 1963 and since then has been preaching for the congregation while supporting himself as a high school teacher. Bro. Ernest Burdett and his wife, although continuing to live in St. Catharines, placed their membership with the congregation in July, 1963 and have been a valuable addition to the work. Growth has been slow but prospects for this congregation look brighter than ever before. Plans for the future include a Gospel Meeting from March 30 to April 5 with Bro. R. C. Oliver of Clawson, Mich. doing the preaching, a Vacation Bible School (July 20-24), the securing of a full-time preacher in the near future, and a greatly intensified program for evangelizing the city.

SMITH

At the Hamilton General Hospital on Monday, February 24, 1964 brother Herbert William Smith passed away at the age of 73.

He is survived by his sons, Ivan of Vancouver, Ralph and Donald of Hamilton; his daughters Mrs. John (Elenore) Tiveron, Mrs. David (Doris) Cox, Mrs. Grant (Bernice-Laundry, all of Beamsville, Mrs. Ivan (Eileen) Merritt of Grimsby and Mrs. James (Betty) Walker of Ancaster. Brother Smith is also survived by two step sons, Jim Hawthorne and Orton Miles. There are 26 grandchildren, 5 step grandchildren and one great-grandson.

Brother Smith was married to Alice Pottruff on April 1917. She passed away in January 1937. His second wife was Ann Hawthorne. They were married in May 1955. She also passed away (Feb. 1957). He is presently survived by his wife Annie Orton. They were married October 15, 1958. His second wife and third wife were converted to Christ by his influence.

Services were held in the Marlatt Memorial Chapel on Wednesday, Feb. 26, 1964 at 1 p.m. Brother Harold Tabor conducted the funeral services and was assisted by C. G. McPhee. Interment was in the White Brick Cemetery Ancaster.

MORRIS

Bro. James Ellis Morris, a resident of 930 St. George street, Nanaimo, B.C., died suddenly, Tuesday, February 25, 1964. He was born at Tilden, Minn., U.S.A., and was 77 years of age. Bro. Morris came to Canada to Kisby, Sask., in 1902. He farmed at Kisby until he retired in 1947, when he came to Nanaimo.

Bro. Morris was a dedicated member of the body of Christ and always put his hand to the plow to do the work of the Lord.

Surviving are his wife, Margaret, Nanaimo; two sons, Keith and Clayton, Nanaimo; two daughters, Mrs. (Alice) George Gow, Cedar, B.C., and Mrs. (Jean) Howard Kemp, Nanaimo; 11 grandchildren; a brother, Victor, Wellington, B.C., and three sisters, Mrs. Georgina Sherman, Havre, Montana; Mrs. Myrtle Kerr, Arcola, Sask., and Mrs. Lillian Luffman, Kisby, Sask.

The funeral service was held in Westwood Chapel of Flowers, Friday, February 28, 1964, at 1:30 p.m. The service was conducted by Dale Foster and Jim Hawkins. Interment was in the Cedar Valley Memorial Gardens.

Flowers were gratefully declined. Donations in Mr. Morris' memory may be made to mission work in India, to Mr. Dale Foster, 1200 Strathmore street, Nanaimo, B.C.

COX

On the Lord's Day of March 8th, the spirit of Bro. Charles L. Cox took its flight from this earthly abode to the home that lies beyond. His passing was a release from the burdens of time and the suffering he had to endure. While he had been in the Hospital for some time, his closing weeks were spent at home in Owen Sound, where his wife administered to him patiently, in the place he loved to be.

Bro. Cox was born in St. Vincent Township, the son of the late William and Agnes Cox. His family were all members of the Church of Christ, and the Cape Rich meetinghouse was built on the corner of the farm where he was born and grew to manhood. Until he was compelled to leave that community, together with many more families, during the last war, he was a faithful and active member of the church where he had learned the truth and obeyed the gospel. Many times he did the speaking and his clear voice could be heard on Lord's days as he lead the congregation in singing.

At the time the "Tank Range" took over his farm, he had one of the best Apple Orchards in the Township. It was always a matter of regret that he had to leave it in his declining days, when he could have reaped the fruit of his labours.

The writer was associated with Bro. Cox for years and while located at Meaford, he many times visited the old homestead, and wandered through the woods and over the hills with Bro. Cox, amid the sounds of nature he loved so well.

In 1918 Bro. Cox was married to Marion Bissell, who now mourns his departure. Others who mourn are his only son, Bruce, of Owen Sound, one brother, Ernest, Meaford; two sisters, Mrs. Edna Watterworth, Meaford and Mrs. Edith Keffer of Grimsby. Bro. Cox was predeceased by two brothers and two sisters. One brother was a well known Gospel preacher, Bro. W. F. Cox, who preached in Western Canada and in later years in the Niagara Peninsula and the United States.

The funeral service was conducted at the Breckonridge Funeral Home in Owen Sound, with temporary burial in the Mausoleum at Owen Sound.

Bro. John Whitfield assisted at the funeral services in the home and grave.

OSTROSSER

The passing of Violet Ester Ostrosser at her home near Fenwick, Ontario, removed a member of one of the pioneer families of this section of the country. She was born July 18th, 1890, at Rosedene. Her husband predeceased her some time ago. She had been a resident of Pelham Township for 55 years and had been connected with the church of Christ at Fenwick for a long time.

Mrs. Ostrosser is survived by two sons, John at home and Kenneth of Fenwick: two daughters, Mrs. Faye Gilbert, Fenwick and Jean at home; three brothers, Charles Stanley and Elton of Gainsborough Township; one sister, Mrs. Omer Kindy, Selkirk, together with grandchildren and great grandchildren.

The funeral was held at the Lampman Funeral Home and burial was in the Hillside Cemetery, Ridgeville. Bro. Max Craddock, assisted with the funeral.

WHITFIELD

On Wednesday, February 12, 1964, Sister Gertrude Robena Whitfield passed away at the Plummer Memorial Hospital at Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario.

Left to mourn her departure are: her beloved husband, Howard Whitfield of Thessalon Station; her children, Gladys, of Toronto, Mrs. Frank Seabrook (Alma), Clifford, Emma, Mervyn, and Jerald, all of Thessalon, Mrs. Alonza Davison (Evelyn) and Clarence of Meaford, Mrs. Paul Barnes (Doreen) of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario; her five sisters and two brothers, one hundred and sixteen grandchildren, great grandchildren, and great great grandchildren, besides a host of other relatives and friends.

The death of Sister Whitfield was the first break in a family of eight brothers and sisters.

Sister Whitfield was married to Brother Whitfield sixty-two years ago last July 3. She was baptized some seventy years ago and according to human judgment remained faithful to her Lord until death.

Funeral services were conducted in the North Livingston meetinghouse where a large number of relatives and friends gathered to pay their last respects. Among them were eight Gospel preachers from various Ontario churches. The interment was at the mortuary of the Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Before Sister Whitfield died she requested that her funeral sermon not be filled with statements concerning her but that the audience (and especially the young people) be reminded that she couldn't come back to them but they could come to her.

The services were conducted by the writer, ably assisted by Brothers A. A. Gallagher, John Whitfield, and William Bunting.

REIMNEITZ

The Windsor congregation was saddened by the sudden passing of Brother Jules Reimneitz early in March. A young man, Brother Reimneitz had suffered a great deal with a serious heart ailment.

Jules was a man of faith and courage, and he was just getting his strength back when death took him.

Brother Reimneitz leaves to mourn, his wife Dorothy, and two small children, David and Debbie, as well as a host of relatives and friends. The funeral service was conducted at the Anderson funeral home in Windsor by Adam Bruce, one of our elders, assisted by the writer. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord".

GILROY

This is to record the passing on Monday, March 16th, 1964 of Freeman Gilroy, father of Sister Gladys Stevens of the Pine Orchard congregation. Although in his 96th year, Mr. Gilroy was very active until about a year ago; in fact, he was out skating at the age of 90. Funeral services were held on Wednesday, March 18th, at the Rose-Roadhouse Home in Newmarket, at which time the writer spoke a few words of comfort to the bereaved, and gave words of warning to the many friends gathered to pay their last respects. Interment was made in the Pine Orchard cemetery.

home for some six years. In July of last year brother Norman Midgette began working with the congregation. This residence is now debt free and the church is now ready for the challenges of the future to preach the gospel at home and abroad.

Though they are not all meeting with the Church at Jordan now, there have been 167 baptisms and restorations over the past seventeen years. The membership has more than doubled and the collection has increased over 500%.

At the present time plans are underway for a new congregation to begin in the Niagara Peninsula, possibly at Wellandport. By the time this issue of the Herald is received into your home the congregation will probably be meeting. The eyes of the congregation are on spreading the gospel and to this end we are dedicated. Through the prosperity that has been granted the Christians here by the Lord, four gospel preachers were supported fully or partially last year. We hope to increase in this area of labor.

Jordan has three men, Art Corbett, George Johnson and Philip Wismer who are sincerely interested in their responsibilities as elders. With them, Bob Wills, Merle Rubel and Carl Shaver are serving capably as deacons. This scriptural arrangement in organization has proven to be one of the real assets to the work of the Lord at this place.

With the contribution at the present averaging $334.00 each week and a membership of 135, we are anticipating a greater work with the Lord in the future. We ask for your prayers in this most challenging work and most rewarding endeavor.

THE BODY OF CHRIST

Keith T. Thompson

The psalmist praised God and gave thanks "for I am fearfully and wonderfully made." (Psalms 139:14 ASV). Men have long been amazed at the wonder of the human body. Many writers, both ancient and modern, have used the body as an example of unity and cooperation. Plato drew a picture in which the head was the citadel; the neck was the isthmus between the head and the body; the heart was the fountain, and the veins the canals. Menenius Agrippa gave a fable of the body to urge unity to a divided Rome.

The most significant use of the body is that found in the New Testament where the church is called the body of Christ. 1 Corinthians 12:12-27 is the most extensive treatment of this theme. Please take a moment to read that passage before continuing with this article.

There Are Many Members in One Body

The passage can be outlined under four main points. The first, stated above, is gleaned from verses 12 and 13. Verses 1-11 reveal the diversity of gifts in the Corinthian church. Though there are varieties of gifts, there is the same Spirit (vs. 4). Thus, there can be unity in the midst of diversity.

He illustrates his point by drawing attention to the human body, which is made up of members differing widely from each other in appearance and function, yet together they form a completely harmonious whole. The church is not a mechanical organization, but a living organism. Romans 12:4, 5 says "For as in one body we have many members, and all the members do not have the same function, so we, though many, are one body in Christ, and individually members one of another."

The reference to baptism in verse 13 shows that all members entered the body in the same way. Baptism, like the Lord's supper, emphasizes the unity of the body of Christ. The spirit gives life to the church. Spirit is translated from the same Greek word that is

by E D Wieb

"Take care and be on guard for yourselves and the whole flock over which the Holy Spirit has appointed you bishops and guardians, to shepherd the church." (Acts 20:28 Amplified N.T.)

Perhaps when the history books of the church record the present age, one of the great and grave weaknesses that will be evident in the church of this generation will be the lack of leadership among the elders of our congregations. It is truly acknowledged that no group of people will rise above or go beyond its leadership and so, certainly, much of the responsibility for our lack of progress and our failure to do the task that is before us must rest on the leaders of the church.

There is, however, one area in which I feel that the church is equally weak, and that is in the failure of so many congregations to be scripturally "organized." Why is it that so many of our congregations do not have appointed elders? Even congregations that are decades old do not have men in the office of the bishop to shepherd the flock.

We dare not deny that the autonomy of the local congregation is

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

Address by Blenus Wright at the Christian Education Fellowship Dinner, Great Lakes Christian College Lectureship, January 24, 1964.

Dedication

I dedicate these remarks to Mrs Dan Weib and Mrs Geoffrey Ellis, the wives of the Presidents of our Christian Colleges. They are the stalwart, never-failing support behind the two young Presidents, who, along with their wives, are giving their best years in a courageous and oft-times trying and discouraging task of providing a Christian education for our children and our children's children. Being the wife of a President is more than being a homemaker and a mother. It is the sharing of the problems, joys, discouragements, hopes, and frustrations of a floundering institution. It is the patient waiting for a weary husband to come home after a long, hard day, coping with the innumerable perplexities of administration, or the waiting for an exhausted companion to return after a long trip made for the purpose of keeping the glow of Christian education alive in Canada. Thank God for young men with a keen vision, broad shoulders, willing determination, and unselfish motives. Thank God for their wonderful wives who steady the ladder as these two men climb onward and upward toward their goal of furnishing our country with more and better Christian education.

What Is Christian Education?

Education is the sacred cow of our automated, computer-controlled, space-age society. "In the light of these critical times, higher education is not simply a good thing to have; today higher education is power. It is increasingly looked upon as a national asset. Through higher education we can find the knowledge and the wisdom to provide in larger numbers the thinkers, innovators, and leaders—in moral as well as material precepts—that are desperately needed to maintain and further the dignity and worth of all the children of God." (Horizons, Summer, 1963)

We have an accelerated and diversified education in an expanding and changing universe. But what does education do for man? It makes him a man well-informed. What is the fallacy of the well-informed man? Alfred North Whitehead observed in 1929 that "a merely well-informed man is the most useless bore on God's earth." (Ibid.) Why? Because he has forgotten that Solomon said that the whole duty of man was to fear God and keep his commandments. Modern man, in many instances, is trying to know something about everything, but his labour is in vain because he knows nothing about God Who made everything.

Securing an education is more than a mere accumulation of facts. It involves "the understanding of relationships, the development of deeper meanings, and a sense of inter-relatedness of all these in a total world view. Each person should be helped to see the purpose for which God has created him and to realize that purpose in the activities and endeavors of his own life." (Frank Pack, in Horizans, Summer, 1963) The problem with education is the fact that it supplies knowledge in all branches of life, but gives none of the roots.

When we add Christianity to education then education takes root, for "the soul of education is the education of the soul." (Norvel Young, in Minister's Monthly, April, 1964) William Lyon Phelps suggests:

Everyone who has a thorough knowledge of the Bible may be called educated, and no other learning or culture, no matter how exclusive or elegant, among Europeans or Americans can take its place. Western civilization is founded upon the Bible. Our ideas, our wisdom, our philosophy, our literature, our art and ideals come more from the Bible than from all other books put together . . . I thoroughly believe in a university education for both men and women; but I believe a knowledge of the Bible without a college education is more valuable than a college course without the Bible.

The Bible gives meaning to life and education, because the Bible portrays people who lived in this world of ours, who faced similar problems and who believed in the same God for a solution to their puzzlements. The Biblical pictures puzzlements. The Biblical pictures of man are not "those of a sex-ridden toplasm driven by social and frugal forces in a class struggle; they are of a man looking into the heavens and saying: What wouldst thou have me to do, Lord? Herein are contained the pictures of Cain's jealousy of Abel; Abraham's devotion to God; Jeremiah's concern for Israel; Job's suffering and faith; Jonah's rebellion and turning; Peter's denial; Ruth's dedication to her husband's family and to her newly found God." James W. Culp, in Horizons, Summer, 1963)

Since the Bible is the foundation of Christian education, we have Christian education in the home, the church, and the school. Primarily, we are concerned to-night with the school. The Christian college is chiefly interested in the growth of the whole man—intellectually and spiritually, physically and socially. "The Christian college is obligated, by its very nature, to strive for excellence in every area of its life and work. To be less than Christian or less than a college is to renounce its unique role in higher education." (Abilene Christian College catalogue) Christian education at the very least should be the process of training and developing knowledge, skill of mind, and the life and character of the student whether in matters sacred or secular, in an environment and in a manner that is truly Christ-centered and in harmony with His will." (Minister's Monthly, Feb., 1954)

Education based on the Bible can fit us all for a better tomorrow for "all scripture is inspired of God and is profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, and for training in righteousness, that the man of God may be complete, equipped for every good work." Here is the point at which education fails. The greater part of present - day education is divorced from the Bible. "The twentieth century has placed too much value in training the student for a profession instead of training his mind for finding the meaningful and useful life." (James W. Culp, Ibid.)

(We have examined four general statements of what the Holy Spirit will do for Christians. These are means through which the Spirit strengthens the inner man. Our attention is now turned to "Providence" and to some personal testimony of the Spirits's work).

"Providence" and Personal

Should a child of God be ashamed to say, This is what the Spirit has done for me? Very strangely, we avoid this, and talk rather freely about what "Providence" has done for us. We wish to pronounce no judgment upon those who continue to use this term, but only ask for a consideration of what we are doing. The word "Providence" may be said to be a Bible word in that it is a form of the word "provide", and comes from an original term found several times in the text. Yet, without exception this term refers, NOT to something God does for man, but to something man does for himself. This is the term we choose to use as a description of those special blessings which God makes for our lives. In so doing we studiously avoid the use of such language as, "the Spirit did it for me".

In all of this let us remember that there is no competition between God and The Spirit for our attention and thanksgiving. The only advantages to the language forms used in describing the Special Help we receive from heaven are that we use that language which was most like what the Apostles used, and that we promote a clearer understanding of what is actually happening, rather than clouding the relationships with the Divine, and taking credit to ourselves which we could never earn.

In the light of this, there are some things I believe the spirit has done for me. There is no boast in this, for as was said concerning the possession of the Spirit, in the last lesson, such could not be deserved. Will you prayerfully consider these?

I. There have been times when discernible facts, perceptible truths or explanations of logic left me to continue in the Christian faith. As one looks back upon such scenes he may wonder what he did continue? Should I be ashamed to attribute this to the working of the Holy Spirit?

II. Some worship experiences stand out above the others of a "routine" Christian life. The gospel message presented upon such occasions was the same old story of the cross which we have heard and proclaim hundreds of times. The audience, the environment were ordinary; yet the results were extra-ordinary. From such an experience we have come away renewed, refreshed and firmly resolved to rededicate our energies to God's service, and have found ways of doing so.

III. Every gospel preacher has shared opportunities to teach the lost which he could not have arranged by human wisdom. He gives thanks for the challenge, and does the best that he can. He may admit that he will never KNOW how it all came about. We ask again, should one be ashamed to say, The Holy Spirit was at work—He gave me an opportunity? Should we rely only on the expression of belief in Providence?

God is no respector of persons. Believing that the Holy Spirit has done these and many other wonderful things for us, we believe that He will do them for you, if you are God's child and ready to receive the help He offers.

THAT CHRIST MAY DWELL

The object of the strength is that Christ may dwell in our hearts through faith. Our inclinations have been to make this as impersonal as the indwelling of the Holy Spirit. "By faith" means through the Word, and as the Word is taken into our hearts, so Christ is taken in. A consideration of some other translations will help us to rise above this.

Goodspeed: ". . . and through your faith to let Christ in his love make his home in your hearts."

K Wuest, expanded translation: "That Christ might finally settle down and feel completely at home in your hearts."

ASV: uses through faith instead of by faith.

Gal. 2:20, "I am crucified with Christ; nevertheless I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me . . ." Phil. 1:21, "For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain."

Conclusion

We admit, there remain problems, and even mysteries. "Of what spirit God is or what the Spirit of God is like, we discover not (alone) by looking directly to him, but by looking to Jesus of Nazareth whom God by the bestowal of His Spirit hath made to be both Lord and Christ. It was this bestowed Spirit that drove Christ into the wilderness to triumph over Satan and all the demonic powers that haunt our spirit and lure us to destruction. Prompted by the Spirit, Jesus gave sight to the blind, healing to the sick and broken-hearted, food to the hungry, liberty to the captive; by the Spirit he had compassion for the multitudes, good news for the poor. Induced by the Spirit, Jesus took our iniquities and diseases upon himself and made them hs own. When in Gethsemane the flesh was so weak that 'mere' contemplation of the Cross brought it nigh unto death and prompted the cry, 'Now is my soul troubled, even unto death,' it was the Spirit that was strong. The Spirit led him to the cross, and there through this eternal Spirit, he offered himself unto God (Hebrews 9:14)."

If we succeed in walking in His steps, it shall surely be through the strength of the Spirit, that He may dwell in our hearts by faith.

OUR DIFFERENCES

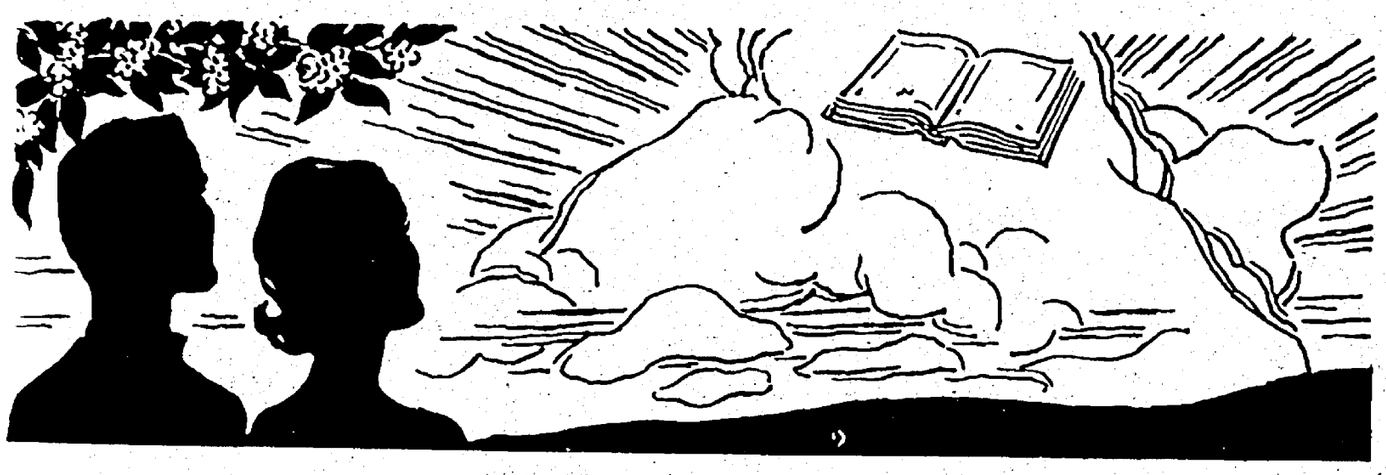
Congregations have personalities. Personalities have differences. Therefore congregations have differences. We realize that the use of the term "personality" to describe the nature of the congregation is not common usage nor is it completely exact. However, it is true that each congregation has in its life-stream certain attitudes, customs, habits, strengths, and weaknesses that are an index to its history and its future.

Anyone who examines closely the letters of the Apostle Paul to the various churches of the Mediterranean world will be impressed with the fact that each place had its own strengths and its own problems. The letters to the seven churches of Asia in the second and third chapters of Revelation illustrate the differing character of churches. The situation in Philadephia, for instance, was considerably different from that in Laodicea. We have our Philadelphian and Laodicean churches today as well as those with other characteristics.

In the last few months, this editor has been privileged to visit churches from Ontario to Texas. It has been our good fortune to discuss the work and condition of the church with brethren from widely separated backgrounds. We have visited in big city churches with memberships over one thousand and little country churches where a handful of saints gather in flimsy frame buildings. Our travels have taken us into churches that have the reputation of being rather liberal in doctrine and to others who glory in the fact that they are ultra-conservative. This has been a very enlightening experience.

One observation that has been impressed upon our mind during this period has been the lack of vision that congregations have toward mission work. Most seem to want to do enough mission work to soothe their conscience, but too often they are devoid of any spirit of sacrifice. Comfort, prestige, and efficiency at home preoccupy the attention of the elders and faithful brethren to a degree that neither money nor time are available for assistance in other places.

Attractive and comfortable buildings are being sold, torn down or completely remodelled in an effort to keep up with our denominational friends. Sometimes a change is needed. At other times it seems that a religious materialism causes brethren to lose their perspective and to become selfish.



In some cities where many congregation of the Lord's church exist, a considerable rivalry has sprung up with competition for members. Attractive buildings and comfort are attractions to woo members from one congregation to another. A congregation which lets its building get out of date or a little shabby finds its members drifting to a neighboring congregation where aesthetic appeal and comfort prevail. In some cases brethren involved in such a competition have not realized how competitive were their motives.

Despite the differences and the weaknesses of the various congregations across the country, it is wonderful and gratifying to see the health and vigour of the church in general. Many churches have a budget with at least one half of their financial strength going to other places. Some churches have a program of personal work and cottage meetings in which several such meetings are being held every day of the week. Attention is being paid to the young people of many churches in a way that they will experience efficient instruction in the Bible aided by the best methods and equipment. In general we have better qualified Bible school teachers than ever before.

This is a great and challenging age in which to live. In the natural world man is confronted with great opportunities accompanied by great dangers. A similar condition prevails in the church. Almost every great opportunity which presents itself to the church in this age is accompanied by certain inherent dangers. The only way in which we can

LAST WORDS OF A FAITHLESS MUSTARD SEED

by Roy Davison, Utrecht, Holland

(Editors note: The following article was contributed by Brother Roy Davison, now working as a missionary in Holland. Many in Ontario will remember Roy for the fine work he did in Sarnia. As a young man, Brother Davison is vitally interested in mission work, and I am sure he would be happy to hear from anyone interested in more information about the mission field of Holland. You may write to him at: Ad. v. Bergenstraat 31, Utrecht, Netherlands.)

Once upon a time, as I was going about from place to place preaching the gospel of Christ, and encouraging others to preach also, I came upon a mustard seed.

Now, mustard seeds are renowned for their ability, by the power of God, to become great shrubs; although at first, they must begin very small.

But alas! This was a faithless mustard seed. When I first met him he was sitting on a rock, bathing himself in the sun. And. as he sat there, this is what I thought I heard him say:

"I know that mustard seeds are supposed to grow into shrubs. But—well, I don't know if I like the idea of getting down into all that dirt or not. We have to be reasonable about such things, you know. I'm really not very big, and I might get in over my head. I might even start something I couldn't finish.

"Besides, I'm only a mustard seed, smallest of seeds. You can't expect much from me. I'd rather stay here on this rock."

"Say a blackbird in that bush over there certainly is watching me closely, I wonder what he has in mind do do?"

Let us not be as faithless as this imaginary mustard seed, but let us rather have the faith of the true mustard seed. "For truly, I say to you, if you have faith as a grain of mustard seed, you will say to this mountain, 'Move hence to yonder place', and it will move; and nothing will be impossible to you" (Matt. 17:20).

A SOLEMN THOUGHT

I was sitting at my desk late one Lord's Day afternoon recently, preparing my mind for the sermon of that evening hour. I glanced over my notes again and again and not till then did the significance of one of the points of my sermon really hit me. The statement was, "Our sins caused Christ to be crucified." It is true, young people, that we have known the truth of that statement all of our lives—but, have we ever really grasped the full meaning of it? Christ died, not only for us, but also because of us!

As we think about the terrible suffering that Jesus endured, we should never lose sight of the fact that he did so, not for personal gain, but because of the sins that we have committed. Each sinful thing we do today may "crucify . . . the Son of God afresh". As my mind was dwelling upon that sobering, solemn thought, I wrote the following little poem. It is submitted here in the hope that it may, in some way, help us to see the seriousness of our sins.

As I look back to Calvary's tree
And see the One who died for me,
One piercing thought comes now to bear—
T'was my own sins that nailed him there!

Each thorn upon that awful crown,
Each smashing of that hammer down,
Each drop of blood that flowed so free
Each stab of pain and agony!

And is He dying even now?
Is that still blood upon His brow?
Each time we sin—What ere it be,
Christ is again nailed to the tree.

HOW MUCH ARE YOU WORTH?

James B. Grotts
Princeton, Kentucky

It was recently anounced that the human body, once valued at a modest 98c, is now worth the staggering sum of $34.54 on the chemical market. How does it effect your ego to learn that you are only worth about as much as a cheap suit of clothing?

Fortunately man possesses something which makes him infinitely more valuable than the worth of the chemical contents of his body. It is true that God created man from "the dust of the ground," but he also breathed into man the breath of life, "and man became a living soul." The "dust" may only be worth $34.54, but the "soul" is worth more than the earth itself. Jesus affirmed this in his famous question of Mark 8:36.

Too many people, however, betray an ignorance of the relative values of their bodies and souls. This they do when they pamper their almost-worthless bodies while ignoring their priceless souls.

Suppose a young married couple has an income of $75 weekly on which to live. What would happen if they went out on Saturday night and spent the entire $75 on entertainment? How would they pay their rent? How would they buy groceries and pay the utility bills? This couple soon learn to budget their translated "breath" in other contexts. If our human bodies have no breath, they must be dead. The church, without the life giving Spirit is also dead.

Each Member Is A Part Of The Body

Verse 14 continues, "For the body does not consist of one member but of many." The human body needs all of its organs; each serves the function for which it was designed. The whole body is weakened if any part is lost or damaged. No other part can properly take the place of another part. So it is with the church.

There must be no self - depeciation by any part of the body. "If the foot should say, 'Because I am not a hand, I do not belong to the body,' that would not make it any less a part of the body." (vs.15). This, and other illustrations, demonstrates how absurb it is for one member of the body to refuse to function because it is different from some other member. Evidently disputes had depressed some of the less gifted members. They may have wondered if they had any right to belong to such an important body as the church, which included men of wonderful gifts. Feet, hands, eyes, ears and other parts of the body have their own peculiar function. How grotesque the body would be if it was made up entirely of one member! No matter how important one member may be, it cannot be the whole body. If all were teachers, who would be taught? If all were public preachers, who would listen? "As it is, there are many parts, yet one body." (vs.20).

Each Member Needs Each Other Member

"The eye cannot say to the hand, 'I have no need of you,' nor again the head to the feet, 'I have no need of you.' " As there is to be no self-depreciation, so there is to be no depreciation of others. Apparently some with greater gifts looked down on their less gifted brethren. But each member has a place to fill. And each member depends on each other member for help.

Some members seem to be very feeble. But appearances can be deceptive. The eye is very delicate, but how important it is! Some members of the church do not appear to have much talent. But they can perform a work that is equally important as anything done by their more talented brethren.

God planned the human body so there would be no dissension in it. The same is true of the body of Christ.

When One Member Suffers, All Suffer

"If one member suffers, all suffer together . . ." (vs.26) A common cold, a headache, a thorn in the foot, and any number of maladies can bring discomfort to the entire body. Modern medicine says that infection in one spot can affect many other spots in the body. An earache may indicate a bad appendix. A nervous breakdown can come from an infected tooth. Every member in the church needs to feel the pain of every other member. We must not only "rejoice with those who rejoice" but also "weep with those who weep." (Rom.12:15). Paul had "the daily pressure upon me of my anxiety for all the churches." (2 Cor. 11:38).

Verse 27 sums up: "Now you (collectively) are Christ's body and (individually) you are members of it, each part severally and distinct—each with his own place and function." (Amplified New Testament).

"You are the body of Christ . . ." What a tremendous thought! Christians are the body of Christ in the world today. If Christ wants a task done, a member of His body must do it. He is not present here in body to do it Himself. He depends on the members of His body to continue His work on earth. If Jesus wants a child taught, He has to find a teacher to teach him. If He wants a sick person helped, a needy family aided, someone taught the gospel, He must find a member of His body to do it. We must be His hands to do His work, His feet to run His errands, His voice to speak for Him.

He has no hands but our hands
To do His work to-day;
He has no feet but our feet
To lead men in His way;
He has no voice but our voice
To tell men how He died;
He has no help but our help
To lead them to His side.

vital to New Testament teaching, but so is the government of the local church. Perhaps we are not aware of the fact that church without elders is not a completed church for God intended that they be there. If God set elders in the church to minister towards the building up of the church (Eph. 4:11,12) then does it not follow that the congregation without elders is limping along when it might be runnning?

Is there a cause for the lack of elders? Perhaps not one cause but several might be suggested.

The first thing we must ask is, "Are there qualified men in congregations without elders?" The answer is, of course, yes and no. In some congregations there undoubtedly will be, while in others there may not be. It is the writer's conviction based upon observation, that there are men with eldership qualities who need to be recognized by their congregation.

It would appear that much of the problem lies in the unwillingness of the men themselves to be tied to the responsibility of being officially known as elders. Many men will do the work and possess the necessary characteristics, but when they are confronted with the idea of accepting eldership they balk, knowing that a much greater burden will be theirs. Very often men confuse "humility" with the "Desire to serve as a bishop" and as a result will refuse the office but will accept the work. Men of quality must learn to accept the responsibility of eldership for if they do not, less responsible men will.

Again, there appears to be a refusal on the part of many congregations to recognize and appoint qualified men to the position that God has ordained. For personal reasons, or perhaps because of an unscriptural understanding of the pastoral passages in Timothy and Titus, men are subjected to the kind of critical evaluation to which none, save our Lord himself, could measure up.

But perhaps the greatest reason of all for the failure to appoint elders in every church is that we have not really appreciated the fact that elders are an essential part of the church of Christ, and that without elders no congregation fully measures up to the pattern of the New Testament. Will the church of the next generation still have this problem? Certainly so, unless the church today begins a teaching program which will create a desire in young men to prepare for eldership, and unless the church today begins a very definite program to set the church in order by working towards elders in every church. This is not to say that we should set aside the scriptures concerning qualifications for it is our thesis that it is better to be scripturally unorganized than to be unscripturally organized but rather to say that definite and positive steps should be taken by every church to set things in order by appointing elders just as soon as men prove themselves to be willing and capable of accepting such an office.

money properly.

The currency of life is time. Each person is given a "salary" of 168 hours each week. The foolish person may spend the entire amount pampering the body, but the wise person budgets his time. He spends part of it caring for the needs of his body and part of it caring for the needs of his soul. Happy are those who learn this lesson early in life.

Bible Paradoxes by R. Earl Allen, Fleming H. Revell Co. (In Canada, G. R. Welch Co. Ltd). 238 pages, $2.75. (Canadian price).

In the Preface, the author, a Baptist preacher, writes that a good sermon should accomplish at least four things. It should stretch the mind, tan the hide, warm the heart and provoke the will!

Preachers are always looking for ideas for sermons that will accomplish these things. The paradoxes ("assertions or sentiments seemingly contradictory, or opposed to common sense, but that may be true in fact") of the Bible suggest many striking sermons.

There are twelve sermons in this volume. "Getting Through Giving" is a typical one. The sub-title is "The Best Beatitude" and it is based on the verse ". . . remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, it is more blessed to give than to receive." Another sermon "Rest Through Labor" is based on the invitation of Matthew 11:28. Reading this book should stimulate the thinking of any Christian.

Eusebius' Ecclesiastical History, popular edition, Baker. Paper $2.95 (plus exchange in Canada).

"Are you interested in the ecumenical movement? If so, then be sure to read Eusebius' Ecclesiastical History. This volume should occupy a place in the library of every gospel preacher and every serious student of the word of God. Not only does it supply the reader with a knowledge of the events which transpired in the primitive community of Christians for three centuries after the death of the Lord but it also reveals, (perhaps unwittingly) the unfolding by gradual steps of the great apostasy forewarned in Holy Writ. 2 Tim. 4:3, 4. It is most enlightening to read of the innovations cunningly introduced by Eastern philosophers whereby the common brotherhood of Christians and congregational autonomy are destroyed. Col. 2:8.

The author is a man of ability, capable of great things, and we marvel that he has been found a victim of the spiritual decline of his day which was climaxed by the inglorious Council of Nicaea, wherein was condemned and executed the right of personal opinion concerning the doctrines of Christ.

The Council of Nicaea is covered in a separate chapter at the end of the book. To read it alone should suffice to warn the honest Christian against legislating where God has not.

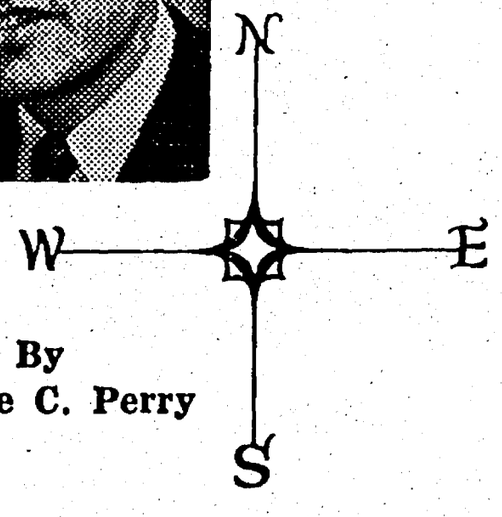
BIBLE QUIZ

II Timothy 2:15; 3:16, 17

The Bible is God's Word. It is the meat and drink of the spiritual life. Christians need to study it daily. These questions will help to indicate something of how effective your study has been.



CHRIST AND THE SINNERS

1. What did a sinful woman do to Jesus while he sat eating in the house of one, Simon the Pharisee?
2. What did Jesus say to the captors of a woman taken in adultery?
3. Identify the man Christ healed, and of whom the Pharisees said, "Thou wast altogether born in sins, and dost thou teach us?"
4. Of whom was Christ speaking when he said, "Suppose ye that they were sinners above all men? I tell you, Nay: but except ye repent ye shall all likewise perish"?
5. When Jesus received sinners into his midst, and the Pharisees condemned him for it, Jesus taught three parables that showed the importance of regaining the lost. Identify one of these parables.
6. On another occasion Jesus ate with sinners, and when he was condemned for it he said, "But go ye and learn what this meaneth, I will have ..... and not ..... : for I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance." Complete the statement.
7. Identify the affliction of the man whom Jesus healed and to whom he said "Son be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee."
8. Identify the affliction of the man whom Jesus healed and to whom he said, "Behold, thou art made whole: sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee."
9. Of whom was Jesus speaking in this statement to Pilate: "Thou couldest have no power at all against me, except it were given thee from above: therefore he that delivereth me unto thee hath the greater sin."
10. Finish John's statement concerning Christ and Sinners: "Behold the ..... of ..... that taketh away the sin of the ....."

ANSWERS: 1. Annointed him from an alabaster box, and washed his feet with her tears. Lk. 7:37. 2. "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her." Jn. 8:1-7. 3. A man blind from his birth, Jn. 9:34. 4. Galileans Pilate killed, or 18 killed by a falling tower in Siloam, Lk. 13:1, 4. 5. The parable of the lot sheep, of the piece of silver, of the prodigal son, Lk. 15. 6. Mercy, Sacrifice, Mt. 9:13. 7. Palsy, Mt. 9:2. 8. An important man for 38 years unable to walk, Jn. 5:5-14. 9. Judas, Jn. 19:11. 10. Lamb, God, World, Jn. 1:29.

HERE AND THERE

By
Eugene C. Perry

Nanaimo, B.C.: "Bro. Lynn Anderson did a wonderful job in conducting our meeting." There were 10 responses of whom seven sought prayers of the church and three wished to be baptized. A record of 75 on Sunday morning and of 61 in the evening and the fact that 22 visitors attended a total of 56 times provided much encouragement. A Nanaimo lady was baptized at Victoria on April 14.

Brother Hawkins of Victoria and Brother Foster of Nanaimo recently surveyed the work needs in the northern part of the Island and effort is to be made to secure another full-time worker for this area.

Vancouver: V.B.S. July 13-17.

Salmon Arm: This church of about 40 members has a small building erected in 1960, average collections of about $65 per week and an active program. It is in a rich fruit and farming valley of some 90,000 souls. Ronald Beckett of this province is ready to return from Freed-Hardeman College to take up this work if suitable support arrangements are completed.

HERE AND THERE

Edmonton, Alta.: The elders of the 25th and Geraldine congregation of Oklahoma City has chosen Edmonton as the place for a campaign for Christ to be directed by Ivan Stewart, their evangelist. The 50 Christians in the Edmonton area are dedicated to much preparation. They have 304 enrolled in Stewart's correspondence course. Dates for the campaign are August 11 - September 2. Assistance or enquiries should be sent to the Church of Christ, 25th and Geraldine, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, 73107. More workers are needed.

Medicine Hat, Alta.: J. Corley departed in early July after five years with this church and has been replaced by J. C. Clifford from Sunnyside, Washington. There are 23 members and average contributions for December were $57.50. The meeting house loan should be paid off this year and part of the preacher's support is now being assumed.

HERE AND THERE

Horse Creek, Sask.: One family moved to Victoria during the year. There are now 28 members. Much is being done to assist other places.

Saskatoon, Sask.: Albert Kleppe has departed and Wilfred Orr has now taken on the full load.

Swift Current, Sask.: The Kensington Park church in Kansas City recently took over the sponsorship of this work from North Weyburn. Plans are to complete building this spring. It will seat approximately 150 and have suitable classroom space. Plans also include a Gospel Meeting in March, a V.B.S. in July and a city wide campaign in October with a group of workers from Kansas.

Perryville, Sask.: There are 24 active members. Three young men attend Western Christian College. A V.B.S. is planned for the second and third weeks in July.

Wawota, Sask.: A full house said "good bye" to Ray McMillan on June 30 as he departed for India. Other highlights of the year were a V.B.S. in July, a meeting July 24 to August 4 with L. Fisher of Oregon and another in October with Bro. Burns of Regina in which two were obedient.

Weyburn, Sask.: A meeting during April with Lynn Anderson, the return of Betty Bailey after two years in Africa and a city wide campaign in August with the assistance of a group from Oklahoma are among the plans for 1964.

Regina, Sask.: The meeting house was finished in 1963 and a plan to become self supporting by the end of 1965 adopted. There were four baptized during the year. About seven are now meeting with the Osler St. congregation.

HERE AND THERE

Manson, Man.: There are 40 members in this church which helps support Eldon Davis in Brandon, Ray McMillan in India and Allan Jacobs in Swift Current.

Manson, Man.: "Bro. Bill Love of Erin St., Winnipeg, held a fine meeting for the church at Manson from March 29 through April 5. Attendance was not as good as we would have liked. Some visitors attended several services. Bro. Love gave us wonderful lessons. We are planning a V.B.S. July 5 through 10.

—A. H. Rogers

Winnipeg, Windsor Park, Man.: The new building was opened in 1963 at a cost of $72,000 which is about half paid and is expected to be retired by 1965. Attendance has increased. Average for Bible classes has been 74. There are 35 members with an average contribution of $90. This church is committed to be self supporting by the end of 1965. Three men are preparing to be full time preachers.

Winnipeg, Man.: "Brother Wesley Jones, of Barrie, Ontario, will hold a Gospel Meeting at Osborne Street, beginning May 31 and continuing through June 7. Murray Hammond of Osborne St. will hold a meeting at Fern Ave. in Toronto May 3-10.

HERE AND THERE

Sudbury, Ont.: A fellowship meeting is announced for May 17th with Woodrow Hazelip of Collingwood as the speaker. "With the recent increase in our support, it is nearly possible to devote our full time to the work." This means $250 per month regular support. Bro. Bailey should have more than this.

North Bay, Ont.: The North Bay church now owns a school bus to be used for transporting those who come to study. Average attendances are increasing each month. Two members were added on March 29, one by baptism. There are five classes each Sunday morning and a recent collection reached $191.00.

Owen Sound: On March 25 two were baptized following home studies for a few months.

Meaford: Woodrow Hazelip of Collingwood will be the speaker in a meeting May 24-31. Plans are to include the Shillong work in the India newsletter of which 600 copies are mailed out each month by this church. V.B.S. is announced for

ALASKA

There was no damage to the recently-constructed building of the 10th and B. congregation during the devastating earthquake in Anchorage though the building is situated in the downtown area where damage was heaviest. Neither was there loss of life among church members though many sustained heavy personal damage.

No word has been received from the other congregation in the Anchorage area (in suburban Mountain View) but it is believed that the meeting house and most of the members who worship there live outside the worst quake area.

CAMEROONS

Permission for French missionaries Donald Hindsley and Winford Wright to hold public gospel meetings in Douala, Cameroons, has been withdrawn because of Catholic opposition after it had been previously extended them.

The two arrived February 19 to visit their numerous contacts and survey the possibilities of American missionaries entering the country. They visited city officials in Yaounde, Edea and Yambassi with governmental approval and assistance. In each city large crowds gathered in open air meetings to hear the gospel and to receive tracts. Only in Douala was authorization for their meetings withheld.

The brethren expected to spend three more weeks in the country before returning to their work in France.

JAPAN

The first gospel meeting in Ibaraki province in 1964 was held in Kujihama March 1-7 and resulted in two baptisms. Preachers for the special effort were Bro. Ryutaro Yamaguchi, a teacher at Ibaraki Christian College and Bro. Shoichi Kikuchi, preacher for the church in Kukushima-shi.

ENGLAND

Bro. and Sis. William Jackson of Amory, Mississippi, plan to spend the next four years working with the church in England. They are presently considering two locations: Ipswich, a city of 120,000 which has been without a preacher of the gospel since the Robert Wingfields returned home in January, or Oxford, where there are three English members and several American service men and University students worshipping in the city of 100,000. John Fisk, a David Lipscomb graduate, is preaching there now but will have to return to the United States in December.

In Ipswich there are seven English and 20 American members.

BRAZIL

More than 2,000 students have enrolled in the 12-lesson Bible course which was first offered publicly by the church in Sao Paulo in April, 1963. A number have been baptized into Christ after first using the lessons as a guide to Bible study.

Bro. Leon Tester reports the baptism of Durval Aristides de Silva, age 47, who had preached for the Seventh Day Adventist church about 20 years. He had attended Bible study with the brethren in Sao Paulo for some time. His wife and seven others were also baptized into Christ.

Bro. and Sis. Tester will be in the United States until June 14 on furlough. They have visited relatives in Oregon, Colorado, Minnesota and California, and will be in Abilene, Texas, from May 3 to June 14, before returning to Brazil.

FORMOSA

Bro. and Sis. Robert C. Frazier and four children will be sent to Formosa by the church in Morrison, Tennessee, to work with congregations on that island. It has been the plan of Bro. Frazier to preach the gospel on Formosa since he first became a Christian in 1959. Previous to his conversion he had spent three years (1955-58) on Formosa with the United States Air Force.

Bro. Frazier and Bro. Roy Mullinax will be the only evangelists for the church on the island. There are five small congregations, serving over 12,000 people. All are in the capital city of Taipei. The four Chinese - speaking congregations have a total of 260 members and the American congregation has 60 members from 12 families of service men stationed there.

More than 2,000 persons are enrolled in a Bible correspondence course on the island.

After spending a year in language school in Taipei, Bro. Frazier plans to spend his time working with the native Taiwanese of the mountain areas. Of the 260 Chinese-speaking Christians, only 13 are native Taiwanese. The rest are refugees from mainland China who escaped to the island following the Communist takeover.

JAMAICA

At Faith's Pen, Jamaica, 19 have been baptized and six restored to Christ since January. In March Bro. Vermont Roberts baptized nine in a gospel meeting at Gayle. At Gayle the brethren, who had no place to worship, have built themselves a substantial brush arbor for $41.

MEXICO

The church in Mexico is now on the radio with the gospel of Christ for the first time in their history. Two broadcasts have been started recently by brethren in Sabinas and San Pedro, both in the state of Coahuila. Both programs are heard weekly.

UNITED STATES

Bro. George Bailey, preacher for the College Church of Christ in Abilene, Texas, delivered the first gospel sermon ever to be heard at a World's Fair when he spoke in the Protestant Pavilion at the New York Fair April 22. His sermon was carried on the American Broadcasting Company.

The following day, Bro. Bailey left New York en route to Africa where he is to hold gospel meetings in several countries, and then go on to Australia to preach in a number of meetings. The College church has supported workers in Australia for many years.

Toronto, Harding Ave.: Sandra Culp, wife of Peter, was baptized in March.

THE CHURCH IN TORONTO

Warren T. Whitelaw

The church in this city had its beginning with James Beatty of Ireland, a Presbyterian, who came to Toronto in March 1818. He was a student of the Bible and soon held to the principles of New Testament teaching.

In co-operation with others who followed in his steps a work was begun. They later established a meeting house on Shuter and Victoria Streets in the early 1840's. From this location the work moved to Louisa Street. A second group then began at Queen and Bathurst, they in turn moved to Dennison Ave. A group from Dennison Ave. moved to Broadway Hall in 1889, then to Brunswick Ave. and in 1902 to 557 Bathurst St. In the same year a work began in East Toronto which in more recent years became Strathmore Blvd.

The Bathurst St. church provided the nucleus for Maplewood and Fern Ave. churches and in May 1942 sold their building and moved to their present location on Bayview Ave.

The Concord church had its start from Maplewood and completed a fine building in 1963. Harding Ave. went from Fern Ave. in 1955 and in the same year Strathmore began a work at Ajax.

During recent months the Toronto churches have enjoyed the greatest fellowship experienced since perhaps the early 1920's.

On April 12, 1963 a joint "Training for Service" programme was held in the Bayview meeting house. Over 400 attended the lectures and workshops planned for the day. From this point congregational gospel efforts have been supported with greater interest by fellow congregations. In November 1963 a fellowship meeting was held at Fern Ave., Wesley Jones was the speaker and the theme: " '64 Is An Open Door".

The Second Annual Training Programme was scheduled this year on March 27th in larger rented facilities, namely Thorncliffe Park Public School. A "Metro-Wide" gospel meeting is planned for Sept. 28 to Oct. 2 in the Eaton Auditorium of Toronto. Otis Gatewood is the scheduled speaker.

"New Frontiers" plant the future history of the work in Toronto.

FERN AVE.

Fifty - two members of the old "Bathurst St." church began meeting in the building on Fern Ave. May 5th, 1910. Albert Brown was the first evangelist and remained with the church for eight years. D. H. Jackson then took up the work for seven years. These first 15 years proved fruitful and the church grew in numbers to nearly 200. In those days one would come early at night to be sure of a seat.

Many notable preachers have laboured with the church since those days and the church has enjoyed days of rejoicing, but also many of heartache.

The "1940's" were enhanced by the sending out of a new generation of preachers from Fern Ave. The first to go forth were Joe Cannon and Warren Whitelaw. They were soon followed by Keith Thompson, Murray Hammond and H. F. Thompson. Joe Cannon now works in Okinawa, Keith Thompson at Beamsville, Murray Hammond at Osborne St., Winnipeg, H. F. Thompson at Kingston and Warren Whitelaw here at Fern Ave.

In 1955 a group of about thirty left this work to begin in the northwest of Toronto a work that later settled at Harding Ave.

Recent years have been years of struggle, many faithful have passed on to their reward. However, during the last few months we have enjoyed a nice increase with a number of baptisms, several restorations and the addition of brethren who came to work with us, twenty-five in all. Of this number several have not remained faithful.

A highlight of 1963 was our 53rd anniversary "Homecoming Day". We had nearly 400 who attended during the day with morning and afternoon meetings well over the 200 mark.

On May 3rd, 1964 we plan another "Homecoming" with Murray Hammond, who begins a series of meetings on that day.

Our present membership is about 70 with a Bible school enrolment of 115 and a budget of $12,500. Our greatest need is "leadership" for the future.

OUR DIFFERENCES

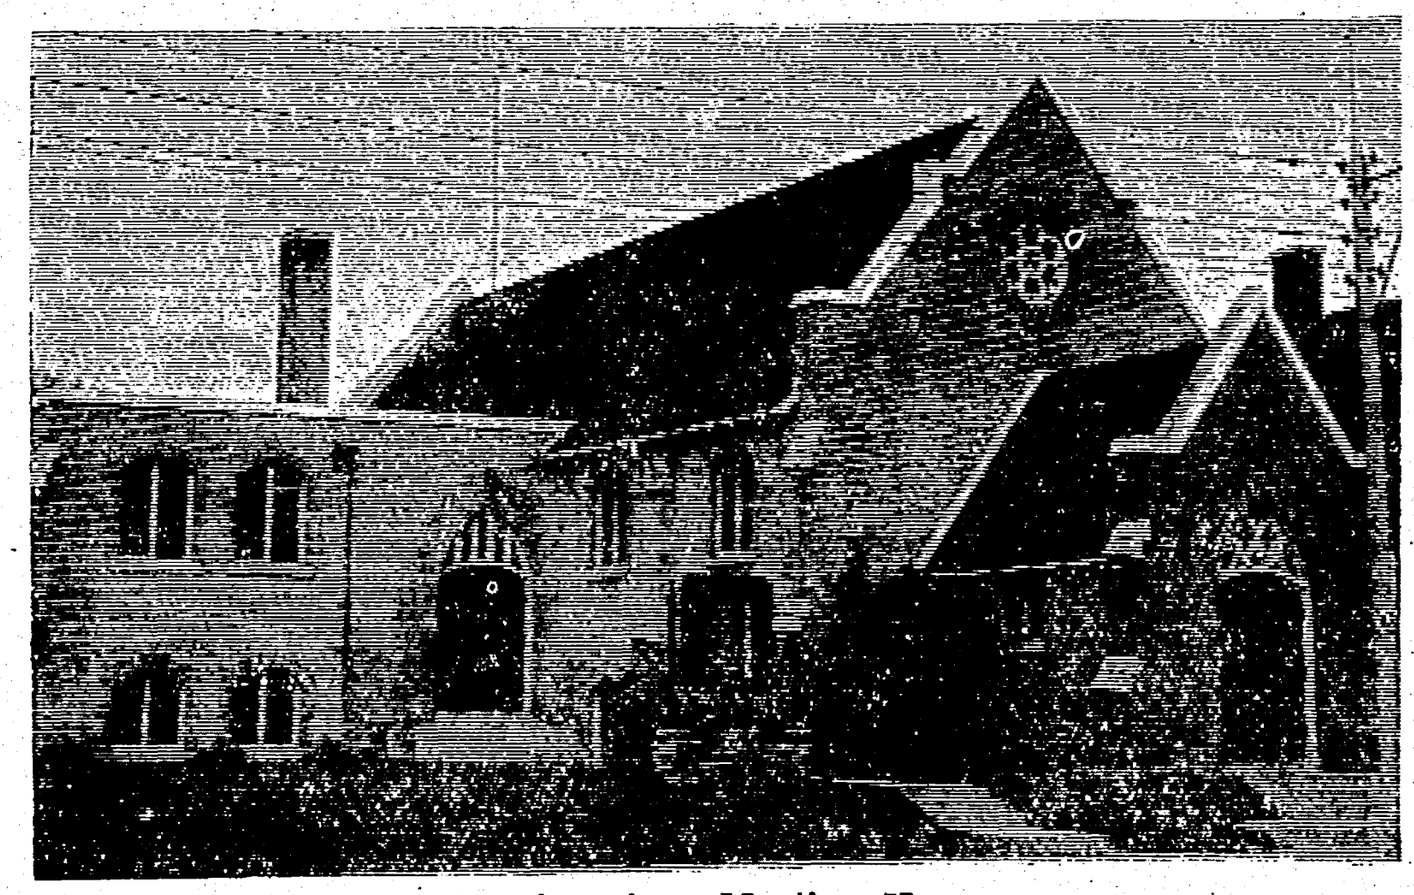
eliminate some threats to our pure doctrine and policy is to refuse to deal vigourously with our opportunities.



There is a danger that we may, as the one-pound man in the parable of the pounds (Luke 19), simply bury our opportunities for fear of the risks they present. In this case the Lord will remove our opportunity as well as our risk. We will have been unfaithful.

If you will look at the directory at the back of this issue, you will notice that it fills two complete pages. This represents considerable church growth across the Dominion since Brother Perry and this editor took over the publication of the Gospel Herald over ten years ago. The growth is only a fraction of what it should have been and perhaps could have been and yet it makes us happy. As a people we can do great things with the Lord's help in the days ahead. We are puny in numbers and we are scattered, but we are beginning to move.

Among the congregations represented in the directory will be found a considerable number of differing attitudes and emphases. Some will be healthy and some otherwise. The things that unite us ought to be, and we believe are, much stronger than the forces that would tend to divide us. We compose one Body. We are indwelt by one Spirit. One common hope is shared in a common faith in a unique Lord whom we put on in one baptism. God is our Father in a special and spiritual relationship. Differences may wax and wane, but we are brothers and partakers of a common eternal destiny if we remain faithful unto death.

BAYVIEW AVE.

Bayview Ave. Meeting House

The Bayview Avenue Church of Christ is the congregation formerly known as Bathurst Street Church of Christ which met from 1902 to 1942 at 557 Bathurst Street in Toronto, a short distance north of College Street.

The character of the area surrounding the Bathurst Street location changed to such a great extent through the 1930's and 1940's, becoming populated almost completely by Jewish or by immigrants from central Europe that the decision was made to sell the property and move to an area, the residents of which would be more likely to be interested in the message of New Testament Christianity. The move was in a large measure sparked by the teaching of Edward J. Craddock, of Nashville, Tennessee; as a result of his recommendation, Robert E. Box came to work with the Church at Bathurst Street and shortly after his arrival, the decision to sell and move was made; Brother Box worked with the congregation during this period, and during an interim period during which the congregation met in the Bedford Park Public School in North Toronto, awaiting construction of the present building at 1708 Bayview Avenue, one block south of Eglinton Avenue East.

Any history of either the Bayview Avenue congregation or the Bathurst Street congregation would be incomplete without reference to the beginnings of the Church of Christ in Toronto. The Church here was started in the early 1800's by James Beaty who was joined by John Bennett, Joseph Leslie and James Armstrong, some if not all of whom, came out of the Presbyterian Church after studying the New Testament and accepting it as their sole guide. These men organized as a congregation about 1838, meeting at the south-east corner of Shuter and Victoria Streets in a frame building until about 1860 when a brick building was erected. Subsequent moves were to Louisa Street and to Denison Avenue; from there a group moved to meet in Broadway Hall on Spadina Avenue south of College Street and then to its own building on Brunswick Avenue. This congregation then erected the Bathurst Street building at 557 Bathurst Street mentioned above, taking occupancy of it in 1902. Mrs. Malcolm Macnair, a respected and faithful member of the Bayview congregation is a grand-niece of James Beaty, referred to above. John Smart, the father of Fred R. Smart, was an elder at Bathurst Street and prominent in the move to that location.

In some measure, this congregation or some of its members were responsible for the establishment of the church at Strathmore Boulevard, at Fern Avenue and at Maplewood Avenue.

Some of the evangelists who worked with the church while at Bathurst Street were Brothers Cowin, Sommer, Klingman, Smith, Harding, Olmstead, McKerlie, Crouch, Coleman and Box.

The sale of the Bathurst Street building took place during war-time and construction of the new building on Bayview Avenue was hampered considerably by war-time restrictions. The congregation was unable to obtain a permit to erect the complete building but part of the basement was begun, in accordance with the larger plan to complete the building and in the autumn of 1943, worship was begun in the basement of the new structure, after having left Bathurst Street at the end of May, 1942. Among the ministers who have worked with the Bayview congregation since that time are R. E. Box, C. G. McPhee, H. McKerlie, Ray Dillard, Ralph Perry, Cameron Sinclair, D. Worley, Murray Hammond and now M. J. Knutson.

The membership at the date of leaving Bathurst Street was slightly over 100; this number was not maintained after the move because some members transferred to other congregations. About two-thirds of the members did make the move but the number of members dwindled until by 1949 there were only about 50 members on the roll; this number has gradually increased and despite the fact that several families have moved away to other cities during the past year or two, the membership now stands again at a little over 100 and the congregation has high hopes for an active and successful work in the service of the Lord.

The congregation, both at Bathurst and Bayview was without elders for many years; in 1949 while Ray Dillard was at Bayview, W. G. Hammond, A. S. Herron and F. R. Smart were appointed. Brother Hammond died in 1951 and Brother Smart resigned as an elder, although retaining membership in the Bayview congregation, when he took up his present duties at Great Lakes Christian College. Additional appointments of both elders and deacons were made recently and the leadership of the congregation is now as follows: Elders, A. S. Herron, John Paterson (since deceased), Rob-

STRATHMORE BLVD.

The Strathmore congregation this year celebrates its 40th anniversary in the present location. The church building is strategically located on the new East-West Subway which is now under construction. When completed our front door will face the Coxwell station.

A history of the church in Ontario, including the beginning in Toronto and particularly the last 40 years at Strathmore was ably and pictorially given by Bro. Grant Stevenson at the recent annual meeting, held March 13/64. Among the present members are two grand-daughters of one of Ontario's pioneer preachers. The first working nucleus came largely from Meaford and the old Bathurst church. Prior to the erection of our present building a number of families met at Main and Swanwick.

Among the early preachers were Scott Greer and Jack McIlroy. These were followed by Raymond Crumbliss, Charles Lemmons, Ernie Fletcher, T. J. Mitchell, Robert McCready, Ralph Perry and Edward Bryant, our present evangelist. It is interesting to note that Bro. Bryant, Sis. Bryant and their eldest daughter Careen were all baptised by Bro. Lemmons. During Bro. Perry's stay the Bible School was re-vitalized, minister's apartment converted into classrooms and a new residence for the preacher purchased.

Many young men and women from Strathmore have attended Christian Colleges. Most of the young men are now preaching the gospel. Strathmore has furnished the following preacher's and preacher's wives:

Art Peddle — Michigan
Howard Ewing — California
Olive Peddle — T. J. Mitchell's wife — Michigan
Robert McCready — Alabama
Geoffrey and Doreen Ellis — President and "Mrs. Pres" respectively of GLCC
Victor McCormick — Ohio
Bro. & Sis. Louis Pauls—Meaford
Joyce Dale — Ralph Perry's Wife — London
Walter Dale — GLCC
Bert and Muriel Thompson — Kingston
Ron and June Meecham—Penna.

Another young couple from Strathmore, Blenus and Audrey Wright had much to do with initiating "Target Canada". These two along with other young people from Strathmore Maureen Knight, Mary (Morren) Zavitz and Ron Zavitz, participated in the Western Canada Campaigns in the summer of 1961. Blenus was also in the group who went to London England in the first campaign conducted by Batsell Barrett Baxter. In the summer of 1963 two young Canadian Christians received their PhD degree. One of them was Gary Peddle. Gary and his wife Carolyn were Honour students through Harding College and after coming home Carolyn finished with one year University of Toronto College of Education and then taught in High School. Gary continued on with University of Toronto, doing post graduate work and winning several scholarshps. This past year they have been in Great Britain. In the Fall of 1964 Gary (Dr. Peddle) goes to University of Alberta, in Edmonton to a teaching position.

While a considerable number of highly trained young people have moved away and others are planning to move (each and every one has been surely missed too) the church has been blessed with an inflow of splendid Christian people from other places. The present membership is indeed cosomopolitan. They have come to us from the Islands of the Sea, from Great Britain, Europe, Africa, U.S.A., Canada (Nfld. to B.C.); from behind the Iron Curtain and from Meaford.

During the last decade a large number of new families of the congregation have settled in Scarboro. These fine Christian workers have high hopes of starting a work there in the near future. Strathmore has always held out a helping hand to missionaries and over the years has helped families in Holland, Germany, Africa, China, Japan, India and also in other places in Canada. During the past few years a greater emphasis has been placed on benovelent work with better organization to handle it. Last year and again this year the church budgeted amounts for Boles Orphan Home and the Herald of Truth Radio Program.

Out from this congregation went the original young families that started the church in Ajax. A young couple more recently is spearheading the work in Newmarket.

From an initial idea, proposed by Strathmore to the other city churches, to participate in some kind of city-wide teacher training plan, the Training for Service 'Good Friday' meeting at Bayview last year resulted. Another, bigger and better, is planned for March 27/64. From out of these efforts has grown the first Metro Toronto Gospel Meeting. The T. Eaton Auditorium has been secured and Bro. Otis Gatewood is to do the preaching.

This church places great emphasis on the Bible School. This year the School was departmentalized with the following supervisors appointed:

Pre-School — Eddie Doherty
Primary — Audrey Wright
Junior — Fred Whittington
Adult — Blenus Wright

Of interest is a recent innovation—whereby the pre-school and primary children with their (lady) teachers have their own opening assembly in the downstairs auditorium. The senior classes and adults have separate assembly upstairs. Already the church has seen the benefits in earlier arrivals, larger attendance average S.S. attendance for the past few months would be about 180 and months would be about 180 and on a recent Sunday morning (March 15th) it was 199. A splendid group of some 30 teachers teach in our closely graded school with 20 classes. Strathmore was one of the first Canadian churches to hold a summer VBS. This year it is planned to have both morning and evening classes.

The church here believes in plain Gospel preaching and in joyful singing. Some of the very finest of evangelists in the brotherhood have preached in our Gospel Meetings, including the late Jack McIlroy, John T. Smithson Jr., Wallace Layton, William Maderis, Roy Osborne, Batsell Barrett Baxter, Wesley Jones

MAPLEWOOD AVE.

On the first Lord's Day in May, 1907, in the district then known as Wychwood Park, a congregation affectionately known as "Wychwood" was established.

The first meeting house, constructed of wooden frame and painted white, was replaced in the year 1926 by the larger brick building which is still in use.

Bro. Colin Cameron Sr. and Bro. H. McKerlie, who have since been called home, and Bro. H. Bennetts were ordained the first elders to oversee the flock in the year 1923. Bro. Bennetts, who left for a few years to do the work of evangelist in West Virginia, is again filling the office of elder in company with three other elders, and assisted by two deacons.

Above photos show both the old and new meeting houses

Through the years many different evangelists have laboured with the brethren here for intermittent periods. For a great deal of the time the mutual ministry has been used, and most of the male members are capable of rendering service in public meetings in an acceptable manner. Several brethren have gone from this place to serve the Lord in other localities.

For many years the congregation has maintained a library of books, and members have been encouraged to study to show themselves approved of God. The number of books was substantially increased by the gift from Sister H. McKerlie of many valuable editions from the library of her late husband.

Courses of study have been provided periodically for teacher and preacher training, for personal work, and for guidance in holding cottage meetings.

Changes have taken place in the neighbourhood through the years, and the prospects for progress are hampered by diversity of nationalities, each with its own ethnic background, and by the location and situation of the building on a side street.

The brethren at Maplewood Ave. have long been known for their love of singing and their hospitality. A warm welcome awaits all visitors to our meetings.

HERE AND THERE

St. Catharines: "The church in St. Catharines just ended a very successful meeting with Bro. Wesley Jones of Barrie doing the preaching. His sermons were excellent, with soul searching power. The Gospel was proclaimed without fear or favour. The attendance was good throughout. On Sunday morning, April 12, we had 208 present. Sometime previous to the meeting one lady was baptized and her husband restored. Throughout the entire meeting the interest was good, with visiting brethren from many places and outsiders from the city.

Four were baptized, three young ladies and a mature man, also one lady was restored to the fellowship. Many more were affected by the Gospel and doubtless we will reap the benefits in time to come."

—Charles G. McPhee

A V.B.S. is planned for July 6-10.

Windsor: "There were two responsos at my recent gospel meeting in Princeton, Kentucky. Here in Windsor, we are looking forward to our spring meeting with Bro. J. C. Bailey Jr. doing the preaching, and our fall meeting with James B. Grotts, of Kentucky. We face many great challenges here, not the least of which is the size of our city — nearly 120,000 souls. Pray for us."

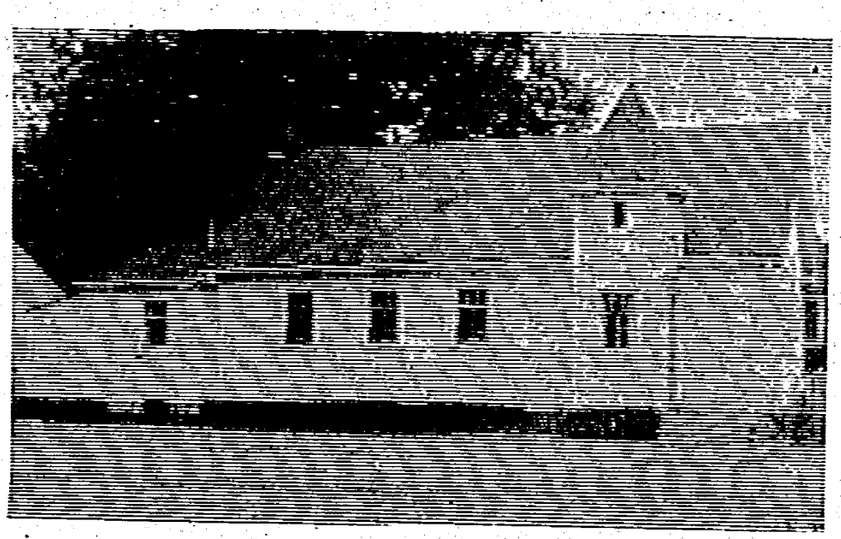
—Ray L. Miller

Ottawa: Two were baptized on February 15 and one on February 16. On March 20 four people were baptized into Christ.

WEDDING

CONRON — JACKSON

A pretty wedding between Barbara Eve Jackson and Paul Roy Conron was solemnized March 21st at Bayview Avenue Church of Christ.



The reception was held in High Park, at the Grenedier restaurant. A host of friends and relatives were here to join with the young couple in celebrating the happy occasion.

The happy young couple are both teachers. They now reside on Bathurst Street. They are both faithful members of the Bayview congregation and we pray God's richest blessing upon them, that their lives might be a rich blessing unto the Lord. The writer officiated.

THE HARDING AVE. WORK

We began meeting in a hall on Bicknell Ave., Keelesdale district on July 17th, 1955. We only had the use of the hall on Lord's days. Our meetings continued here for one year and a half. While worshipping in this location we discovered a church building belonging to the United Church for sale. It was frame, had no basement or washrooms, but was well constructed.

Harding Ave. Meeting House

We had only $1,000.00 and had to give a mortgage for the balance. Many things needed doing before we could use the building. We dug out a part of the basement and built the wall, put in washrooms, had a heating system installed, also a baptistry, painted it both inside and out, had to buy seats, and many other things, all with our own labour.

There were twenty-eight members that began this work: Bro. G. M. Johnson preached our first sermon, and continued to come one Lord's day a month. Bro. L. J. Keffer was another one that preached for us. Bro. Lehman also came once a month. Bro. H. Bennetts was another preacher we had. There were many other speakers that helped this work; we are not able to name them all but wish to say thank you.

Later on we had a contractor excavate the balance of the basement and put in classrooms. We now have seven classrooms.

Bro. Keith Thompson held our first protracted meeting. Later Bro. Claude Wilsford, Bro. Wm. Bryson, Bro. Dave Fraser all held meetings. Bro. Fraser worked as a full time preacher for us for 10 months. We have now had Bro. J. Justin for a year. These are the only full time preachers we have had.

Our membership is now 65. Some of our members have moved away, others have come to worship with us, so this about balances our membership. Since our beginning five have passed on to their reward. Twenty-six have been baptized since this work began. One of these has not been faithful. But, we do not close on a sad note as six were baptized in 1963, and one in March, 1964.

Fraternally yours,
J. A. Grainger

OUR DEPARTED

CROWE

On March 30th, 1964, Naman Sylvester Crowe, suddenly passed from time to eternity. While working at the Provincial Paper Company, he suffered a heart seizure, and was rushed to the General Hospital in St Catharines, where he passed away shortly afterwards.

Mr. Crowe was born in Gainsborough Township and lived there all his life.

He is survived by his wife; six sons, Leo, Wesley, Carson and Kenneth of R.R. 3, Fenwick; Allen, R.R. 2, Welland and Roger at home; a daughter, Mrs. Edgar Haggerty, of R.R. 2, St. Ann's; two sisters, Mrs. William Hipwell, R.R. 2, Fenwick, and Mrs. Wesley Cook, Strathoy, and ten grandchildren.

Bro. Max Craddock assisted with the funeral which was held at the Lampman Funeral Home, Fenwick, with burial in North Pelham Cemetery.

PATERSON

Bro. John Paterson born in Edinburgh Scotland came to Canada at the age of thirteen. He died Lord's day, April 12th in the Wellesley hospital here in Toronto, at 9:10 P.M., after a lengthy illness of eleven weeks. Bro. Paterson had lived a healthy, active life and reached the age of 71. He lived most of his life in Toronto, and was a commercial artist by trade.

Bro. Paterson obeyed the gospel in 1912 at the age of nineteen. He was a very dedicated Christian having been a member of the Lord's Church for over fifty years. He had a fine knowledge of God's word and was always ready to do his share in teaching the Word. He served as one of the elders of the Bayview congregation until his death. His example and influence will continue to be felt in this congregation for years to come. How true, "He being dead, yet speaketh". He was always ready to put his hand to the plow to do the work of the Master.

He was also a devoted husband and father. He married Miss Doris Glazier on Jan. 14th, 1918. She has continued with him through the years, tenderly caring for his every need, and now remains to mourn his passing. As well as one daughter, Sister Don Smith, three grand children, one brother Daniel Paterson of Toronto and one sister Mrs. Vessie of Ottawa, are left to mourn.

Funeral service was held in the Trull Funeral Home April 15th, at 2 P.M. Bro. Bert Atkinson of Concord was in charge, and in a very fine manner expressed words of comfort and hope to the bereaved. Assisted by A. S. Herron, an elder here at Bayview and the writer. Interment was in the Mt. Pleasant cemetery. —M. J. Knutson

CONCORD CHURCH OF CHRIST

Concord Meeting House

This brief account of the beginning and history of the Church of Christ at Concord is written from memory and may not be exact in every detail.

My association with the Maplewood Ave. church goes back about 40 years and almost from the beginning I recall attempts being made and locations suggested for a mission point in or near Toronto. The depression, lack of finances and the smallness of the congregation held back for some 25 years any definite work in the Toronto area. A work was started at Charlton Station in Northern Ontario and Brother Malcom Simpson of the Maplewood congregation took up the work of an evangelist there.

It must have been about the year 1948 that Brother R. Slater, then treasurer at Maplewood, (now of the Bayview congregation) proposed a building fund be used to begin a new work somewhere. Shortly after this, Brother B. Witty of Concord, who had been coming with his family in to the Maplewood meetings for some 20 years, offered to give from his farm in Concord enough land for a church building. This served to focus attention on the Concord area. Investigation showed that this farm property was about one mile from a new subdivision in which it seemed best to work. There was a public school in this subdivision and it was felt advisable to use it for the time.

As the Maplewood brethren met each morning and night, arrangements were made to hold services in the school building on Sunday afternoons. Meanwhile another religious group started a Sunday school in the mornings in the same place. After a while it was felt that the meeting should be held at night. Brethren Rockiff, Bryson, D. Perry, H. McKerlie and H. Bennetts assisted at these services over the years and when Maplewood was without a regular evangelist, the Concord work seemed to fall on me, at that time an elder at Maplewood. Cottage meetings were also held on Wednesday evenings.

As time passed and the results did not seem very promising, it was felt by some that a change should be made. After due consideration, the majority of the elders at Maplewood decided that it would be in the best interest of both Maplewood church and the Concord work if they were separated. The separation was effected and the Concord group of about 20 Christians were on their own.

Shortly after this a new school board decided to prohibit religious services in any of their public schools and we were asked to make other arrangements which we did. We prepared room in our home where we continued to meet until the church building was ready for use.

Two factors delayed the building of the church home. There were legal technicalities and when they were overcome, a considerable sum of money which had been promised towards the erection of the building was found to be tied up. The waiting time was used very profitably. We were able to estimate the size and type of building we could afford and design it accordingly. We and the people of the community are pleased with the results. The outside of the building is finished except for seeding the lot. Inside, there remains two balconies to be finished and some work on the basement. (Ed. Note: This was written in December and these items are likely more advanced by this printing.) As it is, it is comfortable and adequate for our present needs.

The building is of masonry construction. The sides are of a special rose buff, water repellent brick, and the ends are, rather appropriately, of angel stone. Centre end panels from the floor to the roof are of coloured Cathedral glass. Inside the laminated arches support a "Tectrim" roof material, chosen for its appearance, acoustic and insulating properties. The interior walls are of "Haydite" block chosen for the same reasons. The floor is vinyl asbestos tile on cement. The building is compact and functional and, depending on the arrangement of seats, will accommodate 150 to 200 in the auditorium and about 120 in the basement. The heating system is semi radiant and semi convector.

With the land, the property is estimated at $50,000 and is almost entirely free of debt, thanks to the efforts of many. We are especially indebted to Brother Mike Bachuk of Hamilton for his fine supervision of the work and for the economies effected in the building operations.

Presently, services are as follows: Lord's Day, 10 a.m., Bible school; 11 a.m., Ministry of the Word; 7 p.m., Worship and Communion. The young people meet monthly. Call AJ 5-5057 for details.

The Lord hath done great things for us, whereof we are glad.

—A. E. Atkinson

Our small group (18-20) are kept very busy trying to build-up interest in the community and to build up our Sunday school.

On October 20th we held the anniversary of the beginning of the work in the Concord area and we are very grateful to the G.L.C.C. chorus who did a very good job of making our special afternoon meeting the success that it was. The building was filled to overflowing with people from the community and sister congregations.

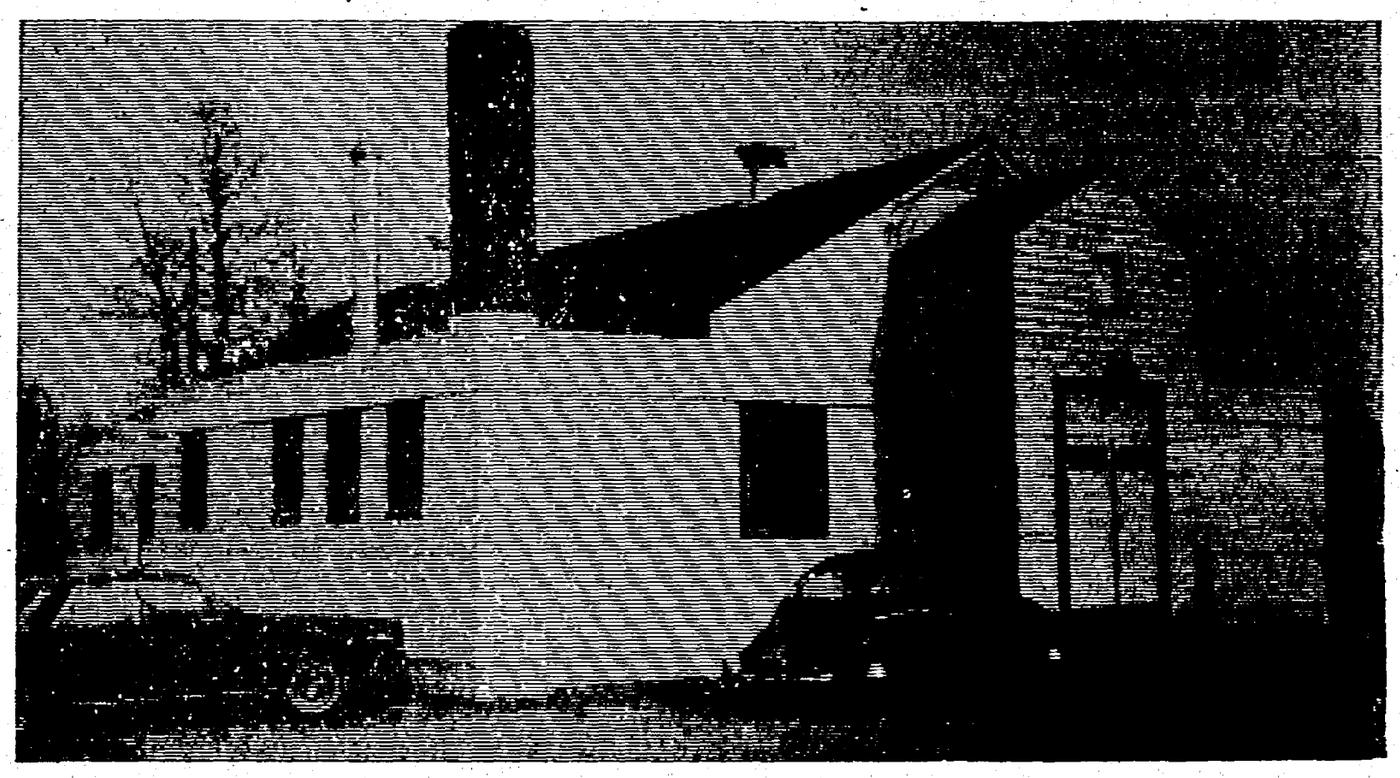
THE CHURCHES IN EASTERN ONTARIO



H. F. Thompson

As the nineteenth century drew to a close a number of congregations after the New Testament pattern were to be found along the north shore of Lake Ontario. Bros. Ash, Anderson and Trout (*) were among the most outstanding and hard working evangelists who carried the primitive gospel to the isolated pioneers and settlements. Churches were established in such centres as Scarborough, Markham, Pickering, Whitby, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Cobourg and others making a total of nine or more between Toronto and Picton. The number between Picton and Kingston is unknown. However, when the desire to go onward and improve upon God's perfection in His word swept through the country many of these assemblies fell victim to the instrument and missionary society and having left their first love soon lost their first identity and became one with denominationalism. Some congregations retained their integrity and struggled on until the faithful died. Having had no particular missionary zeal to teach faithful men who could teach others, extremely few were left to contend for the faith. Thus, in many cases, these congregations one by one ceased to exist. To the writer's knowledge there is but one church of Christ, Disciples, between Toronto and Kingston. It is located near Bloomfield in the Picton area. Assemblies true to the word passed away.

This is a sad commentary indeed upon such works of love bestowed upon this country in time past by the servants of God. Nevertheless, it does point to a great demand and wonderful opportunity for missionary work to be done. WHO WILL COME and WHO WILL SEND? We have the same challenge and opportunity as these brethren of old who have passed to their rewards—for the above mentioned towns and cities, along with many others, have no churches after the ancient order. Oh that there were not so many at ease in Zion; and Zion not so much just a happy thought in the minds of her citizens!

AJAX CHURCH OF CHRIST

Ajax Meeting House

The work in Ajax began in the fall of 1964 with a midweek Bible study held in the home of Bro. and Sis. John Sanna. On October 2nd, 1955 Bible school and a worship service was started in the Lord Elgin School each Lord's day afternoon. Bro. Geoffrey Ellis came over from Beamsville each Sunday to do the preaching. He preached to eight members who had formerly been meeting with the Strathmore Blvd. congregation. Assistance was also received from some of the other brethren at Strathmore. Little growth was realized for the first few months, but in the fall of 1956 the church at Ajax was able to obtain the full-time services of Bro. Clyde Lansdell.

With the help of the Strathmore congregation land was purchased on the main street of Ajax and construction of a building began in November. In January 1957 the church began meeting in its new building with a nucleus of fourteen members. During the first year, through the energetic work of Bro. Lansdell, five people baptized, and four others moved into the area. During 1958 four more souls were baptized and six brethren moved into the area.

The beginning of 1959 saw seven young people added to the church. Unfortunately during this period of very active growth Bro. and Sis. Lansdell moved to Meaford. Many of the new converts had had little religious background and much of the members' efforts were directed towards consolidating their membership.

Bro. and Sis. William Raney began to work with the church in the summer of 1959 and continued until August 1960. When they left, the church was without a full-time preacher until Bro. and Sis. Les Grant came in July 1961. Bro. Grant worked with the congregation until October 1962. During this year the church moved to its present location on Cedar Street.

During the time of Bro. Raney and Bro. Grant there were six baptisms. During the time that we were without a regular minister we enlisted the services of several of the brethren n the Toronto and Niagara district area. Amongst these brethren was our Bro. Arthur Jackson. When Bro. Grant left we were fortunate in being able to obtain Bro. Jackson's services on preaching assignments on a regular basis.

During the early growth years many of the new converts did not remain faithful. Bro. Jackson has proven to be a real asset in developing the faith and love of the brethren.

The church at Ajax has been blessed with the young people, one of whom Bro. Orville Junkin now com-

KINGSTON

Evidently there was a faithful group of Christians meeting in Kingston about sixty years ago. We are not told the size of this assembly and it is regrettable that microfilms of local papers have not revealed announcements of regular religious services. Immediately prior to our present history there was not a New Testament-patterned church in the city or surrounding countryside.

In 1952 a sum of $50.00 was sent from Knoxville, Sask. to the end that a protracted meeting might be held in Kingston Ont. where a member resided. The late Bro. D. A. Sinclair accepted the challenge and preached the primitive truth which resulted in the conversion of the member's wife.

Shortly afterward Bro. Bethel W. Bailey answered the call to come and work with this infant congregation which met in the Garrison home. Through his efforts some Christians were persuaded to move to the city and swell their numbers. Several meetings were held and excellent lessons presented by such men as Bros. Herman Mason, Geo. Snure and Carl Newman. Several additions followed.

Before long the Garrison home proved too small to accomodate their numbers and a new location was sought. This was found in a private dwelling at 14 Howard Cres. The church met here for several years until more commodious quarters were needed at which time (1958) the present property at 446 College St. was purchased. Although larger and more promising in many ways the building was in need of much repair and renovation. A new basement, heating plant, classrooms and chairs for the auditorium were among the first needs. Much of the labour to accomplish these ends was supplied by the brethren themselves.

Considerable work was done in Kingston Penitentiary and four or five converts were made. It is discouraging to report that all have since fallen away. Some work is still conducted with the correctional institutions but on a limited scale.

CORNWALL

The Church in Cornwall met for the first time in the home of Brother and Sister Thos. Hotchkiss, December 9th, 1956 with 9 present — six members and three children. Brother B. W. Bailey travelled from Kingston at least once a month for as long as he stayed in Kingston. He truly was a source of strength and inspiration to us in all that time. He also held our first Gospel meeting in June 1957.

Bro. Lloyd Bailey of Thessalon held our next Gospel meeting in March of 1958.

Bro. Cato Sheerer preached for us in a Gospel meeting in October 1958.

Bro. Jamie Hemphill came over from Massena and exhorted the Church every Sunday evening for almost two years. We are indeed grateful to all the Brethren who have helped to further the cause of Christ in Cornwall.

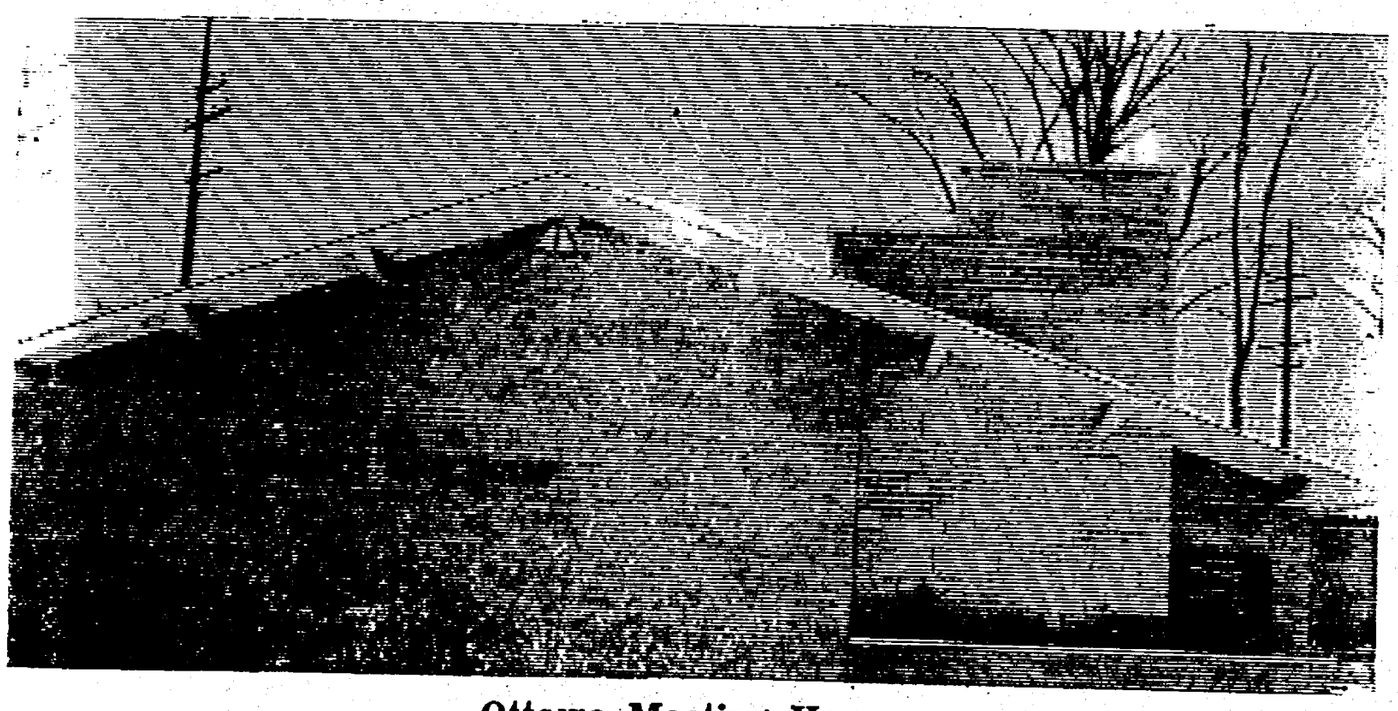
Since the Church started in Cornwall it has grown steadily. We now have an average attendance of 18-20 Sunday mornings and 12-14 Sunday and Thursday evenings. Twelve have been baptized, some have moved away, some fallen away, and others have stayed with us and are active in the work of the Church.

We have been hesitant to start a building programme as several of our members were insecure in their place of employment. As six of our members are now steadily employed, we feel the time has come to begin.

If the Church is to grow and become firmly established in this area, we must endeavour to get both a building and a permanent preacher.

Brethren — Pray For Us

Bro. Bailey laboured with the congregation until the summer of 1960 when he left to commence a new work in the city of Sudbury. He was succeeded by Bro. Bert Thompson, formerly with the Strathmore church in Toronto, whose services as evangelist will terminate this summer.



The church in Kingston has a full and useful programme: perhaps a little too extensive when there is such a lack of members to take part. There are eight classes in the Bible School with an average of five to a class. A craft class was in force for two years and had to be dropped for lack of personnel to handle it. A song, prayer and Bible reading service on the first Wed. of the month supplements our regular mid-week meeting study series. Attendance at all services ranges from 90 to 95%. We believe that this pattern could be wisely emulated by many sister congregations to the glory of God. Young people's meetings are better attended during study period than during recreational activities: another good sign. V.B.S. has become an annual affair with us and several preachers have volunteered to exchange services to aid us this year in a more concentrated effort.

Our meeting house is adequate for our needs for some time to come, having a seating capacity of around 100, a new baptistry recently installed and a total of seven classrooms plus auditorium. With these facilities we are in an excellent positon to teach and preach; but not to reach. Herein lies the responsibility of each Christian.

One of the greatest hindrances to this work has been and still is the lack of financial planning and backing. The history of this church has been one of constant begging just to make ends meet. We have no excess to apply against radio programming, advertising and future planning. Whoever comes to this area of labour must come with his own support plus some working capital. If the Lord's work does not require money for success why don't we have more success for there certainly is a lack of money?

Religious prejudice and indifference is as strong here as anywhere but it can be removed through personal contact and teaching the truth in love. A concentrated personal work drive is our second great need. Our first is some idea of the value of a lost soul. Consecrated soul-winners are the crying need of every mission area such as ours. Are you one of these?

OTTAWA CHURCH OF CHRIST

Ottawa Meeting House

If one could turn back the pages of history to the early months of 1958, he would find no congregation of the Lord's church in Canada's capital city. Now, however, there is a congregation of thirty - eight members meeting and working in this city.

The fact that Ottawa had no congregation of the church had been disturbing to many Canadian Christians for many years, but none was more stirred by this lack than Roy D Merritt. In 1958 the Merritts decided to leave the work at Fennell Avenue, in Hamilton, Ontario, and to begin a congregation after the New Testament order in Canada's fifth largest city.

A motel room was the site of the first service conducted in Ottawa, and the congregation for that service consisted of Roy and Nelle Merritt and their two children, Diana and Stephen. The Merritts soon purchased a house on Hamlet Road, and services were conducted in their living room until a hall could be located and rented. The most desirable hall available was near the present Billings Bridge Shopping Center, at Bank Street and Riverside Drive. Sunday morning services were conducted in this hall for two years; during this same time, Lord's day evening services and a midweek Bible study were held in the Merritts' home.

Before leaving these quarters for more permanent ones, the congregation grew to seventeen members. Some of this growth was brought about by Christians moving into the city; others, however, were converted to the truth during this period.

But the growth appeared to be retarded by the lack of a suitable place of worship. Accordingly, a search was launched for a desirable lot on which to erect a building. Once the lot was found, additional monies had to be raised before construction could begin. This help came from many sources, with many Canadian and American individuals and congregations contributing most of the original cost of the building. The Paden Construction Company, of Cleburne, Texas, donated the plans, and Michael Bachuk, a member of the Fennell Avenue congregation, supervised construction at a considerable savings to the church. Work was completed and the first services were held in the new structure early in 1961.

Those who attended the dedication services found themselves in a building of masonry construction. The outside walls are plastered, and the interior walls are of dry wall construction. There are laminated wood beams in the one-hundred-seventy-five seat auditorium. A tour of the building revealed space for eight classes, a nursery, elevated baptistry, and study. It was agreed by all that the building was worth far more than the $40,000.00 which had been invested in it.

The building was financed by the sale of Broadway bonds. One issue was floated, at a total cost of $25,000.00. Once again, the appeal was carried to Canadian and American brethren to purchase these bonds, and once more the help was forthcoming. All bonds sold were to be redeemed within fourteen years, making the building free of debt by 1975, but it is felt this debt will be retired long before this period has passed. The church in Cordell, Oklahoma agreed to underwrite the cost of the building and has sent $200.00 per month for the past three years. The Ottawa church hopes to be able to relieve the Cordell brethren of a portion of this obligation in the near future and gradually assume all this payment.

The Merritts remained in Ottawa until August, 1963, receiving their entire support from church in Nashville, Arkansas. Their fruitful work was terminated in order that they could be a part of the group beginning the work at the Lakehead in August of this year. Upon their departure the Dean Clutters moved to Ottawa from Dearborn, Michigan. The Clutters have three children—Diane, age 13, Kenny, age 9, and Cindy, age 7. The Clutters receive their support from the Broadway congregation, in Lubbock, Texas.

For the first quarter of 1964 the Ottawa church has averaged seventy-one in Bible study, about fifty-five for the morning worship, and over $140.00 contribution per week. There have been seven baptisms so far this year. The Wednesday evening classes, started only three months ago, average forty - five. Prior to January there was only one class on Wednesday evening, this being an adult class which met in the auditorium. There are now two classes for the youngsters, taught by Mary Zavitz and Ruth Clutter. Many neighbourhood children attend these classes.

On Friday evenings, during the school months, a class for young people meets at the building from 7:30-9:30. The first hour is spent singing, praying and studying the Bible; the second hour is devoted to a craft period. The average attendance for the Friday classes is in excess of forty. Most of the young people who attend come from the neighbourhood and are between ten and sixteen years of age. Four teachers are used for the Bible classes, and seven are used present-

INDIA LETTERS

Annex 19, Aspiran Garden,
March 25, 1964

The work in India continues to show progress. We have now our sixth congregation in the Madras area. The last one came into being on Lord's Day March 22. We had the privilege of baptizing 14 into Christ and then meeting right after that for the Lord's Supper.

We had a large crowd of Hindus to watch both of these events. Some of those who were baptized had been Hindus up to few days before their baptism.

We had three more services during the day and one more was baptized.

I was on the road before six in the morning and I was not home until after 8:30 in the evening. It was a long hard day but a joyous one.. Events are showing that the trials that the brethren is Assam have passed through, and are passing through, are turning out for the progress of the gospel.

If we are faithful God leads us to triumph in Christ.

Remember God has placed India on your list of responsibilities in a special way. Are YOU measuring up to this responsibility?

You can have fellowship with this work directly, or you can send to Maurice Buckingham, 1143 Henleaze Avenue, Moose Jaw, Sask. It is wonderful the way my brethren are supporting this work but we do not want any one to be left out as we march into India with the gospel.

Sincerely,
J. C. Bailey

P.S. I do not have the consent to use his name but one brother from Western Canada has sent $100.00 to help put out tracts. We have now printed over 260,000. This makes our quota for the first year.

April 6, 1964

We are now into April. April and May are the two hottest months here in Madras. There will be little change until November though.

On April 10 I leave for a two weeks trip into Andhra Predesh. If you do not know what that is, it one of the States in India. (I did not know either until I came over here.)

People continue to obey the gospel. Last Friday we baptized a woman. Yesterday we baptized two more women. This afternoon a young man is supposed to obey the gospel. We use every opportunity we have to indoctrinate these people. My fellow workers here are aware of this great need. Recognizing the need is one of the great things needful to meeting it.

I thought some individual or church would like to do a direct work here in India. We are now supporting four native workers. Is there some one who would like to support one or more of these workers. One of these workers gets only $17.00 per month in America money plus a little for travelling expenses. He is a good worker too. The other workers get more. Two of them considerably more. The top one gets a little over $80.00 per month in American money. He drives the scooter. If you would like to feed the orphans we are feeding that is costing us a little over $1.00 per week. There are three of them. We have some money sent for that purpose and we shall use it for that purpose while it lasts. We may not have this opportunity too long as they are talking about sending them to a Baptist orphan home.

When do we get reinforcements? With a work expanding like this one it would surely be a calamity if something happened to me NOW. I know it will take months at the best to get another man on the field.

GOD LAID THE BURDEN OF INDIA ON THE CHURCH. IT IS TOO BIG A JOB FOR ONE MAN.

I AM SURE A BETTER DAY IS DAWNING FOR THE WORKERS IN ASSAM.

J. C. Bailey

V.B.S. ORDERS

Brethren, we have V.B.S. kits out all across the country and desperately need some indication of what choices have been made. Please place your orders early or at least let us know your choice so that we can be sure to lay in enough stock to supply your needs when the time comes.

ly for the craft classes. Refreshments are prepared by the ladies of the congregation and are served just before dismissal each Friday.

The Ottawa church plans two gospel meetings each year and a Vacation Bible School. The spring meeting dates for 1964 are May 31-June 7. Ross W. Swindler, of St. Louis, Missouri, has been engaged for this meeting. A minimum of $350.00 will be spent to advertise this meeting. Four special ads will appear in the two Ottawa papers on alternate Saturdays, from May 9 through May 30. After the meeting, the stepped-up advertising program is to continue. Possibilities of using television and radio, in addition to the newspapers, are being explored now. Help for this is coming from various congregations in the States.

Vacation Bible School is scheduled for August 17-21 this year. Just before it begins a teacher - training program is being planned. A corps of experienced, professional teachers from Broadway, in Lubbock, is planning this program. The tentative dates are August 2-5. There will be day and evening classes. Teachers from neighbouring congregations are invited to come to Ottawa for this training series.

The Ottawa church hopes to be entirely self-supporting by the end of 1968; but, if things go the way they have been, this will be realized at an earlier date. Whenever this is, another congregation will be begun in another section of Ottawa, probably on the fast-growing west-side of the city.

We urge our readers to plan their visits to Ottawa over the weekends this Summer, and to meet with us on the Lord's day at 10:00 A.M. for Bible study, at 11:00 A.M. and 7:00 P.M. for the worship services. Mid-week service is at 7:30 on Wednesday evenings.

Brother Batsell Barrett Baxter has undergone surgery and will not be able to participate in the World's Fair opening as planned. Let us pray for him many fruitful years of service.

LAKEHEAD CAMPAIGN APPROACHES

A 19 day effort to begin a congregation in Port Arthur—Fort William, Ontario, is being planned by the Taylor Blvd. Church in Louisville, Ky., for Aug. 12-30, 1964. Four days of intensive personal work by 30-40 Canadian and U.S. Christians will precede 15 days of preaching in the auditorium of the new Gron Morgan High School in Port Arthur.

Taylor Blvd. Church is providing $6,000. from its budget to cover the central expense of the campaign, including an extensive advertising program in the twin-cities. Harold Hazelip, now in his 11th year of ministry with Taylor Blvd. and one of the speakers in the Wellington, New Zealand campaign in 1963, will preach the series. Joe D. Gray of Valdosta, Ga., who led the Wellington effort, will direct personal work.

Roy D. Merritt will work full-time with the new congregation. Bro. Merritt, a co-editor of the Gospel Herald, has proved his ability in new fields. He is presently working with Hillcrest Church in Abilene, Texas, and is being granted time from duties there to interest families in moving to the Lakehead to settle with the new congregation, and to raise assistance for a building program and work fund. Merritt's personal support at the Lakehead will be fully provided by Taylor Blvd.

The campaign is a logical step in the Louisville congregation's interest in Canada. They have been sending assistance into Ontario intermittently for 10 years. They believe Canadian Christians are demonstrating the value of all such aid by themselves sending evangelists into other nations, including those where U.S. citizens are not granted visas, as well as by their self-sustaining activities in Canada.

Port Arthur—Fort William, located midway between Winnipeg and Sault Ste. Marie at the head of Lake Superior, boast a combined population in excess of 100,000, in the midst of an unevangelized area with another 250,000. With no prejudicial barriers to break, and with several families moving to the twin-cities, the prospect is promising in Northwestern Ontario.

For further information about the campaign, contact the Taylor Blvd. Church of Christ, 3248 Taylor Blvd., Louisville, Ky. 40215. Reservations for lodging during the campaign need to be made soon due to the peak vacation August brings. Let your vacation count for Christ this summer—use it to help in this beginning effort!

Since Bro. H. Dale, who served many years as Elder, moved to London, the congregation has been ably served by two Elders—Grant Stevenson and Ed Haufschild and eight Deacons—Geo. Austin, Geo. Barber, John Cargin, Neil Deegan, Hilary Gill, Charles Harvey, Philip Scott and Horace Wade. Brother Wade is also Treasurer. These dedicated Christians meet monthly or more often to plan the Lord's work, with Bro. Bryant.

poses and prints our bulletin. Sunday School, which is under the able leadership of Bro. Mac Porter, who is also our secretary, now averages around 80, and has in the past run as high as 100. Vacation Bible School attendance runs as high as 125. The children of the members alone now stand at about 40.

The Lord has been very gracious throughout the years. Our present membership is 37 covering the area of Scarborough to Port Hope and Port Perry to Lake Ontario. We have added a baptistry recently. We look for further growth. Our building is located conveniently beside the 401 highway, and you are welcome to drop in if you are in this area.

TEN YEARS IN CANADA

Jim Hawkins, Victoria B.C.

On the 24th of this month, my wife and I will celebrate the tenth anniversary of our moving to Canada. It is almost impossible to believe that we have been laboring here in Canada now for that length of time. In recently looking over a list of the American evangelists currently in Canada, it surprised me even more to realize that I have been here longer than any other American currently in Canada.

As I look back on these ten years, I can see a great progress that has taken place in expanding the borders of the Kingdom of God. New congregations have been established in many dozens of cities and towns from Halifax, N.S. in the east to Nanaimo, B.C. in the west. Hundreds of men and women have confessed their faith and allegiance in God's Son and their Saviour. Hardly a month passes but what we hear through the pages of the Gospel Herald of some congregation which is either building a meetinghouse, rebuilding in a new location, or expanding their facilities in some way. This reflects the awakening of the brethren to the great challenges lying ahead. More and more we are hearing and seeing the incomparable message of the Gospel of Jesus criscrossing both the audio and video waves of our nation. The newspapers are being dotted with advertisements and announcements of the restoration of New Testament Christianity in communities all across our nation.

These things are all good, and it has been a great joy to me personally to see this progress made during the years of my stay here, and to be in a small measure a part of this forward march. But I believe, and I am sure that you will agree with me, that even though wonderful progress has been made, we are still moving much too slowly. From my observations of the work in Canada and acquaintance with it, may I humbly make some suggestion of areas in which improvements can be made.

One of the greatest needs of the church in Canada today, I feel, is for a dedicated leadership. Many of the congregations across

by Ray L. Miller, Windsor Ontario

(Editor's Note: Bro. Miller makes the following comments regarding this article: "I realize the Herald's policy of not including material that is controversial, (In certain areas and at the present time. K.T.T.), but I do not have any particular problem in mind but rather am referring to an attitude that seems to be growing all over. In Canada especially, we can ill afford any more splits over any opinion. People must be converted to Christ, not to man's opinion or doctrine).

A young preacher, so the story goes, was strongly criticized for preaching against smoking because so many members of the congregation smoked. He got the same result when in his preaching he pointed out the evils of strong drink and immoral dress; because so many of the members liked "a little nip" now and again, and also felt that how much of their bodies they revealed in public was their business. "Well then", he asked, "what can I preach on?" To which his critic replied, "preach against witch-doctors, there ain't one in five thousand miles of here!"

How aptly does this describe some of our brethren who are quick to rant and rave (and even work behind the scenes a little) to "prove" their point about the opinions of men. It has always seemed extremely dangerous and foolish to cause hard feelings and to "sow discord among brethren" over problems that are not really problems at all. Re-

continued

(Conclusion of an address by Blenus Wright at the Christian Education Fellowship Dinner, Great Lakes Christian College Lectureship, January 24, 1964.)

What Has Christian Education Done for Me?

Not enough—this is not the fault of Christian education, but of my own weakness in not taking as much advantage of it as I should have. Christian education has given me World-view. It has made me a citizen of the world rather than a citizen of the city. I appreciate more fully the meaning of life and my purpose in God's scheme. Christian education gives me roots which are firm and solid and an ever-flowing source of wanting to achieve something for the cause of Christianity. It has given me a firm faith in myself, a faith built on the promises of the Bible. It has given me a new vision, a new zeal, and a burning desire to climb to the heights of service to humanity, to give of myself that the other fellow may realize that there is more to education than the gaining of knowledge.

It makes me want to be more than average. Being average isn't really much of a challenge. I could make three divisions—the lousiest, the average and the best. When I am average, I am only the best of the lousiest, or the lousiest of the best. I believe that to whom much is given, much is required. If I have the opportunity to acquire a Christian education, then much more is required of me than of the person who did not have the same privilege. The further I go, the more I must be prepared to give. Karl Marx had a great deal of truth in the first phrase of his maxim, "From each according to his ability."

It is hard to explain what Christian education has done for me. It must be experienced. It has been one of the richest, most rewarding chapters of my life. I will leave you to answer the question in your own mind whether or not Christian education has done anything for me. I would say this—you owe it to your children to see that they go just as far as they possibly can in Christian education.

What Can Christian Education Do for Us?

Christian education will give us Christian youth; Christian youth will give us better homes; better homes will give us better churches; better churches will give us better communities; better communities will give us a better country; and a better country will give us a better world. Remember, "a better world begins with Me."

When I say that Christian youth will give us better homes, I mean that the divorce rate of graduates from Christian colleges is less than one per cent, compared with approximately 30 per cent in North America as a whole.

We have better churches as a result of having Christian schools. The church and the college work together. There is an interdependence one with the other. The college has to do with the physical sciences. The wonder and mystery of life can be seen all around us. It is in the church that this wonder and awe is translated in worship to God. Young people in a Christian college and in an atmosphere of church life find a complete and full understanding of all things around them. The laboratories and libraries of the world call our attention to great things, but it is the Bible that calls our attention to the greatest of all. With the college and the church working together in Christian education, our youth will meet Christ face to face. There will be many Sauls who will become Pauls. "When the educated Saul started out for Damascus he met Christ and became educated Paul. It was the difference in his life between fighting against and fighting for Christ." (Jack Pope, The Value of an Education.)

Our greatest need today is to keep education Christian. Christian schools in the past have failed to do this. Harvard University was established in 1639 with the motto, "For Christ and the Church." Its founder, John Harvard said:

"Let every student be plainly instructed and earnestly pressed to consider well the main ends of his life and studies; to know God and Jesus Christ, which is eternal life and, therefore, to lay Christ at the bottom as the only Foundation of all knowledge and learning, and see that the Lord only giveth wisdom. Let everyone seriously set himself by prayer in secret to see Christ as Lord and Master." (Christian Economics, Nov. 12, 1963.)

Referring to this same institution, U.S. News and World Report (November 11, 1963) states, "Visits by coeds to the boys' dormitories has come to be a license to use the college rooms for wild parties and sexual intercourse."

"When youth is taught that they descended from some lower form of animal, it is not surprising if they practise barnyard morals." (Gospel Advocate, Nov. 21, 1963.) Jacques Maritain notes that "if the aim of education is the helping and guiding of man toward his own human achievement, education cannot escape . . . the question, 'What is man?'" This is basically a philosophical and religious question, but if religion is not allowed to answer the query in the mind of our youth. they will come out of school believing that man is merely another animal having no relation to God, because God is the figment of man's imagination.

Columbia University was begun in 1752.

The chief thing that is aimed at in this college is to teach and engage the children to know God in Jesus Christ, and to love and serve Him in all Sobriety, Godliness, and Righteousness of life, with perfect heart and a willing mind. (Christian Economics, Ibid.)

"An investigation taken a few years ago revealed that this same college had reduced the number of students believing in God from one in five at entrance, to one in twenty at graduation." (Fulton John Sheen, The Christian Order and Education.)

Religion is being taken from the schools. In California a few years ago, 80 per cent of college students attended independent colleges, most of them claiming some religious connections. Today 80 per cent of students are in institutions where the

by Brodie and Peggy Harrell

Peggy had gone off in a huff to our bedroom. She threw herself across the bed and wouldn't speak. Oh, well, there was always the buttom bunk in Bradley's room. I stretched out on it.

I guess it was a couple of hours later I heard her whisper, "Brodie, may I sit on the bed"?

"What are you doing in here"?

"Well somebody had to do the going and you wouldn't".

"Thought you said a few minutes ago that you were givin' up — that you couldn't be a Christian. That sounds like a Christian attitude to me."

"Guess I was just tired. Do you really think they will take the telephone out if we can't pay the bill"?

"They said it. I reckon they mean it."

"I guess we will be better off without it anyway. What about those other bills"?

"But I can't pay those bills either. Don't you understand that I simply do not have the money! I'm not going to cheat anybody. They'll get it sooner or later, but it will have to be later. I can't manufacture the stuff. Maybe you'd like me to knock over a bank to save our credit rating!?"

"Allright, allright, I just know we are going to get a bad name if we don't pay them. That could hurt the church, too, you know."

"I was well aware of that long before I made the debts, but what could I do about it. The car had to have repairs if it was to keep running. I could give it up, but with nearly two miles to the nearest store, a half-mile to the meeting house, the sick I'm supposed to visit, the social calls I'm supposed to make on the members, the people I'm trying to study with, and the several meetings I am supposed to attend with the AA, and Boy Scouts, how can I park it? Actually, if it weren't for Bryon I think I'd do it, and then maybe I'd get enough time to prepare a proper sermon once in a while, but at four months he is just too little to be packing out in snow storms and bitter cold nights. Of course when he can't go to meetin' neither can you.

"Now we could have left the refrigerator on the blink, but you know how food spoiled on us doing that. It got to expensive not to repair the frig.

"I guess our real mistake was putting those storm doors on the house. We got through one winter with snow and wind blowing through the living room. I guess another one wouldn't have hurt too much, but then you were afraid we couldn't keep the new baby warm. Also I had in mind that the doors and the hot air ducts from the furnace would keep my office warm enough to use so I could stay off the kitchen table, and have some order and system to my studies. They are not doing the job so more money down the drain.

"Speaking of drains do you remember that we must put in a septic tank this spring? I'm getting a bit weary of sweeping it out of the basement three or four times a day, and this summer it will probably draw mosquitoes, and snakes. Hope we can keep the mosquitoes off Byron, and Bradley off the snakes. Wonder what our company will think of your housekeeping"?

A good laugh seems to be essential every day a preacher lives. We had it and if you don't mind, folks, look east, because we are kissing west.

Peggy began the conversation again with: "Sorry I asked about money. How's our wood supply"?

"So low that I'd rather talk about the money we don't have than the wood I've got to split and haul. Laying all jokes aside, Honey, don't worry about the money situation. I've got it all figured out . . . "

"Oh, no, not again."

"Sure. While I was at the lectureships in Beamsville I got the idea that I must be the highest paid preacher in Canada. None of my preaching brethren seemed to have enough money. I got to thinking how nice it would be for all of us if we could have enough that we could spend all our time preaching and teaching without concerning ourselves with bills, keeping clothes on the family, etc. Well, I hit on this idea . . ."

"Do you call $270 per month the highest paid? And we never know for sure if $90 of that is coming until it is here. It can be withdrawn at any time."

"Don't bother me with details. If I can get a $2,000 loan I can go into the rug cleaning business."

"And give up preaching!? No!"

"Of course not! I could still make a few talks along, and after a year or two I should have the business shaped up enough to have someone else do the dirty work while I just collect the money, and get back to full time preaching. That way I could preach without any concern for support, and probably be able to support several other preachers that would live on the Manitoulin and start churches to boot."

"Darling, I love you, but do you remember what happened the last time you were going to furnish all our support, and send missionaries to Africa, Alaska, India, and Latin America — 'to boot'?" You kept the Bibles about six months, and only found two afternoons free in which to get out and sell. Remember how it added up in the little black and red columns? One Bible sold, two given away, and still owing $31 for a returned Bible that the company says has a finger print on it. By the time you paid the shipping cost, etc. that little missionary effort cost us around $100.

"No, sweetheart, there is plenty of money in the brotherhood to support all the preachers we can produce. It's not really money that is needed, but men that can get our brothers and sisters to use it for the Lord. You can do that. More men are also needed that will preach regardless of the pay. You can do that.

"Maybe we have been trying to live too high. I'll try to cut down on the groceries again. I read someplace where they are asking Christians to give up a meal a month, and send the saving to some missionary effort. Do you think the Lord would mind if we gave up a meal a day and kept the savings? Fifty dollars hasn't come in this month, but I'm sure the people will wait for the house payment. Maybe I can get work cleaning tourist cabins."

"Thanks, but with a four month

HARVEST OR HEARTACHE

This writer has ugly feet. They are short, extremely wide and grotesquely arched. We explain this fact with no idea of complaint, and certainly not to solicit sympathy. Our feet are strictly utilitarian and not decorative. They will never be physically beautiful, but a sentence which Paul quoted from Isaiah makes their actual appearance of negligible importance: "How beautiful are the feet of them that bring glad tidings of beautiful things" (Romans 10:15, ASV).

June 22, the Lord willing, the Merritt family will move to the Canadian Lakehead. It is our hope and prayer that many individuals in the future will mark our coming as the approach of beautiful feet. We intend to wear out many shoes in spreading the seed of the kingdom, the Word of God (Luke 8:11) over a new field of endeavour. Others will be coming to sow, water and reap. Will your work bring a harvest or a heartache? This is not for us to say.

The Apostle Paul outlined the responsibility and variety of man's work in I Corinthians 3:6-7. He pointed out that planting and watering are in the hands of Christian workers, but the harvest is in God's hands. At times, Paul left towns with a sense of frustration and hurt. His best efforts and the efforts of those with him were of no avail. The seed was registered stock, A-One, and tested, but success was denied to his efforts. There was a spiritual crop failure. Time and effort were wasted.

As we move into Port Arthur-Fort William, we make no big promises of numbers to be converted. Here is an area of many thousands of human souls who do not give Christ a proper place in their lives. Some are as Paul's brethren in the flesh: "they have a zeal for Christ, but not according to knowledge" (Romans 10:2, ASV). Others do not know enough about Christ to desire to do His will. Some in each category we regard as prospective members of the Body of Christ when the seed is implanted in their hearts.

We shall make many mistakes as the Target: Canada group moves in. Most of us can lay claim to 20/20 hindsight, but our foresight is not so keen. It will be the aim and the prayer of the new congregation to confine our failures to the area of human judgment. We would desire above all things to deal faithfully with things wherein God has spoken.

As we write this, we know of ten family units committed to move to the Lakehead. Some of these may find employment problems insurmountable. We hope not. Others are considering the project seriously. We believe that some of these may find it in their hearts to join Canada's first group evangelism effort among our brethren.

The calibre of those committed to go is in our judgment extremely high. They seem to be in the class of people who will not let difficulty or delay turn them back from their commitment. It is not easy to move voluntarily from an area where one has relatives, friends, brethren, security and comfort to a strange area. People are moving daily from one place to another because of the demands of industry, commerce, education and military service. Christians should find a higher motive than any of these in their zeal for the extension of the Lord's kingdom.

Few of us like to sacrifice greatly. Our hymn books contain many lines concerning sacrifice and dedication which congregations sing lightly. From Great Songs of the Church we sing, "Had I a thousand hearts to give, Lord, they should all be thine." The fact that each has but one heart to give seems to justify the lack of complete consecration to the Lord's service. Another great hymn states emphatically: "Lord, from this moment, all shall be thine." Perhaps the big question here is, "For how long?"

Two other group efforts are shaping up for New Brunswick and British Columbia. Such prospects can help greatly in establishing the Lord's church in some of the great

TEACHING GOD'S WORD

TEACHER TRAINING HELPS

H. Ralph Perry, London, Ontario

We rejoice at the lively interest being manifest by Christian workers in training for more effective service. Training materials are being produced for preachers, teachers, personal workers, cottage meeting workers, church leaders, song leaders, and perhaps others.

Workshops, and training sessions are being conducted all over the world by churches of Christ. This is resulting in increased and improved work in building up the church and reaching the lost with the gospel.

Some of the brethren from North Bay attended a teacher training course I conducted recently at Sundridge. These brethren suggested that I produce a list of materials available for teacher training and publish it in the Gospel Herald. We are following this suggestion. There follows a partial list of available books. In future articles we will list teacher training booklets, courses, films, records, and magazines.

I. Helpful Books

A. Books By Members of the Church

1. The Church's Educational Program, Henry E. Speck, Jr., ($3.95) Discusses goals, curriculum, organization, and administration, records, audiovisuals, physical facilities, V.B.S., cottage meetings.

2. The Educational Work of the Church, James "Gene" Priest, ($3.50) Deals with the purpose and methods.

3. Ideas For Bible School Growth, Alan Bryan, (paper $1.00) Contains many inspirational and educational ideas for growth. Also evaluation check lists and organizational charts.

4. The Church and Her Ideal Educational Situation, Sewell & Speck ($2.00) Treats aims, supervision, teachers, pupils, grading and curriculum, agencies and methods, organization and administration. Written 50 years ago but still 20 years ahead of the church in practice.

5. The Church and the Children, Sewell and others ($1.00) Worthy discussion of pre-school, primary and junior children.

6. The Church and the Young people, Z. W. Melton, ($2.00) Teaching intermediate (Jr. High), seniors, and young people.

7. The Successful Bible School, Fred Mosley (paper ($1.00) Brief discussion of almost every phase of Bible school work.

8. Teaching The Twos, Mrs. Batsell Barrett Baxter. A manual for teachers of two years olds. Discusses the teacher, the child, the room, preparation, planning, problems, parents, a year's lessons, songs.

9. Work For a Growing Church, Fred Mosley, ($2.95) Very practical in ideas and helps for every phase of the church's teaching programme. Grading, equipment, charts, and many other helpful forms are included.

10. You Can March For the Master, Ira North, ($2.00) Practical principles and proven methods in building the programme of a local church. General but some specific ideas for the Bible School.

B. Good Books by Others (There are many, We list a few.)

1. Teach With Success, Guy P. Leavitt, ($3.05) This well written and attractively illustrated spiral bound book is one of the best. Divided into three sections: You Prepare to Teach, You Teach the Lesson, You Evaluate. Every teacher should have this volume.

2. Superintend With Success, Guy P. Leavitt ($3.05) Discusses the 5 "izes" of successful Bible school operation: Visualize, Organize, Deputize, Supervise, Analyze.

3. Christian Education and the Local Church, Murch, ($4.65) Principles and practices measured By the New Testament.

4. How To Teach, Thornton and Sharp, ($1.10) Concise, clear - cut presentation of learning and methods of teaching at every age level.

5. Teach or Perish, Murch, ($3.00) "A creative and challenging call to the local churches to lift Christian education out of paralyzing tradition and deadly routine into lively adventure and positive action."

6. Principles of Teaching for Christian Teachers, Eavey, ($3.50) Discusses teaching, aim, teacher, pupil, preparation, pupil learning, motivation, methods, planning to teach the lesson, improving teaching. Very good.

7. The Art of Effective Teaching, Eavey, ($3.75) Based on up-to-date educational methods and orients the basic concept of learning.

8. How To Be An Effective Sunday Teacher, Eavey, ($1.00) Discusses the task, the teacher, teaching, purpose, planning, helping, learning, evaluating learning and teaching. Very good.

The above four books are published by Standard Publishing Co., the conservative wing of the Christian church. They are very close to the New Testament in much of their teaching. These volumes are very worthwhile).

9. How To Teach The Bible, Joseph M. Gettys, (paper $2.00) Deals pertinently with the teacher's problems. Gives concrete illustrations to show how he may put new life into his teaching as it discusses the teacher and the pupil, preparing to teach, making the lesson plan, introducing the lesson, methods, bringing the lesson to life. Very good.

10. The Christian Teacher, Clarence Benson, ($3.50) Discusses: the task, the teacher, the pupil, the lesson, the teaching, the model teacher. Written by a man devoted to Christian Education.

11. Teaching For Results, Edge, ($3.00) Stresses the importance of definite teaching goals, particularly the conduct goal. Christian teaching cannot be complete without Christian action. Excellent.

12. Helping the Teacher, Edge, ($2.95) Practical help to improve teachers.

Ray Miller, Editor

HELP WANTED!

It has not been very long since your editor himself wore the trademark, "Teen-ager". It was my happy experience to have been "raised" in the church, and to have had a most wonderful association with a fine group of Christian young people. It is not stretching the truth one bit to say that nearly every young person in the congregation in which I was raised took every possible opportunity to be with the rest of the young peoples' group. It was a rare occasion indeed when a school activity came before any planned outing of the kids in our congregation.

Now, I do not wish to be pessimistic, neither do I desire to hurt anyones feelings, but there is something bothering me about the things I have observed among the young people of many congregations. When you have read this article, and have given it thought, will you take the time to write us concerning your feelings on this matter?

Our problem, stated in question form, is this: Why, in so many young peoples' groups do activities of Christian teenagers nearly always take second place to High School and other activities? Now, before we go one step further, we want to make it clear that there are two sides to this story. The older brethren in charge have their problems, that is, the task of trying to organize and plan activities at times when no outside competition exists, and to make things interesting enough so that the young people will want to attend and participate. On the other hand, the young people also have their side. When so many activities are available at school and in the community (such as sporting events, parties, school class projects, and the host of recreational facilities the community provides), which should come first, and why?

Now, your editor personally takes the position that just as there are two sides to this problem, so the responsibility lies in both directions. Those of us that are "in charge" of young peoples' groups need to be aware of this problem, and come to appreciate the fact that an answer is as much to be found within ourselves as in the young people themselves. Can we expect our young people to turn down an opportunity to attend some well planned, well organized event; and come instead to a "get-together" that has had no planning behind it, that has been set up on the spur of the moment, and is based upon the hope that the teen-agers will enjoy sitting around talking to one another? This is not to say that we have the responsibility to provide our youngsters with gyms and social activities that border on the elaborate. Nor is it our duty to spend vast sums of our income to keep them happy. Our point is, however, that we should take the time to properly plan and organize our activities, always keeping the young folks themselves in mind, as to what they will enjoy doing. This need be neither elaborate nor expensive! It will require effort, however.

We also are convinced that those of you who are young people have some facts to face as well. Christians should enjoy being together, and should look forward to being in one anothers company as often as possible. Not only this, but if things are not what they should be within your young peoples group, it is primarily up to you to improve them! It may well be that your group is small, that organization is at absolute zero, but no one could seem to care less. Well then, you take the bull by the horns and get things going yourselves. Show the people of your congregation that you want to have opportunities to enjoy Christian recreation and fellowship, and that in itself will go a long way to help getting you under way.

It is commendable that you desire to be with young people your age that you know from school and the neighbourhood, but had you ever thought of your responsibility to win them to Christ? You can't wait for the babies in your congregation to grow up to enlarge your numbers (by that time you'll be an oldster!). The best way to increase the size of your group is to win your school-mates and neighbours to Christ, and with His help, you can do it!

Getting back to our original problem, young people, the church of the Lord and your brethren that make up that church, should be your first love, and should always be given first consideration. This is true when it comes to helping other people, for Paul taught that we are to "do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith" (Gal. 6:10). We believe that this same truth may be applied to those with whom we choose to share our time and our company. We may enjoy the company of others, but we should especially enjoy the fellowship of our brothers and sisters in Christ. Just as our Saviour and his church should never take second place to anything in our lives, neither should our affection for our fellow Christian young people take second place to our friends outside the church. It is also just as true that our worldly activities should never become more important to us than our Christian associations and social get-togethers.

Preachers, elders, mothers and fathers; when our young people marry outside the church and consequently often fall away, we are the first to cry long and loud! Our our land been here anywhere from fifty to a hundred or even more years. And yet, very few of these congregations have elders. And even among those who do have elders, we occasionally find men who are supposed to be elders and yet they are not doing the work which God required of His pastors. We have felt that to be an elder doesn't take any special training, teaching, or encouragement. If a man becomes an elder he just "does what comes naturally". If he doesn't become an elder we shrug our shoulders, say: "Too bad", and that is the end of our concern. But I am fully persuaded that being a good elder is a much harder job than being a good preacher. Let's quit degrading the eldership and raise it to the level of importance God gave it. Let's begin teaching, training, and encouraging our young men to become elders and future leaders in the Lord's church. Then we will begin to see real progress.

But, along this same line, we must begin to concentrate more on making the Canadian churches indigenous. When we consider all the years that the Gospel has been preached in Canada, and the many years that many of our churches have been here, and then when we consider that fully ½ of our preachers in Canada have been imported from the United States, something is wrong. For one thing, we haven't been able to keep our own Canadian preachers. For every one Canadian preaching in Canada, there are two Canadians preaching in the States. Why hamper the work even temporarily, by bringing men here who do not know the people, the customs, nor the local situations, when we have our own native preachers that we can develop, train, and support right here. Recently I heard of a Canadian church who had made arrangements for a Canadian preacher to begin working with them. But at the last minute, they gave him the brush-off in favor of an American preacher. Now the American is preaching in Canada, and the Canadian is preaching in the States. How foolish. As long as we have to import preachers from elsewhere, we are publicly preaching the instability of the Canadian church. And this isn't a very desireable sermon to preach. Let's encourage our own men to preach in Canada, and then support them in that work.

Another of the great needs in our churches is for a greater depth of spirituality in our members. The development of spirituality is a great task, and the expanse it involves is equally great. But when we see from time to time the narrow, bitter, carping, "holier-than-thou", exclusive attitudes, or on the other hand the spineless, liberal, "anything goes" attitudes, it makes us realize what great responsibility is indeed ours in teaching men and women what it really means for the "Spirit of Christ to dwell in them". Not only have we seen improper attitudes and thoughts, but we continually see large numbers of those converted falling back into the world. Let us begin now to put even greater emphasis upon "the perfecting of the saints, the work of ministering, the building up of the body of Christ: till we all attain unto the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a full-grown man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ" (Eph. 4:12-14).

Finally, may I encourage us to have a bolder vision and faith. If faith as a grain of mustard seed will remove mountains, ours must indeed be microscopic. Unfortunately, even though our numbers are relatively small in the most of our congregations, yet we have convinced ourselves that we really have no ability or power at all. And so, too often we sit cowardly back in the corner, afraid to do much of anything, for fear that it might involve a bit of faith, a bit of vision, spending some money, spending some time, or making a sacrifice in some way. If we do, by some unknown power suddenly wax very bold, and decide to accomplish some work, we immediately assume that we can't do it anyway, so we write all over Canada and the U.S. asking others to help us do our work. Brethren, let's carry our own loads to the very limit of our capacities. Let's not be afraid to launch out into areas yet untouched. We have hardly started to begin to accomplish the great works that we can scripturally do in the service of the Master.

My wife and I consider these ten years spent here in Canada among the richest and most enjoyable of our lives. We have learned to love deeply and appreciate greatly our Christian brothers and sisters in Canada. Some of the finest Christians in all the world are found across our nation. May we express our thanks and appreciation to all our Canadian brethren who have helped to make this ten years here so enjoyable. We thank our Father that we have been privileged to have your fellowship in such warm and abundant measure. And we pray that we all might see the great challenges opening daily before the church in Canada, and that in this generation the Gospel might be preached to every creature in Canada. And we pray that Lord willing, we might be able to spend yet another ten years in Canada in serving Him who is King of Kings and Lord of Lords, to whom we give all majesty and praise both now and forevermore. Amen.

question is, what have we done to correct the situation? It is possible that we have taken too much for granted.

Well, there you have our problem. It is my hope that many of you will write stating your views on the matter, and offering constructive suggestions that may help matters. If in your congregation there is an active young peoples group, won't you please write and share with us the secret of your success? What activities do you have? Is your group organized, if so how? We hope that we will have a good response from each of you, and that in future issues of our page we will be able to publish many helpful suggestions from your letters. If you have a problem related to our question, perhaps other young people will be able to help you with it. Send your letters to me, Ray L. Miller, 3538 Howard Ave., Windsor, Ontario. The Four Major Cults. By Anthony A. Hoekema. (Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co. Grand Rapids 3, Mich. $5.95 plus exchange in Canada).

It is certainly true that if one knows the Bible well he can refute any false doctrine. And one cannot possibly learn all there is to know about every unscriptural belief. But most of us need a lot of help in learning how to apply the teachings of the Bible to contemporary problems.

For example, while I was in the process of teaching a housewife the gospel, a Jehovah's Witness entered and a discussion began. The deity of Christ became the center of the controversy. The JW tried to prove a point by quoting from her group's New World Translation. John 1:1 read "In (the) beginning the Word was, and the Word was with God, and the Word was a god." This translation claims that the Word (Jesus Christ) is not God but a god — not equal to Jehovah God but a subordinate deity. Of course, I denied the accuracy of this translation. Fortunately, I had just read the valuable Appendix D "Jehovah Witness Teaching On The Person of Christ" in The Four Major Cults. This armed me with unanswerable arguments to refute the Watchtower heresy.

In addition to Jehovah's Witnesses, this book discusses Mormonism, Seventh-day Adventism and Christian Science. These cults are aggressively spreading their teachings throughout the world today. We must be able to meet their errors. The thousands that they are converting to their "isms", we should be converting to New Testament Christianity.

The author explores the historical background of each cult, shows their deviations in doctrine from the Bible and presents a method of approaching the cultist with the gospel. Nineteen pages of bibliography attest the thoroughness of the author's work. As Mr. Hoekema is a Calvinist his own doctrines sometimes find their way into the book. But this does not detract from the tremendous overall value of this volume.

This is a book to get and to study. When a cultist calls at your door you will be glad you read it.

Vancouver, B.C.: Already running slightly behind on its budget of $260 per week, this church is giving attention to the needs of Ron Beckett at Salmon Arm by soliciting gifts from individuals and by a special collection taken on May 17. The proceeds of these will be divided into 12 equal parts and constitute regular monthly support for the Becketts.

The Bible school goal for May 10 was 102.

Burnaby, B.C.: This church held a series of meetings May 10-15 with Jim Hawkins as the speaker.

Lloydminster, Alta.: Dan Wieb recently gave a series of lessons on Romans at this place. Leo Owens has commented on these as being most excellent lessons and recommends brother Wieb and this series to other churches.

HERE AND THERE

Moose Jaw, Sask.: A gospel meeting was conducted by Bro. Lester Fisher of Oregon from April 26 to May 3. There were three baptisms and six rededicated their lives to Christ. A week later Bro. Fisher returned to conduct five nights of training lessons on how to conduct a cottage meeting. Construction has begun on our new building. We are still in need of about $6,000 to complete the building. V.B.S. will be the first week in August. On June 7th the weekly radio broadcast will return to C.H.A.B. continuing each Sunday at 5.15 p.m. Bro. B. Tetreau will be doing the speaking.

HERE AND THERE

Barrie, Ont.: L. Wesley Jones of this place has been the speaker in a series of meetings with the Central Church of Christ, in Cedar Rapids, Iowa which began on May 10. He was also the feature speaker at Midwest Youth Forum on May 9 and spoke in the afternoon on mission work illustrating his message with color slides.

Ice Lake, Ont.: C. G. McPhee of St. Catharines held a meeting here May 3-10. "He did a wonderful job of presenting the lessons. There were no responses as pertaining to restorations or baptisms, but I feel sure that the whole congregation responded to the edification. We also had a good number of visitors — many had never met with us before.

Peggy and I thoroughly enjoyed having Bro. and Sis. McPhee in our home, and feel a spiritual up-lift as a result. It's wonderful and inspiring to see men and women wear themselves out in the service of the Lord and still not get tired. This preacher has responded with a greater determination to study more and to work harder in the name of the blessed Lord.

Attendance ranged from 27 to 54. — C. Brodie Harrell.

Marathon, Ont.: "We have been worshipping in our own home for a few months since my husband started to work here." — Mrs. A. E. Dearing.

North Livingstone, Ont.: We are pleased to hear that Stanley Whitfield was baptized this month. He is attending school at Western Christian College.

Huntsville, Ont.: The radio work in Huntsville could use more support. Write to the church at Box 478, Huntsville.

Timmins, Ont.: "In the next two years 15,000 people will move to Timmins, Ontario as a result of the major Silver, Copper and Zinc discovery made there just recently. This will bring the total population of the area to close to 50,000 with no known members of the Lord's church among them.

"Now would be a wonderful time for someone to plan to move to this area." — C. Lansdell in The North Star.

North Bay, Ont.: A recent meeting laid plans for a bus route, a visitation blitz and a V.B.S. of 250.

Collingwood, Barrie, Pine Orchard and Newmarket: Brethren in Valdosta, Ga. are aiming at 40 workers to be divided into teams to work in the above named areas. There will be a preacher for each area and the campaign will be conducted June 21-30.

Extensive advertising by radio, television, newspaper and brochures is planned to accompany the personal work and meetings.

The Barrie radio program on CKBB will be at 7.45 a.m. during the summer.

Meaford: A recent visitor in Meaford wrote: "Yesterday, when I was at church in Meaford, it was lovely to see what a fine job they have made redecorating the auditorium. Everything looks so fresh and in such good taste."

Donald MacKenzie of the Barrie church has painted a river scene for the background of the baptistry.

Windsor, Ont.: The week before our spring meeting we were happy to have the mother of one of our deacons baptized into Christ. In the week that followed, during our gospel meeting with J. C. Bailey, Jr., her grand-daughter also obeyed the gospel.

OPPORTUNITY

In 1959 Western Christian College entered into an agreement to purchase land and fifteen buildings at the Weyburn Airport. The unpaid balance at present is

$47,378.99

In a recent meeting with the government, Western Christian College was offered a reduction in the amount of

$10,635.69

This offer is made contingent upon the fact that we will pay the balance on or before

JULY 15, 1964

The amount needed to finalize the agreement is $36,743.30

THIS AMOUNT MUST BE RAISED IMMEDIATELY!!!

Canadian brethren are rising to meet the challenge of this opportunity. It was the decision of the Board of Directors at a recent meeting to ask Canadians to meet this challenge. The following formula is being followed:

10 gifts of $1,000.00 each
20 gifts of $ 500.00 each
40 gifts of $ 100.00 each

An extensive personal campaign is being conducted in Western Canada but it will be impossible to see everyone. Therefore, we are inviting readers of the Herald everywhere to participate and help Western Christian College to meet this opportunity.

THINK OF IT!!!

We can save $10,635.69 immediately, plus whatever interest might accrue on the unpaid balance if we do not accept this opportunity.

This could well mean a saving of $20,000.00 in all.

We ask you to send your check or notify us of your intention to do so by July 1. We need to raise almost $1,000.00 per day to meet this challenge.

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR

On the first Sunday following the opening of the New York World's Fair, 2,100 persons crowded into the main fair pavilion in 40 degree weather to hear Brother George Bailey preach the first gospel sermon ever preached at such an exhibition. Fair officials had predicted that if the auditorium were half-filled, it would be an extremely good audence. Seven hundred persons were turned away from the first service, and returned when it was announced the sermon would be repeated two hours later.

Both the American Broadcasting Company and Columbia Broadcasting System taped the worship service and broadcast it on their networks. Three nationally - known commentators, Paul Harvey of ABC; Richard Harkness of CBS, and Morgan Beatty of NBC, made special mention of the outstanding exhibit of the Churches of Christ in the Protstant Pavillion. The New York Times, New York Herald-Tribune, Associated Press and United Press International all sent reporters to the service for coverage and pictures, and the New York Times quoted extensively from Brother Bailey's sermon.

In the booth itself, which fair officials say is outdrawing other religious exhibits four to one, the following statistics were released on its first three weeks of operation:

1,800 persons had enrolled in a Bible correspondence course.

One person had been baptized as a result of teaching received at the booth.

3,600 other visitors, in addition to the 1,800 mentioned above, had come into the booth, sat down and studied with brethren working there.

20,000 pieces of gospel literature had been distributed to persons requesting it. Literature is not being handed out indiscriminately, but is given only to persons coming into the exhibit area and requesting further teaching.

Persons had registered from 50 different states, the District of Columbia, 50 foreign countries and 93 different religious faiths.

These figures are from the first three weeks only — the exhibit will be maintained for six months this year and another six months next year.

One other interesting achievement by the Queens Church of Christ, which is operating the booth: out of 41 films submitted for showing daily in the pavilion, four were selected by the fair committee. Only one was a unanimous choice of the directors: "What is Christianity?", made hurriedly by the brethren after they had viewed the official film made by the Protestant committee, a religious farce which ridicules Christ. "What Is Christianity?" will be shown six times daily for the entire 12 months of the fair.

NIGERIA

On March 15, 120 persons were baptized into Jesus Christ at Okigwe, near Aba, Nigeria. This was a result of three preaching trips made by Brother Jim Massey, one of the native evangelists, and Brother "Jacob", a strong Nigerian Christian whose greatest wish has been to take the gospel to his home village.

On their first trip, the evangelists taught in the open air under a shade tree in the center of the village with a loudspeaker. A large group from a nearby denominational church listened and then asked Jacob to come into their building. After two hours of Bible questions and answers they asked the men to return again. Jacob returned a few weeks later with the native preacher. On this second trip they taught in the native language in long sessions for two days. On the third trip, the preachers were asked to conduct their services inside the denominational building. The subject was "Restoring the Lord's Church."

The people showed much interest and asked many questions concerning baptism. They were even warned against being baptized without proper understanding. But when the invitation was given, 120 "almost leaped to their feet", Brother Massey reports. They then walked two miles to a stream, where the Nigerian preacher counseled with each one personally before baptism.

Now a well-trained native preacher has gone to live in the village and work with them. They will provide most of his support, assisted by the American brethren.

NYASALAND

Bro. and Sis. Joe Lyon have moved from Lusaka, Northern Rhodesia, to Rumpi, Nyasaland, to replace Bro. and Sis. Fred Liggin who have returned to the United States for health reasons. Bro. and Sis. Doug Bauer have been working in Rumpi since the Liggins left and until some one arrived to replace them. They will continue to work with the Lyons.

The Bauers are the first white Northern Rhodesian family to leave their country to work as missionaries in another country.

The move made by the Lyons now leaves a vacancy in Lusaka, and some one is needed to replace them.

HOLLAND

Nine have been baptized in Holland recently, five in The Hague and four in Amsterdam.

Two young men from Amsterdam, Bro. Franz Snel and Bro. Martin Rozestraten, are going into full-time preaching this summer, while another, Bro. Henk Kelfkens of Utrecht, plans to do full - time preaching as soon as he is released from the Dutch army. He will be supported by the Macon Road church in Memphis, Tenn.

The church in Amsterdam has sold its old meeting house and purchased a better building in a new section of the city where it is felt there will be more opportunities to preach and teach.

Brethren from Utrecht report that groups are now meeting for Bible study in the cities of Apeldoorn and Hengelo. The Utrecht church is making great strides in its effort to become independent of the Amer-

Bible has been prohibited from being read in assemblies or classes. Twenty-eight states which once required or allowed the Bible in public schools are forced to desist by the recent ruling by the Supreme Court. (Norvel Young, Firm Foundation, Jan. 14, 1964.) What is our situation in Canada?

We must keep education Christian in order to keep religion and morality. "Religion and morality are not related to education like raisins to a cake, but as a soul to a body. There can be a cake without raisins, but there cannot be a man without a soul." (Fulton J. Sheen, Ibid.) If we lose religion and morality we will lose democracy. Democracy cannot function without religion. Democracy is not making provision for religion. Therefore, we must restore religious education in order to preserve democracy. We must have Christian education in order to discriminate between good and evil in a freewheeling culture where almost anything goes.

To develop a sense of discrimination is one of the reasons why we should be concerned to keep education Christian. Dr. Elton Trueblood in Toward a Higher Philosophy of Education said:

"Our civilization needs centers of creative renewal. These must spring up in the common life of the people who voluntarily establish contrived means of lifting the level of civilization. This is why we emphasize the Christian college. In order to have the power to make the necessary changes in our civilization we must have a drive as great as a religious commitment. It cannot come in any lesser way. We all know that this is the way most of our colleges began and it is not likely that we can continue our civilization if it is disassociated from these powerful roots. Christian Economics (November 12, 1963) quotes:

The only place where we can even expect Christian teaching is not in the enormous institutions, but in the small, independent colleges heroically trying to stem the tide. In these, surely, lies the hope of redeeming America.

This is what we have in our two small and struggling institutions. Let us be ever so thankful for their existence, and let us encourage the administration, faculty, and staff. Above all, let us support them financially. As Norvel Young has said, "If we light the candle of Christian education we must pay for the tallow and the string." (Minister's Monthly, May, 1959.) Supporting Christian education is a vote to keep God in the hearts of the coming generation. We should be planning and building for today, but, at the same time, be laying the foundations for the tomorrows, "for we can only hope to grasp the true meaning of life when we plant trees under whose shade we know we will never sit." In the phraseology of a great man, "Ask not what Christian education can do for us. Ask what we can do for Christian education."

Gregory, ($1.75) A clear statement of the seven most important factors of the art of teaching: The teacher, the learner, the language, the lesson, the teaching process, the learning process, the review and application.

14. Sunday School Worker's Training Course, 5 volumes ($1.75 each)

Volume 1 — Introductory Course: History of the Sunday School, departmentalizing, promotion, visitation, proper records, taking a census, standardizing the S. S., teachers' meetings.

Volume 2, The Teacher: sacred position, aims, call and burden, methods, evaluation, self-examination.

Volume 3 — The student: preschool, primary, junior, junior high, high school, later adolescent, adult.

Volume 4 — Sun. School Evangelism: importance, methods, rudiments, decision, holding.

Volume 5 — Keeping The Sunday School Alive: lively leaders, a live organization, marks of a successful teacher.

15. Sunday School Encyclopedia, Vol. 10, National Sunday School Association. A wealth of material. 77 different articles or outlines divided under 6 topics: departments, organization, programming, methods, promotion, general. Source material on almost every conceivable topic by experts. There are other volumes. These are really the lessons delivered at national Sunday School conventions each year.

Conclusion: Perhaps you are interested in purchasing a book or two and wonder what would be best to invest in. Since I haven't read all of these volumes I cannot state which is the best. However, I find one or two volumes most helpful.

The two volumes I refer to most of the ones I have on my shelves are: Teach With Success by Guy Leavitt and Sunday School Encyclopedia, Vol. 10. Especially would I recommend the first of these two for the average teacher. This book is easily read and contains much information, instruction and inspiration. I would encourage you teachers to buy this book.

Next issue I plan to mention some smaller works. These will deal with training courses, specific topics, and certain age levels. It might be that some of these are what you are looking for.

If I can be of further assistance please write. These books can be purchased from the Gospel Herald.

THE STRAW MAN

cently, nearly all of the cotroversy existing in this country exists in theory only (and would not even trouble us in theory without the "help" of certain brethren). To fight and divide (in our feelings, if not literally) over such questions is to fight a straw man that does not exist.

Let us concern ourselves with the awesome task of converting Canada to Christ (not to a certain "branch" of restored Christianity). To ruin our effectiveness by squabbling over opinions of men is more than dangerous and foolhardy; it will be the cause of our own condemnation.

ican workers and American support. Bro. Cor van Ewijk, a native, is doing much of the preaching and other men of the congregation are working hard to assume other tasks of leadership.

I WAS SICK — I AM DISTURBED

J. C. Bailey

You may well ask, "Do you need to shout it to the brotherhood?" Yes, I think I do. I know that Gordon Hogan was probably sicker during his first year in Asia than I have been. Brother Ira Y. Rice Jr. has probably been sick more every year he has been here than I have been. I was sick enough to have the doctor twice but I was not too sick. There are several differences. I am old enough to be Brother Hogan's father and I am some fifteen years older than Bro. Rice. Brother Rice and Brother Hogan are both expecting to go home on furlough this year. Bro. Hogan writes that five families have indicated that they are entering Pakistan this year. Brother Rice has a man to take his place in Singapore. Should I be incapacitated there is no one to take my place. True, I have four native workers here but they are not YET in a position to take over. Must the name of the CHURCH be disgraced forever as far as India is concerned?

Many years ago we had missionaries here. The work was turned over to the Disciples. We sent out two inexperienced boys, they were converted to the Seventh Day Adventists before they reached India. We discovered an indigenous work in Assam. We left it almost to itself. We would only have to have left it a few more years and we could have numbered it with the things of the past. I am happy to report that the work in Assam is now on the upturn. If the brethren that are there now stay on the job the outlook of the church there will be much different.

On September 28th, my family and I moved to Madras. Since that time we have been able to baptize 164 people into Christ. We have made a trip into the State of Andhra Pradesh and we find that the prospects there, if there is any difference, are better than they are here in the State of Madras. Yet, we must retrench. I was sick. I must try now to leave the work in shape to carry on if I am not able to carry on. I hate to say it but you shall not be told about so many baptisms in the next eight months as you have heard of in the last eight months. Not that people would not respond but we must guard what we have. Brethren in a church of two million members this is not needful.

Since my last article in the Gospel Herald there have been two young men that have written to say that they are preparing to come to India. This is fine but this is not enough, NOR SOON ENOUGH.

In the big Central station here I was talking to a man. I asked him where he was from, and he said, Bozeman, Montana. He belonged to one of the various sects called the Church of God. Why can sectarians get into India but the church of the Lord can not? Could it be that we really do not want to come to INDIA? How are we going to answer in the judgment morning? I want you elders in big churches to answer this. I want you influential preachers to answer this. Is INDIA with her 430,000,000 people included in the Great Commission? If you can prove that she is not I shall not trouble you any more. If they are not part of the "every creature" then just show me and I shall forever shut my mouth. I would like to believe it. I would like to go back home to my children and my grandchildren. Frankly, I do not like to rot out here with tropical fever. If, however, it should prove that the Great Commission does include 430,000,000 people of India then you prove to me that the care of these people belongs to me more than they do to you. If they do then I shall accept whatever responsibility is mine more than yours.

I do not think that another man should be taken out of Canada without being replaced. However, no matter how important you may THINK you are, you can be replaced. I know it is hard on our ego to think that you are not indispensible. As much as I respect the present editor of the Gospel Herald should he be removed, there would be a man to take his place and this great paper would move on. Brother Preacher you may preach for the largest church in the brotherhood but should you be removed there is a man to take your place. I know this is humiliating. This may be mean but I am going to name fifteen men that can come to India. True they are vitally needed in Canada, but there is a man in the United States that can take their place. Perhaps only yesterday you made some good alibi for not coming to India. I am stopping at 15. There are others that could be named. If you are not on the list and want to come do not feel excluded. I propose that five of these fifteen start now to make immediate preparations to enter South India. REMEMBER IT MAY BE LATER THAN YOU THINK. India boasts that she is a secular state. I want you to know that that is true in theory but not in practice. When it comes to getting a job every Christian is penalized. I want you to know that the Hindus would kick us out in no time flat if they could. Mr. Nehru is no ardent Hindu. It could be that he will be succeeded by an ardent Hindu. If that should happen you can expect to see more drastic changes in the work of the Christian? missions in India. Will we be wailing five years from now and saying, what would we do if we had the chance? Here are the fifteen names that I promised you: Jim Hawkins, D. C. Marshall, Lynn Anderson, Walter Straker, Bernard Straker, Coy Roper, David Lidbury, Dan Weib, Roger Peterson, C. T. Bailey, Eugene Perry, Ralph Perry, Bruce Merritt, Roy Merritt, David Johnson. I should include in this list at least five more. I think I better do that, Jeff Ellis, Keith Thompson, Blenus Wright, Clyde Lansdel and Walter Hart. So it is a matter of picking out one of four. I know you are needed and some of you do not yet have citizenship in Canada but you can get it or can very shortly. I have picked out degree men almost without exception. The Indian has almost a worshipful respect for education. I get by because of my age. They know what

"THE CHRISTIAN HOME"

The happy, solid, stable Christian home is strength to the church. It is imperative that our homes be Christian. In this day of loose morals and ready divorce, the people of God need to be vividly reminded of God's direction for the home. Read on and learn where you can receive some inspirational and helpful guidance and instruction for happy and useful home life.

BRO. P. D. WILMETH

"The Christian Home" is the theme for Christian Fellowship Week at Omagh Bible School, August 3rd to August 7th this year. This is also the title of an excellent, 183 page, book written by this year's speaker at Omagh, Brother P. D. Wilmeth of Tyler, Texas. This outstanding evangelist of over 35 years has maintained a keen interest in problems of youth, marriage and home. This interest has produced two other excellent books: "Love, Courtship and Marriage", and "A Father Talks To Teenagers". This last volume is a straight-forward discussion of the problems faced by teenagers of today.

Many aspects of home life and problems will be discussed. Here are some topics for morning classes at Omagh: "The Home in Today's World", "A History of Marriage", "The Wife in the Home", "The Husband in the Home", "Children in the Home", "Sin Not Against the Child", "When the Home Breaks", "The Best Is Yet To Be".

Evening lectures at 8 will include "My Wish For Your Children", "Parental Responsibility", "How To Be Happily Married" (especially for young people). Other topics will be announced. There is something here for children, young people, young married couples, middle aged folks, and those older.

You cannot afford to miss these practical and much needed lessons. Families are urged to come. Young people looking forward to a Christian home should be present, if possible. Older folks will profit greatly from the instruction. The fellowship, rest, and recreation that go along with this makes this a rich week of spiritual growth and challenge.

Bro. Geoffrey Ellis, president of Great Lakes Christian College stated that with a man so eminently qualified to speak on the "Christian Home" there is no reason why we shouldn't have two hundred at the evening lecture every night. As if to think his statement through, he hesitated and then increased his figure to 300. We are confident that you will want to be one of the 300 and will do all that you can to be present.

One hundred should and could be present through the day. So much is there a need for improvement in our homes in this tense and demanding age that we owe it to God, to the church, to ourselves, our children and grandchildren to take in these five days of good things. Some of the lessons will hurt as they bring us to a deeper realization of our failings but they will inspire us to better things for God, his Church, and our homes.

Rates are reasonable. Adults pay $12.50 for the week. Children 5 to 12 will be charged $1.00 for each year. No charge for younger children. Classes will be provided for the children. Camping sites are available. The charge is $5.00 for the week if you do your own cooking. If you eat with the rest, regular rates apply.

BELL TRAVEL FUND

Dear Brethren:

We were certainly thankful to learn that enough money has been collected to get us back to Canada. It will have been a heavy expense on the Church and we appreciate the generosity of the brethren.

When we came back to Africa two years ago we had planned on staying at least five years. But, as things stand now, it would seem sensible to return home this year.

Our "white" school has a reduced number of pupils owing to the fact that many white families have moved out of the country. Two teachers can easily handle all that are left. By 1965 it is quite possible that the school will close.

The African schools go along much as usual, but, the missionaries have less and less say in how they are run. Some of our African teachers make a good effort at teaching the Bible to their pupils, but, others make little or none. Some of the brethren have thought it best to give the schools (excepting the Mission schools) over to the governments, but, others disagree.

Both Edna and I have been somewhat better lately, Edna's blood pressure still gives trouble though. James and I took treatment for relapsing fever (tick fever) and feel some better. The doctor says that my spleen is still swollen from malaria. The weather is dry now so the mosquitoes are fewer, and there is less danger of a fresh dose of malaria. We sleep under nets, and take Nevaquine (a type of quinine) regularly, but still contract malaria!

Probably we'll get to Canada on the 22nd of July. I have been offered a teaching position in Calgary, and expect that is where we'll settle. By the time you read this, we may be on our way home.

Sincerely in Christ,
Allan and Edna Bell

The Editor:

The congregation at 7th Avenue & Pasqua Street, Regina, wishes to report on the Allan Bell travel fund through the Gospel Herald. The response from individuals and congregations was wonderful. It actually became necessary to send out letters to congregations asking that contributions cease.

The original goal was set for $3,000.00, however, money has kept coming in until at the present time we have approximately $4,029.00 on hand.

All money received has been receipted. Receipts for all contributions $5.00 and over have been sent out. If you have not received yours, you should have it in a few days. For all amounts of less than $5.00, we are holding receipts should they be requested.

It is our intention to look after all of the needs of this family during the period of their journey home and also to assist to some extent in their reestablishment upon arrival.

Should you wish further information or to make comment, please address all correspondence to the attention of the writer.

The Bells will be leaving Africa about the first of July. Upon their arrival in Canada, and after we have completed our commitment re this matter, a final report will be submitted. We feel that the method we have used has not been a burden to anyone and yet it has proven to be most effective.

Christian greetings,

areas of our country where it is not found. Plans also are going ahead for increased effort in the Province of Quebec. We commend the zeal and the foresight of those involved in the planning. May their efforts be crowned with success.

Much of the financing of these group efforts is coming from the United States. We are thankful that many good brethren to the South are willing to send from their church treasuries the necessary funds. Such assistance should not be required in Canada for long. It is time for Canadian churches to recognize their own responsibility in evangelism as their strength becomes equal to the task. We are gaining the ability. Do we have the zeal?

I WAS SICK

it is to rise up before the hoary head.

Now Brother Elder do not dismiss this and say we are already doing all we can do. That is no TRUE. There is not a church with fifty members that cannot do more than they are doing if they want to. Large churches can do MUCH more.

Brethren the church is more to me than life itself. I thought I had all the alibis that were needed to stay out of India. We can enter India NOW or we can let it go by default. If we do how shall we stand before the judgment bar of God?

I have showed you the way to get into India. I have named the men that can do the work. I hoped once to find a way to stay home, I could not. I hope hundreds that read this will not be able to sleep at night until you have made up your mind to do something, really something, about India.

Brethren are supporting me well and I thank you for it. BUT WE ARE NOT DOING ENOUGH. God never intended that the salvation of a big part of a nation should rest upon the shoulders of one man.

Let us suppose that the year is 2050. Worldliness has entirely wiped the church out of the United States except for a little group in the State of Washington. There are three workers from Greece working there. In the State of Florida there is one native worker who had had some training in India. The population of the United States is now doubled to what it was in 1964 but there is still only about two thirds of the population of India today. In all this territory, with the exceptions noted, there is one gospel preacher. IS IT ENOUGH? On a per capita basis, Canada, All Canada, would have one preacher for only a few weeks each year.

65 BAPTIZED IN FAR EAST MEETINGS

It was my pleasure and privilege to hold eight gospel meetings in the Far East from February 10th through May 2nd. Meetings were held in Karachi and Lahore, Pakistan, Madras and Shillong, India, Bangkok, Thailand, Singapore and Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia and Saigon, South Vietnam and I can truly say from experience that all these countries are white unto harvest. Never have I been in a field where the harvest is so plentiful, yet workers are so few. The Far East has over half of the population of the entire world, yet it is the most neglected field in the brotherhood today.

Of all the countries which I visited, India probably offers the greatest challenge. At the present time Americans are not allowed to do mission work in India. However, this should not keep us from training workers in other nations to enter this great nation of over 400,000,000 precious souls. Presently there are only two Canadian families and two Canadian young men working in India. Brother K. V. George, who came to see me while I was in Madras, is an Indian and has been working in Kerala in southern India since July 1, 1963. He has already established three congregations in that area. The Canadians are working in Madras and Shillong and are also meeting with much success.

All the workers in the Far East have their hands full and deserve much praise. When one considers the conditions under which they work, the extremely hot weather, the danger of contacting some dangerous disease due to the filthy conditions and the many insects, then one cannot help but appreciate their efforts. The Far East is also a boiling pot of confusion, hatred and warfare. This points up the need even further for the gospel of Christ. Jesus is the only hope and answer for these teeming millions of people and they need the gospel now. The workers in the Far East are overworked and some of them need replacements so they can return home to rest. Will you not consider spending a few years of your life in this great mission field of the Far East?

OUR DEPARTED

SISTER MAY ELLIS

The Meaford congregation suffered a loss when sister May Ellis passed away on May 9. Truly a worthy woman is gone. She had many friends, and was loved by all who had the good privilege to know her.

She rendered obedience to her Lord in later life, and through all of her suffering during her last days she exemplified a wonderful Christian spirit. She followed the Master in always thinking of others. The large number of friends at the funeral parlor on May the 12th showed the high regard in which she was held in this community.

Services were conducted from Gardiners Funeral Home in Meaford.

SHILLONG, INDIA

Many brethren in Canada have come to know of the court case that was filed by Prenshon Kharlukhi, former leader in the church here, against the Canadian's living in the apartment over the church building here in Shillong, India. We know that many of you offered prayers in our behalf in the interests of the Lord's work here. We are pleased to report that the case was withdraw on the day it came up for a hearing in the court. We might say that we have had an answer to prayers. We appreciate the interest of so many in our plight here. Prenshon Kharluki is now joining himself to the Christian Church, from which he broke fifteen years ago. After all he has preached and written against them it seems difficult to believe he would do such a thing.

We continue in daily and weekly teaching and preaching. We have had a number of discussion with some men from Manipur, a territory State between here and Burma. This State is rather secluded in the mountains and is rather difficult to visit. However, David Hallet is going to try to go with some of these tribesmen to Churachandpur. There is some difficulty getting permission to go into that area. There is also some difficulty with transportation. We mailed one hundred copies of the Voice of Truth, a monthly periodical edited by brother Choate in Karachi, last Saturday to addresses in Manipur. A number of Manipur people are here in Shillong for education and training. They are also looking for something better than the denomination to which they have been associated. We hope to be able to guide them into the truth. One has to be careful here that it is not something other than the truth such people are looking for. We do not like to ever be suspicious of motives but we feel the need of caution.

THE MANITOU YOUTH CAMP

This article is written to inform you of the beginning of a new and different Youth Bible Camp which will be held on one of the "Manitou" Island in Lake Nipissing (Near North Bay, Ontario) August 3-8 of this year.

Of course, since the camp will be on an Island, the only way to get to it will be by boat. One large boat and several smaller boats and canoes will be used for transportation. For accommodations there will be at least one tent needed for each three attending and a larger tent to be used for chapel services and dining hall. We are planning on making arrangements to have these available.

This year's camp will be limited to boys who are fourteen years old or older. We hope that in another year we might have a similar arrangement for a girl's camp.

In addition to three daily Bible classes there will be evening services and devotionals. Recreation will include fishing, swimming, canoe trips (one down the French River to the Georgian Bay), hiking, etc.

The cost for the week's camp will be $15.00 per boy. This will include insurance as well as food, etc. Any money left over will be used to buy equipment for next year's camp.

Because of the nature of the camp, there will be one adult for every four boys. Also to avoid accidents there will be life jackets for everyone, daily radio contact with the mainland, expert life guard to supervise the swimming, no boating or canoeing without an adult being present, regular checks with the weather station, etc.

The camp this year will be limited to twenty boys. We wish we could plan for more but because of the lack of equipment and personnell, twenty is the limit. It will be on a first come, first serve basis that we will decide who's going. However, we are requiring that each boy be recommended by the preacher, elder, or leading member of a congregation of the church of Christ.

I have been hoping and praying that a camp like this could be made available to boys for quite some time. I believe that under such natural surroundings as will be present on Lake Nipissing, the various Islands, the French river, Georgian Bay, etc. it will be very easy to install in each boy a deeper love for his Creator as well as a deep desire to engage in that kind of recreation in which Christ will be present.

If you are an adult reading this, I hope you will try to encourage boys fourteen or over to make arrangements to attend this camp. Some of you could even offer to pay some boy's way to come.

If you are a boy that qualifies for this camp I hope you will seriously, consider the opportunities for spiritual growth and christian fun which will be available at "Manitou" and plan now to come. I know that some of you will be working and won't be able to come. If you don't have a summer job or are just going to be working for the month of July, then we will be looking forward to seeing you.

If you are interested and desire further information or if you have any questions, please contact: Clyde Lansdell, 103 Gertrude Street, East, North Bay, Ontario.

Avenue group from Toronto obeyed the gospel during the recent successful youth rally held on the Great Lakes Christian College campus. Another young person requested the prayers of the church. Another was restored on Tuesday of the same week when Joe Cannon spoke. A student at the college was immersed on the following Tuesday.

Amounts given for Bro. Cannon's travel fund plus the collection of $244.90 on Lord's day brought the contribution for the week to $605.60.

Fenwick, Ont.: Attendances at the recent open house were 99, 250 and 112. Contribution was $139.27.

Five young people were baptized during the meeting held by David Meyer of Ohio.

Toronto, Bayview Ave.: Besides the two who obeyed at the Youth Rally in Beamsville, one was immersed on April 28th at Bayview Avenue.

Toronto, Harding Ave.: A young man rendered obedience to Christ in baptism on April 22.

Toronto, Strathmore Blvd.: A young woman was baptized recently.

Toronto, Maplewood Ave.: Average attendance during the meeting held by Wesley Jones of Barrie was 78 with a high of 95 on Saturday evening.

Kingston, Ont.: Ron Smelser recently sought the prayers of the church and restoration to the fellowship of the saints there.

Ottawa, Ont.: May 31 to June 7 is the time announced for a meeting with Ross W. Swindler, of St. Louis, Missouri. V.B.S. is planned for August 17-21.

MISSION MONTREAL CLUB HARDING COLLEGE

"Mission Montreal" is the name designating a new study group and mission club at Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas. The purposes of the group are to study the French language, the culture and history of Quebec Province, and Catholicism. The members consider these studies as necessary preparation for doing mission work in the Montreal area.

Special project of the club is to raise money for the new building and needed equipment for the congregation in Lachine. The members also correspond regularly with Jerry Davidson, missionary in Lachine.

It was Brother Davidson's visit to Harding last fall which stimulated interest in forming the study group. James and Marilyn Tollerson had already told several fellow students of the campaign they helped with last summer in Montreal. When Brother Davidson showed slides and gave a short talk, a number of students expressed interest in the work.

GREAT CHURCHES IN THE MAKING

by L. Wesley Jones, Barrie, Ontario

Since our Lord is a "great God," and since the Church of Christ is a "greater and more perfect tabernacle," one would expect to find great congregations. The real greatness of God and of the Church may be obscured by our constant use of superlatives — We go about saying this is "great" and that is "great." We may be sure that greatness as descriptive of God and His Church has nothing to do with the mundane or puny interests which cause us to exclaim "great."

The greatness of God and His Church is seen in His magnitude and Her design. It is seen in the everlasting nature of God and the scope of the Church. God is great because He originated life and sustains it by His constant interest. The Church is great because of the gift of God by which it was purchased, because of the new life of those who are added to it, and because of the divine plan by which its work is perpetuated.

The Human Element

The greatness of God's design for the Church may be often obscured by the faults and frailities of the mere mortals who have the responsibility of leading and teaching the Church. The gospel treasure is in earthen vessels. A perfect plan is in imperfect hands. Sunday school teachers, gospel preachers, and elders of the Church are all clothed in flesh and subject to the mistakes of their forefathers.

The measured difference between the congregations of New Testament times may be expressed in terms of the membership and leadership. The Church at Ephesus had its problems with those who "turned aside unto vain jangling." But fortunately it also had Timothy, left there by Paul to deal with the problems. Philippi is always regarded as an outstanding Church, while Laodicea is remembered for its lukewarmness. Each Church had the same Christ and similar opportunities. The loyalty and leadership of the human factor made the difference. Some imbibed the Spirit, others quenched it. Some loved this present world, others crucified the flesh. A few were faithful even in death; many were cowardly and cruci-

GET READY TO GIVE!

by Clinton Brazle,
North Weyburn, Sask.

I was dumbfounded when an Adventist told me ten years ago that many of their members gave up to one-third of their income to the church. At that time I had never heard of any member of the church giving so liberally. Through the years I have watched the reports of growth of religious bodies and have noted the abounding liberality of thousands who believe in God and in Jesus but teach religious error.

I know too, that many believers in the church are giving more than ever before. We must prepare to give even more freely. The world yearns for a knowledge of truth. We must carry the saving message of the Cross to every creature.

We are calling for an army of 500 young Canadians to committ their lives to full service to the Lord. In a matter of months we will have committments from a vast number of teen-agers who want to help free the world from the shackles of sin. We need to be ready to help them to prepare and go. When they are prepared we need to be ready to support them. Though we will seek to train them to be willing to sacrifice and to live frugally, they will need our support. WE MUST GET READY TO GIVE!

The Lord has blessed us with the highest standard of living in history. Let us not use it on ourselves but

by J. C. Bailey

As I write these words a copy of the Bible lies open before me. This book has now been translated into more than 1100 languages or dialects, wholly, or in part. Hundreds of millions of copies of this book have been produced. Interest in it continue to mount and for many years Bible sales have increased over the sales of the previous years. No other book lives on like the Bible. No other book has been translated into nearly so many languages.

It does not lose its force by being translated. It was originally penned in Hebrew and in Greek but the English speaking world refers to it as "Our English Bible." We make no such claim for any other book in the world. Nor is this just a coincidence. The Frenchman calls it his book. The German calls it his book. Hundreds of nations and tribes refer to it as their book. There is just one answer to this "—the word of God is living and active—". (Hebrews 4:12). No one can deny that the Bible lives. Many men at various times have tried to destroy it. Some by physical means and some by ridicule but it LIVES.

How did we get our Bible? We shall let it speak for itself: "The Spirit of Jehovah spake by me, and his word was upon my tongue" (II Samuel 23:2). Summing up the Old Testament Scriptures Jesus says: "And he said unto them, These are my words which I spake unto you, while I was yet with you, that all things must needs be fulfilled, which are written in the law of Moses, and the prophets, and the Psalms concerning me" (Luke 24:44). Why must it be fulfilled? Jesus said: "If ye called them gods, unto whom the word of God came (and the Scriptures cannot be broken)" (John 10:55). Thus we see that Jesus refers to the whole Old Testament as Scriptures and He said THEY CANNOT BE BROKEN. To this we add: "Every scripture inspired of God is also profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness that the man of God may be complete, furnished completely unto every good work" (II Timothy 3:16, 17). That is how we got our Bible! It came by inspiration of God.

We shall study further: "Receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls. Concerning which salvation the prophets sought and searched diligently, who prophesied of the grace that should come unto you: searching what time or what manner of time the Spirit of Christ which was in them did point unto, when it testified beforehand the suffering of Christ, and the glories that should follow. To whom it was revealed that not unto themselves, but unto you, did they minister these things, which now have been announced unto you through them that preached the gospel unto you by the Holy Spirit sent forth from heaven: which things angels desired to look into." (1 Peter 1:9-12). That is how we got our Bible! BY THE HOLY SPIRIT SENT FORTH FROM HEAVEN. Listen again: "And we have the word of prophecy made more sure; whereunto ye do well to take heed, as unto a lamp shining in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day-star arise in your hearts: knowing this first that no prophecy of Scripture is of private interpretation. For no prophecy ever came by will of man: but men spake from God being moved by the Holy Spirit" (II Peter 1:19-21). That is how we got our Bible. Men spake as they were moved by the Holy Spirit.

The Old Testament was here when Jesus was here, and as we have shown, was used and endorsed by Him. As the New Testament was written it began to be circulated among the churches. Copies of the different books, that make up the New Testament were made by hand. There was no other way to make them then.

The first translation of any of the New Testament into English was made into English by a man by the name of Bede who lived in 674-735. When Wycliffe translated the Bible into English in 1380-82. The first printed Bible in English was made by a man by the name of Tyndale in 1525. Now the Bible could be circulated freely by the use of the printing press. With the Bible to show the way the long night of the Dark Ages was at an end.

How do we know that we have the Bible as it was given by those who wrote it? Men have found more than 1500 ancient manuscripts that contain the New Testament wholly, or in part. Thus every word can be carefully checked.

Not only this but we still have writings of those who copied from the New Testament during the second and third century, as I have copied from it for this tract, and from these writings, still in existence, we can take every word of our New Testament.

CLOTHING FOR INDIA?

GREAT CHURCHES IN THE MAKING

by L. Wesley Jones, Barrie, Ontario

Since our Lord is a "great God," and since the Church of Christ is a "greater and more perfect tabernacle," one would expect to find great congregations. The real greatness of God and of the Church may be obscured by our constant use of superlatives — We go about saying this is "great" and that is "great." We may be sure that greatness as descriptive of God and His Church has nothing to do with the mundane or puny interests which cause us to exclaim "great."

The greatness of God and His Church is seen in His magnitude and Her design. It is seen in the everlasting nature of God and the scope of the Church. God is great because He originated life and sustains it by His constant interest. The Church is great because of the gift of God by which it was purchased, because of the new life of those who are added to it, and because of the divine plan by which its work is perpetuated.

The greatness of God's design for the Church may be often obscured by the faults and frailities of the mere mortals who have the responsibility of leading and teaching the Church. The gospel treasure is in earthen vessels. A perfect plan is in imperfect hands. Sunday school teachers, gospel preachers, and elders of the Church are all clothed in flesh and subject to the mistakes of their forefathers.

The measured difference between the congregations of New Testament times may be expressed in terms of the membership and leadership. The Church at Ephesus had its problems with those who "turned aside unto vain jangling." But fortunately it also had Timothy, left there by Paul to deal with the problems. Philippi is always regarded as an outstanding Church, while Laodicea is remembered for its lukewarmness. Each Church had the same Christ and similar opportunities. The loyalty and leadership of the human factor made the difference. Some imbibed the Spirit, others quenched it. Some loved this present world, others crucified the flesh. A few were faithful even in death; many were cowardly and cruci-

GET READY TO GIVE!

by Clinton Brazle,
North Weyburn, Sask.

I was dumbfounded when an Adventist told me ten years ago that many of their members gave up to one-third of their income to the church. At that time I had never heard of any member of the church giving so liberally. Through the years I have watched the reports of growth of religious bodies and have noted the abounding liberality of thousands who believe in God and in Jesus but teach religious error.

I know too, that many believers in the church are giving more than ever before. We must prepare to give even more freely. The world yearns for a knowledge of truth. We must carry the saving message of the Cross to every creature.

We are calling for an army of 500 young Canadians to committ their lives to full service to the Lord. In a matter of months we will have committments from a vast number of teen-agers who want to help free the world from the shackles of sin. We need to be ready to help them to prepare and go. When they are prepared we need to be ready to support them. Though we will seek to train them to be willing to sacrifice and to live frugally, they will need our support. WE MUST GET READY TO GIVE!

The Lord has blessed us with the highest standard of living in history. Let us not use it on ourselves but

CHURCH LEADERSHIP

Arthur H. Beamish
Winnipeg, Manitoba

Titus. 1;5.

"For this cause left I thee in Crete, that thou shouldest set in order the things that are wanting, and ordain elders in every city, as I had appointed thee."

There can be little doubt that Paul fully recognized the great need of leadership in the Lord's church and that need was to be provided by a scripturally, qualified eldership.

Paul also said in 1 Timothy 3:1.

" . . . If a man desire the office of a bishop, he desireth a good work."

The recent fellowship meeting in Dauphin Man, had as it theme, "BUILDING FOR CHRIST", assigning various phases of this subject to a number of brethren. My assignment was "BUILDING FOR CHRIST THROUGH LEADER SHIP". At the conclusion of this lesson, some of the brethren suggested that I should have the material printed in the Gospel Herald, thus the reason for this article appearing in this issue of the Gospel Herald.

As a basic thought may I suggest that there must be a deep spirit of humility on the part of those men who would serve both as elders and deacons, and if this is manifest, there could be little doubt of many of the other qualifications being present.

I am sure that leadership is most essential and of the utmost importance in any organization or undertaking, if any worth-while measure of success is to be achieved.

"What is everybody's business is nobody's business", is surely a true statement, and as long as we have this attitude regarding leadership, nothing worth-while could be expected to be accomplished.

This being true in our everyday world, how much more it is necessary that there be efficient and qualified leadership in the church of our Lord? One of my great concerns in recent years has been, not only the fact that there is a dearth of leaders in the Lord's church, but that so little thought seems to have been given in encouraging and preparing young men for leadership in the church.

For the past several years, much has been said and written and efforts made with regard to the great dearth of preachers. This of-course may be true, but it is my firm conviction that, while we must encourage our young men to prepare for the ministry, a primary urgent need is for both men and women to prepare themselves for leadership and if this is not done, the church of the future, I feel, stands in danger of hindering its growth in its God given mission. Let me, however, hasten to qualify a statement I made in the previous sentence with regard to women and leadership. The statement has been made many times that, "Behind every successful good man, is a good woman", and I believe this to be true. I was blessed with a Christian Grandmother, mother and wife, who were constantly interested in my living the Christian life, and there have been many such fortunate men in ages past.

I believe that Christian women need to be encouraged to prepare themselves so that they can become the wives of both elders and deacons, not overlooking the evangelist also. Much more could be said and perhaps should be said on this matter, but as this is not the purpose of this lesson, we rest the matter at this point.

You have no doubt often heard or read the saying, "Putting the cart before the horse", and while there may be brethren who will not agree with my statement, I do believe that is what we are doing when we urge men to prepare for the ministry and omit urging men to prepare for the eldership in the church. I firmly believe that if we have capable and scripturally prepared leaders, (elders & deacons) the other need will follow, because men who are sincere and interested in the growth of the church will be ready to do the utmost to see that their young men will be urged to make that necessary preparation for the ministry.

The ideal situation in any congregation of the Lord's church is that it shall have its elders and deacons, and to this end every effort should be made to prepare men for this work, and to begin in the early years of life if this is possible.

Someone has made the following statement;—

"God give us men the world demands, men with steadfast will, patient, courageous, strong and true;
Men with vision clear and mind equipped,
His will to learn, His work to do."

There are of course situations where scriptural elders are not available, but there still must be leadership, and the best men available under such circumstances, should be pressed into service.

May I say, that all that I shall present here is not my own, but I have been fortunate enough to be able to obtain many thoughts from brethren who are much more capable than I to discuss this important phase of this work.

Spiritual leaders do not earn this distinction. Leadership in the world may be achieved in this way, but not leadership in the Lord's church. We become elders, deacons, evangelists, because of scriptural qualifications, as we find them in 1. Timothy 3. True, they do plan the work of the congregation, arrange, designate and direct such plans, but it is not because they have the ability to instruct, encourage, challenge, rebuke and comfort that they are made leaders, but because they qualify scripturally. In other words, they have developed that which God has blessed them with, so that they can serve in this way.

Spiritual leadership is not attained by promotion, either, but rather through humble service and Christian living. Such leaders are made through numerous periods of humiliation before God, through much prayer, tears, heart searchings, by a bold, unflinching, uncompromising embracing of the Cross, by a full and complete surrender of self and the sacrifice of every idol. Our prayer should be that we ask God to help us to be the kind of leader His church needs and deserves.

There are great possibilities and challenges before us providing we

OUR PESSIMISTIC AGE

Men are fond of labelling the age in which they live with descriptive titles. Often we see the present period called "the atomic age" or "the jet age" or "the space age". These speak to us of the wonders of new discoveries which shape the lives of those now living, and open new possibilities for generations to come. Despite the marvellous inventions of our time — or perhaps because of them — this could be called the "age of pessimism."

Behind this pessimism, one sees the truth of a statement written concerning an earlier age: "for that they exchanged the truth of God for a lie, and worshipped and served the creature rather than the Creator, who is blessed forever, Amen." (Rom. 1:25). Our society is not composed of men and women who bow down in emperor-worship as was found in the Roman world; nevertheless, our culture is man-centered to a degree that God is forgotten and His Word flouted.

In the nineteenth century men reached an attitude of super-optimism. To them the answers for man's problems lay within his grasp. It seemed that progress was inevitable. The evolutionary process was bringing man to a level of intelligence and behaviour where he could transform the world into a paradise. Here man would reign supreme, perfecting himself and his surroundings.

Then in 1914 came a pistol shot that was heard around the world, Blood, terror, and despair reigned for four years during the war that was to end all wars. Men attempted to believe that this was merely a levelling-off in the great evolutionary scheme. Years went by and some began to feel that the inherent goodness and common sense of men were prevailing. Then suddenly an egotistic little man shouted orders that were to be the death sentence of millions. World War II shattered the supreme optimism of those who believed that man could lift himself by his own bootstraps. Many are now saying that destruction is inevitable; the evil nature of man will bring about the self-destruction of the human race through selfishness and greed.

As Christians, we need to be concerned with the pessimism of our fellow men. We need not share in it. Several factors are present in our lives that, if understood and believed, would give us a brighter perspective than those who have trusted man to find the answers.

First, we are taught that this world is not our real home. In the language of Peter we are "aliens in a foreign land" (NEB, I Peter 2:11). It is easy for us to forget this at times, but it is true, and it does help to know that no matter what happens here, we have a destiny in another place. The Apostle Paul summed it up in one verse: "For we know that if the earthly tent we live in is destroyed, we have a building from God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens" (RSV, II Cor. 5:1).

Secondly, since we believe that our God could control the chariots of a Pharoah, a Nebuchadnezzar, a Cyprus of a Caesar, we believe that He can also control the jet planes of a modern tyrant. Our God is big enough to bring good from evil.

Third, we do not face and will not face terror or tragedy that men have not faced in an earlier age in which they remained steadfast. The acts of cruelty that accompany modern warfare find their counterparts in innumerable incidents in biblical history. Circumstances change, weapons change, faces change, but whatever evil deeds may be consummated in this age or a future age will be almost as old as man. Multitudes of displaced persons, slave labour camps, obliteration of whole cities, sexual indignities upon a conquered race, and the annihilation of whole nations are not modern inventions. Christianity teaches us that these will pass and that from the ruins of an old culture, new opportunities will arise.

Sometimes the pessimism of the world creeps into the church. Brethren look around and see apathy, discord, materialism, inefficiency,

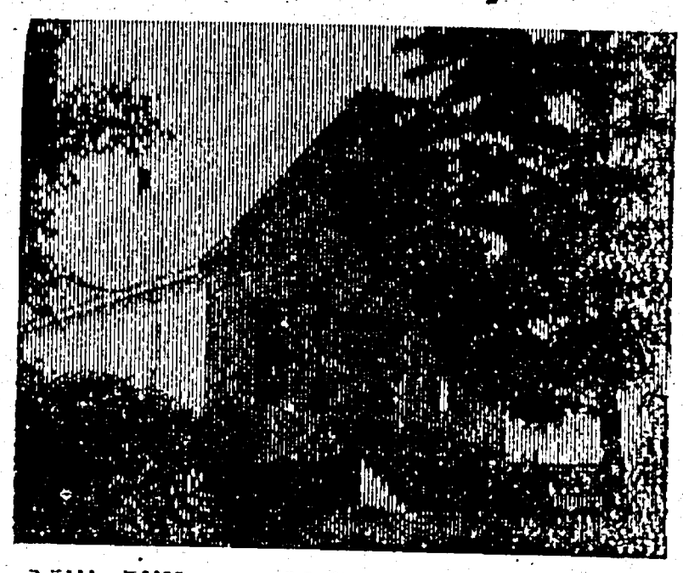
THE CHURCH IN HALIFAX

Halifax, Nova Scotia, Meeting House

The church of Christ, now meeting at 48 Convoy Avenue in the Halifax suburb of Fairview, had its beginning in the mid-1950's. It was at this time that Brother C. W. Murray, a Halifax civil service worker, left the Christian church and became the leader in an effort to establish a church in the Halifax area. J. C. Bailey then came in the summers of 1956 and 1957 for meetings in both Halifax and Mill Village (42 miles from the city). The 1956 efforts were helped by three brethren from State College, Penn.; O. L. Castleberry, F. P. Higginbotham and G. W. Thomas. David Lidbury came with brother Bailey in the summer of 1957 and stayed to work full-time with the two small congregations until September, 1958. Bruce Tetreau worked with these churches that winter, until the arrival of the present full-time worker, Walter Hart, in March of 1959.

The Halifax church met for a while in a room in the YWCA, then in a Masonic hall in the suburb of Fairview. Lots were purchased in this same suburb in 1960, and bonds sold and a building constructed in 1962. The first services in the new building were held in the fall of that year. The structure is on a large lot, and includes an auditorium seating about 150, six classrooms, nursery, baptistry, and an office.

Newspaper advertising, correspondence courses, door-to-door work, gospel meetings, vacation Bible schools and radio programs have all been used in efforts to reach the people of metropolitan Halifax with the gospel. The Bible correspondence work is very active, and the church began a regular Sunday evening radio broadcast last fall. The first vacation Bible school to be held in the new building (summer of 1963) resulted in a total attendance of 117, and only four chidren were from members' homes!



There are twenty-five members who now meet with the church here (although some of these are away for the summer). Contributions have grown from an average of $88 per month in 1958 to the 1964 budget of $325 per month. When this writer was away recently five different men either preached or taught classes in my place, giving an indication of the involvement the members show in the work here.

We are at this time looking forward to the arrival of ten college students from Texas who will help with meetings and Bible schools. They will assist in a vacation Bible school here July 6 to 10 and in evangelistic services July 12 to 19. Bro. Jack Mackey of Amarillo, Texas, will be the visiting speaker.

Many individuals and churches have assisted in the Halifax work in various ways. To all of these we extend our heartfelt thanks. We hope that you will see fit to continue to help, both financially and through prayers. Metropolitan Halifax has a population of about 240,000. We have only made a beginning in preaching the gospel to the people of this area. May God help us to have the wisdom and strength to take advantage of the gains of the past and of the open doors of the future!

MILL VILLAGE, N.S.

Mill Village, N.S. Meeting House

Mill Village is a rural community located two miles west of Shubenacadie, Hants County, Nova Scotia. It is generally considered that the restoration movement in Nova Scotia had its beginning in River John in 1815. It was most successful in Hants County, with churches established in Newport and West Gore in the 1830's. The Mill Village church probably had its beginning in 1855, but it was not until 1889 that the church building was constructed. During this period there were a number of active churches in the county. A Bible college was operated by the Tallman brothers in West Gore in the years 1908 to 1915.

Then came digression, together with the moving of faithful members to other parts of Canada and to the United States. The result was almost complete ruin to the work in Hants County. The West Gore church seems to have been the only one in the county that kept up activity thrcugh the years, but while it still goes by the name "Church of Christ" it has had a Baptist preacher for a number of years now.

The Mill Village church building sat idle for many years, with brother Fred Wallace, a local farmer, seeing that it was kept in repair. Thus it was that the building was available to help in the reactivation of the congregation in 1955, when C. W. Murray of Halifax took the lead in restoring activity. J. C. Bailey then came for meetings in the summer of 1956 and ten were baptized. Various preachers from other parts of Canada came for short periods during the winter, followed by J. C. Bailey for more meetings in the summer of 1957.

NEW BRUNSWICK '66

The past history of the church in New Brunswick would compare somewhat with the history of the church in the rest of the Maritimes. The church being fairly strong at one time, then reaching a very low ebb in the fifties. The work in Nova Scotia has been salvaged within the last seven years, and greatly revitalized during the last five years by the faithful and hard labours of the Walter Hart family along with the present members in that province.

In New Brunswick the church has not met with the same success. The Fred Betts' family of four members are continuing to hold services on the Lord's day mostly in their home. Brother Betts has been a member of the church for over forty years, and this good family represents a remnant of God's people.

In 1958 the L. Louis Pauls' family moved to Fredericton in an effort to salvage the work along with this nucleus of four members. These seven members met in the basement of the Pauls' home, which is shown in the bottom picture. The top picture shows the new YMCA building in which services were conducted in 1963. Special meetings with many good speakers were held. F. B. Shepherd, now in Hawaii, took a special interest in this work. The church in Becton, Texas supported this work well and also sent their preacher, Walter Rogers to New Brunswick twice for gospel meetings. Several Vacation Bible schools were conducted with a high enrollment of 62 in 1961. However, all these efforts seemed too little, and the Pauls found it necessary to make a change in 1963.

A bright ray of hope remains for New Brunswick, the "New Brunswick '66" group in Abilene are preparing to establish or strengthen the church in that province in 1966. This group is under the oversight of the Southside Church of Christ, in Amarillo, Texas. Latest addition to this group is the possibility of a well known and hard working faithful preacher in Canada to add stability to this well deserving effort.

A building fund of approximately $4,000.00 has been left over from last year for the work in New Brunswick. These funds are being used presently by the church in Halifax to reduce their financial burdens, but will be made available to the New Brunswick '66 group when it is needed for a new building.

Part of the New Brunswick '66 group are going to Nova Scotia this summer for a special campaign to assist with VBS and personal work during special meetings. Principal cities in New Brunswick will be visited to determine the greatest possibilities for a new work to be established.

While the few members struggle very faithfully in Fredericton, we hope to see the day when New Brunswick can be taken for Christ. I have been asked to write this article for this issue since we are well acquainted with the needs of New Brunswick. When the church becomes well established in New Brunswick, it will be an answer to our prayer when we left that province.

The Canadian mailing address for the "NEW BRUNSWICK '66" group is Box 577, Meaford, Ontario. Or the American address is Ronald Pauls, Church of Christ, 4400 Crockett, Amarillo, Texas. They will gladly supply further information upon request. Why not encourage them by writing to them now!

on others. Read Ephesians 4:28. Many have never experienced the joy of giving even 10% of their income to the Lord's cause. Why not start this week and adjust all other expenditures to this pattern.

Some who have regularly given a tenth for years may now be stimulated to abound in the grace and give 15% or 20%. A few will realize the possibility of giving one-fourth of our income to the Lord and not suffer for it. Some may even recognize that God's blessings to them will allow them to give one-third of their means to God's work. WE MUST GET READY TO GIVE!

It would be a great disgrace if the church failed to be ready to meet its responsibility to send willing workers out to preach. "How shall they preach except they be sent?" (Rom. 10:15)

Young people from the congregation where you worship will be seeking support to go out to preach in this decade. Give more liberally now and be ready to meet this challenge.

We need to be ready to send many workers to INDIA to take up the challenge NOW READY there. GIVE FREELY AS YOU HAVE NEVER GIVEN BEFORE. HAVE ABRAHAM'S FAITH, "The Lord will provide."

THE CHURCHES IN PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

(Editor Note: Although, to the best of our knowledge and as indicated in the article, all known churches on Prince Edward Island province are in various stages of digression from the New Testament way, we include a summary of their history. There is still interest in this area and hope of a new restoration there. E.C.P.)

It was early in the nineteenth century when several congregations were established in P.E.I. which were the origins of churches after the New Testament pattern. These seem to reach their greatest strength about 80 years after, in the last decade of the century.

In 1810 a church was organized at Cross Roads, Lot 48, by John Stewart, who had been baptized in Scotland by the Haldane brothers. This church was strengthened about 1815 by the coming of Alexander Crawford, who had left Scotland about 1811. He too was baptized by the Haldanes, and was independent. He is said to have immersed the first person on the Island. He organized other churches, but at his death about 1829, many of the followers joined with the Baptists. It is thought that sometime after 1812 he organized congregations at East Point (now Southlake), Montaque, and Tryon.

In 1820, a number of silk weavers from Paisley Scotland landed at Rustico, later moving up the river, which they named the Clyde, to a point where they settled, calling it New Glasgow. John Stevenson was their leader, and he began services in his home with weekly communion; his son Charles was the first baptized, and a meeting house was built on his farm. These are believed to have been Scotch Baptists at first, but were quite possibly influenced for further reformation by the followers of Glas and Sandaman, who had an assembly in Paisley. John died in 1862.

In 1844 there was a small congregation meeting in Charlottetown, and Dr. John Knox helped there during his long service in Lot 48. Dr. Knox came in 1842, a medical graduate of Edinburgh University, and preached on the Island for over 40 years. He re-organized the churches at Montague, and East Point in 1846. At this time there were over 300 disciples on the Island.

In 1855 Donald Crawford, a Scotsman, and a nephew of Alexander Crawford, came to New Glasgow. He made that his home for 40 years at least, while he preached throughout the Island, in N.S., N.B. and Maine. He conducted a school for preachers in his home about 1865 to 70, and many of his students became well known preachers.

In 1858 a church was founded at Summerside by Crawford. Here he baptized Archibald McLean in 1867. McLean was later to become well known in the brotherhood.

A church was founded at Breadalbane in 1878 by D. Crawford, and a building erected in that year.

A congregation was begun at Greenmount, near Tignish, by Crawford sometime after 1855, and a building erected in 1885-87. Some of the early members were from New Glasgow.

In 1856 Crawford re-organized the church at Tryon. It continued to be rather weak until after 1896, when it seems to have been absorbed by the Baptists.

At Murray Harbour a congregation began in 1898-99. Probably under the ministry of R. W. Stevenson .

About 1922 a church was started at Murray River under the ministry of C. E. Armstrong.

While the building at Fredericton was erected in 1927 under the guidance of C. E. Armstrong, the work here dates far back. Two sons of John Stevenson settled here in the 1840's, but continued to worship at New Glasgow, 6 miles away. When the church was started in Breadalbane, the members from Fredericton worshipped there, then later services were held in the public hall at Fredericton until the building was erected.

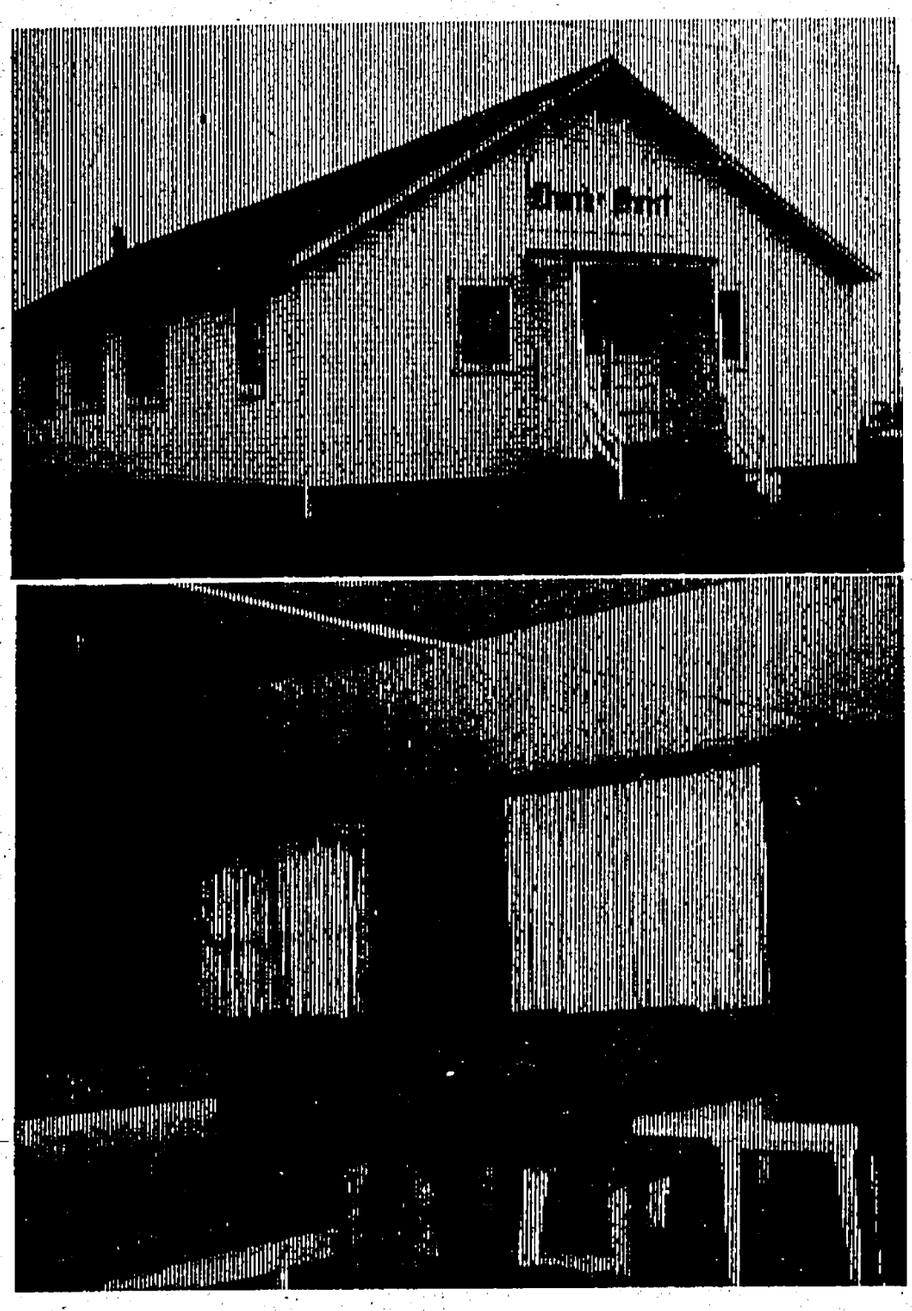
These eleven remaining churches have had a rather troubled and varied existence in the more than a hundred years that have passed.

While no clear cut date is evident when innovations were adopted, some influential dates stand out. From these it is indicated that the most rapid changes took place in the 20 to 30 years after 1890. One writer has stated that when Benjamin Franklin visited the Maritimes, and spoke several times on the Island in the early 1870's, he was given a great ovation. No preacher before or since arounsed so much enthusiasm. His paper the American Christian Review was widely circulated. When the Christian Standard came along it was taboo. In 1889 the Coburg church in St. John was the only one in the Maritimes using an organ.

Other points are significant: It appears that the American Christian Review was gradually replaced by the Christian Standard begun in 1866 by Isaac Errett, who was an advocate of instrumental music. Archibald McLean left Summerside in 1870, in 1882 he became secretary of the Foreign Christian Missionary Society for 39 years until 1921. He also became fourth president of Bethany College. No doubt he was a great influence for the missionary society on the Island.

After 1870 many Island young men trained for the ministry at U.S. schools such as Bethany, College of the Bible at Lexington, Kentucky, Butler, Drake, etc. These must have had a great influence on the future happenings on the Island.

As early as 1855 a mission board was started in the Maritimes but met with a good deal of opposition. In 1860 the American Missionary Society had some activity in the Maritimes. In 1909 an Island women's missionary society was started in Summerside. In 1922 the All-Canada Movement was organized in Ontario, and two of the charter representatives were Mrs. M. F. Schurman of Summerside, and E. S. Morton of Montague.



Donald Crawford had started The Christian in St. John, N.B. in 1883 and was its editor for at least 8 years. Other editors succeeded him until the paper was absorbed by the Canadian Disciple in 1923. Donald Crawford died in 1911 at the age of 91. The churches in the Island came to a crossroad and took the Pro-

STEPHENVILLE, NEWFOUNDLAND

The church was begun in this area in 1958. Lt. Jack Huebner put an ad in a Christian magazine asking for members of the church in this area to contact him. He at the time was a navigator with a flight test squadron here at Earnest Harmon Air Force Base.

The church met for a long time in the Huebner's home just off Main Street, behind the Bank of Canada, here in Stephenville. The first Sunday there were seven members present. We continued to meet in the homes of members throughout the winter. That first meeting was sometime in the early fall of 1958. By the spring of 1959 we had grown too large to meet in homes. We asked for and received from the Chief of Chaplain's, Washington, D.C., permission to use space in the Base Sunday School Building. Here the church met until the spring of 1962. Permission was then received to meet in the base Chapel Annex. However, only one hour was allotted which was not sufficient and the Head Chaplain wanted a contribution toward the Chapel Fund, so after four Sundays in the Annex, the church was given permission to meet in the United Church Building from 4 to 6 p.m. on Sundays, at no cost. However, we did insist on paying their light bill, which ran about 20 dollars a month.

Exterior and interior views of Stephenville, Nova Scotia Meeting House

Early in the year of 1962 the congregation purchased two lots in Stephenville, and won the bid for a building on base that used to house the base nursery. The lots cost 1400 dollars and the building 313 dollars. The building was torn down and the lumber and plumbing and light fixtures moved to the lot. There a beautiful building was erected through much work by many members of the congregation and the help of from one to three hired carpenters, as we could afford them.

We started meeting in the new building the first Sunday in September, 1962. Our average attendance at that time was 55. Our record attendance has been 75. Right now we range from 40 to 50. We have Bible study classes, six of them on Sunday morning at 10 a.m. Worship service is at 11 a.m. and Sunday evening services are at 6:30. On Wednesday evening we meet for a short worship service and Bible study. Four classes are conducted on Wednesday evening.

We have been lucky this past two years to have Mr. Ed Voss, a high school teacher in the dependent school system here at Harmon, and a graduate of ACC, to do our preaching. He had planned to leave at the end of this school term and we were wondering what we would do. We have relied on him heavily.

At our last business meeting as we were discussing our plan of action, Bro. Ed asked if we would like for him to return after a three to four week vacation and take up the work full time here. Of course we jumped at his suggestion and are now figuring how we can pay his lodging, living and salary expenses.

He is asking for far less than he is worth, but even so we are small (seventeen members — W. Hart, and have the church building to maintain. We hope to purchase a trailer for him to live in, and with just a little more help from some more congregations in the States or elsewhere, we should make out alright. Our contributions have been running right at sixty dollars a week. Our building is paid for. All we have are utility costs.

At the present time we seem to be losing more people than are coming in. However, we hope this situation will improve with summer rotations to our area. (With the exception of one Newfoundland convert, all the members of this congregation are U.S. servicemen — W. Hart).

We feel that Bro. Voss is making a big sacrifice but it's what he wants to do, so we are hoping and praying that much good will come from his efforts put forth here in behalf of the Lord's work.

Since occupying the new building there have been six baptisms and three restorations.

We would be happy to have you visit us if you ever have occasion to be up this way.

Mill Village: John Bailey of Keene, New Hampshire will be the speaker July 22 to 26. V.B.S. July 27-31.

An enthusiastic group of Abilene Christian College students continue to make plans to help in the Vacation Bible Schools and meetings in Nova Scotia. Ten students will do extensive door to door work and teaching. They will also visit cities in New Brunswick and evaluate opportunities there with the plan of moving to one in 1966 to start a new work.

Recent advertising costing $5.40 resulted in 24 Bible correspondence students from five provinces.

Book Reviews

Books to be reviewed in this column should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont., Canada.

Jesus Son of God, Workbook Study of Luke in 26 Lessons, by George Snure, A.C.E. Publishers, Memphis, Tenn. 109 pages, $1.00.

The author of this workbook is a Canadian now preaching in Memphis, Tennessee. He has done local work here in Beamsville and taught at Great Lakes Christian College.

He has come up with what we believe to be an excellent type of workbook. Unlike many so - called workbooks it is not just a book. That is, it does not simply give us a lot of words. But it is organized to aid in an orderly study procedure.

Each lesson begins with an introduction that outlines the highlights of the chapter being studied. The reading exercises emphasize individual understanding of the text. As a part of the lesson the student is challenged to give titles to the lesson and each paragraph. The questions are arranged in logical sequence leading the student step by step through the text. Then there are suggestions for further study.

If you are looking for something to stimulate your adult class we strongly recommend this workbook.

Sermons and Lectures of B. C. Goodpasture. Compiled by Willard Collins and John Cliett Goodpasture. B. C. Goodpasture, Publisher, Nashville, Tenn. 159 pages. Priced $2.50. (Plus exchange in Canada)

In reading the book reviews written by Brother Goodpasture it can be noticed that occasionally he has singled out some worthy volume as "monumental". Here is a work that is also monumental.

This book has been published in commemoration of his twenty-fifth anniversary as editor of the Gospel Advocate. For many years, brethren have encouraged Brother Goodpasture to publish a volume of his sermons. In addition to the sermons, a biographical sketch is included and eleven tributes to him by different leading brethren. Although these men are high in their praise, Brother Goodpasture writes, "They have been very charitable and generous in the treatment of their unworthy subject."

The eight sermons are classics. Four of them deal with vital doctrinal subjects, namely, The Inspiration of the Bible; The Virgin Birth of Christ; The Resurrection of Our Lord and Remove Not the Ancient Landmark. The second four discuss interesting Bible characters, namely, Simon Magus; Andrew; Barna-

This Special Issue regarding the church in The Eastern Provinces is made possible through the co-operation of Walter Hart of Halifax, Nova Scotia who has willingly gathered most of the material for us. He included the following paragraph in the letter which accompanied the special copy:

"There is a small congregation of U.S. servicemen at Argentia, Newfoundland, and they have from time to time helped the Halifax church financially. However, I have as yet received no answer to my request for an article, and my letter to the contact in the Goose Bay church was returned to me marked 'Unknown'."

HERE AND THERE

Montreal, Que.: The Owen Aikin family reached Quebec from Paris, France on May 27th. After some weeks in Texas they will return to take up work in Quebec city in mid August. The Timmerman family of Brussels, Belgium arrived on June 3rd and will be in the U.S. for a few weeks before taking up labours in Montreal.

Some Christians from the U.S. recently moved to Tois Rivieres, Que., about midway between Montreal and Quebec City and have indicated a desire for brother Davidson of Montreal to return for a meeting in their home this summer. Brother Davidson is corresponding with a gospel preacher who might move to this locality. Three young men of Freed-Hardeman College are working with the Montreal congregation for the summer months.

Two small ads in the daily paper resulted in 35 correspondence students. One lady who teaches Sunday School in a denominational church wants each of her 30 pupils to take this course because the church curriculum doesn't provide Bible training.

We still have a number of Bound Volumes of last year and former years on hand at $2 each or three for $5. Let us hear from you.

Correction: The May issue mentioned in the article on the Ottawa church that the Merritt family met alone in a motel room for the first Lord's Day morning service. Bro. Merritt informs us that Brother Jack Rogers, now of Calgary, met with them for this first service. We are happy to make this correction.

HERE AND THERE

Kingston, Ont.: V.B.S. dates are set for June 29 - July 3. A canvass of the area will precede the school.

"The Gatewood Meeting" in Toronto, September 28 -- October 2 will be in the 1,275 Eaton Auditorium. Every person in "Metro Toronto" is to be contacted by phone. Advertising will appear in the three daily newspapers, on billboards, subway stations, car tops and bumpers, invitation cards, posters, etc. Total cost is estimated to be $6,450. The goal is to have over 1000 present each night. Let us pray, give and attend.

Newmarket, Ont.: A Saturday night "Parents' Night" program was attended by about 135 parents and children recently.

Magnar Knutson, now of Bayview church in Toronto, is presently seeking support to enable him to take up work with the church in Newmarket. This arrangement seems most desireable in view of the special campaign presently conducted in the area as described elsewhere.

Toronto, Strathmore Blvd.: Six have been baptized in recent weeks, five of whom have been instructed by means of Bible Correspondence courses or cottage meetings.

Toronto, Bayview Ave.: Shig Ono, formerly of London has placed membership here.

Toronto, Fern Ave.: This church marked its 54th anniversary on May 3rd. Five preachers who went out from this church, Murray Hammond, Bert Thompson, Keith Thompson, Joe Cannon and Warren Whitelaw were reunited at this meeting for the first time since school days. Each had a part in the program of the day as did also the chorus of Great Lakes Christian College. Bro. Hammond, now of Winnipeg, continued in a one week meeting.

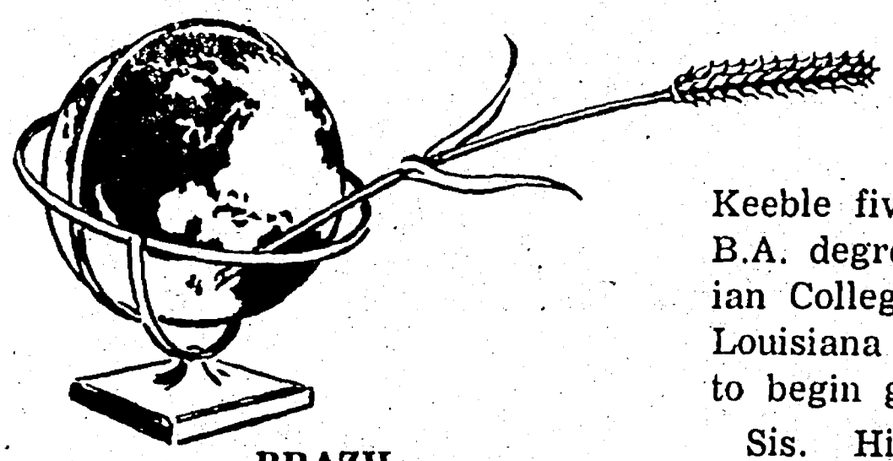
Hamilton, Fennel Ave.: There has been some response to the weekly radio program. Some have requested to take the Bible correspondence course being offered.

The entire contribution for May 24 was designated to be used in advertising the Herald of Truth program which can be viewed in the area each Lord's Day morning at 9 a.m. on Channel 7. This program is being aired by WKBW-TV, 1420 Main St., Buffalo 9, N.Y. and viewers are asked to write to this station expressing their appreciation. The special collection amounted to $305.79 and it is hoped to use it to rent two large sign boards for two months.

June Meeting: The meeting this year conducted by the Beamsville church was very successful. Almost 800 people assembled for each service and enjoyed wonderful fellowship and inspiring instruction from brethren Gardner and Wright.

During the gospel meeting just preceding the June Meeting there were nine responses to the invitation, four for baptism and five for restoration.

The Fenwick, Ontario church has requested to have the June Meeting in 1965 and is making arrangements to hold it in the E. L. Crossley Secondary School on Highway 20 just west of Fonthill. Our records show that Ottawa church has spoken for this meeting in 1967 but that 1966 is still available.



In addition to the five baptized during the recent meeting by David Meyer of Ohio in Fenwick, there were four who responded asking for the prayers of the church.

Jordan, Ont.: During the meeting in May the attendance averaged 107 and two were baptized.

Wellandport, Ont.: A church began to meet in this place on June 7 with encouraging attendance. A meeting with John Witt began on

A new congregation has begun in the Piraporinha section of Sao Paulo, Brazil, because of the conversion of a 28-year-old policeman to Christ.

This young man, before coming into contact with the New Testament church, had begun an independent religious group which had grown to about 30 members. After learning about the church of Christ, the young man, Bro. Alody dos Reis, decided to be just a Christian and was baptized. Through his teaching, 20 members of his group also have become simple New Testament Christians.

The group met as a congregation of the Lord's church for the first time April 19. Some 150 persons crowded into the tent where their meeting was held. Brethren from three other Sao Paulo congregations met with the new Christians, as well as many non-member visitors.

BELGIUM

The third annual May fellowship meeting of all the churches in Belgium was held May 1 in the new church building in Leige. About 100 attended. Attendance at the two previous meetings, which were designed principally for the men, had been 30 and 60. This year classes were organized for the women, too, and their presence accounted for much of the increased attendance.

Christians attended from churches in Leige, Brussels, Ostende, Verviers, Dinant, Namure, Battice and Paris, France.

TRINIDAD

A young Negro couple from Hermleigh, Texas, have announced their decision to go to Trinidad as missionaries early in 1965.

The couple, who are to be married soon, are Bro. Arthur Smith and Sis. Hattie Pearl Hilliard. Bro. Smith has been preaching since he was 11 years old and travelled with Bro. Marshall Keeble five years. He received his B.A. degree from Oklahoma Christian College May 29 and will enter Louisiana State Unversity this fall to begin graduate work.

Sis. Hilliard graduated from George Pepperdine College and is teaching in the Los Angeles school system. She is working this summer in the church exhibit at the New York World's Fair.

The Jackson Street Church of Christ in Memphis, Tenn., will oversee their work in Trinidad.

NORTHERN RHODESIA

A new congregation was begun at Shamilimo, about 23 miles west of Lusaka. Seven have been baptized, including a blind man who had preached for the Seventh Day Adventists for 29 years. At a recent Sunday afternoon meeting, 19 were present.

Bro. H. E. Pierce was to have preached in a gospel meeting in the area June 14-21. He and two native preachers, Brethren Watson M'hango and Peter Kandeshi, have been working with the new group.

Bro. Pierce reports that the United Nations has just opend an office in Lusaka, with staffs working for both UNESCO and FAO. Many Americans are coming into the area. The city, he reports, is destined to become a strong center for all of Africa south of the Sahara. The church has a great chance to overflow into all that part of the continent if enough Christian workers can be found to keep up with all the opportunities.

JAPAN

On May 5, the national Children's Day holiday in Japan, Christians from a wide area assembled at Zoshigaya, a community on the northern edge of Tokyo, in memory of the pioneer mission work of Bro. J. M. McCaleb.

Bro. McCaleb arrived in Japan in 1892 and after work in other areas bought property at Zoshigaya and established the church which even now meets in the building constructed more than 50 years ago.

During World War II many of the buildings in that section of Tokyo were destroyed by fire, but the meeting place of the church escaped damage.

Sis. Elizabeth McCaleb, widow of Bro. McCaleb, who now teaches children's classes at Omika, Japan, was present at the gathering.

THE MIDDLE EAST

The first annual Middle East Missionary workshop was conducted in Jerusalem, Jordan May 12-14. Those present were: Atallah G. Azar, native worker in Beirut, Lebanon; Bob Douglas, of Cairo, Egypt who is supported by the 6th and Arlington church in Lawton, Oklahoma; Ernest Stewart of Jerusalem, Israel who is supported by the Western Avenue church in Toledo, Ohio; (The Jordan government was gracious enough to permit his coming for the workshop, even though it is against all regulations.) J. C. Choate, from Karachi, Pakistan, supported by the Central church in Ada, Oklahoma; Everett L. Huffard, Jerusalem, Jordan supported by the East Gadsden church in East Gadsden, Alabama; Carl Matheny, Beirut, Lebanon, supported by the Lynn Street church of Parkersburg, W.Va.; Evertt Wayne Huffard, Jerusalem, Jordan.

The history of the church in the Middle East shows it to be one of the most neglected areas in the world in our generation. Even though the land of the Bible is found in this area, yet, probably because it is primarily Moslem, we have neglected carrying the gospel to them. These are not all of the men who are in the Middle East but the history of their work, tells a pretty complete story. In August of 1960, Bro. Stewart entered Israel and since then about 63 have been baptized. In August of 1961, Bro. Matheny went to Beirut and since his arrival seven have been baptized. In June of 1962, Brother Choate arrived in Karachi and 58 have been baptized. In July of 1962, Bro. Douglas began working in Cairo and he has witnessed 13 baptisms. In July, 1963, Bro. Huffard arrived in Jerusalem, Jordan and fourteen have been baptized in Jordan. Work in Islamic countries is very difficult

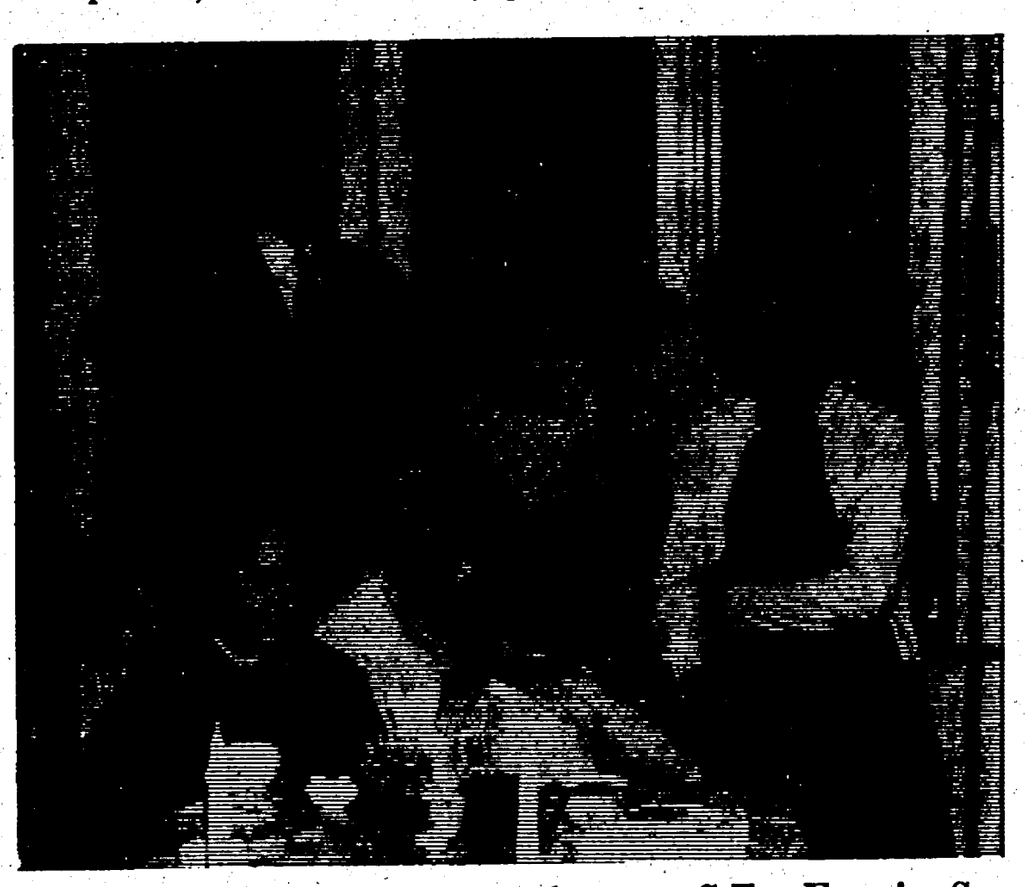
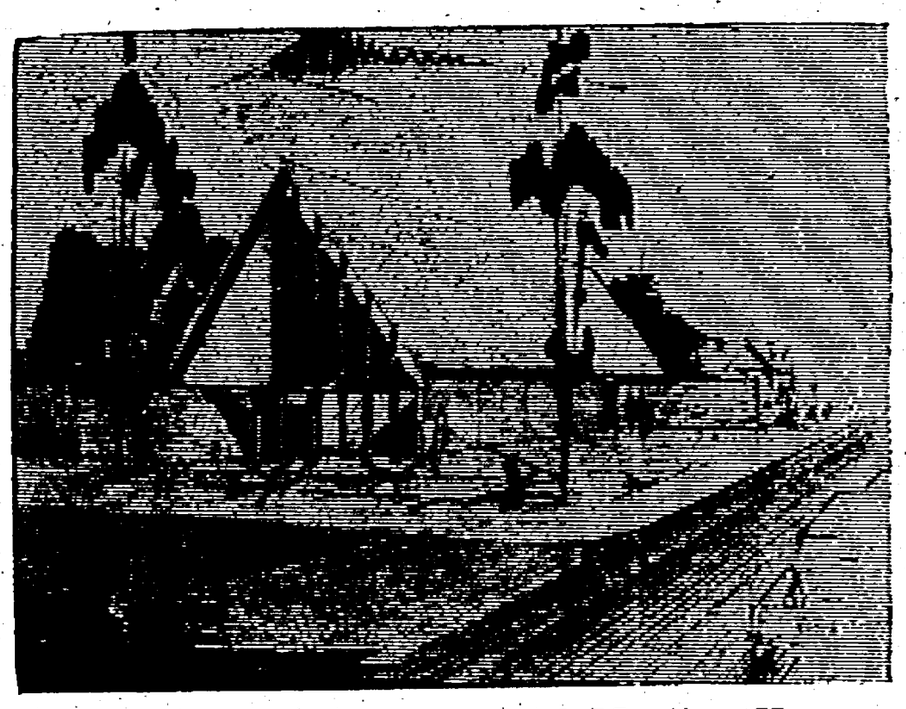
by Jerry L. Davidson



The Restoration Movement first came to Montreal in the early part of this century; however, the efforts were not substantial enough to produce a lasting congregation after the New Testament order. It was not until 1956 that a more decisive attempt was made to establish a permanent congregation. Alvin Jennings and his family moved from Saskatchewan and started meeting in their apartment. Later, a Y.M.C.A. room was rented as the meeting place and the congregation began to grow. In 1959 the writer and his family joined the efforts, having moved from Battle Creek, Michigan. Shortly thereafter, the Jennings moved to Burlington, Vermont to start working with a newly established congregation.

Because of the need to find more suitable meeting quarters, an excellent piece of property was purchased in 1960 in the suburban city of Lachine. A building (wood frame dwelling house) on the lot was awaiting demolition; however, permission was received from the city to make temporary improvements to use it for a meeting place and preacher's residence. In this predominantly English-speaking community the church has been well received and the Cause has become more firmly established.

Through the efforts of the local brethren and the generosity of many brethren elsewhere, the property has been paid for and $23,000.00 has been contributed to a building fund. Plans have been completed for a modest building with adequate facilities, which will seat about 200 people. There will be ample class room space and a baptistry, which the brethren do not have at the present. It is expected that the building will be begun in the late summer.



Since its beginning, the congregation's membership has fluctuated considerably, because of brethren moving in on temporary work assignments, then out again. It is estimated that over one hundred members have been associated with the congregation in the past eight years. This number includes about 40 people who have been baptized, and of these, many have moved away, while others have fallen away. So far this year two have been baptized. In March a lady from the immediate community was immersed and only a few days ago a young French Canadian mother obeyed the Gospel. Until about a month ago she had been a faithful Roman Catholic. Her husband, who became a Christian about four years ago, has expressed his desire to be restored to faithful service. This brings the membership to about twenty, which is expected to increase to more than twenty-five by the end of the summer, due to others moving in.

Evangelistic efforts are to be strengthened by the S. F. Timmermans who are moving here within a few weeks from Brussels, Belgium. They plan to work with the present congregation until it seems advisable to start a French-speaking work in another part of Montreal. Brother Timmerman has had sixteen years experience in the French-speaking field.

Special teaching efforts on the part of the congregation have included Gospel meetings, two evangelistic campaigns with outside help, three very successful vacation Bible schools, preaching in the park, the placing of teaching ads in both English and French newspapers, and the maintenance of Bible correspondences in the two languages. Three young men from Freed-Hardeman College are planning to spend the coming summer in assisting the work in every way possible.

Architect's sketch, Montreal Meeting House

Congregations sending regular support to the work in Montreal are: Glasgow, Ky.; Allen and Edgewood, Jackson, Tennessee; East Point, Georgia; New Hope church, Middleton, Tennessee; Holmes Rd., Lansing, Michigan; Madison St., Clarksville, Tennessee.

Quebec City

The second congregation in the province is scheduled to begin in Quebec City, the provincial capital, this fall. Owen Aikin and his family are moving there, after closing out eleven years of work in France. The Bible correspondence course, offered by the Montreal brethren, has gone into many Quebec City fied the Son of God afresh.

GREAT CHURCHES

Contemporary Churches

Some churches stand out today for their diligent pursuit of good works. They are known throughout the brotherhood for the example they have set—the pioneering they have done. Like the Thessalonians, their faith is spread abroad, and it is necessary to say very little about them—their success for the Saviour is well known. They are great Churches.

One congregation is known for its mission work. It has solved problems which others found too formidable. Another has pioneered in the care of the needy—thus, preaching the gospel by its very manner of living. A third congregation has shown the way in its teaching and training programme. Even as Paul used the activities of one Church to stir up another (2 Cor. 9), so should we be inspired by these examples achievement.

Canadian Churches

There is a forward thrust in the work of the Lord in Canada. We have gained momentum that will not be easily checked. God has blessed the labours of many good men for many good years. The seed they have sown is being harvested, and there are many great Churches in the making. There is certainly nothing mysterious about what is taking place.A pioneering spirit of sacrifice, true to the Book and with the vigour of the frontier, has not only built, but also rebuilt working Churches. Those who have preceded us, some yet living, others gone to their reward, have planted and watered. God has given the increase. We have the solemn duty to follow them as they followed the Christ. This is the manner in which the Church has developed in every generation and in every clime.

The progress and accomplishment which we witness today are explicable upon these simple grounds: the Word of the Lord has been preached, a crucified and risen Lord proclaimed, and men and women have given their lives in the cause of restoring New Testament Christianity. The seed has taken root, and slowly at first, but now with greater and greater momentum, the cause of our Lord is moving ahead. In such a situation, it is no wonder that there are some great Churches in the making.

Old and New

Older congregations are revising and rebuilding their programmes of work. Acting with the spirit, "if the Lord will," Canadian Churches are awakening to the realistic and fruitful possibilities of planning their work for years in advance. Some congregations which have never really thought ahead for more than six months at a time are beginning to realize that what they lack today is the result of a failure to plan and pray yesterday. These mature congregations are awakening to the need for bold new thrusts in evangelism. They are becoming convinced that the Holy Spirit will guide and bless them in telling the old, old story through means that are as modern as tomorrow.

Some great new Churches are in the making. Congregations conceived by design and not by division, born of vision and not of variance, will reach into new communities, convert thousands who have never heard, and inspire us all with their faith. New Churches have some distinct advantages. They have no mistakes to live down, no image to overcome, no human traditions to break. They are often established where new homes are being built and where those whom they are attempting to reach are therefore unsettled from their social and denominational attachments of the past. They have an ideal group of prospects.

These newer congregations will learn from their older sister Churches and will avoid some of the pitfalls into which they otherwise would fall. And, the fellowship between the older and the newer Churches will stimulate growth in each.

Rural, Village and City

We see great Churches in the making in widely different settings. The rural Churches are becoming convinced that they don't have to close their doors just because so many are "going to town." The congregations located in villages are praying for and receiving strength to overcome static situations and settled sectarianism. The barriers can be broken down, they have learned. They realize the gospel is just as powerful here as anywhere.

In our swelling cities congregations are faced with language barriers, property problems, and impending obscurity. Shift work, materialism, and the lure of entertainments take all of everyone's time. Things are certainly not what they used to be when these congregations were established—and the brethren know it! As surely as a problem well understood is half-solved, our brethren in the city congregations are coming to grips with their special challenge. They will not attempt to compete with the denominations on their ground, but they will not hesitate to compete for the minds of men using the greatest single force in the world—the gospel of Christ. Yes, we see some great Church in the making in the city!

Things Are Looking Up

There are reasons for optimism. New buildings, fresh cooperation, a firm spirit in dealing with problems, numbers of conversions, and a willingness to examine the "home Church" and analyze its weaknesses—these are all good signs. An increased emphasis upon preaching the gospel away from home, and the inspiring examples of those Canadians who have actually gone to difficult foreign fields, may very well have done more than any other group of factors to induce this spirit of out-reach at home. Things are looking up because someone has looked out. Great Churches will be made even sooner because some have said, If you will go, we will send.

Among the many things the Holy Spirit is saying to us now, at this hopeful time, is this: "Do all things without murmuring and disputings: that ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world; holding forth the word of life . . ."

A VISIT TO THE W.C.C. CAMPUS

by Geoffrey H. Ellis

It was my good fortune to be present at a meeting of Christian College presidents held on the campus of Western Christian College early in June. Apart from the privilege of association with the administrators of a number of our larger Christian Colleges in the U.S., and the worth of the interchange of ideas experienced at this gathering, it was a genuine pleasure to visit for the first time our Christian College in the West.

In the truest spirit of the pioneer, the hardy band of faithful, dedicated Christians comprising the W.C.C. staff is penetrating the frontiers of a new era for the Cause in Western Canada through Christian Education. Facing frustration, privations, and heartaches that would defeat most of us in this age of softness and personal gratification, the staff has struggled and has succeeded in carving from the briefest promise of a brighter future a school of which all we who are brethren in this great land of Canada can be proud.

Disdaining the plainness and inadequacies of the physical plant—a plant that is basically commodious if not finely appointed—a determined staff of capable teachers together with a cheerful body of loyal students have established an academic record superior to most public schools in the region. They have shared in the good things of the Kingdom as well. The spirituality that can be felt on the campus is compelling young men and women to obey the gospel, to seek higher ground for personal goodness, and to make decisions for lifetimes of service in future years. We can only rejoice when we view in anticipation the blessed influence of an increasing stream of inspired young people knowledgeable in the scriptures, committed to Christ, capable of leadership, going forth from this school to take their place in the Kingdom.

I would strongly urge all Western Christian College supporters to express often and emphatically your appreciation for Dan Wieb, Ernest Andreas, Roger Peterson, Miss Lillian Torkelson, and the others who are leading so effectively in their important work. Especially, as the opportunity is now before the College to buy the entire physical plant used by the College—a plant which will be adequate for many years to come—for a cost no greater than a better-priced home. I would encourage brethren everywhere to come to the support of this urgent endeavor. May God continue to bless Western Christian College.

complacency, and pride displayed by the saints who are relatively small in numbers as compared to the world's three billions. They ask, "Can this little band be the representatives of the almighty God of Heaven? Look how few they are and how slowly they grow in numbers."

Of course the answer is that God does not see things as man sees them. As an eternal God, He cannot be tied down to a human time table nor an anxiety for numbers. He is more concerned with quality than quantity, although He does provide a way for "whosoever will."

There is a joy belonging to the Christian life that can transform a dungeon into a palace, a cross into a throne, and manacled hands into a sermon. The Christian should be the supreme optimist who views world history and changing times as the workshop of God. God's will must prevail. His purposes for us are good. "Finally, my brethren, rejoice in the Lord" (Phil. 3:1). "Rejoice in the Lord always: again I say, Rejoice . . . in nothing be anxious but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known unto God" (Phil. 4:4-6).

TARGET: CANADA — PORT ARTHUR / FORT WILLIAM

Bro. and Sis. Roy D. Merritt expected to arrive in the twin cities of Port Arthur and Fort William, Ontario, in time to conduct the first Lord's Day worship services on June 28. They will spend the next month in trying to locate any former members of the church who might be living in the area, locating quarters which can be rented for regular Sunday services, finding housing for their family and moving their household effects from Ottawa, and beginning a program of advertising in advance of the gospel campaign which is scheduled to begin August 12.

As of June 15, exactly 50 workers had made definite reservations to be in the Lakehead for a least part of the campaign. These include 12 gospel preachers and at least six elders.

Workers besides the Merritts, the Harold Hazelips, and the Joe D. Grays, previously mentioned in the Gospel Herald as leaders of the campaign, include Bro. and Sis. Wallace Bales, Valley Station, Ky.; Bro. and Sis. James Brasher, and Bro. and Sis. J. T. Howard, Sulphur, La.; Bro. Ed Broadus, Duluth, Minn.; Sis. Mary Crosthwait, Bro. and Sis. Secil Davis, Bro. and Sis. Arthur Edwards, Bro. and Sis. R. D. Graham.

Bro. and Sis. Hollis Maynard, Bro. and Sis. Horace Puckett, Bro. and Sis. H. D. Robinson, Bro. and Sis. L. G. Thompson and Bro. and Sis. Jim York, all of Louisville, Ky.; Bro. and Sis. Loren Elkins, Lake Charles, La.; Bro. and Sis. Kenneth Galloway and Bro. and Sis. Charles Luttrell, Pleasure Ridge Park, Ky.; Bro. Murray Hammond, Winnipeg, Manitoba; Bro. Steve Isgitt and Bro. and Sis. C. L. Patterson, Houston, Texas.

Bro. Bill Hilton and Bro. and Sis. Don McKay, Abilene, Texas; Bro. Philip Jamison, Pasadena, Texas; Bro. Dennis H. Johnson, Park Rapids, Minn.; Bro. C. G. McPhee, St. Catharines, Ontario; Bro. Louis Pauls, Meaford, Ontario; Bro. Keith Thompson, Beamsville, Ontario; Bro. and Sis. Clayton Speer, Valdosta, Ga., and Bro. Jimmy Roden, Hubbard, Texas.

The actual "meeting" dates are August 16 through 30. The four days preceding this time will be spent in house-to-house visiting, inviting people to attend the services. Intensive personal work, including home teaching, film strips, correspondence courses, and tract distribution will continue throughout the campaign.

The meeting will be held in the auditorium of the Gron Morgan High School, Marlborough Avenue, Port Arthur.

Christians throughout Canada are asked to send in names of any contacts they may have in the Lakehead cities, relatives, friends, or former members of the church in other places. Send them to Roy D. Merritt, P.O. Box 924, Port Arthur, Ontario. Most of all, the group asks the prayers of brethren everywhere that all that is said and done will be to the glory of our Lord.

homes, and for follow-up, studies have been held in several homes. There is every reason to be optimistic over the prospects.

Bro. Owen Aikin

More recently it has been learned that there are the possibilities of new works being started in Sherbrooke and Trois-Rivieres, which are both cities of over fifty thousand people.

Mission Study Group Started at Harding

To further promote the efforts in Quebec, a group known as the "Montreal Mission Study Group" has been started on the campus of Harding College in Searcy, Ark. The group's motto is, "Montreal Needs the Master". Their work includes studying French, Roman Catholicism, Canadian history, mission work methods, etc. An exodus to Montreal of several Christian families is the primary objective of the group.

Montreal World's Fair

Montreal is the chosen site of the 1967 World's Fair. It is hoped that something might be done to take advantage of the teaching opportunities during that event. Since the Montreal brethren have been preoccupied with their building plans, no step has yet been taken toward securing exhibition space. We would like to hear from brethren who would be interested in such a project.

The future is beginning to look bright for the church in Quebec. Should anyone be interested in learning more about the present work or the proposed works mentioned herein, please write to the church at 760-44th Ave., Lachine, Quebec.

but not impossible. Protestant denominations have tried to buy members by giving them money, clothing, food, building hospitals, and educational institutions but have failed to make much progress. By teaching the powerful gospel of Christ the church now has a beginning and in many instances have accomplished more than protestant groups have accomplished with many years advantage.

gressive road. All adopted the instrument, most adopted societies, and in subconscious fear of being too different from the religious groups around them, they came to be much like the other bodies. Other practices were added as the opposition died out with the death of the older generations. Some of these were the sharing of a preacher with the Baptists; raising of money by means of sales, dinners, socials; and the use of choirs; and special ceremonies and observances of days such as Christmas and Easter.

In 1964 at least three churches bear the name Christian Church, while the others are called Church of Christ. The All Canada paper Canadian Disciple lists four as contributors to Unified Promotion and occasionally lists reports from some of them. This may indicate some favor for All-Canada. However, a number of congregations have ceased to support the missionary society and practice direct support to mission workers in several parts of the world; the All-Canada is in disfavor with these.

In the 20th century the Island churches have depended upon preachers trained outside the province, first in U.S. schools; then the All-Canada College begun in Toronto in 1922 to train preachers. This school fell from favor in the 1930's. Alberta Bible College at Calgary began to supply some preachers to the Island in the 1940's and 50's. During the latter period, Kenneth Norris, a former professor at Alberta Bible College, moved to Montague. He has conducted a radio program which is widely heard in the Island, Nova Scotia, and western Newfoundland. About 1960 the Maritime Christian College was established in Charlottetown, adjacent to Central Christian Church, for the training of workers. K. T. Norris is the principal or director of studies. The students in training take academic subjects at nearby Prince of Wales College, and get practice in preaching in the various Island churches or at River John N.S. The aim of the school is to evangelize the Maritimes.

can have effective leadership, men of God who are not afraid to live and work for God and His church.

Because of the great advancement today in the field of science and other related fields of learning, the successful breaking into the many secrets of the earth, the abundance of the things we enjoy today, one begins to wonder how close we really are to God, how do we view our various religious responsibilities, how do we feel regarding our worship to God. As we come together to the various church services several times each week, is it possible that our worship has lapsed into a rigid, unfeeling ritualism? It is therefore, important that we do pause to evaluate our attitudes towards our worship as well as our other responsibilities. It is of the utmost importance that the outward form of Christian worship be more than a public obedience in service, it must mean more than great crowds, programs, or attractive buildings etc.

Truly there is an existing need for spiritual leadership, men who are really dedicated to Christ, and thus able to train in spiritual living toward the development of positive character.

MILL VILLAGE

Brother David Lidbury helped brother Bailey during the summer and then stayed to work full-time with the Mill Village and Halifax churches for a year, followed by Bruce Tetreau who worked with these congregations for six months. Since March, 1959, Walter Hart has driven out from Halifax to help in the work.

There are at this time about thirteen members meeting with the Mill Village church, some of them driving from as far as twenty miles away. Sunday school and worship services are held each Lord's day at two in the afternoon, and midweek Bible study on Thursday evening of each week.

HERE AND THERE

Vancouver, B.C.: Brother Marshall is in his seventh year here. V.B.S. is July 13-17.

The seventy year old building has been kept in good repair and provides good meeting facilities for the church. A basement with three classrooms has been added, with an old furnace.

The church has had a number of meetings and Bible schools since its reactivation. Almost every child in the community attends the vacation Bible school held each summer. We look forward to the best school yet this summer, as we will have the help of ten college students from Texas. It is hoped to use the community school building as well as the church building so that many more students can be enrolled. Brother John Bailey of Keene, N.H., is to preach for a series of special meetings July 22 to 26, with the college students also being used to advertise and participate in these meetings.

This congregation provides $40.00 per month support for brother David Hallett in India, as well as helping in other worthy endeavors. While plagued with a problem common to rural churches, movement to urban centers, we believe this church still has the power to be an effective light for Christ in the community which it serves.

OUR DEPARTED

SISTER ADA PETCH

The church at Sundridge has suffered a distinct loss in the passing of its oldest member. Sister Ada Petch, whose earthly pilgrimage was fourscore and five years, was called home to rest from her labors on the 15th of May. Ada Elford was born on the first day of May, 1879, being the daughter of Brother and Sister Peter Elford of Meaford, Ontario. At the age of twelve years she was "born again" by her obedience to the terms of the Gospel, and she never wavered in her service to God. Throughout her long life she was an example and an inspiration to many. She was married to Charles W. Petch in July, 1899 and five children were born to this union: Emma (Mrs. Reynolds Pratt) of Charlton, Ontario, Philip of Meaford, Ontario, Viola (Mrs. Alex Preston) of Sundridge, Ontario, Donald of Markdale, Ontario, and Eva (Mrs. Dryden Sinclair) of Wichita Falls, Texas. These all remain to mourn the passing of a dear mother. Truly they sorrow, but not as those who have no hope. There are also twenty-four grandchildren and sixty-one great-grandchildren.

Sister Petch was the wife of a gospel preacher. Most of their labors in the Lord's work were carried out during the early, lean years when preachers were poorly supported, and Brother and Sister Petch were no strangers to long hours of hard labor that they might supply that which was lacking on the part of their brethren. Sister Petch was a good help-meet for her preacher husband. She followed him gladly where opportunity called even though it meant separation from home and loved ones as well as material sacrifice. She willingly shared the loneliness that is known only to a preacher's wife, as well as the hardship, the privations, the anxieties, and the work. She also knew the crowning joys and satisfactions, the hopes and the abiding friendships that are found only in this great work. Charles and Ada Petch were well known throughout all of Ontario, but much work was also done in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Montana.

Sister Petch was predeceased by her faithful companion in 1938 as the result of a tragic accident. Since that time she has walked the roadway of life alone. Now she is gone but her life will continue to inspire those who knew her to greater faith and service.

Funeral services were conducted, May 18th, in the Sundridge community centre. Brother Clyde Lansdell preached the sermon. Brethren Gordon Dennis, Brodie Harrell and Jim O'Neal assisted. Burial was in the family plot at Charlton. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord" (Rev. 14:13).

ROGERS

Bertha Mina Rogers was born in Meaford, Ontario, in 1882 and died in the Burnaby General Hospital on May 19, 1964. She was married to John Mallory at Carman, Manitoba, in 1901. The young couple moved to Salmon Arm, in British Columbia, in the year 1905, where they continued to live for 19 years. A daughter, Amy, died there at the age of fourteen, leaving the bereaved couple with one son, Audrey. From Salmon Arm they moved to Lulu Island, where a gospel meeting held in the basement of their home (conducted by Brother Hugh Rogers) resulted in eighteen baptisms, thus forming the Blundell congregation of the church of Christ. They moved later to Creston, and from there to Crawford, Bay, and stayed briefly in Nelson and Kelowna before returning to the metropolitan area of Vancouver. Two years ago they celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary. Sister Bertha and Brother John have always been interested in the church of the Lord. The present Burnaby congregation acknowledges that its new building was made possible through their generosity.

A son, a grandson, and two great-grandchildren survive, to whom we extend our sympathy. The long journey is ended for our Sister Mallory, and although we said "Goodbye" in a funeral service on May 23rd, we sorrow not as those who have no hope. To die in Christ after a long and useful life spent in Christian service is not a tragedy. The heart-breaking fact that so very many live and die out of Christ, without hope and without God in the world, is the real tragedy. She was laid to rest in the Ocean View Cemetery. The writer conducted the funeral service.

—Earl B. Severson

Two great leaders in the church in the Southerwestern United States, known to many Canadian brethren an especially to those who attended Abilene Christian College, passed to their reward during the past month.

Bro. R. C. Bell, a teacher of Bible in Christian colleges for 50 years, 25 at ACC, died in Abilene Sunday, June 14. He attended the old Nashville Bible School, now David Lipscomb College. He later received the Master's and Doctor's degrees from other institutions, and began teaching at ACC in 1919. He wrote extensively for several religious periodicals, and published a number of study books on the New Testment.

Funeral services were held June 16 at the College Church of Christ in Abilene.

Bro. G. C. Morlan died May 17 in Kansas City where he was visiting a daughter. He, too, had been a long-time faculty member at ACC, having come to the school in 1916 and taught there until his retirement in 1958. Following this first "retirement" Bro. Morlan joined the faculty of George Pepperdine College in Los Angeles and taught five more years, thus rounding out a total of 48 years spent in serving the cause of Christian education.

Funeral services for Bro. Morlan were also held at the College church in Abilene. He was 76 and Bro. Bell was 87 at the time of his death.

THE GATEWOOD MEETING

by Ed Bryant

The churches of Christ in Toronto are hard at work together, planning and preparing for The Gatewood Meeting, September 28th through October 2nd, at The Eaton Auditorium. With the place of the meeting centrally located and in a neutral setting, it is felt that many will be attracted to hear the gospel of Christ for the first time. Our speaker is Brother Otis Gatewood, noted evangelist and missionary and former President of Michigan Christian Junior College.

As long ago as October, 1963, plans began to form for this city-wide evangelistic effort. Elders of the church in Toronto met with other serious and interested men and officers of the church to plan for the second annual Training-For-Service workshop and lectureship. Visions of what the combined efforts of the congregations of the church in a city-wide campaign could accomplish were aired with enthusiasm. A committee of men from each congregation was formed and asked to study the idea and bring back recommendations for success. Auditoriums and halls were contacted. Prospective speakers were invited. As a result, The Eaton Auditorium was booked and Brother Gatewood accepted the invitation to speak.

Recommendations returned by the committee formed to study the idea were considered. The Promotion Committee, responsible to the elders of the church in Toronto, was formed and empowered to appoint other committees to organize and carry out the work. The name was later changed to the more descriptive Planning and Finance Committee. Four other committees were then formed; Advertising and Publicity, Attendance, Program and Follow-Up, to cover all phases of the effort from beginning to far beyond the end of the meeting itself.

By far the most ambitious undertaking by the church in Toronto in many years, the Gatewood meeting has as its purpose the preaching of the Word, that Christ may be lifted up and that souls may be saved. It is the prayer of all that this goal will be realized. More than we could not hope to accomplish. While striving for this end, however, many side benefits have begun to materialize. The very effort of pooling our labours and working together has helped toward better understanding and deeper love, one for another, in Christ. It has helped to realize that, though housed in different buildings and placed in different localities throughout the city, the church is one. By setting goals which, from a purely common sense standpoint, we ought not to be able to reach, we are challenged to the best effort of which we are capable, trusting in God for the outcome. Thus is our faith put to the test, and the trying can only result in good for our souls.

The capable men who make up the committees named above are charged with leaving no stone unturned to make the evangelistic meeting a success. They have explored many possibilities, and assigned tasks that must be done to those deemed best able to carry them out. Their collective fund of imagination and ingenuity is a veritable treasure-house. But they are not working alone. All of them realize that, without the help of God, nothing at all would be possible. Prayers for guidance, for wisdom, for resource, for increased faith and for strength to make the best use of all these, rise from their hearts and lips daily.

None have quaked at the size of The Eaton Auditorium. It will seat some 1275 souls. The church in Toronto is challenged to fill it every night of the five nights the meeting will run. There are not that many members of the church in this metropolis, which means that some effort must be forth to attract others. Members of the church will thus have opportunity to bring their friends, relatives and acquaintances into this neutral place with them. With the help of brethren everywhere, this large auditorium will be filled every night. The church in Toronto needs the prayers of every Christian for this great evangelistic work.

Moreover, the attendance problem would be neatly resolved if every person who is a member of the church determined to be present every night and bring one other person with him. A very thorough advertising program has been mapped out and is ready to go into operation. This will help you when you ask someone to come. They will already have heard or read about the meeting somewhere. Not only this, but many personal letters and telephone calls will go out all over the city and area, inviting people to the meeting.

Capable people will be on hand at The Eaton Auditorium to meet visitors, to hand out tracts, answer questions, handle registration or do any one of the many things needful at the place of meeting.

After the meeting is over, every contact that has been made during the series will be followed up by someone. Bible correspondence courses will have been started, along with cottage meetings and other personal classes. There is no foreseeable end to the good that can come out of this great work. It may also be the means of awakening this vast city to the fact that the church of the Lord is in its midst, that first-century Christianity still operates under the Great Commission in this twentieth century, and that the people of God have the faith that constitutes a victory over the world.

TEAM EFFORT IN JAMESTOWN, N.Y.

A three man evangelistic team is putting forth a concerted effort to establish a new congregation in Western New York State. On July 12, three evangelists along with their families and other Christians living in the area will conduct services for the first time in the city of Jamestown.

Two years of planning have gone into the effort to establish a congregation in Jamestown. Two years ago three families, committed themselves to work full time in the same locality. It was agreed that the group would go to an American city not yet evangelized.

After a survey trip to New York State, the group chose Jamestown in New York's Chautauqua region. The city has a suburban population Blenus Wright, an outstanding preacher of the Gospel, will preach for them during the summer months.

Barrie, Ont., June 14: "We have a good day in progress here with twenty-two present and a $58.00 contribution, and our number included visitors from the town."

A group of 38 workers converging on Central Ontario for a Campaign to Proclaim Christ Crucified, June 21 through 30 are being held by Larry Acuff at Pine Orchard; Howard Wakefield at Newmarket; Bob Bryson at Barrie; Eddie Campbell at Collingwood. These will speak at 8:00 through the ten days, but personal work by the team, including local workers and Ontario volunteers, will stretch from June 17 through July 2. Included in the group is also Bro. and Sis. Bill Rogers, missionaries in the Republic of Panama for many years.

Two congregations have supplied the principle financing — Forest Hills and Dasher, in Valdosta, but they have been aided by many others. A colour-brochure, extensive TV and radio advertising, and thousands of tracts were features of the effort to reach the public through the eye.

The co-operation of the members of the congregation involved, and the spirit of helpfulness among them has been wholehearted. God has blessed us with rich fellowship, and now, we pray, an abundant harvest.

North Bay, Ont.: "After waiting fhree months (to know for sure) to announce that a group of workers were coming from Lubbock Christian College to assist us in a campaign, we have found out that they will not be able to come . . . We are now trying to make arrangements for others to come and take their places."

"The attendance for our services has been: 35 for Sunday School; 40 for morning worship; 25 for evening attendance and 25 for midweek service. Twenty-five is the average for the young peoples' class. The contribution for April averaged $55.00. Vacation Bible School material has been ordered for 300 students. — C. Lansdell.

Ice Lake, Ont.: Two young men of Michigan Christian College have arrived in this place to preach and do personal work for the summer. At Fennel Ave. in Hamilton the entire collection for June 21 has been designated to the Ice Lake work.

HERE AND THERE

Carman, Man.: Bert Thompson, who has been labouring for four years in Kingston will take up work in Carman in July.

HERE AND THERE

Prince Albert, Sask.: Clinton Brazle, North Weyburn, Sask., conducted a Leadership Training Course May 11-15. He will present the same course for the church in Saskatoon June 13-16, Lord willing.

Wawota, Sask.: One was baptized in a meeting April 19-26.

North Weyburn, Sask.: 15 young men participated in a preacher's training class conducted by the Airport church. Most of this number go out regularly to preach for congregations in the area. Two are completing grade 12 and plan to take advanced schooling to prepare to preach fulltime. Ron Surry, North Battleford has received a scholarship to attend Freed-Hardeman College, Henderson, Tennessee. Bob Parker, Bengough, plans to work for a few months to obtain funds to proceed with his preparation to preach.

HERE AND THERE

Burnaby, B.C.: There was good interest and two restorations during the meeting conducted by Jim Hawkins in May.

Nanaimo, B.C.: The July first lectureship will be at this place this year.

Salmon Arm, B.C.: A three day young peoples' lectureship is announced, July 1-3. Some time will be spent in personal work preparing for the gospel meeting on July 5. Ron Beckett has been assured support by a church in the South to move to this work.

World Fair Report: By June 9th (7th week) 4,953 had enrolled in a Bible Course and 7,082 had received literature making a total of 12,035 contacts from 50 states and 61 foreign countries representing 142 different religious bodies.

HERE AND THERE

Buffalo, N.Y.: Two have been baptized and two added by membership recently. The Herald of Truth TV series entitled the "Fall of Man" is now on Channel 7 at the prime time of 9 a.m. each Lord's day. This is being aired at no cost and can be encouraged by regular letters to the station by viewers. Address WKBW, 1420 Main St., Buffalo, N.Y. In addition, the radio series, AM (1400 kc) and FM (103.3 ms.) can be heard each Sunday night at 10. This time, worth $77 per week is made available at a local cost of $13 per week. Address WYSL, Statler Hilton Hotel, Niagara Square, Buffalo 2, N.Y.

Niagara Falls, N.Y.: This church recently appointed as elders, Charles Clark, Stanley Hughes, Jim Langford, and Wesley Varney; and as deacons, Gordon Fees, Bill Flanagan, and Keith Shaw.

Cooperstown, N.Y.: Mitchell Embry has resigned his work as a school teacher to succeed Floyd Mitchell as preacher at this place.

Lewiston, N.Y.: Don Peirce and Dave Mitchell were recently ordained as elders of this church.

Rochester, N.Y.: The Lawson Rd. church in Rochester with Medford Kaehele as evangelist plans to establish a congregation in Eastside. This will be the fourth congregation in the city. Further long-range plans call for starting a congregation on the south side not later than 1968.

Albany, N.Y.: This church is six months old and has three evangelists, Perry Newton, Bob Scott, Norman Bales, a lovely building, and a comprehensive program of teaching, preaching and benevolence — "all a product of faith, vision, planning, and 'doing it'." Dave Hearn.

Ithaca, N.Y.: This church with evangelist Jim Johnson will establish the church in Auburn, N.Y. early this year. The population is about 40,000.

in excess of 60,000. It is the center of Western New York's furniture industry. At present the nearest congregation is more than fifty miles away at Bradford, Pa.

The three men who will work in Jamestown are all native Texans. All graduated from Abilene Cthristian College. They accumulated several years of experience in the south before moving to Jamestown.

The oldest member of the group is Charles Williams, 35 For the past four and one half years, he has preached for the church in Tomball, Texas. The church in Tomball has the oversight of the Williams work in New York.

Jim Sheerer, 34, of Austin, Texas moves to Jamestown after six years work with the Highland Village congregation in Austin. Highland village will continue to support the Sheerers in Jamestown.

The third full time evangelist is Norman L Bales, 29 formerly of Houston, Texas. Bales is supported by the Garden Oaks congregation in Houston. Bales moved to Jamestown on May 18 to make preliminary preparations for the establishment of the congregation.

Plans for the work in Jamestown include a $600 monthly working fund to be used in radio and newspaper evangelism along with other mass media. The group possesses an offset press which will aid them greatly in communicating the word.

An intensive campaign for Christ with workers coming from supporting congregations is being planned for the summer of 1965. Personal work plans include intensive cottage meeting work and hospital visitation.

Make Effective Church Visits, Organize a Cradle Roll.

5. "So You Work With", David Cook. ($1.00 each) 7 booklets in a series on "So You Work With Nursery Children, Kindergarteners, Primaries, Juniors, Junior Highs, Senior High Youth, Young Adults.

6. Teaching Series, Judson Press, ($1.00 each) Nine booklets in this teaching series. One each on: Nursery Children, Kindergarten Children, Primary Children, Middlers, Juniors, Junior Highs, Senior Highs, Older Youth, Adults.

7. Understanding the Pupil,* Marjorie Elaine Soderholm, ($1.25 each) Three parts: The Pre-School Child, The Primary and Junior, The Adolescent. These booklets help teachers to understand their pupils mental, physical, social, emotional and spiritual characteristics and tells them how to teach God's word as it relates to these. Very good.

8. Successful Sunday School Service, Scripture Press, (.85 each. How To Teach Adults,* Henry Jacobsen. *The "How" of Effective Lesson Preparation for Adults, Henry Jacobsen. How to Organize Adults, Henry Jacobsen. How To Do Effective Visitation, Craig Massey.

Since I haven't read all of these booklets, I cannot recommend them freely. I am confident that there must be good practical ideas in each one which would improve our teaching. In many of them there are likely statements we would not agree with such as on the subject of salvation.

Those I can recommend as a result of personal study are marked with an *. This doesn't mean I agree with every statement in them. Those by members of the church can be used to begin teacher training.

Next issue we hope to list magazines, filmstrips, and records on teacher training. Inquiries and suggestions are invited.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING

400 people assembled with the Airport Church of Christ, North Weyburn, Saskatchewan on May 10 to hear three addresses by Jim Wilburn, Wichita Falls, Texas on "Building Dynamic Leaders for Christ." Visitors were present from a wide area covering parts of three provinces. This was the climax in a four-month program aimed at developing better leaders for the church, according to Clinton Brazle, one of the preachers working with the church meeting on the campus of Western Christian College.

A two-day session was conducted in January with area leaders present to discuss needs in such a training program. This was followed up with weekly classes for men on a local level. Use was made of the new filmstrip set, "Leadership for Christ", produced by Wilburn.

For a week just prior to the May meeting a series of training sessions were conducted with L. W. Fisher, Myrtle Creek, Oregon, aimed at training people to conduct cottage meetings or home Bible studies. Thirty people attended these sessions which sometimes lasted to 11 p.m. Interest is high and classes continue in personal work as well as participation in a visitation program. A campaign is set to reach every home in Weyburn August 16-23. Speaker on this occasion will be Paul DuBois, Brookside church, Tulsa Oklahoma. The Brookside church supports the Brazle family in Weyburn.

LAKEHEAD CAMPAIGN

51 personal workers are now committed to assist in the Lakehead Campaign Aug. 12-30. 30 of these are coming from the Taylor Blvd. Church in Louisville, Ky., at their own expense, on holiday time. These will work from 3 to 10 days depending upon time available.

Four Ontario and Manitoba evangelists are included in the 51: Murray F. Hammond, C. G. McPhee, L. Louis Pauls and Keith T. Thompson. Bro. Dennis H. Johnson, Canadian evangelist now working in Minnesota, wil lalso help. These men will be invaluable in "tying together" the voluntary efforts of those coming for a few days each.

Others are expected to decide soon, or we are now trying to complete arrangements, to work in this attempt to saturate Port Arthur-Fort William with invitations and Gospel teaching. The Roy Merritts, now at the Lakehead, and others who are "settling in", are not included in the above figures. All who can are invited to spend their holiday working and worshipping in this Campaign.

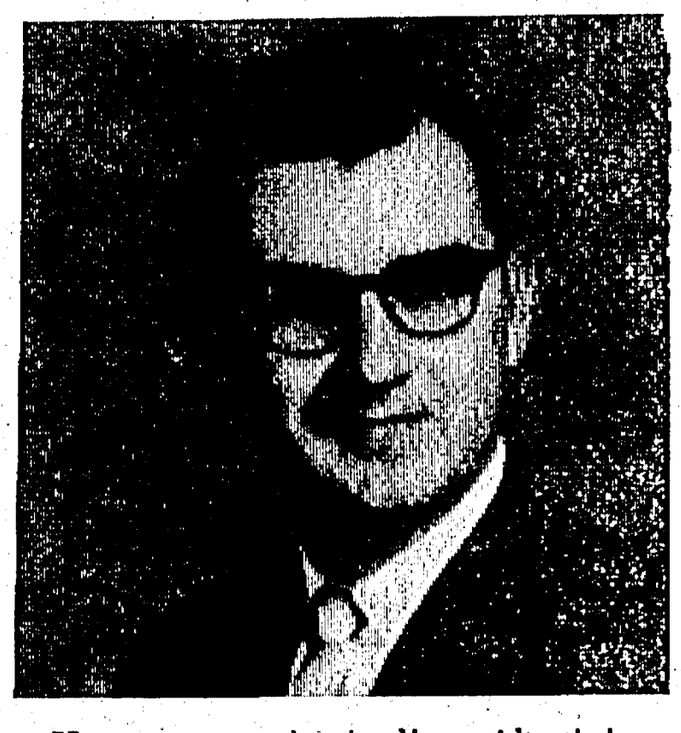
REFORMATION OR RESTORATION?

By Harold Hazelip, Louisville, Ky.

The title, "Reformation or Restoration?", introduces an entirely fresh and meaningful concept of serving God to many people. We are all somewhat familiar with the Reformation movement and with the necessity for reformation which had developed prior to and during the Middle Ages. However, the movement to restore New Testament Christianity rather than to reform existing religious bodies is not as well known. In a word this sums up the distinctive peculiarities of the churches of Christ; we are different from other religious bodies because of our continuing effort to restore the Church as it existed in the first century!



The Need For Restoration

Before we become concerned about either reformation or restoration in religion, we must first learn that a reformation or a restoration is needed. If there has been no departure by men from the Divine standard of God's Word, then no restoration of the ancient order is needed; but if Christianity was corrupted during the centuries, our most important business in life is to restore perfectly that original religion which was established by Jesus Christ. The New Testament plainly and frequently foretells an apostacy of the Church which would definitely occur. In 2 Thess. 2:1-5, Paul warned, "Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come (he is speaking of the day of the second coming of Christ, the end of the world), except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition; Who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God or that is worshipped; so that he as God sitteth in the temple of God, shewing himself that he is God. Remember ye not, that, when I was yet

THAT THEY ALL MIGHT BE ONE

By Joe D. Gray

He was an Australian Aborigines and he was confused. As a boy in his tribal area A missionary had taught Jesus Christ. He had believed. Upon reaching manhood he went into Melbourne, then Sidney and listened to numerous preachers teach Christ. Each one seemed to teach something different. As I talked, attempting to restore his faith, he kept shaking his head saying, "I don't know. I'm all mixed up. I'll have to have time."

In Lahore, Pakistan, the group of college boys listened attentively as I spoke on the spread of Christianity in the world. During the question and answer period they kept asking, "Are Christian churches growing or proselyting?" They felt that the latter was the case in most instances and it all seemed rather foolish to them.

In the United States I talked to a

WHY WE BELIEVE THE BIBLE

By Keith T. Thompson

The captain of a sailing vessel hired a new sailor who had boasted of his long experience at sea. Trusting him, the captain one night placed him in charge of the pilot wheel. "Do you see that star straight ahead? That is the North Star. You are to keep the ship going directly toward it. Understand? If anything goes wrong, call me immediately." "Aye, aye, sir; that I will," was the response. The new "pilot" committed two unpardonable errors. He drank some whiskey and then fell asleep. When he awoke he looked frantically for his guiding star. He discovered it at his starboard aft, about 130 degrees off the proper course of the ship. In great excitement he rushed to the captain. "Captain, wake up! Give me a new star to steer by; we've gone past the first one." The captain hurried past the half-drunken sailor and turned the ship in time to avoid crashing on the rocks.

The North Star is the most fixed star in the northern hemisphere. It has been used by navigators during all recorded history for true north. Not until the year 7500, according to astronomers, will another star replace it as the pole star. The Bible claims to be more substantial than the North Star! "For ever, O Lord, thy word is firmly fixed in the heavens." (Ps. 119:89). But like the undependable sailor, some skeptics imagine that they have "progressed" far beyond the Bible. They say that it is outmoded; that it is far behind our modern society. But they have not been able to find a superior substitute for the Bible.

As in all areas of life, we need an authority in spiritual matters. The Christian believers that the Bible is the only authority in religion. He holds this view because he believes that the Bible is the inspired Word of God. Let us consider some of the reasons why this is his belief.

I THE BIBLE CLAIMS TO BE THE WORD OF GOD

"All scripture is given by inspiration of God" (2 Tim. 3:16). " . . . holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Spirit." (2 Pet. 1:21).

The Bible is either what it claims to be, or else it is one of the greatest frauds ever known. Which do you believe it is?

II IT IS REASONABLE TO BELIEVE THAT GOD WROTE THE BIBLE

The majority of people believe in a God who is good, wise and loving. Is it not reasonable to believe that such a God would give man a guide to show him how to live on this earth. Surely, God would not be a loving God if He left man to grope in the darkness of earth's jungle of sin and ignorance.

Men would not have written it if they could and could not have written it if they would! Men would not have written it because it exposes them as sinners. Men could not have written it because they could not have made its amazing prophecies. (see point on prophecies)

III THE BIBLE IS INDESTRUCTIBLE

Many different groups and individuals have tried to destroy the Bible. It has been attacked by Jews, Gentiles, heathens, kings, scholars, infidels and popes. If men unaided by God had written it, then men could destroy it. Its indestructibility is evidence of its inspiration.

IV THE INFLUENCE OF THE BIBLE

A tree is tested by its fruit. So the Bible can be tested by its influence. Think of the influence of the Bible on the following:

1. Slavery. About half of the people were slaves in the Roman Empire. The influence of the Bible ended slavery.

2. The position of women. Women were little better than slaves in the ancient world. Wives could be beaten or divorced for no reason at all. But the Bible reveals the true position of woman by the side of man.

3. Our laws. The greatest statesmen and lawmakers have been influenced by the laws of the Bible. Freedom has flourished where the influence of the Bible has been known.

4. Literature. The great writings of men such as Milton, Dante, Browning, Tennyson, Scott and Shakespeare abound with Biblical references. Try to imagine the loss to our literature if all such references were removed.

5. Education. Many of the greatest centers of learning were founded by Bible-believing men. The Bible has promoted learning and freedom of speech.

6. Art and Music. The great paintings of Michelangelo, Leonardo da Vinci and countless other artists were inspired by this Book. The same can be said for the music of such composers as Handel, Bach, and Haydn.

No other book has had such an influence on mankind. Why has the Bible been the fountainhead of civilization? Is it not because the eternal God inspired the writing of its pages?

V THE UNITY OF THE BIBLE

Althcugh it is bound within one cover, the Bible is not just one book but a collection of sixty-six books. Forty writers had a part in its composition. Sixteen hundred years passed between the writing of the first and last books. Yet the Bible is united in its purpose, facts, doctrine and story. The harmonious sound of a great symphony orchestra implies the work of a composer. A beautiful structure of steel and concrete implies the work of an architect. The amazing unity of the Bible implies the work of God.

VI THE AMAZING PROPHECIES OF THE BIBLE

A scoffer was ridiculing the prophecies of the Bible, saying they were all written after the events they claimed to foretell. A Christian replied, "There is one prophecy you'll have to admit was written before its fulfillment." "What's that?", asked the scoffer. ". . . there shall come in the last days scoffers . . ." (2 Pet. 3:3), was the reply.

But this scoffer was wrong in his argument. There is historical evi-successful young college graduate. His first statement to me was "Don't talk to me about God. I don't believe in Him." In answer to the query "Why not", he said, "A God who divided wonderful people like mother and father is not a God for me."

Unity is oneness. Oneness is commanded by God of all those who believe in His Son. Jesus prayed "that they all might be one, as thou Father art in me and I in thee . . . (Jno. 17:21). Paul commanded the Ephesians to "endeavor to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace . . ." (Eph. 4:3) and the Corinthians to "speak the same things, and that there be no divisions among you . . ." (1 Cor. 1:10).

MEN RECOGNIZE THE NEED FOR UNITY

In recent years an increasing awareness of the curses of division as practised in denomationalism has been evidenced in leaders of all churches. News publications have been filled with articles with such headings as "Churches Urged to Unite as One", "Two Churches Are Pushing Merger Plans", "Two Denominations Vote Merger 3-1", "Church Leaders Move to Unity", and "Four Churches to Be Merged Today".

Different solutions to the problems have been offered. One noted evangelist urges that we become more content with an "invisible unity", claiming that division is caused by harmless differences of interpretation. Various ideas of confederations have been (or are being) suggested and attempted. These ideas usually call for an organic union of denominations in one federated Church, with the various denominations maintaining different practises and beliefs. The federations are controlled by representatives of the various denominations involved.

THE BIBLICAL PLAN

The Bible calls for unity . . . not merely union. The oneness of believers as expected in God's word is to be like that which exists between Jesus and God. It is be a oneness which prompts all believers to be "of the same mind and of the same judgement" . . . and "to speak the same thing. (1 Cor. 1:10)

In the first Corinthian letter Paul dealth with the problem of denominationalism as an inspired writer of God. When he heard of division developing among the believers in that city to the extent that some were calling themselves after various teachers, Paul wrote his instructions in three parts:

1. A Command — In the name of Jesus put away these divisions. (1:10)

2. The Cause — Division is evil, being of the world. "For ye are yet carnal: for whereas there is among you envying, and strife, and divisions, are ye not carnal, and walk as men? For while one saith, I am of Paul; and another, I am of Appollos; are ye not carnal?" (3:3-4) Paul thus instructed those believers to put away division for wherever division is, there is sin. Those engaged in it are carnal (fleshly or worldly).

3. The Course — Unity an be found in the written word of God. "And these things brethren, I have in figure transferred to myself and to Appollos for your sakes; that ye might learn in us not to think of men above that which is written, that no one of you be puffed up for one against another." (4:6) Paul, therefore, declares that the way to end denominationalism is for every man to refuse the ideas of man which are different from these which are written.

IS IT POSSIBLE?

Many Bible proofs are available to show that unity among believers is possible. Paul travelled extensively in the world and preached everywhere the same thing. (1 Cor. 4:17). The other apostles taught the same things. (1 Cor. 15:11). As the church began in Jerusalem the new converts were taught one "doctrine" by all of the "apostles". (Acts 2:42)

The fact that God's word (when taken as the complete and final guide) will cause all to believe and teach the same thing may be seen in the following three points: 1. Christians are commanded to be a speaking people. (Acts 18:9-10; 5:19-20; Matt. 10:27-28; Mark 16:15; Acts 5:19-20)

2. Christians are commanded to speak as the Word (oracles) of God. (1 Pet. 4:11)

3. Christians are commanded (not requested) to speak the same thing. (1 Cor. 1:10)

Since Christ has commanded us to speak the same thing and to speak His Word, it necessarily follows that His Word will teach us all the same things. If such is not true, then Christ has commanded us to do something which is impossible and thus becomes responsible for our being lost. Paul writes that anyone altering or perverting, that Word will be cursed. (Gal. 1:7-9).

THE COST

Paul says that division is evil and that anyone teaching anything other than that which was written in the first century will be cursed. Jesus went even further. He stated that division would cause the world to refuse to believe that He was of God. (John 17:21). It is no wonder that He fervently prayed "that they all may be one: . . . that the world may believe that thou has sent me."

All over the world people are asking "If Christianity is all that you say it is WHY can't you get together yourselves on what is right???" I have been in 21 countries around the world in the last three years and everywhere people are asking the above question. Many have become confused and rejected Christ completely. Pagan teachers are shouting that Christianity is dying.

Churches of Christ in over 100 countries today are pleading for unity on the basis of the Bible. Since the kingdom is spread by the sowing of seed and the seed is the Word (Luke 8:11), we can restore the kingdom anywhere in the world with the sowing of that seed. By refusing to be guided by men and by following that which is written all will believe the same things on every subject discussed in His Word.

Unity is desired by Jesus; commanded by the Spirit; expected by God. Should we not be willing to follow their instructions to restore it among believers today???

CONVENIENCE OR CONVICTION

Fortunate is the man who has healthy convictions in matters of importance. These convictions may get him in trouble at times. They will not let him lower himself to shameful conformity. Neither will they let him be untrue to himself.

One of the great characteristics of our Lord, when He walked the earth, was the strength of his convictions. Time and again He spurned the temptation to take the easy way. Over and over He emphasized to His followers that the course of least resistance was not God's will. It took them a long time to catch on.

Jesus found it necessary to condition his disciples intensively for His approaching death. Matthew recorded just when this conditioning began: "From that time began Jesus to show unto his disciples that he must go unto Jerusalem, and suffer many things of the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and the third day be raised up." (Matt. 16:21). The reaction of Simon Peter is a clear indication that men need understanding and truth along with their resolutions. Peter's convictions in the matter were active. His understanding was deficient. Jesus referred to Peter as Satan. (Matt. 16:23).

God has made us rational beings. He has stamped us with His own image. Animals allow pain, pleasure, and convenience to govern their actions and habits. Man is expected to learn how to endure pain for a worthwhile purpose whether it is the final agonizing gasps in a race or the laborious discipline of the laboratory or library. Man is also asked to forego pleasure when the action would displease God or harm one who is in God's image. The New Testament is full of admonitions against following the course of convenience in matters where God has spoken.

Jesus said to a tradition-bound generation: "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free" (John 8:32). This presupposes that His hearers would act on truth learned and not allow themselves to be slaves to error. We are told, "But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deluding your own selves" (James 1:22).

Any person who has done much personal Bible teaching to individuals can name incident after incident where men and women have agreed that the teaching was true, but have refused to act accordingly. These are like the rich young ruler who came to Jesus asking what he must do to gain eternal life. When he received his reply, "he went away sorrowful" because he could not face up to a readjustment of his life.

Men today turn away sorrowfully from the acceptance of new truths in Christianity for a variety of reasons. At the back of these reasons, or excuses, usually is found flabbiness which allows convenience and security to dictate in spiritual affairs. Tragedy is the end result.

Often men and women refuse to obey the Gospel of Christ because of a parent or mate who would disapprove. The convenience of a cradle to-the-grave family religion is a big factor in the lives of some. Acceptance of such eliminates any need for personal choice and strenuous search for truth. Of course a person who does not follow a religion of personal choice and deep conviction does not follow the religion given by Christ.

In passionate words our Lord condemned the mistake of allowing people and things to transcend truth: ',If any man cometh unto me, and hateth not his own father and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters, yea, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple" (Luke 14:26). The context indicates that the word "hate" is used here in a religious sense in a comparison of affections. Our Lord is simply calling for men to give Him their highest affection. This cannot be done when we turn away from His revelation of spiritual truth.

Honestly morality decency and responsibility will be seen in the life of a man who has the courage

THE WORLD'S FAIR EXHIBIT

Restore the church of the New Testament!

This is the unique, world - wide plea of Churches of Christ. To faithfully reproduce the concept of Christian doctrine and practice as revealed in the New Testament is an objective for which members of the church are fervently striving.

The position of "going back" to biblical ground is considered neither hopelessly idealistic nor a retreat to antiquity. Rather, it is thought to be the most progressive and most relevant thing for Christians to do if they are serious about religious unity.

The restoration method for achieving this unity in Christ is the main thrust of the Churches of Christ exhibit at the New York World's Fair. The development of the World's Fair exhibit was conceived and promoted by the Queens Church of Christ in Flushing, N.Y., located less than one mile from the World's Fair site.

The exhibit area includes a total of 1,050 square feet, or the most space of any group in the building.

Although more than 18,000 persons had registered through July 7, it is apparent from the distribution of printed teaching materials that no more than one-fourth of the visitors who enter the exhibit register. Approximately 75,000 individual pieces of free Christian literature were given out in the first eleven weeks. During this period of time, 700,000 persons entered the Protestant and Orthodox Center — or approximately 5 per cent of the 14 million persons who entered the Fair grounds. Of this number, it is believed that close to 350,000 persons — or about one-half of those who entered the building — have seen the Churches of Christ exhibit and talked to the gold-uniformed hostesses and teacher-counselors.

Results of the exhibits have been both immediate and widespread. Three of the visitors were baptized after hearing the Gospel in the exhibit area. Persons from 63 nations, all 50 states, and the District of Columbia have been among those who registered an interest in non-denominational Christiaity during the first 11 weeks of the exhibit's operation. Of the total registered, 9,286 had enrolled in the free six-lesson World's Fair Bible Course, designated as "1964/65 B.C." Visitors who have become acquainted with Churches of Christ at the Fair represent 145 different religious bodies.

Among the ten distinct elements in the overall evangelistic exhibit, are:

A lighted multi-lingual panel of "The CHURCHES OF CHRIST salute you" (Romans 16:16) in ten languages — English, Portuguese, Japanese, Polish, Italian, Swedish, French, German, Spanish, and Russian.

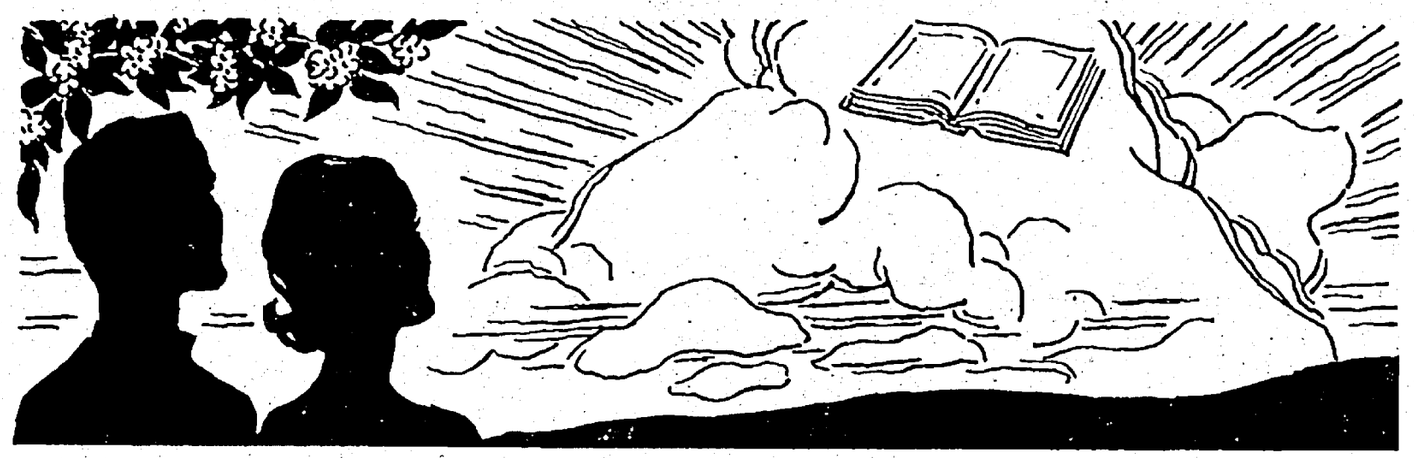
International directory — Information of locations and contacts of Churches of Christ throughout the world has been organized and published in one massive directory. The material has been encased in plastic pages and alphabetised by continent. The directory contains approximately 12,000 listings. Visitors can find the location of the congregation nearest their home.

Electronic Bible "teacher" — Known as the Directomat, this machine is self-operated by visitors who simply push any one of 120 buttons to find the Bible answer to popular religious questions. The answers are printed on small tickets and dispensed by the machine within six seconds after the button is punched.

Cinebox Bible teacher" — This machine consists of 40 different three - minute films on basic Bible themes, produced in sonud and in color, which visitors can see by pushing any one of the 40 buttons.

Free Christian literature — Tracts and religious booklets are available in the English, Danish, French, German, Italian, Norwegian, Spanish, Swedish, Portuguese, Japanese, and Russian languages. One special brochure, originally written and designed, is offered to all visitors. Its title is: "In the 20th century, Christianity can progress only by turning to the 1st century."

Free Bible Course — This six-lesson course was originally written and designed for World's Fair visitors. The six-lesson topics are "Man's Guilt," "Christ the Answer," Man's Response to Christ," "Christ and His Word," "Christ and His Church," and "Christ our Master." Lesson 1 is presented to visitors who enroll at the exhibit and the remainder of the course is sent by mail.



Follow-up program — Those who register an interest in New Testament Christianity are being visited when they return home by local members of Churches of Christ who have been notified by the Fair teaching staff of their interest. Through July 3, more than 3,500 names and addresses had been forwarded to congregations throughout the world as the follow-up notification plan — involving six full - time workers — moved into high gear.

PRINCE ALBERT, SASK.

The Roger Jeal family, from Burnaby, British Columbia, is scheduled to arrive in Prince Albert by July 19 or 26. He has been preaching for the church in Burnaby for the past nine years while supporting himself as a civil engineer. This congregation has grown from five to 70 members in that period. The Jeals have four children: a foster daughter now taking nurse's training, a daughter who has just completed business college, a boy 12 and a boy four years of age. One of the special reasons we look forward to having the Jeals in P.A. area is because of their experience in camp work. With the Jeal's help, P.A. will supply all the teachers for our Bible school, which is scheduled to begin on July 20.

My family and I are moving to Saskatooon the first week in August. This move will terminate a four-year stay in P.A. We love the north and as the time comes to move we, in many ways, wish we were not. We do, however, look forward to working in Saskatoon, especially with the University "set-up." I will plan to complete the work on my M.A. degree with the writing of my thesis there. —Walter Straker

Ray Miller, Editor

IT'S YOUR AGE, TOO!

by Ed Bryant

Much has been said, printed and broadcast in recent years about the responsibility shared by all adults of this generation to place before our young the kind of example that will inspire them to higher standards of life and morality. This responsibility is no less than it has ever been, nor would we attempt to minimize it.

There occurs to us, however, the thought that many of our young people of today have within them the seeds of reform. They have ample opportunity to observe today's adults and to note the inconsistencies of their lives. They have the energy, the zeal and enthusiasm to do something about the way things are. This should place upon them the burden of their knowledge and imbue them with the courage of conviction.

Instead of the stand-off complaint of "why don't they?" the challenge of youth to youth should be, 'why don't WE?". Rivers become crooked because they follow the lines that offer the least resistance. So do human lives. Youth needs the counsel and advice of advanced years, but this should in no wise prevent them from raising their voices to offer their own suggestions. Just because we are young is no excuse for keeping quiet about things we know are wrong. It has ever been up to the young to "take the bull by the horns" and right the wrongs of their own generation.

Who has not heard true stories of people who have risen above their own heredity and environment to attain heights of greatness? What about the son of the town drunk, who rises to manhood with the grim determination never to allow such things in his life or the lives of his children? Or consider the daughter of a "scarlet woman," who observes with horror the degradation of the life of her own mother and resolves that her life will never be like that! Men like Abraham Lincoln and Booker T. Washington as well as countless others have soared to heights of fame and nobility from low and humble surroundings of early life. No doubt the youth of their day had also heard that they were "going to the dogs". Incidentally, the dogs are still waiting for youth to come to them.

So you have observed things wrong in your family, your school, and in your church? Alright, what are YOU going to do about it? Can you honestly offer valid criticism if you are no more determined to correct those wrongs than are the ones whom you criticize? It is no less YOUR place to take action than it is the place of those around you. Do you want to be a BETTER father than your own, or is your attitude one of "good enough for Dad — good enough for me"? Would you like to make a better mother and home-maker than your own mother, or will you be content to let things slide as they are? Are you dissatisfied with the kind of preaching you get in your church from week to week, without resolving to become a BETTER preacher than any you have heard? If so, shame on you!!

If you are not a Christian, do you look at those Christian boys and girls around you and say, "No, thanks! I can be just as good a person the way I am"? Or do you say, "When I become a Christian, I will try harder than the ones I see from day to day, and live closer to the Bible than they do!" Conformity is a virtue only when we conform to the things that are right and true. Sometimes it takes a good dose of non-conformity to make things right again.

It is the task of each succeeding generation to justify itself. In this respect, life is like a relay race, in which each succeeding runner must give the very best account of himself that he can. Even if the one before him left him at a disadvantage, he must strive harder to overcome, and not blame the loss of the race on those who have gone before him. As Ann Landers so aptly put it, "If life hands you a lemon — make lemonade!"

It is up to the youth of today to re-establish high standards of morality and right living. If it is apparent to you that the adults aren't going to do it, then who is left? And if YOU don't, who will? If you don't have the courage to stand for right, even against the majority, have you the right to expect others to do so? Reform can often be traced to the lone individual who stood alone to shout, "I object!" In the face of odds that seemed insurmountable, Martin Luther did exactly that, and the great Reformation was under way. Hear also the indomitable Patrick Henry who thrilled a world with his words, "I know not what course others may take, but as for me, GIVE ME LIBERTY OR GIVE ME DEATH!" I am persuaded he meant what he said.

Paul told the brethren in Thessalonica to "prove all things, hold fast that which is good" (I Thess. 5:21). This would be good advice with which to temper the foregoing exhortation. It is an adult age, but IT'S YOUR AGE, TOO! Accept those things that are true and good, and hold them fast. Never let them go. Couple this with the firm resolve to discount and discard all the things that are wrong, and you will have a philosophy of life that will help you to make of your generation just what it ought to be. But don't try it without God. You and God constitute a majority, an unbeatable combination against which the forces of worldliness and evil have never been able to stand. With His help, you will win! And the generation that follows yours will be glad you did!

REFORMATION

with you, I told you these things?" Paul positively states that a falling away from the faith shall occur, and gives as one of the marks of it the high exaltation of one man in religion. In 1 Tim. 4:1-3, he penned a similar warning to Timothy, a Gospel preacher: "Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; Speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron; Forbidding to marry, and commanding to obstain from meats, which God hath created to be received with thanksgiving of them which believe and know the truth." Again, a departure from the faith is plainly declared by the Spirit to be coming, and two marks of it are to be 'forbidding to marry' and 'commanding to abstain from meats'. One other prophecy of this nature should suffice to establish the point of our investigation beyond doubt, that an apostacy of the Church was predicted by inspired men. Peter writes this warning in 2 Pet. 2:1-3: "But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction. And many shall follow there pernicious way; by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of. And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you: whose judgment now of a long time lingereth not, and their damnation slumbereth not". These passages plainly contradict a teaching which is often heard that Christ would preserve His Church from error and departure. God has providentially preserved His Word which is the guide for all of our religious conduct, but men have free wills and they often depart from that Word. A large number of New Testament passages warn that such departures shall occur, and history demonstrates that they did occur!

An Old Testament Parallel

When we have learned that a correction of errors is needed, we still might hesitate to embark upon such a course as an attempt to restore New Testament Christianity if there were not some incidents in Bible history of this same sort of work being done previously. But there are such examples for us. Josiah came to the throne of the ancient nation of Judah in the latter part of the 7th century BC. He was only 8 years old when he began to reign, and did not realize for some 12 years that the people he was leading had departed so far from God's Word. The people of Judah had stopped keeping the Sabbath, had set aside the annual feasts of the Law, and had even turned to the worship of idols instead of the true God. One of the Kings of Judah had made his own son pass through fire in sacrifice to Moloch, a heathen idol, and groves and images for the worship of idols existed in Jerusalem as in any other pagan city. One day workmen who were repairing the Temple found a copy of the book of the Law in the Temple, and someone read it to the King. King Josiah had the book verified as the true Word of God, and immediately set about to restore the practice of the ancient religion given by God through Moses. King Josiah did not begin a new religion, he simply led a return to the true religion for his day. In a very similar fashion, men who emerged from the Dark Ages realized that an apostacy had occurred. When the Bible, which had been inaccessible to the common man for 1,000 years, began to be translated into the language of the people and to be reproduced in abundance of copies following the invention of printing in the 15th century, attempts to get back to the Bible in religion became common. A giant reformation movement was born which did much to open the eyes of men to the teaching of the Bible. Mistakes were made, human leaders were developed, and a multiplicity of divisions occurred, but much was accomplished. However, confusion followed and it became increasingly difficult for the common man to distinguish between the varying doctrines. The lines of division were rigidly drawn.

Unity By Restoring New Testament Christianity

Around the beginning of the nineteenth century, a group of men in different geographical areas, unknown to each other, began almost simultaneously a new appeal. They were weary with denominationalism, with its spirit of faction, and were anxious to reproduce the unity which the New Testament pleads for. They realized that unity upon one human creed, or any human leader, or any human name would be impossible. But there was hope that if the Word of God were taken as the only guide and all creeds were rejected, and if Christ were taken as the only Lord and men were not followed above that which is written, and if the name of Christ were worn and all other names laid aside in religious matters, there could be unity! The movement to restore New Testament Christianity was under way! Entire congregations of various religious bodies laid aside uninspired creeds and divisive names and began the appeal for unity upon the Bible alone. The movement has continued to expand. This appeal is being sounded in several new nations each year.

Miracles Can Not Be Restored

When we speak of restoring New Testament Christianity, we recognize that some things of a miraculous nature characterized that early Church which cannot be restored today, because miracles were given to confirm the preaching of the Word until the perfect law of liberty was completely revealed. Paul told the Corinthians, "Charity (or love) never faileth: but whether there be prophecies, they shall fail; whether there be tongues, they shall cease; whether there be knowledge, it shall vanish away". (1 Cor. 13:8). Miraculous gifts were temporary during the infantile state of the Church, but when the New Testament was fully revealed and completed, the need for inspired teachers who could confirm their teaching by miracle ended. One could learn the true teaching by reading the Words of inspired men in the New Testament books. When King Josiah led in the restoration of the keeping of the law of Moses in Judah, he could not bring back the miracles which had dence that the Old Testament was translated from Hebrew into Greek 280 years before Christ. Thus the many prophecies made in the Old Testament and fulfilled in the New Testament could not possibly have been written after their fulfillment.

Twenty-five prophecies, written in the Old Testament from 500 to 1,000 years before their fulfillment, were all fulfilled literally in one twenty-four hour period covering Christ's last sufferings. Many of these predictions were fulfilled by pagans who knew nothing of them, or by powerful foes of Christ who would not knowingly fulfill one verse of Scripture concerning Jesus of Nazareth.

1. Christ was to be sold for thirty pieces of silver. Zech. 11:12; Matt. 26:14, 15.

2. He was to be betrayed by a friend. Ps. 41:9; 55:12-14; Matt. 26:47-50.

3. The money obtained was to be cast to the potter. Zech. 11:13; Matt. 27:3-10.

4. His disciples were to foresake Him. Zech. 13:7; Matt. 26:56; Mark 14:27.

5. He was to be accused by false witnesses. Ps. 35:11; Ps. 109:2; Matt. 26:59, 60.

6. Jesus' face was to be smitten and spat upon. Isa. 50:6; Matt. 26:67.

7. He was to be dumb before His accusers. Isa. 53:7; Matt. 27:12-14.

8. He was to be wounded and bruised. Isa. 53:5; Matt. 27:26.

9. He would die under judicial sentence. Isa. 53:8; Matt. 27:1-26.

10. His hands and feet were to be pierced. Ps. 22:16; Lk. 23:33; Jn. 20:25.

11. He was to be crucified with thieves. Isa. 53:12; Mark 15:27, 28.

12. He was to pray for His persecutors. Ps. 109:4; Isa. 53:12; Lk. 23:34.

13. The people were to shake their heads at the Crucified One. Ps. 22:7; Ps. 109:25; Matt. 27:39.

14. The people were to ridicule Him. Ps. 22:7, 8; Matt. 27:42, 43.

15. The people were to be astonished. Ps. 22:17; Isa. 52:14; Lk. 23:35.

16. His garments were to be parted and lots cost for His vesture. Ps. 22:18; Jn. 19:24.

17. He was to cry, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" Ps. 22:1; Matt. 27:46.

18. They were to give Him gall and vinegar. Ps. 69:21; Matt. 27:34; Jn. 19:29, 30.

19. He was to commit Himself to God. Ps. 31:5; Luke 23:46.

20. His friends were to stand afar off. Ps. 38:11; Luke 23:49.

21. His bones were not to be broken. Ps. 34:20; John 19:33, 36.

22. His side was to be pierced. Zech. 12:10; John 19:34, 37.

23. His heart was to be broken. Ps. 22:14; John 19:34.

24. Darkness was to cover the land. Amos 8:9; Matt. 27:45.

25. He was to be buried in a rich man's tomb. Isa. 53:9; Matt. 27: 57-60.

It has been estimated that the chance of all these prophecies happening together by accident is one in 33,000,000. And these are only 25 out of about 333 prophecies made about Christ!!

The Bible contains many prophecies which were fulfilled in history. Here are a few examples: 1. The destruction of the great city of Tyre. Ezekiel 26:3-14. 2. Great slaughter to take place in Sidon. Ezek. 28:20-23. 3. Egypt no longer to be a world power. Ezek. 29:12-15. 4. Babylon to be destroyed. Isa. 13:19-21. 5. The history of the Jews foretold. Deut. 28:37; 49-68. Isa. 53:1-3; Hosea 3:4.

VII THE BIBLE IS CREDIBLE

1. It is historically accurate. Archaeological studies are continually confirming the truth of the Bible. Dr. Nelson Glueck, distinguished Jewish archaeologist said "no archaeological discovery has ever been made that contradicts or controverts historical statements in Scripture."

2. It is scientifically accurate. When someone suggests a contradiction between the Bible and science, ask two questions: 1. Does the Bible really teach this? 2. Does science really teach this?

Conclusion: Many more reasons could be given for faith in the Bible. Daily reading, combined with prayer, wil reveal the inspiration of the Bible to each individual.

Book Reviews

Books to be reviewed in this column should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont., Canada.

The Art of Illustrating Sermons by Ian Macpherson, Abingdon Press, (G. R. Welch Co. in Canada). 219 pages, $3.50 (Plus exchange in Canada).

It is amazing to note that only a half dozen volumes have previously been written on the important topic of sermon illustration. However it is doubtful if any future volumes will excel this one by Macpherson.

The author considers the preacher as an artist. He paints pictures with words, using the human heart as his canvas. As an artist the preacher is constantly trying to perfect his work. This book, The Art of Illustrating Sermons will greatly aid any preacher in perfecting his ability in illustrating.

The book is divided under seven main headings — looking them over, sorting them out, tracking them down, drawing them up, storing them away, fitting them in, and putting them across. In the course of presenting this material, Mr. Macpherson includes many of his own excellent illustrations. Reading his illustrations made this reviewer wish for more. A complete book of Macpherson's illustrations would be a treasure house indeed.

Adorning the Doctrine of God and The Power of Faith, by John D. Cox, paper, 50c each; five or more copies 40c each.

Here are two booklets of thirteen lessons each with questions and "Pointed Points."

Basic Christian Doctrine by Charles E. Stovall, paper, 75c each, 10 or more copies 65c each.

This is a workbook with lessons on such tpoics as "Does God Require Obedience?", "Is the Bible the Word of God?" and "Christian Activity."

Seventh-day Adventism Refuted In A Nutshell by D. M. Canright, paper, 75c. Published by B. C. Goodpasture, Nashville, Tenn.

A reprint of ten tracts published in 1889. The writer was a prominent Adventist for twenty-eight years. Valuable material in handy, compact form.

What We Believe by Vernon Jacobs, paper, 50c, Standard Publishing, Cincinnati, Ohio.

An introduction to the important Christian beliefs, such as God, the Creator, Jesus the Saviour, The Holy Spirit, The Word of God, Baptism, Seeking Christian Unity and eight other topics.

BIBLE QUIZ

II Timothy 2:15; 3:16, 17

The Bible is God's Word. It is the meat and drink of the spiritual life. Christians need to study it daily. These questions will help to indicate something of how effective your study has been.

Nanaimo, B.C.: The V.B.S. is to held August 10-14. The first such school was held last year with an average of 94 in attendance. Even better is hoped for this year.

Lectures and discussions on "Total Commitment" featured the July 1st lectureship at this place. There were 108 present with visitors from several points. The hospitality of the Nanaimo church and the fellowship and topics were very enjoyable and uplifting.

HERE AND THERE

Calgary, Alta.: "We are most happy to report three baptisms recently. V.B.S. will be held August 17-21." — A. Weston.

HERE AND THERE

Bengough, Sask.: V.B.S. was held July 20-31 with meetings each night at 8 p.m. as well.

Perryville, Sask., July 16: The 1964 Bible School with Clinton Brazle of North Weyburn as director concluded today. It was one of the smallest sessions since the first school in 1931. 29 were enrolled with an average attendance of 25. Two young ladies were baptized. It was thrilling to find that 11 out of 15 boys in the school plan to preach.

The Gospel Herald was first printed in this community in 1936.

Four students from here hope to attend W.C.C. in September. Dan Straker is accepting a scholarship at L.C.C., Lubbock, Texas.

Swift Current, Sask.: Loans and gifts from friends have enabled the brethren here to do the exterior finish of their building. Money is needed to cover the walls and put the underlay on the floors so that the auditorium may be used. An appeal has been sent out asking individuals to send $2 to make up the $700 needed for materials. Thus the building can be used for V.B.S. and then for a campaign in the fall in which workers are expected from Kansas City.

Weyburn Campaign — August 16-23: A group of 24 workers from Brookside Church, Tulsa, Oklahoma, will combine with Canadian workers in a CAMPAIGN FOR CHRIST in Weyburn, Saskatchewan, August 16-23. A survey will be taken of every home in Weyburn as congregations at the Airport and 10th and Bison work together to bring souls to Christ. Legion Hall has been arranged for three big nights of evangelistic services (August 19-21). Paul DuBois, Tulsa evangelist, will speak. Other nights of the week he will address the church on service to the Lord. Three services are planned at the Airport for Sunday, August 23 to climax the campaign. Christians in the area are encouraged to attend both the nights of the evangelistic meetings and the Sunday meetings as well."

— Clinton Brazle

HERE AND THERE

Dauphin, Man.: The Summer Tent Meeting was held July 12-19. Leonard McMimm of S.W. 36th St. church in Oklahoma City, Okla. did the preaching. Also helping were brother and sister George Bryan and family of the same city, brother and sister E. Baggett and family and brother and sister A. R. Brown of Searcy, Arkansas. The Baggetts have already spent three summers at this place helping in V.B.S. and song leading. Central church in Norman, Oklahoma donated a bus for the use of the church at Dauphin.

This small church is happy to have brother and sister Glen Dods and family working with them. Brother and sister Emerson Goud and family of Lethbridge are moving to Dauphin. With these encouragements hopes are high. Prayers for this work are solicited. Brother Dods is broadcasting Monday through Friday over C.K.D.M., 7.30 on the dial at 6:55.

The place of meeting is 916 Main St. and visitors are welcomed.

Winnipeg, Man.: There have been two more baptisms at Osborne St. recently. Brethren are becoming enthused about the forthcoming campaign. A special issue concerning the churches in Manitoba has been prepared by brother Murray Hammond and others and will appear in a month or two.

HERE AND THERE

Ice Lake, Ont.: "A meeting is being held in Little Current by the church of Christ each Sunday at 3:30 in the Orange Hall for the duration of the summer. It is our hope that a congregation may be established there." — Teen-Age Visitor

Two students who have graduated from the two years at Michigan Christian College arrived at Ice Lake June 1 to gain more practice and experience in taking the gospel to areas where the church is weak. They are busy preaching and conducting classes, showing filmstrips in homes, and in door to door work. Camp-fire meetings for tourists are planned. B. Harrell will be away during part of this time and will speak in Birmingham, Alabama and also contact the group from the University of Alabama which is expected to participate in the campaign on the Island in August - September.

The two young men are Dale Rideout and Tom Kemp.

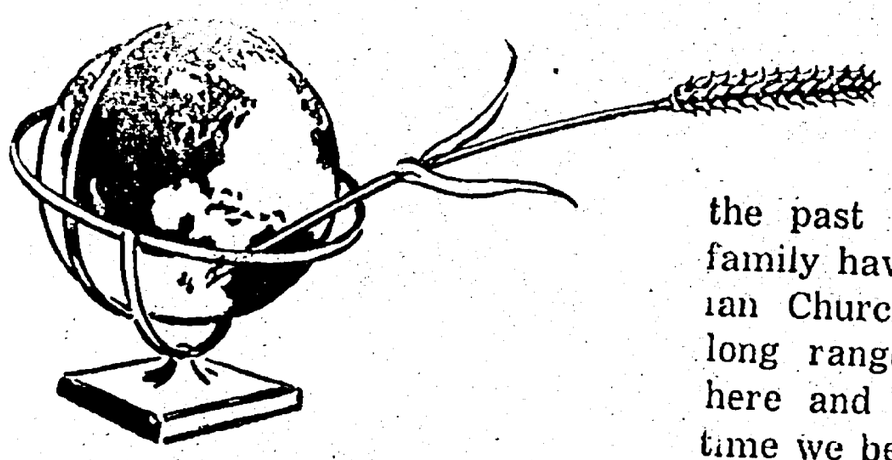
North Livingstone: Murray Smith of Omagh church conducted V.B.S. and meetings at this place during early July.

Iron Bridge, Ont.: A special series of meetings is planned for August.



Omagh Bible Camp: We understand that at least 8 young people have obeyed the gospel at this camp during the first two weeks of July.

Simcoe County Campaign: In Collingwood there were forty non-members who attended, six of whom have now been baptized. Attendance reached 100 on June 24. Calls were made at 1,560 houses; 1,000 invitations were handed to workers at the shipyards; 533 telephone calls were made and 35 film showings and Bible studies were conducted at this place. Four young people were baptized at Newmarket. Baptisms at Pine Orchard and Barrie bring the total to date to 22 if our information is reliable.

A similar campaign for next year is in mind and it is hoped that more helpers will be available from Ont-

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

NORTH IRELAND

Ten gospel preachers begin an intensive campaign in Belfast, Ireland on August 9. Tracts are needed and should be sent to the church at 121 Agnes St., Belfast, North Ireland. Prayers are solicited on behalf of this effort. There will be a one week V.B.S. and a tent meeting in which Bill Hatcher will do the preaching. The first church building to be built by the church in Ireland will be begun on the location of the tent meeting imediately after the meeting.

NORTHERN RHODESIA

The Allen Bells and Betty Bailey have returned to Canada. The Bell family left the gas washer with sister Leonard Bailey (nee Mabel Rogers). She writes, "Please accept our heartfelt thanks to those who gave money to help with the purchase of the Maytag gas washer that was presented to the Bell family before they came to Africa in 1962. When they left to return to Canada they gave the machine to us and refused any payment as they said it had come from you. It is surely a pleasure to have and use.

"We have so enjoyed having Betty Bailey in our home the past 18 months. . . . She has been a real worker and we wish other Canadian young people could be encouraged to follow her example . . . our staff here is at a low ebb. We hope to make a visit to England and Canada in 1965 but plan to return if we can find support and the political situation here will permit us to. Please pray that we may be able to.

"The Gospel Herald means more to me now when I'm so far from home, it's almost like a letter from home." — Mrs. Leonard Bailey.

ASSAM, INIA

"We know that many have been praying for this work. We feel that prayers have been answered. Prenshon Kharlukhi who filed the suit in court against us has not troubled us directly in the past two months. He and his family have now gone to the Christian Church. He may still have a long range plan to get us out of here and take over. In the meantime we bend our efforts to building up the cause of Christ in this area. Since the problems have died down the interest of some seems to have become less.

"Two weeks ago we baptized two men from a remote village that some of us had visited recently. It was necessary to walk about ten or twelve miles from where the Jeep was left to get there. They walked and rode to Shillong here for the baptisms. This week-end (June 13-14) Ray McMillan and David Hallett and some of the brethren from here went to another village about 45 miles from here. They stayed over one night sleeping on the floor of a native hut.

"Although the weather in much of India is very hot just now, here it is relatively comfortable. Some people are holidaying here now to get away from the heat in other places. The raining season (monsoons) will begin any time now. This will restrict some of our activities in some directions. We hope to be able to work in other directions to further the cause of Christ here. Tract publication, correspondence courses and personal work can be carried on in any case."

—Donald E. Perry

Help for this work may be sent by postal money order to Donald Perry, Mawlai, Phudmawri, Shillong, Assam, India or to Donald Perry, Box 399, Beamsville or to Art Fleming, Box 70, Beamsville. E.C.P.

David Hallett writes that a six lesson Bible course is now translated into Khasi and 16 persons are taking it. 88 others are taking other series of lessons of this nature.

Note: Slide showings of slides from Shillong can be arranged during the month of August by churches in driving distance contacting the Gospel Herald office.

JERUSALEM, JORDAN

"One of the greatest items of news that we have to report is the fact that it looks like we will have property soon for a church building. The elders at East Gadsden have been in contact with the owner in Sweden and have agreed on the price. $29,000 for just a little less than one acre on the Mount of Olives, less than a Sabbath day's journey from the wall of the city."

Our number now totals 20 but few more than half of that number are faithful. Our teaching program has reached over 100 by far.

As the result of one advertisement in our local paper concerning the Bible course we have enrolled a total of 66 with 45 being very active.

ALL OVER THE WORLD

A recent survey by Bro. Glover Shipp of Pepperdine College showed that churches of Christ are now meeting in at least 104 nations or individual territories throughout the world. These include:

North America: Alaska, Canada, Greenland, United States, Mexico.

Central America: Guatemala, El Salvador, Costa Rica, Panama, Canal Zone.

Caribbean Area: Cuba, Bahamas, Jamaica, Haiti, Dominican Republic, Bermuda, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, St. Vincent, Barbados, Trinidad, Netherlands West Indies.

South America: Venezuela, British Guinana, Surinam, French Guiana, Brazil, Uruguay, Paraguay, Argentina, Chile, Bolivia, Peru, Ecuador, Colombia.

Europe: Azores, Iceland, North Ireland, Scotland, England, Norway, Sweden, Finland, Denmark, Russia, Ukraine, Poland, East Germany, West Germany, Netherlands, Belgium, France, Switzerland, Austria, Italy and Sicily, Spain, Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey.

Africa: Egypt, Libya, Morocco, Liberia, Ghana, Nigeria, Cameroons, Central African Republic, South Africa, Basutoland, Swaziland, Bechuanaland, Northern Rhodesia, Southern Rhodesia, Malawi, Tanganyika, Ethiopia.

Asia: Israel, Jordan, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia, Iran, Pakistan, India, East Pakistan, Malaysia, Thailand, Viet Nam, Hong Kong, China, Formosa, Korea, Japan, Okinawa, Philippines.

AUGUST "CAMPAIGN FOR CHRIST" IN EDMONTON

By Gerald Fruzia

A team of 50 Christians is being assembled for an intensive door-to-door teaching program in Edmonton, Alberta. Ivan Stewart, author of the book From House to House, is spearheading the enlistment of campaigners.

43 Christians from Manitba to California are committed to the effort thus far. Their personal expense of $120 while in Edmonton and their travel costs are being borne personally or by their home congregations. Arriving in Edmonton on August 12th, workers will check in at the new Bonaventure Motor Hotel. Each day will begin with the group sharing breakfast and then discussing the successes and problems of the previous day, along with a devotional. Brother Stewart will draw from his extensive experience in previous campaigns as he directs the effort.

Stewart led the workers in Wellington, New Zealand where there were 28 baptisms and in Edinburgh, Scotland where 44 were brought to Christ. Not only do we pray for a great harvest of souls, but we believe the workers will be enriched by the experience.

A centrally located high school auditorium has been obtained for 15 consecutive nights. It was necessary to obtain a change in school board policy to arrange this. With a membership of 60 in Edmonton, a tremendous challenge is before us to fill an auditorium seating 750 night after night.

Dr. Hugo McCord, Vice-president of Oklahoma Christian College, will be the speaker for the Campaign. McCord has published several books, including a treatise on the Beatitudes, Happiness Guaranteed.

Edmontonians are already acquainted with the Lord's Church. Several Bible articles have been published in the newspaper. Approximately 15,000 have visited our Bible display at the Exhibition over the past 3 years. 304 enrolled in a Bible Correspondence Course in 1963.

A dedicated group of young people came from Abilene Christian College in 1961 to solicit students and teach a VBS. Blenus and Audrey Wright, Ron and Mary (Morren) Zavitz, Roy Davison, Maurine Knight, and Jimmy Roden joined forces with Edmonton Christians to teach an average of 201 that year. Equally successful schools have followed with workers from Wichita, Kansas and Sayre, Oklahoma.

From all these sources a mailing list of some 350 families has been compiled. We send a weekly paper, the Just A Moment, to them. These families will provide the starting point for the campaigners.

During the past three years, congregational membership has increased from 40 to 60, and contributions have risen from $55.00 to an average of $150.00. The goal of the congregation is to be completely self-supporting at the end of 1965.

This type of campaign can realize its full potential only when properly advertised. Only $1200 of the $2000 needed for newspaper, billboard, radio and TV is on hand. Congregations and individuals are urgently needed to bolster this fund.

Most of all we seek your fervent prayers. Perhaps you have some relative or dear friend in Edmonton. Will you send us the names that we may contact them, and then will you pray that they will open their hearts to the Gospel? Write us at 13015 116 Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta.

A NEW OPPORTUNITY

By Donald E. Perry

One contact leads to another. We have been studying the Bible and the Bible way of salvation with some young men that are here in Shillong from Manipur. One of these gave my name to a young man from Nagaland. Nagaland is the newest State of India, having received statehood this year. This Naga came here last week, probably walking four miles or more to get here. He invited me to speak at a Naga service of which he is the secretary. I worked my plans out so that I could do that.

So yesterday I cut my Bible class a little short here and walked the two miles or more to the centre of Shillong to speak to this Naga group. My two oldest daughters, Grace and Barbara, went with me. Also a young Naga boy who is working for me went along. They had meeting in the Presbyterian church building, though most of them are Baptists. This "downtown" church building is evidently used through the day on Sunday for different tribal and language groups, not necessarily Presbyterian. Most Nagas are Baptist. No instrumental music was used in the services. I could amen everything that was done. They did not however have the Lord's supper. I was able to speak in English to them, without a translator. This was refreshing as I have not been able to do this since coming to India. I spoke to a group of from eighty to one hundred young people. The greater percentage was young men who would be students in colleges in Shillong. I spoke on "A Free Church for a Free India." My point was to challenge them to be free from denominational interference, domination, traditions, and names, and to be just Christians. Some came and thanked me for my lesson in a very general way. I was trying to sow some seed.

I am impressed with the possibilities of work with these young students who come from various areas. Shillong being the capital with some colleges, many come here. They are attractive young people. They will go back into areas to which we cannot go. Maybe we could send the pure gospel with them.

IRON CURTAIN STILL RISING

At the present time there seems to be much unrest in both Bulgaria and Romania. Recent happenings in these two countries are very encouraging and give us hope that the day is drawing near when we can take the gospel of Christ to them.

I was in Sofia, Bulgaria during the first part of May and found a deep interest for a return to New Testament Christianity. A medical doctor, who has visited our services several times, invited me to visit him in Sofia. In spite of severe persecutions and suppressions for many years the people of Bulgaria have not lost their faith in God. So many attended church services in May that a communist youth organization was sent to form a block around several church buildings in order to keep the people from attending. I also found a feeling of warmth and friendship among the Bulgarians with whom I spoke. All seemed to have a great respect for America and I feel that some day a great opportunity will present itself for taking the gospel to these people. I also found a very strong resentment against Russia. The Bulgarians also told me that it was widespread that Russia was in need of money and was getting ready to sell East Germany to West Germany. This is hard to believe, but it would be a wonderful thing if this happened.

Uprisings have recently taken place in Romania and the iron-curtain here seems to be rising slowly also. It is now possible for people of Austria and other western countries to visit Romania. Ads and wallposters here are inviting people to visit Romania. This nation is now trying to take a course similar to that of Yugoslavia, and thus far, she seems to be making a good headway. The people of Romania have the reputation of being very religious. The majority of the people in both Bulgaria and Romania are Orthodox. The people of Romania have been more suppressed and persecuted than other iron-curtain countries. A year ago it was impossible to visit the country from here. It was also impossible at that time to send in Bibles or religious tracts. The door to Romania is opening itself and we need to take advantage of it.

Bulgaria has a population of 8,500,000 and Romania 19,500,000. Brethren here are 28,000 000 precious souls without the gospel. May God help us to get ready now to invade these countries when the opportunity presents itself. If you have an interest in taking the gospel into these countries, then I would appreciate hearing from you.

REFORMATION

attended the giving of the law, but he could obey the teaching of the law. He could not bring back the daily shower of manna from Heaven or the miracles of the Red Sea, Mt Sinai and the Wilderness, or even the pillar of cloud and of fire which had guided the Israelites in their Wilderness journeying. But he could read the law which had been given from Mt. Sinai and obey what it commanded. Even so, no one in our day can raise the dead as Jesus and the Apostles did, or supernaturally heal the sick, but we can obey the teaching which those inspired men gave and which God confirmed by those miracles.

Examples Of Restoration In Practice

We believe you will quickly appreciate the meaning of 'restoring New Testament Christianity' when you visit the church of Christ. You will find that the Word of God has been elevated to its ancient place of authority. No later revelations are accepted, but the Bible is the center and circumference of the teaching and preaching which you will hear. You will find that worship of the New Testament Church has been restored in churches of Christ. Simplicity is the keynote; there is no ritualism of formalism, nor is there uncontrolled emotionalism, but a simple, reverent atmosphere of worship. The Lord's Supper is observed every Lord's day as in the first century Church (Acts 20:7). The praise service consists of psalms, hymns and spiritual songs without the accompaniment of mechanical intruments of music, which again is a return to the practice of the first century Church. Prayers are offered to God in the name of Christ as the only Mediator between God and men. The work of the Church is financed by regular, weekly giving of the members. (1 Cor. 16:1-2). And the Word of God is preached in the language of the people. Men are told what to do to be saved in the words of the Apostles!

You Can Be Just A Christian

These points are typical of differences you will notice when you visit the church of Christ. And these actions are not designed just to 'be different', but they are followed because of a totally different concept of serving God in this 20th Century. This concept is one of restoring today the Church as Jesus built it, rather than trying to reform any existing religious body from within. Jesus described the Word as the Seed in the parable of the Sower. (Luke 8:11). We believe that whenever this seed is sown without addition, subtraction or change, it will produce today what it produced when the Apostles sowed the some seed nineteen centuries ago. We reap just what we sow, whether physically, morally or spiritually. If we sow the Word of God plus the doctrines of men, we will reap something other than Christians. But if only the Word of God is sown, the harvest will be just Christians in the 20th Century as surely as in the 1st Century. This means that a restoration today of New Testament Christianity can be accomplished if we faithfully adhere to the Word of God. Why shouldn't you be just a Christian?

NEW ELDER AT STRATHMORE

Brother George Barber, Sr., is now an elder of the church at Strathmore Boulevard, in Toronto. Brother Barber is widely known among the brotherhood in this area, through his service in many fields. He has served his congregation as deacon, song leader and teacher, acquitting himself well in these activities.

With the appointing of a new elder, the work at Strathmore should prosper. The office had been vacant since our brother, Herbert Dale, left to move to London. Brother Barber has the interests of the church at heart, especially within his own congregation, and is humbly devoted to advancing the cause of Christ through evangelism and Christian education.

May our brethren everywhere recognize brother Barber as an elder in the Lord's church, and accord to him the respect and honour due his office.

BARRIE CAMPAIGN

June 17 to July 2 were glorious days for all Christians in Central Ontario. Our lives were richly blessed by the fellowship of brethren from both the United States and the Province of Ontario. These came to work hard for the Master. They brought prayer, courage, money and resourcefulness. The harvest was great and may God have the glory.

Forest Park and Dasher Churches in Valdosta, Georgia, put down the foundation of money and workers upon which this effect was constructed. Several other congregations in Georgia and Florida were represented. Bob Bryson, Eddie Campbell, Fred Baker and Howard Wakefield did the preaching at Barrie, Collingwood, Pine Orchard and New Market. Twenty one souls obeyed the gospel in the four areas,

Here in Barrie ten were immersed, six of whom will worship with this congregation. There is some splendid talent and maturity among them which will enrich our work. One gentleman has been preaching in denominationalism for many years, and now "has only the Lord to honour in his work". He will continue to work extensively in counseling and teaching in the prisons of this area.

We have recently been blessed by attendance on Sunday morning in the fifties and sixties, with contributions frequently near the one hundred mark. Some of this is the result of visiting brethren from many areas.

During the first half of July I visited extensively with the Park Street Church which has invested thousands of dollars and much hard work with their many prayers in this work. We made many long-range plans for the years to come, if the Lord is willing.

GREAT LAKES READIES FOR A GOOD YEAR

Great Lakes Christian College is busily preparing for what promises to be its finest year. School opening September 8 will begin the College's 13th session. The enrollment at the end of July was larger than at the same time in any previous year. Thus, it is anticipated that final registration will surpass last year's high of 110 students.

The new classroom structure is well on its way to completion. The faculty anticipates a major improvement to the teaching program as a consequence of the securing of these long needed facilities. The building includes seven classrooms, a library, an assembly area, and office space. Two major achievements will be realized when the construction is finished: (1) a sturdy well-planned building of pleasing appearance acquired at a most economical price; (2) a building uniquely financed through the serious interest of many dedicated supporters over a medium period without an undue burden on any.

Alterations are taking place elsewhere on the campus converting former classroom and administrative space into dormitory rooms. When finished, Great Lakes residential capacity will be increased from 55 to 105 students. The work is being accomplished by volunteer groups of brethren from throughout Ontario. Also, the WAVES are preparing the new rooms in the Girls' Dormitory.

An excellent staff will be on hand at the opening of school. New staff appointments include Ruth Wawrzyniak, who is a highly qualified and gifted French teacher, an Honours graduate of McMaster University from Sault Ste. Marie; David Sugg, who graduates this summer from Abilene Christian College and who will teach History and head the Athletics program; Della Hotchkiss who will be the Residential Girls' Supervisor. She is the wife of Maintenance superintendent, Birnie Hotchkiss. Max and Cledith Craddock, Mr. Craddock, who is the preacher with the Fenwick congregation will become the Dean of Residential Boys, and his wife will assist in the office. The returning staff includes: Eugene Perry, Principal; Walter Dale, Social Studies and Bible; Ila Ellis, English; Murray Lumley, Science; Keith Thompson, Bible; Doreen Ellis, Girls Athletics; Eileen Dale, English; Fred Smart, Executive Assistant; Joan Tallman and Martha May, secretaries; and Alex Oleniuk, Chef.

The continuing and growing interest in the College by brethren everywhere gives a major encouragement to all those who are connected directly with the College. Through your dedicated support during this coming term Great Lakes Christian College can be assured of its finest year.

WEDDINGS

Former Students of G.L.C.C. Become Bride and Groom

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, June 6th, at the Bayview Avenue meeting house in Toronto, when Edythe Bennetts and Roy Williams were united in matrimony. Bro. Harry Bennetts, Edythe's grandfather, conducted the solemn and meaningful service for this double ring ceremony.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, Albert Bennetts, as the tenor soloist sang "Oh Perfect Love". She looked lovely gowned in a full length dress of white peau de soie. It was styled in Empire line with a burst of pleats at the waist, and flowing into a short train behind her. Assisting her was Barbara Hannah as Maid of Honour, in pale blue brocade; also Frances Bennetts and Beverley Campbell as Bridesmaids, both in India blue peau de soie, with matching hats and short veils. All carried cascade bouquets of blending colours, while the bride carried a delicate shade of pink roses. Clark Hannah was best man and Keith Lumley and Henry Robertson assisted as ushers, dressed in white jackets and formal accessories to match the groom's attire.

The solist sang two selections while the register was being signed, and for the recessional "Oh Master Let Me Walk With Thee".

The reception was held at "The Grenadier" in High Park, after which the happy couple left on a honeymoon to Winnipeg. On return they will reside in Toronto.

CLAY — CUNNINGHAM

A very pretty wedding took place at Bayview last Saturday at 3 p.m., when Sister Nancy Cunningham became the wife of Brother Tommy Clay of Abilene, Texas. The young couple spent several days of their honeymoon in Ontario. They plan to spend a year working with a church in Texas, while Bro. Tom finishes his studies at A.C.C. They plan to return to Canada and preach the gospel here. We sincerely wish them much joy and happiness in serving the Lord together.

CULP — COX

The meeting house of the church of Christ, Beamsville, Ont., was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon, June 13th at 3.00 p.m.

Marilyn Ethel Cox of Beamsville, Ont., and David Gordon Culp of Vineland, Ont., were united in marriage.

Marilyn was attended by her twin sister Marlene and Ellen Laundry of Beamsville, Linda Martin of Vineland and Mary Jane Juniper of Beamsville. Flower girl was Cindy Walker of Ancaster Heights, Ont.

The groom was supported by John Maynard of Trenton, Ont. Brian Juniper, Brian Culp and Don Mitchenson were ushers.

Music was provided by an A-Capella quartette — Nedra Mowat, Dorothy James, John and Murray Lumley.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Vineland Women's Institute Hall, where Austin Cox, uncle of the bride was master of ceremonies.

The couple left for a motor trip to Florida. They will reside in St. Catharines.

BIG RIVER BIBLE CAMP

Thirteen baptisms highlight Big River Bible Camp, July 2-10. Nine of these young people were from the Big River district, three from Saskatoon and one from Prince Albert. Teachers for the camp were Allen and Bettye Jacobs, Lois Olson, Marlys Rivard, Shirley and Walter Straker, Louise Spafford and Wilfred Orr. Cooks were Juanita Spafford, Doris Burt. Others assisting around the camp site were Phil Rivard and Roland Olson. Evening services were held with Wilfred Orr, Allen Jacobs and Walter Straker doing the speaking. Our material was the Bible using the series "God's Son and Christian Living" by Quality Printing. Special commendation should be given to Allen Jacobs and Wilfred Orr for their work with the teenage class.

The camp is situated 16 miles north of Big River, which is 87 miles N.W. of Prince Albert. The young people caught over 200 fish, which added very greatly to our meat supply. Tentative plans were made for next year with Walter Straker as the director once more.

BRETHREN, WE NEED A MAN TO MOVE INTO THE BIG RIVER AREA TO PREACH IMMEDIATELY! Thirteen souls who live in the immediate vicinity has been immersed in the past two years.

of conviction. His integrity will be such that his word will be his bond. He may make many mistakes and may sometimes find himself following a course of error. His great distinction will be that he refuses to remain upon such a path once he has learned his true directions.

It is easy to drift along in what one philosopher of old called "the unexamined life." Such a life is a mere existence. Man needs to exercise his God-given powers of reason. New truths need to be added. Errors need to be discarded. When the acceptance of truth calls for a painful sacrifice, the courage of conviction can rise to the occasion. Man's integrity and a man's destiny are in the balance.

OUR DEPARTED

MRS. ARDITH GRIFFITH

Once again the church and the community at Ice Lake, Ontario, have been reminded of the brevity of life and the surety of death. Following a long illness the soul of Sister Ardith Griffith was released from her suffering body in the morning hours of July 8th. The funeral service was conducted at 2:30 p.m. Friday, July 10th by J. R. O'Neal from the church building at Ice Lake. Burial followed in Gordon Township cemetery. Brethren Tom Kemp and Dale Rideout very ably assisted.

Sister Griffith was born Ardith Croft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Croft of Ice Lake, in January, 1903. She was married in 1927 to Mr. Gordon Griffith and they made their home on a farm in Billings Township where they have since resided. One daughter, Doris (Mrs. Grant Tustian) was born to this union. Sister Griffith is survived by her husband, her daughter, three brothers and two sisters.

Some eleven years ago she learned the Way of the Lord from a faithful sister-in-law. So well was the foundation laid that she surrendered to the terms of the Gospel after hearing but one Gospel sermon. From this faith she never turned aside. Death holds no regret for the Christian so that while we sorrow it is not the sorrow of those who have no hope. We gladly extended the consolations of the Gospel to the sorrowing family and admonished all assembled to prepare to meet God. — J. R. O'Neal

GARNER

The late William Garner, who was born March 27th, 1883, passed away at the Linhaven Home in St. Catharines, June 10th, 1964. Mr. Garner had been a resident of this city for many years. His wife Florence, who died in 1943 and his son Charles who passed away in 1961, were both charter and faithful members at the Niagara Street church of Christ.

He is survived by one brother George of Cobourg; a sister, Mrs. Hazel Ellen; (since deceased) and one great granddaughter in Alaska.

Funeral services were conducted from the Winter and Winter Funeral Home, with burial in Victoria Lawn Cemetery —C. G. McPhee

THE MANITOBA CAMPAIGN

Plans are now being made for a ten-month teaching campaign in Manitoba which will begin this August. It will be climaxed by a large meeting in a downtown auditorium in April of next year. The unusual length of the campaign is planned to allow time for a city-wide census and the teaching of hundreds of cottage meetings. It is hoped that the membership of all Winnipeg congregations can be doubled during this period of time.

Alan Bryan will be in Winnipeg with a group of fifty personal workers in August to begin public-contact work. Other groups will follow during the fall months. A large group of two hundred outside workers will be in Winnipeg for the downtown services next April.

William S. Banowsky, minister of the Broadway church in Lubbock, Texas, has been secured as speaker for the big meeting. Another prominent worker during the campaign will be Bob Hoover from the Vandelia Village congregation in Lubbock. Vandelia Village is underwriting the expense of the campaign and helping to supply workers.

One unusual feature of the Manitoba Campaign is the follow-up plans. Intensive follow-up work will continue through June of 1965. An additional group of fifty workers will be brought in for work in June. These will work to teach and baptize new contacts which developed late in the campaign and also to teach and stabilize new converts. A series of lessons on "Now That I Am A Christian" will be held in June.

For further information, please write Windsor Park Church of Christ, 365 Westmount Drive, Winnipeg 6, Manitoba, or Murray F Hammond, 1336 Dudley Crescent, Winnipeg 9, Manitoba.

COLLEGE PRESIDENTS MEET

Eight of the Presidents of Christian schools and colleges met on the campus of Western Christian College, Weyburn, Saskatchewan, Canada on June eighth and ninth.

Although there are no organic nor organizational ties between these schools, and these meetings are not for the purpose of setting policy, representatives of the various schools try to meet annually to discuss mutual concerns, and to encourage each other in the great cause of Christian Education.

The meeting was encouraging, as the future of Christian Education was presented by each of the men, and the cause of Christian Education is growing among the brethren. There was a distinct vote of optimism at the meeting, and each President expressed his appreciation for the work that is being done by so many in this cause.

Western Christian College, according to Mr. Wieb, the President of the College, was proud to be host for this meeting of Christian School Administraters.

WESTERN CHRISTIAN COLLEGE FACULTY

By E. D. Wieb

The faculty for the 1964-5 school term is almost completed with two new teachers and five former ones being employed for the new term. BRITISH COLUMBIA - THE NEW FRONTIER

By Daniel C. Marshall, Vancouver

Narrow, treacherous trails which once led men through canyons and gorges to the gold fields in the north have now become the modern 70 mph highways of British Columbia. Even though man has now pushed through with modern highways and other means of communications, we can still say this is a frontier land because of the vast undeveloped areas and rich untapped resources. In fact because of the current surge of development it is being called the "New Frontier".

The warm Japanese current washes the shore of this land which then rises to over 15,000 feet at the highest mountain peak. It is third in size of the provinces. It produces everything from apricots to Tyee Salmon, from cattle to tall timber. It is a big-game paradise for hunters of bear and moose. It is a boating paradise and here are built boats of all sizes from 8 foot sailboats to large navy ships. It has one of the world's largest drydocks.

Vancouver harbour of 49 square miles is rated as one of the finest in the world and today leads the world ports in timber and wheat shipments. In addition, 1½ million passengers pass through this port annually. At the nearby Vancouver International Airport you will see travellers from the four corners of the world. Flying times from Vancouver are: Toronto 4 hours, Mexico City 5, Amsterdam 9½, Tokyo 10. Local flights take you to major B.C. communities and bush pilots will take you anywhere in the back woods.

With great untapped sources of timber, minerals, oil, gas, and water power, B.C. is in its greatest period of development and expansion. More pulp and newsprint mills are being built here than anywhere in the world. Huge dams are about to harness two of Canada's great rivers, the Peace River and Columbia River. Power development will expand all primary and secondary industry. The next 10 years will see over $1.3 Billion dollars spent on these two projects alone, with another $700 million to be spent on new transmission lines. The New York Wall Street Journal for May 8th carried on the front page, "Boom In Canada" and included the economic outlook for B.C. Local financial leaders are extremely happy over the prospect they see and expect for the next five to

PAY AS YOU GO!

by Ron Beckett, Box 51, Salmon Arm, B.C.

According to Jesus it costs a man something to be his disciple. Furthermore the price is to be paid now, not at some future date. Everyday the child of God should be meeting the cost of discipleship. Too often we appear to be operating on some imaginary charge account in heaven.

A disciple is one who believes in the doctrine of his teacher and follows him. To be a follower of Christ we must put him first in our lives, not just on Sunday, but every hour of every day. The blessings of Christianity come to us only as we daily pay the cost of discipleship. Jesus said, "If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters, yea, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple. And whosoever doth not bear his cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple." Lk. 14:26, 27..

Why is the body of Christ not a more potent force in the world than it is? Because it has too many members who are not paying the price and who are not walking in the steps of the Master.

LETS AWAKEN TO THE TRUE

WHO, ME?

Dale Foster, Nanaimo, B.C.

This writer is not one who wishes to be hypercritical of the attitude many Christians have taken toward the evangelization of the world, but he is concerned about the phlegmatic way in which Christians are failing to carry out the plain commands of the New Testament on teaching the lost. There is no need to quote the Great Commission here as many would merely pass over it as though it were not here. Many flinch at the resounding command, "GO!". The anemic retort often is, "Who, me?".

Let us forget for a while (which some will be glad to do) the idea of evangelizing the whole world, and let's talk about something a little closer to each of us. We have in mind, of course, the evangelization of the province of British Columbia, that mysterious land west of the mighty Rockies.

The present estimated population of this province is 1,700,000. This is the number of people who need Christ. The land area is 366,255 sq. mi., which is a third larger than the state of Texas. Presently, there are only six men working in the capacity of full-time evangelists in B.C. In this vast land, it is hardly possible for these men to reach all the people, even in the larger population areas, much less in the more remote areas. Therefore, it behooves each Christian to shoulder his responsibility to teach that the thousands of this great land might hear the primitive gospel of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ!

The idea of responsibility is repulsive to many people, not only in spiritual matters but in physical matters as well. There are people who, in the physical realm, will twist and squirm in every direction to avoid responsibility, and they will try to fix the situation so that any blame which may be forthcoming will not be directed toward them but toward another. But in the matter of teaching, there can be no shifting of responsibility. Many continue to try to shift it and may actually succeed now, but in the judgment day they may hear the fearful words: "Depart from me, I never knew you!"

Someone has said, "There are too many wheelbarrow Christians in the church. They go only when they are pushed." But even then many of the wheelbarrows have flats, or broken axles or handles, and if they cannot be repaired, they are left by the wayside as useless. There are too many such useless members in the church, but the Lord has said such will "be cut off and cast into the fire."

The sad part of it all is the fact that when many Christians are asked to teach a class, visit a prospective Christian, or even to lead a prayer, the reply often is, "Who, me? I can't do that." Sadder still is the fact that many such people have been members of the Lord's church for years. They have never even mastered the principles of the doctrine of Christ, much less going on unto perfection (Hebrews 6:1). But the saddest of all is the fact that Christians must have to be asked, or rather begged, to do that which is their duty and responsibility as Christians. What a sad commentary on our lives!

What we need is more people like Aquila and Priscilla who took Apollos "unto them, and expounded the way of God unto him more perfectly" (Acts 18:24). No one had to ask them to do this, but they did it on their own. We need more people like those in Acts 8:4, "Therefore they that were scattered abroad went everywhere preaching the word." We often give thanks in our prayers for the freedom from persecution we enjoy, and this is right. No one wants persecution, but it might be just what the church today needs. At least, it would rid the church of all the hypocrites. We need more men like the man from whom Jesus cast a legion of demons. This man wanted to go with Jesus. Jesus refused saying, "Return to thine own house, and show how great things God hath done unto thee. And he went his way, and published throughout the whole city how great things Jesus had done unto him." (Luke 8:39). I would to God that we had the faith to witness to others what Jesus Christ has done for us!

In the future, refuse to say, "Who, me?", and rather say, "Here am I, send me." God only wants willing servants. Are you willing to do your part in his service?

ten years. Fantastic new financial figures are being given in connection with construction of power dams, pulp mills and mining expansion.

But you may say, what has this to do with the church? It has this to do with it — PEOPLE! In 1963 B.C. had the greatest percentage increase in population of all provinces. This represents SOULS! B.C. is also a great frontier for the church even though the church has been here in a small way for over 50 years. While other religious groups are even using boats and planes to evangelize hard to reach areas, we have not yet touched the hem of the garment in the cities. We need a "church boom" to keep pace with the economic boom of the next ten years.

The church meets in seven small groups and this year has four full-time men. Outside of greater Victoria and greater Vancouver there are 17 cities with a population over 10,000 and only one of these (Nanaimo) has a congregation. Here are untouched areas for preaching the gospel. In 1965 Focus Okanagan will begin in Kelowna and reach through the Okanagan Valley. In the Fraser Valley from Hope to the sea there are 28 communities with churches in only two.

Let's sample just one community —Prince George, 21 miles from the geographic center of the province. This will be the distribution center for the Peace River power. Greater Prince George has a population of 31,000 and the average age of the people is 35 years. They estimate the population figure will double in the next ten years. Over 500 saw mills are in the area and construction of a large pulp mill has just been announced. A few Christians used to meet here but have moved away. The church needs to be established here and in the 15 other com-

CAN THE GOSPEL BE PREACHED IN B.C. IN OUR GENERATION?

By Sam Tumlinson

There is a great white field that is stretched before us that is ready for harvest — BRITISH COLUMBIA. When one stops to ponder the task, it is truly a great one. There are scores of towns where the Gospel has never been. There are populated farm areas that don't have the "country congregations" of the southern states, and large cities where at best we have only touched the "hem of the garment".

This is indeed a great task but it can be hindered by the limitations we place on it. If we hide our talent, it won't be accomplished. The ability of God to work through his children is limit-less as long as we continue to develop whatever God given talents we have.

We can also hinder the evangelization of British Columbia by trying to do it all ourselves. I once heard of a Chinese boy named Lo who felt that nothing could hinder him from doing his part to spread the Great Commission. When asked how he was able to develop such a faith, he said. "It's because the Lord promised me personally that He would be with me. He said, 'Lo, I am with you always even to the close of the age.'" If we don't have this conception of God walking with us our work will be hindered.

On the other hand when we view the evangelization of British Columbia in the light of the work of the Christians in the first century we see that it can be done. Paul said, approximately thirty seven years after the establishment of the Church, that the Gospel" was preached in all creation under heaven." Col. 1:23. Even though plagued by persecution, our brethren of almost two thousand years ago took the marching orders of the Master and went forth to conquer the known world with Christ's gospel of peace.

I also believe we can evangelize British Columbia in our generation because we have the man power. In 1965 a nucleus of Christians will be moving to the central part of the Okanagan Valley to plant the cause of Christ. God will lead others to see the need for evangelism in some of the other sizeable towns.

The main reason why the evangelization of this province is possible is because we have the Lord on our side and nothing is too great for Him. The Lord asked Abraham when his wife had doubted God's promise of a son, "Is anything too hard for the Lord?" Gen. 18:14. We can be assured that just as God blessed Sarah with a Son through whose seed all the nations of the earth are blessed, He will be with us and bless our efforts for Him in British Columbia. Yes, the Gospel can be preached to British Columbia in our Generation.

Montreal, Que.: A bank has assured a $15,000 loan with the possibility of $10,000 more as needed. Dr. Branch is acting as personal guarantor for this loan and with the $24,000 already on hand it is possible to start building in September. The local Y.M.C.A. will allow the church to rent meeting facilities until the building is completed. With a Lord's day morning attendance average of 32 in July the contribution averaged $235.50.

"Next month we are looking forward to having the S. F. Timmermans and the Owen Aikins back to begin their respective works. It will be a thrill when we start having reports from "les eglises du Christ" in Quebec City and Montreal.

THE AWAKENING GIANT

By Jim Hawkins, Victoria

In the 37th chapter of Ezekiel, the first 14 verses, we have recorded an exciting picture of the return of the people of Israel to their land, and of the restoration of the Spirit of God within them. The Spirit of God took Ezekiel out in the midst of the valley and there he saw this great valley full of bones, very dry. And upon the command of God, Ezekiel began prophesying: "O ye dry bones, hear the word of Jehovah. Thus saith the Lord Jehovah unto these bones: Behold I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall live. And I will lay sinews upon you, and will bring up flesh upon you, and cover you with skin, and put breath in you, and ye shall live; and ye shall know that I am Jehovah." And while Ezekiel was saying these words, there was a great noise and an earthquake, and suddenly the bones began joining themselves together, and then sinews, and then flesh, and finally skin came upon the bones. Again at the command of God, he prophesied saying: "Come from four winds, O breath, and breathe upon these slain, that they may live." And Ezekiel said that when he did this, "the breath came into them, and they lived, and stood up, upon their feet, an exceeding great army."

This picture of the restoration of Israel is in many respects typical of the church in Canada today. The church is in Canada today, in a very real sense, an awakening giant. This is not said to simply criticize, but to encourage us to continue to awaken to great challenges that are before us. The church has been in Canada for over a hundred years. Even in the West, some of the congregations date back to the turn of the century. But, we have seen digression sweep many of the churches. And even those churches which were not swept away by digression, were almost inundated by complacency and lack of vision. For many years, a great portion of the church in Canada looked much like the scene Ezekiel saw in the valley — bodies complete with bone, sinew, flesh, and skin, but no Spirit within them.

But, thank God, this picture is changing. And this giant in Canada is beginning to come to life. For many years, just a few members of the body were trying to do the work for the whole body. But heartening signs tell us this is changing. The body as a whole is beginning to move and work. More and more we are realizing that when we allow God to live in us and move us according to His will, we become giants indeed, for "we can do all things through Christ who strengthens us."

And one of the greatest awakening giants in Canada today is the church in British Columbia, to which this issue of the Gospel Herald is devoted. The opportunities in B.C. are virtually unlimited. The churches here are relatively small and few in number. But this should never be a deterrent to preaching the Gospel, in B.C., or anywhere else.

One of the most exciting efforts in which the church is currently engaging is that of holding large scale evangelistic campaigns in the various areas of Canada. As I am writing this there comes to my mind the campaign held in the Barrie area, and the personal work campaign and meeting in connection with the "Target-Canada" work in Fort William and Port Arthur. And at the same time there will be the large Edmonton Campaign. Both of these latter ones took place in August. At the end of September will be the large Toronto meeting with Brother Gatewood in the Eaton Auditorium. Also this fall sees the beginning of the nine-month long Winnipeg campaign, an energetic endeavour if I ever saw one. Thank God for those brethren's vision. Next summer sees the beginning of the "Focus-Okanogan" work. The summer of 1966 sees large-scale campaign scheduled for both Vancouver and Victoria, and the beginning of the "New Brunswick '66" program. Undoubtedly others areas are planning similar efforts.

But just these few efforts are not enough. We need to be making and

TEACHING GOD'S WORD

TEACHER TRAINING HELPS — No. 3

H. Ralph Perry, London, Ontario

You want improvement in teaching God's word. Training is the key. Provide the materials for training.

In previous articles we listed good books and booklets for the teacher's improvement. Most practical among the books is "Teach With Success" by Guy Leavitt. In training teachers for various levels of instruction we think the Gospel Light series of booklets, "Teaching Successfully" to be about the best.

The church desiring to improve its teaching of the Bible would do well to use teacher's magazines, films, and records in its training programme. We list some of the magazines now.

III. Magazines for the Bible Teacher

A. "Christian Bible Teacher" — Monthly, 34 page magazine, written and published by members of the church. Bro. Bill Patterson, of California is editor-in-chief. He is ably assisted by many experts throughout the brotherhood. Bro. Patterson taught a teacher training course at Omagh Bible School a few years ago. From this I received much of the interest that has caused me to pursue further study in teacher training.

On the masthead of the magazine we have this statement: "A magazine for all teachers of God's Word providing assistance in the HOW of teaching and in DIRECTING and BUILDING UP the church teaching program." In each issue there are articles dealing with general topics of directing, promoting, and organizing the church's teaching programme. Also an article appears each month concerning each age level of instruction beginning with pre-school children and ending with adults.

This is a very good magazine and should be available to each teacher and assistant teacher. Many churches receive a bundle of these each month and give them to the teachers. Others encourage teachers to subscribe in a group. Whatever method is used try to get these into the hands of the teachers and see that they are read and that good ideas for improvement are acted upon. This could be done by discussing outstanding articles and ideas in teachers' meetings.

Order from Quality Printing Co., Box 1223, Abilene, Texas. ($3.00 per year. $2.50 in clubs of 5 or more).

B. Magazines by Others.

1. "Teach" "The Sunday School Idea Magazine" is the best publication by non-church members, to our knowledge. This is published quarterly by Gospel Light Publications, 725 E. Colorado, Glendale 5, Calif. ($2.00 per year or .40c a copy in bundles of 5 or more).

This is an alive and colourful magazine. It contains general articles using first hand experiences of teachers. Many pictures and illustrations make the up-to-date ideas vital and useable. A recent article was entitled "25 Ways to Teach". This was very instructive.

There is one complete section called, "Tips from Teach" for Sunday School teachers, superintendents, and other workers. Many practical ideas, methods and projects are presented on a departmental basis. They have been carefully developed, tested or evaluated by religious education specialists.

Each issue has a half page list of ideas for which you may write for help. Many items are free. New and up-to-date teaching aids are made known in the section "Sunday School Shopper."

In "Teach" you will come face to face with some doctrinal error. This is not very extensive as the magazine primarily presents in an inspirational and instructive manner ideas for the improvement of teaching. Personally, I wouldn't want to be without this. I have every issue ever published.

Since this is a quarterly, printed in colour and with many illustrations it is more likely to be read and used than more frequent periodicals.

2. "International Journal of Religious Education".

We understand this to be a monthly publication which has many excellent teaching ideas but comes from a liberal background.

3. "Link" 16 page monthly publication of the National Sunday School Association. Conservative in doctrine. ($1.00 per year) This keeps one up-to-date on training conventions amongst evangelical churches. It also includes some excellent articles on teaching from national experts.

4. "Key" Quarterly publication of Standard Publishing Co. ($2.00 per year) Departmentalizes and attractively done.

5. "Sunday School Leader" "Monthly professional journal for Sunday School leaders, containing methods and program materials for teachers of all ages, and the adult teacher's unified lessons." ($4.00 per year)

6. "Sunday School Builder" Monthly publication of Southern Baptist Publishing House. Geared to this denomination which has multiplied its membership through Sunday School work.

7. "Success" "The How-to magazine for Baptist workers in Sunday School."

8. "Interaction" Published monthly by Concordia Publishing House, St. Louis, Mo. (Lutheran)

There are many denominational Sunday school magazines on the market. We have listed those we have samples of. There are good ideas for teaching in all of these. However, we would recommend "Christian Bible Teacher" for every teacher in the church's teaching programme. You will not go wrong here. Our brethren are doing an excellent job and improving all the time. Use this.

For those desiring further help we recommend "Teach" magazine. This is tops.

MEET THESE MEN

(Editors note: We are very grateful to Brother J. C. Bailey for sending along these most interesting letters from two of his Indian fellow workers. Though we have brethren all over the world, most of whom we shall probably never meet personally, this side of eternity, it gives us great pleasure to be introduced to them even in this fashion).

I am happy to introduce to you two of my fellow workers for the kingdom of God. There are not more devoted servants of God anywhere than these two people. I have two more workers but they do not write English and the one does not talk English very much, but they too are fine men. Every time I think of it, I marvel how God has raised up in such a short time such fine men to assist in the work here.

YOUNG PEOPLE, prepare yourselves for to do great things in the kingdom of God. If the Lord tarries, there are opportunities that stagger the imagination ahead of the rising generation.

At another time, we hope to have other young people from here write for the young peoples' page of our very own paper: the GOSPEL HERALD.

—J. C. Bailey

Meet Paul Nathan!

"Young man, you are too young to be thinking about God, etc. Go, be a man of deeds. Work, eat, drink and be merry. Don't bother about religions and gods now. When you get old, you will learn that all religions teach the same truth."

This was the advice given to me by the old Hindu sage. He could not give me a satisfactory answer for my questions. He could not satisfy my quest for God and righteousness.

I was a very bad boy. Did whatever I liked. Went wherever it pleased me. Was born and brought up in a very orthodox Hindu Brahmin (the highest caste in Hinduism) family. My father gave me good education. At a very early age I had a good job. But nothing would satisfy me. I wanted peace. I wanted to be a good boy. I searched ways and means.

One day I was standing on the curb of a busy road just vacantly looking at the fast moving traffic. Suddenly a small piece of paper was passed on to me by someone. I took it and read. It told about Jesus! It pointed to Him as the only solution for all my problems. That led me to more searching of Hinduism which took another six months. At the end I came again to the same blank wall. No peace . . . No satisfaction in life . . . no real meaning behind living . . .

One day the friend who had given me the tract on the road came to my room. He told me more about Jesus. I opened my heart for the Lord. I repented of my sins. Confessing Christ, I was baptized the following Sunday in a Baptist church.

I lost my job. My friends left me. I was in a real thick soup. But God did undertake. I was able to get a part time job in a Bible Book Store in Calcutta and went to the Bible College. After graduation, came out with a quest for preaching. God led me to the truth. Did more personal studies. This led me to the church of Christ! My conviction re: baptism, denominations, etc. etc. made more enemies than friends. Today I am preaching what I believe. I believe in the Bible and the Bible alone. I hate any additions to the Word of God. Do you?

Young people, literature can do wonders. Indians are also capable of obeying the truth. We must act now. Brother Bailey has plans to put out 1,000,000 tracts in four years. Now his tracts are available in Tamil, Telugu, Khasi, Hindu and English. Already we have put out 317,000. What portion will you have in this great ministry? Pray for us. Pray for the work. Write to us. We love to hear from you. I have a lovely wife and a little son six months old. He is named after Brother Bailey (George Carlos). My wife can be of great help in this work. Pray for her and for our family. God bless you.

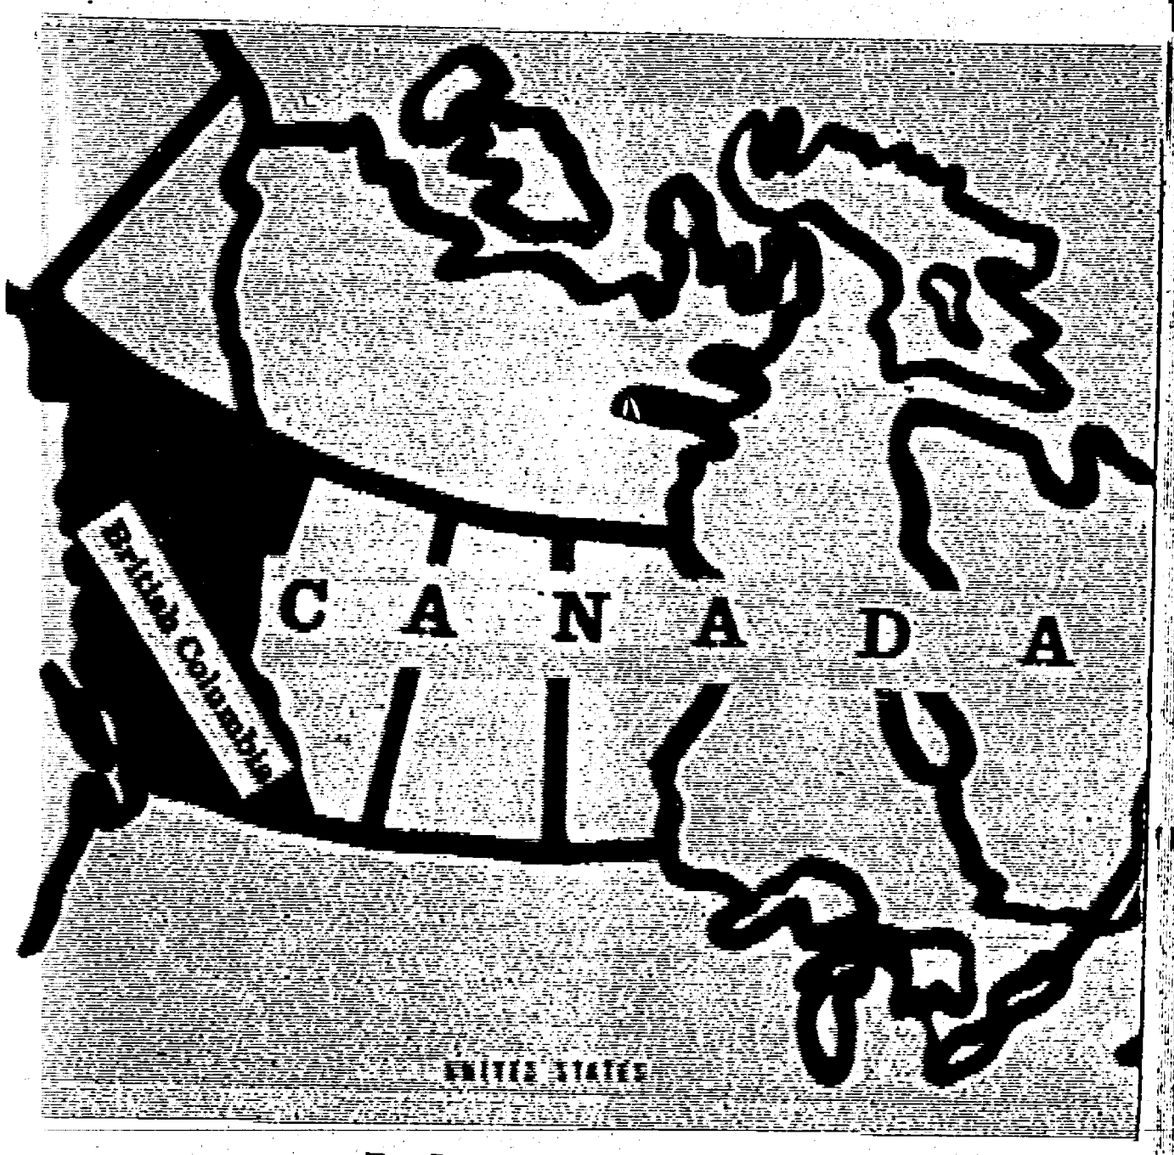
I Am Joshua G.

Thank God for giving me this opportunity to write to you. It is possible only through the Lord Jesus Christ, our Saviour and we preach his word, the truth. (Jno. 17:17). Wherever we are, we are one in the Lord as our Lord is one with the Father.

I do work for the church here. I preach in our three Telugu congregations every Lords' day. I also interpret for Brother Bailey whenever we hold a meeting amongst the Telugu people. I translate his tracts into Telugu and run the Bible correspondence course in Telugu too. This course was originally prepared by Brother Choate of Pakistan. Have got 270 students already in our course.

Though I am only 20 years old, I responded to the Gospel a few months ago, and am working full time for the church. Have got a great ambition to be a preacher and am being trained by Brother Bailey. I am thankful for Brother and Sister Bailey. for their hospitality to me while my three months stay in their home.

We do pray for you all and in turn request all of you to remember us and the work here in your prayers. Thank you very much.



—Brother Joshua G.

FOCUS OKANAGAN

By Lynn Anderson

"Bigger, Better, Bolder for B.C."

With the successful beginning of the EXODUS/Bayshore project has come the realization that such a thing can be done again and again — anywhere on any scale. Thus in Eastern Canada TARGET/Canada will begin this summer. In British Columbia another like project called FOCUS/Okanagan will be launched the summer of 1965.

FOCUS/Okanagan focuses soul-winning attention on Kelowna, the heart of B.C.'s Okanagan Valley. The plan is for at least 10 self-supporting Christian families and two full-time Evangelists to take up permanent residence in Kelowna by the summer of 1965. This will be a nucleous for a church there and ultimately the plan leads, with God's help, to the evangelizing of the whole Okanagan Valley.

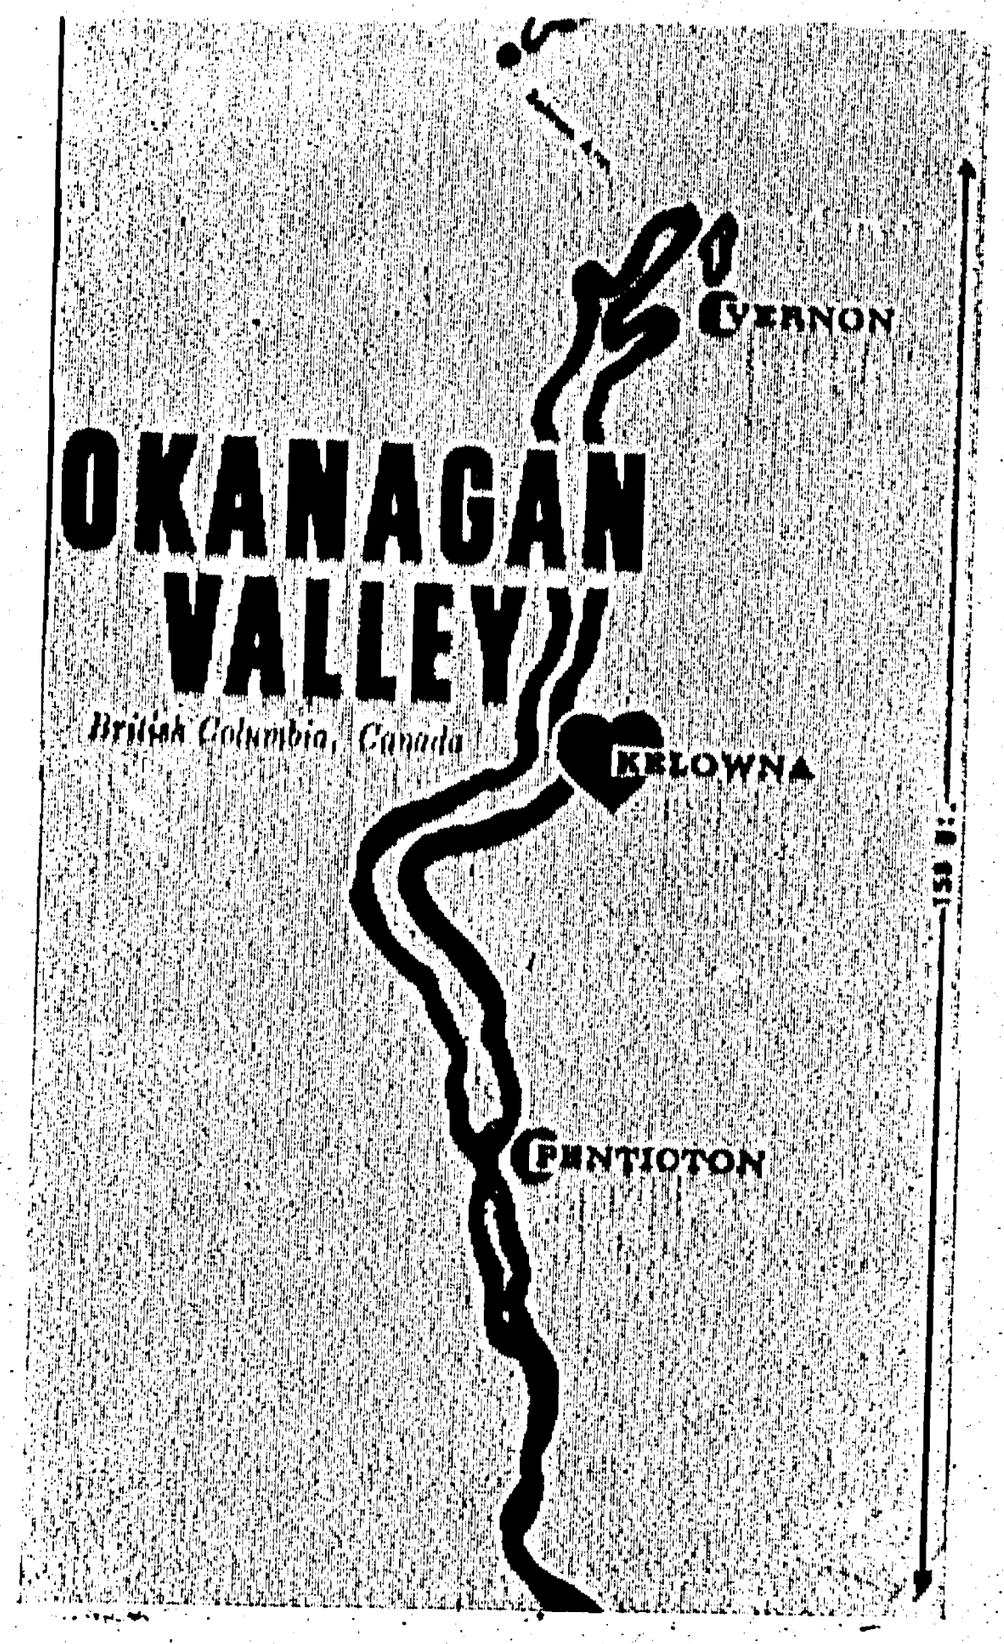
WHY THIS METHOD?

Group evangelism is an ideal method for the following reasons:

A. In groups the discouragement of isolation will not be the threat it has been to other new works.

B. Groups will have a much greater potential (1) for making contacts (2) for immediate Sunday School work (3) for financial support of an extensive program.

C. The public image of the church can be better, more permanent and more widely known with 'group invasion'.



D. From a group beginning a self-supporting work that is able to 'teach others also' can be established many times more rapidly.

WHY KELOWNA?

A. Kelowna is the heart of the Okanagan Valley. The population of the O.K. Valley is in excess of 90,000. Kelowna has 13,500 population with 30-35,000 within a 15 mile radius.

1. It is the geographical heart of the valley. Vernon, 12,500 is 30 miles to the north and Penticton 13,500 is 35 miles to the south, with heavy rural population and several smaller towns in between.

2. It is the communications heart of the valley. Kelowna's CHBC-TV, the only TV station, blankets the whole valley, as do CKOV radio and the KELOWNA DAILY COURIER.

3. It is the civic and cultural heart of the O.K. Valley, because of its auditoriums, its schools and its central location.

B. TIME makes Kelowna doubly strategic NOW. Brethren in large cities are facing the disheartening task of trying to crack the impersonal indifference and the sheer weight of numbers — while advertising costs are unreasonably expensive and seldom effective. Thus quite often it is impossible for the church to be 'known' even in its community. NOW Kelowna is not large nor impersonal — it is a warm community where we can know and be known by all, and can come to be well acquainted with the leadership of the area. However, should we wait 15 or 20 years — it will be too late. (two people per day move into Kelowna). NOW is the time to plant the church so that we can grow with the community and weave into its fibre before it becomes a metropolis!

C. Because of the encouraging progress in near-by Salmon Arm, we have reason to believe that Kelowna will also be a fruitful field for the rapid growth of the church.

HOW WILL THIS BEGIN?

A. In the summer of 1965 we shall begin — with a bang — to spread the Gospel. A religious census will be first, along with T.V., Radio, Newspaper, Gospel Meeting and Cottage Meeting work.

B. In 1966 we plan a six week campaign with Maurice Tisdel training and directing a host of personal workers.

C. By the end of the third year it is our goal to have a new building completed and to then inaugurate a 10 year plan covering all phases of the work.

WHO IS GOING TO DO THIS?

The two evangelists that are spearheading the FOCUS/Okanagan effort and will work with the Kelowna church after its beginning are Lynn Anderson and Sam Tumlinson, now working with the church at Salmon Arm, B.C. Anderson is supported by the church at West Memphis, Arkansas and other churches while Tumlinson is sponsored by the church at Richland, Washington.

The goal of 10 self-supporting families is now half way to being reached. We now have five families definitely committed to a definite date besides two single girls. These are:

Mr and Mrs Elgin Parker, School Teacher of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan. B.Ed. from the University of Saskatchewan. One child. To be in Kelowna by the fall of 1964.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Muirhead, Teacher of Weyburn, Sask. Grade-school vice-principal. Two children. To be in Kelowna by the fall of 1965.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Roberts, Winnipeg, Manitoba. Auto Mechanic. Three children. Sister Roberts is a Teacher. Goal to be in Kelowna by summer of 1966 (possibly 1965).

Miss Karen Shappley, Teacher; Memphis, Tennessee. B.A. Harding College, working on M.A. in Home Economics at the University of Iowa. To be in Kelowna, summer 1965.

Miss Gloria Bryant, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan. Registered Nurse, six years experience. To be in Kelown by summer 1965.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Chester, Little Rock, Arkansas. Medical Student. Sister Chester is a Teacher. To be in Kelowna by 1967.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Walker, Searcy, Arkansas. Biology Teacher, B.S. from Harding College. Mrs. Walker is a teacher and will receive her B.A. this year. To be in Kelowna by summer 1965.

There is a host of other people intending to be a part of this project, but with no definite committment or date as yet — and still others who are casually interested in becoming a part.

WHAT YOU CAN DO

We are convinced that this is one of the greatest doors of opportunity that is open for the Gospel in Western Canada and feel too that this could be one of the most significant undertakings for Christ thus far in the Canadian work. YOU CAN HELP. Pray fervently! Help us publicize these intentions. WHY NOT BE A PART? If you would like further information write FOCUS/Okanagan, Box 51, Salmon Arm, B.C.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

munities of 10,000 plus population.

In one sense we are fortunate that most of the 1½ million population of the province is quite concentrated. Greater Victoria has 165,000, the Okanagan Valley 90,000. Greater Vancouver with over 800,000 has about half the total population of the province. Victoria is the capital and Vancouver is the business and financial center of the province.

There is a note of encouragement for the church as we look forward to Focus Okanagan in 1965 and the large scale campaigns of Victoria and Vancouver in 1966. In comparison to past efforts these loom large but in comparison to the "boom" the business men are planning, this will scarcely be an audible "pop", but it is a step in the right direction and we hope others will be stirred to more vigorous efforts.

Yes, this is indeed a frontier for the church. We are being outstripped by nearly every denomination here. But there is power in the gospel when it is preached, our only problem "the labourers are few". We need every labourer working at full capacity — and we need MORE LABOURERS. Opportunity has never been better than it will be in the next ten years to make a real "boom with the gospel" in British Columbia.

Book Reviews

Books to be reviewed in this column should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont., Canada.

The New American Standard Bible — New Testament, The Lockman Foundation La Habra, Calif. (Distributed in Canada by Home Evangel, Toronto), 441 pages, cloth cover, $4.95 (plus exchange in Canada).

The American Standard Version has long been one of the most widely accepted translations of the Bible among Churches of Christ. This has been due to the accuracy of its rendering of the inspired Word. However, as is well known, language changes over the years and revisions become necessary. Therefore the Lockman Foundation, producers of Amplified Translations, have produced this revision of the American Standard New Testament.

Twenty-five thousand hours of the latest scholarly research have been devoted to this project. The translators have sought to retain the accuracy of the version of 1901 and also completely modernize its style into contemporary English. Thus we notice that "Thou, Thy and Thee" are changed to "you" except in the language of prayer when addressing Deity.

This is by no means a liberal, paraphrased version. Italics are used in the text to indicate words which are not found in the original Greek but implied by it. Neither does it have any tinge of modernism. An indication of the conservative nature of the work is seen in that personal pronouns are capitalized when pertaining to Deity.

One happy feature of this new translation is that it gives more attention to the tenses of verbs than has any other previous version. For instance we read "whatever you shall bind on earth shall have been bound in heaven, and whatever you shall loose on earth shall have been loosed in heaven" (Matt.. 16:19). Also in 1 John 3:4-10 we note that "every one who practices sin also practices lawlessness"; that "the one who practices righteousness is righteous"; that "no one who is born of God practices sin."

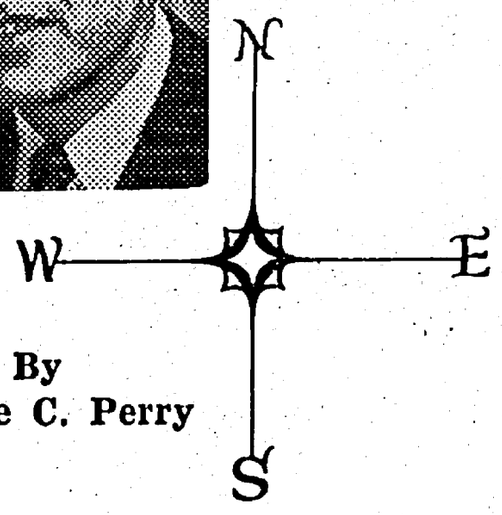
The physical make-up of the translation is excellent. References and footnotes, of which there are many, are placed at the side of the page instead of at the bottom which makes for great convenience in locating them.

It is to be hoped that the Old Testament of the American Standard Version will receive a similar revision.

BIBLE QUIZ

II Timothy 2:15; 3:16, 17

The Bible is God's Word. It is the meat and drink of the spiritual life. Christians need to study it daily. These questions will help to indicate something of how effective your study has been.



HARVEST AND THE BIBLE

1. To whom did God make the promise of the certainty of the seasons: "While the earth remains, seedtime and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter, day and night shall not cease"?
2. True or False: Two of the three major feasts celebrated by the Israelites had to do with harvest.
3. Cite a famous harvest example (of Messianic importance) recorded in the Old Testament fulfilling the following Mosaic command: "and when you reap the harvest of your land, you shall not reap your field to its border, nor shall you gather the gleanings after your harvest; you shall leave them for the poor and for the stranger." (Lev. 28:22)
4. Complete this prophetic statement: "For they sow the wind and reap the ..... The standing grain has not heads, it shall yield no meal; if it were to yield aliens would devour it."
5. Complete this statement by Jesus: "Look at the .....: they neither sow or reap nor gather into barns, and yet your heavenly father feeds them. Are you not of more value than they?"
6. Complete another statement by Jesus: "The harvest is plentiful but the laborers are few; pray therefore the ..... of the harvest to send out ..... into the harvest."
7. In the parable of the Tares, Mt. 13:24-30, what does the "harvest refer to?
8. Identify the man who had the best harvest recorded in the New Testament.
9. Complete Paul's warning: "Do not be deceived, God is not mocked for whatsoever a man ..... that he will also reap."
10. What harvest instrument was used in Revelations' vision of Christ harvesting the earth?

ANSWERS: 1. Noah, Gen. 8:22. 2. True, "First Fruits", Ingathering", Ex. 23:16. 3. Ruth and Boaz, Ruth 2:1-2. 4. Whirlwind, Hosea 8:7. 5. Birds of the air, Mt. 6:26. 6. Lord, Labourers, Mt. 9:37. 7. "The close of the age", Mt. 13:39. 8. The Foolish Farmer Lk. 12:16-21. 9. Sow, Gal. 6:7. 10. Sickle, Rev. 14:14-16.

HERE AND THERE

By
Eugene C. Perry

"The V.B.S. and meetings at Halifax and Mill Village have gone very well." — Walter Hart.

Brother Hart is receiving support from four churches in Texas and one in Iowa. Average Halifax monthly contribution has been $313.87 with a budget of $325.00 and outside help has been $239.23 with a budget of $360.00.

HERE AND THERE

Kingston, Ont.: The V.B.S. was well attended and brother Jerry Davidson reports that it was a pleasure to work with the brethren there. They are looking for a full time preacher.

Toronto, Bayview: Judy Stephen was baptized at Omagh Bible School and David Knutson at Bayview.

REMEMBER THE METRO MEETING — September 28 - October 2, Eaton Auditorium.

Jordan, Ont.: V.B.S. attendance reached 100 on the fourth day with many students from families which are not members of the church. One woman was baptized recently.

Wellandport, Ont.: This church has now been meeting for two months. "One has been obedient to the gospel of Christ and several more are being taught at present." — The Jordan Journal.

Fenwick, Ont.: We wish to correct an error that appeared on page 17 of the August issue. Fonthill and Fenwick are adjoining communities and we unintentionally reported that the evening services at Fonthill would be at 7:30 beginning Aug. 16. This should have been the church at Fenwick, since a church does not meet in Fonthill.

Omagh, Ont.: Bill Bunting and family have resigned the work here in order to spend two years at the Sunset School of Preaching in Lubbock, Texas. He hopes to return to this area of Canada to serve after this period of Bible study.

Two were obedient to the gospel recently.

Omagh Bible School: Eight were baptized during the first two weeks of the school. A fine camp season was enjoyed under the able direction of Ron and Mary Zavitz of Ottawa.

Christian Fellowship Week was keenly enjoyed by all who attended. Although the number of vacationers was down some from the previous year, attendance at the evening lectures was very good with an average of 120 for the four nights. P. D. Wilmeth presented timely teaching on the Christian Home and related subjects.

Hamilton, Fennell Ave.: Two of the young people baptized at the Omagh Bible School were from this church.

Windsor, Ont.: The congregation here was made to rejoice recently due to the baptism into Christ of a young husband and wife. Bob and Ivonne Atkin are now our brother and sister in Christ, and have already proved to be an asset to the congregation. This makes a total of eight baptisms in the last ten months here in Windsor.

Griersville, Ont.: Brother Wesley Jones of Barrie was in a meeting at this place August 12 to 23. V.B.S. dates were August 17 to 21st.

Meaford, Ont.: V.B.S. attendance was 132. Eight workers and four drivers were busy with the school each day. 178 attended the closing program. One young person from Meaford was baptized at Omagh Bible Camp.

Sundridge, Ont.: The meeting with Norman Midgette of Jordan ended with no responses. Efforts were directed to the encouragement and exhortation of the congregation. There was good attendance and evidence of renewed interest on the part of many. — The Jordan Journal.

Sudbury, Ont.: "The congregation in Sudbury has purposed to assume responsibility for our support up to the amount of $300 a month. Bro. John Frost, our appointed treasurer will oversee this work. Considerable assistance will be needed for the month of August to meet this committment. Only a little more than $200 is promised support from other congregations for August." — Bethel Bailey in the Canadian Missionary

North Livingstone, Ont.: Murray Smith of the church at Omagh conducted a V.B.S. at this place with an average attendance of 65. Three young people were baptized the last night of the meeting which ran concurrently.

Port Arthur, Ont.: Let us give special attention to this new work in our prayers. "On Lord's Day, June 28, the first family of the Target: Canada group movement met in a motel room in Port Arthur for worship. The Roy Merritt family gathered around a small table for hymns, prayers, the Lord's Supper, and a Bible lesson. Thus the Port Arthur church came into existance as an active worshipping body of Christians, though as yet a very small one." — Roy Merritt

Winnipeg, Man., Osborne St.: The first issues of a new bulletin, "The Osborne Oracle", issued by this church have been received.

It is anticipated the Oct. Gospel Herald will give special attention to the churches in Manitoba. Murray Hammond of Osborne St. church has accepted responsibility for editing these pages. We thank brother J. Hawkins of Victoria and those who assisted him in preparing the matter for this special issue.

Lloydminster, Alta.: "The fourth annual Bible camp at Paradise Hill, Sask. was held from July 6-10. Bros. Leo Owen, Jim Williams and Dick Scruggs alternated with the preaching and looked after the camp.

"We concluded a five day V.B.S. on August 7th that was a great success. Commendation is due to the teachers for their fine work. Average attendance was 109." — Leo Owen

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

IF I KEPT A DIARY

by J. C. Bailey, India

This is what I would have written in it:

Friday, July 10 was a busy day, but a happy one. The father, mother, and one brother of one of our faithful members were baptized. At the same time there was a man baptized that had been a Hindu up to a few weeks ago.

Saturday, July 11, I went to Avidi with my faithful Telugu worker. We were also accompanied by two Church of South India preachers. They were both interested in this plea for a return to New Testament Christianity. We discussed various things as we drove along. One of these men had arranged a meeting in a housing quarter for military personnel. I did not know this. I thought we were only to make a call on one man. We preached to those assembled.

We had, by mistake, visited one of the churches where one of these Church of South India preachers was pastor. Now he promised to deliver the whole church to us. We left one of the two preachers to arrange the meeting while we visited still another place. The Baptists had tried to keep us out of this place but we assured these people that if they will stick by the truth then we shall stand by them. We hastened back and found the preacher had the crowd assembled. We preached hard and we preached straight. We had our two preacher friends in mind as much or more than the rest of the audience. There were no decisions but neither was there anything but good interest manifest. It was late when we arrived home.

I had sweat so much that I had developed soreness under my arms. I had a time to go to sleep and I did not sleep too long. This soreness kept me awake. I was up and away from the house by 5:30. (This was Sunday, July 12). I picked up one of my workers and we proceeded to a village where another worker had spent several days. He assured me there would be three people baptized that day. Two of them were still at work but the wife of the one man was there but she did not wish to be baptized without her husband. However, a brother of this worker desired baptism. We took him and headed for another village. There were nine from this village to be baptized. We went to a creek and baptized ten into Christ. There was a village nearby where we already have a church. We went back there and we all had the Lord's Supper together. Then we went back to the first village for the morning service. We had a good service and we were in the car headed for a Telugu meeting when a man came riding in on his bicycle. He wanted to be baptized. We turned back. We drove about ¼ mile and then walked ½ mile to a creek. These two people were baptized. We rushed now to tell my Telugu worker that he shall have to add another service to his list for the day as we do not have time to go.

We came home then. We had our first opportunity to have a meal. It is past 12 p.m. We then laid down for one hour and we were off for Tambaram. Yes, there was a young man ready to be baptized. We went out to find a place for the baptizing. We drove back to begin the regular meeting. There was a man and his wife now ready to be baptized. We pulled on our wet clothes again. They felt good. We went out and baptized them. A native had started the meeting when we got back. My heart leaped for joy to see the development of this man. After the service (it is hardly 7 p.m.) we went out to another village to try to open up a new place. We pulled the car up at a cross road. These young Christians sung a few songs. Then I preached to those assembled. We preached of Christ to these who knew Him not. We told them why we believe in the resurrection. We told them why they should believe in the resurrection. There was some interest aroused.

In the meantime I had developed a sick headache. I turned homeward and planning to have my bath, take two aspirins, and get right into bed. When I drove up my wife was outside to meet me. She said, "Do not put the car into the pundal, you have to make a trip to Central Station tonight." I went in the house. There were four men there to see me. They told me that they had sent word to the Baptist preacher not to come to their village any more. They were going to bring the whole church into the church of Christ. I told them we would be there on Tuesday night but that each person must make a personal declaration of what they intend to do. No Baptist would be forced to make a change. No undecided person could be accepted. All were in agreement. Then I made the trip to Central Station. I came home and had my supper then I had my bath, took the two aspirins and got into bed. I was soon asleep but I was up long before the sun.

July 13. The six week's training class started today. There was mail to get ready before these students arrived. Tonight we go to an independent work where a policeman has a group. I shall not need an interpreter tonight as these people are Anglo-Indians. How long can I keep up this pace? Only God knows. How can ALL YOU PREACHERS OF THE GOSPEL BE INDIFFERENT TO THIS GREAT OPEN DOOR?

BRETHREN INDIA IS OURS. WILL WE ARISE AND POSSESS THE LAND?

July 16: I was driving home from a visit when a cyclist appeared in the headlights of the car, not more than four feet in front of me. I did not even have time to get my foot on the brake before I struck him. Fortunately I was not going fast. There were no bones broken and doctors say there is no serious damage. Police came and made investigation. I was exonerated of any blame.

The Church Of Christ In Salmon Arm, B.C.

by Lynn Anderson

The church at Salmon Arm is one of the newest congregations in B.C., only the Nanaimo church being newer. It had it's beginnings in 1956 when brother and Sister F. L. Armstrong having heard the gospel in California, came home and after much prayerful study, drove nearly 400 miles to Vancouver to be baptized into Christ They immediately began to search the area for other members of the church. Finding some four other Christians isolated and separated they called to-gether the tiny beginnings of a congregation near Enderby, B.C. This group met for a time in a school-house, later moving to meet in the scout hall in Salmon Arm.

Brother Sam Riner moved from California to assist in the work here in 1958 and the summer of 1960 a small but attractive building was built with the physical and financial help from the Oakridge, Vancouver and other churches. A good deal of the finances for the building were raised and supplied by brother Jesse Young of El Paso, Texas who spent his summers in this area. He has since passed away and is buried here.

Before the building was fully completed, brother Clair Marshall of Oakridge held a short series of meetings in it, with fairly good attendance.

In September of 1960 Anderson and family moved here sponsored by the church in West Memphis, Arkansas — to be a full-time evangelist. At that time there were eleven members of the church here counting the Andersons. Since then 38 people have been baptized, some have moved in and some have moved away and some are not faithful.

We have had three summer campaigns of personal work, VBS and Gospel Meetings with groups from Abilene Christian College and Harding College. Growth has been steady and encouraging through Newspaper work, Cottage Meeting work and three Gospel Meetings per year. Bruce Tetreau of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan worked two full summers here and Ron Beckett one summer. To these and many others we are indebted for assistance. Other congregations, especially Victoria, B.C. have helped in our summer campaigns as have the Nanaimo and Vancouver churches.

In September of 1963 Sam and Alice Tumlinson came to work here full-time with the Andersons, being supported by the church at Richland, Washington. This has been to further the work here and to prepare the Andersons and Tumlinsons to work to-gether in the FOCUS/-Okanagan project which begins in 1965.

The church here at present has 43 members, some living in communities a good many miles away. Thirteen of these are not faithful, others are irregular in attendance because of distances and other circumstances. Sunday morning attendance for worship averages 44 ranging from 40 to over 50. Usually there are at least 2 adult visitors on Sundays, often several more.

An interesting member of the church here is Mrs Sarah Johnston who celebrated her 101st Birthday last October. She has been a Christian since she was 14 years old and is doubtless the oldest living member of the church in Canada. Her Son and Grandsons make up some of the most active members of the congregation.

Our present program of work includes Cottage Meeting work, a bi-monthly bulletin designed for non-members; mailing of 20th Century Christian regularly to a mailing list of over 40; Regular Newspaper ads and three special events per year such as Gospel Meeting, Youth Meeting, Cottage Meeting training etc. Also we maintain a 'needy closet' of used clothing. We have two Bible Correspondence courses and an annual VBS. Also every second week a ladies Bible Class alternating with a Bi-monthly teachers training meeting.

Greater things are planned for the future. June 8 of this year Ron Beckett and family moved here supported by a church in Tuscumbia, Alabama, to 'do the work of an Evangelist'. Lynn Anderson and Sam Tumlinson left in July to begin the FOCUS/Okanagan work in Kelowna, but first will spend one year in Graduate School, Memphis, Tennessee. After the Becketts arrived and before the present evangelists left, the "biggest ever" campaign occurred. July 1-2-3 was a Personal Evangelism Workshop for Teen-Agers, calling young people to-gether from Edmonton to Victoria, from Nanaimo, to Wenatchee, Washington for classes under Claire Marshall in the mornings and lectures at night by various speakers — and actual personal work in the afternoons. A VBS was held July 6-11 and a Gospel Meeting with Charles Coil of West Memphis, Arkansas July 5-12.

Workers from Salmon Arm will assist in the beginnings of the FOCUS/Okanagan project at Kelowna, and are casting about for workers who will come to Kamlcops, Pentiction, Vernon—other key cities of the Okanagan.

Pray for this little church in it's BIG undertakings for the future.

WE ARE SORRY

Obituaries of Annie Hines, who died in Hamilton on July 28 and of A. R. Holton who passed away in Abilene on August 6 are crowded out of this Special Issue.

Also crowded out are news items from Holland, India and other points. Space was not found to mention V.B.S. news from Manson, Man., Vancouver, B.C., Red Deer, Alta, and the successful financial campaign at W.C.C. These items are being held for the next issue.

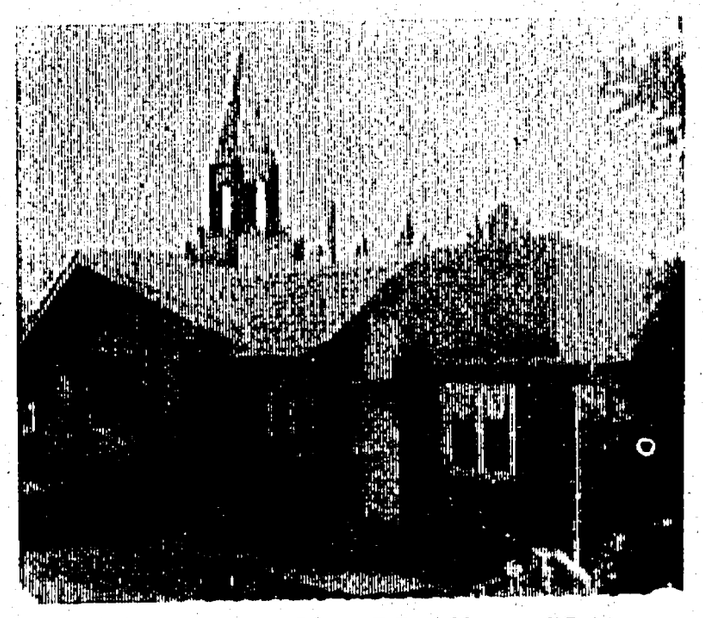
Oakridge Church Of Christ – Vancouver, B.C.

Oakridge Meeting House

The first record of meeting of the church of Christ in Vancouver was in May 1910 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don McIvor with J. Maddison Wright as leader. This group was joined over the next few months by the J. L. Saunders family, Eva Thompson, Florence Thompson, and the W. C. Shelly family. This group soon moved to rented quarters in the Granville and Broadway area.

In 1911 T. B. Larrimore came by on a short visit. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Summerscales arrived from Winnipeg the same year. With the advent of the war in 1914 the numbers were depleted and lack of finances forced to an empty store building in what was then the suburbs at East Hastings and Jackson.

It was in 1917 that the A. E. Hudson family arrived and in 1918 the Sam Wilson family, having known the Hudsons in England. Others who came about this time were John Bruce, Fred Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hughes, Miss Nancy Anderson, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bailey. John Bruce was the first supported evangelist, being paid $150.00 per month to work among the churches in northern Washington and the one in Vancouver. Some baptizing was done in the Burrard Inlet, but about this time a tinsmith made a special tin tub charging $50.00.



Later a lot and empty store building was obtained at 12th Ave. and Carolyna St. and the tin baptistry was installed. The brethren decided to build a new meeting house in 1929 and appeals were sent to a number of churches in Canada and the U.S. and enough money was soon received to begin building. The first meeting was held in the new building in the fall of 1929.

Going back a bit, it was in 1922 that Mr. and Mrs. John Mallory moved to Lulu Island adjacent to Vancouver. Seizing the opportunity they had Hugh Rogers preach a gospel meeting in the basement of their home, beginning December 31, 1922. Seventeen were baptized in this meeting and ten members added their names to mark the beginning of the Blundel church. Bible classes were started for children and a great need was soon felt for a church building. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mitchell gave two acres of land and a small building was erected, with an educational building being built at a later date. Some who have preached here include, R. C. Bell, Frank Pack, J. E. Wainwright, J. C. Bailey, and D. A. Sinclair.

The limit of space does not permit mention of a complete history of the two churches. In 1957 the history converges when plans were made to amalgamate the Blundell and 12th Ave. church at a new location on Oak Street in the Oakridge district of Vancouver. This area was being opened for subdivision and a large shopping center and three choice lots were obtained being among the first to be sold. Mr. D. C. Marshall was invited to work with both congregations in the amalgamation. He arrived September 1, 1957 and began working with the building committee and architect.

The Church In South Burnaby

South Burnaby Meeting House

The South Burnaby congregation was established on October 22, 1955, at which time seven members (and their seven children) met to break bread. The seven adults who may be considered "charter members" were Roger and Margaret Jeal, Charles and Iris Dalziel, John and Bertha Mallory, and Mae Garland.

Prior to this meeting there had been interest shown by a number of people in the establishment of a new congregation. Brother and Sister Mallory had urged the desirability of such a venture. Roger Jeal and David Johnson, who was then preaching for the Blundell congregation, met with Brother and Sister Mallory, and, as a result of their discussions, tent meetings were held in Central Park, in Burnaby, in 1954 and again in 1955. The preacher for the first venture was Choice L. Bryant from south of the border. The 1955 meeting had three preachers, Brother Ed Uland, Brother Seth Rhekop, in addition to Brother Bryant. It is recalled that during this meeting Brother Bryant led some excellent singing lessons in the home of Brother Fred Beckett in Vancouver.

Following these meetings, which were attended by members of both the 12th Avenue congregation of Vancouver and the Blundell congregation of Richmond, a group continued to meet each Lord's Day at 3 p.m., first in the Eagle's Hall in New Westminster and later in the Moose Hall on Jubilee Street in Burnaby. Attending these meetings regularly in addition to the morning and evening meetings in the two home congregations became increasingly difficult to continue. Some members became discouraged and wished to discontinue the afternoon meeting, particularly since the residents of the area surrounding the halls could seemingly not be interested. The new congregation of seven members moved to new quarters in the Golden Age Society (Pensioner) Hall at 5024 Rumble Street in January, 1956. It was here that Brother David Parker from the south preached for a well-attended meeting which continued for three weeks in 1957.

During the period from 1956 to the spring of 1958, Al and Inez Johnson were active members in the congregation, being instrumental in interesting Mike and Mary Kutchen in the New Testament Church. They were baptized after a period of study and remain loyal members to the present time, Mike being our faithful treasurer. Also baptized during this period were (Mrs.) Rae Ribchester and Gary Johnson. Restored were (Mrs.) Mildred Glanville, Mr. and Mrs. Art Taylor and their daughters Eva and Myrtle. As a result of hard work, enthusiasm was high and attendance at meetings continued good.

It was in 1958 that Brother Golden held a three-weeks meeting in June and July. Brother and Sister McLean, recently arrived from Scotland, transferred membership from the newly formed Oakridge congregation (an amalgamation of 12th Avenue and Bundell) to South Burnaby. At this present writing Brother Alex is one of our three deacons. During 1959 Brother and Sister Bill Courage transferred their membership from Oakridge to Burnaby. Brother Jeal at this time made efforts to secure support from outside the area in order that he might devote full time to evangelistic work, but with no success except an offer of some help from the congregation at Bremerton, Washington and from the Burnaby congregation. There were still not enough members in Burnaby to support a worker full-time. The year 1960 saw the arrival of the Woods from Winnipeg, the Seversons from the Oakride congregation, and Sister Mary Shreder from Abbotsford. In 1961, Maurice Taylor and his bride, the former Marie Phypers of Creston, also placed membership. Brother Ted Lake, now at Wembley, England, preached for us in February, using the hall at Rumble when it was available and the Community Hall on Edmonds Street during the remainder of the time. Attendance was good, but again there were no visible results. In 1961 Ajit Bains (from India), Fred Gladwell, (Mrs.) Gertrude Gray, her daughter Gloria and Jack Thompson were baptized. During the same year Sister Horton placed membership from Oakridge, and Sister Marjorie Sossin came to us from the south. During that year and the following one Dorothy Jeal, Les and Trudy Barnes and Carolyn Robert and Charlotte Scott, with David and Marilyn, Ray and Barbara Lewis with Linna and Kent also arrived, transferring membership from Vancouver. In 1962 we planned a new building on the property which we had bought at Salisbury and Edmonds in November of 1960 and which was now much too small to accommodate all of us. By March of 1963 we were in the new Pan-Abode structure, and Brother Lake, home on furlough, preached a meeting for us in the same month, during which Marilyn Weed was immersed.

Three elders, Roger Jeal, Earl Severson, and Caleb Wood have served the congregation since December 9, 1962, with Brother Jeal and Brother Severson sharing the preaching. Three deacons, Alex McLean, Melvin Hope, and Leslie Barnes were appointed in 1963. In the same year the first Vacation Bible School was held in our new building in conjunction with a gospel meetings for which Willie Wilbanks from Texas preached for a week. Both school and meeting were well attended, and a number of new scholars were gained for the regular bible school. Brother Jim Hawkins of Victoria preached in a meeting held May 10th to 15th of this year, giving excellent lessons to a good audience but with no visible results in baptisms. Nevertheless, the church is the stronger for his excellent work.

The Church In Victoria

Victoria, B.C. Meeting House

By Jim Hawkins, Victoria, B.C.

Late in 1907 or early 1908, Brother Madison Wright held a series of meetings in Victoria, converting several people. Later in 1908 the Percy Baileys spent several months here and found that most of these members had moved away. When the Baileys moved to Victoria permanently in 1914, they found several members meeting together in a school house on Boleskine Road. The Archibald family from Ice Lake, Ontario had moved here and found a few other members with whom meetings were begun. Some of those active in the early church here were Bros. John Bruce and Edward Hicking. Bros. Archibald, Sr., and Archibald, Jr., and Bro. Alex Jaffray.

These eventually moved away leaving only the Baileys, until the Percy Wells, and then the Macmurchie families arrived in 1916. These continued meeting in the school on Boleskine Road until a meetinghouse was purchased from the Unitarians on Fernwood Road. In 1955 this building was turned around on the property, put on a basement, complemented with a new vestibule and entrance, and refinished on the outside. This building has served the church to the present day. The building seats about 75, and has four small class areas in the basement. The membership has ranged from 20 to 25 during most of these early years. Only four of the original members of the church here remain. These are Sister Alex Jaffray, Bro. Percy Wells, and Bro. and Sis. Percy Bailey.

The Norman Hoffman family lived in Victoria from 1948 to 1953, and he served the first part of that time as a full time evangelist with the church here. But due to lack of support, he had to return to secular work. In the fall of 1960, Jim Hawkins and family moved to Victoria and took up full time evangelistic work with the church, and continues in that capacity yet. By 1963 the membership of the church had risen to nearly 50, but several have moved away, and others have gone away to school to drop our present membership back to 41.

But the future is bright, and the church has caught a vision of what can be done in our area with God's help. The opportunities are unlimited here. Victoria is the capital city of British Columbia, situated on Vancouver Island which is about 25 miles off the coast of the British Columbia mainland. The present population of Victoria is just over 165,000, and growing at the rate of 5,000 per year. I understand that Victoria has the largest per capita ratio of retired people of any city in Canada, but it also has the largest per capita ratio of young married couples of any city in western Canada, due largely I presume to having both an Army base and the only Navy base on the west coast.

For some time it had been realized by the church here that a crash program of evangelization of this area must take place. As a result in 1961 a five-year plan of operation was formulated involving every means of teaching and communication possible, in an effort to acquaint as many people as possible with the church and our plea. It was realized that our present building would be inadequate for our needs. So immediate plans were begun toward constructing a new meetinghouse. To date, over $7,500 has been gathered toward our building fund. An acre of property has been purchased on one of the main thoroughfares of the city, and our target date for commencing the construction of our building is this coming October 1. Our building will initially seat 200 (later to be expanded to seat 500), with 9 large classrooms in the basement, a cry room, office, and with baptistry and complete dressing room facilities. With adequate facilities in which to work, our opportunities for teaching and serving the community will be grasped more effectively than ever before.

Also included in this five year plan is a large personal work and evangelistic campaign, planned for the summer of 1966. We realized that this must be done soon before our mushrooming population makes it physically and financially impossible to do so. The 11th and Willis congregation in Abilene, Texas, who have supported the Hawkins family in Canada the past eight years, have determined to spearhead and assist the Victoria church in this campaign which will take place during the month of June of 1966. We are going to strive to obtain at least 40 skilled personal workers to come and spend at least three weeks holding cottage meetings. These efforts will be complemented with a series of Gospel meetings in a large auditorium here in the city. Bro. Carl Spain of Abilene, Texas, has been chosen as the speaker for this series of meetings. This will be followed up by a number of men who will remain here for up to a year in

The Church In Nanaimo, B.C.

Since 1944 members of the church of Christ have met regularly in this area (Duncan to Nanaimo) — sometimes in homes, sometimes in rented halls. In 1945 Bro. Les Gavel started conducting meetings in his home at Campbell River which is about 100 miles north of Nanaimo. They met periodically with the brethren in Nanaimo and have since moved to Nanaimo and are meeting regularly with the brethren here. There is no one meeting in Campbell River at the present time. For some years the Nanaimo brethren met in the home of Bro. and Sis. Jim Morris, and the Crofton and Chemainus brethren in the Morton home or with Bro. Herd in Duncan.

First V.B.S. At Nanaimo With Partial View Of Building

In 1950 the Gospel Herald listed regular meetings of the church in the home of the Morrises in Nanaimo. During this time Bro. Earl Severson came over from Vancouver nearly every Lord's day to help with the work. Members from Crofton and Chemainus attended here. Later the Seversons moved to Duncan and our meeting place was changed to a rented hall in that town.

In 1954 it was decided that we should find a more central location because of the burden of driving such great distances. Hence, we rented a hall in Ladysmith (about half way between Nanaimo and Duncan) for combined meetings of the members from Nanaimo, Duncan and Crofton. There the church met until the summer of 1962 when we moved into our new building at 1720 Meredith Rd., Nanaimo, B.C.

Also, in 1962, Bro. and Sis. Dale Foster came from Texas to work with us as our first full time evangelist. Since that time our Sunday morning attendance has increased from about 35 to about 65, our record attendance being 75. Worship with us when on Vancouver Island.

—R. Lorine Morton

The Church At Caycuse Beach

The Church of Christ at Caycuse Beach meets in the home of Brother J. H. Waite. At the present time we have only five members. This is a small community and there is no public building available in which to hold meetings.

The church was started here when J. H. Waite and his family moved here in 1948. Since that time we have had several meetings in the school house, which is no longer available, and we have had cottage meetings in different homes. We have never had a preacher work with us for any but short periods of time.

We have been greatly benefited the last few years by being able to use tape recorded sermons which Bro. Hawkins of Victoria, and Bro. Marshall of Vancouver have kindly taped for us. Now we are also receiving tapes from the collection of Brother Brazile at Western Christian College.

Several members have gone forth from here and are faithful in other places. Three others who were baptized have fallen away.

Our plans for the future are to continue as we have, hoping that more workers will come to Vancouver Island and possibly help us interest more people in the gospel.

—Howard Waite

OAKRIDGE

Ground for the new building was broken February 16, 1958 and in addition to the hired workmen, the members contributed over five-thousand hours of volunteer labor. The official opening services were on August 10, 1958 with the congregation being known as the Oakride church.

The building seats nearly 400 with adequate paved parking with grounds beautifully landscaped and flocdlighted at night. The church is on a prominent street and easily found. Many residents and out-of-town visitors have commented on the nice appearance of the property. The church has placed it's own bench at the bus stop in front of the building with a welcome sign giving times of services, a lighted sign on the building identifies the congregation. Thousands of people pass every day.

A high point of the work was reached May 19, 1963 when the first elders were ordained for the church. They Alex Clelland, Wilf Clelland, Art Farnden, and Deed Saunders and they have now completed a very successful first year. A well planned and active program of work is being carried on. Annual meetings include gospel meetings, V.B.S., Teacher Worship, and participation in the Mt. Baker Bible Encampment. Two additional lots have been purchased next to the church building and future plans include additional class rooms in an educational building. Present membership is one hundred. Seven of the young people are away attending Christian Colleges, with three of the young men preparing to preach.

Of the names mentioned in the early history of the church, the following are still with us, Sam Wilson, Sis. Shelly, Sis. Anderson, Sis. Mitchell, as well as Sis. Bessie Hudson, daughter of A. E. Hudson, and Deed Saunders, son of J. L. Saunders. With three-quarter million people in the greater Vancouver area a great challenge is laid before the church. Plans are being made for a large scale campaign in 1966. The future holds promise of a great work being done with God's help. —D. C. Marshall

PAY AS YOU GO!

MEANING OF CHRISTIANITY

It is time for us to awaken! Christianity involves more than our initial obedience. We must walk with Jesus each day and pay the price.

IT WILL COST:

(1) Allegiance to Christ above all others and all things. Matt. 6:33 Lk. 14:25, 27.

The Lord demands that we put him first in our lives. Christianity is a life of self denial and service toward God and our fellowmen. We must give him first consideration with reference to the use of our time, money, abilities and energies. DO WE DO THIS??? Our religion is worthless if it is not the governing force in our lives. We must be totally committed to our master. The individual who stays home from mid-week service to watch "oh how I love Lucy" and then attends Lords day morning and sings loudly," oh how I love Jesus" need not think that the Lord is pleased with such a lie.

(2) We must live by his teachings and example.

To be a disciple is not merely to mouth the words of Jesus, but to apply them to our lives. Jesus said "Not every one that sayeth unto me, Lord, shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." Matt. 7:21, 22. We are to be "Doers of the word and not hearers only". James 1:22.

In Matt. 5:13 Jesus said, "Ye are the salt of the earth." Salt is savory, purifying, preservative. This figure is the symbol of a noble, powerful, truly religious life — the kind of life which ought to characterize every child of God. We ought to stoop down and lift our fellow man. Our character and life must act as an antidote to and a preventative of corruption. Christians need to bear witness to righteousness, truth, and purity; patiently doing deeds which strengthen virtue and kindle hope, generously lending a hand to those who are trying to climb upward, showing them the way to the fountain of life.

(3) We Must Teach His Word.

It is impossible for one to be a child of God and not be concerned about the lost. When we consider the great concern that God has for the lost (Jno. 3:16; Rom. 5:6-8), and the sacrifice that Jesus was willing to make, can we afford to be indifferent? The blood that cleansed our sins was shed for all men. The gospel is able to save mankind and it has been entrusted to us. The Lord commanded us individually to be teachers of his word (Matt. 28: 18-20; Mk. 16:15, 16). A command is not an optional matter. Jesus said, "If you love me, keep my commandments."

Paul reprimanded the Hebrew brethren, because, after a reasonable time they had not become teachers. They still had to be fed like babies (Heb. 5:12). Are YOU a TEACHER, a SOUL WINNER??? The church in Jerusalem grew because Christians went everywhere preaching the word. They did not depend on Peter, Paul or the other apostles to do their work for them, but they accepted THEIR RESPONSIBILITY and used their talents to save the lost.

If you will pay the cost of discipleship, Christianity will bring happiness to your life and to the lives of others. How can we afford to trifle with the safety of our souls and that of others by half-hearted, partial commitment to Christ. PAY AS YOU GO, OR YOU WILL NOT GO.

carrying out our plans to take the Gospel into every city and town, village and hamlet across our nation. We can do it, and we must do it, for "he saith, Awake, thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall shine upon thee" (Eph. 5:14). We are indeed an awakening giant. The church has been virtually a great pile of bones, very dry. But, just as God promised to Israel: "I will put my Spirit in you, and ye shall live, and I will place you in your own land: and ye shall know that I, Jehovah have spoken it and performed it, saith Jehovah"; so God has promised to the church and every member of that body that we may be "strengthened with POWER through His Spirit in the inward man; that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith; to the end that ye being rooted and grounded in love may be strong to apprehend with all the saints what is the breadth and length and height and depth, and to know the love of Christ which passeth knowledge, that ye may be filled unto all the fulness of God" (Eph. 3:16-19).—Let us open our Bibles and read that whole passage again and again, until we begin to really understand it. Here is our promise! Do we have faith He is faithful who promised?

May God help us to have a vision of what can be done by His help, and a vision of what needs to be done. May we pray, every day:

SOUTH BURNABY

Brother Jeal has resigned as an elder to go to Prince Albert, Saskatchewan as a full-time evangelist. Roger and Margaret have laboured faithfully here for nine years. There have been disappointments and frustrations: many who have named the name of Christ no longer worship here or anywhere else. However, a congregation of sixty has grown from the original seven, four members having been baptized and one restoration during the last three months as a direct result of Roger's personal work campaign. The Jeals will be missed very much. May God bless them in their new field of labour. As a full time worker is very necessary here, we await the arrival of Brother Ted Lake this fall, hoping that he will have been successful in his efforts to raise sufficient support to build on the foundation laid here.

studying with the contacts made during the campaign and in strengthening the new converts.

The work in Victoria has been blessed with a church which is at peace, a dedicated group of Christians, and a lack of any prejudice or animosity toward the church from the outside. The prospects for the church are bright indeed. May God give us strength and wisdom to grasp them.

HOLD FIRM TO THE SURE WORD

Roy A. Davison, Utrecht, Holland

Many theologians today, sitting at their desks with a Bible and a pair of scissors, cut paper dolls from the scriptures. They have no faith in the Bible as a sure and dependable account of what actually happened. Thus, they feel compelled to cut and rearrange, to remove sections and paste sections in, and to 'reinterpret' the scriptures, as they like to call it. And, of course, each theologian cuts out his own particular sort of paper dolls.

The Bible itself, however, (for those who care what the Bible itself says) claims emphatically to be a SURE and DEPENDABLE account of God's requirements for man.

THE BIBLE IS A DEPENDABLE GUIDE

Paul, in giving qualifications for elders as he writes to Titus, says that the elder 'must hold firm to the sure word as taught, so that he may be able to give instruction in sound doctrine'.

In writing to Timothy, Paul condemns those who refuse to heed the words of Christ: 'If any one teaches otherwise and does not agree with the sound words of our Lord Jesus Christ and the teaching which accords with godliness, he is puffed up with conceit, he knows nothing;' (1 Tim. 6:3-4).

Thus, the scriptures claim to contain the 'sound words of our Lord Jesus Christ'; the scriptures claim to be a dependable guide.

But how is this possible? How can we trust a book that was written 2,000 years ago in a land far from ours where the people are much different than we are? How can we trust a book that was penned by men. We know that men are so prone to error; so prone

A CHRIST-LIKE SPIRIT

L. Wesley Jones, Barrie, Ont.

The "lamb of God" was also the "lion of the tribe of Judah." While each metaphor has other significance, it also tells us something of the nature and temperament of Christ, The Teacher. The Lamb "opened . . . not his mouth," but the Lion "roared" in denunciation of evil and in the challenge to the evil doer. ("If I have spoken evil, bear witness of the evil; but if well, why smittest thou me?") The Lamb "held His peace", but the Lion was bold in eliciting from Pilate the wistful inquiry, "What is truth?" The Lamb said, "I am He," and surrendered himself when sought by a "band of men . . . with lanterns and torches and weapons." The Lion drove a "den of thieves" from His Father's House with a scourge.

If these actions seem contradictory to you, consider other instances of paradox in the nature and mission of Christ. The angels announced "Peace on earth" at His birth. He said, " I came not to send peace, but a sword." He was said to care not for the person of any man, and yet, we may cast our care upon Him for He careth. Each of these apparent contradictions is understandable and explicable in its proper context, and each one casts light upon some superb quality of the Lord. So is it with the spirit of Christ as indicated by the likeness of a lamb by Norman Midgette, Jordan, Ont.

When the New Testament of Christ was being revealed the Holy Spirit indicated the way one was to be baptized in these terms: "Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life" (Romans 6:4). Again, " . . . buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with him through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead" (Col. 2:12). Both of these verses are very familiar to the serious Bible student and are readily accepted as God's voice on the subject. In the first century baptism involved a burial and a resurrection; we are buried and we are raised.

SECOND CENTURY

One of the first instances indicating any change in the above practice is found in the "Didache" which seems to have its origin in the first half of the second century. It was written by some anonymous writer and it claims to contain "The Teaching of the Lord, by the XII Apostles to the Gentiles." In all ages it has been rejected as inspired of God.

Note the following passage: "Now concerning baptism, baptize thus: Having first taught all these things, baptize ye into the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, in living water. And if thou hast not living water, baptize into other water; and if thou canst not in cold, then in warm. But if thou hast neither, pour water thrice upon the head in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost."

How widely this practice was engaged in is a subject of question but it is evident that pouring was allowed in this post-apostolic writing only in exceptional cases.

THIRD CENTURY

The Church Historian, Eusebius, refers to one by the name of Novatian who around the year 253 AD had water poured upon his person in bed. Neander, another historian referring to this event, says he was sprinkled. Regardless to which method was used in applying the water he says it was " . . . not . . . according to the usual practice of those times, by immersion . . ."

Speaking of the years 100AD to 313AD, Cairns writes in Christianity Through The Centuries, "Baptism was normally by immersion; on occasion affusion or pouring was practiced. Infant baptism and clinical baptism, the baptism of the sick, developed in this period".

During these formative years of human creeds one of the early changes was in the matter of baptism. That sprinkling and pouring were the innovations is evident by it being the occasional and exceptional practice. Even among those who practiced this Eusebius says, "This baptism was thought imperfect, and not solemn, for several reasons. Also, they who were thus baptized were called afterward clinici; and by the twelfth canon of the Council of Neo-Caesarea, these clinici were prohibited the priesthood."

SPRINKLING BECOMES ACCEPTED

During the Dark Ages there is little evidence of any further changes being made in what was considered the general (immersion) and exceptional (sprinkling, pouring) practices. By 1160 AD sprinkling was becoming an "ordinary practice" in France and Dr. William Wall, Vicar of Shoreham, Kent in England, (1676-1728), says, "France seems to have been the first country in the world where baptism by affusion was used ordinarily to persons in health, and in the public way of administering it."

Not until the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries did sprinkling become the general practice. In 1275 the Synod of Angiers makes reference to sprinkling and immersion as indifferent. However, as yet no official word from the authoritative heirarchy had been voiced. This came in 1311 AD. The Edinburg Cyclopaedia states that "It was not till the year 1311 that the legislature, in a council held at Ravenna, declared immersion or sprinkling to be indifferent." In Scotland, however, sprinkling was never practiced in ordinary cases till after the Reformation (about the middle of the sixteenth century). From Scotland it made its way into England in the reign of Elizabeth, but was not authorized in the Established Church." From these countries it made its way to the New World.

AIKINS HOLDS FIRST SERVICE IN QUEBEC CITY

On Sunday morning, August 16, Owen and Elda Aikin, along with their oldest son Edward, met in their tent in the provincial capital of Quebec for their first worship service. After several days of searching a house was purchased in Ste. Foy, a bilingual Quebec suburb. A meeting hall is being sought to facilitate public meetings. The Aikins begin the work in this city of 300,000, after closing out eleven years of mission work in Paris, France. While their primary objective is to begin a French-speaking congregation, they also plan to work with English-speaking people. This work will largely be supported by the Westside church in Cleburne, Texas. The Aikins would like to be put in touch with any members who might live in the Quebec City area. They would also welcome travelers to worship with them on Sundays. For information write: Owen Aikin, 2790 Valcourt, Quebec City, Quebec.

CHURCH LEADERSHIP (II)

Our Aim?

What is our aim or goal in life? It should be for a Christ-like personality, living for Christ, worshipping God just as he has directed, and serving him in any and every way that we can? In so doing, we become Christ-like and thus honor and glorify God.

In John 10:10, Jesus said, "I came that they might have life, and may have it abundantly". Keeping this thought in mind, and looking about us, what do we observe, what is man doing today, how is he spending his time? When we recognize and remember that Christ came to give His life a ransom for mankind, we may well ask the question, Just what is redeemed man's purpose of life on the earth? Surely God must have had some design or purpose, for him who was made in the image of God? Certainly he was not created simply to live above sin, nor that he might fall away from the faith he had espoused, listen to what Peter has to say, 1. Peter 2;9. To "Show forth the excellencies of him who called you out of darkness into his marvelous light."

Let us also note that the Lord has set a high standard for us in this life, an ideal towards which every Christian should strive to grow from day to day throughout his sojourn on this earth. Let us notice some of these characteristics;-

1st. IN PURITY. 1. Peter, 1;15.

2nd. IN KNOWLEDGE AND SERVICE. Col.1;9-11.

3rd. IN MATURITY, Eph.4;13.

4th. IN STRENGTH, Eph. 3;16-19.

These are just a few of the ways in which the Christian and especially the elder must set the example and grow himself. Even as God has made it possible for growth in the physical world, how much more, spiritually. Does this not provide us with a real thrill as well as a tremendous challenge as we are brought face to face with these facts? What a transformation there can be through spiritual development.

Take Heed How You Build

As we learn of Paul's varied experiences in his work for the Lord, we need not be surprised as he exhorts us in 1 Cor.3;10-13. to be careful how we build, that the materials we use should not be those that are perishable, but in our building use such things as shall withstand the purge of fire, for he says, that "the fire itself shall prove each man's work of what sort it is". How true, very true, and just as true as "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." Gal.6;7.

First of all of course, is our sincere convertion to Christ which is the starting point in our building for leadership. QUESTION?

1st. Are we converted to Christ or only to the church?

2nd. Do we know baptism as a likeness to the death of Christ, or simply a burial in water?

3rd. Have we actually embraced Christianity or only churchianity?

We need to be convicted of our sins today as they were in the first century of Christianity.

The thought has been expressed;- "Unless the cross of Christ has broken a man's spirit, unless Calvary has crushed a man's heart, unless there is a trembling contrition in the realization of one's barrenness, then we are not ready for baptism."

There can be no doubt that if one is converted to this degree, there can be a sincerity which is most commendable. There must be an inward burial in Christ's own death. If we are baptised to please some person we are not in the body of Christ. There must be a full and complete surrender to Christ, if we are to be able to assume leadership in the Lord's church. Jesus said, "So therefore, whosoever he be of you that renounceth not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple." We need to be able to say with Paul, "I am crucified with Christ nevertheless I live . . . Christ liveth in me". This is true sanctification. We need to recognize and accept the fact that a full and complete surrender to Christ means that we no longer belong to ourselves. 1 Cor.6;19-20.

It is indeed a great tragedy when we fail to believe in Christ, when we fail to fall in love with Christ, and when we fail to resolve to surrender our lives to him, we must then realize the need for continual growth in the Faith.

Serving In His Name

Service has a tremendous place in the life of a Christian. Christ set this outstanding example for us when he said, "I came not to be ministered unto, but to minister". True discipleship finds the person following the instruction and example of the Teacher. Jesus walked among men, giving a helping hand, speaking the kind word etc. Should we not then, as leaders, (elders) manifest that same spirit, develop it. and if we fail in these things we fail in the Master's purpose for us. We will never be more like him than in our helpfulness to others. Col.1;10. "To walk worthily of the Lord unto all pleasing, bearing fruit in every good work." Every Christian is to be a fruit bearer for the Lord. Thus the Christian leader must set the example. See also James 1; 22,25-27.

How important then, that leadership provide instruction and encouragment, council and opportunity, planning and supervision in these very matters. These are fundamentally inherent in New Testament Christianity. Christian activity, Christian service, Christian helpfulness are being Christian.

Spiritual Emphasis

Present day circumstances being what they are, here are some of the weightier matters demanding strong emphasis.

1st. Christians, living in this highly materialistic world, need to place greater emphasis upon eternal things. We need to understand that we are only sojourners here on this earth, and that, "a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth. Luke 12;15.

2nd. The realization of the sanctification in Christ must be vital and living. 2 Cor.5;17.

3rd. FAITH. — a personal faith growing out of personal study and convictions — must be developed and strengthened. This is faith that obeys, faith that trusts, faith that hopes, faith that perseveres, faith that waits.

COMMUNICATION OR CHAOS

A broken communication line is a worthless thing. The dangling ends may be a few feet or even a few inches apart, but they avail nothing. No amount or urgency can make the message bridge the gap. Chaos may replace order; defeat may replace victory; disease or injury may replace health and death may replace life without a word of warning to avert the change. Good communications are vital to an orderly society. The loss of the ability to communicate is a forerunner of many physical and social ills in the affairs of men. Men must communicate or perish.

Similarly in the spiritual world, communication can break down. A Christian needs to communicate with his brethren in what is rightly termed fellowship. Finally, he needs to figure out a plan to proclaim to a world in sin a warning cry of danger and to herald a joyful announcement of hope.

It is shocking and disappointing to see a fellow man face a situation of tragedy, deep sorrow or fear when his communication line with the Father has never been established. It is perhaps more tragic to see someone confronted with a serious crisis whose communication with God through prayer has suffered a breakdown. Such a one can be lonely even in a great crowd and frightened when no fear is needed.

Not long ago a young Christian man known to this editor committed suicide. He was involved in a dishonourable situation which brought him much remorse and shame. The real tragedy in his life was the fact that he could not communicate with his family, his brethren or his God. Suicide seemed the only way out of an intolerable situation. A short period of sympathetic discussion or a similar period spent in penitent prayer could have helped this young brother to see a brighter future. He did not have his communication lines open.

So much church trouble can be attributed to a simple failure in understanding between brethren. Men of identical faith, of high principles and common goals sometimes find themselves at odds with one another. Marriage counsellors tell us that one of the major causes of divorce in our society is a failure of the husband and wife to communicate their thoughts and feelings to each other. Misunderstanding and suspicion are the forerunners of alienation and separation. Similarly in the church, misunderstanding and suspicion are often factors in division.

Perhaps the area where we fail the most dismally is in our attempt to sound out the glorious Gospel of Christ to a needy world. It seems that we are content to consider only one side of a two-sided proposition. We are content to ask, "Is the preaching true?" and, "Is the attitude of the preacher one of love?" We fail to ask, "Is this message understandable and relevant to the needs of our audience?" If the last question can not be answered affirmatively, the former two are not of very much importance.

Some have been so bold as to offer a "new gospel" for a "new age". They have claimed that the old Gospel story is outmoded. In reality what they may be seeking is a manner of communicating the gospel which will give a first century story relevancy to twentieth century people. The content of the apostolic message is no more subject to change than the law of gravity. The method of presentation must be as timely as our daily newspaper.

In recent times United States scientists have been successful in transmitting not only a spoken message but televised pictures across the Atlantic via Telstar. Even more recently, they have sent messages to a camera about to land on the moon. It is ironic that the ocean's width and the expanse of outer space can be bridged successfully, but men and women in the same neighborhood, and even in the same congregation, lack a communication in most important areas.

The Russians are notorious for their efforts to jam the air waves to prevent their people from hear-and a lion. His nature is not of one kind, but He found the need and the place for both. So will we when we walk in His steps.

A Frustration

Some are troubled by the appearance of error and a simultaneous conviction that it would be wrong to severely reproach an evil-doer lest they "violate the spirit of Christ." Convinced that Christ was always meek and gentle and being determined to pattern themselves after Him, they find no place for dealing with irreverent and even ruthless men. Careful examination reveals that this frustration arises from a misunderstanding of the Christ-like spirit which in turn comes from fragmentary knowledge of the conduct of Christ.

Jesus Christ said "love your enemies" and during this same perfect ministry he used the following language concerning His enemies—the enemies of truth: "Ye serpents, ye generation of vipers, how can ye escape the damnation of hell?" Though Christ loved the souls of these men, and would have all of them to be saved (Matt. 23:37), He despised their evil and hypocritical deeds and He clearly said so. One of the most obvious reasons for adoring His precious name is seen in the fact that He could die for men who seemed so determined to "receive the greater damnation." Our tears flow freely when we see Him loving so much those who were so obviously hypocritical—when it is clear He must emphatically condemn those whom He came into the world to save from their sins. And yet because He is the Christ we know that what He did and said were right. It never enters our minds that He has lowered Himself to the carnal level of the bigoted, quarrelling Pharisees or lawyers.

Can We Walk In His Steps?

He is the pattern. He practiced what He preached, and He preached the Word sent down from heaven. After twenty centuries we still can "find no fault in Him." Even in His severest judgements upon His arch-enemies, we can see His love for the souls of men working aggressively in search of an honest response to the clearest truth.

Why must we assume that the Christ-like spirit has been abandoned when error and sin are condemned today? How can we condemn denominationalism or sectarianism, within or without the Body of Christ and be very clear about it, without forsaking a Christ-like spirit? Can we answer error emphatically and forcefully "using the method of the false teacher" and without walking in that carnal way of him who "sows discord among brethren?" How can we distinguish between the averments of a teacher, author or preacher who loves the truth and the souls of all men on the one hand, and the bold and forward assertions of a false teacher on the other? When do we leave the courage of the Christ-like character in our condemnations of error, and embark on a sea of sinister spleen? Many have sought the answers to these and similar questions, not only to measure the work of someone else, but to assist themselves in charting their courses in a given situation.

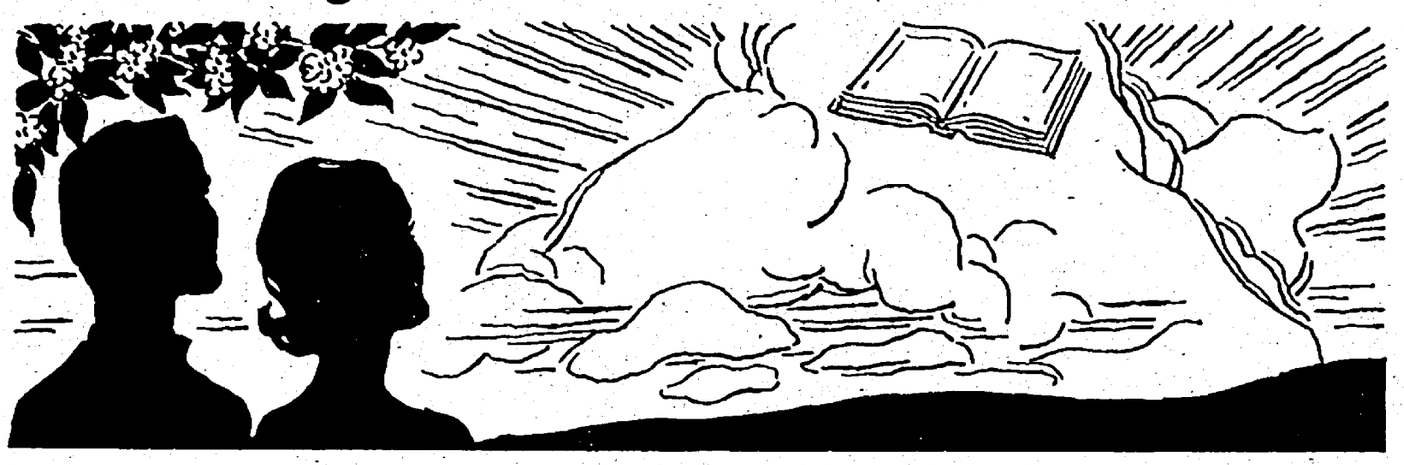
Some Tests

May we offer for the reader's consideration, some guide - lines. We will suppose that no one will read them as anything but suggestions, for they are intended to be nothing else. Perhaps someone else will take up the line of thought, modify it, or enlarge upon it.

(1) Does the author rely heavily upon the language of Scripture? This should be one of the first tests of a work when we want to know the intent of the originator. When dealing with a matter of religious teaching, the Christ-like spirit can surely best be promoted by employing the language of the Sacred text. In so doing a human being appears less presumptuous and thus allows God to designate sin and error.

(2) Are motives inpugned? Christ could read the heart of a man. He "knew what was in man." We do not. When we have described a man's error, and then begin to explain WHY he is guilty, we are on dangerous ground. A terrible temptation will exist to do just that when the faulty position of an opponent is, we think, puerile. The temptation to explore motives may also exist when the error is only obvious to the author and he must convince himself that a brother is wrong by the unlikely method of publicly attacking him.

(3) Is the truth spoken? The cause of truth cannot be served by falsehoods. If an opponent's character is misrepresented, if one we think to be in error is assaulted personally and his image distorted deliberately, it is unlikely that truth is the real objective.



(4) There is "a time to keep silence and a time to speak." From the examples earlier cited it is obvious that Christ practiced this ancient principle. When a speaker or author can find time for only one or the other, he jeopardizes his right to be heard. "Riding" his subject, especially if his subject be a brother in Christ, or a group of brethren, does not commend one to his audience, and leaves his message open to question and doubt.

You will think of other tests. These are enough to illustrate our point—emphatic, positive, condemnation of error does not mean that the Christ-like spirit has been abandoned. We not only have the example of Christ itself, which is the supreme factor, but the obvious conclusion that it is possible to distinguish between the carnality of the errorist and the sincerity of the servant of righteousness. We can no more decide that a brother has stooped to the method of the flesh because he speaks plainly, than we can decide that the Lord did this. This would be as much of a mistake as to suppose that one spoke the truth merely because his words were soft and his appraisals complimentary.

All public teachers need to remember two things: (1) It is possible to become emotionally involved in one's subject and use "hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife" or some other work of the flesh to promote one's conclusions. (2) Error has often triumphed because good men were afraid that someone would think them imprudent and heedless if they were very clear in specifying what error they intended to condemn. If we remember the first and timidly forget the second,

GIVING THE DEVIL AN OPPORTUNITY

In the book of Ephesians, chapter four, verse twenty-seven, there is probably as good a bit of advice as will be found anywhere, from the pen of anyone. In the Revised Standard Version it reads, ". . . give no opportunity to the devil." These words literally drip with common sense, and provide a bit of teaching that is needed by every man, woman and child on the face of this earth. It is a statement that cannot be improved upon in any way, by any man or angel, and needs only to be put to use to become the most profitable advice you ever received at any time. May we hasten to point out further that it undoubtedly ranks among the top of all the most neglected passages in Gods' word. You and I need this lesson as badly as we need the air we breathe and the food we eat. Why?

We need this lesson in the worst possible way because we have not yet come to fully realize that "your adversary the devil prowls around like a roaring lion, seeking someone to devour" (1 Peter 5:8). We neglect to be watchful at all times in order " to keep Satan from gaining the advantage over us", because, unfortunately, it seems at times that we are quite "ignorant of his devices" (II Cor. 2:11). And though we are warned against it constantly in the Scriptures, we often do fall into "the snare of the devil" (I Tim. 3:7).

In view of the above scriptural description of our fearful enemy, Satan, one would think further warning would not be necessary. We would be inclined to think God's people would avoid him like the plague, and to say the least would automatically "shun the very appearance of evil". Yet in spite of the fact that our eternal foe lurks around the corner of temptation, ready to thrust us through with one of his "fiery darts", we often stumble wide eyed into his open and eagerly waiting arms. Thus, our Maker warns again, "give no opportunity to the devil."

But do we give opportunity to his Satanic Majesty, and if so how? Our answer: indeed we do, and in many ways. We propose to mention here just a few of the many ways in which Satan (who certainly needs no help in his destructive activities) is given a first class, wide open door to destroy us. The points given will apply for the most part to those of us that are younger.

Opportunity For Satan, number One: Parking and Petting. If ever two young folks opened their arms to Satan and said "here we are, come and ruin us", it is when, in the quiet confines of a car, they expose themselves to temptations no normal human being fully has the power to resist. True, sometimes nothing serious ever seems to come of it. But for every case where this is the fortunate result, there are thousands where reputations, influences and whole lives are destroyed. Often parking and petting leads to sins, that, though they may be hidden from other human eyes, leave scars upon the conscience of the guilty that may well never be erased. Before you open this door of opportunity to the devil, however innocent and pure your motives may be, consider the consequences. Think hard on the thousands of ruined lives, and remember that lying to cover up this or any other sin only adds another sin to be held accountable for.

Opportunity For Satan, number Two: Loafing and idleness. It has been said that an idle mind is the devils' workshop. How often do we see young folks standing around the streets with nothing to do? We would undoubtedly be surprised to learn how many fights, brawls and crimes come as a direct result of such idleness and loafing. Young people, may we encourage you to keep a safe distance from such open doors to the realm of Satan? There are so many worthwhile things that can be done and need to be done, that in reality we have no time to be idle. May we further suggest that if you are having difficulty keeping busy, that your parents, elders or peacher will be more than happy to keep you active in worthwhile pursuits. Our Master "went about doing good", surely we can see the wisdom of following in his steps.

Opportunity For Satan, number Three: Questionable recreation. Most certainly, to decide on the proper kinds of recreation in which to engage is a matter that requires a great deal of discretion. In our day and age, when we are constantly confronted with so many forms of activity and recreation, the danger in this regard is probably greater than in any previous age. Since many forms of recreation, such as dancing, are obviously to be frowned upon, and others are on the "borderline"; it follows that Satan has many doors of opportunity here, and is quick to take advantage of them. May we suggest that we put all activities to the following familiar test: Will it dishonor God? Will it harm me? Will it harm those over which I have influence? If we will do this, regarding both questionable recreation and companions, many would be doors of opportunity will be slamed in Satans face!

When one has an enemy that is quick to take advantage of the slightest mistake and who is persistent to the very end in his all out efforts to destroy us, to be ever watchful is ones' only hope of escape! If it is foolish to be careless even for a moment—how much more foolish is it to give our enemy, the devil, an opportunity to work his dreadful designs! — Ray L. Miller

4th. LOVE. This is the key to joyful and zealous service. Even duty—doing what needs to be done, when it needs to be done, as it needs to be done (whether or not one feels like doing it) has love in the background.

5th. CONTINUING "Steadfastly in the apostles teaching and fellowship, in the breaking of the bread and in the prayers. Acts 2:42. Including also family and home worship with special emphasis upon Bible reading.

6th. WILLING, cheerful service in the name of the Lord. This will involve ministering to the physical and emotional needs of others in compassion of heart; teaching and encouraging those outside of Christ, and the faltering among the saints, liberality in giving.

7th. ALL OF THIS is to grew into the likeness of Christ — pictured so beautifully in the beatitudes of Matthew 5; the Christian graces of 2 Peter 1; and the fruit of the Spirit in Gal.5.

Dedicated Leaders

The foregoing are but a few of the many points of emphasis—varying in accordance with the particular needs and circumstances — but all depending upon LEADERS, and well should these leaders realize that their instructions, guidance, and oversight will be effective or uneffective against the back ground of their own lives.

MAKE IT PERSONAL. Not what you say as a leader in the church is vitally important, but whether or not your life matches your preaching is doubly important. Indeed, any specific lesson may be forgotten, but your life as a living sermon will not be forgotten.

Thus we can well understand Paul when he urged a young preacher, "Be thou an example to them that believe, in word, in manner of life, in love, in purity. 1 Tim. 4:12. "Neither as lording it over the charge allotted to you, but making yourselves ensamples to the flock." 1 Pet.5:3.

The Christian leader should further understand that his life's activities and church-related responsibilities are planned in accord with, "It is not fit that we should forsake the word of God, and serve tables." Acts 6:2.

No, no, not too good or distinguished for any menial task, (as the washing of feet John 13:12-17), but point more and more to the better part of continuing, "steadfastly" in prayer and in the ministry of the word — while others are trained through the many details of congregational activities. (as in Acts 6) All of which is to say that deep spirituality cannot be feigned. The urgent need is for study, meditation, and prayer in depth.

CONCLUSION;. Leadership in the cause of Christ makes great demands on him who would accept the challenge. The rewards are not always obvious, but God has given us a work to do for Him, and only he who loses his life in service to God ever really finds it. The world waits for someone who is totally committed to come and point the way and lead out in the quest, for that which is abiding. Many have lost their way and are at odds with themselves and with the world. May God speed the day when men of vision and power will accept the challenge and invest their lives totally in this the world's greatest cause. May we help our young people to see and accept the challenge. May those who are older who have never accepted the challenge of leadership in the church decide even now, that they will exert every effort to develop into able and dedicated leadership for the Lord. And may every leader who serves in the church seek always to be growing and learning better ways of accomplishing things in the Master's cause.

The cause of Christ is going to grow, but as to the degree and speed that it does, will depend on how we are dedicated to him and to the extent of service we give to others. Positions of leadership are positions of service, and they wait for men of ability, dedication and willingness to fill them to the full as they lead God's people in God's work.

My Part

"God did not put me on this earth to have an easy time,
He put me here to fight, To hold a battle line.
He put me here to help the weak and myself to grow strong,
He put me here to lend a hand and help the world along.
He put me here to say a word of encouragment and cheer;
He put me here to sing a song for someone else to hear.
He didn't put me here to shine, stick out my lips and pout —
He put me here to do His work and Satan's evil rout.
He only asks I do my best to carry out his plans,

COMMUNICATION

ing messages from outside sources. The reason is obvious. Darkness is removed by light. Ignorance is dispelled by truth. Dictators want their people to remain in ignorance.

The greatest tyrant in all history is the Devil. He seeks to foster misunderstanding, suspicion and hate on a tremendous scale. He convinces men that prayer is a waste of time. Fellowship is disrupted by the suspicion he sows. The glorious message of the Gospel is jammed to a degree that millions living in darkness die every year without its light and hope.

We believe that God is stronger than the Devil. Truth is stronger than ignorance. Righteousness can prevail over sin. Let us take a long look periodically at our communication lines. These are the lifelines of the soul.

HOLD FIRM

to misunderstanding, forgetfulness, and exaduration.

One simple truth makes it possible for the Bible to be dependable. The Bible, although penned by men, did not originate from men. It came from God.

THE BIBLE IS DEPENDABLE BECAUSE IT IS THE WORD OF GOD

Paul reminded the Thessalonians of this: 'And we also thank God constantly for this, that when you received the word of God which you heard from us, you accepted it not as the word of men but as what it really is, the word of God, which is at work in you believers.' (1 Thes. 2:13).

Paul further affirmed that what he wrote must be accepted as a COMMAND from God: 'If any one think that he is a prophet, or spiritual, he should acknowledge that what I am writing to you is a command of the Lord. If he does not recognize this, he is not recognized.' (1 Cor. 14:37-38).

But how can these words be the words and commands of God when they were penned by men? How is it possible that the word of God was recorded by men?

THE IDEAS WERE REVEALED TO THE WRITERS BY GOD

Paul ever emphasized that his message was not his own but that it had come from God: 'For I would have you know, brethren, that the gospel which was preached by me is not man's gospel. For I did not receive it from men, nor was I taught it, but it came through a revelation of Jesus Christ.' (Gal. 1:11-12).

And Peter explains a little more fully just how such a revelation comes: 'And we have the prophetic word made more sure. You will do well to pay attention to this as to a lamp shining in a dark place, until the day dawns and the morning star rises in your hearts. First of all you must understand this, that no prophecy of scripture is a matter of one's own interpretation, because no prophecy ever came by the impulse of man, but men moved by the Holy Spirit spoke from God.' (2 Peter 1:19-21).

Thus, these men did not speak from their own impulses but they spoke as they were moved by the Holy Spirit.

But one problem remains. How do we know that the words which were written down by the writers accurately represent the ideas which were revealed to them by God? We need only to read a newspaper to know that men can be inaccurate in reporting what they see and hear. Thus, when we read the scriptures how do we know that the symbols used, accurately convey the idea which was revealed from God?

Again we can be sure of this from the simple fact that the words used in symbolizing and recording the message did not come from men. They also came from God.

THE WORDS USED TO IMPART THE IDEAS WERE TAUGHT BY GOD

We cannot fully understand how this was done. But we are assured in 1 Cor. 2:12-13 that it was done: 'Now we have received not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit which is from God, that we might understand the gifts bestowed on us by God. And we impart this in words not taught by human wisdom but taught by the Spirit, interpreting spiritual truths to those who possess the Spirit.'

Thus Paul affirms that the understanding is imparted in words, but not in words taught by human wisdom but in words taught by the Spirit.

Thus, the Bible is a dependable guide because it is the word of God. The ideas were revealed to the writers by God and the words used to impart the ideas were also taught by God.

Because of this we can be confident that we have a trustworthy guide as we follow the 'sound words of our Lord Jesus Christ' and as we 'hold firm to the sure word as taught'.

And woe unto those who disregard the scriptures and who pay no heed to that lamp shining in a dark place.

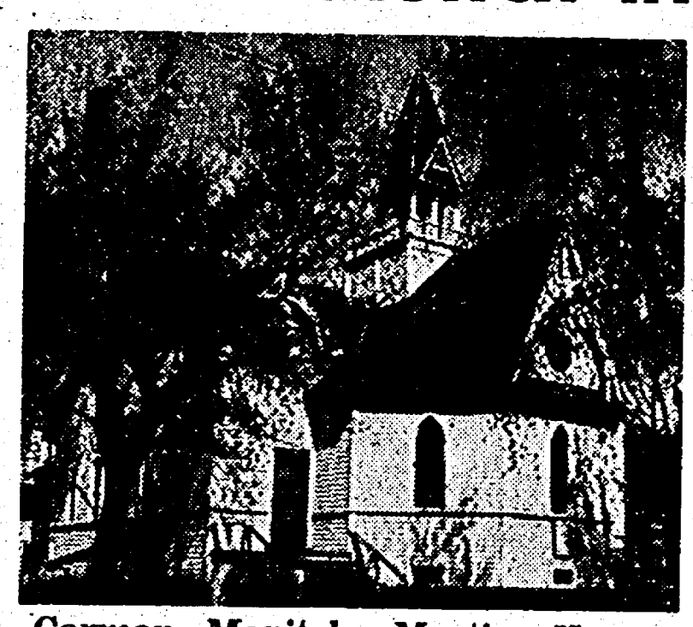
A PROSPECTIVE LOOK



by Murray F. Hammond, Winnipeg

I have now been something like two years labouring in Manitoba, and so I feel I am in somewhat of a position to make at least a cursory judgement relative to what is the situation of the church here and respecting what are the future prospects of the Lord's work in the province. And let me say at once, that there are no more loving, and dedicated, and sound, Christians to be found anywhere than those who reside here. A wonderful spirit of brotherly affection and congregational cooperation exists amongst all the churches. For which, thank God!

And because love and unity prevail, and, too, because the brethren seem resolutely determined to see the Lord's work prosper, I envision great things in store for the church of Christ in Manitoba. A spirit of optimism is in the air! One can almost feel the undercurrents of ever increasing excitement as brethren plan and prepare to accomplish monumental things for the Master. (See, for example, Brother Reagan's report, elsewhere in this issue, on the proposed city-wide Campaign in Winnipeg.) Christians throughout the province, seem possessed of a newfound enthusiasm; they seem gripped by a sense of urgency to be up and doing. They are glimpsing grander visions than ever before and are rising to meet the challenge of new frontiers.

All this is not to say that we are without problems in Manitoba or that we want for nothing. But it is to say, that we are intent upon progressing IN SPITE of any problems and NOTWITHSTANDING any deficiencies. God will more than compensate for that which we lack with His boundless mercy. Our faith is undaunted, and, by God's grace and with the strength which Christ supplies, we shall yet succeed in winning the whole of this lovely and important province for Him who died to save its approximately one million inhabitants. So help us God!

THE CHURCH IN CARMAN, MAN.

Carman, Manitoba Meeting House

The church of Christ at Carman, Man., first met to break bread in the home of Bro. G. W. Saunders, in the summer of 1889, with the following members present: Bros. Jas. Sterling, John Henry York, G. W. Saunders, R. S. Williams and W. P. C. Saunders. The sisters present were Saunders, Hill, Dunn and York. These folks had moved here from Ontario where they had been members of the church in Meaford.

After meeting for awhile in Bro. Saunders' home, the church met in a rented hall and eventually built its own meeting house on Fournier Ave., and began meeting there in June 1890.

Bro. George Whitelaw had been assisting with the work that summer, and then Bro. J. A. Harding, of Tenn., U.S.A., held a very successful meeting, baptizing 20 persons.

Other early pioneers from Ontario who arrived around this time and assisted with the work were: John York, Mrs. Joe McGill, Elizabeth York and Bro. Smith-Cutting.

Not long after this Bro. Jas. Stewart, Bro. Daniel Stewart, Bro. Campbell, and their families, moved to Carman from Cyprus in Man. In 1898, Bro. A. Foster laboured here and conducted a Bible Training School in a building built by members of the church for this purpose. This building now serves as the Land titles office in Carman. Bro. Maitland Watterworth came in 1906. Brethren Chas. Petch, O. H. Tallman, P. Crossley and W. Mallory assisted with the work. During this period, other congregations were started at the nearby rural points of Rosebank, Almassippi, and Barnsley. As roads and vehicles improved, the members from these outside points began meeting in Carman.

By June 1907 there were 100 members at Carman.

Bible Schools have been an important part of the work at Carman — the first was held probably as early as 1902. From 1901 to 1924, a Bible Training School was conducted with the late H. L. Richardson as principal, who was succeeded by Bro. Arthur Purcell.

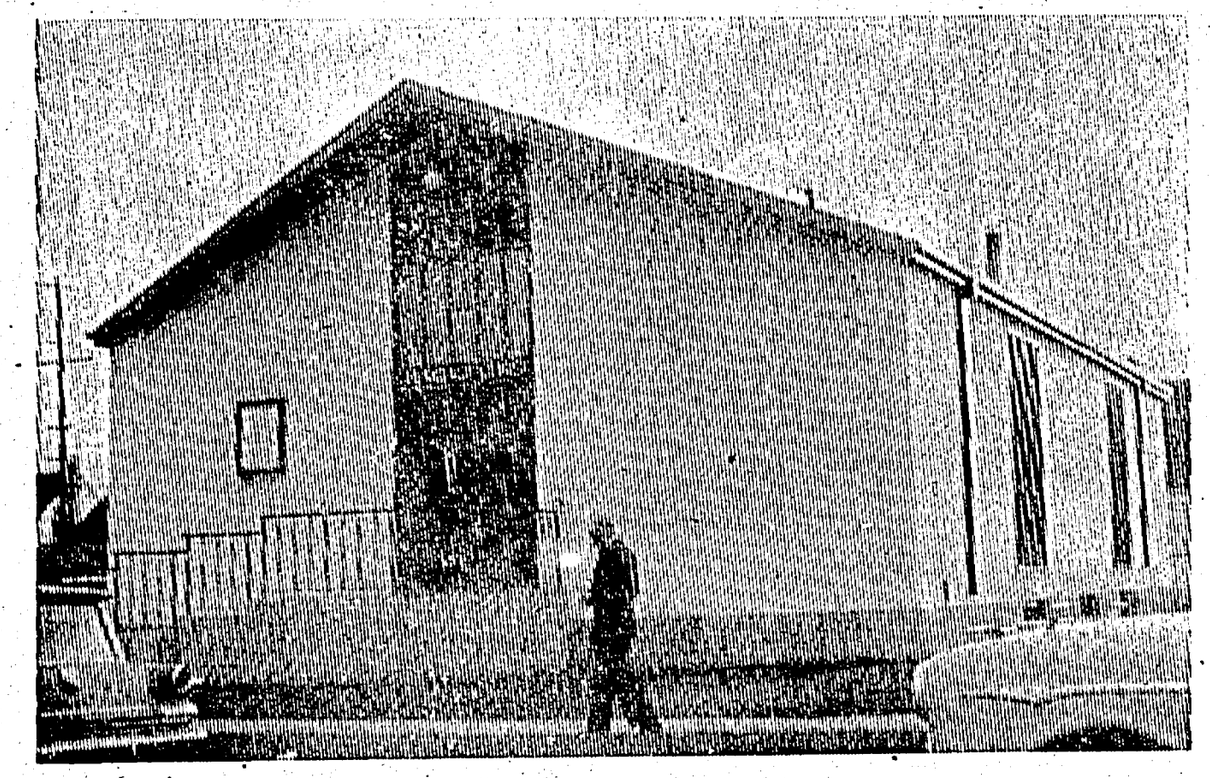
A notable student of this school was J. C. Bailey, who returned over thirty years later to work for 4½ years with this congregation as evangelist and who is now doing mission work in Madras, India.

Many brethren could be mentioned, but to name only a few who have contributed in a fine way to the work here: Bro. C. G. McPhee, Bro. D. A. Sinclair, Bro. Jack McElroy.

Vacation Bible Schools have been held each summer since 1937 when one was conducted by Bros. D. A. and Dryden Sinclair.

In 1945, the church purchased its present meeting house — a building formerly owned by the Presbyterians. A number of improvements have been made and with a seating capacity of 175 it is adequate for present needs.

In the fall of 1961, a new preacher's home was built just north of the church building.



A lectureship was held in the spring of 1950, and this has proved a successful annual event since that time.

At the present time, the church has 88 members, served by three elders, Bro. M. A. Jefkins, R. M. Laycock and H. F. Hobbs. Four deacons: Bros. Leo Meeks, W. G. Laycock, W. Winkler, and Wesley Dunn. There are fourteen men who take an active part in the worship. The attendance on Lord's day is from 90 to 100 with 75 to 80 for Bible classes.

Bro. Raymond Smith, of the Osborne St. congregation, in Winnipeg, is doing most of the preaching at present, but Bro. Bert Thompson, of Kingston, Ontario, began working with us about July 16.

THE CHURCH AT ERIN ST., WINNIPEG

Erin Street Meeting House, Winnipeg, Manitoba

The history of the Erin Street work must begin with the history of the Church in Winnipeg. The story began on April 2, 1901 when four young men, who had left Carman, Manitoba, to live in the town of Winnipeg, observed the Lord's Supper in a bedroom on Bannatyne Avenue East. The four were A Chantler, O. E. Tallman, G. W. Tovell, and O. H. Tallman. By September of that same year there were twenty-five Christians meeting regularly in Winnipeg. The four young men had contacted several members already living in the area and had arranged for regular meetings. In the early days the Church met in homes, in a rented hall in Elmwood, in the Main Street Hall, and at the Winnipeg Business College.

In the first two years of its existence, the Church sustained a hard blow when some of its members withdrew to begin the Christian Church in Winnipeg. In 1903, more than one-half of the members moved on West. These were at least partially replaced by several new arrivals from the Old Country and from Ontario.

In 1904, a small cottage at 447 Ross Avenue was purchased in which the Church met until 1906 when the property was needed for an incoming railroad. In 1906 the congregation bought a lot at 610 Sherbrook Street. They were assisted financially in this effort by several congregations in this area. The Sherbrook property was located in the middle of a rapidly growing, working class district, not far from the public transportation line. It was central to most of the city. During the years that followed evangelists for the Winnipeg Church included: O. H. Tallman, Walter Eatough, W. F. Neal, Charles Petch, D. H. Perkins, and D. A. Sinclair.

The year 1932 saw approximately one-half of the members leave in order to start a new congregation in the city which is now our sister church on Osborne Street.

In 1940, three elders were appointed to tend the Sherbrook flock: W. Eatough, W. H. Tucker, and Gordon W. Tovell. In the war-scarred years that followed, the church had its ups and downs. Attendance was constantly a problem. Repeated efforts were made to stimulate greater general interest which met with limited success.

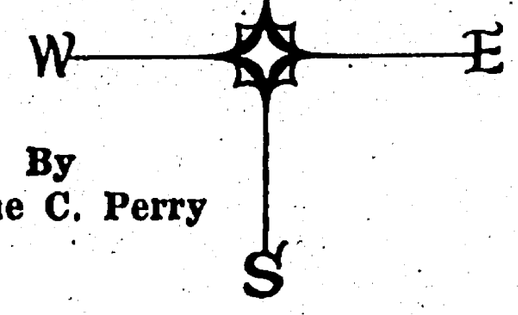
G. W. Tovell, writing in the Herald in 1944, mentioned that the Sherbrook Street Church had tried an "experiment whereby the evangelist concentrated on visiting over an extended period rather than on special effort in a short meeting." He believed that results of this type of effort justified more thinking in that direction.

Brother W. Eatough, who died in 1944, had helped to inspire interest in mission work among the Manitoba Indians. Food and clothing were frequently sent with teachers to these people during this decade. These years also witnessed much relief work to help the British brethren.

We are blessed to have brother J. J. Close still with us at Erin Street. Down through the years he has been instrumental in inspiring young people's efforts, and in keeping the need for mission work before the brethren. Two elders were added in 1944: J. J. Close and W. R. Eatough. About this time Brothers Close and Welch suggested that an evangelist be engaged for a one year period, and the minutes of a buiness meeting, May 28, 1946, state that the brethren "felt there was a great need for an evangelist." Brother Gallagher of Regina was consequently engaged and began working with the Church in July of 1946.

Bro. Cecil Bailey moved to Winnipeg in 1950 to undertake work at the University. While here he worked with the Sherbrook Church and proved a great blessing to the work.

In August, 1952 assistance was promised to Brother Dan Wieb, a native Winnipeger, who wished to attend school at Abilene Christian College. The Herald of Truth Radio Program was sponsored for two years by the Sherbrook Church beginning in March, 1954.



From June 1955 until July 1961 Dan Wieb laboured as full time minister here. The Church made marked progress during these years. In May, 1956, the Sherbrook Street property was sold. A month later, lots were bought in the west end of Winnipeg, on Thompson Drive. For more than two years the Church met in various halls in the city. Upon a decision not to build on Thompson Drive, that property was sold in August, 1957. In September of the same year the Erin Street lots were purchased. The first worship service in the new building was conducted on Sunday morning, November 30, 1958. During this period the Erin Street Church was without an eldership. Because of death, and because some of the elders had moved away, this was necessary.

In July of 1961, Brother Wieb assumed his new responsibilities as President of Western Christian College, at Weyburn, Saskatchewan. For eleven months, the Church at Erin Street had no located preach-

Halifax, N.S.: Brother Hart drove 180 miles to Port Hawksbury to baptize a Bible correspondence course student. Ten young workers arrived in Halifax on July 1st and began publicizing the V.B.S. which was July 6-10 with an enrollment of 191 representing a 63% increase over last year and taxing the little building. During the meeting preached by Jack Mackey of Amarillo, Texas, July 12-19, twenty-eight different visitors attended a total of 53 times and attendance averaged 35.

Mill Village, N.S.: The meeting by John Bailey of Keene, N.H. averaged 37 in attendance with visitors at every service. V.B.S., July 27 to 31 averaged 63.

Montreal, Que.: After a visit to the Oak Ridge, Tenn. church which has supported them in Belgium and will in Montreal, the Timmerman family has returned to be associated with the church in Lachine and particularly to labour among the 80% French speaking population of Montreal.

A recent fifth Sunday contribution for the building fund was $611.97 representing a 500% increase. The possibility of a teaching exhibit at the 1967 World's Fair is being explored.

Ottawa, Ont.: Young people from Hamilton and Tintern churches helped in the Ottawa V.B.S. which averaged in the neighbourhood of 130. Brother Tommy Clay and wife Nancy have located with a congregation numbering 485 members in Cordell, Oklahoma. This church has been sending $200 per month to the work in Ottawa.

Kingston, Ont.: A meeting Oct. 4-12 is announced with C. R. Hanlin of Wierton, W. Virginia as speaker.

Toronto, Bayview Ave.: A very encouraging V.B.S. reached a high attendance of 89 with 102 enrolled. John Justin, formerly of Harding Avenue begins labours with this church on October 1. Meanwhile he will continue to work toward migrating to the U.S.A. to attend Abilene Christian College and eventually return to work in Ireland.

Newmarket, Ont.: Magnar Knutson, formerly of Bayview Avenue is taking up this challenging young work. Four young people were baptized this summer, a new family has moved in and with the Knutsons this church will number 23.

Toronto, Strathmore Blvd.: V.B.S. averaged 177.6 including morning and evening classes. Ed Bryant is beginning his fifth year with this church.

Hamilton, Fennell Ave.: Five were baptized during the month preceding August 16th. W. Jones of Barrie will hold the Fall meeting in early November. One has been added by transfer. The radio contract with CHIQ has been renewed for another six months.

Hamilton, Sanford Ave.: V.B.S. attendance averaged about 130.

Beamsville, Ont.: The fall meeting will be October 18-25 with David Johnson of Hamilton as speaker.

Jordan, Ont.: "The next gospel meeting at Jordan is planned for the 18-29 of November. Plans are under way to make this one of the best meetings we have had and we hope for a full house every night. Everyone who reads this and is in driving distance is urged to be with us every night you possibly can.

"Brother W. L. Wharton Jr. from San Antonio, Texas will be the preacher. We have had such good results from morning classes during recent meetings that we will likely have them this time.

"Services each evening will be at 8.00 p.m."

Tintern, Ont.: The gospel meeting with W. Jones of Barrie will be October 12 to 20. Jim Nicholson has moved to take up labours with the Glencoe church. A replacement is being sought at Tintern.

Niagara Falls, Ont.: V.B.S. had a high attendance of 95. Brethren Whitelaw and Boland are holding Bible studies at Fort Erie on Tuesdays.

London, Ont.: The baptistry was used for the first time on August 16th when a 17 year old young man obeyed the gospel.

Owen Sound, Ont.: V.B.S. started with 45 and climbed to 70 in attendance. David Johnson of Hamilton assisted. Arvid McGuire of Huntsville, Ala. is scheduled for a meeting the first eleven days of November. One was baptized recently.

Collingwood, Ont.: The Basil Davison family of Meaford is moving to Collingwood. Tom Lovelace of Louisville, Ky. will begin a meeting here on October 25th.

Meaford, Ont.: This church is sending $20.00 per month to help support M. Knutson in Newmarket and $10 to the Montreal building fund. A bus load is scheduled for the Toronto meeting and a booth planned for the local fair.

Vandeleur, Ont.: Excavations have been started for the new building here. The Meaford church plans to give the entire contribution for the first Sunday in November to help with this.

Huntsville, Ont.: "We are encouraged by the progress here since our V.B.S. which was the best yet for Huntsville, with a high attendance of 129, and averaging 122, with a total enrolment of 133. We have three new families sending their children to the regular Bible school since the V.B.S. and prospects are good for some others as well. Also the parents of these children are showing good interest. There were about 170 present for the closing program of the V.B.S. We are also happy that Sister Jean Gonder and her husband and three children have recently moved to Huntsville from Parry Sound. This family is going to be a help in our work here." — Gordon Dennis.

Sundridge, Ont.: Excellent attendance exceeding 150 marked the V.B.S.

Iron Bridge, Ont.: Brother Jamieson of Texas held a meeting here in August.

Griersville, Ont.: We enjoyed a wonderful time in the Lord with the Griersville Church, August 12 to 21. A morning V.B.S. was conducted the last five days, and there was a total enrollment of 87. Attendance was encouraging throughout the services as we enjoyed the fellowship of brethren from round about. Seven obeyed the gospel, and we praise God! If the Lord is willing, we look forward to being back in '65. — L. Wesley Jones.

Barrie, Ont.: During July and August the congregation here did considerable planning of its work with a view to developing system and purpose which would include the talents of new members. We are now fortunate to have six responsible men of leadership quality to go along with our work,

These include Bro. David Carruthers, who with his good wife, have moved here to live and work among us. Dave teaches school near Barrie, and these good people have moved here motivated entirely by a desire to serve Our Lord. We thank God for them.

More additions are anticipated shortly from transfers of membership and obedience to the gospel. A new radio program has been offered us by the local station and is under consideration, and some possibilities appear for the regular use of television by January 1. Our campaign for 1965 is taking shape to begin on June 10. An enlarged Sunday school work is planned for this fall, and a special new work, a prison ministry, is already underway. The regular radio program is now heard at 6.30 p.m.

"On Sunday, Sept. 13 the Lloyd Shortt family of four placed membership with this congregation. On Friday the 11th, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hooper were baptized, and on the 18th Mr. Fred Saunders. We praise God for these additions and ask your prayers that we may strengthen and confirm them in the faith." — L. W. Jones.

Ice Lake, Ont.: Earl McGibbon was baptized on July 2. Brodie Harrell and family spent a pleasant vacation in the U.S.A. speaking at several points. Tom Kemp and Dale Rideout carried on with Brother Harrell's duties in a very fine way during his absence and have now returned to college. A campaign was planned to begin on August 28th with about 40 workers from Alabama and Tennessee. Preaching by Kenneth Reed, August 30 to September 4.

Carman, Man.: H. F. Thompson finds the work here both interesting and challenging.

"We had a very successful V.B.S. the latter part of July with Bro. Thompson in charge. There were around sixty in attendance. During the past nine months Bro. Raymond Smith of Winnipeg helped with the speaking on Lord's days." — R. M. Laycock.

W.C.C., Weyburn, Sask.: In the recent campaign to raise funds to pay off the government for the campus being used by the college over 275 contributions representing about 75% of wage earners in the church in Western Canada netted $30,000. A loan of $6,000 made it possible to pay the government. The administration is grateful for the fine response and hopes that further donations will enable the payment of the $6,000 loan by the end of August.

During the year Western Christian Foundation has sent $35,000 to help with the operation of the college.

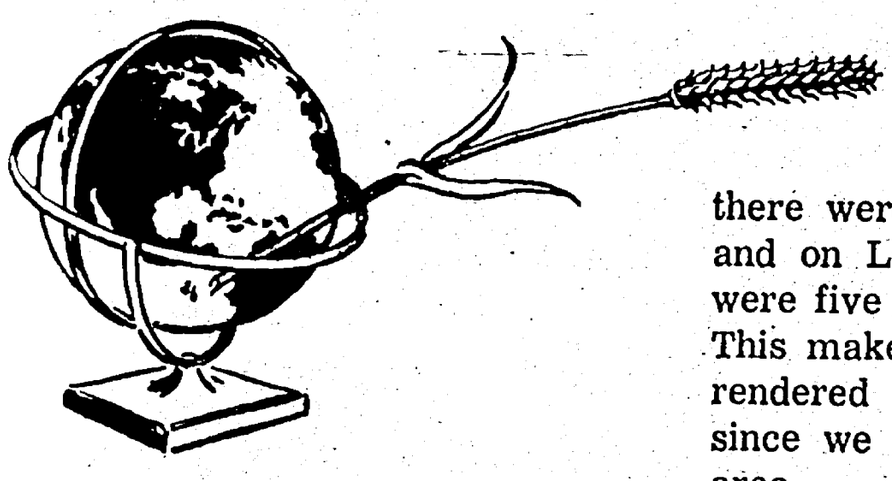
Moose Jaw, Sask.: "V.B.S. was held in a public school in the area of our new building. The school was very successful with a record attendance of 162 students. Following the school a week of gospel meetings were held. Bro. Duke Gregory from Lexington, Alabama was the speaker. Our new building is very near completion, we will begin meeting in it the first part of October." — Ray M. Jacobs.

Bengough, Sask.: A successful V.B.S., July 19-30 averaged 53. Loran Smith of Chickasha, Okla. preached and taught and Paul Jackson of Apache, Okla. led singing and taught. Three baptisms took place during this period. "Bros. Smith and Jackson were a wonderful team of workers, and we feel a lot of good resulted from this meeting." John A. Hals.

Airport Church, Weyburn, Sask., Aug. 26: The campaign for Christ in Weyburn was a huge success. Twenty-four workers came from Tulsa, Oklahoma to work with 16 local workers in a religious survey of the city. Out of 1200 people contacted we number 200 as prospective. At least four of this number indicated a definite desire to study the scriptures with us. In three nights of a city-wide meeting we had near 60 local visitors. Paul DuBois, Tulsa evangelist, presented challenging lessons to believer and unbeliever alike. These items along with a concentrated advertising effort placed the name of the Lord before the people in an excellent way. Churches at the Airport and 10th and Bison now have a great challenge to further teach these interested people.

Red Pheasant, Sask.: Clinton Brazle, North Weyburn, assisted Jim Williams in a V.B.S. on the Red Pheasant Reserve Aug. 24-28. Classes were conducted each afternoon and evening and an evening preaching service conducted. The crown has given two acres on the Reserve to the Red Pheasant church for a chapel and burying ground. The grounds have been cleared and plans include the erection of a chapel in the future. Jim Williams is doing an outstanding work among the Cree Indians and is worthy of support in his efforts. Personal support is furnished largely by Colgate St. in Lubbock, Texas.

Red Deer, Alta., July 31: A very successful V.B.S. ended July 31 with 114 in attendance. It was followed by a meeting in the Memorial Center with Ronald Milton of Tulsa, Oklahoma as speaker. Two car loads of Edmonton young people helped with advertising and attendance on the first Sunday.



Medicine Hat, Alta.: Howard See held a meeting and V.B.S., Aug. 2-9. Almost 60 attended the V.B.S. S. C. Kinningham concluded a four day meeting on August 16. Much good was done. Five local brethren now take turns speaking.

Lethbridge, Alta.: One lady was baptized in Feb. and one in Aug. H. See of Woodbury, Tenn. held a meeting July 26 to August 1. The S. C. Kinninghams and J. Gilmours of Shawnee, Oklahoma spent part of August helping this church. Joe Corley has taken up work with this church in September.

Nanaimo, B.C.: V.B.S. daily average was 115. Closing exercises were attended by 169. Two were baptized on August 9th.

Vancouver, B.C.: V.B.S. had a high attendance of students and workers on Friday with 92. The average was 85. Thirty non-member families were contacted.

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

IF I KEPT A DIARY

by J. C. Bailey, India

July 18: A meeting had been arranged at the home of an Air Force Major. Regulations had been changed and we suddenly found out that we were forbidden ground. The Major was embarrassed. We went to the platform of the railway station and had a small meeting.

July 19: I woke up in the early hours of the morning. It was raining hard. The hardest rain we had this year. It was much cooler. I arose before six to begin my day's work. During the day we had five services. Then we had two baptismal services. There were 19 baptized in these two services. Sixteen were baptized in one place to mean a new congregation.

July 20: I woke again early in the morning and again it was raining hard. The fan was turned off and I put the top of my pyjamas on for the first time in several months. I covered up with a sheet. It was cooler than it had been any time since March. It was a welcome change.

Our Training Class was smaller. Two of our students had tropical fever. Brother Paul Nathan came in the afternoon to report that they had three baptisms the night before at Tambaram to make the total for the day 22. This makes a total of 232 that have been baptized since we have been in the Madras area.

The harvest could be doubled and trebled if we only had the man power. COME OVER AND HELP US.

August 11, 1964: The work here continues to move forward. On Lord's Day, August 2 there were six baptized into Christ and on Lord's Day August 9 there were five more baptized into Christ. This makes a total of 258 that have rendered obedience to the gospel since we have been in the Madras area.

Among those baptized this past Lord's day was a man that had preached for many years for the church of South India. He is a good personal worker and I am sure he is going to be the means of leading many to the Lamb of God.

There are now 13 congregations in the Madras area. Several of these already own their buildings made of brick with a thatched roof or made of mud walls and the thatched roof. Another one will be built in the next few days. The field is limitless. Pray the Lord of the harvest to send forth labourers into His vineyard.

August 27, 1964: Last night we closed a meeting here in Madras with Brother Gordon Hogan of Lahore, Pakistan, doing the preaching. Brother Hogan is still a young man but he is an old fashioned gospel preacher. He is neither ashamed nor afraid to preach just as it is written.

There was rain every day of the eight day meeting but it came at a time of the day each day that it did not interfere too much with the attendance at the meeting. There were good crowds throughout. Many heard the gospel for the first time. There were fifteen baptized into Christ.

This makes a total of 282 people that have been baptized since we have been in the Madras area. (Some of there were baptized in Andhra Predesh). We have now 13 congregations in this area.

We have reason to believe that the next year will be even more fruitful than the first year.

September 14, 1964: The work in India has taken another step forward. There are five member of the church in Bombay and they have started a congregation there. They are anxious to put this work on a permanent basis.

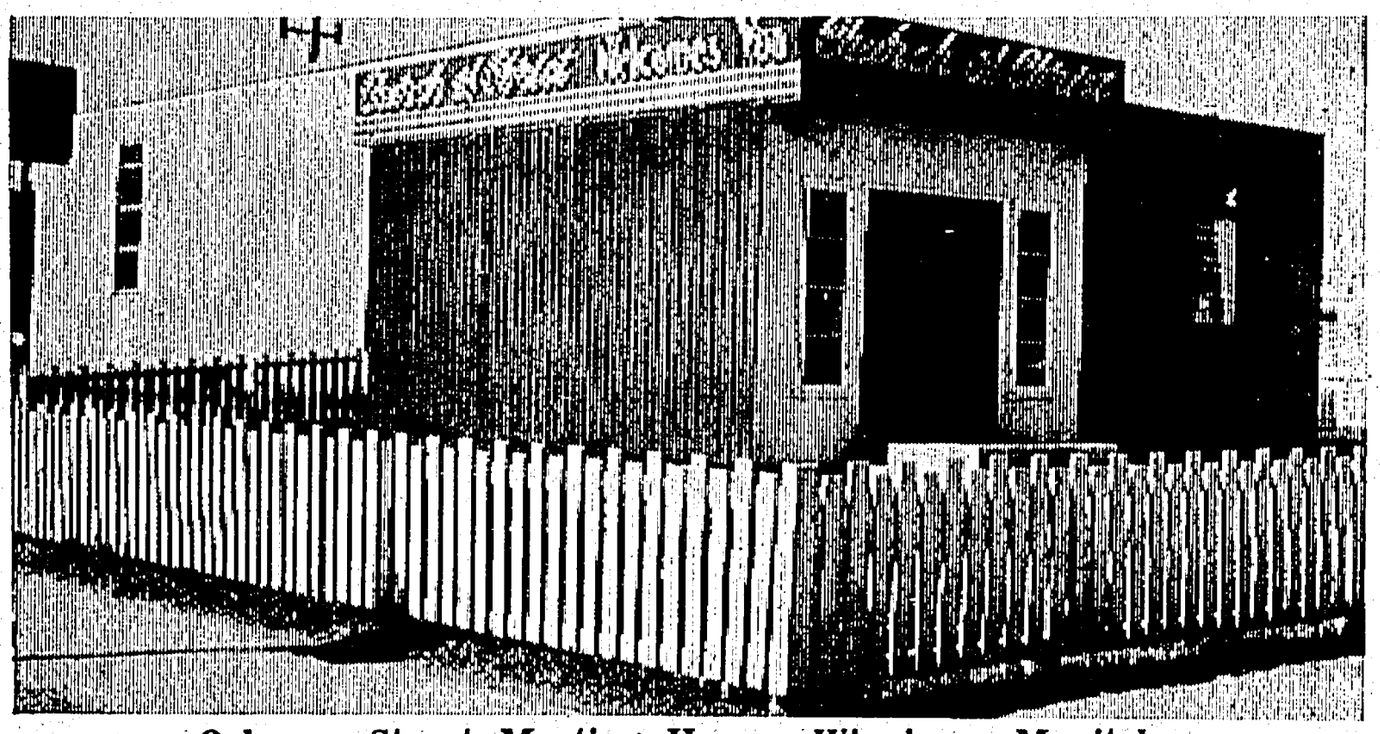
I have been asked to go to Bombay and help these brethren. I plan to be in this city from September 20 to 27.

Should any one know of any members of the church in this great city or any one that is interested in the church they should send me their names and addresses. Four more rendered obedience to the gospel yesterday. This brings to 290 the number baptized since we have been in the Madras area.

When are we going to get the needed reinforcements?

REPORT FROM SHILLONG, INDIA

by Donald E. Perry



We have just completed a gospel meeting with brother Gordon Hogan of Lahore, Pakistan. After being refused entrance to come to India a second time this year (as a missionary) brother Hogan finally got permission to come for three weeks. After eight days in Madras he came here for an eleven day meeting. Although he laboured much of the time here under the weakening effects of the flu we very much appreciate his preaching and the opportunity to discuss the work of our Lord in this area of the world.

Our highest attendance including children was 130. The average attendance was 88. One family was restored and a man a distant village who came in at this time was baptized during the meeting. Other prospects came regularly, some every night of the meeting. We have much bad history to overcome here but with patience we believe we can make definite progress in the Lord's work. We had considerable rain during the meeting but this did not seem to hinder much.

We were pleased to have brother Sam Langford from Dacca, East Pakistan visit with us during the meeting. He is a professor of Architecture in the Engineering University there. One other family of Christians are now meeting with them regularly in their home. They are advertising Bible correspondence courses there and are trying to get the work started. The American preacher who was planning to come there was unable to do so due

OSBORNE STREET CHURCH, WINNIPEG

Osborne Street Meeting House, Winnipeg, Manitoba

It is not possible to provide a complete history of the Osborne St. congregation of the church of Christ, for the reason that a complete diary was not kept from its beginning. It is hoped, however, that the information presented will be of interest to all concerned and that it may provide a reasonably complete picture of the activities and workings of this congregation.

It was not until late in 1932 that the second congregation of the church of Christ was established in Winnipeg, and at that time was known as the St. James church of Christ. There were, at the beginning, 33 charter members, and at this date only seven of the original number are still with the congregation, which is now known as the Osborne Street church of Christ. Eleven of this number have passed on to their reward; four have drifted back into the world, and the remainder have moved to other locations.

In the summer of 1933, Bro. J. C. Bailey was invited to conduct the congregation's first Gospel meeting, which was held in a tent in St. James. It was during this meeting that a challenge to a religious debate was made by the Mormons, otherwise known as the Latter Day Saints, which was accepted. The Mormons were represented by their Apostle Curtis, while we invited Bro. C. R. Nichol to represent the church of Christ.

The event could not be considered successful from a numerical point of view. We were unable to obtain a suitable building in the area that we felt should be the location for such an event. It was late in the Fall, and we were only able to secure a curling rink which was extremely difficult to heat satisfactorily; consequently, about the only people in attendance were those who were members of both groups involved. The debate was carried on for about four nightts, and our considered opinion was that the outcome was favourable to the church of Christ.

Regular services were conducted in the St. James Hall where we remained for somewhat over a year. We moved from St. James to a hall on Balmoral Street, where we continued for five years. During this period the work greatly prospered due to the fine spirit of co-operation existing and a willingness to work. We could have purchased this property, but the figure that was being asked was more than we considered the value; hence, we looked elsewhere and finally located property on Burnell Street on which an old building was situated which had not been in use for a considerable time.

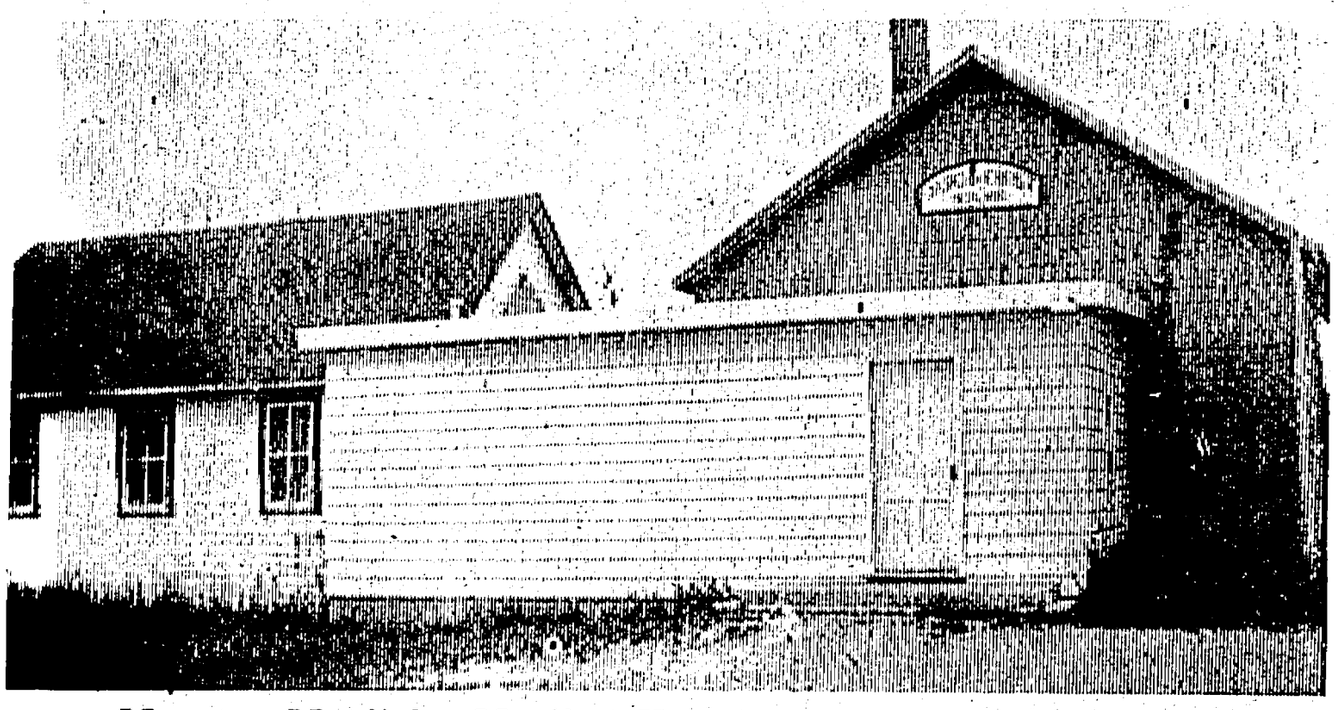
However, the price was favorable and it was purchased for $1500.00. The next several months were spent in remodelling and making it suitable for services. We finally moved in to it early in December of 1940.

The congregation continued to grow during the twelve years we were at this location, and we experienced many very pleasant and profitable activities.

Our facilities having become inadequate, we began to search for another location, and after much investigation and many disappointments at not being able to locate where we felt would be most suitable, we finally decided to purchase our present property at Osborne St. and McMillan Ave.

As this was our first new building, and because of the many hours of work that went into its construction by so many of the members, we greatly appreciated the building when it was finally completed. It was estimated that by doing the major portion of the construction ourselves, we were able to save some $10,000.00.

Approximately five months were required to erect and complete the building. We finally moved into it in the Fall of 1952.



Our activities during this twenty-two year period have been as follows, and once again, because of limited records being kept, we are not able to provide too detailed an account of all our varied activities.

It was during the period that we were at Balmoral Street that we first began our adult training classes. Attendance was very good and much interest was manifested in the various classes that were conducted. These classes included such subjects as English, Bible reading, sermon building, public speaking. As a result of these classes, not only did all the brethren benefit, but at least nine brethren, due in part to these classes, have gone out from us into full time evangelistic work. Since that period, a number of our younger brethren have had additional training, and have entered the evangelistic field. At the present time most of our young men are able to take part in the public worship services.

Our first mission effort was started in the late 1930's, when some of the brethren started teaching in the Lac-du-Bonnet area, 70 miles north of Winnipeg. At the beginning of this effort, Bro. George Johnson, then one of our elders, had a large part in getting this work going, he being the one who did the preaching. Later several other brethren assisted, which resulted in a congregation of about twenty-five members, being established. Unfortunately, at this date there are only two members left there. Some mov-

CHURCH IN MANSON, MAN.

Manson, Manitoba Meeting House As It Looks Today, 1964

In March 1929 the Lord's supper was first observed in the Manson area in the home of Bro. H. A. Rogers, who with his family moved here from Carman. This was the beginning of the church at Manson. H. A. Rogers held meetings in the local school house and in the village of Manson with good interest but little response. In 1931 he held a meeting in Jeffrey school house and some were baptized. From that time until 1952 public worship was held in that school house except in severe weather in the winter time when service was conducted in the homes.

In 1949 and 1950 three Christian families moved into this district. This swelled our membership to about 25 and plans were made to have a building of our own. A used church house was purchased, moved and remodelled and opened in 1952. It was a day of rejoicing for the church to have its own building and thus be better equipped to carry on the Lord's work. The auditorium will seat about 100 people. It is located in the country — 4½ miles from the village. In 1961 another building was acquired which has been divided into four good classrooms. In 1963 a new entrance was made connecting the two buildings and a furnace installed. Our present membership is about forty.

This congregation has never had a regular preacher. Some of the early preachers who conducted a series of meetings here are Bro. H. A. Rogers, Wilfred Orr, J. C. Bailey, H. E. Forman Jr., and Gordon Pennock. It has been the practice these last several years to have a spring and fall meeting. Preachers who have assisted us in these over the years include Bro. J. Woolley, Bro. John Crow, Bro. Richard Dacus, Bro. James Burns, Bro. Harold Parker, Bro. Floyd Vidler, Bro. Clinton Brazle, Bro. Steve Ennis, and Bro. Bill Love.

Beginning in 1952 a V.B.S. has been held each year but one. Attendance has ranged from 45 to a high of 80. This yearly school is usually held the first week in July, from 9 to 4 each day. The sisters of the congregation provide the noon and evening meal each day. Many of the neighborhood children have attended these schools. In 1961 and 1962 we appreciated the assistance of three families and two young men from Norman Oklahoma in a personal campaign and Bible school. Brethren who have conducted our V.B.S. include Bros. W. Orr, M. J. Knutson, N. Hoffman, A. H. Beamish, Ray Smith, Claude Perry, Harold Parker, D. Wieb, Walter Hovind, A. Mitchell, Jim Hawkins and others.

Local Mission efforts are as follows. Series of meetings were held in Archie School, Cherry Grove School, Elkhorn (town of 600), village of McAuley, village of Willen, and this summer in co-operation with the Wawota congregation a meeting is planned for the town of Moosomin (population 2,000). Financial support for other mission work both at home and abroad has been small but continuous.

Four elders were appointed in 1959 and they have guided the work of the congregation humbly and with a desire to extend the borders of God's kingdom. Those elders who are still serving are Bro. G. Jacobs, Bro. Ed Elford, Bro. A. Muller and Bro. A. H. Rogers.

Being a country congregation many of our young people go elsewhere for employment so that our membership does not seem to grow much. In 1959 Mabel Rogers left to teach school in Namwianga Mission in Northern Rhodesia. Many of our young folk are active in the congregations where they now attend. Some have remained in our district and are assuming the responsibilities of service in public worship.

Along with our progess and times of rejoicing we have had our trials and problems. Some of those who obeyed the gospel have become wayward and have left their first love. But for the most part the members are faithful in attending and active in any project, and we press on to (we hope) greater activity in the saving of souls.

HERE AND THERE

Manson, Man.: A very good V.B.S. conducted by brother Lester Fisher of Myrtle Creek, Oregon, assisted by Bernard Straker of North Weyburn, Saskatchewan and members of the congregation at Manson is reported by A. H. Rogers. Attendance at the daily sessions from 9:30 to 3:30, July 5-12 reached a high of 56. Two were baptized.

"At the same time a series of meetings were held in Moosomin, Sask. a town of about 2,000. The Wawota congregation co-operated in the Moosomin effort. Personal work was done the preceding week. Bro. Fisher preached forcibly and well but there were no visible results. Follow-up work is being carried on with regular worship service each Lord's Day in the A.A. hall." — A. H. Rogers.

HISTORY OF DAUPIN CHURCH

The history of the church in Dauphin dates back to the fall of 1946, when the L. P. Johnson family moved to Dauphin. Sister Johnson broke bread in her home and conducted a class for her children.

In 1947 Brother M. J. Knutson, Birnie, Man., began driving to Dauphin, 90 miles, for monthly Bible study.

In 1948, Bro. J. C. Bailey, assisted by Bro. Knutson and Bro. Gallagher, held the first meeting in Dauphin.

In the summer of 1949, Bro. and Sis. Knutson and Sis. Johnson conducted the first V.B.S. Bro. Knutson started coming every two weeks on Sunday afternoon and conducted services in the Johnson home.

The years from 1950 to 1956 were years when the church appeared to be in the wilderness from a public standpoint. Reg Johnson, oldest son of Pete and Ethel Johnson was baptized in 1951 while attending V.B.S. in Carman. In the fall of 1951, Bro. Rogers (Sis. Johnson's father) came to live in the Johnson home. Here he spent his remaining years until 1955 when his summons Home came. Truly one of the great pioneer preachers in Canada was gone to his reward. In the summer of 1955, Noreen Johnson was baptized.

In the Spring of 1956 a four night public debate was held with the Mormons. Bro. J. C. Bailey defended the Truth. He also remained to conduct a Gospel Meeting the following week. He was assisted in this meeting by Bro. Jim Johnson and Bro. A. H. Beamish of Winnipeg. Bro. Ernest Hillman, who was moderator for the debate returned to hold a Gospel meeting in October of 1956.

In 1957 Bro. Walter Hovind, Bro. and Sis. Harold Parker and Mabel Bailey (nee Rogers) conducted a V.B.S.

In June of 1958 a full-time preacher, his wife and family moved to Dauphin and worked until November. A V.B.S. and meeting was held in August, with Bro. and Sis. Charles Williams of Henderson, Tennessee. One young lady was baptized but later moved away. The first Bible Camp was held at Silver Sands, 26 miles north of Dauphin. This camp continued for 3 consecutive years in a joint effort for Manitoba. Saturday morning classes were conducted by Sis. Shaw and Sis. Johnson, assisted by others. Reg Johnson, the only male member of the church conducted the Lord's Day worship.

In 1959 and 1960 Bro. and Sis. J. C. Bailey assisted in Vacation Bible Schools and Bro. Bailey conducted Gospel Meetings. Also in the Fall of 1959 Bro. Dan Wieb preached in a series of meetings.

The year 1961 marked the beginning of more concentrated efforts for the Lord in Dauphin. The Central Church of Christ in Norman, Okla., assisted by sister congregations, sent their Tent and Bus to Manitoba to be used in VBS and Meetings. Bro. Joseph Jones of Cherokee Hills Church in Oklahoma City preached in Dauphin. He was assisted by Bros. Leo Richardson, Roy Lanier Jr., Eddie Baggett, Sis. Richardson Sis. Baggett. Bros. Gary Burke and James Moore spent three months in preparation and follow-up work. Melvin and Christine Metzner were baptized in this meeting, but later moved to The Pas where they continue to work for Lord.

The second extensive campaign was held in 1962, Bro. Leo Richardson preached in the Meeting. Bros. Gary Burke and Eldon Mimms spent the 3 summer months working with the church in Dauphin. A Fair Booth was held and well received. Four precious souls were baptized and remain with the Dauphin church today, Bill and Betty Ann Hart, Mrs. Marion Kalinchuk and Ron Kalinchuk. The Eddie Baggett family of Seracy, Ark., again assisted in this effort.

In 1963 the same two young men, Gary Burke and Eldon Mimms plus Eldon's wife Charlene returned to work for the summer. Eddie and Jeanette Baggett again assisted in VBS and led singing for the meeting. Bro. George Bryan of Oklahoma City preached in this meeting for the first 8 days. Bro. Glen O. Dods continued the last three nights.

The months were long between the summer campaigns of 1962 and 1963, but the small band of Christians pressed on. Bro. Jim Johnson, Winnipeg and brethren from Manson drove to assist in the services. Two men, young in the Faith, Bill Hart and Ron Kalinchuk, were doing a fine job in conducting the services.

Brother and Sister Glen and Gwen Dods moved to Dauphin in August of 1963 to take up full-time work. Two ladies were baptized as a result of the campaign. This made a total of 12 members to worship and work together.

In September we moved to a new location, renting a house and converting it into a place in which to meet and hold classes. On January 2nd we began a 5 minute daily radio program, Monday to Friday at 6:55 a.m. In April of 1964 a Lectureship was held with various speakers, which was well received.

In June of this year the S.W. 36th St. Church, in Oklahoma City donated a 1960 Chev., 36 passenger bus to the work of the Lord in Dauphin.

Plans for the future are bright. Bro. and Sis. Emerson Gould moved the first of July to assist with the work. Bro. Goud plans to work on a full-time basis. We are again planning a summer campaign, with VBS and Meetings.

We believe the Lord's church is being, and will be, planted firmly in Dauphin. Our plea for the return to the ways of the New Testament is making a lasting impression.

Plans for the future include continued Radio work, and weekly sermons in the local paper. With the use of the Bus we believe we can build a great sunday school program, which we feel will hurry our plans for a permanent and substantial place in which to worship.

THE BRANDON CHURCH

The origin of the Brandon church can be attributed to one member, the late Sister Frank Jordan. For many years, Sister Jordan resided in Brandon with her family, the while attempting to secure the services of a full-time evangelist and hoping for Christians from other points to move to the city to help with the work.

Previous to the first full - time preacher, Brethren Gordon Pennock, Bill Smith, and J. C. Bailey held Gospel meetings in Brandon. Bro. Walter Hovind and family moved to the city in the spring of 1955 as the first full-time workers. They had come from Regina through the influence of Brother J. C. Bailey. Brother Hovind laboured here, in this city of 30,000, for seven years and during that time, witnessed 19 baptisms and numerous restorations. His efforts were unyielding in trying to obtain for the church a more secure base of operation. He was supported almost entirely by contributing congregations in Canada and the United States.

During this period of time, the church in Brandon met in various public buildings until it could acquire its own meeting house. In 1959, the congregation moved into an old building which had formerly been used as a school building in the country, and the congregation has been using these same facilities ever since. In ,the meantime, numerous efforts have been made to raise funds for a permanent church building. At the present time, there is over $5,000.00 in a building fund, and plans are now underway to purchase property and eventually build a substantial meeting-house.

In 1962, I accepted the invitation to come and work with the brethren here. In the summer of 1963, a campaign was held which stirred much interest and brought a more sympathetic response from the people. There are, at present, 15 members of the church in Brandon.

As of May, I resigned my work as evangelist in Brandon. I plan to enter the teaching field in the fall of 1964. However, we plan to continue meeting with the church here and I am hoping to find a full-time preacher to succeed me before long.

Brandon is located 130 miles west of Winnipeg on the Trans-Canada Highway. The church here is ready to go and grow, but we need more workers and the prayers of more of God's people. If anyone is interested in this great endeavour, he should contact Brother G. McFarlane, Box 208, Rivers, Manitoba.

CARMAN, MAN.

The church is presently helping to support the Bailey's in India and is answering various appeals according to need. The sisters of the congregation meet once a month to make quilts for the needy, and relief parcels are sent to Africa and Korea. Vacation Bible school dates were July 27 to 31.

Following a gospel meeting this fall, we look forward to increased activity among our young people; also, increased emphasis on the training and encouragement of the young men of the congregation to do greater work for the Lord. We are fortunate in having several young men engaged in farming. Carman is mainly an agricultural area, and, with the trend to larger farms and fewer farmers, we find that most of our young people leave for larger centers to seek a living. God bless them all.

PERSONALIZED ATTENTION

THE MANITOBA CAMPAIGN

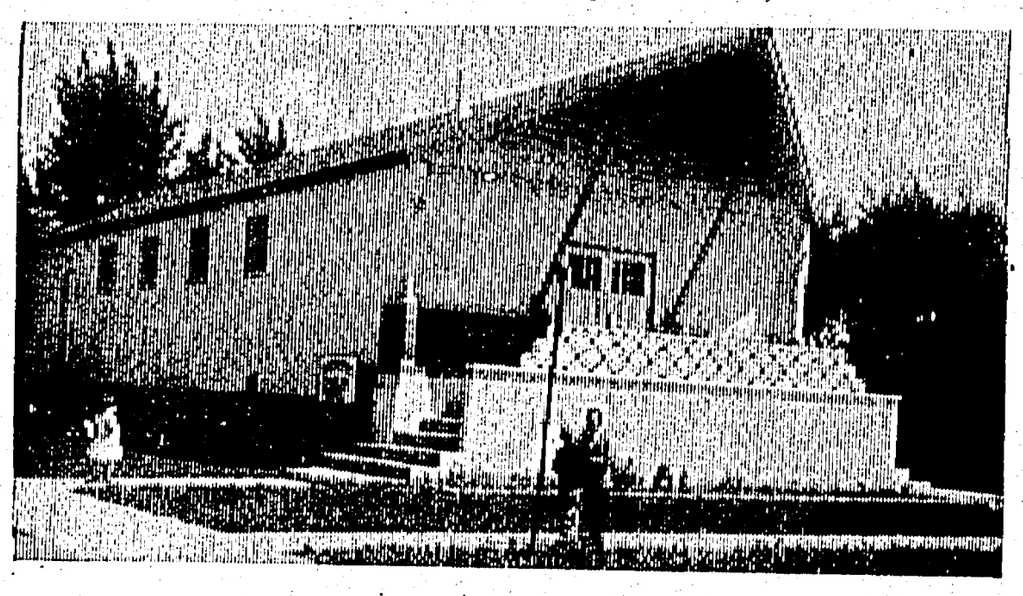
Revised Schedule

August 19-26 — First phase of census covering 50,000 homes; 50 out-of-town workers; 75 Winnipeg workers.

September 16-23 — Second phase of census. Four night Youth Meeting during this week.

October 14-21 — Third phase of census; 50,000 homes to be covered; 50 to 75 outside workers desperately needed. This is a broad effort to saturate every possible Winnipeg home with the gospel. Please write immediately that you can help during this period. Perhaps you can bring a group from your congregation. The trip will be inexpensive if car pools or chartered buses are used. Gospel Meeting — Erin Street congregation in Winnipeg.

October 26-29 — Leadership Training Course for all three Winnipeg congregations.



Early November — Gospel Meeting at Osborne Street congregation.

Late November — Ladies' Training Class.

Workers Needed

Urgent need developing in first phases of Campaign for Christ in Winnipeg, Manitoba: 47 personal workers who spent one week in Winnipeg, Manitoba, taking a census and arranging cottage meetings have set up 320 classes that must begin now. Fewer than 30 brethren in Winnipeg can teach such classes and only three sets of film strips which have been promised are available. Immediate and urgent need is for projectors, film strips and other supplies to work toward second group of workers stay which will begin September 16, 1964. Classes have been arranged with Chinese Buddhists, Jews and German speaking residents. Response has been warm and encouraging. A great harvest of souls can be made if materials and manpower are available. Contributions are needed and should be sent to Vandelia Village Church of Christ, 2002 60th St., Lubbock, Texas. If you can personally go to Winnipeg for one week, beginning September 16 or October 14 to help in this great work, contact Bob Hoover at Vandelia Village in Lubbock. Help take this whole city for Christ!

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE CHURCH

Portage La Prairie Meeting House

The history of the church in Portage la Prairie is very brief, comparatively speaking. So far as I can learn, the first worship services were held in my home in August of 1958. My family and I being the only ones present. Due to our inability to find a suitable place that we could rent in which to hold public services, we tried to find suitable premises to buy. When this failed, we put in a bid on an army building from War Assets. In the meantime (early 1959), we were given the opportunity of having the use of Jubilee Camp, Delta Beach West, for a week's Bible Camp. Though we were very short of help, we determined to take it, and with the help of Dale and Mary-Jo Smith, of Eau Claire, Wisconsin, and several from Carman, a good camp was held. Each year from then on we have had the same Camp with a steadily increasing enrollment, the 1963 camp having had around 70 in attendance. The day we returned from the 1959 camp, we received a letter saying our tender of $1,250.00 for the building was accepted. With the help of brethren from Manson, the building was readied for moving. As we had no property on which to place the "meeting house" part, we decided to make the preacher's residence ready first, then rent it to pay off the loan. This was done. By this time, Bro. P. Vance had come to Portage to work, and, along with the Ulrich boys, was a big help to us. Early in 1960, the church meeting at Northside, in Wichita, Kansas, sent one of their elders, Bro. Gene Hancock, Sr., to look over our needs. On his return they determined to help us buy the property needed and to move the building onto it. With their help and with the help, too, of many of the churches both East and West, this was done, and we now have a suitable building seating some 150 persons, with some 10 classrooms in the basement. We acknowledge with gratitude the help of the many individuals and congregations who made this possible. Our total indebtedness on both the house and meeting house is about $3,000.00.

The first 10 day meeting in the new building was held in October of that year, with Bro. J. C. Bailey doing the speaking. Others who have held meetings here are: Richard Dacus, Steve Ennis, Gerald Fruzia, and Lester Fisher. A city wide campaign was held in 1961, with brethren from many points in the U.S.A. helping. Bro. Dennis was sent by the church at Tipton, Oklahoma, to do the preaching in that meeting. Extensive advertising, plus a canvas of nearly all the homes in this city of 13,000 was made, and many contacted for cottage meetings and a V.B.S.

The brethren at Tipton, Oklahoma sent Bro. and Sis. Floyd Vidler to work with us, supplying their full support. The Vidlers were with us 2½ years, leaving in March to return to Oklahoma. We are presently looking for a replacement for him. Bro. and Sis. Vidler did some excellent work. Since the church began meeting here, some 14 persons have been baptized into Christ. Several have moved away, some are unfaithful. Our attendance records show an average of some 12 to 15 members at services each Lord's day, with an additional 25-30 more also in attendance. Our plans for the future include the 6th annual Bible Camp, a fall meeting, and a real effort to clear off our indebtedness, in order that we may make a start in becoming self-supporting.

In closing, I should mention, perhaps, a meeting held by Bro. W. F. Cox, in 1912, at Hood, some 19 miles from Portage. I believe Bro. McPhee assisted him. One was baptized, but I have been unable to trace this convert. Also, in 1956-57, Bro. Harold Parker held some Bible studies in the home of an R.C.A.F. employee here. The name of this family was given to us and some considerable time was spent with them. He was transferred to Germany, but we still correspond with him. The lady of this home was a school-mate of our late sister Cindy Willison, and it was through her that Bro. Parker made the contact. This I believe is a prime example of how the church must grow — by influencing those we know.

The work here at Portage la Prairie has been a wonderful example of brethren working together. Many hundreds of hours of labor, not only by members here, but by saints from Winnipeg, Carman and Brandon, was given. Brethren from all those points have given us freely of their support and help in our gospel meetings and Vacation Bible Schools. Surely, if it can be said of any place, Portage la Prairie is the work of many, and our God will know whom to reward.

er. The program was admirably carried on, Brother H. Eatough, C. Tucker, and J. S. Close doing the public speaking. In June of 1962, Brother and Sister Bill Love moved to Winnipeg to work with the Erin Street Church.

The work here continues to go well. We now have eighty-one members. Plans are to be completely self-supporting by July, 1969. We are enthusiastic concerning the city-wide campaign to be directed by our Windsor Park brethren in the next few months. The Lord's Church here is about to make tremendous strides spiritually and numerically. It will all be accomplished by a prayerful, working faith in God. We feel deeply indebted to the pioneers of this work. Building upon their foundation, we pray that the work may be built up more and more to the glory of God.

WINDSOR PARK CHURCH, WINNIPEG

Windsor Park Meeting House, Winnipeg, Manitoba

The Windsor Park congregation was established in September, 1960. It began with a nucleus of twelve members from the Osborne Street church and with the blessing of both the other congregations in the city. A warm spirit of fellowship has grown even stronger between the three churches. For the first three years of its congregational life, Windsor Park met in Beliveau School. Bible classes were conducted in corridors and brethren worshipped with makeshift accommodations. In the beginning attendance averaged about twenty for the Sunday morning services.

The first services were held in the new building in September, 1963. The building is on the corner of Westmount Drive and Cottonwood Road. It is well located in a residential area near the Trans-Canada Highway and Highway 59. As we moved into the new building, Bible class attendance increased immediately from an average of 47 to an average of 77. It has continued to grow and is now 90 with the attendance frequently going above 100. It is expected that a two-class schedule will be started in the fall to make double use of our seven classrooms.

The auditorium now seats 200 and there is room for additional seating for 50. The auditorium has been filled on several occasions.

The congregation has been recently blessed with several additions. Ten were baptized in April and May and another was restored to active service after a long period out of fellowship with the church. This brings our membership to 42 and prospects for additional growth are excellent.

Much of this growth can be attributed to the fact that many cottage meetings are being conducted by members of the congregation. Presently teaching home studies are the Ray Meneers, the Merle Johnsons, the John Mullers, and the Glynn Griffins.

The Windsor Park church expects to be self-supporting by its fifth birthday in 1965. With the help of many others the building should be fully paid for by that time. Windsor Park has adopted a new budget requiring weekly contributions of $130. This is to be increased at intervals so the church can be self-supporting and have a good program of work by the fall of 1965.

Letters are regularly sent out to bereaved families in Winnipeg from the congregation. These are typed by Mrs. Evelyn Henney. Other typing help is received from Mrs. Pat Marion, Mrs. Bernice Muller, and Mrs. Grace Green.

The most significant future plans we are making involve the Manitoba Campaign on which there is a separate article in this issue. This campaign will be a ten month teaching program beginning in August, 1964. The climax of the campaign will be a large public meeting in a downtown auditorium in April, 1965. This effort will involve 400 outside workers and it is expected to result in 200 conversions.

Our work has been greatly blessed in recent meetings. James LeFan preached at our building opening last September. Alan Bryan was with us in April. Gene Darby, Gene Graham, Joe Talbot, and Charles Sheppard worked here in May in a meeting called, "A Business Man Looks at Religion." All three of these efforts provided great stimulus and strength.

Five men from this congregation are planning to devote their lives to preaching the Gospel. Dennis Zelmer and Ben Wiebe are students in Abilene Christian College. Both will finish in 1965. Bryan Meneer is in Western Christian College. Peter and Frank Wiebe will enter school soon to further their plans.

NEW CONGREGATION AT WELLANDPORT, ONTARIO

On June 7, 1964 the Lord's cause was extended into Wellandport through the meeting for worship of a number of saints from the congregation at Jordan. They met for the first time with 42 present. Bro. Norman Midgette, evangelist in Jordan, presented the gospel at the morning and evening services.

The following Lord's Day a gospel meeting was begun with Bro. John Witt from Oneida, New York, as speaker for the series. Arrangements were made for Brother Witt to work with the congregation for the summer months. Classes have continued throughout the summer in homes in the community and as a result three have been baptized. Classes continue and much good should result from this sowing of seed. The members themselves are filled with zeal according to knowledge and are proclaiming the gospel at every opportunity. The congregation has grown from 13 to 18 during these three months.

As the summer closes, Brother George Johnson of Beamsville will begin to preach each Lord's Day and teach the Tuesday evening Bible class. The congregation will continue to meet in the Odd Fellow's Hall in Wellandport each Sunday at 10:00, 11:00 and 8:00, and each Tuesday at 7:15 for the mid-week study.

Your prayers for the growth of this work are solicited and gratitude for the attendance of Christians from other congregations at the various meetings during the summer is expressed.

You are cordially invited to worship and work with us in this new work.

We should express thanks to the Northside church in Dallas for their generous and consistent support in every way. The Lake Jackson, Texas congregation has helped us to get a building. Dozens of others have helped financially and otherwise.

Above all, we give thanks to God for a happy, well-blessed, and growing work. To Him be all the praise and the glory for all the good accomplished.

Other efforts were made to establish the church in Winnipeg, as well as outside of the city. Stonewall, and Birch River, Manitoba, were two points where work was done, but no congregation was established. While we were at Balmoral Street, it was decided that we make an effort to set up a new congregation in Winnipeg. The Fort Rouge area was selected for the endeavour. Accordingly we divided forces and finances, and remained in this area for over a year. This move proved to be premature, and we finally deemed it wise to combine our forces again and to wait until our numbers were increased before attempting a similar undertaking again.

Since our move to our present location, we once again decided that the time had arrived when another congregation should be started, an excellent opportunity having been opened to us. Plans were initiated for this move early in the Spring of 1961. Bro. Wesley Reagan, who was then working with our congregation, having returned from conducting a Gospel meeting in Texas, informed us that the brethren in Lovefield, Texas, would be prepared to assist in setting up a new congregation provided that we were completely behind such a move. After much deliberation and prayer, it was finally agreed to proceed with this new effort. On the first Lord's Day in September 1961, Bro. and Sis. Reagan, together with sixteen other of our members, became the nucleus of the new congregation which is now known as the Windsor Park church of Christ. This congregation has now become firmly established and is making good progress.

Following this move, several other of our members decided to also move to other parts of the country, thus reducing our membership and finances further, making it more difficult for us who remained at Osborne Street than we had earlier anticipated.

The Osborne Street congregation has now become fairly well adjusted, and interest and enthusiasm are gradually increasing. At the time of this report, our membership stands at about 80. For ten years prior to 1962, we had a large part in financially supporting a radio program. In the last two years, we were financially assisted by the Herald of Truth itself in this radio program. Later, the Herald of Truth felt that it was not wise to continue with their assistance, as they felt that sufficient interest was not in evidence, consequently this program was discontinued.

Other outside mission work that we are still interested in, and contributing to, is Japan, Africa, and Eastern Canada. We also make several single contributions to the Lord's work in various areas.

At this time, the Osborne Street elders are Brethren A. H. Beamish, James Johnson, Herman Johnson and J. A. King. The deacons are Brethren Les. Beamish, Ed. Dueck, Marvin Johnson, Barry Meyer and Raymond Smith.

During the time we were at Balmoral Street, Brethren A. A. Gallagher, G. J. Pennock and Magnar Knutson served as full time evangelists. At Osborne Street, the brethren who have worked with the congregation as full time evangelists are Brethren Wesley Reagan, Harold Parker, and, at the present time, Murray F. Hammond.

Following are some of the brethren whose names we can recall who have conducted gospel meetings for us over the past number of years: Brethren J. C. Bailey, C. R. Nichol, J. W. Brents, Charles L. Houser, L. S. Maynard, W. S. Long, Andy Ritchie Jr., Jess Hall, C. B. Thomas, Frank Hall, Wesley Reagan, Harold Parker, Clinton Brazle, LeMoine Lewis, Claude Guild, Wesley Jones, P. Shearer, Harry Johnson, Smith Kite, Jim Hawkins, W. Orr, H. Forman, C. McElroy, R. Tidwell.

It is our sincere hope that this account of the activities of the Osborne Street congregation will prove of interest to all, and that, as time passes, a much greater degree of activity can be recorded for the benefit of future generations.

GATEWAY GLEANINGS

GOSPEL MEETING

June 28 — July 5

Mr. Morris Womack of Birmingham, Michigan (the Church responsible for my support) served as special speaker for this effort. Prior to his coming, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Oakley from Troy, Tennessee worked in the city for a week inviting people to come to the meetings. Even though no new prospects attended, various non-members from past efforts were present. The attendance averaged 40 with a high of 55.

MANITOU YOUTH CAMP

August 2 — August 8

Many brethren in different areas in the past 8 years have talked to me concerning the idea of an older teenage boys tent camp. Because of our natural location it was decided that this was the year to put these suggestions into practice.

Sixteen boys between the ages of 14 and 19 studied the Bible and worshipped God in the natural rustic surroundings of an island, seven miles off shore in Lake Nippissing. Adults assisting at this camp were: Al Langford, Richard Tallman, Bert Johnson, Bill Schorse, Jack Maddocks, Bethel Bailey, Dale Rideout and myself. On the last evening the camp was brought to a perfect ending when two of the campers were baptized. I am sure that Mel Rhinehart and Bob Bailey as well as the whole camp will remember this dark stormy night in Lake Nippissing when lighted only by a lantern these two young men were baptized into Christ.

Peter MacDonald was chosen by the adults and the campers as "Top Boy" for the week. Mr. Richard Tallman has offered to provide a large trophy on which the name of the "Top Boy" each year will be recorded and also provide a smaller trophy for each boy to keep.

Everything would have worked out fine had it not been for the fact that 5 boys who had applied did not come or let us know that they were not coming. Instead of having money left over to buy equipment for next year's camp, this

PORT ARTHUR REPORT

What a blessed month August was for us.

First of all, we have had the fellowship of 67 brethren who were here to help in our campaign. These brethren came from various congregations throughout the United States and Canada. Most of them were taking their vacations in this most wonderful way, and paid their own expenses all the way. Among the workers were elders from congregations in Kentucky, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas. There were also 12 gospel preachers and, in several instances, preacher's wives who were also experienced personal workers. The entire group came to work, and work they did — from early in the morning until late at night, and often into the early hours of the next day.

This writer has had a part in several campaigns, but he has never seen a better group effort. Harmony, zeal, good judgment, and devotion to our Lord were present to a remarkable degree. Much of this can be attributed to Bro. Joe D. Gray of Valdosta, Georgia, and Bro. Harold Hazelip, formerly of Louisville, Kentucky, but now living in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. These two men are largely responsible for the long months of planning that went into the effort. Brother Gray worked until he was literally sick, but he kept right on working. Brother Hazelip, one of the finest, most dedicated evangelists in the world today, did a magnificant job of preaching the gospel of Christ each evening.

We do not know how many shoes were worn out, or how many feet are still sore from miles and miles of "pavement pounding", but we are seeing the results of it. As far as could be ascertained, every house in these two cities, totalling 100,000 population, was visited personally. Some 19,000 brochures explaining the church of the New Testament, and inviting people to the gospel meetings, were distributed, as well as countless other tracts and printed sermons. After the cities were saturated with invitations, and residents had had time to read and study the brochures, an effort was made to revisit as many homes as possible. Those where good interest was shown were visited a third time.

Forty home Bible studies were held and the meeting averaged nine new visitors each night besides repeat visitors, more than 120 different ones. Many came time after time. We now have a large number of very fine prospects for obedience to the gospel. We are reaping daily the benefits of our campaigners' wonderful Christian personalities as we find people friendly and co-operative with us, almost without exception.

Two were baptized during the gospel meeting, one a young man who had come with the campaign group, and the other an elderly man of Icelandic descent who is a long-time resident of Port Arthur. Three persons located during the campaign who had been members of the church formerly were reactivated into a desire to serve Christ and to be identified with the new congregation. Three others were found whom we hope eventually to restore to their Lord's service.

The Taylor Boulevard church in Louisville carried most of the expense of the campaign.

Our work now goes forward in following up our contacts. Film strip cottage meetings and home Bible studies are being held with all those who seem interested in further study. Many are studying by correspondence — and correspondence students are still enrolling as a result of the campaign advertising.

We also began a weekly 15-minute radio program last Lord's Day. The station gave us an excellent time, 9:35 a.m., immediately following a news broadcast. The station is CFPA, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's outlet for the Lakehead area.

Services on the first Lord's Day after the meeting, rather than being somewhat of a "let-down" after our workers had gone home, were inspirational and well - attended. Eighteen were present for both services on Sunday, and 17 on Wednesday. We met in our new meeting place — the auditorium of the Algonquin Avenue Public School. We were able to rent this for three services on Sunday for $10. Permission to use the building is conditioned on our stated intention to build a church building within approximately one year. Wednesday meetings are held in our home.

One of the extras which we obtained from the campaign was the presence of Bro. Bill Hilton, an elder at Hillcrest in Abilene, Texas, and two elders from Taylor Boulevard, Bro. Horace Puckett and Bro. R. D. Graham. These brethren went with Bro. Hazelip, Bro. Gray and the writer to see possible building sites. Both of the congregations over which these brethren serve are vitally interested in the Lakehead work.

Since the campaign we have put in a letter of inquiry concerning the availability of about two acres of land near a new housing development, on a well-travelled street near the proposed expressway. We hope to buy the property this fall if the city will sell. The cost will be about $10,000 if the usual prices prevail. We do not have the money but we have faith in the Lord and in our brethren.

Our report is getting longer and longer and yet there are many more things we would like to say. Every person involved in the campaign deserves special, personal commendation: Bro. Hollis Maynard of Louisville, who took charge of the advertising; Sis. Maynard, who supervised the office work; Bro. Charles Luttrell of Louisville, Bro. Jim Brasher of Sulphur, Louisiana, and Bro. Gordon Ellis, one of our own, who led singing for the meeting; Bro. Danny Paterson, who took over the ushering, greeting of visitors, registration, and many other of the "little things" after the Louisville brethren had to leave, and many, others who helped things go decently and in order.

We are 12 at the present time: Dan Paterson, Jr.; Mrs. Dan Paterson, Jr. (Dorothy); Gordon Ellis; Mrs. Gordon Ellis (Nora); Denis Weston; Oli Helgason; Bernard Montgomery; Mrs. Margaret Bohler; Mrs. W. F. Flippin; Roy Merritt; Mrs. Roy Merritt (Nelle); and Diana Merritt.

In His service,

Roy D. Merritt

OUR DEPARTED

HINES

Sister Anne Hines passed away on July 28 at her home in Hamilton. She had been in failing health and gradually becoming weaker for a few years until the end came in her 82nd year. She was born in Kilbride and had lived in Hamilton for the past 70 years.

She was baptized into Christ about 66 years ago and at the time of her death was the oldest member of the Sanford Ave. congregation. Sis. Hines attended the meetings of the church regularly both on the Lord's Day and the mid-week service until about four years ago when she was unable to continue on account of her weakened condition.

Our sister had read the Bible through 47 times which indicated her love for the word of God. She lived a faithful life.

She leaves to morn her departure Sister John Gladwell (Gussie), her only remaining sister, also one nephew and one niece and many brethren and friends. The funeral service was conducted in the Robinson Funeral Home by the writer with interment in Woodland Cemetery.

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord".

HOLTON

ABILENE, Tex. (Spl.) — A. R. Holton, 73, died in his sleep here in the early morning hours of Aug. 6. He had preached the gospel for 53 years.

Retiring from full-time preaching in 1962, he devoted his last months to promoting interest in the Korean mission program. In 1958-62 he served as an evangelist in Seoul, Korea.

The family requests that remembrances be contributed to the Korean mission effort. These gifts may be sent to the College Church of Christ in Abilene, where he was a member at the time of his death, or the 16th and Decatur Church of Christ in Washington, D.C., which supported him in Korea.

WIEB

On September 17th, eight year old Tommy, chosen son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Wieb, Weyburn, Sask., passed away quietly. Tommy's death brought an end to two years of illness and many months of hospitalization both in Regina and Weyburn.

The funeral services were held on September 18th at Rogers Chapel on the Western Christian College campus. Clinton Brazle had charge of the service. A group of college students sang.

Mr. Wieb is president of Western Christian College. The Wieb's have three other children, Lynda, Karen and Kent who will miss their brother very much.

SINCLAIR

Nina Viola Bateman Sinclair passed to her reward on Wednesday, September 16th, at Runnymede Hospital in Toronto, after a lingering illness.

Sister Sinclair was in her 70th year. She obeyed her Lord in baptism over 50 years ago, and was a faithful member of the Bathurst Street congregation in Toronto — now the Bayview Avenue congregation. She learned the truth in the Bible Class conducted by the late Brother A. L. Whitelaw. Brother Magnar Knutson and Brother Fred Smart conducted the funeral service on Friday, September 18th in Toronto. Interment at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

McGIBBON

Bro. Earl R. McGibbon was born April 21, 1904, and passed away August 21, 1964 at the age of 60 years and four months. His funeral sermon was preached by C. Brodie Harrell August 23 at the Ice Lake meeting house.

On May 1, 1935 he was united in marriage with Sis. Louise Wismer. He is survived by his wife and four children: Mrs. Arlene McQuarrie, Mrs. Glennys Rayner, Mr. Orland Wismer, Mrs. Merle Morrison, and fourteen grandchildren.

Earl McGibbon was born at Silver Water, Manitoulin Island into a family with four sisters, and six brothers. Four brothers have gone on before him.

He lived his life on the Manitoulin Island at Silver Water, Meldrum Bay, and Gordon Township. He was a member of the church of Christ at Ice Lake, having been buried with his Lord in baptism on July 2, 1964.

left us with a deficit of $50.00. Even though there were problems that we had not expected, we feel that it was well worth the effort put forth and with God's help the MANITOU YOUTH CAMP will be held again next year.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

August 17 — August 21

This week can be summed up in one word — GREAT!

With only seven children from Church of Christ homes the total enrollment was 250 and the average attendance was 178 students. There were 250 to 300 people present for the closing exercises held on Friday evening. Fifty - one parents signed the register and everyone just couldn't say enough about how much they appreciated the opportunity of sending their children.

Pictures were taken in the classes during the week and at the closing exercises by one of the local Television personnel and a very good report given during the evening news broadcast.

We owe a great deal of thanks to: Miss Valerie Lane from St. Catharines; Leslie Cramp, Dale Pauls, and Arthur Ford from Meaford; Steve May and Phyllis Whitfield from Omagh; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Simpson from Proctorville, Ohio; Mrs. Della Hotchkiss from Beamsville; Bethel Bailey from Sudbury; Jim O'Neal and Ray and Elizabeth Lock from Sundridge. Those who helped locally besides myself were: Lindy Bonell, Nona Schorse, Wilma Lansdell, and Betty Buckton. It is interesting to note that many of the helpers who came from out of town are either present or past students of Great Lakes Christian College.

The only say part about this is that much of this harvest will die without being reaped because of a lack of labourers.

Brethren we need your prayers and support now more than ever before.

—Clyde Lansdell

For the promotion of NEW TESTAMENT CHRISTIANITY

Vol. 30, No. 10 BEAMSVILLE, ONTARIO November, 1964

MAN SHALL NOT LIVE BY BREAD ALONE

Jerry L. Davidson, Lachine, Que.

"Then was Jesus led up of the spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of Satan. And when he had fasted forty days and forty nights, he was afterward an hungered. And when the tempter came to him, he said, If thou be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread. But he answered and said, It is written, Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

Notice how appropriately and forcibly Jesus foiled the first temptation Satan placed before him! The Lord appealed to the Word of God in order to defeat the evil work of the devil. This Word has the same power today to crush Satan, when it is applied. This is why it is so vitally important that the Christian have sound conviction according to the Bible. There are some basic truths to be learned from this text.

The Authority of God's Word Established

It is significant that the first words upon record that Jesus spoke after entering his public ministry are, "It is written". He thus made the Word of God his authority. For his defense, the Christian has the same rule of authority, "For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing of soul and spirit, and the joints and narrow, and is a discerner of thoughts and intents of the heart" (Heb. 4:12). The faithful use of this "sword" will enable the soldier of the cross to stand firm in the battle of faith.

Having authority is what made Jesus distinctively different from other teachers of His day. When the Lord had ended his sermon on the mount it was recognized that he taught the people "as one having authority, and not as the scribes" (Matt. 7:29). The people "were all amazed, insomuch that they questioned among themselves, saying, what thing is this? What new doctrine is this? For with authority commandeth he even the unclean spirits, and they do obey him" (Mk. 1:27). His authority was evidenced in the many

Our Responsibility To The Billions

Ronald Meecham, Glen Rock, Pa.

"The Clock of life is wound but once,
And no man has the power
To tell just when the hands will stop
At late or early hour,
To lose one's wealth is sad indeed
To lose one's health is more
To lose one's soul is such a loss
That no man can restore."

While you read this brief poem, 39 people died. Statisticians now tell us that every hour 5,417 people go to meet their Maker. This averages approximately 90 a minute, or 130,048 a day.

To most of us these are just figures. But brethren, we need to realize that the majority of these people go to eternity UNPREPARED. And as children of God, we have a sobering responsibility to these souls without God. For a few minutes let us consider our responsibility to the billions who are lost.

"LOOK"

Our first responsibility to the lost is found in the words of Jesus, "Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields, that they are white already unto harvest" (John 4:35)

How often have you tried to visualize some calamity? As the news breaks of an air disaster, we try to visualize what happened. Questions arise. How did the people feel just before the plane

REPEATING A RESTORATION

Walter Dale, Beamsville

In the Twentieth Century, members of the church of Christ have too often left their thinking to the great men of the Nineteenth Century Restoration Movement. Many of the problems and issues have been faced according to the traditional view and attempts made to explain them by simply quoting the view held by some brother living or dead. This approach ought not to be and neither should any of us have to exchange the principle of an infallible pope for that of being compelled to accept the decree of an infallible paper or preacher. One of the most important principles for each of us to keep in mind is that we must become personally involved in this generation's attempt to restore "the faith once and for all delivered unto the saints." As soon as we place too much confidence in the thinking of the past generation, instead of our own or just as soon as we show our pride by an overbearing confidence in our own infallibility, the present restoration attempt will just fade away.

Five hundred years before Christ, a man of Israel, called Nehemiash asked a question of a compatriot who had come from Judah, "What about Jerusalem"? This question was of great significance because of the place Jerusalem held in the life of Israel and God's dealing with that people. Jerusalem and Judaism were inseparable. Nehemiah was told of the tragic conditions under which Jews in Judea lived as they dwelt in "great affliction and reproach" among the ruins of Jerusalem. Nehemiah wept, mourned, fasted and prayed to the God of Heaven asking for the restoration of Zion. Jehovah answered his prayer and Nehemiah was sent to Jerusalem with the blessing of the Persian monarch to direct the rebuilding of Jerusalem. In a reasonable length of time the job was done in spite of opposition from within and without because the people "had a mind to work." Yet this was but one phase in the restoration movement of twenty-four centuries ago. Israel's plight had been brought on by herself because her people had "dealth very corruptly against God" so now there was a great need for the restoration of the fourteenth century faith delivered through Moses at Mount Siniai.

The people asked the scribe, Ezra, to bring before them the book of the Law of Moses. This Ezra and others did. We are told "they read in the book of God distinctly and gave the sense, and caused them to understand the reading." The need for instruction and reading grew until a new and respected class of religious leaders came into being. In the process of time the group came to be known as the "separated ones" or the Pharisees. They were the Puritans of their time and their original aim was to honor and glorify the name of Jehovah by seeing that the people of Judea were well versed in Scripture. By the time of Christ they had gained such respect among the people that they and not the priests were the source of authority in religious matters and Jesus spoke of them as "sitting in Moses's seat."

In the Twentieth Century something must be said in the defense of this class. Too often we think of what they had become and not what they had been originally. Time and time again in those years between the restoration of Zion and the coming of the Lord these courageous men fearlessly proclaimed the law and the righteousness of God. They had consistently urged all Jews to have a whole hearted devotion to the Torah or written law. We need this view of them in order to understand the very significant lesson they have for those of us who aspire to a Twentieth Century Restoration of the "gospel of Christ."

This once devout and God-fearing sect was denounced by the Lord as a "generation of vipers" and "whited sepulchres". Why? He was forced to tell them that in their concern for the lesser details of the law they had omitted the more important aspects of it. "You have strained at a gnat and swallowed a camel." Not only had they failed to do the right thing they were too proud to admit their failure. Their history is the sad and shocking story of a great and noble aim degraded and destroyed by confused thinking, wrong attitudes and improper interpretation of Scripture. Their spirit of arrogant orthodoxy and pride in their personal infallibility in knowing what was right, clothed them in a robe of self-righteousness abhorred by Jesus. They became an example of the "letter killing" in their failure to recognize and accept the high motives that must exist behind the practice of true religion. Let us consider an example of their approach to righteousness.

One day Jesus and his disciples while walking through a grain field plucked some kernels of wheat and ate them on a Sabbath day. The Pharisees asked, "Why do they on the Sabbath day, do that which is unlawful." Their criticism stemmed from an interpretation of a command of God, "thou shalt not work" on the Sabbath. This on the surface seemed quite simple and easy to understand until one asked, "What is work?" Many debates and discussions arose from such a question until in their efforts to answer other things were sometimes forgotten and the Scriptures strained and twisted of all meaning. Let us look at a typical discussion.

In Exodus (16:5) it is commanded that food for the Sabbath be prepared on the sixth day of week. The instructions were so given that a Sabbath rest could be observed by servants and masters alike. (Deuteronomy 5:) A real problem was raised by the Pharisees over this command. "Can an egg laid by a hen on the Sabbath be eaten on the sacred day?" The decisions of the leading Rabbis (Bible students) was a definite "No!" Especially so if the hen had been raised for this very purpose. The discussion did not end at this point. Someone raised the issue, "Suppose the egg had been laid by a hen raised for eating"? Shammai a liberal rabbi said it would be lawful to eat it. Hillel a conservative took exception. The egg had matured on the Sabbath therefore it was of unlawful origin and could not be used. Now came

BAPTISM

J. C. Bailey

Baptism is a command of God. "And he commanded them to be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ" (Acts 2: 48). The Bible teaches a believer should be baptized. "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that disbelieveth shall be condemned" (Mark 16:16). There is not a recorded case of infant baptism any place in the New Testament. (The word "baptize" (verb) or "baptism" (noun) does not appear in the Old Testament). Daniel French, Roman Catholic, and a celebrated English Lawyer, in a debate on infant baptism twitted his opponent by asking him, "In what book (of the Bible) is to be found one word relative to the baptism of infants?" Protestant discussion, page 443.

Frederic Godet, Swiss Presbyterian, professor of exegetical and critical theology in Neuchatel, in a letter to J. W. Shepherd of Nashville, U.S.A. says: "I know of no passage in the New Testament where mention is made of the baptism of a child".

Henry Alford, Episcopalian, founded and edited the contemporary review, also author of "Greek New Testament" 4 vols. In speaking of the advocates of "infant baptism" he says, "the language of the Bible is against them and adds "they ought to declare that infant baptism was a practice unknown to the apostles".

Bishop J. F. Hurst and G. R. Crooks, were Methodists, and they edited a book "Christian Archeology" on page 391, they say "that infants and young children were baptized during the apostolic age is nowhere positively affirmed in the New Testament".

We could add the testimony of scores of other scholars but space does not permit. Infant baptism does not bear the sanction of God, Christ or the Holy Spirit. It is a tradition of men. Jesus said:—

"This people honoreth me with their lips,
But their heart is far from me.
But in vain do they worship me,
Teaching as their doctrines the precepts of men" Mark 7:7.

Nor does sprinkling or pouring rest on any higher authority than infant baptism. The new Edinburgh Encyclopedia, edited by Sir David Brewster, a Presbyterian says: John Calvin was the first man among Protestants that changed the ordinance of baptism". Mosheim, in his Church History, (he was a German Lutheran) vol. 1 p. 49 says: "The sacrament of baptism was administered in this century (the first J.C.B.) without the public assemblies, in places appointed and prepared for that purpose, and was performed by an immersion of the whole body in the baptismal font". The scholarship of the world agrees that immersion was the practice of the first century.

Are you willing to accept a human substitute for a divine command?

Now let us look at the Bible itself:

Jesus taught believer's baptism Mark 16:16.

The Holy Spirit taught that baptism was unto remission of sins but was to be preceded by repentance. (Acts 2:38). Philip would not baptize the Eunuch until he had confessed his faith in Christ (Acts 8:36,37).

So Scriptural baptism is preceded by personal faith (he that believed, Mark 16:16). Personal repentance, Acts 2:38. A personal confession of faith (8:36,37). In infant baptism there is no personal faith. There is no personal repentance. There is no personal confession. All you have is water administered by a human command.

Water Acts 8:38—

Sprinkling requires water-pouring requires water - immersion requires water.

Much water-John 3:23—

Sprinkling does not require much water-pouring does not require much water-immersion requires much water.

Going down into water-Acts 8:38—

Sprinkling does not require going down into the water-pouring does not require going down into the water-immersion requires going down into the water.

Coming up out of water-Acts 8:39—

Sprinkling does not require coming out of the water-pouring does not require coming out of the water-immersion requires coming out of the water.

A Burial—Romans 6:4, Colossians 2:12—

Sprinkling is not a burial pouring is not a burial-immersion is a burial.

A Resurrection - Colossians 2:12, Romans 6:4,5—

Sprinkling is not a resurrection—pouring is not a resurrection in immersion there is a resurrection.

Therefore sprinkling or pouring are not Bible baptism. We are Baptised into Christ-Galatians 3:27; Romans 6:3. All spiritual blessings are in Christ-Ephesiahs 1:3. Have you been baptised into Christ or have you accepted a human substitute?

THE BRUCE FAMILY

Fond memories are attached to the name of BRUCE in connection with the East Toronto Congregation —now Strathmore — and the Calgary church. Brother C. B. Bruce reached the ripe age of 96 years.

His great grandson, Bruce Knotts, at the age of 14 years, preached his first sermon at the Burnaby church in British Columbia. His subject — "Humility".

Bruce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Knotts, North Hollywood, Cal., Mrs. Knotts is the daughter of Mrs. Anne Thorpe also of North Hollywood, and who is the daughter of the late Brother C. B. Bruce.

Young Bruce is a willing worker in the Hollywood church, and is planning to study at Pepperdine College in preparation for a life of service to the Lord.

CHANGELESS ROME

It seems that the "changeless" church of Rome is about to make some changes. Indeed some have already come from Vatican II, the great ecumenical council now in progress in Rome. Foremost in the list of changes are such matters as the authority of bishops,religious liberty, and the reinstatement of the order of deacons. The practice of birth control and mixed marriages are also being given close scrutiny with a possibility of changed views. What has brought this new attitude about, and what does it argur for the future?

To understand the current winds of change, one must understand the pressure on the Vatican from within its ranks of bishops to modernize its thinking. The liberals claim that the Vatican is conducted with the musty, outmoded mentality of medieval times. Such, they argue, fails to meet the needs of modern man. They reject some of the premises of former councils but are careful to give lip service to the formal pronouncements. Apparently the majority of the council members share this desire for a removal of much which they consider stifling and anachronistic.

Another factor involved in this "new look" being tailored at the Council is the desire to "make hay while the sun shines" in Protestant circles. European Protestantism is sick. Existentialism, which denies the main facts of the Christian faith as objective history, entered like a virus into the bloodstream. The pronouncements of Bultmann declaring that much of the New Testament is myth gained great popularity. The man in the pew decided that he could not trust any part of the Bible. If part of it was myth, who was to say that all of it was not a religious fraud? Empty church buildings, declining moral standards, and a sense of futility of purpose became widespread. Great Britain has shared with the Continent this loss of religious vigour and conviction.

Scheming designers of Vatican policy feel that now is the time for the "soft sell" of the Roman brand of faith to bewildered pilgrims. With special attention to the Church of England and Greek Orthodox communities, they are framing statements designed to make Roman Catholicism more palatable. At the same time, they are putting their best foot forward in an air of congenial neighbourliness to America, Canada, and elsewhere.

From this Council will come a statement of liberty in religion, affirming the right of every man, whether Catholic or atheist, to worship or refuse to worship according to his convictions. Prelates from such countries as Spain, Italy, and Ireland are dismayed by this. They look back to the dogmatic decrees of the Council of Trent and feel that any relaxation of the anathemas pronounced by that body is a betrayal. More progressive prelates from less-solidly Catholic countries, however, realize that rigid attitudes against religious liberty have been a major obstacle to the winning over of Protestants in America, the British Isles, and parts of Europe.

Perhaps the most significant change to come from the Council thus far is an agreement on the collegiality of the bishops. This states that the bishops are the successors of the Apostles in the same manner that the Pope is the successor of Peter. This, if followed through, will remove some of the autocratic power from the Pope and give the bishops throughout the world a greater voice in church affairs. Here is a trace of a new democratic spirit.

Whatever the changes may be, one must never lose track of two great facts: (1) Rome does not change on the basis of truth, but on the basis of expediency or necessity; (2) A change in a council today can be reversed in a council of tomorrow. What man makes, man can unmake. A great deal of Roman Catholic dogma is man-made, the product of twenty or more councils. Opinions and dogma alike have changed often. One would need to be very naive to believe that Rome is about to jettison its former views all of a sudden because of new

TEACHER TRAINING HELPS — No. 4

H. Ralph Perry, London, Ontario

"THE GREATEST NEED OF THE CHURCH TODAY IS TRAINED TEACHERS"—Marion Lawrence.

In three previous articles we have already listed books, booklets and periodicals of help in the training of Bible teachers. This article lists, with brief comment, available 35mm colour filmstrips produced for the training of teachers of the Word.

A word of expanation is in order. All of these filmstrips are produced by denominational or interdenominational publishing houses. Occasionally error in doctrine and practice appear. This is not very extensive in the films we have seen as principles and methods of teaching are primarily the theme. Sound records accompany all of these. Teachers' manuals and discussion guides are also obtainable. Most of these filmstrips can be rented.

IV. TEACHER TRAINING FILMSTRIPS.

A. Moody Training Filmstrips Series

1. "Successful Teaching" This series of 8 lessons is one of the best if not the best, for training teachers. We own a set of these which have been used widely by myself and have been rented by churches.

The first lesson "The Teacher" should be seen by every teacher and prospective teacher time and time again. Vividly it pictures the five steps of lesson preparation: (1) Study the lesson, (2) Plan the lesson (aim), (3) Gather materials, (4) pick a method of presentation, (5) and plan the classroom procedure.

The other seven important titles are: The Pupil, The Language, The Lesson, The Teaching Process, The Learning Process, Review and Application, The Final Test.

2. "Know Your Child" Another series of 8 lessons presenting the mental, physical, and spiritual growth and differences of the various levels. For parents and teachers.

3. "Building a Better Sunday School" This series of 4 filmstrips covers the organization of a successful Bible school. Titles: Organization, Developing the Worker, Planning the Program, Expansion.

B. Scripture Press Training Series.

1. "Royal Commission" — Sparkling new series of 9 filmstrips to be used in enlisting and training teachers, pinpointing aims, and giving specific pointers on how to teach God's Word with life-changing impact. Mr. David Bell, Director of Christian Education Dept., London College of Bible and Missions, says that these are the best teacher training filmstrips he has ever seen. We saw these in a class he taught and found them to be extremely good.

"So High a Calling" the introductory filmstrip sets the pace and sparks interest in a teacher training programme. It points out the vital importance of teaching and brings into focus the need for improving teaching skills. This one filmstrip and record is offered free for showing.

The remaining 8 filmstrips are departmentalized for effective use. The titles are: Nursery — Sunbeam in Your Hand, Beginner — A Secret Is to Tell, Primary — Cross Over The Bridge, Junior — Welcome to the Club, Young Teen — Those Turnabout Teens, Senior High — Dcuble Take, Adult — Out On A Limb, Cradle Roll — Ties That Bind.

2. "Redeeming the Time" A 30 minute filmstrip which challenges Bible school workers to make the most of the one Bible Teaching hour out of 168 in each week. (free showing)

3. "Teaching For Growth" Vividly shows how to transform Bible school teaching from a mere duty to a delight as it points out teaching principles and how to use them (free showing).

C. Others

1. "Teacher Improvement Series" This is a good set of 5 lessons to train in the improvement of teaching the Bible. The titles are: The Christian Home, Selecting Aims, Planning the Lesson, Choosing Methods, Testing Results. No records. Broadman Series (Southern Baptist).

(The author has not seen any of the following. Some sound good.)

2. "Teaching the Bible Series" 4 filmstrips designed to improve teacher techniques in teaching the Bible. Titles: Teaching the Bible to the Pre-School Child, Teaching the Bible to Children, Ages 6-11, Teaching the Bible to High School Youth, Teaching the Bible to Adults. (Concordia Filmstrip — Lutheran)

THE CHURCH IN INDIA

J. C. Bailey

Of all nations on earth, India is the largest in population except Communist China. The population of India today is probably more than 450,000,000. In a great part of India today there is full religious freedom but in some places the people may take the law into their own hands and create trouble. We have more freedom here, in some respects, than we would have in places in Canada or the United States. For example, we need not get permission to put out tracts on any street corner that we decided to use in the city. We could give other examples. Many people feared that bad results might follow the death of Nehru. India has shown a stability that has amazed the world. There is stability here that much of the world does not enjoy. If we could exercise enough Christianity, we could keep it this way.

Brother Ira Y. Rice, Jr. and others have plans to attack China with the gospel, if and when, the Communist regime folds. This is fine. China should have the gospel. We do not need to look to some future date to bring the gospel to India, WE CAN DO IT NOW. Do these great plans for an assault on China, at some future date, ease our conscience about bringing the gospel to INDIA NOW?

WHAT WE HAVE NOW

A few years ago a letter came from Shillong, Assam, telling of an indigenous work there and they used the name of CHURCH OF CHRIST. Immediately there was great interest in this work. Men were sent here to help and encourage this work. Churches and individuals sent thousands of dollars to this work. Schism developed but it was whitewashed. It was not settled. I do not know if those who came got the facts or not. They may not have intended to whitewash the affair.

It is old news now that we discovered Canadians could enter India without a visa but at the same time India had refused a visa to any American worker that had tried to enter. The papers as published by our brethren, gave due publicity to this matter. I agreed to enter India and three other Canadians volunteered to come along. Our purpose then was to enter Assam and work in connection with the native brethren there. I landed in India on April 25, 1963 and proceeded at once to Shillong, Assam. My wife and three adopted daughters followed the latter part of July along with two young men, David Hallett and Ray McMillan. In a short time the Donald Perry family arrived. This family consisted of Brother Perry, his wife and seven children. Another son has graced the family since they arrived in India.

This is how the Bailey's look now. You will notice how the girls have grown. You will notice that I am not the big preacher I was when I left Canada. I weigh almost 40 pounds less. In this excessive heat this is a blessing.

In the meantime I made a trip to Madras. I felt that there was a greater opportunity here than in Assam. This fact I communicated to the other workers when they arrived and I suggested that I would move on to Madras and they could continue the work in Assam. After events proved the wisdom of this course. Some people were obeying the gospel in Assam but we were not getting results as we expected. Despite handicaps these Canadian brethren are doing a good work. Brother Ray McMillan has already started to preach in the native tongue. The school that had been conducted there, has been much enlarged and much improved. It will take years to correct certain weaknesses that were permitted to develop in the work in Assam. The Christian Church has been, and still is, a hindering force. However, with patience, prayer and teaching, the work in Assam will move forward.

By pre-arrangement I met a man by the name of Hector Ellery in Calcutta on my way to Assam. This man had received some of Brother W. S. Willis' tracts. Brother Willis lives in Fort Worth, Texas. He wrote to Brother Willis and Brother Willis wrote to me about Him. He had an independent work here although he was at one time in fellowship with the Christian Church. A few months revealed his character, or lack of it, and by the providence of God we were free from any entanglement. Meanwhile the work in Madras has grown and prospered. We now have 13 congregations and there have been 267 baptized at the time of writing. This figure will be wrong long before you read this. Baptizing people is only a part of our work. We are making every effort we know how to build up these young converts in the faith. No one can accuse us of sparing ourselves in order to reach these people with the gospel and have them continue therein.

In order that many may hear at least one gospel sermon, we have resolved to put out at least one million tracts while we are in India. We have already published more than 460,000 tracts.

We have Bible correspondence work in three languages and we have more than 700 students enrolled, or they have finished the course. A number of these have obeyed the gospel. The brethren in Assam also have a Bible Correspondence Course and this is conducted in two languages.

Besides the work in Assam and in Madras we have Brother K. V. George in Kerala. I have not had the privilege of visiting this work. Brother George is a native who spent some years in American schools. He is fairly well known to the brotherhood. He now has three congregations working after the New Testament order. Then there is Oomen Abraham. He too is from Kerala. He put in two years at miracles he performed, thus showing he was from God. "And many other signs truly did Jesus in the presence of his disciples, which are not written in this book: But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name" (John 20:30,31). At the end of Jesus' ministry he ". . . came and spake unto them, saying, All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth" (Matt. 28:18).

Unless the authority of Christ is respected, the world will remain in religious chaos. No religious council will ever be able to make any contribution to true religious unity unless the Word of God is held to be the complete and final authority. God speaks to us through Christ whose words are contained in the New Testament (Read Hebrews 1:1,2). Let's remember that "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: That the man of God may be perfect, throughly furnished unto all good works" (II Tim. 3:16,17). It behooves us to develop a greater love and respect for that which is written.

Overdependance Upon The Physical

If we are to respect that which is written, then we must come to depend upon that which is written for our every spiritual need. The fallacy of loverdepending upon the physical things of life is indicated in the expression, "Man shall not live by bread alone". The Israelites were given manna to teach them that man shall not live by bread alone. There are other things which will sustain men besides bread. Bread will sustain the physical body, but not the spiritual part of man. Jesus showed this when he said, ". . . my meat is to do the will of him that sent me and to finish his work" (John 4:34). Doing the Father's will was more important to him than the satisfying of his physical hunger. On another occasion Jesus said, "I have glorified thee on the earth: I have finished the work thou gavest me to do" (John 17:4).

An overdependence upon that which is physical gives a person a false sense of security. This was the dangerous situation in which the church at Laodicea was found. Hear the Lord in Revelation 3:15-17: "I know thy works, that thou art neither cold or hot: I would that thou wert hot or cold. So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth. Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou are wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked." Being overwhelmed by the desire to secure only the physical things in life presents a danger even to the point of completely loosing sight of the spiritual. For instance, there are those who have had the idea that they can not worship God, because their clothing is not fine enough. Others have felt that God can only be worshipped in a beautiful building. In the second chapter of James it is easy to see that the "gay clothing" and the "good place" are not the things that impress the Lord. He is interested more in our hearts and in our right actions.

I once heard of a group of Christians who had decided they would gather to pray for mission work. A certain place was suggested to hold the prayer meeting—but someone had remembered that there were no chairs in that particular place. Most of the group immediately drew the conclusion that the meeting could not be held in a place with no chairs. But a very wise and humble brother spoke up and said, "What's wrong with us brethren? Why can't we get down on our knees and pray" An over dependance on the physical will keep us from developing wholesome spiritual lives.

Materialism is one of the greatest threats to our society. As we come to think more highly of the physical things in life and less of the spiritual, such godless systems as Communism, are given great advantages in promoting false teaching. When Jesus lived upon earth he showed little enthusiasm over the material wealth of men for their houses, their clothing, or their money. In fact Christ said, "The foxes have holes, and birds of the air have nests: but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head" (Matt. 9:20). It is not that Jesus does not want us to be concerned, at all, with those things that sustain our physical lives, rather it's that he wants us to "seek . . . first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness," with the promise that, "All these things shall be added unto you" (Matt. 6:33). Paul says, "For bodily exercise profiteth little: but godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of life that now is, and of that which is to come" (I Tim. 4:8). The same writer also admonished, "Set your affections on things above and not on things on the earth" (Col. 3:2). Remember, "Man shall not live by bread alone".

Every Word Important

In our text we also see how completely the word of God is to be followed. "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God". It takes obedience to every word of God in order to receive His blessings. Jesus says, "Not everyone that saith unto me Lord, Lord shall enter the kingdom of Heaven, but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in Heaven" (Matt. 7:21). Among the final words of the New Testament, we read, "Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have a right to the tree of life and enter in through the gates into the city" (Rev. 22:14).

Rather than accept all the Word of God, some would restrict their obedience to faith only—yet the Bible teaches "that by works a man is justified, and not by faith only" (Jas. 2:24). Others believe that if they would only accept the part of the Bible that pertains to good morals that they will be saved—but Cornelius, a devout man, had to receive and obey the gospel to be saved (Acts 10). Others hold that works alone will enable a person to be saved—but we have only to read the New Testament to see that "without faith it is impossible to please God' (Heb. 11:6). Paul de-crashed? What was the reaction of loved ones when they heard of the crash?

OUR RESPONSIBILITY

More important, we need to visualize the billions of souls who are lost in sin. We are told that we are in the midst of a population explosion. A short time ago, I was told that people could be lined up a mile wide, and without running out of people they could begin walking off a cliff.

That's a lot of people. And brethren, the majority of them are lost in sin. Won't you at this time "Look." Visualize the billions who are without God.

"PRAY"

A second responsibility of the Christian is to pray. Jesus said, "The harvest indeed is plenteous, but the laborers are few. Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he send forth laborers into his harvest" (Matt. 9:37,38).

The Master presents a problem here. There is an abundant harvest to be reaped, but there is a shortage of workers. Where is the solution? Jesus says it is in prayer. Pray for laborers who are dedicated to serving God and their fellowman. Yes, we have a duty to "Pray".

"GO"

Another responsibility comes from the lips of Jesus just before he ascended back to the Father. Standing with his followers on a mountain, he said, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to the whole creation" (Mark 16:15). This is the Lord speaking, and he has said, "GO."

This command is not restricted to just one nation or one group of people. It includes "all nations" and "every creature." It is a command that must be obeyed "NOW." Speaking of salvation, Paul said, "Behold, now is the acceptable time; now is the day of salvation."

"TEACH"

It isn't enough to look, to pray, and to go. We must also teach. The great commission says, "Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you: and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world". (Matt. 28:19,20).

Paul speaking of the message we are to proclaim said, "For I am not ashamed of the gospel: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek" (Rom. 1:16). The gospel is spiritual dynamite. It is able to convict one of sin and point the sinner to the fount that washes sin away. And it is our responsibility to teach this wonderful message to those who are lost.

When one considers our fourfold responsibility, he cannot help but compare our anxiety for the lost with that of Jesus. As he looked over Jerusalem, he lamented, "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, that killeth the prophets, and stoneth them that are sent unto her. how often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not" (Matt. 23:37). In contrast, it has been said, "We really don't care."

Several years ago, an aged Mohammedan woman asked: "How long is it since Jesus died for sinful people? Look at me; I am old; I have prayed, given alms, gone to the holy shrines, become as dust from fasting, and all this is useless. Where have you been all this time?"

I hope that each of us will consider very carefully and prayerfully our responsibility to the billions. May we all work in such a manner that one day we can join with Paul in saying, "I have fought the good fight, I have finished the course, I have kept the faith: henceforth there is laid up for me the crown of righteousness."

TEACHING GOD'S WORD

Teaching. (Lambert Huffman Publishers)

1. "Stars in Your Crown" — a powerful portrayal of leading pupils to accept Christ.

2. "God's Acre of Diamonds" — an impressive documentary of the Sunday School's value as an evangelistic aim of the church.

3. "Doorways to Decision" is a dramatic film on Sunday School visitation.

VI. Teacher Training Records

A complete teacher training course in an album. Seventeen actual training sessions conducted by Christian Education specialists on 9 high fidelity long play records. Approximately 20 minutes of instruction on each side. Listening guides come with the records which have abundant questions and suggestions for discussion and practical application. Titles: Sunday School is big Business, Are Your Standards High Enough, How Much Do You Have To Know, You Can Teach Through Stories, The Ins and Outs of Discipline, That They May Meet God.

These appear to be very good. On the front of the album it says "Listen Your Way to a Better Sunday School." Gene Getz, Christian Education expert says, "These records will do just that if you give them a chance." (Gospel Light Publications)

In this series are also lessons on how the various age levels learn and demonstration classes for each.

There is now a new series of 12 records with 40 minute sessions presenting outstanding teachers working with every grade from kindergarten through the twelfth grade.

Summary

In these four articles we have tried to inform church leaders, teachers and all interested persons of available helps in training Bible teachers. There are many more available helps than any one of us will ever read or use. May we pick out some of the best materials and use them to improve our teaching of the Word of God.

We here mention what we consider tops in the various areas of teacher training aids. Books: "Teach With Success" by Guy Leavitt; Booklets: "Teaching Successfully" series of 6, departmentalized; Magazines: "Christian Bible Teacher" and "Teach"; Filmstrips: "Successful Teaching" and "Royal Commission". We do not have a first hand acquaintance with the sound films and records.

Book Reviews

Books to be reviewed in this column should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont., Canada.

The Nature of the Church by Bob L. Hoover, Key Publishing Company, Lubbock, Texas. 52 pages, paper, 75c (plus exchange in Canada).

Is there a difference between "church action" and "individual action"? When the individual does "Christian work" is this the "church" at work? Does the New Testament draw sharp lines of distinction between the "individual" and his activity and the "church" and its activity? These questions have been widely discussed among Christians in recent days. This booklet proposes to answer these questions. It may, however, raise more questions than it answers.

Regardless of the views one holds relative to these matters this booklet is worthy of studious consideration. The author contends that the distinctions that are often made between the "church" and the "individual" are not taught in Scripture. He argues that "to conceive the church as an abstract entity is a denominational concept . . . foreign to the New Testament."

The booklet is divided into thirteen lessons. The first lesson deals with "The Nature of the Church." Two lessons discuss "The Atomism of the Church." Five lessons are devoted to "Authority in the New Testament Church." "The Oneness of the Body" is presented in two lessons. The last three lessons deal with "Assaults Against the Oneness of the Body."

This is a thought-provoking study. The author promises others to follow. We look forward to them and also to reading the reactions of others to this booklet.

Select Sermon Material by Frank L. Cox, paper, $1.00, published by Baker Book House (G. R. Welch in Canada).

It is good to see a volume by a preacher of the Church of Christ included in the popular Baker $1.00 Sermon Library. The author is the esteemed editor of the Minister's Monthly. Contains forty-four well outlined sermons on a variety of subjects.

Questions You Have Asked About Soul-Winning by Jack Exum, paper, $1.00.

We previously reviewed this writer's The Glory of the Ordinary-Personal Work. In numerous workshops he has conducted on soul-winning, Jack Exum has received many questions. This booklet contains his answers.

Thirty Years A Watch Tower Slave by W. J. Schnell, Baker Book House, (in Canada: G. R. Welch Co., Toronto), paperback edition, $1.75.

Several years ago we devoted a full page to our review of this revealing book. It has gone through nine printings since 1956. Now it is available in a new paperback edition at a low price. It is also available in cloth at $2.95.

BIBLE QUIZ

II Timothy 2:15; 3:16, 17

The Bible is God's Word. It is the meat and drink of the spiritual life. Christians need to study it daily. These questions will help to indicate something of how effective your study has been.

HERESY AND THE NEW TESTAMENT

1. Paul once referred to Christianity as heresy. True or False.
2. The Chief Jews in Rome held the Church to be a heresy. True or False.
3. Paul teaches that heresies have one value. What is that?
4. Paul teaches that false apostles, while appearing outwardly to serve Christ, are actually ministers for whom?
5. What is the end of the teacher of a false gospel according to Paul in Galatians, Chapter one?
6. Complete: "The works of the flesh are manifest which are: adultery, etc. . . . heresies . . . they that do these things shall not ..... the ..... of God.
7. The great failing away led by the Man of Sin shall precede the day of Judgment. How else did Paul describe this great heretic in II Thess. 2:3?
8. Paul identifies two heretics in I Timothy. Hymenaeus was one. Name the other.
9. Paul identifies two heretics in II Timothy. Phygellus was one. Name the other.
10. What treatment is to be accorded the heretic according to the apostle John in II John 10?

ANSWERS: 1. True, Acts 24: 14. 2. True, (Sect — heresy,) Acts 28: 22. 3. To distinguish the true believer from the false, I Cor. 11:9. 4. Satan, II Cor. 11:13-15. 5. Cursed, Gal. 1:8, 9. 6. Note: As we will have printed enough pages to complete this volume by the December issue, we may not print for January. Correspondents and those ordering supplies are asked to time their needs so that we may close shop the last two weeks of the year without embarrassing anyone. E.C.P.

Nanaimo, B.C.: November 1-6 is the period for a series of meetings in which Jim Hawkins of Victoria will preach on "Why Not Try Undenominational Christianity?" Extensive advertising and personal work is being planned.

Victoria, B.C.: Two were recently baptized, one of whom has since joined her husband in Kitimat.

Burnaby, B.C.: E. P. Lake who has been preaching in England for four years is taking up work with the church at this place.

Moose Jaw, Sask.: "On Sunday, Oct. 4th the first services were held in our new building. For the morning service 210 were present. Following the opening Bro. Jim Hawkins, of Victoria, B.C. conducted a week of gospel meetings. Now that we have completed our move plans are being made to put a personal work program into operation with the use of film strips." Ray Jacobs

North Battleford, Sask.: Wilfred Orr has moved from Saskatoon to Bigger, and will be working with the North Battleford church with Jim Williams.

Outlook, Sask.: Dick Scruggs has moved from Dawson Creek, B.C. to this place.

Western Christian College: Ninety three students were enrolled. A Training Class under W. C. Brazle has 16 boys and meets twice a week at 7 a.m. The lectureship on "Christianity in Action" featuring Howard Horton of Pepperdine College, Los Angeles, California was October 9-12. A 54 passenger used school bus was recently purchased by the college.

Winnipeg, Man.: Wesley Reagan, supported at Windsor Park by the Northside church in Dallas, Texas will move to become minister at Northside in August, 1965.

A lectureship on the topic of Dedication is announced for November 7 and 8 at Osborne St. with Paul McClung of Wichita Falls, Texas speaking. Fourteen Bible studies are now in progress as a result of the August part of the campaign. Eleven workers recently arrived from the U.S. to begin the third phase of the campaign. With local brethren they called on 3,400 homes in four days. Other helpers were expected.

Dauphin, Man.: Glen Dodds and others have been busy taking a religious census. Bill Williams, minister, for the past year, of the Presbyterian church in Dauphin was, with his wife, recently baptized in a nearby lake in 40 degree weather. Since that event a former teacher in the Presbyterian Sunday School has been baptized. Brother Williams needs support so that he can continue in this good work.

Ice Lake, Ont.: Brodie Harrell has begun his third year with this church. A total of 31 students from the Universities of Alabama and Tennessee came with Kenneth Reed and Jim Pounders to assist in a campaign for Christ on the Island. Only those who showed interest or invited a return for study were recorded and 145 cards were turned in during the week. The students went in pairs. One pair taught a husband and wife, brought them to the meetings and baptized them before leaving. Two others were obedient the following Sunday. During the meeting in which Ken Reed preached attendance climbed from 82 to 175.

The inside of the meeting house has been painted and the floor sanded and the grounds are being improved. The University church at Tuscaloosa, Ala. has provided Bro. Harrell with a 1964 Land Rover to enable him to get about the Island in the winter. He was to be the principal speaker at the Manitoulin Christian Educational Convention interdenominational meeting on Oct. 21 at Sheguiandah. He writes, "I intend to stress the importance of the teachers and preachers being Christians, presenting the right example, etc. After supper I am to deliver a message of my own choice. I plan to tell the teachers where to get their material from — the Bible. . . . I have made arrangements to study with several denominational preachers this winter."

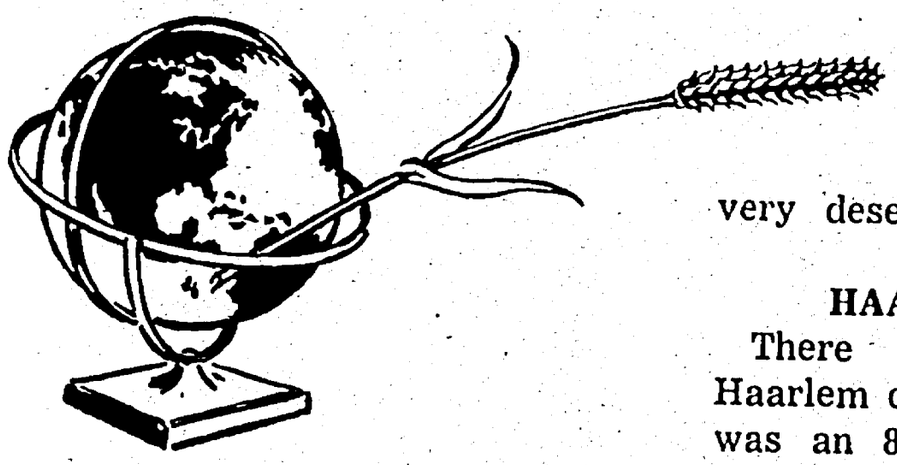
Three months of preaching, personal work, and newspaper advertisements only drew about half-a-dozen visitors the entire time in Little Current.

North Bay: Four Bible school teachers and a family have moved from this area leaving 10 members to carry on the work. The husband of the family moving away was baptized just prior to moving. They will live in Peterborough and worship at Ajax we understand. Bro. Lansdell will be losng some of his regular support at the beginning of the New Year. Let us encourage him.

Jordan, Ont.: The growth in the church at Jordan continues to be most encouraging, numerically and spiritually.

During the past month there have been three baptisms, Miss Ann Glover, Miss Nancy Glover, and Miss Mary Hoover. Miss Hoover is 89 years old and blind but of alert mind and wanted to be baptized as soon as she was convinced such is necessary to please God.

The 14 additions to the church at Jordan since July 1963 reflects the splendid teaching and personal work. Spiritually there is evidence of growth on the part of many, manifested by their requests for personal classes, workbooks, and correspondence courses. Thirteen members of the congregation are doing special studies at home and classes are being conducted five nights a week.



With the present interest and enthusiasm we are anticipating increases in all areas.

Our gospel meeting is Nov. 18-29 each evening at eight, including Saturday. W. L. Wharton Jr., San Antonio, Texas will be preaching.

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

VIENNA, AUSTRIA

Tent Meetings Are Still A Good Medium For Winning Souls In Germany

I was in a tent meeting in Essen, Germany from the 16th through the 26th of July. Essen is located in the heart of the Ruhr Valley where millions of precious souls are lost in spiritual darkness. In spite of many hindrances shortly before the tent meeting got underway, much good was accomplished. The tent was late arriving from the city of Karlsruhe, much difficulty was encountered in getting electricity for the tent, brake and motor trouble hindered the loudspeaker advertising from starting on time and extremely hot weather caused almost everything to come to a standstill. With the help of God we overcame these difficulties one by one and one of the most fruitful tent meetings every held in Essen was conducted. Seven precious souls were won for Christ. Three young couples and an elderly lady were added to the church as a result of this effort.

These encouraging results were not accomplished without hard work and many prayers. Over 100 large posters were printed by the brethren in Essen themselves and later were pasted on different buildings and fences in the neighbourhood of the tent. Over 10,000 handbills were distributed by the members before and during the meeting. Personal work was done daily by those who could get off from work. Members took time about watching the tent, even some of the sisters stood watch during the day. All in all it was an encouraging experience for me to see this small congregation of some 21 members at work for the Lord.

The membership of the congregation was increased by 25% as a result of this united effort. The brethren in Essen solicit your prayers and support and they are very deserving of them.

—Bob Hare

HAARLEM, HOLLAND

There were two baptisms in Haarlem on July 21st. The first one was an 81 year old man by the name of Jonkman (in English his name means "young man"). He had been from the Salvation Army. The second was Miss Pirsch, a music teacher. She is about 50 years old and was formerly a Mormon. They both rejoiced very much over their obedience and of course so did we. Bro. Jonkman, who has a very weak heart is so happy to have found the way to Christ.

These two persons were the first to have been baptized in Haarlem since bro. Aycock and bro. Krumrei came here about 18 months ago. Since a recent series of meetings which bro. Goodheer held we have several other contacts that seem quite promising. This is a challenging work. — J. E. Krumrei

IRELAND

A very exciting report of an effort on the part of the small congregation at Coleraine to teach the truth at a religious convention at Poststewart attended by upwards of 10,000 people from all parts of the British Isles must be summarized here for lack of more space. The brethren set up a booth, distributed 3,000 pieces of literature, answered questions and conducted open air preaching attracting much interest.

Bill Hatcher of Lubbock, Texas preached in the Town Hall August 1-8. A number visited from the community. This was followed by a ten day tent meeting at Belfast. Sixteen were baptized and two restored and the average attendance was 102. A V.B.S. conducted by Jack Exum of Dallas, Texas grew from 85 to 358.

During the meeting a power failure resulted in two services being conducted in the darkness. Ten responded during one of these and were taken to homes to be baptized in bathtubs.

OKINAWA

At Naha, the capital city of the Ryukyu Islands, the church of 30 faithful members is in need of a new meeting house. Six have been obedient during the past few weeks. A two-story Okinawan type church building, adequate for the needs of a growing congregation is planned. The church has the land and plans to begin construction November 1. Ten thousand more dollars are needed to building this $20,000 structure. Contributions should be sent to Church of Christ, C.P.O. Box 333, Naha, Okinawa, Ryykyu Islands.

JERUSALEM

Everett Huffard reported four baptized earlier in the summer. He is kept very busy as is indicated in the following: "Yesterday, I spent all of the time at the office just answering questions by mail . . . Of course, Nabil has to translate them to Arabic for me so he has plenty of work to do. I don't know how many we have taking the course but I know that 20 or 30 lessons will be mailed out each day. It keeps growing even though we have not advertised except to get started. One young man in Iraq is waiting to be baptized."

INDIA

We have had a baptism of a woman on each of the last two Sundays. Each of these is a local person, one the wife of one of our school teachers and the other the mother of one of our students. Both have been visiting services for some time.

Meaford, Ont.: Walter Hart of Halifax, N.S. is holding a meeting October 21-25. Ralph Perry of London will lead in a training series Nov. 11-14.

Owen Sound, Ont.: Arvid McGuire of Huntsville, Ala. begins a meeting here on Nov. 11.

Niagara Falls, Ont.: Fifth anniversary service was held on October 4 with Walter Dale as guest speaker. Bruce Merritt of this church will preach twice a month at Port Colborne. A young lady from Fort Erie was baptized on Sept. 13. This church now has a membership of 42. On Sept. 20, 87 were present for worship and the contribution was $138.55.

Wellandport, Ont.: M. Allen Nicholls of Attercliffe, after a series of studies, was baptized on Sept. 13.

PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR FENWICK - PORT COLBORNE CAMPAIGN

We wish to make known two very wonderful things that are planned for the Fenwick, Ontario area in June 1965.

First, it will be our joy to host the 1965 June Meeting. This meeting will be held in the E. L. Crossley Secondary School located on No. 20 Highway near Fonthill. This school is just one year old and has a fine large gym-auditorium and cafeteria for our use. The Meeting will be held on the second Sunday of June (June 13, 1965) instead of the first Sunday because of plans for our "Christ For The World Campaign" which is to begin on the 14th and extend through the 25th.

Our aim in this effort is to contact every home in the Fenwick — Port Colborne area. We desire to give each person a personal, as well as a written, invitation to come study with us on the theme "Christ For The World". In the Fenwick—Port Colborne area we have a potential listening audience of approximately 74,167 people.

During this campaign there will be preaching nightly at the meeting house in Fenwick and the meeting house in Port Colborne. Brother Bill Craddock from Massillon, Ohio will be speaking at Fenwick. Brother Bill Heinselman from the Walnut Avenue congregation in Canton, Ohio will be the speaker at Port Colborne. Indications are that there will be several coming from the Ohio, West Virginia, and Kentucky area of the U.S. to help in this effort.

We are thankful also that Brethren from this area of Ontario are planning to come and work with us in this effort. Since coming to Canada we have come to appreciate you Canadian Brethren for the zeal and faith you possess in the work of King Jesus. We ask you to remember us in your prayers to God that He might help and direct us in this work that His name may be glorified.

We would love to have you to come and work with us during this campaign. You can watch the Gospel Herald for further information, or write to me at Box 90, Fenwick and we will be happy to send you any information you desire.

CHANGELESS ROME

light on the subject. Its leading men are masters of compromise, students of opportunism, and skilled in deceit. Any changes will be relatively superficial.

Some Protestants have listened in wide-eyed wonder to publicity releases from Rome concerning the "new look" in Roman Catholicism. Some have swallowed the bait, plus hook, line and sinker. Increased dialogue between Protestant ministers and Catholic priests has resulted. A relaxed air of tolerence has crept into the religious picture. This could be healthy if all will keep in mind that the church of Rome has not repudiated its past nor cast out its peculiar doctrines which called for the Reformation.

Indulgences, the veneration of Mary, the use of images, superstition, and the high-sounding claims of papal authority are still very much a part of Roman Catholicism. On the basis of expediency or necessity, the church of Rome may relax a little here and there. She is not about to renounce her past nor to repent of her heresies.

If this writer were a cartoonist, he would characterize the modern Roman church as a dog - catcher with an attractive bone in one hand and the menacing net carefully concealed behind his back. Sometimes the bone has not been deemed necessary. Today we see the emphasis on the bone. Tomorow is another story.

OMAGH BIBLE SCHOOL REPORTS GOOD SEASON

I am pleased to bring you this report on the happenings at Omagh Camp during 1964. The various sessions of Camp were well supported by all ages, but there is still room for a lot of improvement. We are hopeful that we can with your support have a much more successful Camp in 1965.

Bro. Ron Zavitz of Ottawa served as Director of the regular session and was assisted by his wonderful wife Mary who did a great job as Lifeguard and Girl's Supervisor and a host of other tasks.

NOTICE: Ron and Mary have agreed to serve at Omagh Camp as Director and Co-Director for 1965.

The camp was set in motion this year with a pre-camp Counsellor Planning Session. It was my privilege to welcome the Counsellors to camp in a short address on Thursday evening. They were a fine group of young people and did a commendable job of providing leadership to the children who attended camp. Our thanks to Mary Jones, Jane Horncastle, Ann Patterson, Judy Smelser, Diane Parker, Crystal Cook, Pat Perry, Priscilla Brennan and Elizabeth Wismer who were the girl Counsellors and Assistant-Counsellors and to Don Alexander, Brian Boden, Jack Denham, Harold Byne and Brian Pugh who were Counsellors and Assistant-Counsellors for the boys.

The teaching of the children was capably done by a team of Christian men and women namely; Keith Thompson, David Johnson, Bill Bunting, Magnar Knutson, Dean Clutter, Ed Bryant, Max Craddock, Evelyn Perry, Sharon Ellis and Myrna McClure. The efforts they put forth were rewarding to the young folk as well as the teachers and to the Church in future.

A craft class was held each day again this year which the children enjoyed. Sister Cledith Craddock did a remarkable job of teaching this class. It was well planned and very well conducted in every way.

Once again we want to thank our faithful friend and mightly fine Cook Sister Jean McDuff for a job well done. Jean laboured hard and long this year in order to ensure that the children and the staff at camp would be well fed. She was forced to be at camp for three weeks because of a lack of persons to help in this most essential part of the camp operation. I'm sure she and the family had to sacrifice a good deal for her to be able to do this. Many thanks to Jean, Arnold and the family. A new chest type freezer was purchased for the kitchen this year which is an aid in planning the kitchen operations.

This year the pre-registration was carried cut much more effectively than last year as a result of a great deal of work done by Bro. and Sis. Bob Hunter. It was possible for Bro. Zavitz to do more planning before camp started because of early registration. The same practise will be carried on in 1965. The total number of campers who attended camp this year was 250 as opposed to 211 in 1963. Bro. Ron Zavitz suggests that our minimum goal for 1965 should be 320 with a slogan such as: "Make Omagh Alive in '65".

Fellowship Week was the one session which was not as well attended as we had hoped in view of the very capable and respected teacher, Bro. P. D. Wilmeth, who was on hand to teach concerning The Christian Home. Bro. Ralph Perry acted as director for the week again this year and plans to do the job in 1965. Fellowship Week is a wonderful period of relaxation and Christian association that you will always cherish once you have attended. We hope you can come in '65.

The last session at camp was the Labour Day program which was planned by the young Christians of the Fenwick congregation. There were about 56 young people on campus for the most part of the weekend. The Lord's Day activities started with a sunrise service at about 6:30 a.m. The next period of worship was at 10:30 a.m. when the group went to the Omagh meeting house for worship. At 3.00 p.m. Bro. L. Wesley Jones and Bro. Ed. Bryant spoke on the topics How great God is in Creation and How great God is in Salvation. The evening service was at 8.00 p.m. when Bro. Russell Walker was the speaker.

Eight people confessed Christ as their Savior and were buried with Him in baptism during the last two weeks of camp. It was a joyous occasion when 40 to 50 people stood beside the pool in a heavy rain to witness the baptism of some of these.

Several of the campers showed outstanding ability during their stay at camp and received awards for their efforts. The Mary Wyper Trophy was presented to Bonnie Porter of Whitby, Ontario and Robert George of Elk Rapids, Michigan. Bibles or Concordances were given to others for outstanding achievement each week.

The Board of Directors wish to thank every person who has contributed to the success of Omagh Camp in 1964 and ask you to continue with as much or more support in the coming year. Why not plan now to be at camp next year for the period that is suited to your particular age level.

clares that we are not saved, "by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration and renewing of the Holy Spirit" (Titus 3:5). In other words, we can not do anything to merit salvation, rather we must submit to God's will, and obey those things which He has commanded.

A man might say, "I am going to swim the ocean to be saved", or "I am going to say prayers to be saved", or "I will build a tower to be saved". Well, these are works of human righteousness which God has not commanded, but when we obey God according to the Bible we are submitting to His righteousness. For salvation, the Bible does teach faith in Christ—repentance of sins—confession of the name of Christ—and baptism for the remission of sins—followed by a life of faithful service in the Lord's vinyard. Men and women everywhere are being urged to accept God's terms of pardon for salvation. For "man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God".

ATTENTION

Bro. and Sis. (nee Mabel Rogers) Leonard Bailey of Rhodesia are making an appeal for travelling funds. They will need about $1500.

Bro. Bailey has been working as a missionary in Africa in the distribution of books and supervision of Christian schools. Mabel has helped with girls classes.

Sister Betty Bailey of Oxbow, Sask. and Bro. Allen Bell of Calgary, Alta., who have worked with the Baileys in Africa speak very highly of them and the work they are doing in Africa.

As a committee for the church here at Manson, Man., we sent out about 1500 letters of appeal.

We are pleased that so far we have received about $400. but we need quite a bit more to meet our goal.

We are asking $2. from each donor. Could you send some now as we need to have money in Africa by December 1st.

Send contribution to: Bailey Travel Fund, c/o Floyd Jacobs, Willen, Manitoba.

Committee: Manley Jacobs, Eddie Elford, Floyd Jacobs and Gilbert Jacobs.

Barrie, Ont.: A new radio program with Bro. Jones as host will begin on October 26 and will occur on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 1.15. Questions will be answered on the air from listeners who phone the programme.

Two were baptized on October 2, one of them at the Gatewood meeting in Toronto.

Bro. Jones is presently (Oct. 22) in New York City at a Missions conference for the purpose of challenging the members of the Bay Shore congregation in taking the Gospel into all the world. Speakers will be present from many mission fields.

Collingwood, Ont.: Woodrow Hazelip has been in a meeting in Kentucky. The 1½ acre building site is almost paid for. Tom Loveless of Louisville, Ky. is holding a meeting October 25 to November 4.

Griersville, Ont.: a record of 64 attended the evening service on September 6. A special collection was to be taken to help with the new building at Vandeleur.

Vandeleur, Ont.: The basement and basement floor have been completed and the walls and roof of the building are progressing. Brethren from nearby churches have been helping with labour and contributions.

Windsor, Ont.: The congregation here celebrated its fortieth anniversary on Sept. 27. It is significant that on that same day the congregation without an exception decided to make a giant stride forward. As of Oct. 11, we began broadcasting our own radio programme over radio station CJSP of Leamington. Although this venture is expensive, we feel that with God's help we will be able to manage. All congregations within listening distance are invited to announce the programme. It is heard each Sunday at 1.45 p.m. at 710 kc. Pray for the work here. — Ray L. Miller.

London, Ont.: The baptistry in the new building was used for the first time on August 16 when 17 year old Paul Vance was immersed. R. Perry writes, "We should have nine or 10 classes this fall — depending on available teachers." He also mentions the prospects of mid week Bible studies beginning at Tillsonburg soon.

Hamilton, Ont.: Ivon Avenue — Walter Dale, teacher at Great Lakes Christian College began on Oct. 11 to preach regularly for this church.

Fennell Avenue — Wesley Jones will preach in a gospel meeting Nov. 2 to 11. Dean Clutter of Ottawa is scheduled for a meeting next April.

Toronto, Ont.: The Gatewood Meeting was well attended. It is estimated that there were 1000 present on the final night. It is believed that a quarter of the attendance each evening were visitors from the Toronto area.

There were five members restored to the church and six were baptized as a result of the teaching of Bro. Otis Gatewood. One hundred cards were turned in registering people either for the Bible Correspondence course or a personal visit from a representative of the church. Those who registered will be contacted by members of the church and we pray that souls will be won for the Lord as a result of the follow up work of the meeting." Maplewood Messenger.

Two of those who were baptized have been regular visitors at Ajax.

One has been restored and one placed membership at Strathmore.

Newmarket, Ont.: This church has just begun its fourth year of Bible classes and after less than two years of church services has a regular preacher, Magnar Knutson. The Mashinter family has transferred their membership from Maplewood in Toronto. Peter was baptized on Sept. 27. On Sept. 20 there were 71 in classes, 46 for morning service and 51 for evening, — membership 30.

Montreal, Que.: A building contract has been signed and the building is underway. About $7000 more will be needed before completion of the building. Sunday meetings are in the Y.M.C.A. and Bible studies in the Davidson home in the interim.

One has been added by membership. 1000 pieces of literature have been handed out recently. Prospects of a French speaking work continue to show promise. There have been French speaking visitors, interest in a French correspondence course and effort to start a French radio programme.

Bro. Timmerman who is furthering this part of the work has been asked to be the speaker on a broadcast called "La voix du salut" (The Voice of Salvation) over radio Luxemburg one of the most powerful stations in the world. He will be heard for 15 minutes each week for six months. The church in West Monroe, La., is conducting this programme.

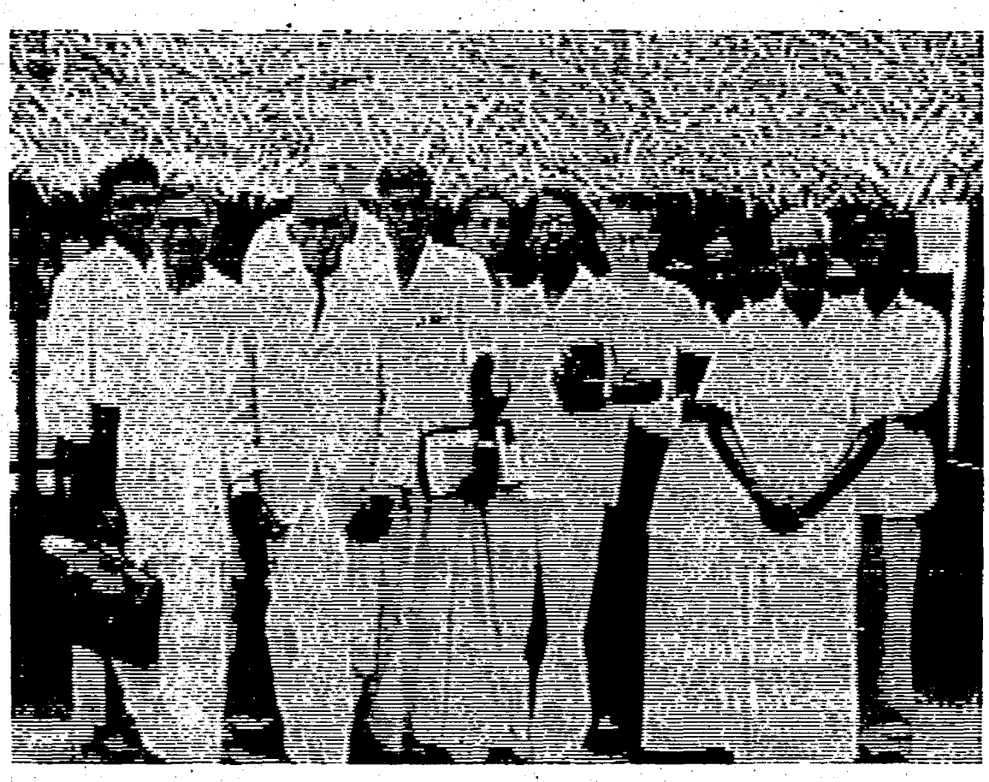
Pepperdine College. He has recently returned to India and was hoping to locate in a different State. I know nothing more than that.

Today a letter comes from Bombay. There are several American families there and they planned to start the worship yesterday (August 30). They want me to come over and help them.

Brethren this is a wonderfully different picture to what things were, when I entered India in April 1963. These seventeen months have been glorious months but though I am neither a prophet nor the son of a prophet, may I suggest that the next sixteen months will see a much greater harvest. THAT IS IF WE WANT THE HARVEST. In fact it is hard to imagine what the harvest could be if we only put forth the cycle to reap. We have learnt much about India in the days we have been here. Some people are not what they should be but we have never met finer people anywhere than we have met here.



Many years ago the "Plymouth Brethren" went through several States here and started work. This work has been largely abandoned. These people left to themselves have come much nearer the truth than the "Brethren" are.

After I had been here for a few months I was badly in need of a Telugu helper. We had a Bible correspondent student in Kakinada that said he would like to come and help me. Kakinada is 400 miles away from Madras. It was risky, and I knew it, but there was nothing else to do but take a chance and pray HARD. This young man was baptized inside of the week and has proved to be a real soldier for Christ. We hope after this year to send him back into his native State and use his brother in the work here. His brother was also baptized here in Madras.

This man with me was long a preacher in the Church of South India. He was baptized this summer and is a faithful worker.

Recently the father of these two fine boys spent some time with us in Madras and he took part in our Training School. We talked a number of times on doctrinal questions and I did not find a point in which he disagreed with the stand taken by the churches of Christ. He has now returned to Andhra Pradesh and will be our first full time worker in that State. They have ten churches there and he says that he will bring every one to the last man into the plea for a restoration of the New Testament way. There are three other men in the same State that have written begging me to come over and help them. We shall make a trip into A.P. in October, and then again in January but how thin can we spread ourselves?

This is a picture of those who attended the last Training Class. It was taken during Brother Hogan's meeting. He is the other white man in the picture.

Nor is this all. We contacted a man during the meeting Brother Bob Hare held here from Mysore and he claims that he shall bring 20 churches with him into the fellowship of the simple New Testament way. I preached six sermons yesterday in an effort to meet the needs of this field. In this oppressive heat it is too much but what can I do?

India is ripe unto harvest. This is true especially of the Southern States. We have the means. We have the men. Do we have the will to reap this harvest? We can make all sorts of excuses for letting this great opportunity go by but frankly I do not believe the Lord will accept those excuses in the judgement morning.

If we cannot get help from the places where people have long been members of the church THEN we are going to have to press into the service men (natives) without sufficient preparation. If these men do not measure up who is to blame?

September 21, 1964: There is now a church in Bombay, India. There are five members of the church from U.S.A. now living here and worshipping after the New Testament pattern. They are anxious to reach the native population with the gospel.

To this end they have asked me to spend the last two Lord's Days in September in this great city. (13 were baptized in this period. E.C.P.)

The work in Madras area continues to surge forward. There were 33 baptized in the week of September 13-19. This means one more congregation and there is likely to be a new church born on the first Sunday in October.

Then there are some 8-16 churches that were formerly associated with the Christian Church that are considering taking their stand with us. We should have definite word on this by the end of this month.

How we need helpers!

October 12, 1964: Last week was the most fruitful week we have had since we have been in India. One more preacher came to us from the Christian Church. I spent the entire week in a Training Class for these native workers who have renounced their connection with the Christian

AN UNUSUAL WEDDING

McMILLAN — McCUTCHEON

Wm. Ray McMillan and Ellen Darlene McCutcheon were joined in marriage here in the church building in Mawlai Shillong, Assam, India on October 5th. Brother Ray McMillan went to Calcutta to meet his bride, daughter of Walter McCutcheon, Portage La Prairie, on October 2nd. They arrived in Shillong on the 3rd. On Sunday the 4th brother Ray drove with some of the Khasi brethren to a village about 45 miles from here where they had a funeral for a young boy of some of the church members there. On Monday we took the day off from school and had a "Canadian wedding" in the Khasi hills of India.

Most people here have never had a wedding or anything like it. So this wedding was a matter of considerable interest. I had some difficulty finding out where I could get a license to do the marrying. Then when we found the correct office and waited a month or so I finally got a license on the day Ray left for Calcutta. But the license was to marry Indian Christians. So Ray was going to have it taken care of, that is the legal part of it, in Calcutta. Everything had been previously worked out, but the day he was there turned out to be Grandhi's birthday, and no marriage was possible on such a holiday. So we solemnized the marriage here; they said their vows; I pronounced them "man and wife", and so they are married before many witnesses.

The bridesmaid and three flower girls were dressed in white, and the best-man was dressed in a dark blue suit made over from one that I bought when I performed the ceremony for my sister Amy and Don Halls back in 1950 or so. These participants were all native Khasis. I had a translator along with me so that all might know what was going on. At first there were very few people in the church building and it was past the announced time for the wedding. There was a throng out on the road and on the verandas of the houses across the street. When the ceremony was over and the happy couple went outside they just stood on the steps surrounded by a sea of faces and umbrellas.

Due to continuous rain we had to have the tea that followed the ceremony in the church building. We had planned to have it out on the front lawn. We had a few speeches, some in Khasi and some in English. May God bless this young couple in his service.

Church. This class lasted for four hours in the morning and then we visited a village each afternoon.

There were 62 rendered obedience to the Gospel last week. There were two more baptized yesterday to bring the total to 400 that have been baptized since we have been in the Madras area. How much more has to happen to prove that this is one of the most potential fields on earth???? Do you really think we are doing our duty in supporting one white worker in this vast field?

OUR DEPARTED

SISTER IRENE BAILEY

As the clock struck the hour of midnight she was enjoying the gaiety of youth, the blessing of good health; a few minutes later her spirit crossed through the vale of death into that eternal realm. Thus came to an end the pilgrimage of Irene Bailey, foster daugher of Lloyd and Mabel Bailey of Thessalon Ontario.

She was born November the 21st. 1941 in the city of Sault Ste Marie. Those first years, were difficult years. While very young she suffered the loss of her Mother, and for several months experienced the bitterness of a cruel world without parental love. She faced the bewilderment of living in many homes that would never be her home. On June the 19th. 1947, she, along with a younger sister Barbara, was taken to home at Thessalon. This home was later to become her home, and there by her own choice she adopted the Bailey name, a name she always loved and respected until her tragic death on September 26th, 1964.

The writer endeavored to speak words of warning to the many friends and relatives that were present to pay their last respects. 'We know not what will be on the morrow' seemed an appropriate theme for the occasion. The need to be always prepared was emphasized.

All who knew Irene appreciated her talent in the delicate art of music, and her sweet voice made the praises of God a little sweeter. Indeed she will be missed. Hearts touched by grief will probe for a reason, but the reason may evade the finite mind. We can be comforted in the knowledge that God does all things well. Someday when the mist has cleared, and we stand in His presence the dark things shall be made plain.Bros. Nelson Bailey and Lloyd Hotchkiss assisted in the service.

—Bethel W. Bailey

the problem of what to do with the egg if it could not be eaten. Some thought that if the egg was laid on the Sabbath not followed by another holy day it could be picked up for future eating. On the other hand, if it were laid on the first of two holy days, it would be dangerous to even touch the egg and yet it would also be dangerous to leave it there. A man might be tempted to touch it. He might be tempted to put his hand around it. He might even be tempted to eat it and thus the law would be broken. The Talmud of the Jews gives many such resolutions and rulings and this example is but an indication of the extreme to which orthodox soundness went. It is strange that a man like Hillel, conservative, sound and orthodox was able to rule that a man could get a divorce if his wife burned the dinner. There have been examples in recent years of conservative extremists becoming liberal to the decree that inspiration and the virgin birth have been rejected. Possibly the attitude that breeds extremes of one sort permits a swing to an extreme of another sort. Possibly there is but a narrow line between legalists and liberals.

The question we need to ask ourselves in the restoration movement is whether it is possible in our attempts to follow Scripture to extend the principles given by the Holy Spirit to endless detail. Many of us ignore the very real danger of losing the "simplicity of the faith" in Christ" by "artificial interpretations of Scripture contrary to sense." After all it was the self-styled sound teacher who was condemned by Jesus as a "whited sepulchre" and it was inevitable that this type of person would be quite critical of the Lord. I am sure many of us sound people would have been horrified by the Lord's reply, "the Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath." How much of a gap separates us, in attitude, from these men of long ago? The Scripture teaches that we should "abound in the work of the Lord" but by the time we declare and define what the work of the Lord is and whether the group or the individual does it little time is actually left for doing it. The Pharisees criticized the Lord for what they thought to be a misuse of the Sabbath and it is a wonder that we are not critical of the "head of the church" because he did good unto all men since "while we were yet sinners he died for the ungodly."

There is much food for thought in connection with developments stemming from the great restoration movement of Ezra and Nehemiah. The Bible and church history shows that extreme and uncompromising attitudes have been at the root of most religious failures and divisions. In almost every group of Christians there are potential legalists and liberals. When attitudes crystallize then division follows. This has been the fate of the Nineteenth Century Restoration movement and a recent book speaks of there being at least twenty sects identified with it.

All of us must try to be like the Bereans who, "receiving the word with all readiness of mind, searched the Scriptures to see whether these things are so." We must study, teach, be taught, learn "the whole counsel of God" as given to the church at Ephesus. If we would learn to balance confidence in our own ability to understand the will of God with respect for the other person's ability to understand also there would be no room for the church divider. Before it is too late we accept the possibility of fallibility in our understanding of Scripture and become more diligent in our own study and more tolerant to the conclusions of our brethren. It is not just some Scripture that is able to furnish us complete unto every good work, but all Scripture inspired of God. Let us humbly pray asking God's help that we do not become arrogant, that we do not twist Scripture, that we do not bind opinions on others. Let us live in the fear of being responsible for destroying the "temple of God." Those once devout, sincere and sound men of old eventually did just that.

FRIGHTENING NEWS

by E. D. Wieb, North Weyburn

A leading Texas University recently added a Department of Philosophy to its program. When this department is started, teaching Bible for credit will be discontinued, thus dealing a serious blow to the Bible Chair work in that city.

This bit of information, coupled with the news that the American educators say that American morality has declined 75% to 80% in the past 60 years should cause thinking Christians no little concern.

What is true of the United States today will, in all likelihood, be true of Canada tomorrow. Let us not be deceived, the affluent free world society is rapidly speeding towards Godlessness.

I was happy to hear that groups of young ladies at Abilene Christian College and Columbia Christian College have pledged themselves to do what they can to arrest the current style trends in women's clothes which are designed to stimulate the sex drive (witness the rising hem line and the plunging neck-line—not to mention the topless dresses and bathing suits.) We talk jokingly about these things but are they not truly signs of a generation of people moving away from Christ. As Wyatt Sawyer recently wrote, "In Africa . . . natives have turned monagamous, modest, and spiritual when missionaries introduced them to Jesus. But in America . . . people have started taking their clothes off."

The question that now burns itself into our minds is whether the Lord's church and our Christian schools will stand as bulwarks against this tide or will we lower our standards to accommodate the world? This is no small question for already we are being subjected to pressure from without to relax.

Christians parents! Are we allowing our young people to grow up freely in this frenzied society — to adopt its ways and be moulded into its shape, or are we doing everything we can to raise them up in the "nurture and admonition of the Lord?"

It is not an easy task. It will require all of our strength and that which the Lord will provide but we dare not capitulate.

An Open Letter To Brethren In Christ

George M. C. Ort, Hamilton, Ont.

Editor's Note: The writer of this article obeyed the gospel a few weeks ago. He is now a member at Fennel Avenue, Hamilton and by occupation is a professional writer. —K.T.T.

Dear Brother,

It is with delight and joy that I come to you to tell you of the wonderful happenings that have taken place within my heart.

On November 1st, 1964 I was baptized in the Lord.

How wonderful an experience it was, how thrilling to be immersed in the waters of Christ, to be added to His millions.

Now the event of baptism has passed, I wonder what took me so long to make this decision.

Was I bound by the handcuffs of our daily life?

Was there bitterness in my heart, that was hard to overcome?

Did I put it off because "if not today, I can always do it to-morrow, what's the rush?"

Did Christian brothers and sisters like you hold me back from joining the immence forces of Christ?

The answers to the foregoing questions must all be positive, because those questions are all part of why I delayed the blessed and rewarding event of baptism.

How long has it been since you were baptized, since you became a child of God? How long was it since

IT IS TRUE!

(Brother J. C. Bailey prepared this article in tract form especially for the Hindus among whom he is working in Madras, India.)

Sir Herbert Spencer, the noted English scientist, about the turn of this century said there were only five manifestations of the unknowable. He named them as time, force, action, space and matter. This was hailed as a great scientific discovery. It was anything but new. "In the first chapter of the Bible, the first verse says: "In the beginning (time) God (force) created (action) the heaven (space) and the earth (matter)." So the Bible is not based upon some fictitious story but upon great scientific facts.

Nor is this all. For many years men believed that the earth was flat. It was only about 800 years ago that men finally discovered that the earth was round. Yet, the Bible had said all the time that the earth was round: "It is God that sitteth upon the CIRCLE of the earth" (Isaiah 40:22), "He setteth a CIRCLE upon the face of the deep" (Proverbs 8:27). So the Bible is scientifically correct. Shall we look again?

The ancient Greeks and Romans were the most advanced people of their times but they did not know how the earth was suspended. Throughout the centuries men had various wild and foolish ideas. However, the Bible said all the time that the earth was hung upon nothing: " . . . He . . . hangeth the earth upon nothing" (Job 26:7), Every school boy today knows that this statement is scientifically correct.

Having established the fact that the Bible is not a book of fables but a book of supernatural knowledge, we want to study a few other things. Paul visited the city of Athens, the city of world culture and education of his day. He found an altar there to the UNKNOWN GOD. He declared that they were ignorant because they did not know the one true and living God. Now listen to what Paul says: "The God that made the world and all things therein, He being Lord of heaven and earth dwelleth not in temples made with hands; neither is He served by men's hands, as though he needs anything, seeing He Himself giveth to all life, and breath, and all things; and He made of one every nation of men to dwell on all the face of the earth, having determined their appointed seasons and the bounds of their habitation: that they should seek God, if haply they might feel after Him and find Him, though He is not far from each one of us: for in Him we live and move and have our being, as certain even of your own poets have said, For we are also His offsprings. Being then the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the Godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and device of man" (Acts 17:24-29).

So the Bible, which we have shown is scientificly correct, says we ought not to think that GOD IS GRAVEN BY ART AND DEVICE OF MAN. God is not LIKE THAT.

Man in the beginning was a worshipper of one God. This too is a fact. As man lost his knowledge of the true God then He began to be a worshipper of many Gods. The Bible says that it should not be that way: "THOU SHALT HAVE NO OTHER GODS BEFORE ME. Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, nor any likeness of anything that is in the heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth: thou shalt not bow down thyself unto them, nor serve them; for I Jehovah thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the third and fourth generation of them that hate me, and showing lovingkindness unto thousands of them that love me and keep my commandments" (Exodus 20:3-6).

Light, and life, and liberty have always followed the knowledge of the true God. Home life is uplifted. Man is improved in every way to the EXTENT that he serves the true God.

We can give hundreds of proofs to show that the Bible is true. Therefore we must conclude that the God of the Bible is the only true God. " . . . there is one God . . . Howbeit there is not in all men that knowledge" (I Corinthians 8:6-7). But all men can have that knowledge if they will study the Bible.

What can we do? May we suggest just a few things which every Christian can do which might help.

I. Maintain a sense of spirituality and modesty in our own lives.
II. Rely on the scripture for sound instruction in matters of morals.
III. Insist upon straightforward teaching in classes and from the pulpit regarding morality.
IV. Insist upon the highest standards in our Christian schools and orphan homes.
V. Don't give in to the temptation to compromise with the world.

Perhaps the first thing we must do is to be conscious of the fact that we can be swallowed up by this move toward Godlessness unless we take positive steps to combat it.

WHY DID SHE DIE?

Last night my neighbour died. This morning her five children are without a mother. Why did my neighbour die? The newspaper would state it quite simply — she died from an overdose of tranquilizers. And so she is dead!

Was it my fault that she died? Perhaps. She is dead and I didn't tell her that all things work together for good to those who love the Lord. I failed to show her Matthew 11:28 where Jesus said, "Come unto me all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." I didn't point out that I Peter 5:7 tells us to cast our cares upon him for he cares for us. Yes, she died— a very troubled soul and maybe she died because I didn't care enough.

Was it your fault she died? "No" you say. "She wasn't my neighbour. I didn't even know her." Who is your neighbour? She might still be alive if so many Christians were not afraid — afraid to give ten or twenty dollars to preach the Gospel lest they go without something — afraid to move from the town they are familiar with to preach the Gospel — afraid to accept a lower paying job to preach the Gospel — afraid of the poverty of India, the challenge of London, the heat of Africa, or the cold of North Bay.

If I had come to North Bay two years ago, would I have been in time to teach my neighbour about the love of our Saviour? If you would come NOW, will you be in time to assist in the saving of your neighbour? How many hundreds of people are there here that are your neighbours and will be lost unless you come now? Until every Christian across this land is doing all they can spending all the time they can, in every way that they can to tell people that only Christ can replace alcohol and tranquilizers — not until then can we be free from guilt when such tragic waste occurs.

Why Are They Alive?

Sometime last summer during the month of July one of the campaign workers here in North Bay left a small tract in the door of Mr. Bill Schorse. Today both Bill and his wife are Christians. Why are they alive spiritually? I make bold to say that it is for two reasons: (1) Someone cared enough to sacrifice to come and (2) someone sacrificed to send.

Over Twenty thousand tracts were passed out last summer and as far as we can see now the one left in the door of the Schorses' was the only one that prompted action. When we remember the effort that was taken just to pass out those tracts— the scorching feet, the tired legs — the burning thirst — Was it worth it? If the same work is done this year and no more results are realized, will it be worthwhile? "Yes" and a thousand times "Yes". "What is a man profited if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul."

Brethren please come and help us. Some can send and some can come. Everybody can pray. May God move your heart to do something NOW. Will more of my neighbours be dead next year because of you or will more of them be alive. It's up to you and me.

Why did my neighbour die? This may be one of the questions that I will be called upon to answer in the day of judgment.

IF PREACHING HELP IS NEEDED, WRITE!

Dear Brethren:

I have, after arriving at the Sunset Church of Christ School of Preaching in Lubbock, Texas, not only found it a wonderful school of Bible teaching but I have found that there are several men here who want to be a part of the evangelistic effort in Canada. Most of these men already have their support. Some will be getting out of school this July others in February of 1965 and others in July of 1966.

Brethren I have found a wonderful opportunity here to encourage these men to come to Canada. Seeing that I worked in Canada as an evangelist they are coming to me for information on mission points. I am encouraging and doing my best to help them to make their decisions.

I would like you to help me. I need information about the cities where there are members without a located evangelist. Also places that would be good locations to establish the Lord's Church.

General information on the towns or cities could be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce. This would be of great help. Also any information you might know of yourself that would encourage one to come to a given city.

I would appreciate this information being sent as soon as possible as decisions are being made every day. This is a wonderful opportunity to get more evangelists into Canada. These men have all given up much to come and better prepare themselves at this school, to do the Lord's work. Let's do our best to get them to come to Canada after completing their studies.

Yours in His Service,

REFLECTIONS

God and man alike have praised consistency. "Thou that preachest a man should not steal, doest thou steal?"

In the negative pursuit of fault-finding, the jewel of consistency is often sold below its fair market value.

Convinced that a brother is in error, one may set about to press the point, appearing as a helpful Christian friend. Upon further examination it may be noted that the more scrupulous brother is actually not consistent with his demands upon others. When this is pointed out to him, he may say, "My wrongs do not make your practice right."

There is enough truth in this for it to be dis-arming. Two wrongs do not make a right. But Jesus said, Don't seek the removal of a particle from your brother's eye when there is a beam in your own. It was this illustration with which Christ illustrated "Judge not".

Two faults will not cover one. Two wrongs will not make a right. We must "judge righteous judgement," and correct our digressions. But judgements are forbidden to him who is inconsistent with the case he makes against the practice of a brother.

THERE, BUT FOR THE GRACE OF GOD . . .

by Keith T. Thompson

Time describes the scene. "It was a nice-looking group. The men wore quiet ties and dark, well-fitting suits; the women, mostly hatless and coifed for the occasion, were in simple knits or tweeds, just the thing for the suburbs — even an appearance in court. These were the parents whose arrest for violation of a Connecticut statute against serving liquor to minors has sent a shock wave of there-but-for-the-grace-of-God-go-I across the country."

A dance for about 250 youngsters was held under a tent on the grounds of a psychiatrist. The bar was tended by a public-school science teacher. After the party a 17 year old girl was killed in an accident in which a 19 year old boy had been driving. The boy had consumed twelve scotches and soda.

Incidents such as this remind us of the need for both parents and children to recognize their respective responsibilities. Nowhere do we have these responsibilities spelled out with any greater clarity than in Ephesians 6:1-4. Here the apostle Paul writes, "Children, obey your parents in the Lord, for this is right. 'Honor your father and mother' (this is the first commandment with a promise), 'that it may be well with you and that you may live long on the earth.' Fathers, do not provoke your children to anger, but bring them up in the discipline and instruction of the Lord." (RSV).

The first duty of the child is obedience to his parents. "Children, obey your parents in everything, for this pleases the Lord" (Col.3:20). Children who are disobedient to parents are classed with those who murder, hate God and do all manner of vile things (Rom.1:30). Disobedience to parents is one of the symptoms of the disintegration of society (2Tim.3:2). Christian families, by the example they set, should put a check on these disintegrating tendencies.

That Paul had the Christian home in mind is implied by the phrase "in the Lord." He is not considering a situation where parental orders might be contrary to the law of Christ. In such cases the principle enunciated by Peter, "We must obey God rather than men" must be invoked.

Such obedience to parents is "right." It is right because it is accepted as proper in every society. Even in nations practically untouched by Christian teaching, such as China, this truth is acknowledged. It is right according to Old Testament law. It is right according to the example of Jesus, who, as a boy, was obedient to Mary and Joseph.

Honor must be coupled with obedience. Some children render an outward obedience, but they have no real respect for their parents. Children who do not respect their parents will not have any respect for anyone, not even for God.

But parents have responsibilities too. The Living Letters translation reads "And now a word to you parents. Don't keep on scolding and nagging your children, making them angry and resentful. But bring them up with the loving discipline the Lord Himself approves, with suggestions and godly advice." Parents must not break the spirit of the child by constant criticism and correction. Encouragement is needed too. Martin Luther used to say: "Spare the rod and spoil the child—that is true; but beside the rod keep an apple to give him when he has done well."

The great danger today would appear to be in ignoring correction, not in overdoing it. Batsell Barret Baxter told of three little girls who were talking. "My mother lets me cross the street" said the first. The second replied, "That's nothing, my mother lets me cross every street I want to." It seemed that there was nothing left for the third little girl to say. But she said, "My mother doesn't let me cross any street. My mother loves me." Discipline, administered in Christian love, will produce the best results.

TEACHING GOD'S WORD

VISITATION IS IMPORTANT

H. Ralph Perry, London, Ontario

Two young men in their teens worked together to start a Sunday School. They visited in the community and waited anxiously to see what the results would be. Eighty-three students enrolled the next Sunday. They kept on visiting until attendance averaged between 320 and 330 each Sunday. This true story illustrates the value of visitation.

Some might react by stating that they are not interested in numbers. This is unfortunate, for God is. He wants "all" to be saved. A church without some programme of visitation into the homes of the neighbourhood surrounding its meeting place reveals little interest in lost souls. Someone has said, "A home-going church will produce church - going homes."

Consider with us three areas of a visitation programme: purpose, programme, and procedure.

I. The Purpose is Three-fold.

A. Visit to enlarge.

The problem of complacency is faced in many churches when it comes to reaching the lost of the community. We erect a building and put up a sign announcing our presence in the area. This is about all many churches do. Howard Hendricks, Christian Education professor at Dallas Theological Seminary, stated of this, "It is as if we say 'here we are you lucky sinners' and they stay away in droves."

There is little possibility of expansion without some form of visitation. Christ knew that the Jews and Gentiles of the first century would not come seeking him. He commissioned the apostles to "GO". There is nothing in the Bible telling sinners to come to a church building or to Chritian people. But Christ teaches that we should "go out into the highways and hedges and constrain them to come in, that my house may be filled." (Luke 14:23)

Growing Bible schools have almost been characterized by much visitation. I heard a speaker at a large Sunday school convention in Toronto say: "Enlargement requires:

1. Planned visitation,
2. Weekly visitation,
3. Prospect visitation,
4. Assigned visitation,
5. Reported visitation,
6. Skillful visitation,
7. Sustained visitation,
8. Empowered visitation.

Visitation becomes the absolute essential. This is basic to enlargement. Without it failure is certain." This man is Sunday school secretary for the fastest growing Protestant denomination in Canada.

B. To Educate.

Teaching is educating boys and girls, men and women in God's will and way. His book, the Bible is the text-book used in teaching in Bible classes. Our teaching, to be of value, must meet the needs of our pupils. It is practically impossible to know whether we are accomplishing this if we do not have a first hand contact with our students other than in a classroom situation.

The best means of getting to know the needs of our pupils and whether we are succeeding in meeting these needs is home visitation. The most effective Bible school teacher builds bridges to the heart and life through personal contact with his pupils.

Probably the greatest lack in our teaching is lack of personal involvement with our pupils — their problems and needs. Included in this is a failure to get concerned and involved with their family. We get so wrapped up in a programme that we miss the people.

C. To Evangelize.

Bringing our pupils to obedience to the gospel and building them up in Christ are our big goals in teaching. Without visitation or some kind of personal contact it is almost impossible to accomplish these goals.

In evangelism the low pressure approach is most effective. Quick decisions are often not lasting. We do not suggest so low a pressure that no results are realized for Christ. Too often visitation is just passing the time of day. A good contact is established and then we put into operation various methods of teaching. This we do to reach the parents and other family members as well as our pupils.

II. Programme of Visitation.

There are two main types of visitation.

A. Absentee Visitation. This is the process of conversation. It is said that 7 out of 8 children enrolled in Bible school will not enter the church. If the average church could hold those enrolled it would soon be a large church. Students are absent two or three weeks and gone. Nothing is done about it. We need absentee visitation.

A certain denomination thought it was doing quite well. In 100 years it had grown from 20,000 to 40,000. Someone figured up that if they had just held the children of the members the membership would be in excess of 1,500,000.

Students are absent two or three weeks and seen no more. Nothing is done about it. Yes, we need absentee visitation. Begin with church families and then go to others enrolled.

B. Prospect Visitation.

This is the process of securing contact for teaching and evangelism with those we do not now have enrolled.

How do we get prospects to visit?

1. Those in the church but not enrolled in Bible school.
2. Those not regularly attending but enrolled.
3. Those who visit church services. We miss an opportunity here by not visiting. They have taken the initiative and shown some interest. The next move is ours.
4. Other members of families enrolled. One boy may be attending. Visit and pray. It is not

WILL WE GO ON TO POSSESS THE LAND?

Paul S. Nathan

It was 11.40 p.m. when I knocked at the door of my house. Having heard the noise of my motorcycle, my wife was already there at the door waiting to open. I entered in. We had been out preaching. We had meetings in three different villages. That day we had worked more than 14 hours and I was tired. I was hungry too. But I could not eat anything. Had something to drink and went to bed. I lay awake for a long time. I thought and thought. Here I share with you something that concerned me to the extent of making me think all through the night.

I believe we have entered into a new era. This era has brought with it a new challenge. For the first time in the history of South India the Gospel is proclaimed without any addition or subtraction. Now these are the things that challenge us:

1. People: It is staggering to think that India has in herself one-sixth of the world population. In spite of vigorous effort to control birth, population in India is growing every day. Recently we have been visiting many villages. Wherever we go we see hundreds of children. These young ones are the citizens of India of tomorrow. We have a duty to perform. How and when are these millions going to hear the Gospel?

2. Progress: With its 440 million people India has made great progress in the past decade. I am an Indian and from this point of view I write this. We have everywhere new industries springing up. Progress is filtering through the villages. India is not what it was fifteen years ago. I believe any honest man willing to work can get work and a living wage. Poverty, hunger, and begging are very, very slowly but surely disappearing. Things that we have been importing until recently are manufactured in India. There are schools in every village. No one is denied the opportunity to study and free education up to middle school is offered to all. India is marching onward!

Potentials: In the whole of India we have less than 15 congregations and out of these at least 12 came into existence only a few months ago. The church, though small, is very potential. I believe that the future of the world is much dependent upon India. The task is great. Think, 440 million souls! The future of any nation can be determined any time by the opinion of the youth. Is there any hope? Yes, there is! There is a spirit of enquiry among the youth. As I said before these youth are the hope of the future. We have not less than 600 students enrolled in our Bible Correspondence courses. Most of them are youth. For the first time these people are hearing the Gospel. It will be interesting to know that in India we have most of the sects, denominations and cults. But people are willing to investigate. The whole of India is waiting to hear the truth. Will we preach and teach them? We must and make disciples. We must be crusaders and not merely Christians. Brother Choate and Brother Hogan alone cannot evangelize Pakistan. Brother Bailey alone will never be able to reach all the four million people in Tamil nad (Tamil nad is only a part of South India). The Perry's, Bro. MacMillan and Brother Hallet alone cannot be entrusted the task of reaching the North. I had a burden to share with you. I think it is time we Indian brethren take up the responsibility on ourselves to reach our own for the Lord. We need a vision to give sacrificially. We need a heart to go willingly. These people are ours and we must act. The situation calls for a rededication on our part to the task. If we don't do this nobody will. This calls for a complete abandonment on our part to the task. We must be lost in this business. We must spread the flame and not a few flickers. Will the brethren in India and Pakistan do something to meet this new situation? Remember, it is our responsibility to take the Gospel to Nepal, Ceylon, Sikkim and Afganistan. These people have never heard and they are being led away daily by false religion and Communism. Shall we act now and possess the land?

(Brother Paul Nathan was born a Brahmin, that is the highest caste in Hinduism. He turned to Christianity. He sought his way through the maze of denominationalism into the purity of New Testament Christianity. He has interpreted scores of sermons for me and this week end he is off on his own to a place some 200 miles distant to preach the gospel of God's Son. Brethren pray for this man, and others like him who will, in the final analysis evangelize India.

Brother Choate and Hogan are getting a number of helpers into Pakistan this year. If there are new workers for India we have not heard of them. J.C.B.)

WEDDING

MELDRUM — WALCZAK

A very pretty wedding between Doreen Louise Walczak and Bruce Gordon Meldrum was solemnized October 2nd at the Ivon Avenue Church of Christ, Hamilton.

The reception was held at the Casablanca following the service. A host of friends and relatives were present to join with the young couple in celebrating the happy occasion.

After a trip westward, Bruce and Doreen will make their home in Hamilton where they are employed.

They are faithful members of the Ivon Avenue congregation and we pray God's blessing upon them, that their lives together may be happy and a rich blessing to others.

THE CALL FOR LEADERSHIP

Clinton Brazle,
North Weyburn, Sask.

Every where I go, I find brethren who want to do more for the Lord. But there is much hesitation. Obviously there is a real need for more effective leadership. Most groups are doing all their present leadership has led them to do. Many of our churches are doing more than they ever have before. This is a sign of an awakening leadership. May God be praised.

TRAIN YOURSELF TO LEAD. You may be the one God has in mind to lead the church where you meet to greater service. Prepare yourself to lead. It took Moses 40 years in Egypt and another 40 years herding sheep in Midian to prepare to lead God's people from slavery. We pray that it will not take men that long today but obviously we must prepare to lead people from sin.

More men are qualified than ever before to train men to be effective leaders. Churches will do well to arrange for such a man to come and spend time with them in training men to lead. A leadership Training Course might be conducted in lieu of a gospel meeting, or better still, in addition to the plans for evangelism. More elders can be developed when more emphasis is placed on preparing for the eldership. Young and old alike can benefit from such training.

The Airport church in North Weyburn is using a set of filmstrips, Leadership for Christ, in an effort to develop dynamic leaders for the Lord. Furthermore, the set is being used by churches in Regina, Moose Jaw, Lloydminster and Sidney, Montana. Churches in other areas would do well to obtain the set and use it to develop their own talent latent with power for Jesus. It is available for $49.00 (8 strips) from the WCC Bookstore or from the Gospel Herald. Order it! Use it! Share it! LET'S DEVELOP LEADERSHIP AMONG GOD'S PEOPLE! MILLIONS WAIT ON YOU TO LEAD THEM. DON'T DISAPPOINT THEM!

HERE AND THERE

Wellandport, Ont.: David Johnson of Fennell Avenue, Hamilton is the speaker for a series of meetings here November 20 - December 8 (except Wednesday). One was baptized on November 1.

Port Arthur - Fort William: The church in the Lakehead cities of Port Arthur and Fort William has made a down payment on two acres of land situated on the Trans-City Expressway to be used as a building site.

The site, on the western edge of Fort William, adjacent to Port Arthur, is in the midst of a large housing area. A new high school is located two blocks away, and another high school and a public school are to be built next to it. More than 500 new homes are to be built (construction is already underway) just west and north of the site.

The expressway will be one of the most heavily traveled roads in the entire area. Because it is an expressway, the Provincial Government is sharing in the cost of local improvements, thus reducing the overall cost to the church.

The congregation hopes to erect a building similar to the one in Ottawa.

The 12 members of the congregation (five wage-earners) have paid $500 down on the land. The remaining $4,500 must be paid in December. (The city of Port Arthur had asked $20,000 for a similar site, not so well-located.) The church is now trying to raise the additional sum. If you would like to help, write the Church of Christ, Box 924, Port Arthur, Ontario.

Western Christian College: The annual report showed a very stable financial year for the college with the purchase of buildings and property, day to day operations taken care of and the budget balanced. Total donations for the year almost doubled those of the previous year.

The lectureship on the theme "Christianity in Action" attracted large crowds. The theme of the 1965 lecture series was announced as "The Educational Program of the Church" and the dates October 8-11.

Edmonton, Alta.: There has been much reaping here. As a result of the 1963 Exhibition Display, a 17 year old young man was baptized and during April and May 9 other members of the family or friends of the family obeyed. Two other baptisms brought the membership of this church to 60 by the beginning of the campaign.

During the campaign, 40 Christians came to work. They visited 60% of the homes passing out 34,000 brochures. Hugo McCord held a 15 day meeting. Twenty souls responded, 18 of whom were baptized. A file of 319 contacts has been left, and the church has conducted as many as 16 home Bible studies a week. One was baptized on September 24. Removals leaves a membership of 74 of whom 61 are constant.

AIRPORT CHURCH WILL SPONSOR McMILLAN

The Airport Church meeting on the campus of Western Christian College in Weyburn, Saskatchewan will assume sponsorship of the R. McMillan work in Assam, India.

Brother McMillan requested that the church accept this work beginning January, 1965. The Airport church will support the work financially to the amount of $100.00 per month and is looking to other churches and individuals to help make up the balance needed. The work previously was sponsored by the church in Wawota, Saskatewan and it was at their request that the Airport church was invited to take on this work. For those corresponding with the Airport Church the address is N. Weyburn, Saskatchewan. Brother and Sister McMillan have a new address in India. It is:

unusual to enroll and finally win the whole family.

5. Those new in the community.

III. Procedure of Visitation.

Let us consider some basic principles or steps in effective visitation procedure.

A. Organize Your Programme. There can be organization without life but there can not be life without organization. Someone should be in charge of the programme. A secretary probably should be appointed to keep proper records.

B. Train Your visitors. The basic reason why people won't visit is that they are afraid to do so. Too often we send folks out without training. This could do more harm than good.

There are four aspects to training.

1. Tell a person what they are doing and how.
2. Show him or demonstrate all kinds of situations one can get into.
3. Provide experience under a controlled situation in the classroom.
4. Put him in a real situation. Apprentice the prospective visitor to an experienced worker. He should listen closely to everything. When questions are asked he should ask himself how he would answer. He will soon want to take the next house.
5. Put him on his own.
6. Finally apprentice somebody else to him.

C. Arm Your Worker With Literature (other than tracts).

The average person thinks the church is in business to get something from him. Really it is to give him something very valuable. Take along attractive pictures and information depicting every phase of the church's activities — what it gives.

Basically, people are looking for three things in a church.

1. A good teacher.
2. Friendliness.
3. Something for their family. They want to know what activities you have for teens, etc. Show them. Some will come as a result of this interest.

D. Secure Periodic Reports.

Good records of results should be kept and used.

E. Let the workers go out at their convenience.

Send out husband and wife teams, men teams, ladies' teams, etc. but let them go at their convenience, and the convenience of those being visited. This brings us to the final point.

E. Make appointments.

This will usually make for better relations and cut down on inefficiency in visitation.

Conclusion.

Visitation is a must in the work of the church. May we realize our purpose in contacting people and arm ourselves with training and then go out and visit. We will be surprised at the results in increased enrollment, attendance and souls saved. (Grateful) acknowledgment: Most of the ideas in this article were received from two lectures at the recent Ontario Sunday School Convention in Toronto. Mr Montgomery of the Pentecostal church and Mr H Hendricks of Dallas, Theological Seminary were the lecturers.)

FOR THE GRACE OF GOD

ly Letter reports a speech made by Commissioner George B McCellan of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. He was stressing the prevalence of parental delinquency, suggesting that troubles with youth begin in the home. To sharpen his lesson he listed ten effective methods to use so that a child will become an anti-social misfit:

(1) Do not have any rules for child behavior or obedience in the home. This will ensure that the child has no clear concept of right or wrong.

(2) If you have any rules, enforce them intermittently. Ignore them when you are in good humour and knock the kid silly if he breaks the rules when you are tired and out of sorts. This will confuse him thoroughly. He won't know what is expected of him and will eventually resent all discipline.

(3) Air your domestic dispute right out in front of the children, preferably with a little name-calling. This will ensure that he has no respect for either of his parents.

(4) Never give a child any chores or regular duties around the home. This will convince him that you and the world owe him a living, without effort on his part.

(5) If he is disciplined at school, always go to the school and tell the teacher or the principal off in front of the child. This will create an excellent contempt for authority at any level.

(6) Later, when he has trouble with police, which is most likely, bawl out the officer, or, better still, the Chief, being always sure to refer to the "dumb cop."

(7) When you are out driving with the family, exceed the local speed limit, but slow down when you see a police car. Be sure to speed up as soon as the police car is out of sight. This will show the child that the law is to be observed only if there is any danger of being caught.

(8) If you are stopped by the police for speeding, always deny flatly that you were exceeding the speed limit. Make a big fuss over it. Your child will then know that cheating and lying are acceptable procedures.

(9) If you have managed to chisel a few dollars on your income tax, be sure and tell the family at the dinner table that night how smart you are. This should convince the youngsters that stealing is all right if you can get away with it.

(10) Never check up on where your youngsters are in the evening. Never mind what time they get home. Never, never, try to learn anything about their friends. This one is almost sure fire.

As Christians, we must set the example to the world with truly Chritian homes. We cannot expect the world to live as Christians until they are converted to Christ. But by showing them by precept and example the value of such homes we can lead them to want Christian homes themselves.

Book Reviews

Books to be reviewed in this column should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont., Canada.

The Protestant and Roman Catholic New Testament, published by Iversen-Ford Associates, New York, N.Y., 435 pages, given to new subscribers to Christian Heritage.

Here, within one cover, we have two translations of the New Testament, one Protestant the other Roman Catholic. At least these are the generally accepted terms for describing these translations. Actually, the New Testament is neither Protestant or Roman Catholic, simply Christian.

The so-called Protestant version in this volume is the Revised Standard Version. It is commended for its combination of modern English clarity with close adherence to the majestic style of the beloved King James Version.

The Roman Catholic Confraternity Version is used in this book because, like the Revised Standard Version, it is a translation into modern English. It carries the Imprimatur of the Roman Catholic Church as an approved version. The average reader will be surprised to find little basic textual difference between the two versions.

It would seem that this volume would be of great help to anyone interested in comparing these two versions. It would be especially useful to those engaged in discussion regarding Roman Catholicism and related questions.

The only way you can obtain this version is by subscribing to Christian Heritage magazine at $3.00 for one year. This magazine is devoted to issues between Roman Catholics and non Catholics. While readers of the Gospel Herald will not agree with everything in this magazine, they will find it informative and interesting. The address is Christ's Mission Inc. 275 State Street, Hackensack, N.J. 07602.

Holy Ground, Expositions from Exodus by Douglas M. White, Baker Book House, Grand Rapids, (In Canada, G. R. Welch Co., Toronto), 144 pages, $2.50 (plus exchange in Canada).

This is a volume in Baker's Evangelical Pulpit Library. The author, a Baptist minister, gives us some good sermons on a neglected part of God's Word. The expositions are well outlined and carefully written.

There are several other volumes in the Evangelical Pulpit Library now available. These include Christ in You, An Exposition of the Epistle to the Colossians; Sermons from the Psalms by Calvin P. Swank; Expository Preaching Without Notes and Sermons Preached Without Notes, both by Charles W. Koller; Wrestlers with God (on the prayers of the Old Testament) by Clarence Macartney; and At The Master's Feet (on the Sermon on the Mount) by H. H. Hargrove.

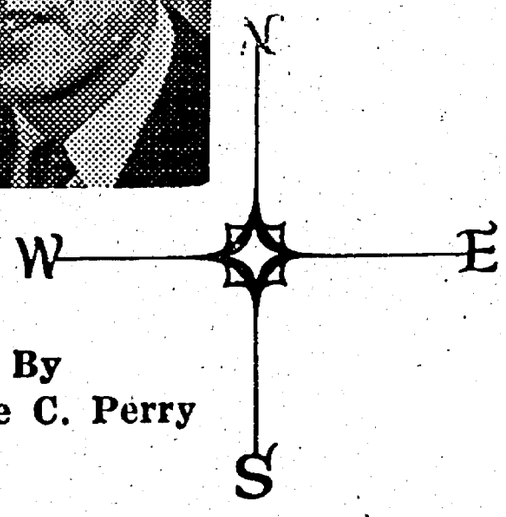
BIBLE QUIZ

II Timothy 2:15; 3:16, 17

The Bible is God's Word. It is the meat and drink of the spiritual life. Christians need to study it daily. These questions will help to indicate something of how effective your study has been.



THIEVERY IN THE BIBLE

1. What did Rachel steal from her father when her husband Jacob took her from Laban's home?
2. What object did Joseph have planted in Benjamin's bag of grain to make it appear that it had been stolen?
3. What did the Law of Moses require of a man who stole a sheep and destroyed it?
4. To whom was John the Baptist speaking when he said, "Rob no one by violence or by false accusation, and be content with your wages"?
5. What man did Jesus describe as "a thief and a robber"?
6. Name the only safety deposit box totally proof against thieves and robbers, as identified in the scriptures.
7. What prophet recorded these words of God: "Will a man rob God? Yet you are robbing me"?
8. Name the robber that was released when Christ was retained to be crucified.
9. To what church was Paul talking when he said, "I robbed other churches by accepting support from them in order to serve you."
10. Complete Paul's statement: "For you yourselves know well that the ..... of the ..... will come like a thief in the night."

ANSWERS — 1. Gods, (idols) Gen. 31:19. 2. Silver cup, Gen. 44:2. 3. Return four sheep, Ex. 22:2. 4. Soldiers, Lk. 3:14. 5. Whoever enters the sheepfold over the wall rather than through the door, or that attempts to gain heaven without Christ, Jn. 10:1. 6. Heaven, Mt. 6:19. 7. Malachi, Mal. 3:8. 8. Barabbas, Jn. 18; 40. 9. Church at Corinth, 2 Cor. 11:8. 10. Day, Lord, I Thess. 5:2.

As suggested last issue, we do not plan to publish an issue for January since we have already issued more than the 240 pages which complete this volume. Our office will be closed from December 18th until the new year. We trust that this will not seriously inconvenience anyone.

This issue is being mailed a week late and the February issue will go out one week early so that the spaces between issues will not seem too great. This means that copy for the February issue should be in our hands by January 12th. The co-operation of all is appreciated.

Halifax, N.S.: The Morris Thurmans of Easton, Mass. were scheduled to conduct teacher training and men's training classes at this place, November 16-20. "Prospects for home studies this winter look good." A drop in financial support both local and outside is tending to hamper the work.

Lachine, P.Q.: The floor is poured and the walls and partitions going up in the new building which the foreman says will be ready for the new year. Additional finances are still needed. Hopes for getting exhibition space at the 1967 World's Fair seem quite slim at this time as "ecumenicism" is to be the emphasis. Two members have moved in from Jamaica and a French speaking brother has sought acceptance. S. F. Timmerman will need a source of support after June 30, 1965 but expresses his intention to stay with the work even if his efforts should be hampered by the necessity to seek secular support.

Quebec, P.Q.: Things look encouraging here. I have visited, or otherwise contacted all those from Quebec City whose names and addresses I had received from Montreal, Paris and the World's Fair. At least four seem especially interested and I hope to get some home Bible studies started with them. We are also passing out material from door to door and placing ads in both the English and French papers of Quebec City, offering our Bible Courses. We hope to locate a suitable meeting place for public services in the near future.

—Owen Aiken

Kingston, Ont.: Bro. Thompson moved to Carman at the end of June and this church is now dependent on local talent. Chuck Harvey of Toronto conducted a five night cottage meeting training series in July. Bro. Hanlin of West Virginia held a meeting, Oct. 4-14 and Bro. Eddy of Ohio is to be here for a spring meeting.

Ajax, Ont.: Two were recently baptized at this place. The membership at Ajax now stands at 44.

Newmarket, Ont.: A family of three were obedient to the gospel on October 11. From 16 members at the end of the campaign this summer, this congregation has grown to have a membership of 30. Magnar Knutson, the evangelist, is working under the sponsorship of the church at Allan Park in Detroit.

Toronto, Strathmore Blvd.: One was restored recently.

Hamilton, Fennell Ave.: Eleven were baptized and two restored in the meeting held by L. Wesley Jones at this place.

Beamsville, Ont.: During the meeting held by David Johnson of Hamilton in October the young son of Brother Thompson was baptized. We rejoice with him.

Fenwick, Ont.: "Things continue to go well in planning our "Christ For The World Campaign" for the Fenwick - Port Colborne area. We are asking brethren everywhere to join with us in prayer for God's blessings upon us and all the works being done for the glory of God. December 31st is a time when Christians enjoy fellowship while waiting for the new year to come into being. We ask you, brethren, wherever you are on this night to join with us in a time of prayer. Plans are at Fenwick to meet at the meeting house and there join our hearts in prayer to God. Will you not join with us at that time?"

—Max Craddock

Tintern, Ont.: One was restored on November 22. This church is still seeking the services of an evangelist.

Jordan, Ont.: On November 1, one was baptized and two restored at this place. Following a series of home Bible studies Glen Nichols was baptized on the twelveth.

London, Ont.: Bus transportation is being tried for Bible school children. There are 10 classes being taught for all ages.

Tillsonburg, Ont.: A regular Bible study in homes was started here on October 29th.

Windsor,, Ont.: "We recently closed out Fall Meeting with James B. Crotts of Princeton, Kentucky, doing the speaking. The meeting was well attended and one was restored."

—Ray L. Miller

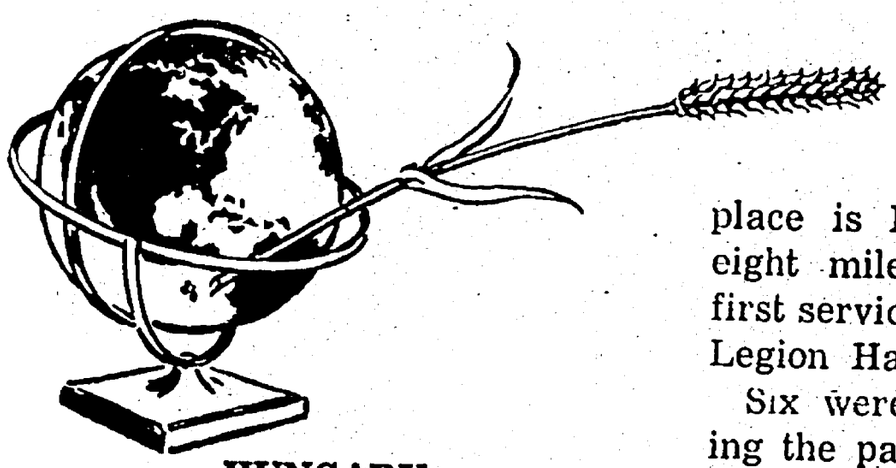
Barrie, Ont.: "After literally years of negotiation, Herald of Truth television will begin on Channel Three, Barrie, on January 3rd. This results from much prayer and hope throughout Central Ontario. It is an expensive contract, by some standards. While we will be given the films by the wonderful brethren who produce them in Abilene, the time on the air will cost $171.00 per week.



"It is hoped that by the time you read this, more than eighty per cent of this will be promised by Canadians, as there are over 325 members of the church in the prime coverage area, exclusive of Toronto. We believe Toronto brethren will also want to participate. Slightly over fifty cents each from those who live in the coverage area would pay for the programme, and we would never have to ask for a penny of help from brethren in the South. See the advertisement in this issue.

"On Thursday, November 12, brethren from Collingwood, Newmarket, Pine Orchard and Barrie, met together to discuss plans for the 1965 Campaign. Dates will be June 10, with eight days of preaching, commencing June 14. Theme for '65 will be "Let Christ Reign." Since we are able to make this announcement now, we hope many Ontario brethren will be joining us for several days of this special effort.

Watch for announcements soon

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

HUNGARY

Brother Bob Hare, who visited Hungary in 1960 but was refused entry in 1961 and 1962 was recently granted a visa. He had been invited by the Church of the Brethren. He met with these people in discussions and meetings every night for a week. On Wednesday night, October 28, 350 people crowded into the small hall. Similar crowds attended services three times on Sunday.

Hare writes, "I found a great hungering and thirsting for the truth everywhere I went. The people behind the iron-curtain seem to have a deeper and more earnest longing for the truth than those in western Europe." A man from Romania who was present invited him to his country for Bible studies. Many Bibles have been sent into Hungary and a correspondence course in this language is being planned. Prayers and finances are needed to support this work.

SCOTLAND

Since the campaign closed on the sixth of September there have been an additional five baptisms and one restoration. This makes a total of 35 people baptized and five restored. Included in the baptisms were five couples, nine teenagers and a lady in her 70's. Less than one third of these had any previous contact with the church. Roy Henson of Moss, Tennessee has remained until the new year to help with follow-up work. He has financial support for one month of this period only.

This church, where Phyllis White is located, started five years ago with six Scottish members and two American families. The membership is now 94 and there is a new building seating 225 and 14 classes in addition to the adult classes on Sunday.

IRELAND

Brother Thomas E. Hahn with his family is being supported in a new location in Ireland by the Arlington, Virgina church. The place is Lisburn, a city of 18,000 eight miles south of Belfast. The first services were held in the British Legion Hall on November 1.

Six were baptized in Belfast during the past month. Jack Stevenson and Jim McGuiggan are the evangelists there. The wife of a man who had been baptized by brother Cooper five years ago was baptized in Coleraine where Bro. C. H. St. John is the evangelist.

JORDAN

"We are happy to be able to report that Sunday Brother Victor Joseph came and confessed sin and asked for the prayers of the church." —Everett Huffard.

Brother Dick Biggs, serving the church in Knox City, Texas, formerly a successful building contractor, has made plans to go with his wife to join the Everett Huffard family in Jerusalem, Jordan. Plans are being made to expand all phases of church work in Jerusalem with plans being made for the building of an adequate building to house extensive activities in the city.

ISRAEL

Farouk Qubty, a native of Nazareth, who has been evangelizing in his native land since graduating from A.C.C. in 1962 writes, "We are now ready to open our campaign and construct two church buildings in Galilee, Israel." A two year program has been launched by the Western Avenue Church of Christ in Toledo, Ohio. At the present time there are 66 members of the church in Israel — 60 Arabs and only six Jews. However, there are between 300 and 400 prospects and works are envisioned in eight cities besides Jerusalem.

PAKISTAN

"My family and I have been here teaching school for about a year, and have worshipped alone until about eight weeks ago when we were joined by another family of Christian school teachers. We are attempting to get something going with the Pakistanis, and now have almost 100 enrolled in a Bible correspondence course, which we only started in June. The church is on the march, and it is truly a thrill to be a part of it all. Since 1960, Christians have begun to meet in six major points in Pakistan (two of which have fulltime missionaries and are on a firm footing) plus several village works; and in two major points in India, which you know about, and other village works. Our latest arrival is a Bro. J. C. Phillips, Taj Mahal Hotel, Bombay, India, who is a school teacher like myself, and hopes to do some constructive Christian works while here." Samel T. Lanford

INDIA

"The Lord continues to bless our efforts to reach the people of South India with the gospel. The last 2½ weeks have been spent in the State of Andhra Pradesh. We contacted three different groups who had started independent work and preached among them. There were many things that we found according to the New Testament pattern. We found among most of these people a willingness to practice the way of the Lord more accurately where they were in the wrong.

"There were 146 baptized during our ministry in that State. One of the workers here reports three baptisms during our absence. A report from the workers who recently came to us from the Christian Church reports 41 baptized. Today we baptized a brother of our Telugu translator and interpreter. There have now been 623 baptized since we have been in the Madras area.

"Brethren pray HARD that we have the needed wisdom to carry out the great task before us. Pray for all these babes in Christ."

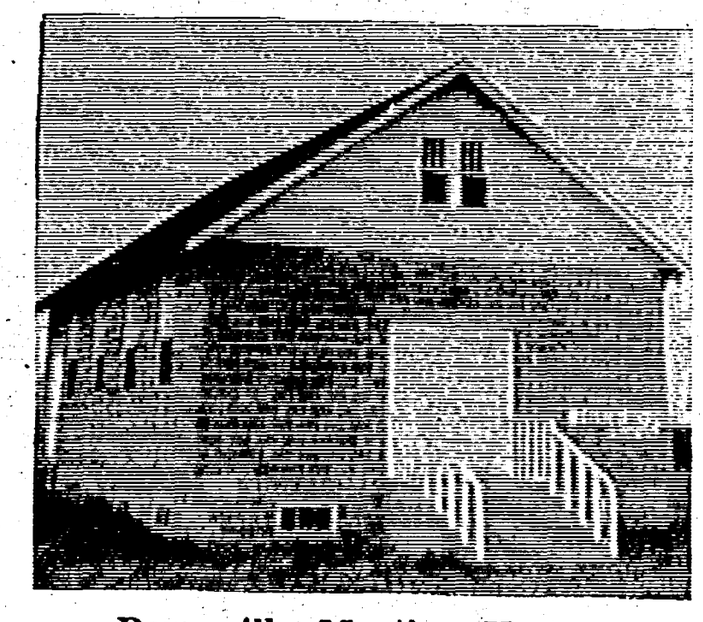
History Of The Congregation At Estevan

Estevan Meeting House

Earliest records available show that perhaps the first Christians to live in Estevan were Brother and Sister Thomas Orr, parents of Bro. Wilfred Orr. This family moved to Estevan in 1919 and met in their home until the coming of Brother H. A. Rogers in 1921. With the evangelistic efforts of Brother Rogers and the continued work of Brother Orr there was a total of about 20 converts in the next two years. Property was purchased at 1014 Second Street and a basement was built in which services were held for the next few years.

During the mid-twenties the congregation grew to about fifty members and elders were appointed. With the difficult times of the late twenties and early thirties, many of the members moved away to seek their livelihood, and as happens many times, many members just left. The property was sold in the late twenties and services were held in various homes for a time. During the 1930's it seems that the only member left in Estevan was Sister Eric Johnson. About 1939 Cecil Bailey, then living in Oungre, Sask., began coming to Estevan once a month to hold services, and later Brother Hector McLeod continued these monthly trips until 1944, when Brother Norman Hoffman, an elevator agent, was moved to Blewett, Sask., a small hamlet a few miles out of Estevan. Worship services were started regularly at the Johnson home, continuing there until the Hoffman's moved to Estevan when services were moved to their home.



Brother Hoffman was perhaps our first 'located preacher', although he was paid very little, but this did not deter him from bending his energies to spread the gospel in this area. In late 1946, property was purchased at the present location and a modest building was begun, with the official opening in the spring of 1947. Brother Hoffman and family left Estevan shortly thereafter and Brother Morris Bailey and family moved here to work with us, continuing with us until late 1948 or early 1949.

In the spring of 1949, the congregation at Estevan hired it's first fully supported evangelist in the person of Brother Louis Pauls. At the same time, a very small house was purchased as a residence for the preacher, and Brother and Sister Pauls moved in. The church enjoyed a period of growth during this time, both in the form of converts and Christians moving to Estevan from some of the surrounding areas. Bro. and Sister Pauls moved to Ontario in 1952 and for the next year or more we were without a located preacher, the brethren taking turns in speaking and making use of neighboring preachers when possible.

In 1954, Brother Richard Dacus agreed to come and work with us, and in order to accommodate him and his family, we embarked upon

Perryville Church

Perryville Meeting House

The Perryville church near Punnichy dates back to March 31, 1918 when Fred Perry gathered a handful of disciples together for breaking of Bread. Those present were: Fred Perry, Austin Perry, their father, Charles Perry, Isabelle Williams and Frederick and Catherine York. Worship services were quite regular in homes in the years to follow. In December, 1918, H. A. Rogers preached in a meeting with eight conversions in the Perryville community. In November, 1931, D. A. Sinclair held meetings and made converts. Eleven were added at this time. Gordon Sinclair worked with his father and stayed through the winter. Meetings were conducted in the Perryville school. In June, 1927, W. E. Morgan from Texarkana, preached in a meeting with one convert.

D. A. Sinclair moved here in the spring of 1932 and stayed until 1938. The Gospel Herald was started here during this time edited by Robert Sinclair and mimeographed in a farmhouse in the Perryville district.

Bible School was first held here in 1933. Brother Wilfred Orr and D. A. Sinclair helped with this school and Brother D. A. Perkins did the speaking. The plans for this school were made by Brother D. A. Sinclair in the summer of 1932. The ladies canned Saskatoons, Rhubarb, and Prunes. Men cut logs to put up a building for the school.

Some who have helped with Vacation Bible Schools and Gospel Meetings are: J. C. Bailey, Manley Jacobs, Hector McLeod, Cecil Bailey, H. A. Rogers, Morris Bailey, S. C. Kinnington, Magnar Knutson, Jim Hawkins, Gordon Pennock, Louis

Bengough, Saskatchewan

About the month of February in 1931, a tall young man, named Carlos Bailey, now known to us as Brother J. C. Bailey was in touch with a family, formerly from Ogema, namely, Mr. and Mrs. Mont Lock. He had come from Ontario but at the time was living in Ogema, Saskatchewan, with his wife and family. He drove a Model A Ford touring car.

He arranged for house meetings in their home.

As interest grew, Mr Bailey was invited to hold meetings in the home of Mrs. L. Pennock.

Crowds grew larger as interest increased. Soon the home of Mrs. Pennock was not large enough to accommodate the crowd, so with the permission of the Lambton school board, the meetings were moved to the Lambton school house about six miles South and East of Bengough.

Meetings grew more interesting as time went on, and people started going forward in answer to the call for Christ. Among those who accepted their saviour were Mrs. L. Pennock, and many others.

As more people went forward in the meeting, some opposition began to grow, and leaders of denominations were called upon to defend their teaching.

Brother Bailey successfully defended the truth but much bitterness grew among the opposition, some of which was not forgotten for many years.

However, at the close of the meetings at Lambton, if my memory serves me right, some 14 people were taken in a few cars to Radville to be baptized, for there they had a Meeting House with a baptistry in it.

From this time on services after the New Testament pattern were held in the Lambton school house each Lord's Day. and a great interest was shown in Church work.

This period of time of course was known as the dry '30s and some of our members were caused to move away in search of a better livelihood.

As some moved away, some new converts were made. Through the years that followed, faithful Brethren with the help of God carried on this good work.

Finally the Lambton school house was closed and offered for sale, and we were forced to seek a new Meeting place.

Letters written to congregations of the Church all over Canada for support to build a new Meeting house in the Bengough vicinity, brought a good response and with the money the Church had laid aside, and with the help of interested Brethren and friends, a neat little Meeting house was built on the outskirts of Bengough on the east side of 34 highway, where the Church continues to labor earnestly for the Lord with Bible schools, protracted meetings, etc., and have won back a great respect in the Community but give all glory to God.

Through the years that followed the beginning of the Church in this area, here are the names of the Brethren who held protracted meetings and Sunday services for the Church here — Brother J. C. Bailey, Brother Rogers, Brother Petch, Brother Stanley McInery, Brother D. A. Sinclair, Brother Gordon Pennock, Brother Johnny Lewis, Brother Glen Dods, Brother James Burns, Brother Loran Smith accompanied by the Jackson family, and of late Brother Currey accompanied by

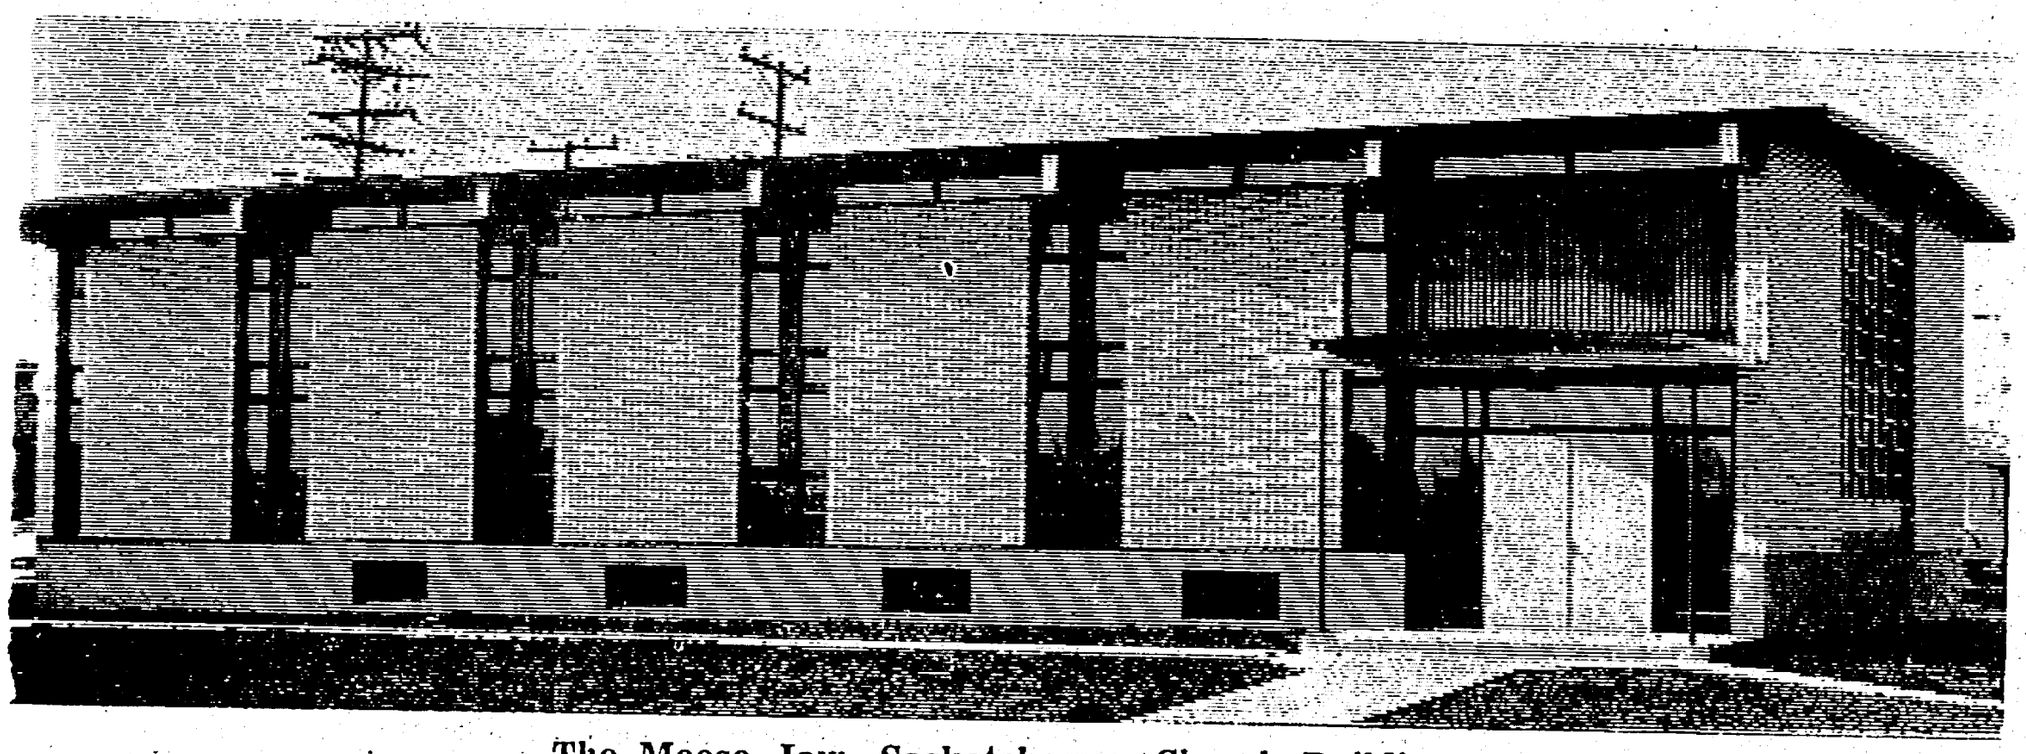
Carnduff Church of Christ

The Church in Carnduff had its beginning in August of 1958 when Mel Brandt and his family moved there. Worship services were held in their home until Glen and Raymond moved away and at that time Brother and Sister Brandt worshipped with the Church in Estevan.

A series of meetings were conducted by Stephen Ennis, followed by a fruitful effort on the part if Carl E. Johnson, who drove from Estevan each Sunday to help with the worship service and arranged Bible studies which resulted in five baptisms. During this time another concentrated effort was made by Brothers Fisher and Kennedy in another series of meetings.

The Church offered to purchase the old Baptist Church building after renting it for some time but lost out to a higher bidder. Therefore, at the present time, the Church meets in the public school auditorium and has set up a "building fund" hoping to build in the near future.

In the Fall of 1964, Cecil Bailey's moved to Oxbow, Welland Drader's took up residence in Carnduff, Dorothy Davies at Carievale, and all meet to worship at Carnduff along with the Coulter family from Frobisher. This gives us a regular attendance of 14 adults and 10 children. Brother Bailey teaches adult classes and does the preaching.



—W. B. Drader

Brother Mathes and Brother Clyde Adams, Brother Wilfred Orr, also Brother Wicks, Brother Eugene Perry, and Brother Donald Perry, who laboured earnestly for about two years with the Brethren here, also Brother James O'Neil as well as Brethren from both Weyburn and Regina. Surely these Brethren will be greatly rewarded for a faithful effort to extend the Church of the Lord in this area.

Should I have omitted the names of anyone it is simply an oversight and surely not intentional.

The Moose Jaw Church

The Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan Church Building

Services of the Church of Christ in Moose Jaw date back to the fall of 1941. Like most places where the work of the Lord started, there were just a few members. The first services were held in the homes of members. Seeing the need for a larger place to meet the members started to meet in a Boy Scout hall on McDonald Street.

The first series of gospel meetings were held in the fall of 1944. The meetings were conducted by the late Bro. H. A. Rogers.

Once the hall became inadequate to meet for services, plans were made to build a church building. Property was purchased on the corner of Home and Main Streets South and work begun on the basement of the new building. The basement was dug by using a team of horses. All the cement was mixed by hand which some of the members will never forget. By the fall of 1946 the foundation and basement was completed.

In 1947 Bro. Wilfred Orr and family moved to Moose Jaw and he took up the work of preaching the gospel in this area.

The members with the help of Bro. Orr worked on the top part of the building. On November 28, 1948 the first services were held in this building. The years passed and the number of members increased as people moved to the city and as people obeyed the gospel. It was evident that plans would have to be made to obtain a larger place to meet. In 1961 property was purchased in a developing area of the city. In February 1964 a contractor was engaged to construct a building on this property. The first services were held in this new building on Sunday, October 4, 1964, followed by a series of gospel meetings conducted by Bro. Jim Hawkins of Victoria, B.C. The building will seat 250 in the auditorium and the basement has very adequate Bible class facilities. Parking is also provided on the property.

The membership of the congregation is 95. Although the membership has been increasing approximately 65, including children have moved from this area in the last five years. Sunday morning attendance is about 120.

Brother Bruce Tetreau

Over the past years several preachers of the Gospel have worked with this congregation; some giving part-time and some full-time to the work of the Lord. Some of the men who have worked full time were: Bro. Wilfred Orr, Bro. Roger Peterson, Bro. Hart and Bro. J. C. Bailey. Bro. Bruce Tetreau who is presently working with the congregation, has been here for one year.

Our weekly radio broadcast which was off the air for sometime was revived this spring. This is supported by congregations in the United States.

This past summer our V.B.S. was held in a public school in the area where the new building was being constructed. The school was very successful with a record attendance of 162. This was about double any school previously held here.

At present a personal work program is being organized. Cottage meetings are being organized and set up. Film strips are being used as an aid in this teaching.

Thus far this year three series of gospel meetings have been held by: Bro. L. Fisher, of Oregon, Bro. Duke Gregor of Alabama, and Bro. J. Hawkins, Victoria, B.C.

If you are travelling or visiting in this area we give you a warm welcome to visit and worship with us.

Swift Current, Saskatchewan

Swift Current Meeting House

To my knowledge Swift Current was without members of the church until 1947, when three brethren (Wilfred Orr, George Clark and James McCuaig) united in a business venture. Brother Clark and Brother McCuaig moved here with their families, and were joined by Sister Jenzen. These few members spread the Lord's table in their homes. This continued for about two years. Brother Clark, then moved to Melfort, Saskatchewan.

In the five years that followed one attempt was made with a gospel meeting. Brother J. C. Bailey did the preaching for this meeting but the meetings were discontinued. The attendance did not warrant continuing the services. However for the greater part of the time the Lord's supper was served in the homes. Brother and Sister Ellis also moved here during these years, others have come for short periods.

Brother Alvin Jenning was preaching in Saskatoon and became very interested in this work. It was by his effort that Leon Clymore came to Swift Current in 1956. Bro. Clymore stayed for ten months and then returned to the United States. While he was here the congregation rented a hall which they continued to use until they moved into the basement of the building, which was being constructed, in 1962. Brother Clymore did a great deal of visiting in the area and is remembered by many in the area even now.

Through those years my wife and I were interested in Swift Current. Having made some preparation to preach we decided to move to Swift Current which we did in September, 1960. For the first two and one-half years I continued in secular work. However we have been fully supported in this area since January, 1963. At first, when it was needed the most, the brethren at North Weyburn sponsored us. At present the Kansinton Park Church in Kansas City are overseeing this work.

Brother Allen Jacobs

In Saskatchewan the work is slow. Swift Current has been as other places. However, during this year we have had four adults baptized. Good friends have been found in the city and we hope that we are at the beginning of a great work. We have a fine building. Some finishing is yet to be done, but it will be in good order for our "welcoming service" which we have planned for October 18.

Since we have been in Swift Current, some have come and gone, among which were the Gates family and the Ericksons. Leaving also was one of the first men to come. Brother James McCuaig moved to Creston, B.C.

To present the teaching of Christ, we have conducted two Vacation Bible Schools and six Gospel meetings. At present the Herald of Truth T.V. is carried on the local station. We believe that the program is doing much good.

We must plan a greater teaching program for the future. Our building is ready except for pews and other small details. Now we must present CHRIST. To do this we have a "Campaign for Christ" planned, also a full religious census. Gospel meetings are planned for each night, October 18-25. The sponsoring church is organizing this effort for us. In years to come every avenue must be used to complete the task before us.

Men of Faith have continued the spread of the church over the whole world. Swift Current has never lacked these. Every time an effort has been made here, the Horse Creek brethren have stood fully behind that work and here acknowledge their continued support. Others, many of whom are in the United States, have shown their faith when presented with the challenge. The church in Swift Current publicly thanks these faithful people. May we now have the faith we need for our task.

HERE AND THERE

Burnaby, B.C.: E. P. Lake is now settled into the work at this place having returned from England. He writes, "It would appear that a good work can be done here at Burnaby as we attempt to build on the good foundation laid by faithful brethren over the past several years. Granny White church in Nashville, Tenn. is supporting us in this work and will continue to do so until such time as the church here is self supporting.

Nanaimo, B.C.: The meeting with Jim Hawkins of Victoria was postponed until November 15-20.

AN OPEN LETTER

you last actively engaged in work and activities for the glorification of God? How long has it been since you helped an unbeliever towards a better understanding of the Word of God?

How many excuses have you used to avoid the responsibilities of being a Christian?

How many potential children of God have you led into the waiting arms of the Devil?

To make it short. Do you really care what happens to Christ's Church or are you so tradition bound that you have forgotten the real reason why you attend the services and the real reasons for partaking in the Lord's Supper?

Are you bound and shackled to tradition? Do you work for God and attend Church because you are expected to or because your father and his before him did it?

If your answer is positive to these questions, then why bother to attend? Is that going to help your salvation?

Let us take a closer look at the foregoing questions. These questions are important because they form a basis for the growth of Christ's Church.

First. Why did I delay making a decision for Christ? Was I bound by the handcuffs of our daily life?

In today's fast paced, highly materialistic, greedy society, who is not handcuffed? We let ourselves willingly become slaves of the material riches that surround us. We dedicate ourselves with almost fanatical fervor to the achievement of personal wealth. All else is taking a second place. Television programs have become more important than our promises and responsibilities to God.

Those, brethren, are the handcuffs of our daily life. Lift up your hands and listen to the rattle. Or are you an exception?

Second. Was there bitterness in my heart that was hard to overcome?

Yes. bitterness because of the behaviour of my fellow men. It seems that most of the time we cannot see beyond the boundaries of our own little world. Ourselves is our one and only concern. There is not even concern for Christ, we are only concerned with Christ in times of need and hardship. As soon as those times have passed, we forget Christ, we feel that we don't need Him any longer.

Third. Did I put baptism off because "there is always tomorrow?"

Yes, but in today's world who can be sure that there will be another tomorrow? And if there's not another tomorrow. are you ready? Or did you put it off?

This is why we are positive that there is only today and we cannot afford the luxury of waiting for another day. There may not be one.

Fourth. Did Christian brothers and sisters hold me back from joining Christ's army?

Sadly for me and probably shocking to you I must also answer yes to this last question.

It is human to look to others for guidance and examples. Being added to the Church of Christ is a major step in every one's life. Like a small child, a potential member looks to others for inspiration. If one looked up to you for guidance, how would you fare?

When a new member walks into the Church and finds that half the pews are empty, that the members present are more interested in who's there and what they're wearing, when this new member gets the distinct feeling that he is witness to a routine, then who can blame him for not being interested. When there's lack of enthusiasm, it does not rub off on anyone, only the indifference does.

After a few months or maybe even years the new member suddenly finds that his individual willingness and desire will make him a child of God. But still he wonders, where is the dedication, the total surrender that Christ demands? If Christ's Church in this well fed, prosperous hemisphere could muster a quarter of the dedication that communism demands of its members, we would experience a spiritual revival that would be without precedent.

But let's face it, we have it too good. We don't know the horror of death, the pain of hunger, we don't know what it is to live in an unheated shack with the wind howling around us. No, we don't know all this and we really don't care. All that is so far away.

We just don't know what to be thankful for, we take all we have for granted.

Our thanks to the Lord has become tradition and routine.

How about you? Are you a routine, tradition bound child of God? Or do you want to burn the earth with your fervor and enthusiasm, shout his glory from the rooftops? Do you want to give yourself to Him?

Do you want to live up to the promise of your baptism, to dedicate yourself?

Or was that a routine matter?

ANNOUNCING

The Church of Christ at Kelowna, B.C. would like to announce to sister congregations that a new congregation has been formed recently. There are presently ten residential members meeting regularly to worship and serve God. Although we are few in numbers we are assured that the Lord meets with us (Matt. 18: 20).

Many Christians pass through to the coast via the Southern Okanagan. We wish to extend a hearty welcome to you, to come and worship with us at your convenience.

The church meets each Sunday at 11:00 a.m. at Bro. Sam Shinn's residence, a block and a half south off Highway No. 97 on Hayne's Road. Mid-week Bible study is held on Tuesday evenings.

We wish to thank the Gospel Herald for this opportunity to announce the birth of another congregation.

Bro. Sam Shinn, phone 765-6016, Bro. E. R. Parker, phone 765-6090.

HERE AND THERE

Winnipeg, Man.: A widow has obeyed the gospel as an immediate result of the census being taken by the campaigners during which she agreed to view a series of filmstrips. During the week of October 18 workers called on 4,000 homes and set up eight more Bible studies. As of November 1 there were 34 Bible studies in process of which 12 were being conducted by members of the Osborne street church.

MISSIONS CONFERENCE AT WEST ISLIP

by S. F. Timmerman, Jr., Lachine, Quebec

One of the most stimulating and encouraging meetings which it has ever been our privilege to attend was conducted by the West Islip Church of Christ on Long Island, New York, from October 21 to 25.

This unusual congregation, composed of some 90 families who moved into this area beginning last year in what is known as the Exodus/Bay Shore project, showed their love for the Lord and for souls around the world in this "missions workshop".

Missionaries and authorities in mission methods were present from a number of foreign countries as well as from the States. Challenges from these various countries were given, together with panel discussions on different phases of mission work.

Stanley Shipp, a missionary to Lausanne, Switzerland, gave the principal address each evening, taking as his theme the text found in Romans 10:13-15.

Reports were also heard each day from congregations on Long Island, where the church has grown from almost nothing twenty years ago to a total of ten congregations at the present time. One of the newest groups is the one at Patchogue, which began a little over a year ago with 30 members and has since seen 29 baptisms.

Among the speakers and panelists were: George Gurganus, an elder of the White Station (Memphis), Tenn. church, a former missionary to Japan and now professor of missions at Harding Graduate Sihool; Phil Elkins, a student of missions at Kennedy School of Missions and Harding Gradhate School; Howard Norton, a missionary to Sao Paulo, Brazil; Lucien Palmer, a former missionary to Nigeria and presently serving as president of Michigan Christian Junior College at Rochester, Mich.; Ira Rice, missionary to Malaysia; Conrad Steyn, a mission ary in Capetown, South Africa; Carmelo Casella, formerly a missionary in Australia and now serving with the Bethpage church in Long Island; and Jim Kite, a vocational missionary to Long Island and an engineer with Grumman Aircraft.

The Dominion was represented by Wesley Jones, minister of the church in Barrie, Ontario, and S. F. Timmerman, Jr., formerly a missionary to Belgium and presently directing his efforts toward French Canada in the area of Montreal.

All these speakers participated in the round-table discussions covering a wide range of subjects: group efforts in the mission field, preparation of the missionary, oversight and support of the missionary, beginning a new work, the indigenous church, and the utilization of national workers.

Among the outstanding impressions which were made during these five days of missions study were the following:

(1) The central and compelling work of the church is that of preaching the gospel to the whole world. Any congregation which does not make mission work its chief concern is failing Christ by not recognizing the very purpose for its existence.

(2) The mission efforts of the church in recent years have greatly accelerated over the pre-War period. However, the rapidly expanding population growth of the earth is surpassing by far the growth of the church.

(3) There are many brethren, especially younger brethren, who are eager to commit themselves to mission work, even at great sacrifice, if properly challenged.

(4) The church has the resources to "preach the gospel to every nation in our generation" provided they are marshalled under the banner of Christ and placed at his disposition.

It was the concensus of opinion of those who attended that this first annual missions conference of West Islip was one of the most richly rewarding experiences of their lives. It is sincerely to be desired and hoped that churches everywhere will envision similar missions seminars. They will serve not only to spread the gospel more rapidly around the world, but will strengthen and bless the work at home.

GATEWAY GLEANINGS

(North Bay, Ont.) Just recently I have returned home from a trip that took me over five thousand miles in different areas from North Bay almost to the Gulf of Mexico.

This trip started with a week's stop at Great Lakes Christian College where I spoke for their annual "Christian Emphasis" week. This was a week that will not soon be forgotten. The association with the teachers and students of this great institution gave me just one more reason among the many I have for believing in Christian Education. Several of the fine boys and girls here promised to come to North Bay next summer to assist us in the work. I also had the privilege during the week to speak for the Beamsville church of Christ and the St. Catharines church of Christ. The interest these brethren showed in the work of the Lord in the North was encouraging.

The next stop was Birmingham, Michigan. The church here has sponsored us in North Bay from the beginning and the sacrifice that they made many times I am sure will merit eternal recognition. During the next ten days I attended the Michigan Christian College lectureship programme, spoke for the Birmingham church, the East Detroit church, the Garden City church, the Walled Lake church, the Lima, Ohio church, and the Sylvan Lake, Michigan church. Even though some of these are already committed to help us financially next year and others are seriously considering doing the same, the biggest encouragment of this time was in the number that promised to come and help us in our 1965 Campaign. If all come from this area that have shown interest, there will be at least seventy-five adults. Of course some of these may not be able to come but possibly others will be available to take their place.

I had intended to return home after the Michigan area visit but because of a telephone call from Birmingham, Alabama, I had to include a trip there in my plans. The interest and faith that these brethren have shown is something I have never seen before. They have been supporting us $25.00 a month but next year they plan to send $150.00 a WEEK to the support of the work here. Besides this, the closing service I attended there I offered the invitation after the sermon and twenty-five people responded. But it wasn't the ordinary kind of invitation. This was different. I invited people to committ themselves to come to North Bay next summer to help in our campaign. I asked them to put God to a test. I asked them to tell God they wanted to come and ask him to work out the details. While the congregation sang, "I Know the Lord Will Find a Way for Me", these above mentioned twenty-five souls came down the isle in response to the invitation. Needless to say, many tears of joy were being shed as we all drank deeply the goodness of God's Love.

With all these good things coming our way, we have made extensive plans for 1965. (1) A Television programme will start January, 1965 over the local station. (2) Plans call for the first stage of our building to be built by the end of June, 1965. This first stage will have thirteen classrooms and a two hundred-seat auditorium. The classrooms will be in two sizes: 20 x 20 and 20 x 30. (3) Probably more than any of these two is the Campaign planned for June 13-July 4, 1965. Some one hundred to two hundred people have promised to try to come. Some of these will probably not be able to make it but even if half come we will have a good size group. Brother John Allen Chalk from Cookeville, Tennessee (the new Herald of Truth T. V. speaker) will be the featured speaker. There will be four teams, each having a captain, that will take different parts of the city and work. Some of the work that will be done: (1) Teaching Bible studies, (2) Passing out literature, (3) Arranging Bible studies, (4) Office work, (5) Telephone canvassing, etc.

WE NEED: You to pray for us, You to come and help. You to send money to help bring others here, help pay for literature, help pay for advertising, etc. Yes, it all begins with You. Can YOU help?

building a modern, two bedroom house. With the volunteer help of all the brethren here, and with help from brethren as far away as Texas (not only financial help, but actual physical, pounding-nails type of help), the house was finished on time and the Dacus family moved in, to remain with us in a happy relationship working in the Lord's Vineyard for the next six years. During this time, in 1956, the first addition to our building was built, consisting of a new entry, office and classrooms, as additional room was needed to accommodate the growing congregation which now numbered well over fifty members.

In 1960, Brother Dacus moved to Sidney, Montana, and Brother Stephen Ennis of Pixley, California, came to work with us, remaining with us until May of this year.

In 1960, we began our largest building venture, the addition of the present auditorium and vestibule, as well as changing the roof of the old building. In May of 1962 this building was officially opened with a capacity audience, both visitors from the city and from other congregations.

We are looking forward to having Brother Jim Pennington and family working with us beginning in February, 1965. Brother Pennington is at present writing his Master's thesis at ACC after having served at Haskell, Texas, for the past four years.

We continue to anticipate increased growth of the Kingdom of our Lord in this area; to this end we pray.

OUR DEPARTED

WOOD

Brother Caleb Wood passed away on October 10th in the Shaughnessy Hospital, Vancouver, B.C. He had been in failing health for some time and passed on peacefully at the age of 76.

Brother Wood was born in England, immigrated to Canada and obeyed the gospel in 1912 while farming in the Kisbey area of Saskatchewan. Moving to Winnipeg in 1916 he was married to Ethel Beamish who survives him with three sons, Kenneth, Don and Harvey and a daughter Joan of Denver, Col.

He was a member of the old Sherbrooke St. congregation in Winnipeg until the Burnell congregation started, when he helped to establish this church which later became the Osborne St. church.

Moving to the Vancouver area in 1960, he became a member of the Burnaby church in which he served as an elder until the time of his death. The funeral was held from the Mount Pleasant Funeral Home with interment in Mt. View Cemetery

The funeral service was conducted by the writer and Brother Earl Severson, Bro. Wood's fellow elder.

JOHNSON

Carlos David Johnson, beloved son of Bro. and Sis. Carl Johnson of Estevan, was born at Estevan, January 25, 1942 and departed this life, October 27, 1964, at the age of 22 years, 9 months, 2 days. He was baptized into Christ in July 1955.

He had been ailing for more than eleven years, but his constant thoughts and prayers for others, were an inspiration to those who knew him. His last concern, was for a 15 year old boy, in the same room in the hospital who didn't believe in God's existence.

He left behind, his father and mother, two sisters and a brother, his grandfather and a niece besides a host of relatives and friends.

The funeral was conducted from the Church of Christ building by Bro. Cecil Bailey assisted by Bro. Richard Dacus, with interment in Estevan City Cemetery.

"Blessed are the dtad, who die in the Lord.

BOYES

Many in the Meaford congregation and vicinity were deeply touched and saddened on October 24th, 1964, when sister Helen Patricia Boyes, beloved wife of Kenneth Boyes and mother of two dear children, daughter Valerie and son George passed away in her thirty sixth year. Helen was the daughter of the late George Robinson and sister Philip Petch. Also surviving are two brothers Kenneth and Douglas Robinson and one sister Shirley Robinson besides many other sorrowing relatives and friends.

Because of her quiet and kindly manner Helen endeared herself to all who knew her best. Helpful and concerned about the welfare of others she was ever a dutiful and loving daughter and equally a devoted and dedicated wife "who looked well to the ways of her household and ate not the bread of idleness." She was one in whom her husband could safety trust to always be the center of his affections and give no occasion to anyone to speak anything but well of her.

As a member of the Lord's body she was faithful to the church and attended regularly even when failing health made it seem inexpedient for her to be present exemplifying determination and an incomparable will to serve the Lord in spite of her physical weakness. Thus she demonstrated that the beauty of the fairest flower that grows is not to be compared with the beauty of holiness and a faithful life in Christ Jesus. Helen has indeed left behind a noble heritage and may her virtuous example serve to remind her bereaved husband and the family that those who continue to live in the Lord will die in the Lord and leave blessed memories in the heart of those who mourn their passing and direct all others to follow their course.

The largely attended funeral service conducted by the writer ably assisted by brother Louis Pauls was from the Ferguson funeral home and burial took place in the beautiful Lakeside Cemetery.

ROBERTSON

On Monday, October 12th 1964, the soul of Sister Charlotte Robertson beloved wife of the late Brother Andrew Robertson of Ice Lake, Ontario, left its earthly habitation to dwell in eternal realms. Sister Robertson (nee Charlotte Baker) had moved to Manitoulin Island with her parents at an early age. Soon after their arrival they found and embraced New Testament Christianity. Throughout her long life of eighty-eight years Sister Robertson maintained an undying faith and loyalty to her God.

She was married to Andrew Robertson in the autumn of 1903. For nearly fifty-five years they walked to-gether until Brother Robertson was called home in 1958. A large family of devoted children blessed their home, and they showered every kindness on their parents in the declining years. Several children predeceased the parents in childhood.

Many tributes could be written of this wonderful woman. Like Dorcas of old, she was a helper of many. Her hospitality was known far and wide. She was "Grandma" to an untold number of us who are not of her flesh and blood. Through her industry and toil she provided abundantly the needs of her family. Her husband was "known in the gates" as He took his place as an elder in the Lord's church, and in the affairs of the community.

Now, she has gone to be at home; her seat is vacant here. We could not wish her back to the sufferings of the body, but how we miss her. Remaining to mourn the passing of this Mother in Israel are three sons: Andrew of Saginaw, Michigan; Charlie and John of Ice Lake; and five daughters: Achsa (Mrs. Frank Thompson) in Oregon; Mary (Mrs. LaFlamme) of Ingersol, Ontario; Martha (Mrs. Clarence Whitfield) of Meaford, Ontario; Agnes (Mrs. Merle Hendricks) of Saginaw, Michigan; Susie (Mrs. Ron Prior) of Gore Bay, Ontario. Also remaining are two brothers; Will (aged 94) and John; also one sister, Mrs Susan Orford. There are also a great number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Our sympathy goes out to them all in the loss of a

COUNSELLING AT OMAGH

Omagh Bible School needs dedicated, Christian men and women to serve as counsellors this coming summer. If you are interested, consider these requirements:

Do you have a genuine interest in young people? Could you spend all of your time, 24 hours a day, in the company of eight youngsters, playing the various roles of parent, teacher, advisor, doctor and companion? Do you enjoy sports, crafts, swimming, hiking and overnight camping? Would you be able to overcome homesickness, tend to hurt feelings as well as hurt fingers, patch up petty quarrels, foster a spirit of co-operation and comradeship in your cabin group, and always remain even tempered and jovial yourself?

What degree of spiritual maturity do you possess? Would you be able to offer good counsel to your charges in solving their myriad of problems? Would you encourage their spiritual growth and character development? Would you be a leader to them in campfire services and cabin devotionals?

Would you give of yourself unselfishly and demonstrate by your speech and actions a good example at all times?

If you meet most of these requirements, and want to enjoy a wholesome, healthful, rejuvenating two or four weeks in the country, then Omagh needs you. For application forms, write to: Ron Zavitz, 33 Rosemount Avenue, Apt. 22, Ottawa 3.

sister, mother and grandmother. I would also be remiss if I failed to mention Mrs. Gloria Baker (aged 86) who has been a loyal friend and faithful sister-in-law for more than sixty years. God bless these wonderful elderly people; may they stay with us yet awhile.

The funeral was conducted by the writer from the meeting house of the church at Ice Lake and burial was in the family plot at Mills Township cemetery. Brethren Bethel Bailey, Lloyd Bailey and Brodie Harrell assisted. —Jim O'Neal

THE GENESIS OF ANOTHER EXODUS IS HERE

FOCUS/Okanagan is a thrilling plan for ten self-supporting Christian families and one supported evangelist to 'exodus' to Kelowna, the heart of British Columbia's Okanagan Valley by the summer of 1965. This project is being planned by the elders of the Church in West Memphis, Arkansas.

The idea is becoming a reality. Two families have already moved to the location. The Elgin Parker family has taken residence in Kelowna. Elgin has a desirable position in the Kelowna School system as a result of the effectual working of God in answer to prayer. Brother and Sister Fred Bellerby have moved to Kelowna. These two families join the five New Testament Christians previously worshipping there.

Lynn Anderson, Evangelist for the group, and the remainder of the self-supporting families will arrive in Kelowna in late June of 1965.

The elders of the West Memphis, Arkansas church sent a delegation to B.C. during July. These men, Brethren Bruce Phillips and Lenard Hogan, spent a week surveying the Okanagan Valley and Kamloops, B.C. After digesting their findings, several new developments in the FOCUS/Okanagan project have emerged.

Significant among new developments, is that the Sam Tumlinson family (formerly planning to be in the Kelowna group) will begin a new work in Kamloops — interlocking and closely co-operative with the Kelowna work. The need in Kamloops is desperate and the potential for the growth of the city is startling. Since there are several of the men in the Kelowna group who have had a good deal of preaching experience, there is no need to 'hoard' Brother Tumlinson's outstanding talents there. We are looking for self-supporting families who can move to Kamloops with him to assist there.

Other improvements suggested by these elders are:

1. A step-up in the pace of publicizing FOCUS/Okanagan. A monthly pictorial newsletter will be published this year. A new and complete master-plan brochure has been prepared.

2. A determined effort to add more families to the group now committed. (At present eight families and four single individuals are committed.)

3. A radio program over the local Kelowna station to be begun the first of the year.

4. Broadening of the scope of FOCUS/Okanagan to include, not only Kelowna and Kamloops, but to seek missionaries for Vernon and Penticton as well within the next year.

Plans are becoming more specific. Enthusiasm and anticipation are mounting. Several families are 'on location in Kelowna'. The rest of the families will be in Kelowna next summer. We thank God.

FOCUS/Okanagan is past the abstracts of the drawing board, and is emerging into reality. This new Exodus is now past it's Genesis . . . and the gospel is coming to the heart of British Columbia's interior.

HOW CAN I KNOW THAT I AM SAVED?

Jerry L. Davidson, Lachine, Quebec

The title of this article is a question which has troubled people for many centuries. To any conscientious truth seeker this is extremely important. "Really, what evidence do I have that I am pardoned from my sins?" "How can I know how I stand before God?"

The tenth chapter of Mark tells the story of a rich young man who had a concern for his soul's salvation. He asked Jesus, "Good Master, what shall I do that I might inherit eternal life?" Christ then laid the terms of salvation before him— but the young man was not ready to accept them fully, because the final condition involved giving up his material wealth. Although the young man was happy to go part way with the Lord, he still could not be assured of salvation. He had to meet the Lord's conditions completely. By the same principle, a person today can not be given assurance of his soul's salvation unless he is willing to meet the conditions laid down by God.

The most intelligent approach, in fact the only approach, is to examine for ourselves what God says in the New Testament about salvation.

Why the Confusion?

Many men have gone to the wrong source for their information on salvation. They have gone to human creeds which contradict and divide. The Bible alone bears the authority of God. Peter wrote, "If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God . . ." (I Pet. 4:11). The apostle Paul continues, "All scripture is given by inspiration of God and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: That the man of God may be perfect, throughly furnished unto all good works" (2 Tim. 3:16,17). He also says, in writing to the Thessalonians, "For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but

IN THE VALLEY OF DECISION

(Joel 3:14)

by Marlin L. Harless
Springfield, Vermont

"Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision! for the day of Jehovah is near in the valley of decision." The words of the text speak of a great number of people in the valley of decision. In verses 2 and 12, this valley is called the "valley of Jehoshaphat." Jehovah said: "I will gather all nations, and will bring them down into the valley of Jehoshaphat; and I will execute judgment upon them there for my people and for m yheritage Israel, whom they have scattered among the nations: and they have parted my land. Let the nations bestir themselves, and come up to the valley of Jehoshaphat; for there will I sit to judge all the nations round about."

These people, although they knew it not, were assembled in the valley of decision. The valley of Jehoshaphat means: God judgeth. God would punish them, or judge them, because they had rebelled against him; they had lingered long in a state of indecision; they did not choose right away to serve Jehovah, but rather, they persecuted Israel; they had dispersed God's people. Please note, the day of Jehovah is near . . .

The day of His judgment was near, but they were not aware of it. So today, the day of eternal

AN APPEAL TO ALL PEOPLE OF AN HONEST AND GOOD HEART

by J. C. Bailey, Madras, India

God in His great goodness and mercy sent His Son to this earth to provide for the salvation of mankind. Salvation is in Christ and in none other. (Acts 4:12). God's provisions are of no avail unless we believe in Christ. Unless we believe in Christ we shall die in our sins (John 8:24).

Jesus has declared that he has all power in heaven and on earth (Matthew 28:13). Jesus said He would build His church (Matthew 16:18). Jesus says He will save those that obey Him (Hebrews 5:9). We are to glorify Him in the church (Ephesians 3:21). The Book of Acts reveals how men render obedience to the Lord Jesus Christ.

The Holy Spirit declares in Acts 20:29 that there would be an apostacy, that is, that men would leave the true faith. There are many Scriptures that warn of this falling away. Men were warned of the consequences if they did fall away. Let us note just one of them:" Whosoever goeth onward and abideth not in the teaching of Christ hath not God; he that abideth in the teaching the same hath both the Father and the Son" (II John 9). To this we add the condemnation of the Jews by Jesus Christ: "This people honoreth me with their lips; but their heart is far from me. But in vain do they worship me, teaching as their doctrines the precepts of men" (Matthew 15:8,9). To these again we add: "But he answered and said, Every plant which my heavenly Father hath not planted shall be rooted up" (Matthew 15:13).

Denomination is a plant which God did not plant. To belong to a sect is a lust of the flesh. Those who practise such shall not inherit the kindom of God (Galatians 5:19-21). Now we appeal to all people of an honest and good heart to give up denominationalism, to give up the commandments of men and serve God through Christ and His word.

Then there are those who come to me every day or so and say that they are "independents". Pray, where did you ever learn about "independents" in the Bible? There is just as much authority for a denomination as to be an "independent". In fact, the reason that men are independents is usually that they want to be a law unto themselves. Was Paul an independent? Were Peter or John independents? Did not Peter and John belong to the church and work through the church? Is this not just as true of every person mentioned in the New Testament as it was of Paul? So those who would throw off the shackles of denominationalism are not bettering themselves any way by being independents. They are going onward; they are not abiding in the teaching. They still have planted a plant that the heavenly Father does not recognize, and it shall be rooted up.

You say you are not convinced that sectarianism is wrong? You say there is much good done by all the various religious sects and we should let them alone. Was this Jesus' attitude? There were religious sects in His day. They did a great deal of good, but Jesus opposed both the Pharisees and the Sadducees because they kept the commandments of men and offered such service to God. They, in their turn, violently opposed the Lord Jesus Christ. We appeal to all men of good will to stand with us in opposing all sectarianism that offers to God the traditions of men as worship.

A Christian is one who is CHRIST LIKE. Are you a Christian? Do you condone and practise the doctrines and commandments of men, or do you stand with Jesus in opposition to all these things?

Churches of Christ are now in 100 nations of this earth. Everywhere we are appealing to men to come and help us to fight against the sectarian ways of those who are in opposition to the simple teaching of Christ. Let us go back to God's way.

Recently we held a meeting in a community and some miles away from where we were there was a sectarian church. These people said, "Why did you come here?" We went there that people might have the opportunity to choose between the Word of God and the traditions of men. In another district there has been violent opposition on the part of a few, to this plea. These people said, "We were at peace until you came. You are trouble makers."

Yes, we want to trouble those who have human doctrines and human names. This is what Jesus said: "Think ye that I am come to give peace on the earth? I tell you, Nay; but rather division: for there shall be from henceforth five in one house divided, three against two and two against three" (Luke 12:51,52). WHERE THE PURE TEACHING GOES THERE IS EITHER SURRENDER OR SEPARATION.

If you want to go on in sectarianism, then this message is not for you. If you want to make Christianity a way of gain. then this message is not for you. If you do not want to surrender to Christ completely in HIS CHURCH this message is not for you. If you wish to serve Christ according to His word and leave aside the doctrines and commandments of men, then Jesus is calling you for service. If you love father or mother more than Christ, you can not come. If you love lands or possessions more than Christ, this invitation is not for you.

This Invitation is yours: Leave the man-made churches and their man-made doctrines and come to Christ with His blood bought church and DO HIS COMMANDMENTS.

HERE AND THERE

HE IS RISEN AS HE SAID

(Contributed by Murray Hammond, Author unknown)

A belief in the Resurrection of Christ is central in Christianity. If Christ was not raised from the dead, then Christianity is the sourest joke that the world has ever experienced. Please read carefully I Cor. 15:12-19.

If He was not raised from the dead He was not the Son of God who is equal with God (Phil. 2:6). He is not the promised Immanuel (God with man). We are not justified (Rom. 4:25), and yet in our sins (I Cor. 15:17), if Christ be not raised. If Jesus did not come forth from the tomb, Christianity is no better than any other of the world's religions—in fact it is infinitely worse for its founder would then be the world's leading blasphemer, liar, and hypocrite.

However, if He is risen, He is the Son of God, equal with God, and reigning today. A risen Lord makes justification and escape from sin possible, and is proof positive that Christianity is not only the best of the world's religions, but the only true religion from the only true God.

There are two distant branches of evidence which need to be considered: (1) scientific—empirical evidence and (2) philosophical.

Empirical Evidence

Empirical evidence refers to those things which science can examine. It is the evidence demanded by science. Note I John 1:1-3. It is a recognized and acceptable procedure to accept the testimony of reliable witnesses when we ourselves do not possess first hand knowledge, as in a court of law. The apostles and early Christians are our witnesses. We must examine their acceptability.

During his life time Jesus had said (Matt. 16:21) that he would be raised. It it possible that such statements so prejudiced his disciples as to make their testimony unacceptable? The following considerations show this conclusion unwarranted. Please read the scriptures fully. Mark 9:31-32 shows that they did not understand His predictions of the resurrection. On the third day they went to the tomb looking for a dead body—not a ressurected Lord. These scriptures show definitely that the first reports of the resurrection were disbelieved: Mark 16:12-14; Luke 24:11; 24:36-45; John 20:24-29.

There is certainly no cause to question the competency of the early disciples. These passages show that they were associated with him in life and eye witnesses of the resurrection: Acts 1:21-26; 2 Peter 1:16-18; I John 1:1-4.

Can we accept the sincerity of their testimony? Surely we can. They had no earthly advantage to be gained by accepting Christ and his teachings (John 18:36; Luke 9:58; John 9:22). Yet they were willing to suffer and die triumphantly, even rejoicing. Men will not so sacrifice for falsehood or principles of less than supreme importance.

They were without worldly power or prestige, yet the empirical evidence of their accomplishment is a matter of history. "The course of events in church history was such that only the resurrection adequately explains it." (B. B. Baxter, 20th Century Christian, Jan., 1964). They had nothing but moral persuasion and spiritual power. What spiritual power could they have had without the risen Lord? Try to imagine such a group trying to convince the Jews that Christ had been raised—BUT THEY DID by the thousands. They, without earthly power or influence over the known world, spread a belief in the Master.

Evidence presented by such competent witnesses would be accepted by any court in the world dealing with any secular matter. Their testimony reported 10 or 11 appearances to both groups (ranging up to 500—I Cor. 15:6) and individuals. There are so many appearances and the circumstances are so varied as to preclude any possibility of explaining them away. Myths and superstitions grow gradually over long periods of time and tend to increase with time. Forty days is too short a time to develop a legend, and the appearances ended abruptly after 40 days. Before the resurrection the disciples were weak, unbelieving, and fearful. After it they were strong in faith, and undaunted to death and through death.

Philosophical Evidence

How the tomb came to be empty is a question which has caused much controversy. Unbelievers have made many attempts to "explain away" this fact. This part of our discussion is an examination of their theories.

The "swoon theory would have us believe that He did not really die, and that in the cool of the tomb, He revived and simply walked away. This is impossible. Jesus had been scourged (Luke 23:26) and as a result was too weak to carry his cross. (Check dictionary or encyclopedia on "scourge".) He was then crucified, and a spear driven into his side. Pilate, the soldiers, Joseph, and Nicodemus all were sure that he was dead. Even if a man survived all this, how could he get out of the grave bandages, push the stone away, and escape the armed Romans (Consider His physical condition after all this)? The soldiers faced death for allowing a charge to escape.

Others say Christ merely appeared in a spiritual vision which was mistaken for a physical appearance. The disciples were not impressionable (but skeptical), and were in no mood to see visions—mistaking them for reality. This theory does not account for the empty tomb either.

The "falsehood theory" charges the disciples with a deliberate lie. There is no motive for this; they only suffered for it. They were pure in life and actions, and such men do not so lie. If they had so lied, the Jews could have presented the body in refutation but THEY DID NOT; they could not.

Some say that his body was stolen by enemies. If so, they could have easily disproved the claim of the resurrection by producing the body.

Could he have been stolen by his disciples? No! How could they get past the armed Romans? Their noble character would rule it out also. Would they be willing to die for what they knew to be a deliberate lie?

HOW ARE WE DOING?

This is the time of year for an inventory of assets. Merchants all over the country are working extra hours in stock taking. The beginning of the new year is also an appropriate time for an inventory of the Master's business in Canada.

We admittedly do not have the complete facts for a thorough inventory. Neither do we have sufficient discernment always to distinguish between assets and liabilities. Sometimes that thing or that person which seems to be a powerful asset turns out to be a liability, and vice versa. All that we can do is to judge by appearances.

The past year has seen a great deal accomplished. New congregations have been started. Old congregations have taken on new life and vigour. Some very fine workers have been added to the preaching force. One of the highlight features of the past year was the number of campaigns held across the country to preach the Gospel. These obtained splendid results.

When we speak of an inventory of the Master's business, we need to look beyond mere statistics, as encouraging and interesting as they may be. What are the spiritual resources of the church in Canada? These can not be estimated by simply adding up the number of members currently in fellowship across the country. Neither can they be estimated by totalling the number of buildings with their estimated value. Nor can a comparison of the budgets of this year with those of the old year tell the story. Such things do have a direct connection with the spiritual resources, but they can be misleading. It is possible that these could show strength when a veritable spiritual bankruptcy was impending.

A pertinent question that needs to be asked is, "What is the prayer life of the Lord's people?" In visitation work among denominational people one sometimes finds an emphasis on prayer which far surpasses that of our brethren. Some conjecture is attached to this estimate, but our own experience indicates that we are not nearly as prayerful as the New Testament teaches that we should be. Many people who have not understood the need for and method of primary obedience to the Gospel have surpassed us in their understanding of the value of prayer. If we are truly seeking to restore New Testament Christianity, let us restore its prayer life.

Another relevant question pertains to the purity of our brethren's lives: "How well do we respond to the repeated admonitions to be holy?" "As he who called you is holy, be ye yourselves also holy in all manner of living: because it is written, Ye shall be holy, for I am holy" (I Peter 1:15-16 A.S.V.).

Admittedly, the matter of holiness pertains to a relative quality in which none of us ever reach absolute perfection. On the other hand, perhaps some of us use this as an excuse for obvious inadequacies in this area.

Prosperity and changing environment have presented us with challenges to our purity of thought and action which were unknown to our fathers. Sex has been given an inordinate prominence in many areas of advertisement and entertainment. In truth, we live in a sex-obsessed society in which old fashioned virtue is called prudery. So-called "adult shows" are the common fare of some church members as well as worldly sophisticates.

Social drinking is indulged in by over 70 per cent of the adult Canadian population. Some church members value what they consider their liberty in this area more than they value their reputation for godliness. Alcohol is the catalyst for broken homes, sexual betrayal, accidental death, crimes of violence, and mental decay. We are not prudes nor bigots when we say that holiness and alcohol cannot reside for long in the same body.

In a recent trip this writer had opportunity to see statistics of the giving habits of scores of churches in the United States. Almost all averaged in the area of from $2.00

TEACHING GOD'S WORD

ARE AUDIO-VISUAL AIDS VALUABLE?

H. Ralph Perry, London, Ontario

Jesus encouraged his pupils to look at things as a part of his teaching. In teaching trust he said, "Behold the fowls of the air" (Matt. 6:26), and "Consider the lilies of the fields" (Matt. 6:28). In making clear the work of the Holy Spirit, he said, "The wind bloweth where it listeth (John 3:8). In his parables he painted word pictures for his auditors. To teach civic duty he asked for a Roman coin (Matt. 22: 15-22). Jesus believed in using audio-visual aids in teaching. He was the master teacher. If we would teach effectively his message we must also use audio-visual aids — things heard and seen.

I. Some Values in Audio-Visuals:
A. To Catch Attention — At the beginning of a class session it is important to capture pupils' attention. The use of good audio-visuals — a colourful picture, a model, flannelgraph, an attractive map, an object, a record, etc. will usually do this for you. When attention is lost during the teaching session it can be regained easily through the proper use of audio-visuals.

B. To Maintain Interest. Sometimes we catch our pupils' attention by beginning the lesson well but lose the interest of the class through tedious details in the lesson presentation. The planned use of good audio-visuals throughout the lesson will definitely assist in maintaining interest throughout the lesson period.

C. To Increase Learning. Teachers of God's message should desire their pupils to learn as much as possible, as quickly as possible, and remember as long as possible. Various research studies have reported that pupils learn more, more quickly, and remember longer what is learned when "seeing" is combined with hearing.

Some researchers have stated that the average person remembers only about 10% of what he hears, but anywhere from 50% to 80% of what he both sees and hears.

One study revealed that only 10% of what was heard was remembered three days later but the 65% of what was both heard and seen was remembered at this time.

Estimates have been made that learning takes place about 40% more quickly when "seeing" is associated with hearing in the teaching-learning process. This last factor is very important to Bible school teachers when we realize that we have only one "golden hour" (if that) out of the 168 in the week to teach God's eternal word. Audio-visuals furnish the Bible school teacher with a potent tool to combat the limitation of lack of time for instruction.

The alert teacher of God's word desiring to be effective in his stewardship will look into the use of good audio-visuals.

D. To Encourage Pupil Participation: Models, chalkboard drawings and facts, recordings, charts, films, and other audio-visual aids stimulate thinking, bring forth questions, and arouse discussion. Pupils have something to talk about because they have just seen something.

The lesson I taught last Sunday to junior boys illustrates this. "Solomon is Famous" was its title. I had a model of the temple on the table, used primarily in a lesson on the temple, to which I referred. A 4' x 7' chalk board was neatly filled with facts and figures recording Solomon's wealth, wisdom, and power. Two maps and a time chart were also used. Discussion, questions, and some pencil figuring resulted.

E. To Add Variety: "Variety is the spice of life" is the old adage. Variety is also the spice of teaching and learning. Using the same old method and materials or lack of both, kills interest in Bible study. "Monotony is a powerful deterrent to learning." Varied lesson presentation creates interest and motivates learning. Audio-visuals provide one of the best and most exciting ways to maintain variety.

F. To Explain Abstract Terms and Ideas.

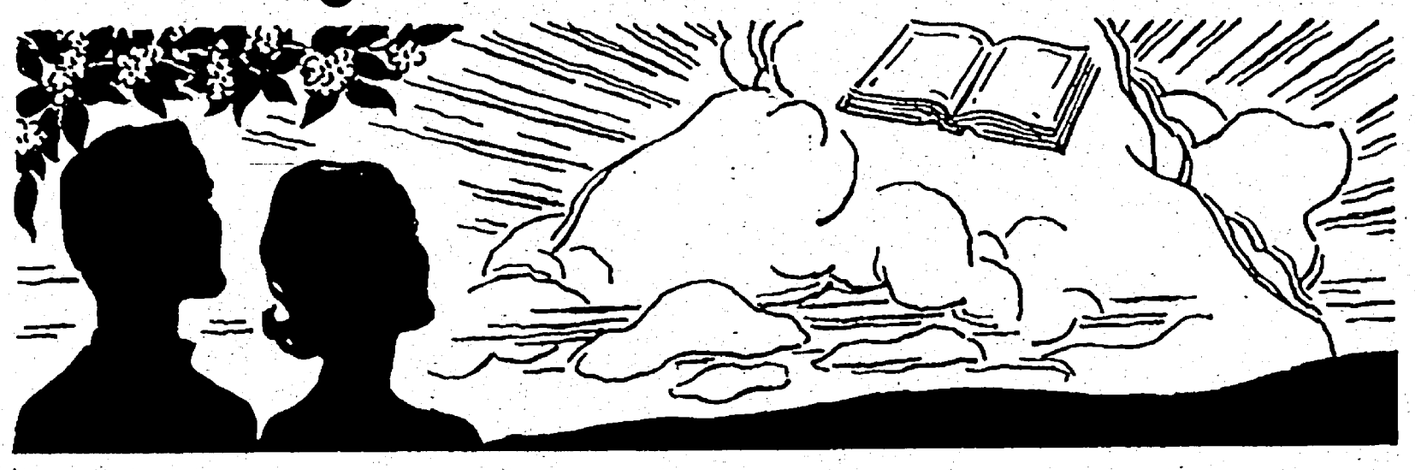
When his disciples heatedly discussed which of them would be greatest in the kingdom, Jesus called a child into their midst and said, "Verily, I say unto you, except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. Whosoever therefore, shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the Kingdom of heaven (Matt. 18:3-4).

Much of our Bible teaching deals with abstract terms such as honesty, hate, love, envy, sacrifice, etc. Pictures, filmstrips, flannelgraph, and other audio-visuals can help explain or clarify meanings of these abstract ideas.



"One of the chief values in audio-visuals is that they help you become a better 'explainer" which is always the mark of a good teacher. I've found that simple drawings, cartoons, and pictures that anyone can make or collect will spark much more interest in class — and this includes hundreds of workshops I've conducted for ADULTS," (Carl Lindgren, Visual Education Director for Gospel Light Publications)

G. To Bridge the Time-Space Barrier. Living in our modern age far removed in space and time from Bible life in Palestine creates a communication barrier. Audio-visuals make real and alive distant places and times. They enable your pupils to walk the roads of Palestine, Babylon, Egypt, Greece, and Rome. They take them on a visit to mission fields without leaving the classroom.

CONCLUSION. We have listed some of the main values for the use of audio-visual aids in teaching the Word of Life. Surely these are enough to make us realize the importance of their use in our teaching. We should be motivated into

Ray Miller, Editor

(Editors note: Our thanks to Bro. Bryant for the following article. It speaks of a problem growing more severe every year. Here is a sobering challenge to all young people... ponder it well. R.L.M.)

YOUTH AND AUTOMATION

Ed Bryant, Toronto, Ontario

Young people in today's world face a future that challenges the very best of which they are capable. Assuming you have heard all the arguments for higher and higher education, which we would emphasize, there remains to be considered the great increase in leisure time which will accrue with more and more automation of industry. We have already crossed the threshold of the push-button age to the extent that war can now be waged on an instant's notice by the mere touch of an electronic button. Ever since the invention of the wheel, man has been in a struggle to gain for himself an increase in leisure by saving time.

What is to be done with all this time that is saved? What a tragedy if it is saved only to be wasted in other ways! The loudest excuses for no doing more of the work of the church can be summed up in one: "I don't have time!" Adam had twenty-four hours in his day and so do we. The Christians who "went everywhere preaching the word" had a twenty-four hour day also. The pioneers who carved nations out of the wilderness of this continent could lay claim to no more. Providence has not alloted a certain number of day-hours to one while giving a different number to another. We all have the same number of hours. Yet someone once truly said that if you wanted a thing done, go to the busiest man in town. Why? Because he has learned to use his time in such a way that he can make it productive. Many who say they don't have time are often found doing other things, just as time-consuming, but in no way connected with the Lord's work.

The increase in leisure time can release a flood of more things done in the cause of Christ than ever before. Or, it can result in the falling away of ever greater numbers from the way of truth. Time is a gift of God, intended as a blessing for man, but it can become a curse, if not used wisely. The old adage, "An idle mind is the devil's workshop", contained more truth than poetry. Left to his own devices, man will seek diversions that please himself, unless his mind and heart are filled with a need to work for the Master. It is in our moments of idleness that our defences against the Evil One are weakest. These moments are thus our greatest danger area. That they will be increased seems a foregone conclusion. It remains, then, for us to be ready against this most insidious situation, that we may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.

There is no area of human effort in which perfection is won without practice. If we are not now seeking moments of time when we can enlarge our Witness for Christ, it is not likely that we will do so when we have more time. This means that we should be seeking ways to fit ourselves into the program of evangelization of the local church. There is much to be done. It may even be safe to say that in many local congregations, there is a start to be made, since no evangelizing is being done. The means to help accomplish more in the way of soul-winning are available in abundance.

To begin with, excellent tracts on almost any Biblical subject you can think of, have already been printed and await distribution. If handing these out to those whom you know is the ONLY work you can do for the Lord, it is still a good one. Next. the brotherhood papers, published regularly to keep Christians up to date with material bearing on the present age, are all about us. Among these are: Gospel Herald, which you are now reading; Gospel Advocate, Firm Foundation, Christian Chronicle, Twentieth Century Christian, Teen Age Christian, Christian Woman. There are many others, of course, but this helps you to see that we have not been left without the thinking of the best minds in the Lord's church. Many of our people do not subscribe to a single one of these very good publications. Some others excuse themselves on the ground that they don't have time to read them all. But the daily newspaper gets a thorough going-over. If reading these and passing them along to others is the only work you can do for the Lord, it will still be a good work. It will not only help you, it will help that friend in whose welfare you are interested. ,Next, and perhaps as far-flung as any effort could be, is the radio and television broadcast of the Herald of Truth. There are many whom you can persuade to look and listen to these gospel messages. If all you could do would be to get more listeners and watchers, it would still be a good work for you to do.

Finally, and far from least, is the old reliable — person-to-person contact — the first method ever used to bring men and women to Christ, and upon which man has never yet improved. This is the most neglected area of all, because it requires that men and women desert their comfortable homes, their pleasure-seeking pursuits, and their hobbies, in order to tell someone about Jesus. You are about to be presented with more time in which to do this most important work, but the question is, "Will you do it?"

While it is agreed that each can do as he pleases with his leisure time, it would be unfair not to point

REFLECTIONS

by L. Wesley Jones
Barrie, Ontario

Dignity must be preserved in our worship services. We must not run so far from the mountain of ritual and liturgy that we fall off the precipice of disorder and confusion.

Planning a worship service, assigning a chairman and doing what God requires, or allows, are beginnings to which all should subscribe.

Some other suggestions are: Prayers that are too lengthy tend to destroy their purpose. Mothers with small children, youngsters, or those who find a chosen posture uncomfortable because of an infirmity, are among those who will lose the value of extra long prayers. We would be more effective with two or three brief prayers.

Variation of the order of worship will preserve dignity by holding the attention of the worshippers. If worshippers in your congregation are apparently indifferent, could it be from the habits of standing, sitting, sipping, singing, and sermon-sleeping at the same precise moment each week?

No doubt we could do lots of good with improved order before the worship actually begins. We do believe a compromise is in order here, since no Bible law may be given. A stern silence that refuses a warm smile and cheerful, quiet conversation with an old friend or a newcomer doesn't seem in keeping with Christian hospitality. However, if our topics and talk lead so far afield that we have to be called to order, we are out of order.

HOW ARE WE DOING?

to $3.00 per member per week. In a time of the half-priced dollar, a high wage scale, and many two-salaried families, we feel this is deplorable.

Some congregations have many low-income families, and more than their share of non-wage earners. The average congregation, however, is more productive of excuses than money. In many cases, the elders do no more than accept the status quo as they budget for the coming year. They follow the membership's inclinations rather than leading them into healthy habits of sacrifice. Certain denominations put us to shame in this matter of stewardship of worldly goods. We have already admitted that budgets are not a sufficient index to spiritual strength, but they do have a story to tell.

The stock taking for the last year will show progress in many areas. As we face 1965, there is reason to believe that the church in Canada has reached its strongest position ever. The most important factor in all of this is that much of what has been done in evangelism and education is just the preparation for greater work. We invite you to follow this new activity through the reports to the Gospel Herald.

LET'S CHALLENGE OUR YOUNG CHRISTIANS

by M. Norvel Young

Recently, a group of young people from the church at Campbell spent two weeks in San Felipe, Mexico, helping their brethren build a new church building. They saved their own money to pay for the trip and also to buy materials for the building. They worked and prayed and sang together. This deepened their faith much more than if they spent the two weeks in recreation.

I am convinced that usually we have underestimated the willingness of our youth to sacrifice to do something important. They are eager to do more than play or be entertained.

Harvie Pruitt demonstrated this desire to serve in taking a group of young people to the Northwest to conduct a campaign. He found that in a few weeks they were changed more for good than in a year at home.

Young people need to be challenged to work in a systematic project. Normally they will respond. Too often we have been content to tell them what they should not do. They need this, but they need someone to say, "Come on and let's do this for Christ." Whether it is paint the Bible class rooms, distribute tracts or collect and box clothing, they will respond.

When work has been done, let us provide them an opportunity to report to the church and receive encouragement.

HOW CAN I KNOW

as it in the truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh in you that believe". Thus we can depend only on the record bearing God's message of salvation—the New Testament.

Some believe that feelings should be our source of evidence, and that feelings are actually more important than faith which comes from the Bible. I had a man to say to me one time, as he pointed toward another man, "you can tell that man feels sure about his salvation, just look at him!" How the man felt did not necessarily mean anything as to real proof of his salvation. Feelings can be depended on in the physical realm, where touch, taste, smell, and sight are concerned, but not so in the spiritual realm. The Bible shows feelings, in the spiritual realm, to be unsafe testimony. Paul "lived in all good conscience before God" (Acts 23:6) because he felt he was doing right, even when he persecuted Christians. Later, he realized his feeling had deceived him. He learned the truth and obeyed it. Perhaps, you will recall that Col. John Glenn had several postponements before his historical fligtht into space. I am sure that Col. Glenn felt, several times, as he arose on the mornings of the scheduled flight, that he would ascend into space. Yet, the astronaut's feelings could not guarantee a "take-off". Feelings are weak evidence of fact.

Salvation is in the realm of faith, which comes from God's word. "So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God" (Rom. 10:17). "For we walk by faith, not by sight" (2 Cor. 5:7). John said, "These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God" (I Jno. 5:13).

The Witness of the Spirit

"The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God" (Rom. 8:16). The Holy Spirit, as we noticed in II Tim. 3:16, has revealed God's salvation to man through the written word, or Scriptures. This is the witness of the Holy Spirit. Man's spirit is the heart (his understanding). Our understanding must come from the Bible in order for us to obey in harmony with the Spirit of God. When we obey the Bible, our spirit bears witness with the Holy Spirit—that we are the children of God. Remember, ". . . hereby we know that we know him, if we keep his commandments."

Believing in Jesus, as the Christ, is the initial step. ". . . Without faith it is impossible to please him; for he that cometh to God must believe that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him" (Heb. 11:6). A true believer is to become a penitent believer, for Jesus says, "But I tell you nay, except ye repent ye shall likewise perish (Lk. 13:3). The record of the Spirit (Acts 17:30) also says, "God . . . now commands all men everywhere to repent". A penitent believer is taught to tell of faith, by confessing Christ. "For with the mouth confession is made unto salvation" (Rom. 10:10). When the eunuch of Ethiopia made this confession of Christ, Philip baptized him (Acts 8). This was only natural, because Jesus had commanded, that "he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, he that believeth not shall be damned" (Mark 16:16). In baptism one reaches the blood of Christ to have his sins washed away. Ananias said to Saul, "And now why tarriest thou? arise and be baptized, and wash away they sins, calling on the name of the Lord" (Acts 22:16). In the Roman Letter (6:3,4) Paul wrote, "Know ye not that so many of us as were baptized into Christ were baptized into his death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life". Therefore, I admit that we can know we are saved only when we comply with the conditions of salvation commanded in the New Testament.

Pardon Is An Act of God

Pardon from sin comes when a person submits to the will of God. Then, and only then, can we rejoice over having received God's pardon for salvation.

God wants us to be saved, not according to our work or our own righteousness, but according to the way which he has given in the Bible. Jeremiah, the prophet said, "O Lord, I know that the way of man is not in himself: it is not in man that walketh to direct his steps" (Jer. 10:23). There is no possible way in which man can improve upon God's plan of salvation. There is no way in which we are at liberty to substitute our plan for the plan of God. Paul warned that ". . . though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed" (Gal. 1:8). The pure Gospel of Christ is the only power to save, when we obey it. (See I Cor. 15:1,2; Rom. 1:16; 6:17,18).

Salvation Possible For All

One of the most beautiful thoughts about salvation is that any person who accepts the will of God can be saved. "For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared unto all men" (Tit. 2:11). "The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to usward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance" (II Pet. 3:9).

Salvation is yours if you will come to accept Jesus as your Saviour and obey the gospel. If you believe Christ, and have repented of your sins, why not be baptized into Christ in order that your sins might be forgiven? This is what the Bible teaches and we urge you to obey the Bible today. May God bless you in doing just that!

looking into what A-V's are available and what A-V's we can make. May we all be stimulated to use audio-visuals to the glory of God and the salvation of many souls.

Our next article will discuss various types of audio-visuals at our disposal. There are many. A following article will furnish practical ideas or steps for organizing the use of audio-visuals.

Book Reviews

Books to be reviewed in this column should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont., Canada.

Bradfield's Sermon Outlines by W. A. Bradfield, Laycock Printing Company, Jackson, Tenn. Heavy paper cover, 112 pages, $2.00 (plus exchange in Canada).

Here is multum in parvo — much in little. This volume not only contains 52 sermon outlines but it has 52 illustrations, 50 questions and answers for teenage Bible drill, 50 quotations, 36 suggestions on "Planning the Gospel Meeting", 10 songs for children, 12 tips on "Procedures for Baptizing", two wedding ceremonies, two funeral sermons, two baccalaureate sermons and two High School graduation addresses.

The author is Director of Public Relations at Freed-Hardeman College and spends much time in Gospel Meetings. During the past three years there have been 1439 responses in places where he has preached. Some six million copies of his tracts have been published. The sermon outlines and other materials in this book are simply presented. Doubtless that is one reason for the tremendous success of the author.

Far Above Rubies, A Study For Christian Women by Mrs. Earle H. West, published by Earle H. West, Silver Spring, Md. Lesson books 65c, Teacher's Manual $1.00 (Plus exchange in Canada).

"A worthy woman, who can find? For her price is far above rubies." (Prov. 31:10). This great text is the theme of this series of studies for Christian woman. The booklet is designed "to help her to see more clearly her relationship to others in the home, in the church, and in the community, and to feel more deeply her responsibility there."

We are impressed with the ample amount of space provided for writing answers. This is so often lacking in booklets of this kind. The questions themselves are well selected and expressed. For example in the first lesson we find questions like these: "Although 'It's a man's world,' show various ways women do influence the affairs of men." "Society seems to recognize one set of values for men and a different set for women. Give some example of this 'double standard'."

Among the thirteen lessons we find topics like these: "But Seek Ye First"; "A Help Meet"; "Train up a Child"; "Rich in Good Works."

Each lesson is followed by suggestions for putting the lesson into practice. A teacher's manual is also available.

HERE AND THERE

Hamilton, Sanford Ave.: One was baptized on November 29. David Johnson was the preacher.

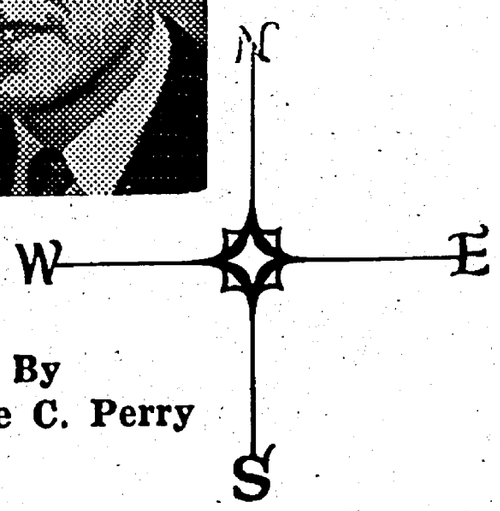
Fennell Ave.: Special collection for mission work to be taken once each quarter during 1965. Effort is being made to lay plans for the church for the next 15 to 20 years.

Wellandport, Ont.: Two were baptized during the meeting by David Johnson in early December. This makes a total of eight since August and brings the number meeting there to 23.

BIBLE QUIZ

II Timothy 2:15; 3:16, 17

The Bible is God's Word. It is the meat and drink of the spiritual life. Christians need to study it daily. These questions will help to indicate something of how effective your study has been.



PUNISHMENT IN THE BIBLE

1. What was the first sentence for murder ever given?
2. The God-given penalty for murder after the flood was expressed how?
3. Identify three crimes punishable by death under the Law of Moses, excluding murder.
4. Normally, how were those under the sentence of death executed in Israel?
5. Normally, how were minor offenses punished in Israel?
6. Complete Christ's statement, "Whoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the .....; and whosoever shall say of his brother Raca, shall be in danger of the .....; but whosoever shall say, Thou Fool, shall be in danger of ....."
7. Imprisonment as punishment did not exist in early Israel, but later it came to be used chiefly in the case of .....
8. How was Stephen executed?
9. True or false. Crucifixion was originated by the Romans.

Answers: 1. Banishment, (Cain), Gen. 4:12. 2. "Blood for Blood," (Noah), Gen. 9:6. 3. Blasphemy, Lev. 25:16; Sabbath breaking, Number 15:32-26; Sorcery, Ex. 22:18; Adultery, Lev. 20:10; Idolatry, Lev. 20:2; Manstealing, Ex. 21:16; Abuse of Parents (Verbal or Physical) Ex. 21: 15, 17. 4. Stoning, Ex. 19:13; Num. 15:35; also hanging, Num. 25:4; burning, Lev. 21:9. 5. Scourging, Deut. 25:2. 6. Judgment, council, hell fire, Matt. 5:22. 7. Debt, Mt. 11:2; 18:30. 8. By stoning, Acts 7:58. 9. False. Variations of crucifixion were to be found among the Egyptians, Gen. 40: 19; Persians, Esther 7:10; and other ancient peoples. The Romans used it as their most extreme type of punishment for slaves or malefactors of the worst class.

Vancouver, B.C.: Three were baptized in November prior to the 22nd. A special contribution for the Herald of Truth on October 18th totalled $353.07 and the regular contribution was $329.49. Special contribution brought the Herald of Truth support to $418.07.

One was restored and one baptized on December 6th when the Columbia Christian College Chorus presented a program and assisted in the work. Fred Beckett, Frank McLure and Ray Sawyer were appointed deacons on December 13. Remember the Leadership and Bible Teachers Training programs at Oakridge on February 5 and 6.

Nanaimo, B.C.: The Dale Foster family have moved from this work to Texas where he will ressume his education. The meeting held by Jim Hawkins of Victoria, November 15-20 brought high outside interest with 30 visitors attending a total of 43 times. Two came asking for the prayers of the church.

A full time worker is now needed at this place.

Victoria, B.C.: With building plans almost completed it is hoped to begin soon in the new year.

Kelowna, B.C.: Besides the 10 now meeting here, three more families and four single parties are coming this summer. Another family will arrive in 1966 and another in 1967.

Kamloops, B.C.: Sam Tumlinson who is to begin work here next summer is still in need of the necessary support.

Edmonton, Alta.: Dean Hotchkiss is planning to attend college for a year in preparation for full time preaching. A special collection was taken on January 10 to help move his family .The 1965 budget here calls for $166 per week. An extensive program for the year is too lengthy to list here in detail but will, we trust, receive attention later.

Regina, Sask.: The Osler St. congregation is being listed in our directory beginning this month. Charles McKnight writes, "At present there are seven families with a total of 25 meeting here. We have been greatly encouraged in the work here by our brethren in this city and Moose Jaw, as well as throughout the province. Travellers are welcome.

LaFleche, Sask.: "During the week of November 22nd, Sunday through Friday, the church at La Fleche conducted a series of gospel meetings, with Brother Wilfred Orr doing the preaching. The lessons were well presented and were "true to the Book". Attendance at the meetings left some things to be desired, although there were visitors every night. The co-operation and attendance on the part of the members was commendable in view of the distances involved. While the church meets in the town of La Fleche, none of the members live in town, the closest members being six miles and some as much as thirty seven miles away. Despite these drawbacks we believe that good was done and the church was edified.

"Personally, it was refreshing to be associated with Brother Orr again in this meeting, visiting in homes and talking about matters of mutual interest. It was reminiscent of our association together in times past, in meetings and Bible schools, from which association we have profited greatly." — Morris W. R. Bailey

Dauphin, Man.: Wes Reagan held a meeting in this place in early December. Two converts brings the membership to 21. The three workers there are Emerson Goud, Glen Dods and Bill Williams. Dods was converted in Regina only four years ago. He left a successful career in Life Insurance to attend college and take up this great work. Williams, who came to Dauphin to establish a Presbyterian church last year, learned and obeyed the truth as a result of discussions with Dods. His support in full time work is reported to be almost certainly assured.

Brandon, Man.: A new approach to Sunday's worship and work is being tried. Worship is at 10.30 a.m. Following this everyone will bring his own lunch and eat with the others. From 12.30 to 1.30 it is planned to have a visitation program, followed by Bible Study at 1.30 p.m.

Winnipeg: Recent features of the campaign have been: An effort to enroll people in a Bible Correspondence Course by city wide telephone calls; a gospel meeting at Windsor Park by John Allen Chalk of Tennessee; and a Leadership Training program by Ralph Bumpass of Lubbock, January 24-27.

Collections have averaged $227 during 1964.

Port Arthur, Ont.: "We continue to have 100% attendance of members at every service each Lord's Day.

"We recently borrowed $3,500 to pay the balance on our property. One brother here gave $1,000 toward the cost prior to this loan. We have arranged $67.00 a Lord's Day for five weeks. This is basically from five wager earners.

"Wesley Jones is to be with us for a week's meeting beginning February 8. This meeting will be held in the school auditorium which we have been using on Lord's Days.

"We look forward to the coming of the Eldon Mimms family in April.

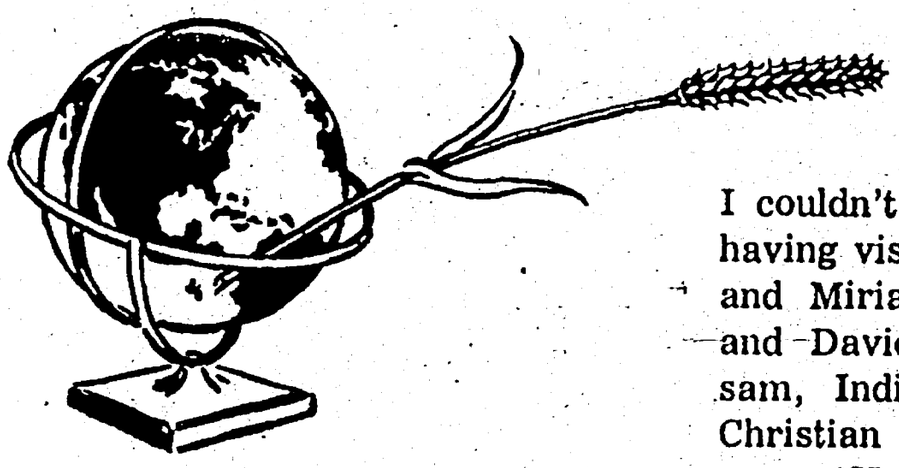
North Bay, Ont.: Herald of Truth films are being presented over T.V. station CFCH at 1.00 p.m. beginning January 3. Teaching filmstrips are being shown in 10 homes besides the Senior Citizens Home.

Huntsville, Ont.: Norman Midgette of Jordan held a five day meeting in this place, Dec. 14-18. He is to return for a further effort in February.



Barrie, Ont.: The response to the appeal for support for the T.V. time for the Herald of Truth to begin on January 3rd was most encouraging. Eight churches in the area responded quickly with $125 per week.

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

MADRAS, INDIA

We begin the New Year full of optimism but also with many pressing problems. During the past year in connection with the work that has gone out from Madras there were 821 baptized. There were 79 baptized in 1963 to make a total of 900 since we entered this field.

We have now more than fifty congregations in the States of Andhra and Madras. All these young members and all these new workers creates a multiplicity of problems. This is the work of God and we rely more and more on him for wisdom to carry on this work. He has not failed nor shall he.

We have recently had a man come to us with a Ph.D. degree. We can turn over much work to him in the line of preparing material for the printer, proof reading, etc. We hope to train him so he can carry on the training school for us. This man has a son in high school and two girls in college but he is willing to work for just a little over one hundred per month in Canadian money.

With the support that is coming for myself, for Brother Perry, for Brother Hallett, and for Brother McMillan it is wonderful what Canadian brethren have done but did you ever do anything that was so rewarding as this work in India?

The opposition is stiffening. We shall expect more effort by the denominations to frustrate our work. Hinduism will not take kindly to the fact that hundreds are leaving it to be Christians. However, if we do not grow weary in well doing, we shall be more than conquerors. The only opposition that can cripple us will be from the inside.

LET'S BE ALIVE IN '65.

Brotherly,

J. C. Bailey

VISITOR'S VIEW OF SHILLONG WORK

"I have seen the restoration!" This is what I couldn't help but tell myself after having visited with missionaries Don and Miriam Perry, Ray McMillan, and David Hallett in Shillong, Assam, India. My visit was to the Christian work closest to me — some 155 miles by air, but at least 24 hours in actuality because of the restrictions imposed by immigration officials of the countries of Pakistan and India.

Many Christians have heard of the indigenous "Back to the Bible" movement that took place in this dreamy hill-country of India, but to see and hear these simple folk sing their hearts out to God, to hear them pray so earnestly, and to see them fill the benches to capacity was a rare spiritual experience. The movement seems to have begun some three decades ago, and through some coincidence (could that have really been mere chance?), they came across a tract putting them in touch with the brotherhood in the U.S.

Since that time a few American Christians have penetrated into the isolated area of Assam to see what the pure teachings of Christ have done with these people who were former animists. And the Khasis (natives) can recall the exact date and name of every visitor, for this touch with the brotherhood at large is very meaningful to them. However, the story is not without sadnesses, for they have, in a capsule version, suffered the same digressive movement that was experienced in the church elsewhere. They have survived that traumatic division to emerge smaller in numbers but much purer and more respected in the community. Where they once numbered around 400 members, they now have some 40-50 in attendance, and are once more rebuilding.

In recent years churches in the Western Hemisphere finally began to realize the inherent opportunities and obligations of these Indian brothers, only to learn that the door was barred by officialdom to all missionaries from the U.S. At this point, J.C. Bailey of Canada (another Commonwealth nation, which cannot be so barred) felt the urgency of the call and soon found himself as the first missionary of the church of our Lord to India. And soon after he was joined by Brothers McMillan, Hallett, and Perry, and the family of the latter. Brother Bailey answered a Macedonian call and moved his family to Madras.

The work of these Christians cannot be praised too highly, for their sacrifices are far greater than most Christians would bear. Brother McMillan has mastered the Khasi language (a very obscure one, on which there are few aids in print) well enough to preach, teach, pray, lead the singing, and merit the pride and respect of the native brothers. Bro. Hallett, a former Navy cook and hospital orderly, conducts a growing Bible correspondence work and doctors the flock of children in daily attendance in their school. Bro. and Sis. Perry, with their eight lovely children, have no refrigeration, carry water to their second-storey apartment, and are without plumbing or heat of any kind. There was no complaining for these hardships, however; rather than that I was greeted with a warmth and love that I have rarely known anywhere. I learned that they all slept on concrete floors there until they were able to acquire beds.

Samuel T. Lanford

Editor's Note: Brother Lanford makes an appeal for support of the brethren in Assam: prayers, letters and money. He indicates that living costs are high. Since he does not know the details of their personal support nor that of the work we feel it unwise to publish his specific comments on these lest a misunderstanding should result.

TODAY I BECAME A CANADIAN

(By Clyde Lansdell)

Today (November 23, 1964)) I pledged allegiance to the country of Canada, the Queen, and her heirs and successors according to law. By doing this I renounced all allegiance to the country of my birth — THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA. Those that may be prompted to brand me as a traitor, one who hates his homeland, etc., do not know whereof they speak. It was only last month that I stood at attention in the city of Birmingham, Alabama and watched with tear-stained eyes "Old Glory" raised to fly in the flickering breeze. I thank God that I was privileged to be born in such a wonderful country as the United States. I thank God for the liberty, freedom, and peace that I enjoyed in that country and as long as I live there will be a tinge of excitement in my heart when I hear the national anthem or see the flag raised.

One may ask, "Why then did you renounce your allegiance to that country?" The answers are many and varied. Some of them are:

I became a CANADIAN because: I intend to spend the remainder of my life in this country preaching the blessed Gospel of Christ. O yes, I could have done this as an American but I do not believe I could have done it as successfully. I would have always remained, at least to some degree, an outsider. This is especially true as far as my relationship is concerned with Canadians who are not members of the church. This is not a criticism of Canadian people. It is only a natural feeling. If a man has come from another country to teach a new doctrine and intends to make his home there, why shouldn't he desire to become a citizen of that country? Yes, I want to be a part of the country where I am trying to bring people to Christ.

I became a CANADIAN because: I love this country. I love it for many reasons. I love the adventure of the cold weather and the snow. I love it's cities and I love it's bushland. Most of all I love IT'S PEOPLE. Canada has been good to me: I have more from a physical sense than ever before. I have a wonderful Canadian wife who has helped me tremendously through many a problem, and thanks to the confidence placed in me by Canadians everywhere, I have a greater FAITH than ever before. As I told a newspaper reporter yesterday, "I became a Canadian because the United States is the greatest country in the world second to Canada". It is great from the borders of Nova Scotia to Vancouver and from Windsor to the Yukon and Northwest territories. And I am a CANADIAN because I love every acre of it.

I became a CANADIAN because: Many are without Christ in this country and are therefore lost. As I have travelled through cities like Chatham, Brantford, Stratford, Kitchener, Oshawa, Peterborough, Timmins, Kirkland Lake, and many more beholding the vast multitudes of lost souls, my heart bleeds with concern and a prayer for forgiveness is uttered from my lips. A prayer that the Lord will be big enough to forgive us for our hardness of heart in the past, our division over matters of opinion, our jealousy, envy, our arrogant spirit, and our plain "I DON'T CARE" spirit. When I realize how little we have done in this great Country of OURS for Jesus and how much we have done for ourselves as is demonstrated in our fine clothes, automobiles, homes, gadgets, etc., I bow in a humble plea for mercy. But what of the future? I cannot consistently pray God's forgiveness for me when I continue to overlook the spiritual needs of OUR country. The only answer for the future is for us to do more for the Lord and less for ourselves.

Yes, I know many things have been done in recent years and I am not one of those who are not thankful for this progress. I really believe that we are getting ready to begin to commence to start to do something for the Lord in Canada. Since coming to Ontario October 14, 1956 I have seen the power of God demonstrated in the starting of congregations in London, Niagara Falls, Wellandport, Barrie, Sudbury, Vandeleur, Newmarket, North Bay, and possibly others. I also have seen great efforts undertaken such as the Tent meeting in Meaford and the recent Gatewood meeting in Toronto. Just last year in OUR country we beheld the power of the Gospel in special efforts at the Lakehead and in the cities of Collingwood, Barrie, and Newmarket area. And what of the great undertakings of the Manitoba brethren this year and next in their tremendous effort to bring the Gospel to the people of that area. Even though I am thankful for this I must be realistic and face the fact that there is still MUCH to do. We need churches in every city of 10,000 or more in the next ten years. We need a church of Christ in every town in the country in the next twenty years. We need to flood the air-ways, the television, and the newspapers with the story of Jesus. We need to take a firm stand against the immorality that is running rampant in OUR country. We need to let our words be heard in the cities and in the country from coast to coast that King Jesus is our leader and we are his soldiers. Brethren we have the money to do the job. Brethren we have the ability to do the job. Brethren we have the work force needed to do the job. Have we forgotten Gideon? Have we forgotten the story of the power of God in taking the city of Jericho? Have we forgotten Matthew 28:20—And lo I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world? Have we forgotten that we have been promised that when we ask it shall be given, when we knock it shall be opened, and when we seek we shall find? Do we think that God loves us less in 1964 than he did the people in Bible times? Where are those that will trust the Lord? Where are those that will stand up and be heard? Where are the Nine (and many times that number) that haven't returned to give thanks to God for cleansing them of their spiritual leprosy?

As I talk to various brethren in OUR country there seems to be two main trends of thought. There is the justified optimism because of recent good things but there is also

INITIAL EFFORTS BEGUN AMONG FRENCH CANADIANS

S. F. Timmerman, who served 16 years as a missionary in Belgium has been working, for the past three months, in Montreal, Quebec among French - speaking Canadians. While preaching for the English-speaking congregation, along with the writer, he is laying the ground work for starting the first French-speaking congregation in the city. There are nearly two million people living in the Montreal area, with French as their mother tongue.

Timmerman's work has been greatly assisted by ads being placed in local French language newspapers. Several are now active in the eight lesson Bible correspondence course, "L'Evangile de Christ". To further advertize the course, special literature has been printed and is being distributed from door-to-door. Home Bible studies have been begun, using the Jule Miller filmstrip series with a French text. Already, a man who had been baptized for the remission of sins, while living in Trois Rivieres, Quebec, has taken a stand to be identified with the New Testament church. This man had been associated with a religious group which holds the truth on many points; however, with study, he came to recognize a number of errors in their teaching. He was contacted through a news article, concerning Timmerman's proposed work, which appeared in the bilingual paper, "Le Messager". There are now three French - speaking members worshipping with the English group.

Another means for securing contacts for teaching has been through the New York World's Fair exhibition. Names have been secured from almost every section of the province. Those who have registered at the fair from the Quebec City area are being contacted by Owen Aikin who recently moved there from Paris, France.

While Timmerman is focusing most of his attention upon the French Canadian field, he is still associated with the work in Europe through World Radio, sponsored by the Whites Ferry Rd. church in West Monroe, La. He is the speaker for "La Voix du Salut" (The Voice of Salvation), a fifteen minute weekly broadcast over Radio Luxemburg. The tapes are being prepared in a local studio.

The New York Ave. church in Oak Ridge, Tenn., which has supported Timmerman's work for the past five years, has stated that it will not be able to continue after June 30, 1965, because of an overload on the budget. Congregations interested in assuming his support after that date may write to: Church of Christ, 760-44th Ave., Lachine, Quebec.

Conclusion

Christ is alive and reigning. Note persecuting Saul's words (I Cor. 15:20-28). Are you His? If not believe in him today (Heb. 11:6), repent of your sins Luke 13:3), confess your faith in him (Matt. 10:32-33); and be buried with him by baptism into his death that you might rise to walk in newness of life (Rom. 6:3-5). J. JOHNSON TO INDIA

Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnson

We have been following the India articles from the pen of Bro. J. C. Bailey ever since he went to India 18 months ago. We kept wondering how long it would be before someone would answer his many pleas for help and who it would be.

Early last Spring, before the campaign in Winnipeg got underway we had decided to try to obtain support to work full-time here in Winnipeg in order to try to take advantage of the many opportunities which we felt sure would be forthcoming. With this in mind we talked to different brethren as to how to go about raising the necessary funds. Bro. Wesley Reagan was planning a trip to Dallas Texas, and invited me to along. It was a rush trip but we were able with the assistance of Bro. Alan Bryan to interview three Congregations. All of which were sympathetic to our plea, but as we did not have a definite date set to commence there was nothing definite accomplished. Also, each congregation, had already extended its budget for the current year. We did plead with them however, to keep us in mind for 1965. Later in the summer my wife, Eva, and our son Dennis and family made a concerted tour for ten days through the states of Oklahoma and Texas, and in all interviewed more than a dozen different churches or their preachers, and again as in Dallas all were sympathetic to our plea and commended us for our faith in giving up regular employment to work full-time in the Lord's work, and especially so because of our age. At least four congregations promised to give our plea and plans special consideration in their 1965 plans.

Upon returning home we still continued to follow Bro. Bailey's reports, and upon receiving a card from Bro. Jimmie Lovell in acknowledgement of our subscription to "ACTION" in which he said, "The Canadian workers over in India are doing so many great things and I so wish that we could send workers in the States up there to replace many of you in that field who might be able to go to India." After reading it I called to Eva and said, "Here is our chance" and she really surprised me by saying, "I see no reason why we could not go to India to help for about five years." In other words, we had both been harboring the same thought for some time already.

After praying and talking about it for some time we decided to write and ask Bro. J. C. B. what his opinion was about our thinking. His answer was as we expected, to the point and full of encouragement, from a divine standpoint. His first comment was, "I was surprised with the letter but not entirely. From a strictly human standpoint I would say not to do it. We are not dealing with this from a human standpoint but a divine. If it is the will of the Lord for you to come then He shall make all grace abound. This work here is one of the biggest things of the century as far as the church is concerned.—There is great respect for age here. As far as education is concerned Eva can put hers to great use. I shall be glad to tell her all I know when she gets here about how best to use it. All you need to do is to do like I do KEEP YOUR MOUTH SHUT. You know enough to teach sinners the way of the Lord. You know enough to realize that there will be so many things different to anything you have ever done before that it is like starting all over again . . . Your coming will not answer the need of the work for someone with more formal education but it will meet the need of some that can guide these babes in Christ into greater and greater service. I could write pages and pages about the work that needs to be done but that can wait.—You should plan to stay three years. That is long enough in this heat.—There may be a young American available for Winnipeg if you come. I shall inform Bro. Lyles who is looking after our work in the U.S. that you are thinking of coming and that they can be on the lookout for a man for Manitoba. He said he had someone in mind if I could find a Canadian to come.—You can explain that your coming has nothing to do with the need of someone with degree work to come. That you are coming to engage in the same work in which I am engaged. You can tell them that if there should be 50 men available tomorrow that we could put them all to work and then be looking for more. SOUTH INDIA BELONGS TO THE CHURCH. Shall we possess the land?—My coming has not hurt the work in Canada and yours will not either. God has placed a terrible burden on the church in Canada to get the gospel into India. We do not have too much time."

This then leaves it up to us, and we have decided to try to raise support to go to India to help in

LETTERS

Regina, Saskatchewan,
7th and Pasqua,
Church of Christ,
December 11, 1964.

The Gospel Herald:

Just over one year ago we learned that the Allan Bell family would have to return home from the mission fields of Africa. Since the funds necessary to carry out this move were not available locally, it was necessary to enlist the help of sister congregations of the Church and interested members. Being human we saw this as almost an impossible task due to the many, many worthy appeals placed before our brethren. This, however, serves to illustrate that we many times lack faith in God.

A letter of appeal sent out to many congregations by our treasurer, brother Wayne Kemp, as well as the brochure sent to almost every member of the Church in Canada resulted in a wonderful response. The total amount received was $4,040.00

We turned back to the Weyburn Church to assist with the travel fund of Betty Bailey 100.00

The expenses involved totaled 279.00

Leaving a balance of ..... $3,661.00 which was turned over to the Bell family. This not only covered the expense of their trip home but assisted them in becoming established in their home in Calgary, where Bro. Bell is now teaching.

May we of the Church meeting at Pasqua & 7th in Regina, join with the Allen Bell family in expressing our deepest appreciation for the help given by congregations and individuals alike. It was a wonderful response indeed. Thanks to one and all.

Yours in Christ,
E. D. Ashby

December 15, 1964

Gospel Herald
Beamsville, Ontario

We appreciate the service that the Herald renders to the brotherhood. Many times needs have been filled through request made through the paper.

Last June we asked the brethren through the government mail to help us finance the covering of the inside walls of the church building in Swift Current. From this appeal $714.00 was sent and we were able to do that job. May I take this opportunity to thank you, without your help we would not be able to continue.

This year seven adults have been baptized; four families have moved away and we are still a small group.

Sincerely in Christ,

ANOTHER WORKER FOR HALIFAX

We are pleased to announce plans for another full-time worker for Christ to move to Halifax in August of this year. Brother Ron Pauls, a Canadian and a graduate of Western Christian College, is a zealous, dedicated young man who should be of great value to the cause of Christ here. Brother Pauls will complete his work at Abilene Christian College in July, and recently was selected to "Who's Who at ACC". He will also be getting married in July to Sister Rita McIlroy, a school teacher in Austin, Texas.

Bro. Pauls will give particular interest to the educational work of the church, and work among young people, together with assisting in personal work and preaching. He was the organizer and leader of the group of ten young people who helped in the work in Nova Scotia last summer, and is arranging for a similar group to come again this summer. Bro. and Sis. Murray Marshall of Union City, Georgia, will also be in Nova Scotia this summer to assist in vacation Bible schools and meetings in Halifax and Mill Village.

There is a need for further personal support for Brother Pauls, who thus far has $200 a month promised him. We would appreciate hearing from churches and individuals who might be able to assist in meeting this need. There are now twenty-five members meeting with the Halifax church. We need to provide an ever stronger voice for Christ in this metropolitan area of over 230,000 souls, and also make efforts to reach out into other parts of Nova Scotia with the gospel. An additional full-time worker in Halifax should be most valuable in this effort.

PLUM ROLY POLY

Serves 8 For a snack or dessert

3 cups biscuit mix
2 tbs. melted butter
¼cup sugar
2 tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. nutmeg
½ cup canned strained plums (or junior plums)

Prepare your own biscuit dough or use a prepared mix. Roll out in 15 x 10-inch rectangle. Spread with melted butter. Combine sugar and spices. Sprinkle ½ on biscuit mix. Spread with strained plums leaving a 1-inch margin. Sprinkle with remaining sugar and spices. Roll up and cut in 1-inch slices. Place slices, cut side up, in a greased pan or muffin tin. Bake in hot oven (450°F.) 15-18 minutes.

IN THE VALLEY

judgment is near, but not all people are aware of it!

On the day of Pentecost, the people were in the valley of decision. Peter preached the gospel to those Jews, "devout men, from every nation under heaven" (Acts 2:5). After hearing the gospel, they asked: "Brethren what shall we do?" Peter said unto them, "Repent ye, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto the remission of your sins; and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit" (Acts 2:37,38).

Some Good Decisions:— Moses made a good decision when he chose to "suffer affliction, (A.S.V. share ill treatment) with the people of God, rather than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season" (Heb. 11:25).

Joshua made a good decision when he "chose to serve Jehovah." "And if it seem evil unto you to serve Jehovah, choose you this day whom ye will serve; whether the gods which your fathers served that were beyond the River, or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land ye dwell: but as for me and my house, we will serve Jehovah." (Joshua 24:15). There are professed Christians today, who have their names on church registers, who need to choose today whom they will serve, Jehovah or Satan!

The prodigal son made a good decision when he "returned to his father." When this young man came to himself he said: "I will arise and go to my father, and will say unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight: I am no more worthy to be called they son: make me as one of thy hired servants" (Luke 15:18-19).

Some Bad Decisions:— Lot made a bad decision when he chose "the plain of the Jordan." "And Lot lifted up his eyes, and beheld all the plain of the Jordan, that it was well watered everywhere, before Jehovah destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah, like the garden of Jehovah, like the land of Egypt, as thou goest unto Zoar. So Lot chose him all the plain of the Jordan; and Lot journeyed east; and they separated themselves the one from the other" (Gen. 13:10.11). This land looked very good to Lot; he thought he was wise in choosing the plain of the Jordan. Lot chose to enroll with the inhabitants of wicked Sodom and Gomorrah.

David made a bad decision, when he "set Uriah in the forefront of the hottest battle," and caused him to die. "And he wrote in the letter, saying, set ye Uriah in the forefront of the hottest battle, and retire ye from him, that he may be smitten, and die." (2 Sam. 11:15). David did this in order that he might take to himself Uriah's wife. He was willing to kill in order to pacify his lust for Bathsheba.

Judas made a bad decision, when he chose to betray Jesus "for thirty pieces of silver." "And said, What are ye willing to give me, and I will deliver him unto you? And they weighed unto him thirty pieces of silver" (Matt. 26:15). When Judas saw that he was condemned, he repented himself, and brought back the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders, and cast down the pieces of silver into the sanctuary, and departed, and went and hanged himself. He tried to make amends, but it was too late!

If you are in the valley of decision; choose good, not bad; choose righteousness, not unrighteousness; choose Christ, not Satan; choose eternal life, not eternal death. Choose now, before judgment falls!

I BECAME A CANADIAN

the fear in the brotherhood of a coming division. Brethren, we can't afford to let God down again. We can't afford to let the lost of this country die without an opporunity to accept Christ. Please brethren, reconsider any position or attitude you may have that would cause division to the cause of Christ in OUR country.

Now that I am a CANADIAN and this country is just as much mine as it is yours or anyone elses, I don't intend to give it up to Satan without a fight. I believe that our way of life is worth fighting for. I believe that OUR country is worth saving. There is no more room for the old excuses that we are too small, Canadians are too reserved, we don't have enough money, etc. Because look at the Central Ontario Campaign that last year was instrumental in baptizing over twenty souls into Christ, or the Campaign on the Manitoulin Island that accomplished so much, or the special Gospel Meeting in Western Canada (Just reported last month in the Gospel Herald) that saw over twenty walk down the aisle. God is showing that He and faithful servants are a majority. God can accomplish His work with just one faithful follower. Are YOU that faithful follower? Will YOU take your place in the ranks of Christ and be a Christian soldier? If you will you will find that you are not alone for I promise you that along with God on your side you will find Clyde Lansdell. I haven't totally committed myself to Christ in the past. I haven't always done all that I could have done for Christ but God being my helper I am here and now committing myself one hundred percent to forwarding the cause of our king. Are YOU with me? Will you begin now being concerned not with getting a lump in your throat when you see a particular flag flying, or hear a particular national anthem sung but instead, get on fire for Christ so much in your heart that nothing can quench it and every time you see a lost soul have such a burning passion for that soul's salvation that no dart of the wicked one can stop you from being like Christ everytime you can in every way that you can and every where you can.

This land is OUR land so let's take it for the Lord.

J. JOHNSON TO INDIA

this wonderful harvest of souls. We have had our doctor's examinations, and have applied for our passports. We have written to several churches and individuals, and presently are waiting to hear from any who may be interested in helping us in this very fertile field.

As Bro. Bailey mentions we plan to engage in the same kind of work in which he is engaged. We feel that we are reasonably well qualified for this work. Both Eva and I have been active in the Lord's work ever since we were married and have taught many and varied classes. I have assisted with the preaching appointments over the years, taking my turn when there was no full-time man and filling in in various other places as the need arose. On two occasions we assisted in protracted meetings. One at Moose-Jaw Sask. where we preached 25 sermons in 15 days for our first experience in this field, and the next year at Wadena, Minnesota for a ten day meeting. We have taken part in lectureships and for about a year and a half alternated every second Lord's day between Dauphin Manitoba and Killarney Man. striving to keep the work going and to strengthen the few brethren at these distant points. Dauphin now has two and possibly three full-time men there now, and we are still going to Killarney every second Sunday. I have been director for the "Bible Correspondence Courses" for several years and in this vein we have written literally hundreds of letters.

Brethren, we realise we are not the answer for all phases of this work, but as Bro. Bailey has pointed out there is ever so much to be done and all too few who are able and willing to go. Eva and I will be giving up good jobs to go and will be forfeiting a pension which we could have by waiting another five years: But, Brethren the door in India is open now and we are willing to go. Are there those who will help us to obtain the necessary funds?

We have not too much knowledge of the needs for such an undertaking as this, but our present feeling is that we will need about $500.00 a month, plus a work fund. Besides this of course we will need our return fare which will be in the neighbourhood of $4000.00. Half of this we will need right away, and the other half can be supplied later.

If you wish to know about our character or abilities you may write to any of the following:

Bro. Danny Wiebe "President" Western Christian College, N. Weyburn Sask. Canada.

Bro. Wesley Reagan "Evangelist" 10 Vincent Massey blvd. Winnipeg 6, Manitoba.

Bro. A. H. Beamish "elder" Ste 320-81 Roslyn Road, Winnipeg 13, Manitoba.

Bro. Murray Hammond "Evangelist" 1336 Dudley Crescent, Winnipeg 9, Manitoba.

Bro. J. C. Bailey Annex 19, Aspiran Gardens, Madras 10, India.

Bro. Raymond Meneer 39 Bittersweet Bay, Winnipeg 6, Manitoba.

Bro. J. A. King 426 Lindsay Street, Winnipeg 9, Manitoba.

We could give many more but feel that this is sufficient for the present;

Anyone desiring more information, or any who are willing to assist us in this great work may contact us here at home, as have other fine friends.

The Logsdons, formerly heading the Haiti Mission, will be working with the seven million souls in Venezuleta for the next several years. The further establishment of the Church in Haiti, and throughout the Caribbean area, will then be augmented by the establishment of the Caribbean Bible College, at a location yet to be chosen.

The Traylers have left Caracus for their new home in California which leaves the Caracas work without a laborer, save the past converts and brethren associated with American firms in Caracas. The Don Logsdon famimly will be leaving for Caracas as soon as travel funds become available and final support is received.

A travel fund of $1,500.00 is needed as well as some $500 per month additional support to overcome the very high cost of living in Caracas.

We, the elders of Parkview, ask for your prayers, your communication, and your financial co-operation in helping to evangelize this portion of the world in our generation.

Brother Logsdon is available for speaking appointments. Please contact us at 3333 13 Mile Road, Warren, Michigan.

VIENNA, AUSTRIA

Our gospel meeting with Klaus Goebbels of Krankfurt, Germany doing the preaching was a great success. We had a total of 60 different visitors during the meeting, 32 of these are new contacts. The most encouraging thing about the meeting was the responses. First to respond to the invitation was a former Jehovah Witness, a lady 64 years of age. Next to obey was a 62 year old physical education teacher, a former Roman Catholic. He said that he had been looking for the truth for 15 long years and finally found it. He has already brought his wife and three children to the services. Last to be buried with her Lord in baptism was a 24 year old office worker. Her sister and brother-in-law have been members for several years and they had worked and prayed for her conversion for a long time.

MAWLAI CHRISTIAN SCHOOL

Donald E. Perry, Assam, India

On February 17th 1964 I rang the bell to call together the students of Mawlai Christian School to begin a new year of school. This was also a very new experience for Ray McMillan and me, for most of the students could not understand English and we could only a little more than give a greeting in Khasi. I had been asked by the brethren here to act as headmaster or principal. I was not sure what I was doing but had some confidence that from the condition of the school previously it would be possible to make improvements in any case. Some improvements have been made but we can see that many more are possible. So we are planning now for a new year to begin February 15th, 1965.

Mawlai Christian School was started by Christians here in 1951. It first met in some sort of shed and then later in the church building. Financial help has been received from America to pay the teachers salaries. The number of students increased some through the years so that there were approximately 70 in daily attendance in the fall of 1963. There were three or sometimes four teachers for the five classes offered in the lower primary school. Lower Primary consists of Classes A (Junior and Senior), B, I, II, III. School met only in the mornings and often not for very long even during that time.

Ray McMillan and I came in response to the invitation of brother J. C. Bailey, to work with the school here. This we have been doing besides church work. We have taught Bible, English and Arithmetic. Ray has also been taking physical exercise period and some music with the students. It keeps me on my toes to try to teach from 50 to 70 young children a Bible lesson each day when I cannot even speak their language. I do not know if they got very much through the rather inadequate translator that I had. I tried to teach Arithmetic as best I could using some English and some Khasi. The text book was in Khasi. English—Khasi translation for the senior students kept me on my toes. I had to learn some Khasi to keep ahead of them. We added Class IV last year. Our total enrollment was approximately 126.

Due to change in administration of the school and other circumstances the donations coming from individuals in America for the school were discontinued last year. We were able to obtain a government grant to pay the wages of one teacher. Otherwise the four Khasi teachers we used this last year were paid from funds sent by individuals who specified only that they should be used as we needed them here. An effort has been made to be sure that funds sent directly from churches in Canada and the United States were not used directly in school operation. The former church building was partitioned and used for classrooms. One class met in the back of the auditorium of the church. A committee appointed or approved by the members of the church here is responsible for the school work. It is a bit difficult to distinguish between the church and those Christians interested in the school affairs since there is only the one church here from which the interested Christians come. However, there is an effort to keep the organization and business separate. There is no proper constitution prepared to regulate the school. One is needed. We have applied for government aid for teachers salaries for this past year. It may be possible to obtain 70 rupees a month ($15.00 or so) for two or three teachers. This is the range in which we pay the teachers too.

The school was in operation when we came here. If it had not been here we probably would not have started it. Although Ray McMillan and I are supported by churches in Canada we believe there is some justification just now for our work with the school along with our church work. Re-evalation may be necessary from time to time as to whether we are justified in continuing such work. The following are some points we have considered in this connection.

1. A number of church members here are illiterate. The children of a number of these might continue being unable to read the Bible and the hymn books if the school here was not operated. There are no government operated schools near at hand where these children can attend. If they attend any other school it would have to be the Catholic or Presbyerian schools, or now perhaps one operated by the Christian Church (Church of Christ). A man I was talking to the other night who plans to become a Christian showed me a picture that his daughter received as a prize for her knowledge of Catholic religious teaching. She is only a little girl of seven or eight years. She attends the Catholic school. The picture was of Jesus with a heart shown on his chest. The picture hangs in their living room. The daughter of one of the members here attends the Catholic school (Class VII) because no other school near here offers that grade of work.

2. We are able to teach Bible each day to the students who come to us. We also have a short chapel each day with them.

3. Through the school connections we have many homes opened to us. The mother of a student was baptized recently.

4. Many of the students attended every night of the gospel meetings we have had this past year with brother Bob Hare, and Gordon Hogan.

5. We are helped, indeed almost forced, to learn the language through our work in the school.

Ottawa, Ont.: Friday night young people's classes have had attendances in the 40's. A recent contribution was $244.19.

Montreal, Que.: A report of the building progress in early December was accompanied by a picture which we assume to be outdated too badly to be used at this date. A report printed about three weeks ago reads, "The main structure of the building has been completed . . . Window glasses, plumbing fixtures, and heating ducts are being presently installed . . . Our prayer is that funds will be available to complete the building." Jerry Davidson.

MANITOULIN NOTES

Last October 21st the Manitoulin Christian Education Convention met at the United Church building in Sheguiandah. This is an annual inter - denominational convention of several years standing. I was asked to be the principal speaker this year, and thought you might enjoy a report of the results.

The churches of Toronto were good enough to send me a booklet that they had used at the Gatewood meetings. These came from the World's Fair in New York and announce why that "In the 20th Century, Christianity can progress only by turning to the 1st Century." I received 100 of these, and about half were taken at the Convention. They also sent some correspondence courses from the Fair, and 21 of these were taken.

Two other aids I had — in addition to our own brethren that attended, and gave me moral support — were some teacher training materials from Bro. Ralph Perry, London, and a showing of the first filmstrip of the Jule Miller cottage meeting series. I had ordered a T.V. film from the Herald of Truth, but it was two days late arriving.

In making these decisions my mind ran something like this: Take the truth, and hit them over the head with it hard — once and for all. No — don't speak on anything controversal, and maybe I'll be asked again sometime. But if I water it down the first time I'll do it the second time, and third, and if I never get around to speaking the whole truth — at least the truth that I felt was needed most — then why bother to preach at all? Well, I'll teach the needed truth in love. That was my sincere attempt. I tried to keep a mental picture of Christ hanging on the cross and saying, "Forgive them Father for they know not what they do."

This convention was to help better the Sunday schools on the Island. I tried to do this by helping the teachers and preachers understand the will of the Lord better. My first sermon was called The Great Teacher. This was an attempt to establish Jesus as the Son of God and not just a good man. If, then, He was the true Son we should teach what He taught, and as near the same way as possible. We noted some examples of His teaching — how He was tender and patient with those who knew not, i.e. the Samaritan woman, etc., but uncomprising with false teachers that should know better — those that wore broad phylacteries, sat in Moses seat, etc. Also I informed the preachers that one major thing our campaign with the Alabama - Tennessee students last summer showed up was that the people of the Island are sick of hearing politics and the like from the pulpits. They want the Bible taught, and that is what I exhorted them to do.

The second sermon was called Why Teach? It asked the questions; why teach if we are not going to be Christians ourselves; and why teach if we are not going to teach what the Great Teacher wants taught? We learned from Luke 24:47 that Jesus wants "repentance and remission of sins" taught in His name. We then noted several examples of early Christians teaching this in the Book of Acts, and discovered that the ultimate reason for teaching and preaching is to save souls as opposed to urban re-newal, labor problems, etc.

The final sermon of the day I called The Great Separation. We noted such separations as Adam & Eve from God, Noah & family from a wicked world, and how they were saved by water and it is a like figure of baptism today (I Peter 3:21) where the righteous and unrighteous are separated. I called for the people of the Manitoulin to separate themselves from those among us who would create doubt about God's word such as the devil did with Eve; so that we might be on the right hand when the Lord makes the greatest separation of them all at the final judgement.

Reaction? Some made these comments in private:

"We need more preaching like that."

"Whew! We sure have been through the Bible today. Backward, forward, and again!"

"We had to pay 35c to get in here, and Brodie was worth every penny of it." Oh, well.

One denominational minister led the final prayer in which he asked God to help us rightly divide the word of truth.

Another denominational minister called for all to stay who would at the conclusion of the meeting, and give him a chance to defend his church's new curriculum for Sunday school. He called out that he felt inspired, "Inspired of God to defend the new cunrriculum after the remarks made by the speaker." We listened, and as he explained how many years, and revisions of submitted copy had gone into the new curriculum, and we felt more certain than ever that the unchangeable word of God is still the only guide.

He told my wife the next day that I had done him an injustice by condemning him publicly that way. Actually I never mentioned him or the curriculum, nor did I have them any more in mind than any other teaching that would cast doubt upon God's word. The condemnation was of all false teaching, but I'm thankful that it was taken personally that is where we all need to apply God's word.

NEWS

A few weeks ago two adults and about 12 or 15 young people from the United Church on Barrie Island paid us a visit at the Sunday morning worship. They then wrote and invited me to bring our young people to one of their Friday night meetings and answer questions about the church of Christ. Brother Charlie Robertson, several young folks, and myself went. We spent a profitable 2½ hours answering questions for them and their preacher. They also accepted tracts, correspondence courses, and more of the literature sent by the Toronto churches.

Churches in Ohio and Tennessee started sending us money to buy an oil furnace for our home. This, of course, to relieve me of the chore of wood cutting, hauling, etc., so that I might put this time to things spiritual. As it turned out they sent enough for two furnaces.

With their permission we installed a furnace in the meeting house as well as at home. The church here only had to pay $107.50. We thank God and all of His family that have been so good to us. I now have much more time to put to home Bible studies.

"The preacher may not have known what he was baptizing me for but I did. I got most of my teaching from the Gospel Herald." These were the words of sister Ivan (Ethel) Donaldson of Gordon Township on the Manitoulin Island.

I had been engaged in home Bible studies with sister Donaldson and some of her neighbors for several evenings when she told me this. We spoke very frankly with each other about the purpose of baptism then and on another occasion afterwards. I felt quite convinced that she had been scripturally baptized, and invited her to break bread with us.

She stated that she knew that she had not been worshipping properly since her baptism in 1955, and asked for the prayers of the church, and to be identified with the Lord's body at Ice Lake. We were only to happy to welcome her and to ask God's blessings on her. She had been a member of one of Canada's largest denominations when she learned the truth through the medium of the Gospel Herald. May the Lord bless you brethren richly for the work you are doing.

Taking our cue from brother W. Jones and the Barrie congregation we decided to have a New Year's fellowship at Ice Lake. We started at 8 p.m. and ran until a little after mid-night. This was a brand new experience for all of us so we hardly knew how to schedule things to keep everyone interested for four hours. As it turned out all spoke of how fast the time went — we felt it was just time to get started when it was time to go home.

We invited Brother Bethel Bailey from Sudbury to preach to us. It was a wonderful exhortation to forget the past, failure or success, and press on attending to our daily responsibilities. He felt that one great problem with the world is that so many are rushing onward — but without a goal. He explained how Christ should be and could be our goal.

We had some free time in which to unload some of the refreshments which the ladies had piled high on two tables. They really did themselves proud with the many wonderful provisions.

At one point in the evening brother Bethel was leading the youngsters in some of their favorite songs when the over load on the hydro tripped the breaker, and the house was without lights for a few minutes. Bro. Bailey was equal to the situation when he promptly started leading them in "Going to Let My Light Shine," and two of the boys pulled flashlights from their pockets and did just that.

Singing was led at various times by Ken Baker, Stewart Bailey, and Brodie Harrell. In addition we had some recorded Bible reading, Bible Bee (similiar to the old spelling bee, but using Bible questions), and much prayer. At least sixty were present of which about half or more were visitors. Around twenty of this number were young people.

Brother Calvin Nelson and family were visiting from Newmarket A few minutes before mid-night, and until shortly afterwards he spoke to us about the value of the soul, and to teach others and save our own. Another song and prayer, and we all decided it was still too early to go home — but did.

We of Ice Lake wish all of our brothers and sisters a happy and prosperous 1965 in the Lord.

Sincerely yours,
C. Brodie Harrell

YOUTH AND AUTOMATION

out that God will require a full accounting for every moment of idle time we have. Privilege is always tempered with responsibility. If the unwise use of our "free" time means the loss of our souls, it just isn't worth it! Young people must decide now that when they reach maturity and the 30-hour week of work for a livelihood they will be prepared to face up to their responsibilities as children of God in using their time wisely. It can be made the most productive time in all history for the winning of souls, or it can see the largest mass apostasy the church has ever suffered. It all depends on what we do about it.

While we waver on the brink of decision, the godless ideologies, framed to destroy and enslave, are winning converts. We must awaken to the fact that we are in an all-out, life-or-death struggle for the minds of men. We could lose the battle simply by default — by doing nothing. The only weapon ever devised to combat error is truth. Forsake it, desert it or let it slip, and you have thrown in your lot with the enemy. But redeem the time, use it to the glory of God and the salvation of souls, your own included, and the rewards will be out of all proportion to the effort you put forth.

"We had a great meeting here on New Year's Eve, and plans for next year look splendid." Two were baptized on December 6.

Vandeleur, Ont.: Construction on the new building started about three months before the brethren held Bible study in it on December 10. They are enthused over the number of visitors they have had since they began meeting in this new building.

Sarnia, Ont.: "As we have quite a bit of used clothing on hand and not having any place to ship it to (the places we had been sending to are full up) was wondering if you could insert an add in the Gospel Herald. If any place could use used clothing we would be glad to ship it." Bro. and Sis. LaCourse.

London, Ont.: The goal of 100 in Bible classes was passed on November 8 when there were 111. A new goal of 125 has been set.

Ajax, Ont.: With the addition of theh Ron Masons of St, Catharines (now in Oshawa) this congregation now numbers 46 and has a potential attendance of 76 counting their families.

Communion Bread: We have had a number of enquiries for the wafers being used by many churches for this purpose. In order to satisfy these calls we have laid in a stock and are able to ship packages out at 75c each.

MYTH, IS TRUTH, AS A SYMBOL?

by Warren T. Whitelaw, Niagara Falls, Ontario

The above caption is the theory taught by Mr. James Davies of the United Church of Canada in his November, 1964, article which appeared in the "Observer" (United Church publication) under the title "The Meaning of Myth".

What is a myth? A traditional story by unknown authorship about something that neither relates to science or history. This definition apparently is accepted by Mr. Davies; but he adds that a myth can be defined, "as the intuitive apprehension of a universal truth". Mr. Davies calls it "truth as a symbol".

"The story of the Garden of Eden and the Fall of man is a myth; that is, it is a truth, symbolic truth", says Mr. Davies. "The virgin birth is a symbol." Elsewhere, as well, he sees myths in the Bible, "the story of Jonah, and the coming of the magi (wise men) to Bethlehem. Such myths contain vital truth in symbolic form," he says.

The thought Mr. Davies apparently hopes to convey is that though none of these stories are based on fact, they contain truth symbolically. The story of Adam and Eve and their fall in the Garden "never happened". "The virgin birth did not happen as history and is scientifically impossible". The only thing we can believe about these grand stories of old, is the truth taught by their symbolic utterance.

Mr. Davies says, "Myth is truth in a new dimension." But, we ask, can truth be based on that which is not fact; what truth is left if the Genesis story is neither historically true or scientifically acceptable? Mr. Davies has answered this well . . . "INTUITION".

The Hebrew writer says, "By faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God" (Heb. 11:3). In the beginning of this chapter he tells us, "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen". "In Romans 10: 17. Paul says, "So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God." It is suggested by Mr. Davies that we hear God's word relate to us symbolic stories of things that never happened, but out intuition causes us to accept them as truth.

THE NEW CURRICULUM

by Keith T. Thompson
Beamsville, Ontario

Of course we are talking about the New Curriculum of the United Church of Canada which has received so much attention the past several months. The Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec also uses this literature, although many in this denomination rejected it. The United Church spent some 12 years and $1,000,000 in the preparation of this new course of study for its people "from the cradle to the grave."

Actually there is nothing new in this curriculum; that is, as far as its teachings are concerned. It contains the same old unbelief which has been known as modernism for about fifty years. What is new is that it is now to be taught to all grades in the Sunday schools of the churches using it.

A number of articles and booklets have appeared that are very critical of this curriculum. Recently, the editor of the United Church Observer, A. C. Forrest, replied to these criticisms in an article "What the New Curriculum Does and Does Not Teach" which appeared in the Hamilton Spectator.

ATTITUDES AMONG BRETHREN

by L. Wesley Jones, Barrie

These are exciting days in the Church throughout the world. The Canadian scene is typical. Many are obeying the gospel, new congregations are being established, campaigns are flourishing and fruitful, new buildings are being erected, Christian schools are striding forward and mission work is on the increase. Reasons for optimism are seen in almost every budget, bulletin and Gospel Herald. How filled with thanksgiving we should be to Him who is able to use such clay as we to His glory.

Successful advance in the Church of Christ is just that—God using earthen vessels. When we forget that our partnership is with Him, and decide that we are sailing the ship of Zion, we will end on the shoals. But there is another partnership implicit. We are joint-partakers, brothers, fellow-heirs. Our usefulness and efficiency will be determined by our attitude toward each other.

While this is more apparent within a congregation, it is evident also in the wider relationships. We are a "brotherhood." To be more of what He has required of us, to eliminate the waste and woe of ill will, let us examine some of the Word bearing on attitudes among brethren.

Suspicion

A particularly serious instance of alien attitudes is described by Paul in 1 Tim. 6:3,4. (We are very fond of the New English Bible for these verses). "If anyone is teaching otherwise, and will not give his mind to wholesome precepts— I mean those of our Lord Jesus Christ —and to good religious teaching, I call him a pompous ignoramous. He is morbidly keen on mere verbal questions and quibbles, which give rise to jealousy, quarrelling, slander, base suspicions and endless wrangles." Instead of "base suspicions" the King James has "evil surmisings," and it is in this expression we are particularly interested.

Concerning these and the other fruits of "questions and strifes," Robertson says, ". . . all products of an ignorant and conceited mind." (Word Pictures In the New Testament). The author of Tyndale's New Testament Commentaries. The Pastoral Epistles, comments, "Controversies and arguments (questions and strifes of words) have impaired their mental health to such a degree that they have become diseased. Easton's 'having a morbid craving for arguments' probably catches the true meaning. This is a noteworthy example of the processes by which intellectual wrangling so often ends in moral deterioration."

We will not use space to prove that evil suspicions do occur among brethren. Readers will have noted some. A prodigal son returns, and while we welcome him into the congregation outwardly, we reserve certain areas of our hearts, and direct suspicious questions to him which weaken and demoralize. Those recently giving up denominationalism may bring with them great zeal and talent we don't use because we "are afraid of them." And while these people do need time and opportunity to adjust to a new environment and require exhortation and admonition to walk by the rule of faith, our unwarranted suspicions may relegate them to a seat on the floor of the assembly so long that they never really recover and go to work (James 2:3 NEB).

Our constantly changing social scene demands not a new gospel, but ever new adjustments to "become all things to all men." Fresh ideas, inspiring calls to service, and thought - provoking suggestions are needed by all of us. Furthermore, if we admit, and surely we must, that the restoration is not complete, there is the danger that we will never move any nearer he whole truth if we are unwilling to consider untrodden paths. But base suspicions can do just that to us. Our vision may be tragically blurred by fixed views. Those who are so frightened by any new idea that they have an automatic negative response before reasonable and prayerful study, supply us with good examples of hindering the gospel with unwholesome attitudes toward their brethren.

Is It Scriptural?

On the other hand, an unfortunate by-product of some of the problems in the Church is a suspicion of everyone who raises a question about what we do. It is not enough to say "there is a place" in the Church for sincere questions. If we surrender the principle of testing all things by scripture, we have given up the most distinctive characteristic of the restoration movement and are clearly violating such instructions as I Thess. 5:21. Because some have pressed their point beyond reason through too much craving for argument, let us not be suspicious of everyone who asks, "Is It Scriptural?"

"One Another" Passage

This detailed and somewhat negative study of one attitude should give way now to a brighter and more enjoyable study. There is a group of passages showing mutual responsibility and privilege. Consider expressions from some of them: "Provoking one another unto love and good work." "Teaching and admonishing one another." "Bear ye one another's burdens." "Submitting yourselves one to another." "Members should have the same care one for another." "In honour preferring one another." "With all lowliness . . . forbearing one another." "Wherefore comfort one another with these words."

Could we encourage you to read again all such passages you can search out in the text? If you are moved when the congregations sings "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," and inspired by a firm handshake and the salutation of "Brother," you will find even greater uplift in reading of such an interchange of concern and affection as characterizes those who are one in Christ.

True, some of the links are broken. But even this is noted by the Lord as Paul concludes, "Therefore let no man glory in men: for all things are yours . . . And ye are Christ's; and Christ is God's" (1 Cor. 3:21, 23). Christian ties should not be visualized as a line in which we each hold hands while the first in line holds the hand of Christ. But it should be seen as a circle with Christ at the centre, and those Chris-

IT WORKS

To understand the commission of our resurrected Lord is to understand a personal responsibility to teach and preach the gospel to the lost. The familiar reading of Matthew 28:19-20 says, "Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you: and lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world."

At the time of this statement the world contained millions of people; all of them were lost. The job to be accomplished was to reach them with the gospel. The statement above is the command of Jesus for meeting this need. These apostles were told to teach and each of them was under this charge. They were to baptize all who would be made disciples of the teaching of the gospel. Those obeying were to learn further the will of Christ and continue what the apostles were doing. That meant they were to teach others and baptize into the Lord.

Of all the great objectives of men, few if any have ever involved the necessity of contacting every man on earth — humanly speaking, an insurmountable task even with modern means of communication. What plans do you suppose men might devise to accomplish such a task. Could they improve on the way Christ instructed the apostles in doing His work?

Christ had the greatest of objectives but He gave the simplest of plans to accomplish it. In it everyone could have a part, whether great or small, and each could do something, whether much or little. All can be saved and all can save. And, what is most important about the commission of Christ? IT WORKED.

In Colossians 1:23, Paul affirmed that the gospel had been preached to every nation. To all those Christian men and women who are concerned with spreading the gospel with success to this generation, try the commission of Christ and make a sincere personal application!

May we not shelve this great privilege nor excuse ourselves by trying to pass our obligation to others. In the commission of Christ the obligation to teach others is as personal as our own salvation. Yes, in the lives of all saints there comes a time when we, "ought to be teachers" (Hebrews 5:12). The Lord never gave the exclusive right of preaching to some special group of Christians and that includes the evangelists.

It Works Today

When we read concerning the church 2000 years ago and see the success of the spreading gospel in those days of old, I am certain there is no one who does not say within himself, "How wonderful that must have been! I wish we could see that today." If you and other Christians will do a little more than wishing, it can and will happen today. When the personal responsibilities inherent within the commission of Christ are honestly faced and met the same results will be similar to those of the first century. Whether the men of earth obey or not they will have an opportunity to accept personally and be baptized or reject, and, in either case, we will have justified ourselves by sharing the message.

It has been said that the "proof of the pudding is in the eating." When used of religious matters, it must of course be understood within the bounds of authority. Furthermore, we can be sure God's ways will provide the proof and His will shall not return unto Him void. I have never known of men and women who worked for the Lord trying to save those who were lost whose efforts did not meet with success. As an illustration of this, may I use the saints with whom I am most familiar and whose efforts can be observed daily?

At Jordan the evangelist is not the only one teaching and baptizing. Last year through the personal efforts of Christians here there were 17 baptisms as well as four restorations. In June, a new congregation was started at Wellandport by fourteen of the Christians who had been here at Jordan and during the remainder of the year eight were added to the Kingdom in that community. Two other men whom the church at Jordan collectively is helping support were able to baptize nine others through personal teaching. Helping other men preach the gospel by providing financial support is scriptural and benefits both of the one receiving and the church or churches sending (Phil. 4:15-17). We cannot, however, let our work end there. Matthew 28:19, 20 still remains to be fulfilled in our lives.

No one person will convert the world nor did Christ ever expect it. The commission of Christ involves "chain reaction" and in this lies the success of the spread of the gospel. It must be passed on.

In bowling, the ball hits the head pin and perhaps another. After that the falling pins knock down the others. I expect most everyone has lined dominoes in a standing position and then touched one at the end. That one touches the next and so on down the line. In the same way Jesus said to the apostles, "teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you:" (Matt. 28:20). Thus "chain reaction" sets in, and as it continues to be passed to others, the kingdom grows. It worked 2000 years ago and it works today.

But, there are around three billion people (3,000,000,000) in the world today. How can we possibly reach all those people in one generation? Someone is ready to say, "We need a faster way than just personally teaching. We would never get to everyone." That same thing could be said today of all the methods being used. The trouble is not with the simple plan of Christ in Matthew 28 but it is with the people who do not carry it out in their lives. I think I can prove that to you.

Take a pencil and a small piece of paper and start with the number 1. Let that represent one Christian on the earth. Now double that and you have number 2. Double that and you have number 4. Continue this doubling process until you reach four billion. It will not take long. I believe you will double the numbers only 33 times.

Thus if we had one Christian who taught only one person each year, and the next year, both taught one

HATS OFF TO GREAT LAKES

Supporters of Great Lakes Christian College have been thrilled to see a dream come to reality. An attractive and functional building stands on the campus as a testimony to the faith and zeal of a relatively small number of people who are convinced that Christian education is worth sacrifice.

Recently, this writer attended the annual lectureship at GLCC. The program was of highest calibre. Men from at least six states of the United States and three Canadian provinces spoke on a variety of important subjects. Truly, it was a feast of good things.

Possibly the highlight of this visit was the general impression made on us by the administrative policy, the student body and the functional new building. Great strides have been made by this young school in a number of healthy directions.

As we heard Bro. Geoffrey Ellis outline the policies and aspirations of the school, we could not help but feel a glow of optimism. The aims of the directors, administrators, and faculty seem to be directed toward the utmost in efficiency and growth. At the same time they evidence a firm and healthy desire to keep the school in its proper sphere of activity. These two principles are vital to the forward march of this young institution.

We heard several visitors express their admiration for the interest and excellent deportment of the student body during the lectureship activities. We hear a great deal of criticism of modern teen-agers and unfortunately, such critical views are valid when directed toward a great many of that age group. It is a restless age of society. These teen-agers at Great Lakes seem to be different.

They no doubt give "static" to the teachers and administrators at times. However, they appeared to take a real interest in the discussions of the great themes from the Book of Philippians. They presented a very pleasing image of fun-loving young people who know when fun must make way for serious concern. We do not feel that the academic or social development of the young people is jeopardized in any way in such a school. In reality, to a splendid academic and social opportunity is added a third factor — a spiritual atmosphere that is caught as well as taught.

Those of us who sometimes are guilty of taking our estimate of the value of the dollar from the 1930's might feel that $117,000 for the new building is excessive. In reality, it represents a very modest outlay in these days of the puny dollar. The money is well spent. The returns in efficiency will be obvious. For any of our readers who are able to appreciate building statistics by reason of experience in the field, we need only cite the fact that this permanent building was erected at a cost of $8.26 a square foot. Neither attractiveness nor functional efficiency was sacrificed.

During the fiscal year 1963-64, over 500 people in the church in Eastern Canada contributed to GLCC. This is calculated to represent over 75% of the wage earners of the church in this region. Surely this is an index to the confidence in and approval of the school shared by our brethren.

There is presently a staff of 16 full-time and five part-time members. These are working with total campus assets in land, building and furniture of approximately $300,000. The school is in a position now to provide classroom space and instruction for 200 students instead of the 105 who are enrolled this year.

It was good to learn of the great interest in the school displayed by residents of the area who are not members of the church. A number of students come from such homes because their parents are sold on the kind of education and atmosphere provided by GLCC. They can see the "plus factors" of Christian social values and moral standards. These are obvious.

The school has some hopeful objectives for a new auditorium and the addition of Grade 14. These are worthwhile and practical in view of the great usefulness to the Canad-

TEACHING GOD'S WORD

KINDS OF AUDIO-VISUAL AIDS: NON PROJECTED

H. Ralph Perry, London, Ontario

Toys, toys, toys. Clothes, clothes, clothes. Cars, cars, cars. Food, food, food. Gadgets, gadgets, gadgets. Life in our affluent society is often complicated by the number and variety of available goods. A major problem is deciding what and how much to purchase.

There are also available many audio-visual aids for teaching the Bible. One publisher has a brochure entitled, "Teaching Aids A-Plenty." These are not all expensive as some might think. The person with a little creative imagination and skill can make very effective teaching aids from sticks, stones, magazines, boxes, paper, etc. These will cost him very little — a little thought, a little time, a little effort.

By far the most effective teaching is done with the use of audio-visual aids. This was pointed out in our last article. Let us emphasize that the important thing is to select from the many, good audio-visual aids and use them effectively in teaching the word of God. This is important for we have so little time given to us to teach many who come to our classes. May we strive to do the best job we possibly can.

Consider now some of the great variety of audio-visual aids to teaching the Bible. In this article we discuss a few of the Non - Projected aids. These are aids viewed without the assistance of projector and screen. Non-projected materials are numerous and usually inexpensive. Many can be made by teacher and students. I. Pictorial Aids. These are easily accessable, fairly reasonable in price and probably used more than any other visual aid. They are useful in every age group. I. Flannelgraph. Flannelboards are not expensive. The side, taken from a large corrugated carton covered with flannelette will do a fine job. Flannel aprons are used by teachers of younger children. Figures can be made or purchased. The variety of attractive, coloured materials for Bible stories, object lessons, mission emphasis lessons, application lessons, and adult lessons and sermons is beyond mention in this article.

Background scenes may be purchased. However, one with little artistic ability can make very good scenes at nominal cost. This writer took a course in audio-visual aids in Bible teaching here in London. One assignment, with instruction and guidance, was to create four colourful background scenes on flannel. They are very useful. You can do it with the right materials and a little instruction. 2. Picture (Flat). One of the oldest aids in teaching is a flat picture in hand. The alert teacher will develop a useful file of Bible art pictures, modern scenes, and pictures of objects.

There are many Bible art pictures available. These may be taken from left-over Sunday school papers or purchased. Standard Publishing Co. has a wide selection ranging in size from 3 by 4 inches to 21 by 34 inches. Some publishers sell sets of pictures made for the Bible school lessons.

When these are properly classified they will furnish the average teacher with aids for almost every lesson and most age groups. I wish we had space here to give a suggestive classification for filing.

3. Freehand Drawing — done by teacher or students. Those who feel they cannot draw can. Little children enjoy drawings without too much detail. Almost anyone can draw stick figures. The children learn more by doing. Have them draw pictures of the lesson story and applications.

4. Chalk Talks — Quite a bit the same as the above only on chalkboards.

5. Flash Cards — Series of pictures and words on cards to teach stories, new words, and applications.

6. Picture Rolls — Stories told with a series of pictures on a roll can give the effect of a T.V. set.

7. Photographs — of pupils, every day activities, and church activities can be used effectively.

8. Murals — Large pictures of Bible scenes can be purchased already in full colour or for the children to colour and make.

9. Other — Pictorial maps, posters, picture board, table top stories. illustrated books, flip-board stories, etc.

II. Graphic and Map Aids. Most of these are used with older children. There are some exceptions but maps are of little use before a child becomes a junior.

1. Graphics — Charts, diagrams and graphs are used to make subjects more vivid by showing points of emphasis, percentages, relationships, and such.

2. Maps — are a very important part of visual equipment in teaching Bible from Juniors up. They are also very useful in mission emphasis lessons.

There are various kinds of maps such as outline, geographic, relief and pictorial. Of course, there are also globes. Many of these can be made. A young people's class in Toronto, under the able guidance of brother Bert Thompson (now of Carman, Manitoba) made a large and excellent relief map of Palestine as a project.

Some of the best maps for use with juniors are Standard Publishing Company's two sets of Maps and Charts. They are colourful, pictorial, and not too detailed. Price of set of eight is only $2.60.

III. Objects Aids. Object aids allow the teacher to be original.

1. Dioramas (3-d) These are scenes made in open boxes. Small figures, grass and objects may be used.

2. Peep-Box Small three dimensional scenes are made in one end of a shoe box. They are viewed through a small opening at the opposite end.

3. Interest Centers. Objects of interest are displayed. A lesson on

ESTHER

Queen Vashti on the royal throne
Her life and body not her own,
Her morals though she did retain
When asked of Ahasuerus to proclaim
Her beauty to the drunken guests.

Now thrcugh the land the cry went forth
For maidens tall and maidens short,
Secured from every part and town
The virgins sought, the virgins found,
To please the king and wear the crown.

Now Esther was within the lot,
Of royal beauties that were brought To cleanse themselves with royal care,
Perfume their bodies and brush
their hair,
The task of all these virgins fair.

Then Esther pleased the mighty king
Upon her finger went his ring.
She now became his loyal queen
Within the courts she could be seen
By those without the royal gate.

Now Haman sought to end a life,
This uncle of the king's wife,
A Jew he was, this foster-father
The man that raised this Jewish daughter,
And overheard the vital plot.

Thought Mordecai saved the king,
But yet did not receive the ring.
For in Shushan, did Haman walk,
And in the palace did he talk
Himself into a noose.

Fair Esther spread the royal feast,
Invited Haman, though a beast,
To show the goodies as their guest,
To let him think that he was best
Without a shadow of a doubt.

The gallows built; another feast,
And Haman's life is but to cease.
The queen's request is granted now,
And Haman proud begins to bow,
But all in vain.

With Mordecai in his place
The bondmen now did have a case.
For freedom was their only plea.
He issued forth a new decree
To save the Jewish race.

The word was spread throughout the land,
That Jew would conquer heathen man.
The day was set, and all knew well
That blood upon the land would swell
As never had before.

The gory deed was done of course,
By edge of sword and brutal force.
The Jew, he found himself set free;
The heathen now a bondman be
To serve his master well.

The king bequeathed his wealth and power
To good queen Esther the loyal flower.
She sought to do the good Lord's will,
So let her uncle use the quill
To rule the nation well.

The moral of the story be —
The good you do you can't foresee.
Though Esther was an orphan girl
She offered much to help her world
In time of sorest need.

VANCOUVER TEACHER WORKSHOP

The second annual Teacher Training Workshop conducted by the Oakridge church in Vancouver was an outstanding success with one hundred-sixty teachers present. The workshop held on February 6th, was preceeded the night before with a meeting for elders and leaders with the principle speakers being Nyal Royse, of Bellvue Washington, and O. J. Russell of Portland, Oregon.

The workshop featured combined and divided sessions for each age group. The Columbia Christian College Book Store provided an excellent display of available materials. A wonderful fellowship was enjoyed by brethren from B.C. and Washington State. Dates for the 1966 workshop are February 4th and 5th.

HERE AND THERE

Brandon, Man.: On October 1st, 1964, the Brandon Church moved into a new church building, located at 943 - 7th Street. Although the church building is a new one to us, it was actually built in 1952 by the Lutheran's, and as they have outgrown it, we purchased it from them. We have at present only five wage earners, and our monthly expenses including building payments will be $150.00. We are also in need of an evangelist, in this city of some 30,000 souls. There will be a preachers residence available this spring directly behind the church building, and this is one reason we should like to locate a preacher as soon as possible.

If you can help to support this work, or if you know of a preacher who is interested in coming to Brandon, would you kindly contact: Gordon A. McFarlane, Secretary, Church of Christ, Box 208, Rivers, Manitoba. — Gordon A. McFarlane.

Lloydminster, Alta.: Bro. Owens reports five baptisms at Lloydminster and 10 abroad. The calendar shows: Jan. 12-31 a preacher lectureship by Bro. Orr; March 14-21, Owens to be with the Airport church in Weyburn; April 11-16, Lloydminster spring meeting with Jim Hawkins; July 5-9, V.B.S.; and Aug. 18-25, Canada Wide Singing School.

Edmonton, Alta.: Attendance was over 100 and contributions almost $180 on January 17. Several Bible studies are in process and several members are active in conducting them. A family recently moved in from Texas.

A man, living near Prince Albert, Sask., has completed 22 lessons of a Bible correspondence course and was baptized by Roger Jeal of Prince Albert.

THE NEW CURRICULUM

Mr. Forrest began by saying that he "deliberately avoided criticizing my brethren in the Gospel Halls and Fundamentalist churches." Although he does "giving the appearance of picking on the little fellows." Whether intentionally or not, all of this only serves to prejudice the issues involved. Just lately the Lutherans published their disagreement with this literature. Are they just "little fellows"? What about the many Baptists, Presbyterians, and Mennonites who do not accept it? And although many of them apparently accept it, I am sure there are many Roman Catholics and Anglicans who dissent.

Then the Observer editor continues "The United Church believes that the Bible contains the Word of God." This belief is further stated in the New Curriculum itself. According to Prof. Donald M. Mathers in his "The Word and the Way", God can reveal Himself only in a person, and never in a doctrine or a book." These statements deny the many claims of the Bible that it is the Word of God (2 Tim. 3:16, 17:2 Peter 1:20, 21, etc).

Mr. Forrest says that the use of the word "myth" has "got some of the fundamentalists all mixed up and upset. And their attacks have been exaggerated and unfair . . . Apparently they don't know, or some of their preachers don't know what the word 'myth' means. They think it means fairy-tale." Then after saying all that, he turns around and adds "And it must be admitted that the word is ambiguous."

It is not hard to see why the use of the term "myth" for parts of the Bible would get some upset. The term "myth" (Creek mythos) occurs five times in the New Testament (1 Tim. 1:4; 4:7; II Tim. 4:4; Titus 1:14; II Pet. 1:16). In each instance it signifies the fiction of a fable as distinct from the genuineness of the truth (cf. II Tim. 4:4," . . . turn away their ears from the truth, and turn aside unto myths"). This is in complete harmony with the classical connotation of the term which always bears the sense of what is fictitious, as opposed to what is true and historical. (Baker's Dictionary of Theology, pp. 368-371).

The article under review attempts to explain "myth" by claiming that it means "parable." Stories like Jonah and the whale are only parables like those that Jesus told. Without any proof the assertion is made "the people of the Old Testament knew the story of Jonah was a parable told to teach a profound meaning." That the book of Jonah is regarded as historical is evident from four facts. 1. It is told as simple history and nowhere gives evidence of being a parable or allegory. 2. The hero is a historical person (II Ki. 14:25) and the places mentioned were well known in that day. 3. The Jews also regarded it as historical. 4. Jesus refers to the facts of the book as historical events (Matt. 11:39-41).

The fourth fact is the most significant and settles the matter for all who would wear the name Christian.

Mr. Forrest adds "Jonah was meant for people with race prejudice. Jonah was meant for people who segregated other people and denied them the word of God. People who are literalistic and fundamentalistic will never understand the great truths of the Bible."

Certainly the book of Jonah has lessons on race prejudice. And there is no doubt that some who take the Bible more literally than others need to apply these truths. But simply because one believes the historical truths of a book like Jonah, he does not thereby become unable to perceive its spiritual truths. Any student of the Bible also knows that not everything is to be taken literally. Obviously there are figurative passages in the Bible, especially in the poetic and prophetic sections. But when an event, like the crossing of the Red Sea, which is always considered as an historical event, is called a "myth", some of us are bound to get "upset".

There are many other things in this New Curriculum which causes us grave concern. The liberal approach that miracles just don't happen is followed throughout. The flood of Noah's time did not really happen the way it reads in Genesis, according to the New Curriculum. It is a legend or folk lore (The Mighty Acts of God, p. 23; God and His Purpose, p. 76). But Jesus agreed with Genesis and believed that the flood really happened (Matt. 24:38, 39). Mr. Forrest writes "But we don't believe the writers of the Scriptures ever expected anyone to be so naive as to believe literally some of those Old Testament parables. Jesus didn't expect us to take the New Testament parables literally." He wants us to take the parables as Jesus intended. But is he willing for us to take the Old Testament events (not parables) in the way Jesus took them? Or will he say Jesus was naive?

IT WORKS

person each, then by continuing this process, everyone on earth might obey the gospel in only thirty-three years. And you may be saying. "All this is in the realm of theory." But do you know all it would take to make it a reality? Only one thing, and that is Christians who will start doing it all over the land.

Though it may seem too simple to us, the chain reaction of the commission of Christ worked in the early centuries and IT WORKS TODAY. These personal efforts of sincere Christians may not be highly advertised nor make a splash in the headlines but they save souls. What else do we want?

There is one more thing. That is the work accomplished in unity. The personal efforts of the commission, when applied, will produce the unity that is so desperately needed. We can all agree and work in a way that is scriptural. No way is more successful in saving the lost, no way will get the job accomplished more quickly, and no way can produce a firmer bond of unity.

The only "catch" in the commission of Christ is that we must apply it personally. Begin now to "observe all things" yourselves and experience the personal happiness of seeing someone you have helped teach obey the gospel. It will work for the Lord if we will work with Him.

ATTITUDES

tians which form the circle are each equally related to Christ who is the one Mediator between God and man. If one member suffers, all others suffer with him. Each seeks a path which will edify the other. Forebearance of one another is the normal thing. No one thinks himself higher than the other, for each has the same mind. The fellowship is not only with God and Christ but is also with fellows. Even a casual student will observe that we have just paraphrased some more of the "one another" passages.

A determined acceptance of the principles of these passages, as we preach faith, repentance and baptism with determination, would certainly alter the complexion of the Church. This is not to say that brethren are vicious, continually quarrelling or bitter. We don't believe it. Our brethren, God's children, are delightful and far above average in cooperation, and cheerfulness. But we can improve by drawing nearer to God.

Love One Another

One man recently wrote concerning his denomination, "I have lived long enough to know that the brethren are the hardest people on earth to love." We don't know his brethren that well. We know our own well enough to find them eager to share the purest of human ties—Christian affection.

"For brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another" (Gal. 5:13). We purposely omitted the passages on loving one another from the earlier section. They are special and deserve to be noted separately.

Lip service to God is "vain" worship (Matt. 15:8, 9). Lip service to the brethren is love in "word" and tongue" only (1 John 3:18). According to John, love without works is just as void as faith without works, and he uses the same illustration as does James (2:15). How long since you have tended to the need of a brother? Have you recently "passed by on the other side" when someone needed you? Are you sensitive to the problems of those beside whom you worship regularly? These are good questions for us to ask. It is one thing to say we love our brethren—it is something else to prove it, and to enjoy serving those who serve God.

Finally . . .

"Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking be put away from you, with all malice; and be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you" (Eph. 4:31, 32).

If you would ask, "How far should I go in serving and loving my brethren?" let the answer be heard clearly: "We ought to lay down our lives for the brethren." One who doesn't love his brethren that much should not quit the Church, throw up his hands in disgust, or laugh it off. He should begin by taking another honest and thoughtful look at those who have been bought with the blood of the lamb, and set about to re-build his ties with God's own people.

As God's own we have a charge to keep. How well we function may often depend upon our mutual trust and respect. God will not combine to reward our efforts and add to our numbers if our attitudes are unfit for the development of newborn ones.

TEACHING GOD'S WORD

the Bible might be made more interesting and effective through an orderly display of old Bibles and various translations. With little children, a lesson on God creating fish, birds and animals could have a fish in a bowl, a bird in a cage, and a hamster to make up an interest center.

4. Models. Almost any one can make a model Palestinian house with a few pieces of plywood and some plaster. Card board, paper, and wood kits for constructing models of the tabernacle, the temple, altars, the ark of the covenant, Noah's Ark ($1.65), villages, houses, and palaces are available. Small Hebrew scrolls may be purchased for a little over $1.00. Many of these things and others can be made by a handyman and even by pupils. A sling like David used is easily made.

The author has a book on model making of Bible objects such as ploughs dwellings, synagogues, threshing-floors, and other items.

5. Sand Table or Box. This can be used to recreate Bible scenes and events in a very interesting manner.

6. Other. Household and nature objects, magic, and chemicals.

IV. Dramatization Aids. A class or group has lived a story when it has been acted out or dramatized. Have you ever had your class act out a Bible story? Try it. It might seem strange at first, but properly planned and directed it will really teach.

Types of dramatization are acting the Bible narrative, plays, pantomine, puppets (there is quite a variety available), finger plays, and marionettes.

V. Observation Aids. Planned excursions give pupils a chance to observe things which they couldn't see in the classroom and are better than models or pictures of the same.

Some examples are field trips, interviews. and visiting exhibits or museums.

VI. Audio Aids — There are three basic audio aids: radio, records, recordings. There are some excellent Biblical narrative and chorus records and tape recordings available for purchase. The tape recorder is very versatile and can be used to communicate with missionaries and others. Children will find this intriguing.

The use of the human voice and certain objects for creating sound effects for Bible stories should be used more. For instance, the halves of a coconut shell clicked together sound like a donkey's hoofs.

CONCLUSION: We have sought to give you an idea of the wide variety of non-projected audio-visual aids at your disposal. Many of these are at your finger tips. All you have to do is use them. Items for purchase may be bought from the Gospel Herald book store. We encourage you to look into the great possibilities in effective audio-visual use.

Book Reviews

Books to be reviewed in this column should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont., Canada.

To the great biographies of the Restoration Movement a new volume can now be added — N.B.H., A Biography of Nicholas Brodie Hardeman, by James Marvin Powell and Mary Nelle Hardeman Powers. It seems that often we are too prone to think of the restoration only in terms of the nineteenth century. Our attention is concentrated upon the Campbells, Stone, Scott, Franklin and McGarvey. But to appreciate the continuing nature of the restoration movement we must also direct our attention to the events of the twentieth century. This volume gives us a cross section of church history in more modern times.

Recently, on the occasion of his ninetieth birthday and his more recent passing, great honors have been bestowed on Sir Winston Churchill. Without depreciating his life's work it can be observed that it is unfortunate that he had to make his mark in the world as a leader in war time. Consider that Jesus said "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called sons of God" (Matt. 5:9). Those making the greatest contribution to world peace are the proclaimers of the gospel of peace. N.B.H. is the story of one of those of whom the prophet said "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him who brings good tidings, who publishes peace, who brings good tidings of good, who publishes salvation, who says to Zion, 'Your God reigns'." (Isa. 52: 7).

Brother Hardeman, through a long and influential life, has been able to lead many into the way of the Prince of Peace where they might find peace of soul. Though largely unnoticed by the world at large this kind of life makes the greatest contribution to world peace. You will be informed, inspired and encouraged by this notable book.

This large volume which contains many photographs can be ordered from the Gospel Herald for $5.

BIBLE QUIZ

II Timothy 2:15; 3:16, 17

The Bible is God's Word. It is the meat and drink of the spiritual life. Christians need to study it daily. These questions will help to indicate something of how effective your study has been.

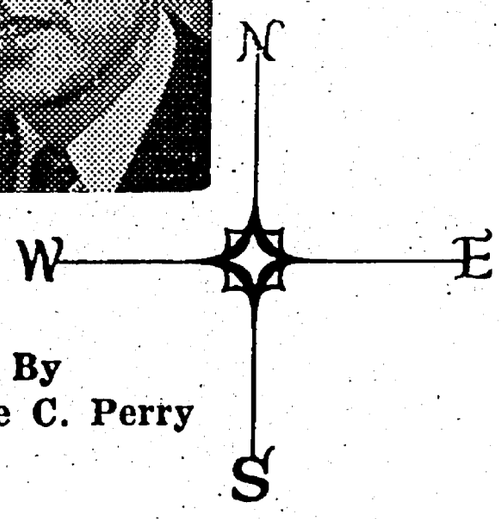
BIRDS IN THE BIBLE

1. Isaiah prophecied God's full punishing destruction of Edom in the 34th chapter of his book. How many of Isaiah's list of birds, which he stated would, with the wild beasts, be the occupants of the land, can you identify? "From generation to generation it shall lie waste . . . But the ..... and the porcupine shall possess it, and the ..... and the ..... shall dwell in it . . . It shall be the haunt of Jackals, an abode for .... Yea, there shall the ..... alight and find herself a resting place . . . Yea, there shall the ..... be gathered each one with her mate."

2. I Sam. 26:20, "Now therefore, let not my blood fall to the earth away from the presence of the Lord; for the king of Israel has come out to seek my life, like one who hunts partridge in the mountains." Who spoke these words?

3. What kind of bird did Noah first send from the ark to determine if the flood had subsided? What did he send out in the second place?

4. Complete: "You have seen what I did to the Egyptians, and how I bore you on ..... wings and brought you to myself. Now therefore if you will obey my voice and keep my covenant, you shall be my own possession among all the peoples."



5. "Like a sparrow in its flitting, like a swallow in its flying, a curse that is causeless does not alight." From what book would this saying most likely be taken?

6. Complete: "Are not two ..... sold for a penny? And not one of them will fall to the ground without your Father's will . . . Fear not, therefore; you are of more value than many ....."

ANSWERS — 1. Hawk, owl, raven, ostriches, crane, vulture, Isa. 34:11, 13-15. 2. David. 3. Raven, dove, Gen. 8:7, 8. 4. Eagle's, Ex. 19:4. 5 Proverbs 26:2. 6. Sparrows, sparrows, Matthew 10: 29, 31.

Special Announcement

The editors have been considering offering readers the services of a question and answer page in the GOSPEL HERALD. Arrangements which have been initiated previously have not materialized but we are now in a position to announce that Brother Keith Thompson has consented to act as editor of such a page.

He will attempt to answer, from the Bible, questions submitted by our readers. We believe that sincere questions are worthy of studious and scriptural answers and will endeavour to supply them. Other brethren may be called upon from time to time to reply to certain questions if Brother Thompson so desires. We do not know how popular such a page might be. Readers are asked to avoid wording questions which would be calculated to lead us into using space in a manner contrary to the stated purposes and policies of this paper. We, of course, reserve the right to keep such out of our columns. Answers will, of necessity, be short and to the point as the limitations of space will not permit extensive discussion.

Halifax, N.S.: The 15 minute radio program which has been broadcast from Dartmouth and heard in Halifax for over a year may have to be discontinued. Althhough the budget calls for a local monthly contribution of $346, the loss of help from churches and individuals in other places means that if this program is to be continued outside help is necessary in order to pay the reasonable price of $20.00 per week.

A series of training classes has been conducted in Halifax by brother and sister Morris Thurman.

Stephenville, Newfoundland: About 16 members, all connected with the U.S. air base meet in an adequate building in a good location. Walter Hart of Halifax visited this church and cities in the area in December. He noted the need for work in Corner Brook (pop. 30,000) and in Sydney, N.S. (pop. 100,000). Broadcasting of the Herald of Truth over radio stations in Stephenville and Corner Brook was to have started recently.

Fredericton, N.B.: Harry Herring was recently transferred from Halifax to Oromocto, N.B. and is now able to meet with the Betts in Fredericton.

Lachine, Que.: The new building is already in use although not entirely finished. There are between 20 and 25 members and attendance has been very good. Additional finances are needed to complete the building and take care of details.

S. F. Timmerman began in January, regular weekly Bible studies in the home of Benoit Lacombe who recently took a stand with the church. It is hoped that these will soon lead to public services in French. Plans are being laid for a campaign in early summer.

Brethren Davidson and Timmerman have been conducting services on Sunday afternoons with a family in St. Hubert, 35 miles from Lachine. There are nine members of the family and five of the children have been immersed. Thirteen people were present on February 7 and it was decided to begin a new class for children.

Niagara Falls, Ont.: The campaign here is to run from June 27 to July 14. Arrangements have been made to use the facilities of Great Lakes Christian College. Rod Spaulding of West Islip, N.Y. will be on hand to give some preliminary instruction. Others have committed themselves to participate.

Correspondence are reminded that the second to last Tuesday of the month is the deadline.

Lethbridge, Alta.: The Speddings recently moved here from Vancouver.

Beamsville, Ont.: Eight were baptized during the year and 16 restored and six added by membership. Contribution averaged $300 per week an increase of 50% since 1959. In 1962, $1645 was spent on mission work as constrasted with $6,691.35 in 1964. Bible school attendance averaged 109 with morning service at 150.

Plans call for a meeting with S. F. Timmerman of Montreal, April 4-11 and a V.B.S. July 5-9. Three were restored and one baptized in January and three restored in February to date.

Hamilton, Ont.: Fennell Ave.: Dean Clutter of Ottawa will preach in a gospel meeting this spring. The radio program has drawn increased interest, some from points such as Weston, Port Credit and Clarkson. The officers of this church are contemplating a campaign in 1966 or 1967 and have urged their members to get experience in this sort of work by working in some of the campaigns scheduled for this summer.

Sanford Ave.: "Bro. and Sis. Jim Carter and family (five children) of Kentucky have arrived in Hamilton to work with the Sanford congregation.

Toronto, Ont., Strathmore Blvd.: One came seeking prayers and encouragement.

Maplewood Ave.: One was baptized on January 31 and another on February 7.

Bayview Ave.: John Justin who has been serving with this church since last summer has made arrangements to attend a training school in Lubbock, Texas and begins there, we understand, on Feb. 22.

Toronto churches are once more planning an all day meeting at the Thorncliffe school on April 16.

Barrie, Ont.: A campaign is planned for the Barrie, Collingwood, Pine Orchard and Newmarket churches for June 10 to 27 with an increased number of workers over last year. Robert Parks was baptized in Dec.

"On Feb. 10, decision was reached by brethren at West Islip, N.Y. to include Simcoe County, Ontario in Faith Corps programme in 1965. Ghana and Sao Paulo, Brazil will be two other targets.

"In this programme, West Islip Church will train volunteer, able, supported, mature young people for

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

SOUTH VIET NAM

On November 8, the Saigon Church of Christ achieved a 100 per cent increase in attendance following a vigorous personal work campaign by the members. 113 were present for services that morning, and four were baptized into Christ: a former Catholic priest, a former preacher for the Alliance church, an 18-year old Vietnamese girl and the Canadian wife of Capt. Charles Byrd, an American serviceman who was baptized earlier that same month.

The church has been meeting in Saigon about three years, having been begun by military personnel stationed there. Brethren Maurice C. Hall and Phillip Carpenter went to the country last year as full-time workers. When they arrived, attendance at worship services averaged about 25. The number has steadily grown and in the past ten months four other congregations have been established, two of them in the Saigon district.

The Viet Cong (North Vietnamese Communists) have vowed to wipe out every church in Saigon, and the building where the Church of Christ meets is the only one which has not been bombed. Armed guards have to be posted around the building, a private home, at every service. Still the church continues to grow and thrive, and more and more Vietnamese nationals are attending and studying the Bible.

Since this item was written, political events in South Viet Nam have caused the evacuation of American dependents. Brother Hall and Carpenter have moved to Thailand for the time being.

GREECE

The Greek Government has officially denied the long-standing petition of the church in Athens for permission to hold public services. The Greek attorney for the United States Embassy has appealed the decision on behalf of the church since the congregation at the present time is made up entirely of Americans.

Police have started a campaign of harrassment, especially against Bro. George Dumas, an American preacher of Greek descent. He has been called in for questioning about the church three times and has been threatened with a jail sentence if he continues to preach. He has continued to preach, and no physical attacks have been made by the authorities.

The brethren are encouraged by the fact that other religious groups have at first been denied permission to meet, but when the matter is taken into the courts, the Government reconsiders its decision and grants the permission.

MEXICO

More than 200 elders, evangelists, and church members gathered in Mexico City for the annual Pan-American Bible Lectureships, the largest such gathering ever to assemble in Latin America.

The theme of the lectures was "The Field Is the World", and 62 addresses and reports from 15 different Latin - American countries were given by 38 different speakers. Countries represented included Mexico, Chile, Brazil, the Caribbean islands area, Puerto Rico, Argentina, Uruguay, Venezuela, Peru, Dominican Republic, Cuba, Guatemala, San Salvador, Costa Rica and Panama.

Among other things discussed were plans for training schools for Christian workers and preachers in the various countries, and for printing more study aids and Bible school materials in Spanish and Portuguese for the use of the workers.

The Republic of Panama was selected as the site for the next lectureship.

EGYPT

After two and one half years in Egypt on a tourist visa, which had to be renewed each six months by his leaving the country temporarily, Bro. Bob Douglas, evangelist for the church in Cairo, has been permitted to make application for a permanent resident visa. If this is granted, the work in that country will be on a more solid foundation.

Eight months were spent in inquiries and discussions with both the Egyptian and American Governments before he was allowed to present his petition. Brethren around the world can be of assistance in the matter by writing to the Director General of Immigration, Passports, and Nationality, Al Mogamma, Midan Tahrir, Cairo, UAR, expressing an interest in the Douglas case and urging that the petition be granted. Letters must be worded carefully, avoiding the use of the word "missionary", as the word has had political overtones in Egypt.

SOUTH AFRICA

After eight years mission work in Tanganyika, now to be known as Tanzania, Bro. Eldred Echols has returned to mission work in the Republic of South Africa. During his stay in Tanganyika, Brother Echols saw the church grow from nothing to 40 congregations with more than 1,500 members. Through his efforts, a number of natives are now preaching the pure gospel of Christ.

Brother Echols spent more than 20 years in the African Mission field. He spent his first few years in Northern and Southern Rhodesia, was one of the first to begin the church in South Africa, was the first sent to Nigeria by churches of Christ to investigate reports of an indigenous restoration movement there, and was among the first to work in Tanganyika.

He is returning to South Africa because an opportunity has presented itself for the establishment of a preacher training school, and since he has had experience in the beginning of a similar school in Tanganyika, brethren in South Africa requested that he return and help them.

POLAND

Twenty-one Polish gospel preachers attended a Bible lectureship in Warsaw last October 27-30. One of the six native speakers was Brother Henryk Cizek who was recently allowed to return to his work in Poland after having been expelled by the Government last year.

MANITOBA CAMPAIGN HIGHLIGHTS

Last August the congregations of the Churches of Christ in Manitoba launched a province wide campaign to be climaxed in a series of gospel meetings to be held 11 April to 18 April, 1965 in The Playhouse Theatre, Winnipeg. The Lord willing Bro. Bill Banowsky from Lubbock, Texas is to be the speaker on this occasion.

The campaign began August 1964 when a group of about forty young people came up from Dallas, Texas to help in a census taking program. Thirty thousand homes were canvassed, many people were contacted and numerous Cottage meetings arranged. A number of souls have been taught the gospel and converted to Christ.

In preparation for the April 1965 meeting we have held various meetings in the different congregations.

Bro. Alan Bryan from Dallas, Texas held a meeting in August at Windsor Park Congregation.

Bro. Johnny Thompson from Midland, Texas spoke in a series of lessons planned primarily for young people and held at Erin St. Congregation.

Bro. Paul McClung from Wichita, Falls, Texas, conducted gospel meetings in November 1964 at the Osborne Street congregation. During this month we had considerable additional help from our brethren in Texas and Tennessee in Census taking.

Bro. John Allen Chalk from Cookeville, Tennessee held a meeting the first part of January 1965 at The Windsor Park Congregation. Three were baptized during this effort.

Bro. Ralph Bumpass from the Vandelia Village Congregation in Lubbock, Texas held a meeting the last part of January 1965 on the theme, "Leadership Training."

We are deeply indebted to all our brethren who have supported this effort and especially to those from Dallas, Texas and the Vandelia Village congregation in Lubbock, Texas.

The latter congregation has made this effort possible by their willingness to take care of the financial expenses in connection with the campaign.

The outstanding feature of this effort has been the fine spirit of cooperation by all congregations in Manitoba particularly by the brethren in the 3 congregations in Winnipeg. This has been demonstrated by the outstanding attendance and support given to each meeting that has been held.

We would like to urge all brethren across Canada and The United States to make plans to be with us in Winnipeg during our meeting 11 April to 18 April 1965. to be held in The Playhouse Theatre.

If you are planning to participate in this all out effort and you need to make reservations for lodging please write to:-

Mr. Wesley Reagan
c/o Church of Christ
365 Westmount Drive
Winnipeg 6, Manitoba

In speaking to a Lubbock audience on January 15 Chalk reported that the Winnipeg campaign has been the best executed effort of its kind with which he has worked stating that, "The city is ready for a great harvest. The three small congregations there are working together in the most harmonious way I have ever seen. Spirits in Winnipeg are high. The extensive house to house teaching which has been going on since last August will result in many more conversions during the Banowsky meeting in April." He concluded describing a number of the moving conversions that have already been accomplished in Winnipeg and called for brotherhood-wide support of the campaign.

Some 100 personal workers are being sought for the April effort to supplement the preaching services which will be held in Winnipeg's best known building, the 900 seat Playhouse Theatre. In addition to workers, funds are urgently needed to underwrite the cost of the auditorium, advertising, teaching materials and support of workers who are unable to pay their own way.

Five hundred congregations or individuals who will pledge $25 a month are being sought to help underwrite the cost of the Winnipeg campaign and continuing efforts in two other campaigns planned by the Vandelia Village church in Charlotte, North Carolina, and San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Hotchkiss Family Into Full-Time Christian Service

The Dean Hotchkiss family left Edmonton January 18 to travel to Lubbock, Texas where Dean will enroll in Lubbock Christian College for the Spring and Summer semesters.

Brother Hotchkiss will assume duties as full-time evangelist for the church in North Battleford, Saskatchewan on September 1, 1965. He will be supported in the work by the churches presently backing brother Jim Williams. Brother Williams and brother Wilfred Orr will continue to be associated with the work, particularly as it relates to the congregation on Red Pheasant Cree Indian Reserve.

Brother and sister Hotchkiss attended Radville Bible School, which is now Western Christian College. Both come from dedicated Christian homes. Dean's parents are presently associated with Great Lakes Christian College. Kay's parents, the Lawrence Andersons, formerly assisted Western Christian College, and brother Anderson served as an elder of the college congregation.

Brother Hotchkiss has preached for several years as he was called, including a period of several months when the Edmonton church was without an evangelist. Both he and his wife are experienced in teaching the Bible in private homes, and have an excellent knowledge of the Scriptures.

These people are going into this work with the faith that support will be forthcoming while in school. Although support will be available after September 1, no assistance is in sight for the immediate months ahead. Brother Hotchkiss hopes to obtain preaching appointments in the Lubbock area. Edmonton brethren are helping as much as they can, and we commend them to you as worthy of consideration. Communications should be sent in care of Don Fester, Box 744, St. Albert, Alberta.

MYTH, IS TRUTH

In contrast to this idea, the Bible says, the WORD gives us evidence of things not seen and assurance concerning things for which we hope. It seems apparent that men will continue in their refusal to accept God's word for that which their minds cannot comprehend.

It is strange indeed that the apostles were not properly informed about these "myths", but always referred to these events with the utmost confidence that THEY DID HAPPEN. Paul writes to Timothy, "Adam was first formed, then Eve" (1 Tim. 2:13). Jesus said, "Jonah was three days and three nights in the whale's belly" (Matt. 12:40). The virgin birth of Christ is spoken of by the prophets and angels (Isa. 7:14; Matt. 1:18; Lk. 1:26-35). John refers to Christ as the only begotten Son of God (John 1:14; 3:16; 1 John 4:9). Matthew says, "Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, wise men from the east came to Jerusalem" (Matt. 1:1).

We are told that the Genesis story, the virgin birth, Jonah and the whale, and the coming of the wise men did not take place. The Bible record says it did. We are told to accept them as symbolic truths apprehended by our intuition. The Bible says we must accept them by faith.

I, for one, prefer to accept the word of God. I believe that with Him all things are possible, and without Him I am nothing. If we accept the idea that "these things never happened", we deny the very word of our Saviour and the testimony of the scriptures.

Let us have faith in God, and in what the Bible teaches.

Brotherhood's Top Singing School Team Coming To Canada

The L. O. Sanderson Singing School team is scheduled to be in Lloydminster, Saskatchewan August 18-25. The group limits itself to one school each year due to personal commitments of individual teachers. Large crowds attend their schools, as many believe these men to be the best music teachers in the brotherhood.

Over a year has been spent in clearing the schedules of the team members to come to Canada. This announcement is being made early in the year so that Christian families may plan their holidays to include this unusual program.

Lloydminster evangelist Leo C. Owen states, "We are planning this as a Canada-wide effort, and are inviting brethren from all provinces. Camping facilities are available in the city, as well as good motels."

Classes will be conducted in the morning, afternoon, and at night. Students will be divided according to their ability into beginners, intermediate, and advanced groups. All aspects of music reading, theory, and song leading will be included.

There will be no tuition charge. It is to be noted that the school runs from Wednesday thru Wednesday, allowing travel time before and after for those with just two weeks of holidays.

For further information write to the Church at box 910, Lloydminster, Saskatchewan.

D DAY HAS PASSED

J. C. Bailey, India

Older readers of the India News Letter will remember the day the news flashed to the world that the Allied forces had landed in France. Then the determined effort to send reinforcements in the days that followed. Inch by inch the land was wrested from the enemy. Soon a firm foothold was established and the day of victory drew nearer.

It was decided that we would try to establish a beach head in South India. We knew that the fight would not be easy. We knew that the enemy was firmly entrenched. For more than a century some of the denominations have been here. Hinduism is older than Christianity and the love of the world is a mighty force here as well as elsewhere.

There was no beating of drums when we came to Madras. There was no flag raised. There was one speech of welcome by a man that afterward proved to be a traitor. We soon joined battle with the enemy. We called for a complete surrender to the Lord Jesus Christ.

We established three beach heads by the end of year 1963. The church was here to stay. Soldiers (workers) were recruited for active duty. The attack was made again and again. The number that surrendered became greater. The programme called for 1,000 prisoners by the end of our sojourn here in India. Early in January of this year there had been 1,000 baptized into Christ. Already there have been 1,100 that have obeyed the Gospel.

This war of the spirit is different in some respects to other warfare. Those who are not yet surrendered stand willing to surrender if only we will come and possess the land.

The enemy is stiffening his resistance. It matters not. We fight on under the banner of King Jesus. Our soldiers are raw recruits. Our field of battle is far flung. Already we occupy more territory than the Canadian Baptist Mission and they came in 1864. We have occupied almost as much territory as the Northern Baptists and they came in 1835. At one time they had 27 American Missionaries here and now they have but 3.

We Came To Kadesh Barnea

If you do not like the illustration to carnal warfare then we shall take an illustration from the Bible. Moses led the children of Israel out of Egypt to Mount Sinai. There they received the law. They were told to march on to the land of Canaan. They reached, in a few weeks, a place called Kadesh Barnea. They were told to go up and possess the land. In the Great Commission Jesus has told us to possess the land. The Jews hesitated. They sent out twelve spies to spy out the land. They came back at the end of forty days with their report. Yes, there were two that brought back a minority report.

The two reports agreed in one respect. The land was all that God said it was. The report of the ten said that they were not able to possess the land. There were giants in the land. There were fortified cities with walls that reached to heaven, etc. The report, that is the minority report, said that with God's help they could well possess the land. You know you do not pay too much attention to a minority report. It seems that the Israelites were not different. They even threatened to stone Moses and turn around and go back to Egypt.

God was very angry now. They had said that their children had been brought out there to die. God said, No, your children have not come out here to die but you have. You shall wander in this wilderness until the last man who rebelled has perished and then your children can go in and possess the land.

So the Baileys came to Kadesh Barnea. They knew there were giants in the land. They believed that God was ABLE. The battle was joined for possession of India for the Lord. Victory after victory has been won and we rejoice mightily in God our Saviour.

The successful landing in France would have been failure it there had not been reinforcements come in the next day. We hope some day to have an army here in India to carry on the battle but that day belongs to the future. There are some hopeful signs.

The Baileys have begged for reinforcements. No man could have worked harder than he.

There Was A Happy Day

A letter came from Winnipeg, Man. saying J. A. Johnson and his wife were willing to come to India if we thought they could do the work. The Baileys and the Johnsons have been friends for more than thirty years. A letter was rushed back from India. "Please hurry and get here". Surely there would be great relief in the minds of the brethren to know that here was a man that was ready to go to India and help to possess the land for the Lord Jesus Christ. It seems that we were not SO interested after all for little has yet been done on their travel fund. Up to date there has been no promise of support. The people here by teeming thousands want New Testament Christianity. We only can give it to them. Let us hurry and get the Johnsons over here. The Johnsons address is:

J. A. Johnson
885 Sherburn St.
Winnipeg, Manitoba, CANADA

P.S. — The record sheet for the month of January has been made. The native workers have all made their reports. There were 302 baptized into Christ during the month. This points up two things. We need the Johnsons over here and we need them NOW. We need more support for native workers.

The church in Canada has done a tremendous job in supporting the work, not only in South India, and in Assam, but there are many that could help that have not helped. Why not join your brethren in this greatest work that has ever been laid on the church in Canada?

Yesterday, February 1, we started a six weeks' training class that we hope will grow into a two year Bible College. Our attendance it would seem will be about 30.

—J. C. Bailey

Tintern, Ont.: One young man from the Bible classes was immersed on February 4. This fine church is still seeking an evangelist.

J. JOHNSON INDIA FUND

Truly we feel that the Lord is prospering our plans as the following report will show. On January 15th we left Winnipeg for the east and arrived in Hamilton Ontario on Sunday January 19/65. We visited and spoke at 9 different places and were interviewed by three groups of elders and returned home, leaving Newmarket on Monday morning February 1/65 and arriving home again on Tuesday February 2/65. In all we had a wonderful time, enjoying the lectures at Great Lakes C. C. a good part of the time and meeting ever so many old friends, plus a host of new ones. The fellowship throughout was most encouraging and we know we have the prayers of many. We were successful in collecting for our travel fund a total of One thousand and five dollars, and had promise of ten dollars per month for our support, plus at least five places which promised they would consider the matter and do all they could for us in travelling funds and with regular support. We were greatly encouraged by the individual support received on the spot, with several promising additional funds when they were available. The following have contributed to our travelling fund:

James R. Bruce Johnson presently at Abilene Christian College $10.00, Sis. Margaret Ursell, Saskatoon Saskatchewan $5.00, Bro. Don Gates N. Weyburn Saskatchewan, $10.00; members of the St. Catharines, Ontario church as follows: Evelyn Speck, $10.00, Frank Conn, $5.00, Florence Jones, $10.00, Ruth Wilson, $5.00, Edith Russell, $10.00, Shirley Speck, $20.00, Loney Wallace, $20.00, Verne Lane, $50.00, Mrs. C. G. Besides this there are a number who have suggested, "When the time comes that we NEED IT," they will send us (something).

This is wonderful of these folks, but the fact is, WE NEED THE FUNDS IN NOW! There is very little time left, and we need to know just as soon as possible what we have in order to complete the numerous details which cannot be completed until we know that we have the wherewithall to go. SO PLEASE FOLKS, SEND IN YOUR CONTRIBUTION JUST AS SOON AS POSSIBLE! If you do not have it at the moment, and plan to DEFINITELY send some, PLEASE WRITE TO LET US KNOW HOW MUCH WE CAN BE ASSURED OF in order that we may expedite our departure plans.

The harvest is plenteous and the laborers are few. Already we have had reports of the Denominations recruiting (Christians) "OF ANY FAITH" who will go to India to teach these natives the "Christian religion". We are informed that there were ten recruited right here in Winnipeg, and their expenses and living costs guaranteed for as long as they will remain in the country. Brethren, WILL YOU NOT HASTEN BEFORE MANY OF THESE PRECIOUS SOULS ARE LED INTO THE a specific mission field where they will work full-time for Christ for approximately two years.

"We hope these workers will arrive in Barrie-Collingwood district about Sept. 1. It now appears there will be other interim and full-time workers in our area this year, and our campaign dates are June 9-27." — L. W. Jones.

A fall meeting with Dean Clutter of Ottawa is being planned.

JUNE MEETINGS

Fenwick, Ontario has made plans for this June at the E. L. Crossley Secondary School on Highway 20 just out of Fonthill.

Barrie, Ontario has requested to have this meeting in 1966.

Ottawa, Ontario has on record a long standing reservation for 1967.

Newmarket, Ont.: A committee is now looking for a suitable property for a building. Contributions range from 50 to 65 dollars. Several studies are being conducted.

Collingwood, Ont.: With the lot paid for this church is approaching the time of being able to begin a new building costing about $35,000.

Huntsville, Ont.: January 29th ended three years of broadcasting over the Huntsville station. After eight years of service, Gordon Dennis has submitted his resignation from the work at this place and although plans are not definite they are looking to a mission area.

Meaford, Ont.: 1964 saw two gospel meetings, two training sessions, a V.B.S. and three baptisms. Plans include a concentrated campaign and meeting with Eddie Campbell and others, helping with Newmarket support and the Barrie T.V. program and continuing with the India newsletter.

Winnipeg, Man.: Average attendance at Osborne St. was 87 on Lord's Day mornings. Used clothing has been distributed and more, especially children's clothing is needed. Wesley Jones of Barrie will conduct a meeting here in March preaching alternately in the three buildings. He is also being asked to hold a meeting at Osborne St. in Nov.

Saskatoon, Sask.: Walter Straker of this church recently visited in Big River. There were about 40 out for Bible class. He speaks of this area as "one of the most prospective mission fields in Western Canada." He also enjoyed a visit at Horse Creek which church has been helping with his support since his return to Canada. One was baptized at Saskatoon in late January. The new budget calls for $136 per week. Brother Straker has stated that he is planning to go to India.

Salmon Arm, B.C.: Bruce Tetreau of Moose Jaw will speak in a meeting in June. Two were baptized in January.

CORRECTION

The dates announced in last month's Gospel Herald for the youth Rally at G.L.C.C. were incorrect. We are sorry for this mistake on our part and call your attention to the correct dates which are April 30 — May 2).

Last year several took advantage of this opportunity to gather for Christian fellowship and study together. We hope this year will be even better and we encourage you to make use of this gathering for spiritual stimulation and for fun with Christians of your age and aims.

Material will shortly be sent to the congregations concerning definite plans as they are made.

ian scene.

All of us need to encourage these brethren as they plan to assist us in the total education of our children. One of the best encouragements that most of us can give is a cheque or a promise of financial help at a time when the need is evident.

Criticism is in order if the administration varies from its rightful course. Cheques are in order when a job is being superbly done.

PROTESTANISM – DOOMED TO FAILURE

PART I

Blenus Wright, Toronto

Somewhere at this moment, a baby is being born. Who knows how this child might change the history of the world? The years 1320 and 1373 witnessed the births of two babies, John Wycliffe and John Huss respectively, who, in the years that followed, provoked the rumblings of the Reformation on the horizon of history.

Wycliffe, acknowledged as "the morning star of the Reformation," criticized three sacraments of the Roman Church — penance, orders, and the Eucharist. He deplored the papal taxes on the poor people, and concluded that the Pope was the anti-Christ. His translation of the Bible into English, thus making it available to all the people, caused Arundel, Archbishop of Canterbury, to label Wycliffe "that pestilent wretch of damnable memory . . . who . . . completed his iniquity by translating the Scriptures into the mother tongue." So great was the ire of the Roman hierarchy, that after his death Wycliffe's grave was torn open on order of Pope Clement VIII, his skeleton burned, and its ashes scattered on the River Swift.

Huss, the leader of the Bohemian Reformation, was greatly influenced by Wycliffe. He emphasized moral reform rather than doctrinal, although he, like Wycliffe, also opposed the sale of indulgences. He was charged with heresy and excommunicated from the Roman church; later, at the Council of Constance, 1415, he was condemned to be burned at the stake, but his influence in three areas lived on: first, the Word of God was freely preached; second, the Eucharist was offered in both kinds; third, the clergy was stripped of material wealth.

Wycliffe and Huss had been the trail blazers of the Reformation but Protestantism was given its initial impetus and character by

RESPECT FOR GOD'S AUTHORITY

by Geoffrey Ellis

The edge of Truth is razor thin. "For the word of God is living and active, sharper than any two - edged sword, piercing to the division of soul and spirit, of joints and marrow, and discerning the thoughts and intentions of the heart." (Heb. 4:12) To stand in the truth permits neither careless edging leftward towards personal perogative (liberalism), nor over-confident moving to the right to impersonal authoritarianism (legalism). To adhere strictly to the truth is a difficult, sometimes uncomfortable posture, for it requires not only a constant searching in the Word of Truth, but also merciless scrutiny of ones own heart for signs of complacency, bias, improper motivation, or hurtful arrogance of spirit. Being in the truth permits neither the luxury of a leisurely meander on the broad road between two extremes, nor the irresponsibility of the neutralist sitting on the fence. In its essence truth is absolute. As God knows, truth is pure white; error is pure black. Yet, because of the complexity of life, and the mortality of man, most problems tend to grayness. The challenge to the human spirit

PROTESTANTISM

Luther. Luther's main "beef with the Roman Church was the obnoxious method of handling the sale of indulgences. Pope Julius II had torn down St. Peter's Basilica in Rome and now there was a desperate need for money to rebuild. Luther was very much disturbed when John Tetzel appeared on the scene as a super salesman for the Roman cause, sporting a sales jingle typical of a twentieth-century commercial: "As soon as the coins in the coffer ring/The soul from purgatory springs."

Luther immediately prepared himself for battle and on October 31, 1517, he was seen walking across the campus of the University of Wittenberg with a sheaf of papers in his hands. His destination was the Castle Church where he posted his Ninety-five Theses on the door.

There was nothing unusual about the procedure, but there was in the contents. This was the normal way of giving notice of disputations challenging anyone to a debate on the proposals. Six of Luther's theses read as follows:

1. Our Lord and Master Jesus Christ, in saying "Repent ye, etc.," meant the whole life of the faithful to be an act of repentance.
2. This saying cannot be understood of the sacrament of penance (i.e., of confession and absolution) which is administered by the priesthood.
27. Those who assert that a soul straightway flies out of purgatory as a coin tinkles in the collection-box, are preaching an invention of man.
28. It is sure that when a coin tinkles greed and avarice are increased; but the intercession of the Church is in the will of God alone.
66. The treasures of indulgences are nets, with which they now fish for the riches of men.
86. The pope's riches at this day far exceed the wealth of the richest millionaires; cannot he therefore build one single basilica of S. Peter out of his own money, rather than out of the money of the faithful poor?

Luther had no problem securing a debating partner for the pope himself took issue with Luther. Leo published a bull, "Exsurge Domine", in 1520 excommunicating Luther but the Elector refused to carry it out. Luther repudicated the pope and burned the Bull publicly. In 1521 another Bull was issued and the pope called upon the emperor to put it into effect. The Diet of Worms was called April 18, 1521, the papal case was stated, and Luther was given his chance to recant.

Luther's answer to the Roman hierarchy was simple and direct:

Your Imperial Majesty and Your Lordships demand a simple answer. Here it is, plain and unvarnished. Unless I am convicted of error by the testimony of Scripture or (since I put no trust in the unsupported authority of Pope or of councils, themselves) by manifest reasoning I stand convicted by the Scriptures to which I have appealed, and my conscience is taken captive by God's Word, I cannot and will not recant anything, for to act against our conscience is neither safe for us, nor open to us. On this I take my stand. I can do no other. God help me. Amen.

The Edict of Worms put Luther under the imperial ban, and forbade the printing of his works or the proclamation or defense of his opinions.

PROTESTANTISM BORN

At the first Diet of Speyer, 1526, each state within the Empire was authorized to decide for itself whether or not the Edict of Worms should be enforced. However, the second Diet three years later withdrew this limited degree of toleration and 19 states protested.

These original "protestants" based their action on strongly affirmative principals: first, the Bible's authority is supreme above that of councils and popes; second, the Bible is to be interpreted by its own mutually compared statements, rather than by the Church's tradition; third, the reformed churches are independent of Rome and no longer under Roman jurisdiction.

The usage of the word" protestantism" gradually grew but for some time was not used as a term to describe churches outside the Roman communion. Lingustically speaking, the noun "protestantism" developed in meaning simultaneously with the verb "to protest" which meant to affirm, to bear witness, to make a positive avowal. Thus, Shakespeare writes: "Do me right or I will protest your cowardice" (Much Ado About Nothing, V, i); and, "Youths that even now protest their first manhood" (Macbeth, V, ii).

But, as is the case with many other words of the Elizabethan era, the verb "to protest" has acquired a modern connotation that is largely negative. Protestantism as a movement in church history actually incorporates both meanings of the word. It is an organized and continuing objection to some central beliefs and practices of the Roman Catholic Church and it cannot be understood apart from this "protest against." It is also a positive declaration of convictions which are regarded as essential to the Christian faith and message. It is, negatively, a repudiation of certain prominent aspects of Roman Catholicism and at the same time, positively, a recovery and reaffirmation of what Protestants believe to be original truths of the uncorrupted gospel. It therefore comprehends both negative and positive elements — emphases of rejection and restoration.

Gradually, "to protest" lost its affirmative significance, and, in common parlance, meant objection and disapproval, until "protestant" was applied in general to dissenters from Roman Catholicism. The word has become antagonistic and derogatory. It is a sad commentary on society and the dignity of man that not much love exists today between the two groups. Tolerance appears on the surface, but bitterness exists beneath. Protestantism and Roman Catholicism have draped a religious iron curtain between two groups of people who claim to believe in the same God. But the curtain is superficial; Protestants cannot glory in the fact that they follow the true God according to His pattern to any greater extent than can the Church of Rome. Both are equidistant from the Word of God.

GOD'S AUTHORITY

is to learn to distinguish sharply the difference between truth and falsehood without eyes made bleary with self interest, or glasses bespattered with the mud of personal prejudice.

Respect for God's authority must include an awareness of the twofold direction of extremism. One who can see danger only in "liberalism" may well be dangerously near the camp of "legalism," and vice versa.

The Bible gives full warning against both. Jesus said, "Take heed and beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees." (Mt. 16:6) The New Testament liberal was the Sadducee. While he protested respect for the Law, he viewed the Prophets of lesser authority. In practice, the Sadducees were more interested in material wealth and political power, and achieved both by dominating the temple, (cf. Acts 4:1.) They actually rejected the Scripture when their own views dictated, ie. disbelieving the resurrection of the body, Lk. 20:27-33.

The New Testament legalist was the Pharisee. Pharisees, while popularly identified today with the self righteous and the hypocrites, were condemned by Christ primarily because they nullified God's law by their strict compliance with Scribal tradition, (cf. Mk. 7:1-13.) Pharisees were most conscientiously concerned with "Keeping the law." But they believed they were doing this best when they were subscribing simplicity to the "traditions of the elders." These traditions were developed, expanded, refined, and sanctified with the passage of time. The accumulation of "positions" established a heavily encrusted shell that ultimately and effectively blotted out the Law, eg., Tithing, Lk. 18:9-14; The Sabbath, Mt. 12:12; and Ceremonial Cleansing, Mk. 7:18-23.

History indicates that the Sadducees were originally the "Saddiq," or "the Righteous," while the Pharisees were originally the "Perisha," "the Separated." Both schools began similarly with a deep regard for God's Way and Will. However, the former, gradually developing an emphasis on personal liberty and the human will, moved to the left minimizing the Law. The latter, banding together to oppose the humanizing influences of Hellenism, and upholding the traditions of the fathers, moved to the right distorting the Law of God. The former revered "enlightenment;" the latter sought after "consistency." The two sects moved in opposite directions, but reached identical ends—the misuse of scripture, the rejection of God's authority.

This similar outcome reached by extremists moving in opposite directions might seem strange. However, a student of politics once observed that the positions right and left of centre do not run longitudinally, but circularly. The extreme Rightist and the extreme Leftist are not worlds apart, but just a step away from each other. By way of illustration, consider the similar features of Communism and Fascism—the devaluation of the individual and the elevation of the state. This circular movement can be observed among religious persons today who once were known as extreme legalists but who are now known to be shockingly liberal. Regardless of the original direction, the product of extremism is generally the same.

The prevailing intellectual climate in the Western world today — is humanistic. In effect, the Sadducee has come into his own. The human ego has greatly enlarged. There is little room for a God who rules all when man has become—through science and technology—increasingly the master of his environment. The religious liberal is one who, breathing deeply of contemporary winds, has become, specifically, a naturalist. For him, God is totally transcendent. The Bible is man-made: it chronicles man's search for God rather than revealing God's beckoning to man. Christ was a man: his virgin birth, miracles, resurrection, and church founding, are the products of pious but deluded primitives. Heaven and hell are experienced in life only. This is the stuff of the "New Curriculum," the fodder of modern theological seminaries, and the heart of "Ecumenical" doctrines. This is total rejection of God's authority.

On the other hand, while traditionalism is getting its "knocks" in all corners and crannies of Man's experience around the world today, there are many pockets that are stubbornly resisting the advancing age. Protestant sectarianism is one example of modern Phariseeism. Tenacious clinging to denominational creeds and to party loyalties persists in spite of the widespread 20th century protest against the sin of division. It is interesting to observe conservative denominations currently defending themselves from the liberally oriented Ecumenical Movement by upholding and justifying denominational division. This is a modern day example of people swinging to the pharisaical extreme in order to ward off the dangers of Sadduceeism — while missing the truth of unity!

The danger of over-reacting has also faced the Restoration Movement. This movement which has aimed at restoring New Testament Christianity was and is very much a protest action. In the early 19th century it protested the blatant arrogancy of Sectarianism in full bloom. In the late 19th century it protested the creeping liberalism that threatened from within as typified in the non-scriptural innovations of the missionary society and mechanical instruments in the worship. In the first half of the 20th century it has protested the widespread ignoring of the Holy Scriptures by large segments of Christendom—from the "faith-only" fundamentalists to the seminary trained liberals, from the cults to the United Church of Canada.

As in the days before Christ, sincere men today are resisting the winds of humanism, and are striving to be "pure" and to be "people of the book." One can only heartily endorse this dedication. Yet, the words of Christ, "beware of the leaven of the sadducees and pharisees," remind us that extreme devotion is not necessarily synonymous with standing in the truth. The danger persists today that well-meaning men will confuse their "say so's" with the "thus saith the Lord." Frequently, long lists of does and don't are published through which concerned people attempt to legis-

MIRACLES OR MYTHS

Reject a miraculous Christianity and you have rejected a mircle-working Christ. Reject a miracle-working Christ and you have repudiated the Christ of the New Testament. Refuse the Christ of the New Testament, Jesus of Nazareth, a worker of miracles, and you are left with a collection of fables, fantasies and folklore about a man who made arrogant claims, but who had no power to back them up.

Many today are trained to regard miracles with the approach of a well-known theologian who claims: "When I meet an alleged miracle, I simply treat it as a legend". Young people are being taught this in some high schools. It is a common view in many university courses. More recently this view has invaded the literature of some denominational Sunday schools. There is need for considerable positive teaching on the subject of miracles in the Bible.

What is the definition of a miracle? W. E. Garrison, in The Protestant Manifesto, defines it as: "Any miracle is an extraordinary manifestation of spiritual power in the material world." William Barclay gives a brief definition: "the will of God expressed in natural events". We would substitute supernatural for natural in the latter definition.

Four words are used for miracles in the New Testament. Each concentrates our minds on one particular quality or effect of the event.

Wonder stresses the effect on the beholders. It is not used by itself but in conjunction with one of the other three terms. Sign emphasizes God's presence in the act. It shows a miracle as a seal of God's authority. Power simply emphasizes the Almighty exercising His will. Works is a general term for these events which is sometimes modified by the adjective mighty. Each of these terms seeks to impart the idea of the supernatural nature of what we call miracles.

There are three main attitudes toward the reality of miracles. Each of these will seem to have plausible arguments to support it. It is obvious that no two of these main attitudes can be correct ones.

First, one may utterly repudiate the whole idea of supernatural forces at work. This view may be achieved as a result of study in some areas of science or religion which seems to point to this conclusion. It could be the mere parroting of the views of some respected teacher, parent or friend. In some cases it is based on a refusal to accept the changes in one's life which would be required by an acceptance of the authority of Christ and the Bible.

Secondly, one may hold what he calls" the inner truths" of Christianity, while rejecting the supernatural authority behind these truths. Such a view accepts the morality, ethics and social implications of Jesus of Nazareth, but denies that the one who gave these teachings performed supernatural acts. The so-called "quest of the historical Jesus", whether in its old form at the turn of the century or in its more recent version, is essentially an attempt to delete from the story of Jesus the miracles which are a stumbling block to the rationalist.

Finally, one may believe and defend one's convictions of the supernatural elements in Christianity. This does not need to be a narrow, bigoted, refusal to examine evidence in the matter. It may, and should, stem from the convictions that the evidence is capable of defense.

Has science made miracles more difficult to be believe? The answer is that science, which is concerned with facts validated and classified, is not concerned directly with matters of faith. Some scientists are hostile. Some are believers in the miracles of the Bible. Perhaps the majority are neutral or uncommitted.

In some ways science has opened the way for a belief in the miraculous. Archaeology and its related sciences have confirmed as true

TEACHING GOD'S WORD

KINDS OF AUDIO-VISUAL AIDS: PROJECTED

H. Ralph Perry, London, Ontario

"Winning Souls for Christ" is the title of a dynamic new series of eight 16 mm. sound films featuring Mid McKnight of Abilene, Texas. Brother McKnight has stirred and instructed thousands to become personal evangelists for Christ. Since time does not permit him to personally present these much needed lessons everywhere they have been filmed and are now available to churches.

Daily Newspaper headlines in Lubbock, Texas, Jan. 3rd, 1965: "Lubbock Couple, Planview Girl Prepare Seven Filmstrips About God and Joseph."

"The Day Christ Came (Again)" is a sobering sermon in tract form. A colour filmstrip now illustrates this lesson which warns the indifferent and stirs the faithful to ready watchfulness.

"Youth Films" is a series of twelve dramatic motion pictures being produced by Christians for our young people. Brother George Bailey of the college church in Abilene, Texas, is featured in these.

Here we have given a sampling of thrilling things taking place among our brethren in the production field of effective projected visual aids.

In this article we discuss projected visual aids. These are audio-visual aids requiring the use of projector and screen or some other flat surface.

I. Types of Projectors

A. Sound Projectors — In religious instruction 16 mm. sound motion projectors are most commonly used. These are quite expensive financially and not very practical for the average church. Rent them.

B. Filmstrip Projectors — There are a fair number of reasonably priced projectors that project 35 mm. filmstrips. These are almost a "must" in the teaching programme of the average church. Quite a few churches have a number of these for use in classroom and home teaching.

C. Slide Projectors — Used mostly for projecting 2" x 2" slides. Since slides are more expensive than filmstrips, a slide projector will not be used as much as a filmstrip projector. However, one should be available for mission reports, and for using some good available teaching slides.

D. Combination Projectors — for 35 mm. slides and filmstrips. There are a few good combination projectors available. Bell and Howell's new "Specialist Autoload" projector is probably one of the best and most reasonably priced in this field. This features cartridge loading. It threads automatically and safely. You never touch the film.

For the church or person affording only one projector we would recommend this very highly.

E. Opaque Projector — This projects flat, opaque material of any colour by means of reflected light. Printed articles, illustrations, drawings, pictures, and three-dimensional material of limited size may be projected. Due to cost this machine will not be used by most churches.

F. Overhead Projectors—are designed to project from a small glass desk beside the lecturer or teacher, over his head to the screen behind him. A strong light must shine through translucent or transparent images to do this. Some are quite reasonable in price but not too practical for most of us in church work.

II. Available Projected Audio-Visual Aids

Due to limited space we can just give you a partial list of available materials. We wish we could describe some of these and the good they could accomplish.

A. Sound Motion Films (Mostly for rental, some for purchase).

1. Our Brethren (figure indicates number of films)

(1) "Winning Souls for Christ" (8) Mid McKnight
(2) "Youth Films" (12) George Bailey
(3) "Catholicism — G. Lambert
(4) Herald of Truth films
(5) Mission Films — prepared by individual missionaries, and churches.

2. Others. There is a wide variety of films prepared by inter-denominational studios.

Many of these we could not and would not use. There are others we could use effectively. We list categories of such films.

(1) Children's Bible stories
(2) Bible series for adults — Life of Christ, Paul, etc.
(3) Science series — some of Moody's are excellent.
(4) Lands of the Bible — background information.
(5) Youth series.
(6) Home and family.
(7) Stewardship and Christian living.
(8) Missionary — some very good and stirring films, such as "So Little Time."
(9) Teacher Training.
(10) Other — "Martin Luther", "In His Steps", etc.

B. Filmstrips.

1. Our Brethren (Colour except No. 2)

(1) "Visualized Bible Study Series (5) J. Miller (5) Personal Work.
(2) "Cottage Meeting Training Filmstrips" (12) Miller.
(3) "Now That I'm a Christian" (5) J. Wilburn — New converts.
(4) "Leadership for Christ" (8) J. Wilburn — for the local church.
(5) "The Way Home" (1) To restore the erring.
(6) "The Day Christ Came (Again)" To warn.
(7) "Stones of Joseph" (7) for children and adults.
(8) "Keep Yourself Pure" (4) Youth.
(9) Departmentalized teacher filmstrips by Sweet to be available soon.
(10) "Can I Understand the Bible" (2) Ronart (Art Peddle).
(11) "Singing In Worship" (5) Batey.

A Page For CHRISTIAN YOUTH

Ray Miller, Editor

"COUNT ME FOR CHRIST"

Recently, a noble effort of a fine group of young people came to my attention. By now, you are probably aware of the project undertaken by the young people of the Meaford congregation. They have sent around to the congregations a questionaire in an attempt to learn how many Christian young people there are in the Canadian brotherhood. We commend them heartily for their interest in this work, and we personally urge those of you that receive their correspondence to cooperate with this survey. We would be happy to publish their findings on this page.

THOUGHTS FROM ROMANS TWELVE

(Editors note: We are very happy to present to you these very fine articles written by Sandy Davison and David Boyd. These two young people are students of Brother Keith Thompson at Great Lakes Christian College, and the following articles stemmed from an assignment in that class. It gives us exceptional pleasure to include them here because this is a page FOR Christian youth, and we would like to see more of it BY Christian youth. Our sincere thanks to Sandy and David.)

Romans 12

"be aglow with the Spirit . . . . .
be constant in prayer . . . ."

God is sitting upon his throne. He is great and all powerful. A light glows about him brighter than the sun. All the angels are bowed before him. Praises are echoing through Heaven as all the Heavenly host raise their voices to God. A faint stirring is heard, and God turns, to look down upon the earth. He sees a man, broken - hearted, bowed to his knees in prayer. His eyes are squeezed shut, his hands clasp the Bible, and his very being pleads with his Father. As Jehovah gazes down, he is moved with compassion and says, "Thy prayer hath been heard." The man rises from his knees and a smile shines through his tears. His face begins to glow and his body becomes eager again. This righteous man knew God had heard his fervent prayer and he went back to his earthly duties, aglow with the spirit.

Perhaps you, the reader, are thinking, "My, what a fantastic imagination!" Yet, think about it for a moment. Could not this scene so easily be real? God has commanded us to "be aglow with the Spirit." We should shine with joy at being Christians. Everyone we work with, and play with, should know we belong to Christ—and they will know if the Christ-like Spirit radiates from us.

But how can we maintain this glow? Through prayer — constant and fervent prayer. When we are happy, a prayer of thanksgiving will make us just a little bit happier. When we are compassed about with problems, prayer will make us forget them and be joyful again. Are we proud? Prayer will make us humble. Are we doubtful? Prayer make us firm. Most of all, prayer-constant prayer will make Christ our companion-our constant companion. Surely, with Christ as our constant companion and friend, it shouldn't be any trouble at all to "be aglow with the Spirit".

Our Individual Response To God's Love Romans 12:1,2

In this text, Paul says we should entirely devote or dedicate our lives to Christ. Our bodies are not meant for the world. In I Corinthians 6:13 Paul says that as our stomach is for food, so is our body for God. We should be consecrated that we may be fit for acceptance by Him. We should strive for this acceptance by following His plan. In Hebrews 10:20 we find that if we follow God's plan and are acceptable in His sight, we may enter his f a m i l y through the blood of His son, Christ Jesus. We will be able to see what God accepts if we let him mold our lives. We should let God's will be our will; His wishes, our wishes. If we let God come into our hearts and accept his word, we will recognize the good and perfect things of this world. Paul says we should be free from the ways of the world, not a follower of the flesh, but of God. In Ephesians 2:2 we find that Christ has made intercession for us that we (the people of the world) may have a way to salvation. We have a way to God, all we must do is obey his will. Not everyone is equally qualified to understand and obey God's will, but possibly not the same things will be expected of all. We do know that we must try our best to learn His will, (Ephesians 5:10.)

In conclusion, we must forget all but God, work toward this end that we may be accepted in the last day.

HERE AND THERE

India, Shillong: The M a w l a i Christian School opened for the new term on February 15th with 150 students and now includes class 5 which is the second class before High School.

Venezuela: Due to a change in plans on the part of the Parkview church in Warren, Michigan the Don Logsdon family will not be going to Venezula as planned.

INVITATION

The church of Christ, meeting on Ontario Street in St. Catharines, extends a cordial invitation to members and friends to visit us during the Gospel Meeting, from April 7-18. Bro. Wesley Jones will be the speaker. You will enjoy a Gospel feast.

GOD'S AUTHORITY

late the behaviour and religious practice of their brethren. The lists are often longer and more detailed than those found in the Scriptures. Artificial principles of biblical interpretation are contrived so as to permit a person to climb out of the tics and the desire to be "coldly corners into which mental gymnas- consistent" have taken him. Matters of judgment are elevated to the level of faith. With growing distortion an undisciplined enthusiasm for the "law" threatens to produce a 20th century legislation that will make void the law of Christ!

Christ said, "Beware of the heaven . . ." He thereby warned us that the danger of extremism is that of unseen and subtle influences. The veering away from truth in either direction can begin imperceptibly. Let us be uneasy with "enlightenment," and let us be cautious with "consistency," and let us rather return repeatedly to humbly search for heaven's truth revealed in the word of God.

According to John 5:39 we are not the first people to have searched the scripture looking for eternal life. Mere searching does not guarantee success, Jesus warns. He listed attitudes of the heart essential if the quest is to be gained: (1) a full-hearted yielding to Christ's will, v. 40; (2) a full-hearted love for God, v. 42; (3) a complete disdain for the regard of men, v. 44; and (4) a full-minded acceptance of the completeness of the Holy Scriptures for all matters of faith and practice.

Neither haughty protestations of orthodoxy nor breezy boastings of independence will certify that one is "in" the truth. Rather, the humble spirit, the searching heart, and the yielding will—with God's help—will permit one to draw near to the precious truth of God.

Conclusion: Much money could be spent on projection equipment and materials. Since we are using the Lord's money we should act wisely in purchasing what is useable over a period of time and not once and then left to collect dust.

In most churches a filmstrip projector will be used. Some good cottage meeting films and training films should be purchased, and used constantly.

Bible story filmstrips for children to be used over and over could be purchased. It would be wise for variety's sake to rent these in most cases and spread out the audio-visual dollar.

From time-to-time it would be good to rent a good sound film and projector to provide inspiring programmes for youth and church meetings.

VICTORIA CHURCH HAS GROUNDBREAKING

The church in Victoria, British Columbia, had the groundbreaking for its new meetinghouse on Sunday, March 7. This climaxed many months of intensive planning and preparation for the construction of the new facilities.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bailey, senior members of the congregation, turned the first shovelful of dirt. It was the unanimous decision of the congregation that they should be honored in this way, inasmuch as they are the oldest members of the church, and were among the original members of the congregation here some fifty years ago.

Present meetinghouse for the church is a small building seating about 75 near the center of the city of Victoria. It has been very inadequate for some time in auditorium space, and especially in Bible class facilities.

The new building will be situated on an acre of land fronting a full block in a new housing area of the city, and on one of the main thoroughfares of the city. The land for the new building had a large creek running through it. The land purchase price and cost of culverting will be about $8,000, whereas the land will be worth about $20,000 when completed. The first stage of the building will comprise an auditorium seating 225, complete with study, cry-room, and baptistry facilities. The basement will have ten well-equipped Bible class rooms, a general work room, and storage facilities for Bible class materials and benevolent supplies. A later addition will give more class rooms and an auditorium seating approximately 500.

The first stage now under construction will cost approximately $41,000. This is being financed entirely by the congregation, which numbers about 45 members. A large part of the work on the building is being donated by the members of the congregation. Target date for the opening of the new building is September 1 of this year.

HONOUR TO WHOM HONOUR IS DUE

by Ira Zavitz

Blenus Wright

Honours

In the Spring of 1960 as a first year student at A.C.C., Blenus Wright placel second in the annual "Cox" extemperaneous speaking contest. The winner that year was a returned missionary from Africa doing post graduate work.

In the Spring of 1961 Blenus won first prize in the same speech contest. (Note. After winning a first prize one is not eligible to enter future contests)

A.C.C. Debate History: As a member of Pi Kappa Delta, a national speech fraternity, he debated the first two years while at A.C.C., but had to drop it then for lack of time. The first year he debated he won first prize (gold trophy) in an oral interpretation competition.

Works

While at College he preached for about six months for the church at Vealmoor, Texas, a round trip of some 300 miles each Sunday. He preached at other places also. At one church where he was filling in between preachers, a very attractive offer was made to work with them as full time preacher after graduation. Fortunately for us in the North, Blenus determined to return to Canada upon graduation.

Student

He finished work on B.S. in Aug. 1962, but waited until May 1963 to graduate with his wife Audrey. He majored in Business Administration and graduated Cum Laude in May 1963. Audrey graduated at the same time with Magna Cum Laude with a major in English (double major really because she also had enough hours to receive a major in Bible). In August Bro. Wright received his M.A. degree in Bible from Abilene Christian College.

Vision

While in college, Blenus spearheaded the Target Canada Mission plan. After doing considerable research, the Canadian Mission Group decided upon the Lakehead. Result — the Church is there now!

Honours Continued

Returning to Toronto Blenus enrolled in one of Canada's oldest and best known law schools, Osgoode Hall in Toronto. During his first year as member of the Osgoode Hall debate team in competition with 5 law schools of Ontario, at Ottawa, he won the second "Best Speaker" award. He also won a plaque as "Best Debater" of Osgoode.

Because it is a large school, Osgoode entered two teams, and there was one team each from the University of Toronto Law School, Queens, Western, and University of Ottawa, in this year's "Moot Court" competition. This competition had one team and one individual award for the 6 teams and the 12 individual competitors. (Moot Court is an appeal before the Supreme Court. Two lawyers present their briefs before 3 Supreme Court Justices and may be interrupted for questioning at any time during the presentation). Teams competed all day Saturday, Feb. 20/65. Blenus won the "Best Speaker" award. He was presented with the Gold Cup the same evening at a banquet at the Park Plaza Hotel. Prized momentoes of this occasion are congratulatory letters from Mr. Justice Haines of the Supreme Court of Ontario and also from Dean Leal of Osgoode.

Spiritually Speaking

Prior to leaving Toronto for Abilene in September 1959, Blenus was a very active worker at Strathmore. He and Audrey were both valued teachers in the Bible School. He has many talents and used them all freely. Carpentry and electrical talents were reflected in improved S.S. classrooms; in the design and construction of attractive outdoor lighted sign board and planter together with many charts, maps and posters. During the summer of 1961 he joined the Mission Group to London England under the direction of Bro. Batsell Barrett Baxter. About a month later he caught up with Canada's own Western Canada Mission group and spent about a month at Edmonton. Since returning home from Abilene he has again been very active. Youth leader, teacher, preacher and planner. For some time he has been preaching for the Maplewood church on a regular basis. Recently this congregation were made to rejoice in the conversion of two souls. TRAINING FOR SERVICE all day meeting is planned by the Metro churches, this year, on April 16th. Blenus is chairman of the planning group. He was quite active in working on attendance during the recent Gatewood Meeting and acted as chairman each night of the meeting in a splendid way. Canada needs all her Christian Young People. The church needs them. Let us rejoice that God has given us Blenus and Audrey Wright for these critical times and let us pray that they may be used mightly in His Kingdom.

HERE AND THERE

Hamilton, Ont., Ivon Ave.: Paul Ross has been restored to the fellowship of this church. A special program is being held April 6-9th. The meetings are designed for the exhortation and inspiration of the church in preparation for the activities this year. Speakers: Max Craddock, David Johnson, Ralph Perry and James Carter.

Fennell Ave.: Dean Clutter of Ottawa will be in a meeting here April 22 to May 2. This church exceeded its $225 budget last year and has set a $261 budget for 1965.

Sanford Ave.: This church announces a meeting, May 9-16 with their evangelist, Jim Carter, as speaker.

Montreal, Que.: The church has used the new building most of February and all of March. There are some things yet to be completed.

Two French Canadian ladies were baptized on Feb. 25 bringing the number to four. An evangelistic effort in the French speaking area with Owen Aikin of Quebec City preaching is in the planning stage. A gospel meeting with Keith Thompson of Beamsville is being planned for early May in conjunction with the formal opening of the new building.

Book Reviews

Books to be reviewed in this column should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont., Canada.

The Theology of the Older Testament, by J. Barton Payne, Zondervan, 1962, 554 pp., $6.95. Reviewed by Roy Merritt.

This represents the efforts of a well-trained scholar to justify the traditional conservative Protestant approach to the Old Testament. The author has an excellent working knowledge of the Hebrew language and a firm conviction concerning the inspiration of the Old Testament books.

The book is not easy reading, as may be expected from its title, but is useful in giving a great deal of material on the Old Testament teaching from a conservative view point. The author brings out a great many facts pertaining to such things as sacrifice and circumcision. He is less successful in dealing with other doctrinal matters such as original sin and salvation by faith alone.

Despite some imperfections which derive mainly from the author's adherence to traditional Protestantism, this book is a useful tool for Old Testament study. It may be ordered from the Gospel Herald.

Another Look at Seventh-day Adventism, by Norman F. Douty, Baker Book House, 1962, 224 pp., $3.50. Reviewed by Roy Merritt.

This is one of the best books that has come to the attention of the reviewer on the subject of Seventh-day Adventism. Mr. Douty has used a recent official publication of that denomination as their statement of faith. He has proceeded to show that the doctrines of their 720 page book are not compatible in many cases with God's Word. He also shows a desire on the part of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists to mellow some of their more radical doctrines in order to be more acceptable in the modern world. In a number of instances modern Adventist leaders are shown to repudiate former basic doctrines of their prophetess, Ellen G. White.

This book is very helpful in gaining an understanding of the true picture of Seventh Day Adventism. The author states, in the introduction, six restrictions which he will attempt to follow in order to be fair. In our view he succeeds admirably. This book may be ordered from the Gospel Herald.

GLENCOE REPORT

Upon arriving here six months ago to take up the work, the membership was twenty-one. The membership is mostly older Christians without any children at home, although one sister has three children attending Sunday Bible classes. On the same day that my wife Joan and I arrived with our two children, brother and sister Bill Wilson and their two children moved to Glencoe from Tintern. The membership is now twenty-five with seven children from these families.

Since arriving, we have seen the attendance figures increase at all of the meetings and the contribution almost double its former averages. For the month of February I submit the following averages: Bible school 28; a.m. Worship 32; p.m. Worship 23; and contribution $54.52.

We have been blessed in having non-members to all of the meetings of the church consistently. Regular Bible studies are being held in the homes of our visitors and others who have been contacted. Bible correspondence courses are being used with wide interest.

A Gospel meeting is planned for April 11th — 21st with brother Midgette of Jordan. The congregations first vacation Bible school is to be held this summer. The future for the work of the Lord in Glencoe looks promising — pray for its success.

HERE AND THERE

By
Eugene C. Perry

We remind our readers once more of the opportunity to submit Bible questions for answer in the pages of the GOSPEL HERALD.

Nanaimo, B.C.: Dennis Zelmer, formerly of Winnipeg, but now of the Northside church in Dallas recently visited Nanaimo to investigate the possibility of moving to labour there. He will be moving in early July.

Kamloops, B.C.: Larry Sullivan of Richland, Washington with one of the elders is visiting here once a month to make the arrangements for a meeting place, etc. The Richland church will oversee this work and Sam Tumlinson who will work here.

Vancouver, B.C.: A Campaign for Christ is planned for July 1967 with 40 to 80 workers in the city for three weeks under the direction of Ivan Stewart of Oklahoma City.

Edmonton, Alta.: There have been four baptisms in the Edmonton work thus far in 1965. Six have placed membership. Our membership now stands at 77. A group of young people from the Bible Chair at Texas Tech in Lubbock, Texas will be in Edmonton for a Campaign June 5-20. Nine home Bible studies were conducted during the first week of March. A radio contract for 8.45 p.m. on Fridays begins on April 30. V.B.S. is planned for July 5-10.

Lloydminster, Alta.: This church now has a five minute daily broadcast on C.K.S.A., 1080 kc. at 9.45 a.m.

Westlock, Alta.: Bible study and communion is being held each Lord's Day at 6 p.m. in the home of the Clyde Gaults and there seems some prospect of the establishment of a new congregation here.

Carman, Man.: A young man and his wife were baptized on March 8 after several months of studying. —H. F. Thompson.

Port Arthur, Ont.: "The congregation at the Lakehead recently held a very successful Gospel meeting. There were no immediate responses to the Gospel, but two weeks after the meeting closed a lady was baptized for remission of sins.

"Sister Armstrong, who had been contacted during our campaign last summer, was formerly a Baptist. She had been studying with a Seventh-Day Adventist preacher. As a result of this association, a religious discussion was arranged with Mr. Bell on Friday night of our meeting.

"Bro. Jones upheld the truth in a masterful way. We only wished that it could have been a full fledged debate. He would have done a marvelous job in every way.

"We hope to have a campaign here in July. Possibly groups will come from Memphis, Dallas and Lubbock." — R.D.M.

Michael Bachuk of Hamilton will supervise the building which should be under way by late May according to a recent bulletin.

North Bay, Ont.: A lot of 4½ acres on Lakeshore Drive is now pretty well certain and there is need for a church to co-sign the note so that bonds may be arranged.

There are now 50 workers per week promised for the campaign. The goal is 75. About half of the $10,000 budget has been raised. V.B.S. is planned for August 16-20. A bus load, the mission action group of Great Lakes Christian College will spend the week-end of March 26-28 doing personal work in North Bay. A grade 12 student, Arthur Ford of Meaford will spend his summer there.

Some Christians are expected to move to the area soon and provide additional working force. Bible class attendance is averaging between 40 and 50 and morning worship around 30.

Sudbury, Ont.: Plans are being laid for the first attempt at a V.B.S. in this city. It will probably be July 5-9. John Mills of Valdosta, Georgia and Dale Rideout of Abilene are expected to help in this and a meeting.

Barrie, Ont.: "Three were added in Barrie on March 14. Bro. Jim Skaggs has joined our working force for a few months, and is working effectively in the pulpit, in personal work and with our young people. An inspiration - packed Youth Rally was planned by Jim for March 20th.

"The June Meeting for 1966 is planned for the first week-end in June, with meetings Friday night, Saturday and the usual wonderful day on Sunday. Special themes and the speaker will be announced later.

"Carl Phagan and Forest Wells of the West Islip Church, New York, will visit with us the first week in April as plans are made for the coming of Faith Corps workers in the fall.

"Plans for the June 9-27 campaign to "Let Christ Reign" are moving ahead well. — L. W. Jones

Vandeleur, Ont.: New pews were installed in early March.

Newmarket, Ont., Feb. 21: There was rejoicing at the obedience of Victor Hurst to our Lord in baptism. Several weeks before he had invited several men to meet at his home to study the Bible. They were much dissatisfied with their former denominational teachings and their preacher was not willing to engage in this type of searching the scriptures. Brother Magnar Knutson was asked to lead this study. Classes continue.

Mar. 14: Two more were baptized on this date. One, Helen Lee, has been studying the correspondence course and in weekly studies with Brother Knutson since the new year. The other, Jacquilin Coombs, is one of the fine young people who has been attending the classes and studies.

Attendance and contributions have been encouraging. Leaflets are being circulated in the area and cottage meetings conducted. It is hoped to buy property soon.

Jordan, Ont.: Active membership is 124. A gospel meeting is planned to begin on May 10.

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

NEW WORKERS IN THE FIELD

Announcement has been made lately of the plans of several new workers to enter various overseas mission fields. These include:

Jerusalem, Jordan: Bro. and Sis. Dick Biggs left the United States last month to join the Everett Huffards who have been working in Jerusalem for 21 months. They were scheduled to arrive in Beirut, Lebanon, March 18 where they were to be met by Bro. Huffard and Bro. Carl Matheny, who preaches in Beirut. The church in Cushing, Oklahoma, is overseeing their work. The Biggs' new address is: P.O. Box 529, Jerusalem, Jordan.

Malaysia: The Richard Matlock family of Lake Jackson, Texas, plan to leave in July to work with the Jud Whitefield family in Kuala Lumpur, capital of Malaysia. Bro. Matlock, a school teacher by profession, is a native of New York but has taught in the Brazosport, Texas, high school for the past eight years. He is a deacon in the Lake Jackson church.

St. Vincent Island: Bro. and Sis. Ralph Wharton and family, now living in Bogalusa, Louisiana, will move this summer to St. Vincent Island in the Caribbean where he will work to re-establish the New Testament church. More than 30 were baptized in Kingstown, the island capital, some years ago but the work was disbanded because of lack of leadership among the native workers. Bro. Wharton, who once worked with the church in St. Catharines, Ontario, found many of these people still believers and anxious to re-organize the congregation when he visited there in January. He has been conducting a correspondence course on St. Vincent and has some 40 students enrolled. His work will be overseen and supported by the Brainerd church in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Perth, Australia: The Northside church in Dallas, Texas, will send one of their families, Bro. and Sis. Dan Talbot and two children, to Perth, Australia in May where they will work with the Rudy Wyatts.

Panama: Bro. Julio Cruz Rodriguez has completed two years of Bible study at West Texas Bible School in Lubbock, and is returning to his home, the Republic of Panama, to preach the gospel. He speaks the native Indian dialect, Guaymise, as well as Spanish and English, and is well-equipped to work with all three language groups in Panama. His personal support will be provided by the Darby Drive church in Florence, Alabama.

Pakistan: Plans are almost complete for the Don Petty family to enter West Pakistan early this summer, to be followed in a month by the Gordon Hogans, who will be returning for a second tour of duty there. Both these men will be supported by the Pinellas Park, Florida, church. One was baptized in Karachi in January.

Guatemala: The Ken Hargesheimers are returning to Guatemala, supported by the church in La-Marque, Texas, where he is now working. The Hargesheimers first began work in Guatemala in June, 1960, and did extensive Bible correspondence course work in Spanish. On their return, the same course will be offered in all the countries of Central America.

Ireland: The Jack Exum family of Dallas, Texas will go to North Ireland this summer to join Irish workers in preaching.

SOUTH INDIA

Bro. J. C. Bailey reports that there were 302 baptisms and several congregations established in South India during the month of January

March 1, 1965

"The second month of 1965 is now history. We have spent the entire month in a Training School for native workers. Meetings have been held in the evening and on Saturdays and Sundays.

"During this month there have been 182 baptized. This brings the total baptized to 1384 since we have been in the Madras area. Calls continue to come in to more and more new districts.

"Last Friday we baptized four men who had been active in sectarian work for the remission of their sins.

"We are still looking forward to some definite news of the coming of the Johnsons.

Sincerely,

J. C. Bailey"

RUSSIA

The first gospel broadcast to be beamed by Europe No. 1, the world's most powerful broadcasting station, was to have been heard in Russia for the first time January 10. The program, sponsored by the Church of Christ in Falls Church, Virginia, is to be heard weekly, originating in Paris, France. The time will be 7.45 to 8 a.m. in Moscow.

Scripts are being prepared by Bro. Otis Gatewood, veteran of many years mission work in Europe, and will be translated and broadcast by experts in the Russian language.

SPAIN

As a result of a contact made with a famed Spanish author whose work was being stressed by his country at their World's Fair Pavilion in New York last summer, Christian brethren have been made aware of another indigenous movement to re-establish the church of Christ in Spain.

This brother, himself a leader of the movement, states that there are some 600 members in several congregations in that country. He was surprised to find that there were other people in the world who called themselves simply Christians and tried to follow the Bible only in their worship and teaching.

Bro. J. W. Treat, head of the modern languages department in Abilene Christian College and who speaks fluent Spanish, will visit these brethren this summer.

NETHERLANDS WEST INDIES

One was baptized and two restored in San Nicolas, Aruba, in January.

PROTESTANTISM

Why is Protestantism Doomed to Failure?

I. Luther never meant to begin a full scale reformation, but a reformation of and within the Church; therefore, Protestantism was born with a feeble purpose, an unhealthy child, not really wanted by its parents. His protest, which at first seemed directed only at a specific abuse of a single practice of Roman Catholicism was quickly transformed into a challenge to the whole "sacramental - clerical - hierarchical" system of the Roman Church. His critique of these abuses, however, was so drastic and fundamental that it precipitated the vast movement known as the Reformation.

Luther never left the church of his childhood but was expelled from it by the hierarchy. He never planned to form a new church but wanted to reform the basic principles of the Roman Church. Lutherans today are not pleasing Luther since he himself asked that they not call themselves after him. He deprecated the use of the term "Lutheranism" in designation of the movement he had initiated in the Church. He never thought of himself as a founder of a new church, much less of a sect within Christendom.

II. Protestantism's foundation of "sola scriptura" has from very beginning cracked from the lack of a sufficient amount of the cement of the Word of a wise God and too much of the sand of foolish man. The sufficiency of the Scriptures as the rule of faith and practice for all Christians is one of the most supposedly consistently maintained principles of the Reformation. Yet Luther himself violated this principle and added to the scriptures. He rebelled against formalism and "works-righteousness" of the Roman Church and fought for his definition of salvation as "sola fide."

Luther even went so far as to translate Romans 3:28 inserting the word "alone" so it would read, "We reckon therefore that a man is justified by faith alone apart from the works of the law." Luther agreed that this word did not appear in the Greek text, but he argued that the sense of he meaning was present. In all of his writings he attempted to place a heavy emphasis on his doctrine of "justification by faith only" and the result in later years has been a misinterpretation by many writers of his true doctrine of faith in relation to works and obedience.

Luther, in his attack against the Roman Church did what Sren Kierkegaard did in later years in his attack against the Lutheran state church of Denmark. As T. H. Croxall says concerning Kierkegaard: "The boat of contemporary thought was listing in the wrong direction but in his attempt to pull it straight again he does so with such vigour that he makes the boat list as much in the opposite direction."

Christ's words in Matthew 15:9 ring out to the modern world: "In vain do they worship me, teaching as their doctrines the precepts of men." One religious group believes in baptism and bases its authority on the Scriptures. But another group comes along and disputes this baptism since it should only be a "believer's" baptism. This group claims to base its doctrine also on the Scriptures. The first group says, "Well, this is your 'interpretation' of the Scriptures and the Scriptures are not the sole authority for the view on who is to be baptized." The third group maintains that baptism is by immersion only and base this on the authority of Scripture, but the second group says the Bible is not the sole authority for this view and sprinkling or pouring is sufficient. A fourth group says faith is sufficient without baptism and bases its view on the authority of the Scripture.

The conclusion one must come to is that all appeal to the authority of Scripture, but someone is either adding to or taking away from what the complete authority says. On this premise then it is perfectly legitimate for anyone to base his doctrine on some part of the Scripture if he wishes, or to add something to his belief which is not contained in Scripture, or to subtract from the authority of the Bible. We can then really have individual religions —one for each—to each according to his need.

Existentialism has actually, in effect, done this. The existentialist, somehow, somewhere, sometime in his life, has a confrontation experience with God which becomes the "here and now" of his own experience and it is only suitable for himself and he is unable to communicate it to others. He needs no authority from Scripture so he throws away his Bible and leaps by faith into the great beyond, not knowing whither he goes.

J. JOHNSON INDIA FUND

Before embarking on a fund raising tour in the U.S. brother J. Johnson sent in the following report of monies received on his travel fund to India. Carnduff, Sask. church, $50; Clinton Brazle, N. Weyburn, $10; Regina, B. Ziemer, $5 and Oswald Hodges, $5; Bengough, John Halls, $50; Moose Jaw, Morris Bailey, $10, Jack Bryant, $5, Dianne Bryant, $5. Alida Berg, $10, George Fowler, $10, Skeffington Bell, $10, Mrs. Skeffington Bell, $20; Estevan, Erling Knutson, $5, John Fonstad, $60, Elwood Goud, $20, Ron Jacobs, $20; and Burlington, Ont., Stan Horncastle, $50, making the travel fund total $1350.

Promises for regular monthly support since last month are: Carman church, $10, Moose Jaw church — Robert Jacobs, Moose Jaw — $5, $15, Bayview Toronto church $25, Grace McWilliams, Moose Jaw — $5.00, making the total promise for this purpose $70.

Besides this the following has been received toward current expenses: Fennell Avenue, Hamilton — $50, Moose Jaw, Sask. — $45, Bayview Toronto — $50, Tintern, Ont. — $15, North Weyburn, Sask. — $50, Robert Jacobs, $5, and Grace McWilliams — $5.

Brother Johnson writes: "For this fellowship in our endeavours we are most thankful and we know the Lord will bless all who have a part in the efforts to save lost souls."

A more recent report from a Winnipeg church bulletin indicates that the Sunset Blvd. church in Dallas, Texas has agreed to be responsible that brother Johnson receives $500 per month while in India. His travel fund is reported to stand at $1697.

MIRACLES OR MYTHS

many biblical statements which had been regarded as folklore fifty years or less ago. The new understanding of physics in the atomic age has revealed a wide room for departure from so-called physical laws.

Dr. John R. Brobeck, professor of physiology at the University of Pennsylvania, in a speech before a joint meeting of the British and Canadian Medical Associations at Toronto, referred to the new view in physics: "A scientist is no longer able to say honestly something is impossible. He can only say it is improbable. But he may be able to say something is impossible to explain in terms of our present knowledge." Time, July 4, 1955.

Why were miracles performed and recorded? Many Old Testament miracles were performed to show that a man spoke or acted for God. Moses was provided with miraculous powers in Exodus 4:1-9. Aaron had his authority confirmed by a miracle in Numbers 17.

In the New Testament the deity of Christ was confirmed by a miraculous birth, a miraculous resurrection. There is evidence that the recorded miracles are only a small part of the whole. It is significant that his enemies, who were shrewd men and cunning strategists, did not seek to contradict the fact of the miracles openly. They merely sought to prove that Jesus did them under the power of Satan. John refers to the great number of miracles which were done by his Master and claims that the purpose was to give men a saving faith. (John 20: 30, 31). The miracles of the Apostles were given to show that their work was an extension of that of Jesus, their Lord, and that the authority to reveal divine truths rested upon them. (Mark 16:20; Heb. 2:4).

Christianity robbed of the miraculous ceases to be Christianity. Christ believed and taught the reality of signs, wonders and powers. He demands that we accept them because of Him. He likewise demands that we accept Him because of them. The divine Christ and the divine exhibitions of power are inseparable.

CANADA GROUP WORKSHOP AT WEST MEMPHIS, ARK. ANOTHER STEP FOR FOCUS/OKANAGAN

Fifteen members of the Focus/Okanagan group rallied last Sunday at the church 1600 N. Missouri, West Memphis, Ark. Another six families in the group could not be present because of distance) besides the fifteen who have definitely committed themselves to move to the Okanagan Valley, British Columbia, Canada, some seventy-five of the members of the west Memphis church met to learn more about this effort and to escourage the group who will go.

This was a great spiritual treat for all concerned.

At the morning services, Walt Mays and Sam Tumlinson gave 'Testimonials' about the Lord's call to B.C. In the afternoon, film stories of the Kelowna and Kamloops B.C. area were presented by Lynn Anderson, Sam Tumlinson and Leanard Hogan (a West Memphis elder).

The high point of the planning meeting was a panel discussion where the Focus/Okanagan group counselled with the six elders of the West Memphis church concerning the planning of various phases of the project. This was concluded with a thirty minute season of prayer.

Lynn Anderson, Charles Coil, and Sam Tumlinson spoke again at the evening service on the challenge for Christ.

The Focus/Okanagan group is made of several school teachers, an auto mechanic, a medical doctor, a carpenter, a civil servant and others from five states and three provinces of Canada. These people will leave the familiar home scenes to exodus to the Okanagan Valley to secure employment and remain permanently to plant the cause of Christ. Their concern is for the more than 90,000 souls in the Okanagan Valley (one of Canada's most rapidly developing areas) where there was, until this project began, only one tiny New Testament church.

Lynn Anderson, spearheading the Kelowna Project, is sponsored by the West Memphis, Church. These elders have also been planning the whole approach to the Focus/Okanagan Project. Sam Tumlinson, who will move to Kamloops, B.C. is sponsored by the church at Richland, Washington.

This West Memphis meeting of the Focus/Okanagan group was an historic event, both for the work in Canada and for the mission minded church at West Memphis, Arkansas. This will likely be the last such mass planned meeting before the group arrives in the Okanagan Valley this coming July.

THE BEST OF GOOD FRIDAYS

by Ed Bryant

Strongly reminiscent of the all-day meetings of a generation ago, the Third Annual TRAINING FOR SERVICE workshop and lectureship will be held on Friday, April 16, at Thorncliffe Park School in Toronto's Leaside community. Theme for the day is "COMMUNICATING CHRIST TO THE WORLD".

Late in 1962, feeling the need for closer fellowship and better training of teachers for the Bible School, brethren in Toronto churches began to plan for a day of fellowship, instruction and spiritual uplift. They felt that a holiday time would be the most convenient for the most people, so the so-called "Good Friday" was selected as the day. Under the sponsorship of the elders at Strathmore Boulevard, the first meeting was held at the Bayview meeting-house. The meeting was well attended, and many from surrounding areas expressed their appreciation for such a gathering. From this, it became obvious that larger facilities would be needed for the next year's effort. With 1963 behind them, brethren planned for 1964.

Under the sponsorship of the Fern Avenue and Maplewood congregations, the next all-day meeting saw brethren gathered at the Thorncliffe Park School, with expanded facilities for more displays, workshops and meetings. Opportunities to widen acquaintance, fellowship and co-operation marked the 1964 meeting.

In the first stages of planning for 1965, the Bayview church were invited to sponsor the event, but because of the transition between preachers, felt they were not in proper position to do so. The Strathmore oversight then decided to accept the challenge, anticipating and looking forward to the usual warm, close fellowship and support from all the city congregations. They requested, and received, a permit for the use of the same school facilities at Thorncliffe Park. They invited Brother Blenus Wright to direct and co-ordinate the planning.

The program will follow the same general outline as in former years, being divided into morning, afternoon and evening sessions, with breaks between for coffee, exhibits and meals. As to meals, a similar arrangement to that for our June Meeting will prevail. Everybody is to bring a basket lunch, with enough extra for one or two guests, so that our visitors will be taken care of.

Main theme speeches will be brought by Brother Dwain Evans, of Bayshore, Long Island. Brother Evans will speak at the morning and evening sessions to the full assembly.

Schedule of events and timetable follows:

9:00 a.m. Building open. Registration and exhibit arrangement, with Dave Ellis in charge.

9:15 — PRAYER MEETING. Troy Warren in charge.

9:30 — 10:30 — Chairman Blenus Wright will introduce Dwain Evans, who will speak on "COMMUNICATING CHRIST", theme lecture.

6:45 — 7:00 — Ron Zavitz — "COMMUNICATING CHRIST THROUGH CHRISTIAN CAMPS".

7:00 — 8:00 — "HOW BAY SHORE COMMUNICATES CHRIST" — Dwain Evans. Theme speech.

Adjourn

Thorncliffe Park School is located one block south of Overlea Drive, between Don Mills Road and Laird Drive, in Leaside. The school property is adjacent to the Sayvette Department Store, in Thorncliffe Park Plaza. If aproaching from either Don Mills Road or Laird Drive, along Overlea Boulevard, turn south at the Esso station. The school is a short block away.

OMAGH CAMP 1965

As spring approaches it is planning time for the 1965 session at Omagh Bible School. This year we are preparing for the largest and most interesting camp that we can operate. Several factors I believe are in our favour. For instance Bro. Ron Zavitz will be the Director of Omagh Camp again this year. His wife Mary will be with him also to help him in this king sized job. At present Ron is gathering a group of counsellors and other staff to help take care of the campus in their many activities.

• There are several other tasks that must be performed each year to make the camp operate successfully. One duty is that of secretary. During camp session a great deal of work of this nature must be done. There are schedules to write, forms to fill out, records to keep and letters to write, plus many other things. If you are able to serve in this capacity and wish to do so, write to us as soon as possible.

Another job that requires constant attention is general caretaking and maintenance work. If you are a general handiman and would like to spend some of the summer in a

HOULGRAVE

William J. Haulgrave collapsed on Sunday, February 28th at his home on Linsmore Crescent, Toronto. He died within a few hours. Brother Houlgrave was the oldest member of the congregation at Strathmore Boulevard. He was 94 years, and one week old. He was survived by his wife, Sister Charlotte Houlgrave, his sons Alfred and Jack. Interment was in St. James Cemetery, Toronto.

Brother Houlgrave will be long remembered by his fellow worshippers at Strathmore. It was his custom, when he arrived at the meeting-house on Sunday morning, to greet his brethren pleasantly and take his seat. He would then select either hymn book or Bible from the back of the pew in front of him, and lose himself in meditation, preparatory for the worship service. He always sat on the front, in order to hear better.

Sister Charlotte Houlgrave became 77 years old on the day she lost her husband. She has been confined to Riverdale Hospital for some time, and was not made aware of her husband's death.

The writer was privileged to conduct the services.

SHIPTON

Isobel Shipton, 70, died in Ontario Hospital, Whitby, on Saturday, February 20. She was a native of Scotland and a member of the church that meets on Strathmore Boulevard. She is survived by her husband, Reginald, son Gordon and daughter, Sylvia Upton.

Sister Shipton was in failing health for some time prior to her passing. In the final moments of her life she was attended by John and Ray McKay, brother and sister, respectively; her daughter Sylvia, her husband, Reg, and the writer. She was laid to rest in the Park Lawn Cemetery, Toronto. Services were led by Ed Bryant.

CLINT

The sudden passing of Arvil E. Clint of Long Branch, Ontario, in the Toronto General Hospital, on March 17th, removed a well known and faithful member of the Fern Avenue church of Christ. Bro. Clint was born at Stoney Creek, and for years his family lived at Beamsville, before removing to Toronto.

For years his familiar face was known to many at Gospel Meetings and June Meetings, in many places in Ontario. He learned the "Way of Life" in his younger days and was faithful throughout the many changes in the church and community. He was still very active after more than three-score years. He will be missed by his family and brethren.

Bro. Clint leaves to mourn his departure, his wife Gladys, three sons, William, Elwin and Ralph; four daughters, Mrs. W. A. Barnes (Lillian), Mrs. L. Gagne (Audrey), Mrs. R. Bolton (Norma), Mrs. W. McLeod (Ruth); four sisters and one brother, together with twenty-six grandchildren.

The funeral service was held at the Turner and Porter Funeral home

HELP BUILD AT THE LAKEHEAD

Contributions are needed from churches and inviduals to help us build. We have been meeting in a school auditorium which is not in a good area for our work. Now we have property in a fine new subdivision of Fort William. We hope to build here this year.

A loan can be arranged with the help of the Hillcrest congregation in Abilene, Texas. We need to raise $10,000 in order to go ahead this spring and to keep our payments at a practical level.

Please help this congregation now. Make possible a permanent work in this great area of Northwestern Ontario.

TIBBEL

Brother Herbert (Bert) Roland Tibbel passed away in the Riverside annex in Welland on January 17. He had been in the hospital since December and had been in failing health for about two years.

Brother Tibbel is survived by his wife, Faith, one son, two grandchildren, seven stepchildren, two sisters, and two brothers.

Brother Tibbel was born in Edmonton 78 years ago and lived there until moving to the Fenwick area 8 years ago. He was a member of the Fenwick Church of Christ and was loved by all for his many wonderful ways. Even though many of his last days were filled with pain and sickness, he always had a smile and a cheerful word.

The funeral was conducted by the writer. —Max E. Craddock

CANNON

On Sunday morning February 7, 1965 Sister Ivy Cannon passed away in her sleep. She was the Mother of Joseph L. Cannon who serves here as a missionary for the Church of Christ. As Bro. Cannon and I have worked together for some years, I was honored with the preaching for the memorial services for the English part. As Sister Ivy Cannon was so well known here for her Christ like life, services were also conducted in Japanese with Brother Junichi Akamine preaching.

Sister Ivy Cannon was born on December 17, 1898 at Lancashire, England, and later she became a citizen of Canada. She is survived by her son Joseph L. Cannon of Okinawa and a daughter, Mrs. Aileen Zimmerman of Port Credit, Ontario, Canada. Both the son and daughter are faithful members of the Lord's Body and through them and the many other lives that she touched, Sister Ivy Cannon continues to speak to us.

In her life time, Sister Ivy Cannon was an Elders wife in Canada and then she saw her son Joseph L. Cannon leave for the mission field of the Orient in 1947. Shortly after she became a widow in 1962, she came to Okinawa to help in the work in this far away place.

Sister Ivy Cannon was a real example to the church here and wherever she was known. Even though her last few months were very difficult, she continued the good fight until the Lord called her home. No number of words can tell the story of Sister Ivy Cannon's life, but she was ever in the service of Christ.

Memorial services were conducted for Sister Ivy Cannon on February 8th at 2:00 p.m. at the Church of Christ, Ojana, Okinawa where I serve as the minister. Following the memorial services, interment was at the International Cemetery, Naha, Okinawa.

Even though Sister Ivy Cannon has left us, her works do follow after her. We are thankful that she came to this far away land and through her life, we are able to see more of Jesus Christ our Lord and Saviour. Rev. 14:13. —R. E. George

FISHER

After a few months of illness, suffering with a failing heart, Edwin Fisher, a respected Christian gentleman and faithful member of the Fennel Avenue congregation, passed to his heavenly home (February 13).

Brother Fisher is survived by his beloved wife, Adeline, a daughter (Mrs. Doreen Clark), two sisters and three brothers. He was born in 1890, was baptised in 1913, was married in 1915 and celebrated his 50th wedding anniversary with his beloved wife, January 6, 1965.

In his quiet, friendly and helpful way he encouraged the growth of his main interest, the Lord's church. He was one of the prime movers in the establishing of the Fennel Avenue congregation a number of years ago. He will be sorely missed by his devoted family and the Hamilton brethren. —David M. Johnson worthy and rewarding way contact us as soon as you can.

During recent years it has become quite apparent that we need a nurse on camp at all times during camp session. With 70 to 100 persons on camp there is usually someone who needs the care of a nurse. We would appreciate hearing from you if you are qualified and would like to spend part or all of the month of July at camp.

We always have a need for someone to take care of the kitchen duties. Each week there is a need for approximately 4 cooks to prepare and serve the meals. The young people enjoy this part of camp life and those who cook are greatly rewarded when they can see the smiling faces of young people as they eat heartily. If you can help for one or more weeks please let us know soon and we will pass your name on to the person in charge of kitchen planning.

The camping session this year is planned for July 4th to July 31st. The period from July 4th to July 17th is for young people from the age of 11 years and older. The period from July 18th to July 31st is for children from the age of 8 years to 11 years old. In order to qualify for registration in either period the person must have celebrated their birthday on or before July 4th.

Fellowship Week for 1965 will be from August 1st to August 7th. The theme for this year will be "Enlarge". Bro. Ralph Perry is the Director again this year and he is arranging an interesting program.

Information brochures and application forms will be in the mail in the very near future. We encourage you to come to camp and bring a friend or friends with you.. "Let's make Omagh alive in 65". Address all replies to Mrs. John McKay, 3 Braecrest Avenue, Weston, Ontario.

SPECIAL ISSUE ON ALBERTA CHURCHES

PROTESTANISM DOOMED TO FAILURE

PART II

by Blenus Wright, Toronto, Ontario

Why are there disputes among groups of Protestants if there really is no rigid authority? Each one is equally correct; therefore, there should be no need for debating and wrangling. Each has as much right to his beliefs as the other person.

Because of the mixed up state of Christian belief today the result is confusion, infidelity, skepticism, and disgust for present-day Christian religion. The Toronto Daily Star, July 25, 1964, page 52, cites a modern example of departure from "sola scripture." Mr. Gervis Black suggests that the main weakness of the United Church of Canada is "its failure to wed the fervor of evangelism to the enlightenment of liberal theology. Such a marriage can, and must, take place . . ." "We have outgrown the gold-plated heaven and sulphurous hell of the past... I seldom use such dated terms as 'salvation,' 'saved by the blood,' 'born again.' These are the Shibboleths of fundamentalist evangelism; I talk in terms of commitment, of the divine friendship, of being loyal to the royal in yourself."

Mr. Black's motto is "Have Bible; will travel." One wonders why Mr. Black needs his Bible. The reason there is no evangelism is the lack of fundamental doctrine. The common denominator is so diluted that nothing is left. When everyone has his own authority there is no need to evangelize since the whole principle of evangelism is to make one a Christian. But when each has his own "interpretation" of the authority and the consensus of opinion is that all men's thinking and practice concerning the Scripture is pleasing to God and all are Christians, then why evangelize?

Christ could change the water into wine at the wedding feast in Cana, but today in Canada ministers are changing the pure wine of the gospel into water. This brings to mind Tertullian, who once called the church a brothel because it "keeps those who adulterate the truth."

III. Protestantism is doomed to failure unless it has a restoration instead of a continual reformation. Protestantism's purpose was to protest divergence from the truth, yet it has failed to return thereto. Luther, in attempting to reform the Roman Church, touched off a chain reaction that soon had Protestants reforming Protestants, and the process is still in motion. John Wesley unintentionally founded the Methodist Church although he himself lived and died an Anglican. John Smyth, unable to reform the Church of England, broke away and established the forerunner of the Baptist Churches.

Each new group built on the foundation of another group rather than on the foundation of Christ. Men did not consult the Bible for their authority but completely overlooking God, they drafted their own creeds and rules of faith and practice.

Not only was there a reforming of other groups but a reforming within groups. Edmund W. Robb, writing in Christianity Today, Oct. 25, 1963 ("The Predicament of Methodism") declares:

"From its inception Methodism was revivalistic in its emphasis and free in its worship. Written prayers and a set form of worship were almost unknown in Early American Methodism. The worship consisted of joyful congregational singing and sincere Bible preaching. Early Methodists knew and experienced vital worship. With the advent of liberalism, worship lost its glow. The choir sang the proper anthems, and the congregation remained silent during the singing of unknown and often unsingable hymns. The preacher gave a discourse on his current social concern. Worship became dull, and the congregation became spectators. Reform was needed."

Most Protestant groups agree that it matters little what group you affiliate with. The outcome of such purposeless Christianity is well expressed by Gerald A. Heersma in Church Herald,

"Protestantism has lost its faith—not all Protestants, to be sure, but so many of them that the gasoline in the tank is half water. You can't run a car that way; you can't run a church that way."

William Hordern, in A Layman's Guide to Protestant Theology confirms Heersma's view by suggesting, "One of the weaknesses of Protestantism today is that so few Protestants know what they believe or why."

Roman Caholicism is slated to outlive Protestantism, as suggested by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale (Readers Digest, September, 1962): "Splintered Protestantism can no longer compete with the monolithic Catholic Church." Within Roman Catholicism there were and are divisions and rivalries, even wide varieties of theological opinion and certainly sharp difference as to practical policy, but always the central, dictatorial, supposedly infallible authority in Rome can compel obedience and outward uniformity.

Protestantism's salvation can be found in the Bible, the only infallible rule known to man. It has been called the paper pope; yet it still remains as the final authority of God.

Noted scholars cite obstacles to Christian advance in Christianity Today, October 12, 1962:

"Gordon H. Clark, professor, Butler University, declares that the chief obstacle to Christian advance in our time is the apostasy of the large denominations as shown in their unwillingness to insist on the complete truth and inerrancy of the Word of God written, the Bible. When the truth of Scripture is tested by foreign criteria and is reduced to symbolism, myth, or saga, there is no Christian message left.

C. S. Lewis, then professor, Cambridge University: Next to the prevalent materialism, for which we are not to blame, I think the great obstacle lies in the dissensions not only between Christians but between splinter groups within denominations. While the name Christianity covers a hundred mutually contradictory beliefs, who can be converted to it?

Bernard L. Ramm, professor, California Baptist Theological Seminary: The chief obstacle to Christian advance is the pulpit which represents a hopeless mixture of messages of liberalism, existentialism, sophisticated neo-orthodoxy and effete - orthodoxy. From much a mixture there cannot be New Testament congregations alive with the power of the Gospel."

True restoration involves a return to an initial condition. Luther found the Roman Church as a man today finds an antique car—not at all in the same condition as when it was new. Other reformers came along and added workable parts to the old car, but they were never duplicates of the initial equipment. If the car is to be returned to its original design, the wornout parts must be restored in exact duplicate, not merely replaced. Likewise, Protestant churches need to restore the church in the twentieth century until it duplicates the church of the first century—in faith and works, in government and worship.

Protestants claim to be the visible church, but have actually made the visible church invisible. The only church you find in the Bible is a very visible one. Congregations of people who believed in the crucifixion of the Son of God for their salvation and were willing to repent of their sins and confess His name among men and submit to a burial in water for the remission of their sins, were added to the church which is the body of Christ; they began to work and worship, preaching, singing, praying, remembering the Lord around the Table and giving of their means as they were prospered on the first day of every week.

The Bible records no names of Protestant denominations or sects; therefore, they are invisible since They cannot be found in God's Word. Man has made the church of the Bible invisible with his ideas, and made his own churches invisible according to the Biblical pattern. Every idea of man is only another brick in the massive wall of masonry which divides the invisible churches from the visible one of the first century, which church was the body of Christ, made up of living, active, working Christians, not a complexity of buildings built with brick and mortar and called by various names.

The churches of today are materialistic institutions rather than spiritual congregations. T. Leo, Brannon, writing "Dare We Hope for Renewal of the Church?" in Christianity Today, October 9, 1964, tells of a growing despair with the institutional church.

The old ship of Zion is too laden with barnacles to be restored and made sea-worthy for carrying pilgrims to the Eternal City . . . That stagnation and ineffectiveness are prevalent in vast segments of the modern Church can hardly be disputed. A cumbersome bureaucracy makes the forward movement slow. Forms of government become sacrosanct even when they quite evidently miss the mark of the New Testament concept of the Church . . . Having pitched its program and ministry on a shallow biblical-theological basis, the twentieth-century Church expects people to give up traditions and patterns of life. We have fed the people the "pablum" of nature studies and have led them in sociological discussion— but we have expected them to display the faith of the apostles and martyrs . . . The Scriptures are the key. As the Church reads, reflects on, and obeys the Word of God, there is a regaining of power and a purging out of corruption. Thus, the Scriptures are the key to the continuing reformation that is basic to Protestant faith. It is in the written record of the revelation of God that we discover the reason for our existence and catch the vision of our mission. In fact, it is the written Word of God that issues the call for us and forms us into the people of God, the community of faith . . . Consider also the hope of renewal for the Church in a new spirit of unity. The ecumenical movement has been receiving considerable attention in church circles. I would not disparage this movement in the least. My concern, though, is that there seems to be a false hope for revitalization of the Church in the union of denominations. There is ample reason to doubt that this in itself will bring the awakening. It is not necessarily true that "the more we get together" the greater we will be.

By a "new spirit of unity" I mean that which comes when churches conceive of themselves as the Body of Christ, the people of God, and thus develop organic unity that goes deeper than structural ties or institutional loyalties . . . Today, in even the most autonomous-minded congregation, there is a deplorable condition of headquarters control. Programs and missions must be born of the Holy Spirit from within the local congregation if there is to be an awakening of the old structure.

Conflicting human opinions so prevalent in the contemporary religious world are ample proof that the Bible is the best authority available to man. It even describes those who err in their own wisdom: "In latter times some shall fall away from the faith;" (I Tim. 4:1) "For the time will come when they will not endure the sound doctrine; but, having itching ears, will heap to themselves teachers after their own lusts; and will turn away their ears from the truth, and turn aside unto fables." (II Tim. 4:3, 4) ". . . From among your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away the disciples after them." (Acts 20:30) The Apostle Paul stated that some would pervert the gospel of Christ and if anyone should preach any other gospel than the gospel of Christ, he should be anathema.

The plea of the New Testament is simple. Why not be just a Christian? It is time that both Protestants and Catholics realized their departure from the truth. Too many churchgoers interpret John 8:31 to read, "If you are among the right disciples, you will abide in my word." Let the words of Christ not be perverted, but rather, hear Him as He says, "If ye abide in my word, then are ye truly my disciples."

It is time to ask ourselves, "Is it from heaven or from men?" Let us de-emphasize apostolic succession and emphasize apostolic doctrine, continuing "steadfastly in the apostles' doctrine and fellowship, and in breaking of bread and in prayer." Acts 2:42.

Why should we be shackled to human tradition, or enslaved to human ecclesiasticism, or fettered to a sect? Christ is the only One who demands our loyalty. We will

WHAT THE CANADIAN CHURCH NEEDS

The church is growing, but not fast enough. It is planning, but not effectively enough. It is working, but not vigorously enough. In fact, we are partially committed to a struggle which should command our complete dedication.

We have been accustomed in the past to bemoan our small numbers, our limited financial strength and the scarcity of trained workers. Each of these three needs is far from eliminated.

Numerically the church in Canada is still insignificant. We are still listed in the census figures with those who use the instrument and endorse missionary societies. If we were listed separately, we would likely find difficulty in counting many over 4000 faithful brethren in fellowship with one another. In a nation of over 19 million inhabitants, this is rather disgraceful for a religious group that has been in the country for about 150 years.

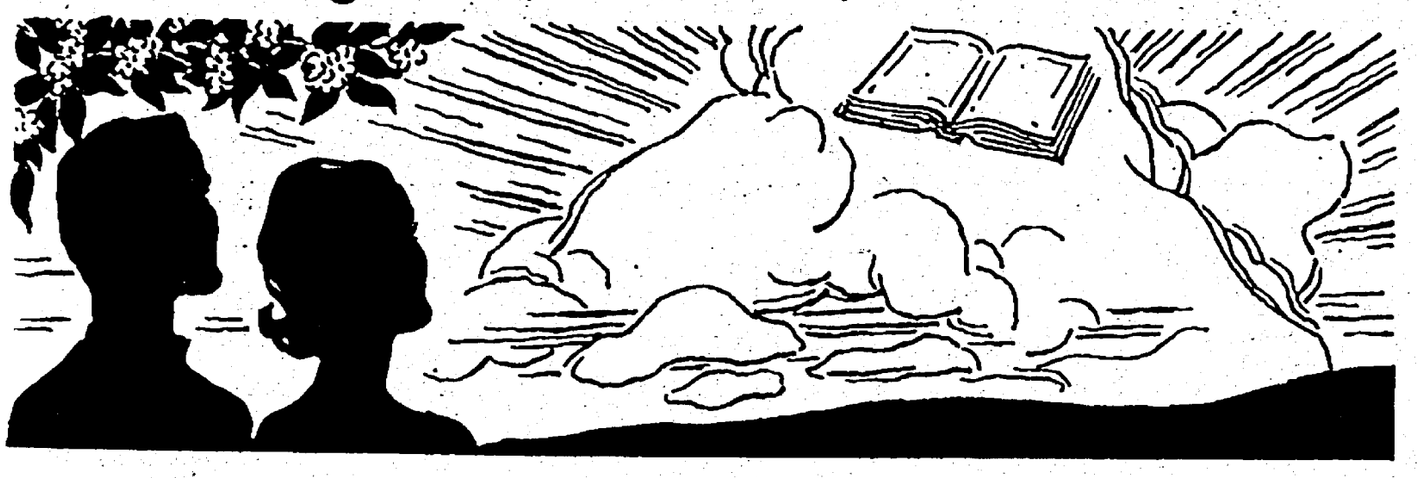
Financially we are of very limited ability. Many Canadian Christians belong to the farming and manual labouring classes. These two occupations hold some of the most spiritual individuals on the face of the earth. They do not, as a rule, produce a high annual income.

In recent years, we have seen more and more of our young people go on to higher education. These will end up in professions and industry in positions that command higher salaries.

Canadian Christians are gradually learning to give generously. At present too many are still putting on the plate a one dollar bill in an economy where it is worth less than fifty cents. How many churches of any size can claim that the members are contributing on an average of at least ten per cent of their salaries?

The Lord singled out the contribution of the poor widow in Mark 12:41-44 because she gave in sacrifice rather than from a superfluity. Too often Christians spend their money on everything else and bring the Lord whatever is convenient from the remainder. The clause found in 1 Cor. 16:2 as a guide to the proportion required for acceptable giving is simple, "as he may prosper". This presupposes that the giver has a sensitive conscience. When Christians commit themselves prayerfully to give in this manner, our ability to work will be doubled.

One of the brightest areas of advance in the last fifty years has been in the acquisition of more and better-trained workers. This editor can remember when there was but one fully supported preacher in all of this great land. The phrase "fully supported preacher" as used of this individual is actually a misnomer. He was supported in a niggardly fashion which enabled him to keep alive and to eke out a living for his family. If our memory is correct, he was given the sum of $25.00 per week. Out of this, he was expected to maintain a roof over his head; feed a family and operate an automobile to visit members, who, in many cases were in far better circumstances than himself. When a small raise in the support was suggested, it caused quite a stir in the congregation.



Today we have scores of dedicated men who are capable and zealous. Some of these, at least, could find fields that are easier and audiences that are larger by moving south. The fact that they are remaining in this great mission field is indicative of their zeal and their willingness to sacrifice. For the most part, they are being respected and esteemed for their work's sake. This is as it should be. May their numbers increase in the land.

When the expression "trained workers" is used, we immediately are inclined to think only of preachers. This is a mistake. Some of the most effective workers in the Lord's Kingdom should be found in the oversight of the various congregations. We have had; still have; and perhaps will continue to have, too few godly bishops who are qualified by years of training to do the work that they are appointed to do.

FREEDOM IS DOING RIGHT

by Ed Bryant

Many of us have read a lot lately about what happiness is. A lot of words have been used to tell us variously that "happiness is a stick of striped candy . . . a warm fire when it's twenty below outside . . . a full pay check, with overtime . . . a good laugh, when you're down in the dumps . . ." and so on, ad infinitum. This helps us to see that happiness consists of many things. What is happiness for one is not necessarily happiness for everybody.

We hear a lot about freedom, too. We understand that it is also made up of many things. We could even start a series of our own. "Freedom is . . . being able to decide on your own when it's time to go home . . . paying your own way with your own money . . . speaking your own convictions with apology to no one . . . choosing your own friends . . . choosing and pursuing a career . . ." You get the idea.

One of the things freedom is is doing right. None of us who have inherited a free life in a free land desire to be in bondage to anyone. We think it deplorable to see one man enslaved by another, or a people enslaved by a dictatorial ruler. It goes against our whole idea of human freedom. It is a situation from which to escape as soon as possible.

Yet the worst possible enslavement is often brought upon us by our own efforts. Since bad habits are the most obvious means of self-enslavement, let us begin with them. Every bad habit began small. It was such a little thing that we could not even imagine the power it would one day wield over our being. Like one strand of very fine thread, it could be easily broken at any time. But each time we indulged the habit, it grew stronger and we grew weaker, until one day the positions were reversed. We were no longer in control. Habit had taken over. Freedom had flown.

There is a burning desire among all young people to arrive at a time or place in life when they will be free. The young man wants the freedom of the family car. The young lady wants the freedom to accept dates from young men of her choice. Both want freedom to come and go with a minimum of parental or official supervision. But the freedom of the family car isn't freedom at all if he drives it in such a way as to cause damage to it and to the property of others, or to bring down the wrath of the law upon his head. He is only free when he does right . . . handles the car wisely and well, respecting the rights and property of others, obeying the laws of the land. It is only then that he is not restricted, and can come and go as he chooses.

The writer owned a driver's license in the state of Tennessee for many years and was never called upon to produce it, because he was not involved in accidents. On the other hand, if he had driven recklessly, he would not only have been called upon to show his license, but more likely also have had it taken away from him. You see how this freedom business works? You are free only so long as you do right.

The young lady who accepts dates from young men who are attractive to her is free only so long as she chooses her companions wisely and well. Picking even one wrong one can cause untold damage to her precious reputation, or create ugly situations which she will have no opportunity to explain to those who observe. Girls, and boys, show good sense in asking their parents questions about every aspect of dating. Oddly enough, one way to win more freedom in the dating department is to ask questions of parents and welcome their suggestions.

In the adult world which you will too soon face, the same principle obtains. Mothers and fathers are free only so long as they do right. God has given us all the power of choice. We can choose to be drunkards, and no one will stop us, but drunkenness is only another form of slavery. We can elect to attain fame and fortune, and the world will even applaud our efforts, but Jesus said, "What doth it profit a man, if he gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?" It's a good question. If we become enslaved to working our heads off to attain fame and fortune, we have by no means attained freedom. We can choose to be religious, or not to be, and no one will interfere with our choice. To seek the truth, and obey it is to do right. To forego it and drift with the world, is to choose slavery. Jesus said: "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you FREE."

Not one of God's laws was made with the intent to enslave the people of the world. His laws were made for the protection of His people, that they might prosper, and be happy, and be FREE. Sin, on the other hand, has as its primary object the enslavement of the soul. God wants His people to be free, and has arranged His laws so they CAN be. But the choice is up to us.

INVITATION

GOSPEL MEETINGS AT JORDAN MAY 10-19

8 p.m. including Saturday

ROY E. COGDILL, Speaker

Guest Editorial —

Alberta Section

by Gerald Fruzia

This issue of the Gospel Herald takes you on a brief journey into the Prairie Province of Alberta. Over 1,500,000 people are developing the cities and opening up new frontiers to the North. There is no more challenging frontier in Western Canada today than that of penetrating the hearts of this people with the Gospel.

I hope your comprehension of the scope of the challenge becomes clearer as you read. It certainly has for me as I have edited these reports. Statistics are strange things. The same set of figures can both encourage and discourage. For the membership of the churches to increase from 64 to 315 in just 10 years is to witness a five-fold rate of growth. This is excellent if it can be maintained.

However, doesn't the figure of 315 members out of 1,500,000 citizens strike you as being pathetic to the point of being ridiculous? It does me. I'm ashamed. I'm not satisfied. I'm restless in seeking better methods of reaching men with the greatest message — the most needed message — this world can know! Surely you too, desire to do more wherever you are. There is a great need all across this wonderful land.

Brethren, we need to advertise Bible Correspondence Courses on a nation-wide basis. This would reach the people of the isolated North as well as our own areas. Should we use national magazines or the direct-mail approach? Who will pay for such a program? Would you give $1000 this year? $100?

Radio programs can be placed on stations in the North for $25 per broadcast. These programs should not be weekly, but DAILY. Who will pledge one program a month over and above your regular contributions where you worship?

We need tracts and study booklets prepared and printed in Canada. Who will write them? Who will finance them?

This is the challenge!

CANADIAN CHURCH

closely the qualifications for elders found in 1 Tim. 3:1-7 and Titus 1:5-9. They need to begin a life of study, discipline and activity which will qualify them to be more than figureheads. It is shameful that we must be reconciled to a situation where many older congregations cannot choose from their own number even two men who have prepared themselves for this responsibility. It is equally shameful when congregations in frustration and desperation feel that they must be willing to relax the qualifications to "set in order the things that are wanting."

It would seem that if our Lord tarries, great opportunities exist for the church in Canada. The next decade should see us firmly established in many new places. Old congregations will be infused with new vigour. These changes are already beginning.

Will our vision, sacrifice and zeal be equal to our opportunities? We pray that they will be.

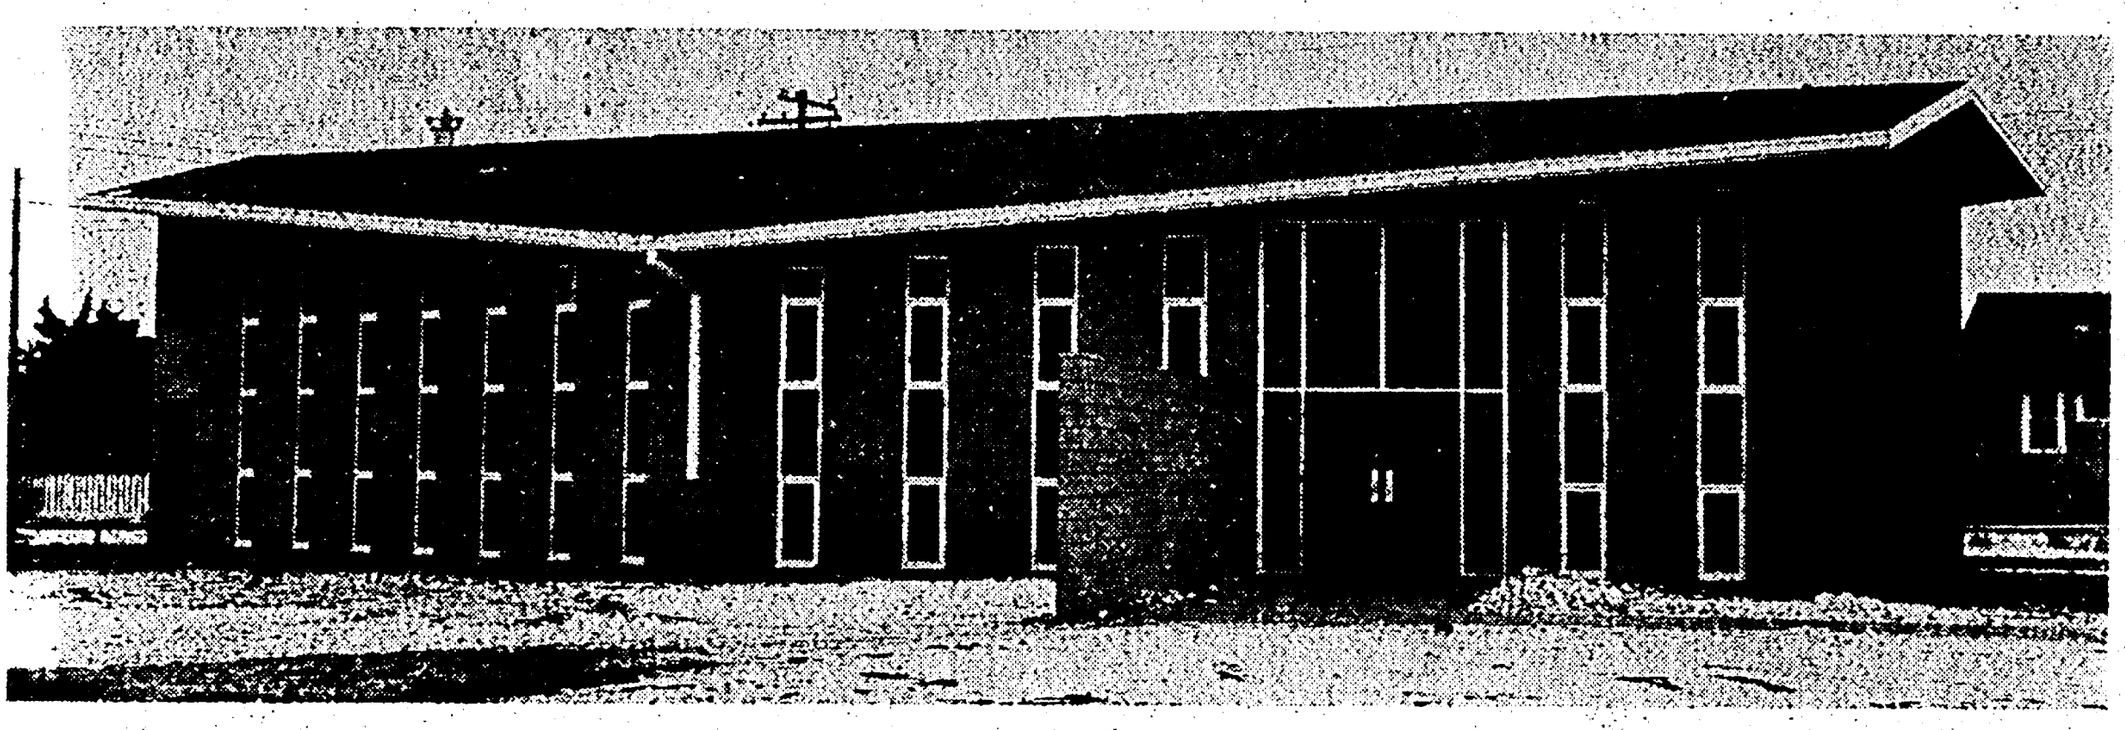
CALGARY – ALBERTA'S OLDEST CONGREGATIONS

Old Building — 1907 - 1960

The church in Calgary dates back to the turn of the century. Two of our present elders were prominent in the beginning of the work here. Arthur Weston arrived in Calgary from Winnipeg, and an ad was placed in the local paper to seek other Christians. At the same time members of the Bailey family were breaking bread in their farm home in what is now south Calgary. As a result of the ad a meeting was arranged, bringing about the first real assembling of the saints in Calgary. In 1907 plans were drawn up for a meeting house on 15th avenue SW. It served as a meeting place for the congregation until 1960. In 1912 Ernest Bailey arrived in Calgary and has been active in the work of the church here ever since.



In the early days of the church a number of people played important parts in the growth and development of the work. Some who are remembered were S. M. Jones and a brother Neal. Also, such men as Albert Brown, Henry Ficklin and O. H. Tallman assisted in the work here. Among the early members themselves was brother Charles Bailey who carried a greater amount of the preaching responsibility.

At present there are five elders guiding the Lord's work here. They are A. E. Bailey, Arthur Weston, Ray Tidlund, Wilfred Bailey and Mervin Buckingham. Serving under these men are six deacons. They are Isaac Weston, Roe Buker, Dave De-Patie, Olaf Aasen, Jack Bodie and Marshall Hare. Under the leadership of these elders and the assistance of these deacons the work in Calgary moves forward with promise. The present evangelist and his family enjoy a pleasant working relationship with the congregation that would be hard to top in any other place.

The church in Calgary acknowledge a responsibility in the fields of evangelization, edification and benevolence, which it is striving to fulfill. One amazing feature of the church in Calgary is the fact that in the congregation of 85 members there are 16 adopted children with the prospects of more in the near future. Added to this there are several foster children being cared for by the members of the congregation. The reason this is rarely known is because there is a genuine love for this kind of work and no desire for acclaim for what is being done. This shows forth the dedicated Christian principles, not in word only but in action. Plans are continually being considered for a greater work here. The church in Calgary looks to the future with great hope and a renewed vigor. Our one prayer is that we may live up to the expectations our Lord has in us. For this reason we move forward unhesitatingly.

Whenever you are in Calgary there is a cordial invitation for you to visit with us and worship with us.

—Charles Littrell

New Building Seats 300

EDMONTON – ALBERTA'S CAPITAL CITY

Opened in 1956, seats 200

Immigrants from Great Britain (R. Black and D. Brown) organized worship in 1907 in the Walterdale section of Edmonton. Minutes in the possession of brother David Horwood of Toronto show that the congregation grew to a membership of 35 adults, but faded from view after World War 1.

Worship after the New Testament order returned when evangelists Sidney Roper and Roy Tidwell arrived in 1953. Services were begun with the Clifford Anderson family. Baptisms in 1954 included the Elda Parrantos, the Victor Barnes, and Mrs. Nellie Nasby.

Building construction began in 1954, and a radio program was carried on for several months. By 1957 attendance was averaging 75, but conflict within the congregation took its toll and attendance dropped to 40 by the Fall. In September brother Douglas La Course began a work which continued through 1960.

Membership stood at 37 when Gerald Fruzia moved to Edmonton in 1961. In the same year, seven students from ACC (Blenus and Audrey Wright, Ron and Mary (Morren) Zavitz, Maurine Knight, Roy Davison, and Jim Roden) devoted three weeks to a Vacation Bible School and personal work. Attendance at the school averaged 201. In 1962 and 1963 workers came from Oklahoma and Kansas to assist in schools.

A Bible Display has been presented for three years during Edmonton's Klondike Exhibition. Over 500 have enrolled in Bible Correspondence Courses and 10,000 tracts have been distributed. Several quarter-page Bible articles have been placed in the Edmonton Journal. An eight-page tract, The Church of Twenty Centuries, was published in 1963.

New Congregations Established

The Edmonton church took the lead in establishing a work in Red Deer (100 miles south of Edmonton) in March, 1965. Brethren, Fruzia, Hotchkiss, Bailey, Shaw and others spoke there on Sundays. We made contact with brother Buford Pitman and a church was found to provide his support in Red Deer.

In March, 1965, brethren living in Westlock (50 miles north of Edmonton) were encouraged to begin meetings, and assistance is being provided from Edmonton.

Campaign for Christ

Brother Ivan Stewart directed 40 Christians in a three-week Campaign in August, 1964. Dr. Hugo McCord of Oklahoma Christian College was the speaker. $1500 was spent on advertising and three-fifths of Edmonton homes were personally contacted. More than 30,000 brochures were passed out.

Eighteen were baptized and two restored. Eleven baptisms prior to the Campaign and two following brought 1964's total to 31. Six have been baptized thus far in 1965.

Congregational Development

Each family received the Gospel Herald, Power for Today and 20th Century Christian. Bundle orders of Christian Bible Teacher and the Teenage Christian are obtained for the teachers and teenagers. Further spiritual uplift is provided through the church library, which is actively used by the membership.

Spiritual development may be indicated by the recent decision of our Dean Hotchkiss family to enter full-time Christian service. Brother Hotchkiss is preaching in Beckton, Texas and studying at Lubbock Christian College. He is to begin preaching at North Battleford, Saskatchewan after July 15th.

Bonnie Jean Yee, a very capable teen-age Bible teacher, is presently studying at Oklahoma Christian College.

Walter Moes, 19 years of age, has been a member of the body of Christ only one year, but has already led several to the Lord. He preached his first sermon in April and hopes to enter Sunset School of Preaching in Lubbock this fall.

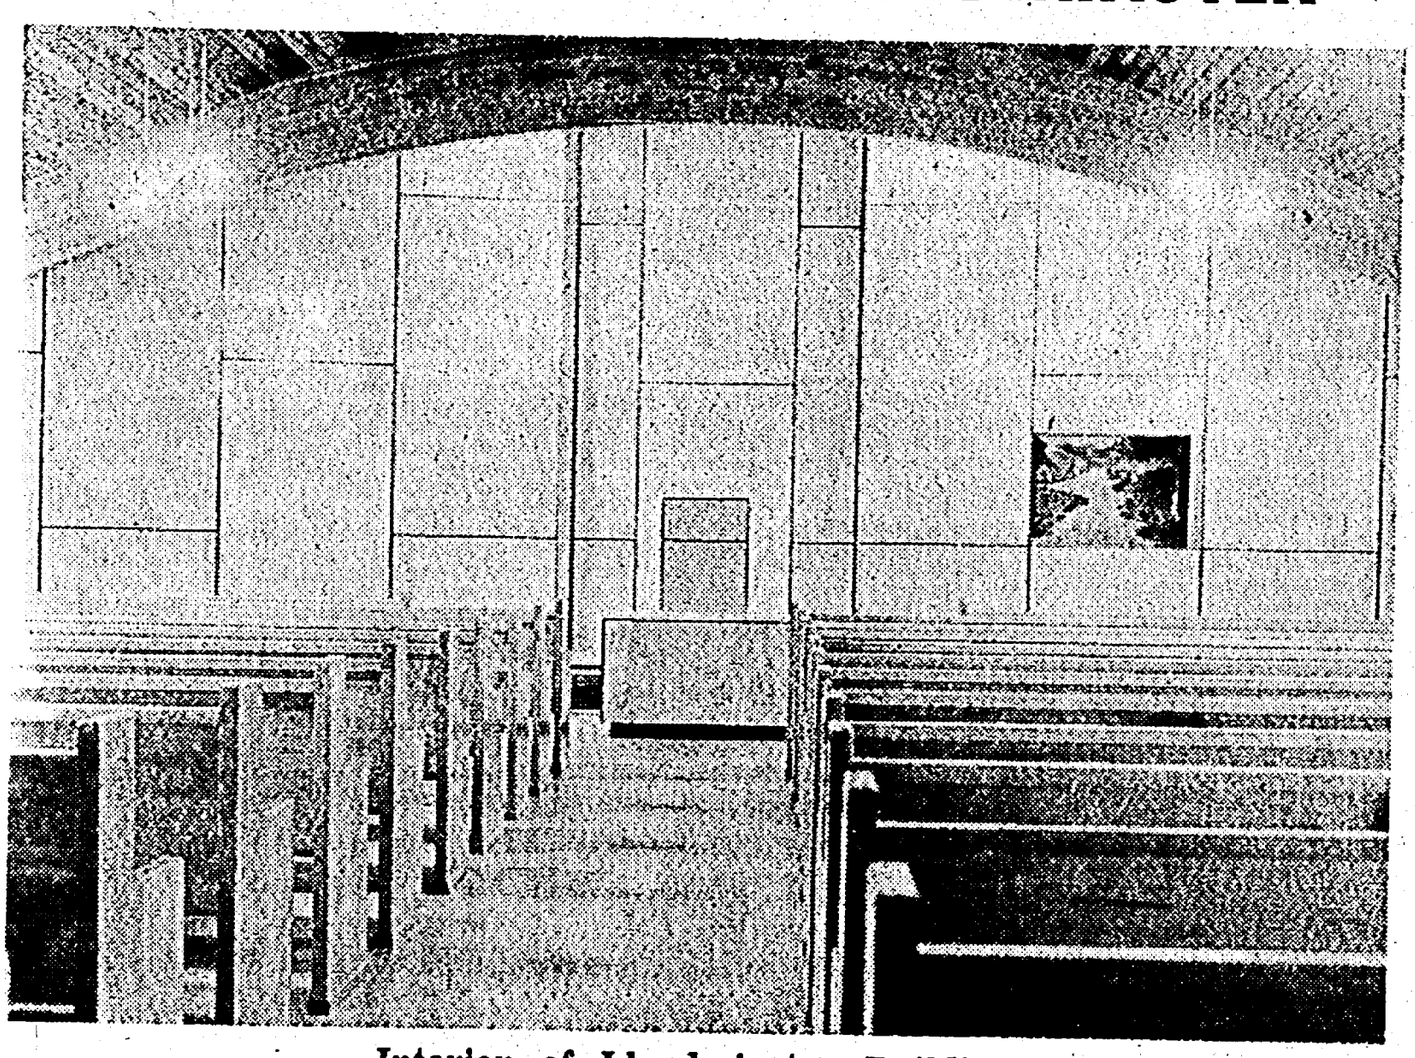
A weekly radio program begins in May with brethren Gary Peddle and Gerald Fruzia sharing the speaking.

Present membership stands at 81 in this city of 347,000 people. The congregation is indebted to the many who have assisted the work, past and present. Assistance from outside sources has been reduced 50% over the past four years. Our last building payment was made in April. Supporting churches are Tyler, Texas, Sherman; Plainview, Texas; Wichita, Kansas, Sayre, Oklahoma, and the Bradleys of Austin, Texas.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Brother Jack L. Rankin of Queen's Church, Flushing, N.Y., will be at St. Catharines on May 14 to discuss the World's Fair and Evangelistic Campaigns.

All who can, especially preachers, elders and teachers, are invited to a 3 p.m. discussion at Ontario Street. Supper will be on the grounds at 5:30 and the evening program at 8.



Christians in the area are urged to attend.

HERE AND THERE

Barrie, Ont.: The central Ontario campaign as advertised elsewhere in this issue will begin in each locality with personal work on June 10, preaching June 13-20, and follow-up to June 27.

One was baptized on April 4. Three acres near the building have been optioned in view of future developments.

THE CHURCH IN LLOYDMINSTER

Interior of Lloydminster Building

Leo C. Owen
Evangelist

In August of 1954 brother Alvin Jennings began driving from Saskatoon to preach once month in this city of 7,000 on the Saskatchewan - Alberta border. There was one member of the church, contacted through Jennings' radio program out of Saskatoon.

A year later brother Bulford Pitman arrived with the support of the Garden Oaks church in Houston, Texas; S. Flores in San Antonio, Texas; W. Erwin in Tyler, Texas and Gretna, Louisiana. He stayed six years during which time the membership rose to 71.

The brethren met in the Hockey Arena dressing room, in the Prince Charles Hotel and in the Legion Hall. Finally land was purchased on the edge of town and a basement completed in the Fall of 1957. The Ray family drove 55 miles each way to help build the basement and to worship. The Wasmuth's drove 45 miles.

Newspaper articles were published each week from 1956 through 1961. A weekly 15 minute radio program was carried for two years.

Brother Leo Owen was sent by the Garden Oaks church in Houston in 1961 to follow brother Pitman. His first major effort was the construction of an auditorium over the basement. Nineteen congregations joined with the Lloydminster brethren to raise $20,000 for this construction.

Since 1961 a Vacation Bible School and a Family Bible Camp have been conducted each Summer. Two singing Schools were taught by Gerald Fruzia. A Preachers' Workshop was held in January of this year.

Christians from the Lloydminster church have gone out to many places. James Lowrie and Peter Van Kiempena are in full-time work. The following are in Christian schools: Roy and Linda Atkinson, Arvil Owen, Marion and Shirley Stewart, and Gene Connett.

Evangelistic meetings have been conducted by Buster Dobbs, 1956, 1957, 1960; Jim Dobbs, 1957; Dean Brookshire, 1959; Truman Spring, 1960; Idus England, 1962; Lynn Anderson, 1962, 1963; Dale Foster, 1963; and Dan Wieb, 1964. A special Youth Meeting with four teen - age speakers from Jacinto City, Texas was held in 1962. Speakers were Kenneth and Fred Turner, John Bankston, and Richard George.

LETHBRIDGE

Joe Corley, Evangelist

This congregation had its beginning when the Marvin Nobles moved here from Washington in July, 1956. One member (sister Nerland) was here then. The Nobles came without support or prospects of employment. They came on faith. After doing secular work for two or three years he obtained full time support.

In October of 1956 Oliver Nerland was baptized. Four others were baptized but fell away. One erring brother was restored and has remained faithful. Another family moved to Lethbridge in 1959 and stayed two years. The Nobles moved to Walla Walla, Washington in 1961, and are still with the church there.

In 1962 the Roarks, of Tennessee, began two years of work with the church. The Zorns moved to Lethbridge from Manitoba and are still in the congregation. While the Roarks were here a dwelling house was purchased on the edge of town for a meeting place. Today, a nice residential area with a shopping center surrounds us. An elementary school and a Junior College have been built near the property also.

Previous to buying and remodeling the house, the church met in private homes, the YMCA building, and the Civic Center. The present property is now completely paid for. While the Roarks were here four were baptized. Two of these were a husband and wife with ten children. The Roarks moved to Shelbyville,

RED DEER, ALBERTA

Population 25,000

When the Andrew Farmers moved to Red Deer they began immediately to seek fellow Christians to worship with. Two unfaithful members were discovered, but failed to show any interest. A sustained effort was made to find a scriptural basis of fellowship with the "instrumental" Church of Christ, but this failed to materialize.

With speakers driving from Edmonton and Calgary worship began in March, 1963 in the Recreation Centre lounge, which is well lighted, with comfortable chairs. We have the largest baptistry (indoor, that is), in the swimming pool downstairs. Classes are conducted in adequate rooms in the basement.

Plans to move to South Africa were cancelled in favor of returning to Canada, after the Pitman family was convinced that this was the direction the Lord was taking them. Full time work began in September, 1963 with two faithful members in addition to the four members in the Pitman family. Three families moved from Lloydminster, two from Edmonton, and there are families living in Stettler and Castor; one young man, who has evidently lost interest lives in Bentley. Present membership stands at 27. Five were baptized into Christ over the past 6 months; 2 adults and 3 young people.

Attendance has been good with an average of 45 during the Fall. Overall average is 30, and goes higher when the out of town members are able to drive in. Our weekly contribution for 1965 has been $36.00; not included in this is money received to help with our radio program from outside.

Evangelistic Efforts. Ronald Milton of Tulsa, Oklahoma, preached one week in August. There were many visitors and contacts resulted in two baptisms later on.

Exhibition Booth. Tracts were passed out and we used a Carousel projector to show slides of the Bible to interest people in personal study. A Correspondence Course was offered with several enrolling. Many discussions were held right at the booth, including a profitable talk with the national Social Credit leader. We had great activity from the electronic quiz machine, which was loaned from Edmonton; this even received notice in the local paper. We believe this type of work is very effective if done in the right manner, and should not be compared to some public efforts which Jesus condemned for their glorifying effects.

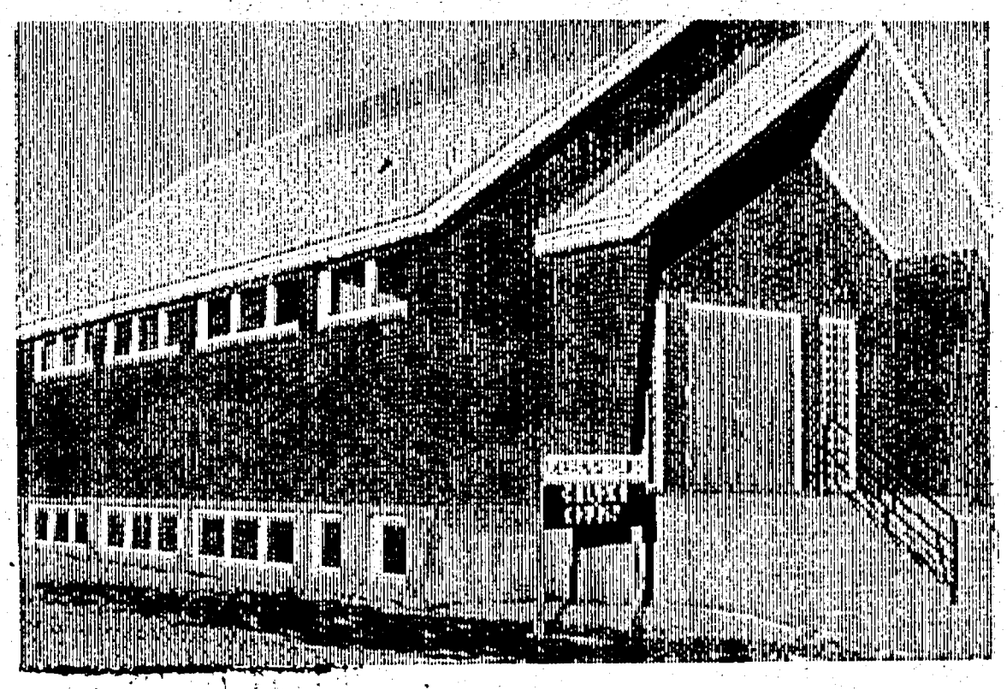
VBS. A city-wide record was set for attendance in this kind of work. In comparison, one denomination with 1800 members tried a VBS and only 12 pupils showed for teaching! From 76 the first day, daily increases brought the final day's total to 103, plus many adults.

Radio Program. Every Sunday evening at 6:30 the gospel is heard over CKRD. It is received by a large audience, particularly in the Rocky Mountain House area.

Future Plans. With members living in two towns, and as the result of our radio program, we have an objective to conduct Gospel meetings in Rocky Mountain House, Stettler, and Castor this year. There ought to be a full time preacher in Stettler, population 4,302, a town with great potential. An active Christian family lives there.

Plans for our meeting in Red Deer are not final, but we are thinking of having one of our colored brethren come up and preach. Such a meeting has not been held on the Prairies and we feel that it would be effective in attracting people to hear the truth.

Plans are under way to produce a television program periodically.



With the increase of interest and discussion about science, the Bible, and evolution, particularly after the advent of the "New Curriculum", classes are planned for the public on these themes. We hope to use a school classroom for this effort, thus avoiding whatever stigma might be attached to other locations.

The Challenge. When our Lord gave us the formula of Matt. 28:19-20, he showed us the only proper way to make converts to him: TEACH, BAPTIZE, AND TEACH. There is no way to MAKE PEOPLE do what we are here for; the individual must get a VISION of lost souls in view of ETERNITY, then he will overcome any personal shortcoming (mostly unacceptable excuses) that has hindered him previously.

Red Deer is a rapidly growing city of more than 25,000 souls: average, friendly, but worldly and LOST! The geography of the area reaches out and grabs all comers: it shakes your hand and says, "Howdy! stop and stay a while". Then you're hooked! Hunting, fishing, boating, and all sports abound with few limitations. It is a good

MEDICINE HAT, ALBERTA

Building Erected 1960

In 1947, when brethren J. C. Bailey and Wilfred Orr were broadcasting sermons over C.H.A.B. in Moose Jaw, Mr. O. Nerland, Sr., of Medicine Hat wrote in. Brother Bailey visited the Nerlands en route to British Columbia, then called on them again on his return journey and baptized brother Nerland.

The Harold Ellis family of Regina moved to Medicine Hat in 1948 to assist in advancing the cause of Christ, coming on faith without any employment in prospect. In 1951 the Ellis's moved to Tabor and worked there for six years, returning to the Hat in 1957.

Through these years services were regularly held in the Nerland and Ellis homes. In 1958 the church began to meet in the Eagle's Hall, and in 1960 a meeting house was erected.

In 1958, the Joe Corleys, Frank Norwoods, and Harry Meakes all moved here. Brother Corley served as evangelist from 1958 through 1963. The Norwoods moved away in 1964. In 1958, sister Cuyler was baptized at 79 years of age. She passed away in September, 1959.

Others who have worshipped with the congregation have been the Dennis family, sister D. Davies, and the Royal Stone family. Sister Arzetta Perry moved here in 1962, sister B. Mellum and the Dene Grandbergs came in 1964.

Outreach Programs

Newspaper articles, radio sermons, filmstrips in some homes, and Bible Correspondence Courses have been used in preaching the Word. A twelve page paper, the Gospel Harvester, is distributed monthly. There have been three vacation Bible schools which were well attended.

Brethren assisting in protracted meetings and Bible schools are Morris Bailey, S. C. Kinningham, J. Pruett, G. Tyler, J. C. Bailey, A. J. Rollings, Charles Littrel, Jack Frost, M. Noble, Jere Frost, C. L. Purdom, F. Puckett, and H. See. (Any omission is unintentional). Brother Corley has also conducted meetings at Redcliff and Bow Island.

As far as we can determine there have been sixteen baptisms since the work began in the vicinity. One has deceased and a few have ceased to attend.

After brother Corley left in 1963, brother J. C. Clifford spent a year with us, moving to Sumner, Washington in July 1964. We are completing arrangements for another preacher to come shortly.

Tentative plans call for two meetings during the year, and a Vacation Bible School in August.

place to live and work for the Lord.

Statistics could be multiplied, but this is not the time nor the place; what is of interest to us is the staggering challenge to the church. There is one preacher in Edmonton, one in Calgary, one in Lethbridge, and one coming to Medicine Hat. Edmonton and Calgary should profit from at least four workers each. It is not difficult to realize the feelings of the apostles, who were challenged by the great commission to "preach the gospel to every creature."

WESTLOCK, ALTA.

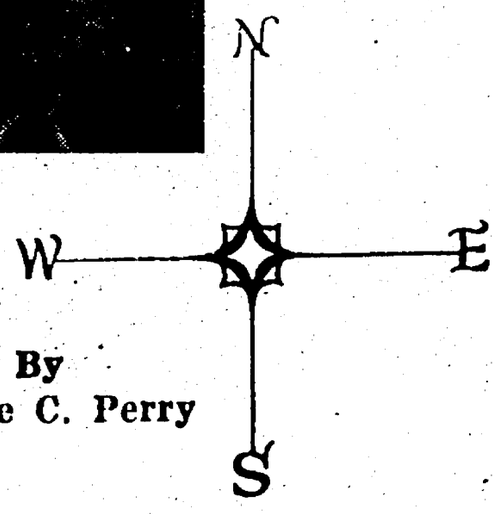
Walter Rogers, Evangelist

Alberta's Newest Congregation

Brethren Walter Rogers and Gerald Fruzia visited with three families in Westlock during March of this year and encouraged them to begin meeting on Sunday evenings.

Bible study and communion is being conducted in the Clyde Gault home, with the Hugh Frasers and Bert Hayes attending. Another family is expected to move to Barrhead from Red Deer and be close enough to attend.

Plans are being made to rent the basement of the Memorial Auditorium and change the time of worship to afternoon. Present membership is ten, and with the coming of the new family membership would be thirteen. There is a possibility of other Christians living in the area, and any known to the readers of the Gospel Herald should contact brother Rogers at 11419, 74 Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta.



Rogers is teaching at the University of Alberta on a year's leave of absence from Texas Technological College in Lubbock, Texas. He has his Doctor of Philosophy Degree from Oklahoma State University. He is a close student of the Scriptures and an experienced preacher.

This family came to Edmonton prepared to work for the Lord. They brought an electric typewriter, mimeograph, two filmstrip projectors, teaching films, and a magnet board which Rogers uses as a visual aid

He also announces plans for a V.B.S. to be held August 23-27 with the Floyd Vidlers of Saginaw, Texas and the Robert Kings of Lubbock assisting.

Toronto, Ont.: Norman Midgette of Jordan is with the Harding Ave. church for a meeting April 25 to May 2.

Those who attended the COMMUNICATING CHRIST workshop in Toronto on April 16, and a good number did, received valuable instruction and inspiration and will be strongly motivated to action after sitting at the feet of Dwain Evans of West Islip, N.Y. We look for fruits from this day.

Hamilton, Ont.: Dean Clutter of Ottawa is speaking at the Fennell Avenue location April 25 - May 2. A man was released from the hospital long enough to be baptized in mid March. Plans are being made for a major campaign for 1967 and a smaller one in 1966. The 1965 V.B.S. will be August 23-27.

The family of the late Edwin Fisher suggested that in lieu of flowers, funds be donated as a memorial gift to Great Lakes Christian College. Many co-operated to the extent that a fund of $200 has been accumulated with more promised. These funds will be used to expand the library of books in the department of religion and will be marked as a permanent and we trust fruitful memorial to this fine Christian.

The Ivon Avenue church held a lectureship on "Challenges For the Church," in April.

The Sanford Avenue church announces a meeting for May 9-16 with their own preacher, Jim Carter doing the preaching.

Omagh, Ont.: Albert Hott of Brampton was baptized recently. A meeting with Don Deffenbaugh of Nesho, Missouri is announced for May 3-9.

Niagara Falls, Ont.: June 24 is the beginning date for CAMPAIGN NIAGARA for which 71 people have shown an interest and 33 are committed. The preacher for the Wayne, Michigan church is to come for a pre-campaign training session. Wesley Jones of Barrie will preach the last week of the meeting.

V.B.S. is to be held in the Orchard Park school north of the building. A Michigan school principal will conduct this effort. Thirteen have volunteered to assist.

Windsor, Ont.: "We were made to rejoice at the baptism of Ricky Atherton into Christ, on the last Lord's Day of March.

Peterborough, Ont.: Plans are being made for Gordon Dennis to begin a new work in this city beginning the first Sunday in July. He is being encouraged by some support from the Jordan congregation.

Campaign Dates: June 24-25, Fenwick; 27 - July 14, Niagara Falls; June 10-27, Barrie, New Market, Pine Orchard and Collingwood; May 30 - June 27, North Bay.

Fellowships at Pepperdine College: Preachers and others interested in practical Christianity have the opportunity of taking courses dealing with personal work and benevolence for either graduate or undergraduate credit under fellowships covering tuition, board and room. Twenty fellowships are available August 16-27 through the generosity of A. M. Burton of Nashville, on a matching grant basis, the college being responsible to raise an equal amount of money.

Meaford, Ont.: Eddie Campbell, campaign speaker at Collingwood will be the speaker at Meaford June 23-27. A Meaford lady has requested the correspondence course as a result of the Herald of Truth.

Vandeleur, Ont.: The brethren have installed new pews and are obtaining a pulpit. Brickwork will soon commence. Meetings in connection with opening services are soon to be announced as well as a V.B.S.

Owen Sound, Ont.: The regular Lord's Day radio broadcast has recently resulted in some correspondence and contacts. This series may have to be discontinued because of the transfer of support for it to the Peterborough work.

Port Arthur, Ont.: The Eldon Mimms family have arrived to assist in the work. Roy Merritt is holding meetings in Sault Ste Marie.

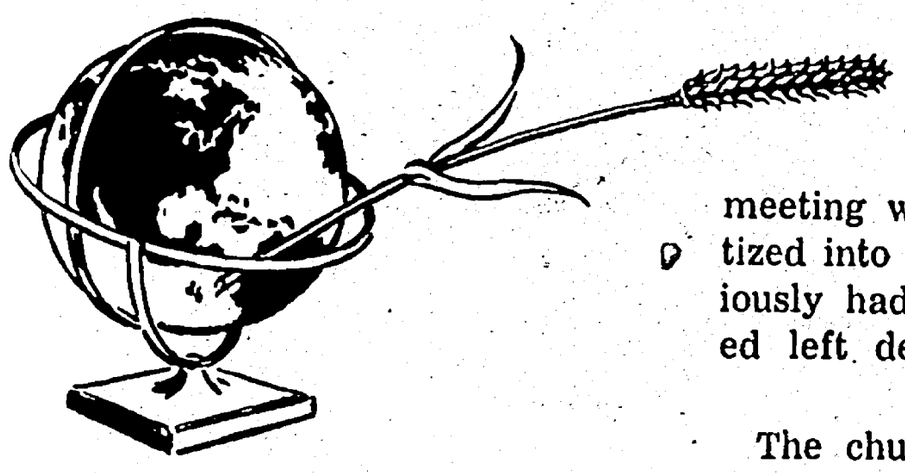
Dauphin, Man.: April 2 was the opening date for a lectureship. We do not have further details.



Winnipeg. Man.: The all out effort which has been going on for months is being climaxed this month.

Jack Stevenson, formerly of this city, reports from Ireland that the new meeting house will be ready for use this month.

Weyburn, Sask.: Six were baptized and 30 asked for prayers during the meeting conducted by the Airport church March 14-21. Leo Owen, Lloydminster, preached and Roger

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

KOREA

The Korean - language Bible correspondence course which was first offered in Seoul August 15 of last year now has more than 8,000 students enrolled. Advertisement has been only through personal contact, through announcements made in the churches, and through the True Light, a monthly gospel magazine published by Korea Christian College.

At the present rate of enrollment, the director, evangelist Bill Ramsay, expects 20,000 students by June 1. Students are enrolled from every province and 85% of the counties in the country and represent every major religious denomination. The heaviest concentration of enrollments comes from the Seoul-Inchon metropolitan area where 4,000 were enrolled March 1.

An average of 24 letters a day are being received, asking for more Bible information.

SOUTH VIET NAM

As many of our readers have probably learned, the Maurice Hall family and Bro. Phil Carpenter were allowed to return to their work in Saigon after spending only 10 days in Malaysia and Thailand. There is still a ban on travel and residency in South Viet Nam by American military dependents, but no restrictions have been placed on the missionaries, and the work is continuing strongly.

AUSTRALIA

An average of 100 students attended the Vacation Bible school concluded recently by the church in Perth, Western Australia, the first such school ever held by any religious group in the city. A number of new students have now enrolled in the Sunday Bible classes as a result of the VBS, and many parents have visited the church services for the first time.

Following the school a week - long gospel meeting was held. Three were baptized into Christ, and one who previously had been scripturally baptized left denominationalism.

JORDAN

The church in Jerusalem was informed recently by the police that it must discontinue the Bible correspondence courses. The work had begun less than a year ago, and some 300 students were enrolled. About 25 had completed the course. Most of the students were in their late teens.

The report to the police had come from Hebron, a fanatically Moslem area, from the parents of a student.

Bro. Carl Matheny of Beirut, Lebanon, is planning to continue the course with all Arab students who have enrolled from other countries.

AUSTRIA

The Austrian Radio Network has granted permission to the churches of Christ to conduct four 15-minute gospel broadcasts during 1965.

The significance of this opportunity is best appreciated when it is realized that Austria's one radio network is completely government-controlled, and thus time for religious broadcasting is limited to the State churches, the Roman Catholic and Lutheran.

The programs are to be conducted in interview form by one of the network personnel. However the church is to prepare the scripts entirely, and the announcer will read questions which the evangelists have written. The government has asked merely that the church abide by the rules of the program: "To inform the Austrian people of the Church of Christ, what you believe, teach and practice, and why you are here in Austria."

Bro. Rudolf Rischer of Salzburg, Austria, ,and Bro. Gottfried Reichel of Munich, Germany, have been selected as speakers for the programs.

EGYPT

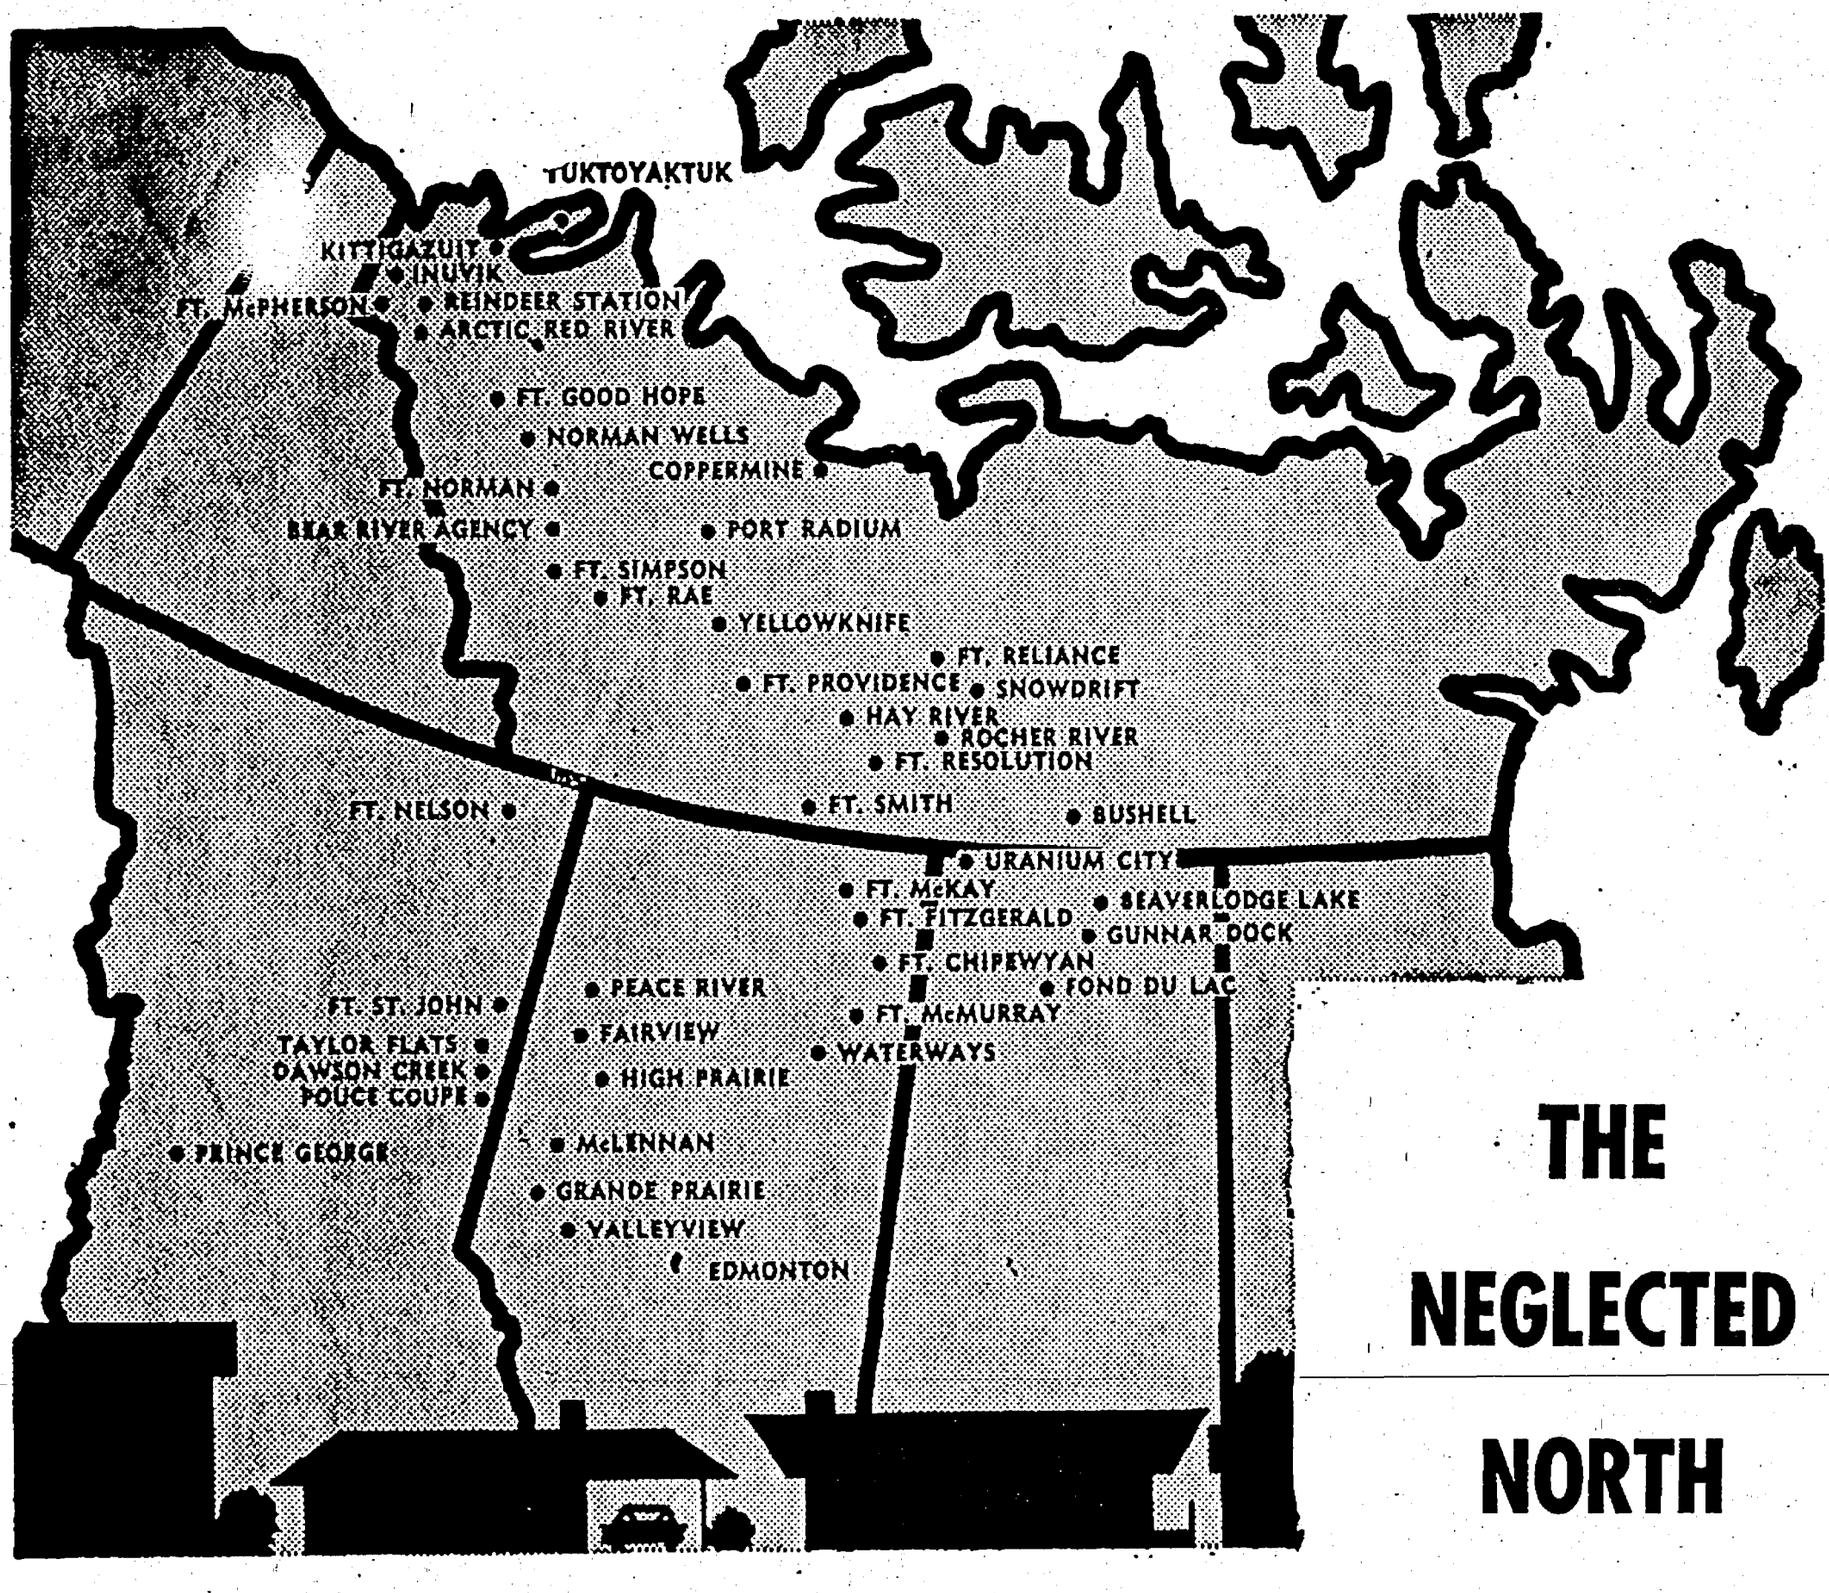
A very interesting and inspiring report comes from the church in Cairo, Egypt, where Bro. Bob Douglas writes that 13 have been baptized into Christ since January 1, doubling the membership of the congregation. Only 13 had been baptized in the 30 months previous. The church has moved to a larger, better-located meeting place, and a weekly Bible class for Egyptian children has been started. Attendance averages about 12.

Among the new converts are two nurses, a pharmacist, a medical student, and a family of four, the head of which is a professor of Arabic at the American University in Cairo, and a former Presbyterian preacher.

ENGLAND

Bro. Bill Banowsky, preacher in Lubbock, Texas, has been selected to preach in the Liverpool campaign this summer, replacing Bro. Batsell Barrett Baxter, whose health will not permit his fulfilling plans to be the speaker. Bro. Baxter underwent major surgery for cancer last spring and though he seems to be making good recovery, his doctors say that he must not undertake such a heavy schedule at this time.

The 10-day preaching effort is scheduled for July 18-28. Some 75 workers are expected to take part in the campaign. Bro. Philip Slate, preacher for the Wembley church, near London, is serving as director of personal work activities.



U.S.A.

The 1965 New York World's Fair opened April 21 and will continue for another six months. During this time, some 1,300 personal workers will assist the Queens Church of Christ in Flushing, site of the fair, in their booth in the Protestant and Orthodox Center. Fair officials estimate at least 40,000,000 will visit the fair; at least 2,000,000 of these will enter the center, and at least half of these will stop by the Church of Christ exhibit.

Planners of the exhibit expect to distribute at least 500,000 pieces of literature concerning the church (none is handed out except to people who ask for it).

In June, churches throughout the Northeastern United States will cooperate in a vast personal work and gospel preaching campaign. The climax of these meetings will be a vast preaching service to be held

THE NEGLECTED NORTH

Take a trip with me up the Alaska Highway, beginning at Edmonton, and the presence of the Lord's church (or lack of it) will amaze you. We receive inquiries several times a year asking where to meet as brethren travel North.

110 miles out is Whitecourt with 2,500 population, but no church. Valleyview, with 1,200 population has none. There is an "instrumental" church in Grand Prairie, a city of 10,708.

Dawson Creek is considered "Mile O" of the Alaska Highway. One family of Christians, the Joe Manns, live in this city of 10,946 people. At this point, we might take a detour to the west and come to Prince George, B.C. Although some Christians live here, no congregation is organized. The population is 30,000 and this is one of western Canada's fastest growing cities.

At Mile 300 on the Alaska Highway we find 3,500 people in Ft. Nelson, but no congregation. There are 1,000 people in Watson Lake, and 8,000 in Whitehorse, Yukon, but still no church until travelers arrive in Alaska!

Gateway to the North

Edmonton is the industrial and communications Gateway to the North. Thus we have a special interest in taking the Gospel into these regions. Last month the first "breakthrough" was made to the north with the beginning of the Westlock congregation.

Our weekly radio program, due to begin April 30th, will be beamed over the airwaves into remote regions of northern Alberta and even into the Northwest Territories and the Yukon.

Towns in Alberta without a congregation include: Camrose, 7,708; Wetaskiwin, 5,966; Ponoka, 4,302; Stettler, 3,895; Drayton Valley, 3,854; Ft. Saskatchewan, 3,766; Edson, 3,643; Wainwright, 3,669; and Vegreville, 3,328. Further north in the province Peace River has 3,318 and Ft. McMurray 2,000.

Travelling up a gravel highway opened last year we come to Yellowknife, Northwest Territories. The population here is 3,650. At Ft. Smith there are 2,100 and Hay River has 1,850 people.

At Uranium City in the far north of Saskatchewan there are 1,750 people.

Western Canada's Vacation Land

Hundreds of thousands of North Americans visit Jasper and Banff National Parks each year, marvelling at such natural beauties as Lake Louise and the Columbia Ice Fields. The townsite of Jasper has a population of 3,500.

Over 5,000 are permanent residents of Banff townsite. Here is a place where tourists come to see the scenery in the Summer and to ski in the Winter. The new Trans-Canada Highway goes through the town. A congregation should be here at the Crossroads of Western Canada. Our cover photo is of the main street in Banff.

NORTH BAY INVADED FOR CHRIST

by Clyde Lansdale

On the week-end of March 27, there was a group of twenty-four workers that launched an attack on North Bay. This effort was planned by the Mission Action Group at Great Lakes Christian College.

They arrived at 12:30 a.m. Friday and after a couple of hours work preparing the material to be distributed the next day, they finally got to bed.

There wasn't much sleep that night because everyone was to meet back at the Lansdell's house by 9:30 Saturday morning to begin distributing the literature.

This literature was made up in packet form and included a letter of introduction, a copy of the tract, "A Better World Begins With Me", and another religious tract by one of our brethren.

Some eight hours later, one of these packets had been placed in 6,000 homes in North Bay. To do this, the town was divided into three sections, each section had a team of six workers and a captain responsible for that area. The other workers were busy in the morning getting the literature ready for distribution. In the afternoon they were divided among the three teams.

On Saturday evening the group met with some of the North Bay church in the home of Brother and Sister Jim Hardage for a sing-song and hot-dogs. Even though everyone was pretty tired, they all joined enthusiastically in the singing period.

The Sunday service was conducted completely by the group. Brother Max Craddock (supervisor of the group) spoke and the young people took charge of the other activities.

After service, everyone stayed at the building for a pot-luck dinner and another hymn-sing, then it was necessary to say goodbye to a group of Christians that had passed our way and left their footprints on the sands of time. All the good that was done will be many years in revealing itself. We have already received phone calls and letters from people who received the literature as well as hearing many personal comments.

Possibly the greatest accomplishment was in the encouragement this group gave to the North Bay Church. Some of us had almost got the idea that we were all by ourselves and then the Lord let us know that He had others that hadn't bowed the knee to modern day Baal.

Thanks should go to many people for making this effort the success it was. Thanks to Brian Boden for doing much of the organizing: to Brother and Sister Max Craddock for coming with the young folks: to the people in North Bay (especially the non-members) for keeping the workers in their home: and thanks to God that gave us the strength we needed to accomplish the task.

We at North Bay heartily commend this fine group of young people. The non-members that helped keep people have all spoken very highly of everyone's behavior.

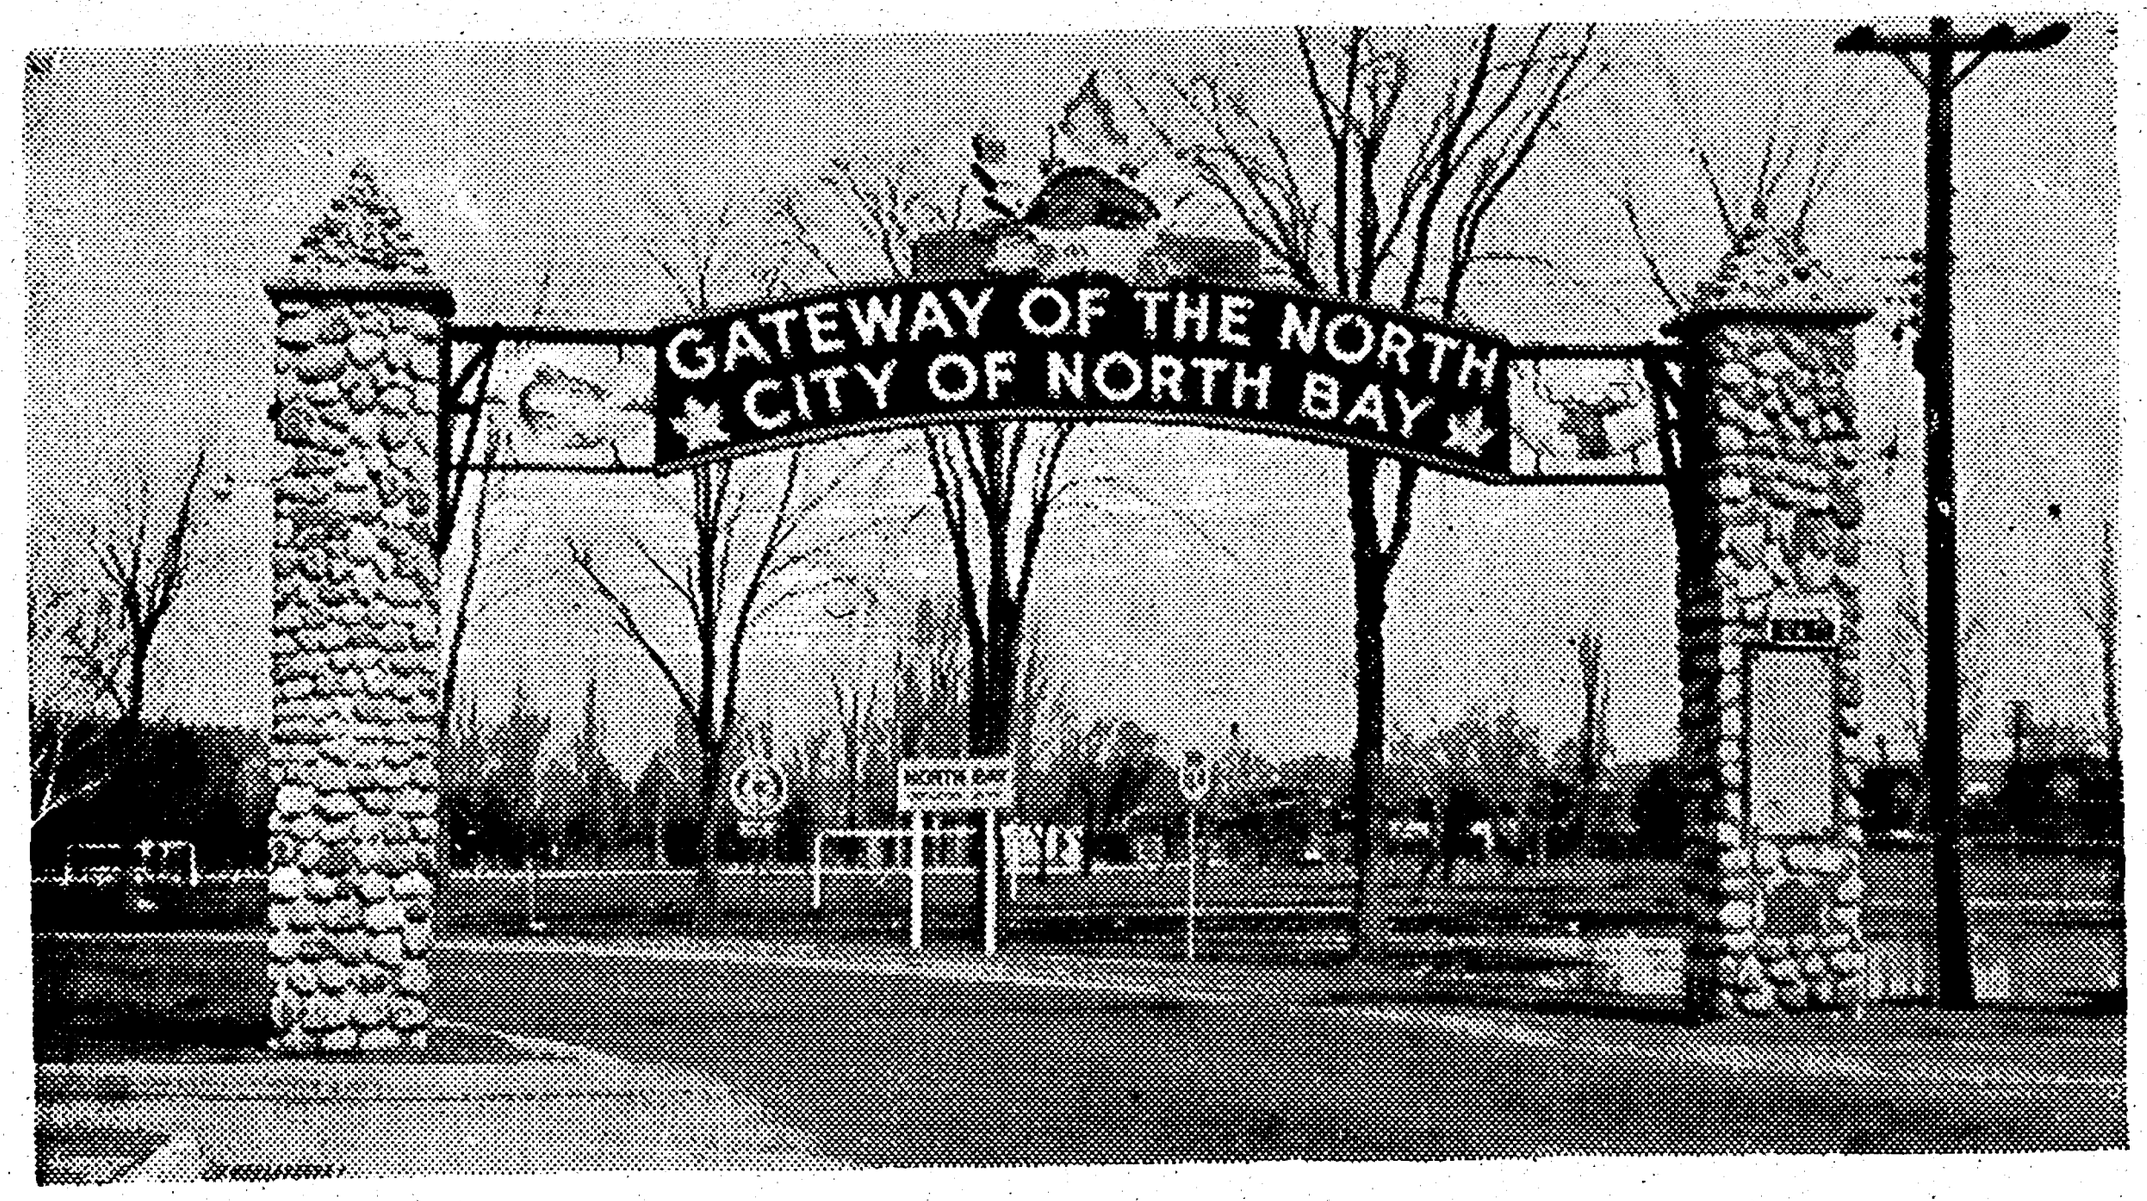
Just to say "Thank you" to all these workers hardly seems adequate but this is all we know to say. The Lord will be able to express it much better than this when he says, "Well done" when this life is over.

Campaign Plans Progress

I have been travelling extensively since the first of March in the interest of the "Gateway Campaign". Brethren throughout Ontario were very encouraging in their reception of our request for help. More than twenty people from Ontario have agreed to come and help us and some $1,500.00 has been given or pledged to assist financially.

Let me share with you one example of how brethren have responded.

Brother Arthur Ford (a student at Great Lakes Christian College) committed himself to come to North Bay for the entire summer to help us. He only wanted $25.00 per week plus his room and board. My wife and I decided that we could look after the room and board if we could find $200.00 to support him for the summer. This was my goal when I visited the church at Meaford, Ontario (Arthur's home congregation). After the meeting there, one brother came and committed himself to give the entire amount. Even though this man is rich from a spiritual standpoint, he isn't from a physical point of view. I had the privilege around 2½ years ago to baptize him and his wife into Christ. From the very beginning they both showed by their lives that indeed Christ had come to their house.



The wife of this christian home died just less than three months ago and left the husband with the responsibility of raising two fine young children. I know that this sacrifice made to preach the Gospel in North Bay will not go unrewarded and this brother, even though he cannot bring his wife back to him, is preparing to go to her.

Will you follow his example and either come yourself or send financially to help someone else come?

We still are in need of both finances and workers. Even though brethren in the United States and Canada have responded generously to our needs, we still are far short of our budget of $10,000.00. This money is needed to help with the travelling expenses of the group from the Freed-Hardeman College and to pay for advertising during the campaign. Some of our planned advertising is listed below: (1) Six full-page ads in the North Bay Nugget (two in colour); (2) On alternate days we will have either 1/3, ¼ or ½ page ads; 3) Every day we plan an eight column inch ad; (4) A daily fifteen minute and five minute radio programme is planned along with 800 spot announcements on radio; (5) An hour long live television programme is planned about half way through the campaign as well as four television ads each day; (6) We hope to rent twelve billboards for the month in the North Bay area; (7) Besides this, we hope to have posters, bumper stickers, car top signs, etc.

Brother John Allen Chalk will be in North Bay June 7-18 to serve as featured speaker each evening of that time. We certainly feel greatly privileged to have him coming. Brother Chalk has preached for congregations in, Prince George, British Columbia, Dayton, Ohio, and Cookeville, Tennessee. He has held fifty eight meetings in nine states and Manitoba since 1955. He served this year as a featured speaker at both the David Lipscomb College

MERGING TO MARCH

Two Toronto churches have announced plans to unite forces. The Maplewood and Fern Avenue congregations plan to sell their present buildings and move to a new location in west Metro Toronto.

The decision to move was prompted by a general feeling among the members that Christ is not being preached to full advantage under existing circumstances. Inadequate classroom facilities and parking space are two more reasons compelling a change. Sister Ivy MacKay of the Maplewood congregation expressed it this way:

When first she stood, so new and trim,
With walls all painted white,
A little wooden meeting-house
Built to shed forth God's light,
About her were the open fields,
In front, an unpaved road;
Folks came for miles in horse-drawn rig,
Or walked, to worship God.

As years passed by the road was paved;
The city larger grew.
The open fields soon disappeared
As buildings came to view.
A larger meeting-house, of brick,
Replaced the one of wood,
With basement for a Sunday School;
Sturdy and strong she stood.

More years have passed. She's now hemmed in.
Apartment houses tall
Obscure what once a landmark was,
Which could be seen by all.
The brick walls now are dark with age,
The members scattered far.
And those who come to worship find
No place to park their car.

The atmosphere has changed as well,
And souls are hard to win.
To hear God's Word and Will proclaimed
Neighbours will not come in.
So, as the Lord His followers told,
"Launch out into the deep!"
With God's help we once more will build,
To wake men from their sleep.

The sale of present properties and the search for a new lot is currently under way and the two congregations will combine for worship when one or both buildings are sold. Meanwhile, members of both congregations look forward to a bold beginning with the combined talents of both churches uniting to perform a better service for their Lord, their community, and themselves.

Nostalgia provides no deterrent to the Christians in these two churches despite the fact that many in the present membership are charter members of the existing congregations; others are proud to be the third and fourth generation of pioneer families. But all are enthusiastic about beginning again, about launching "out into the deep" with a dynamic design to preach a mighty message. May God be glorified!

July 4, American Independence Day, in the Singer Bowl on the fairgrounds. This bowl will seat 18,509. Bro. Jimmy Allen of Searcy, Arkansas, will be the speaker.

Bro. L. Arnold Watson, formerly of Memphis, Tennessee, who is well-known for gospel meetings he has conducted in the Niagara Peninsula area, especially St. Catharines, is director of day-to-day operations of the exhibit.

PAKISTAN

"One was baptized into Christ here in Karachi during the month of March.

"I spent most of the month in meetings in India. March 5-9 I was in Bombay with four baptisms, March 10-18 in Madras with fifteen baptisms, and March 20-28 in Shillong with one being baptized.

"The big news here right now is that the Donald Petty family of Lake Jackson, Texas, have been granted their visas to come to Pakistan to preach the gospel. Lord willing, they will be arriving in the latter part of May and will be living in Lahore.

"April 18-25 Bro. Bob Davidson of Thailand will be here for a meeting. April 26 - May 2 he will be in Lahore, and then go on to India for other meetings. June 9-14 Bro. Frank Pierce of Malaysia will be with us for a short meeting.

Kamzakhup, L. P. Zuan, Ngenkhozam

Report From Shillong

The above picture is that of three young men who were baptized here in Shillong recently. They are college students who are from Manipur, the territory east of here. Their names are Kamzakhup, L. T. Zuan, and Ngenkhozam. Brother Ray McMillan and his wife live now in the area of the colleges here in Shillong. They have been studying with a number of young men there. These are the first fruits of that work. We hope that through this work the gospel may be spread into an area to which we cannot go. Others are studying very seriously their need of getting right with God. Many such young men were baptized as infants or children or as they suppose after they were already saved.

Brother J. C. Choate of Karachi, Pakistan is with us here in Shillong for a little over a week. First he preached here in Mawlai for six days. The average attendance at the meetings here has been 69 counting children. The high was 119 on the final night with a low of 40 on the first night (not announced as part of the special effort). At this time brother Choate is in Laitumkhrah section preaching in the home of the McMillans. He came here from Madras and Bombay. We appreciate his straight forward presentation of the Gospel.

Report From Madras

March 25, 1965: The work of the Lord continues to proper in South India. During the month of March we had a meeting with Brother J. C. Choate of Pakistan. We also had a visit from Brother K. V. George of the state of Kerala. We hope in the not too distant future to make a trip to Kerala and visit the work in that state.

Yesterday we returned from a three day trip into the interior of the Andhra Pradesh. One village we visited, where one of our workers had prepared the soil, we found a village with no one that professed to be a Christian, but 25 were baptized into Christ. In all there were 77 baptized in the three days to bring the total to 1533 that have obeyed the gospel since we entered the Madras area.

I leave tonight for a trip into the Kakinada district of Andhra Pradesh. We are looking forward to the coming of the Johnson family from Winnipeg in about two months now.

"WINDSOR FOR CHRIST" CAMPAIGN

The Curry Ave. Church of Christ in Windsor, Ontario, is planning the greatest single effort in it's history. For the three weeks between June 28 and July 18, Windsor will be, to the best of our ability, "saturated" with the gospel. The city of Windsor itself, has a population of nearly one hundred and twenty thousand souls. In an effort to reach as many of these people as we can with the gospel of Christ, the following plans have been set forth. During the weeks mentioned above, there will be a three weeks gospel meeting. The preaching will be done by three different brethren, each one an excellent speaker. The three are: Brother E. C. Meadows, of Huntingdon, Tennessee; Brother Don Deffenbaugh, of Neosho Missouri; and Brother Bobby Key, of Miami, Oklahoma. Both Brother Meadows and Brother Deffenbaugh have held meetings in Ontario before.

To supplement the preaching of the gospel, Brother Owen Olbricht, of Lamar Missouri has agreed to come and direct the personal work during the three weeks of the meeting. With Brother Olbricht will be his team of thirteen students of Harding College, in Searcy, Arkansas. Brother Olbricht and his team are experienced in this work, having baptized seventy - five in similar campaigns last summer. Their work will be primarily "house to house" throughout the city.

We, at the Curry Avenue church of Christ feel that this effort will be a great blessing to the church here. We feel that to work together in a great effort like this will not only bless our community, but our congregation as well. A considerable expense is involved in housing our workers, and in their transportation. Our speakers are coming supported by their local congregations. We wish to thank those congregations that have already helped us financially. We wish to thank those congregations that have already helped us financially; and, as we still have need for more help, we invite any others to join with us in this effort. Above all, we solicit the prayers of all our sister congregations, so that the Kingdom here might be enlarged. Your brethren in Christ from Windsor salute you.

ed by $700.00, and with our regular support assured by two Congregations in Texas, "Kennedy, Texas has promised $100.00 per month and the "Sunset" Congregation in Dallas, at 2442 W. Jefferson Blvd. Texas, has promised to look after the other $400.00, we surely feel that THE LORD HAS MADE ALL GRACE ABOUND!

We still have a problem to overcome, however. We will be in dire NEED of some means of transportation after we get to India. Bro. Bailey has advised us to TRY to bring a jeep. He suggested a second-hand one, but this is nigh IMPOSSIBLE to obtain, without paying very close to the price of a new one. Every dealer with whom we have discussed the problem, without exception, has advised us to take a new one and have it shipped direct from the factory. By doing this we will be able to get a new one at the same price, or even cheaper than if we bought a second-hand one and had it shipped from Canada.

The price of such a vehicle, and one that is recommended for that particular terrain, by the time it gets into India will be well over $5000.00. However, if we are to do an effective work a dependable means of transportation, and one that will give us the least trouble, will be the cheapest in the long run, and each one in turn advises us to be SURE to buy a new one, if possible.

For those who may not be acquainted with the reason for shipping a vehicle from outside the country, let us say that, "It is extremely hard to obtain a decent vehicle in the Madras area, and when you can the price is exorbitant. It is our hope to be able to take, what we feel will be the cheapest and most serviceable in the long run.

We are writing all those who have contributed to our travel fund, "since it was completed", asking permission to use these extra funds in the purchase of "SOME means of transportation". We trust that all will be agreeable.

So Brethren, if you want us to be able to do the most for the cause in India, and to be able to make the very best use of our time, will you not help us to obtain a suitable vehicle in time to start in high gear as soon as we arrive in India?

May we again, THANK EVERY INDIVIDUAL who has helped with our MUCH-NEEDED funds, and May the Lord bless EVERYONE is our prayer. We still HOPE to be able to leave from Winnipeg by May 1st. All funds in Canada, after that date should be sent and made payable to, ("Arthur H. Beamish" Ste. 320—81 Roslyn Road, Winnipeg 13, Manitoba, Canada.) Anyone contributing from the U.S.A. should send their funds to the ("Sunset Church of Christ" 2442 W. Jefferson Blvd. Dallas, Texas, 75211, U.S.A.) All funds should be specified for "The J. A. Johnson's in India".

Brethren, Please Pray for us, that we may be the means in His service of saving many precious souls in India.

P.S.— After we get to India we will put out a News-Letter which will include our financial statements.

Yours Sincerely, In His Service,
J. A. and EVA JOHNSON

Our 1965 Program

We recently began a daily five-minute radio program at 9:45 a.m., which is creating a good response. Brother Jim Hawkins held a meeting for us April 11-16. A Vacation Bible School and Bible Camp is planned for July. We will attempt our first Exhibition Display in August and look with great anticipation to the L. O. Sanderson Singing School August 18-25.

The four men instructing in this school combine to provide Canadian Christians the finest talent in the brotherhood. We are making arrangements to allow several hundred Christians to share their instruction. Adequate camping facilities are available as well as modern motels. Motel reservations should be made early.

CAMPAIGN SCHEDULED FOR JAMESTOWN, N.Y.

A campaign for Christ is being planned in Jamestown, New York for July 21-31. About fifty workers are expected to participate in a concentrated effort to reach South-western New York's largest city.

Truman E. Spring of Houston, Texas will do the preaching in the public evangelistic efforts. Bob Connel, also of Houston, Texas will direct the singing. There will be six nights of preaching. These services are scheduled for July 22-28.

An advertising budget of $1,700 has been planned. Spring has been travelling among Texas congregations in an effort to raise the proposed budget. This budget will be supplemented by $600 a month the Jamestown congregation has been spending on advertising since last July.

Forty to fifty workers from Texas and Oklahoma are expected to participate in the campaign. Their work will be supplemented by help from brethren in the New York and Pennsylvania area.

Workers are expected to come from Baytown, Houston, Tomball, and Austin, Texas. Other cities will also be represented. Workers in the Austin area are planning to charter a bus to Jamestown.

The Jamestown congregation had its first meeting on July 12, 1964. Jim Sheerer, Charles Williams, and Norman Bales serve the congregatios on a full time basis.

lectureship and the Abilene Christian College lectureship. He is the speaker for the New Herald of Truth television series and was recently in Winnipeg, Manitoba to assist the brethren there in their campaign. Besides this he is the minister for the Cookeville, Tennessee church of Christ. Somewhere in between all these responsibilities he has found time to write several good books. I am sure that our Campaign will be aided greatly by his presence.

Tennessee in February, 1964.

There was one baptism in August, 1964. In September, we moved here to work with the church. Our present membership is 15, with an average attendance of 32. Two of our fine young members (Ken Nerland and Gary Zorn) are attending Western Christian College.

In addition to the Lord's Day services, we have a ladies Bible class on Tuesday night, mid-week Bible study Thursday night, and a men's training class on Saturday night.

Publication Mailed Out

Several hundred copies of Bible Pathways are mailed out each month to residents of the area. This is a 12 page printed booklet designed to teach non-members. Brother Charles Littrell (Calgary preacher) and I edit and print the paper. The churches in Calgary and Medicine Hat also mail out copies. Each have their own distinctive name for the paper along with their address and time of worship. Each congregation pays for the printing and mailing of the number of copies it uses. We believe that teaching in this manner is an effective means of preaching the gospel and will open some doors for further teaching both publicly and privately.

We plan to completely rebuild and enlarge our present meeting place in the near future if we can arrange for a loan of about $7000. During 1965, we are planning two gospel meetings — one in June and one in October.

When in Lethbridge, we invite you to meet with us at 2720 21st Ave. S.

in preaching. They are presently having a family in their home for Bible studies. He has already assisted in the conversion of several.

Westlock is a promising location for the Lord's work. Population has increased in the past five years from 1,838 to 2,447. It is an active farm center with auction barns, and has a weekly newspaper. Brother Gault operates one of Alberta's largest Honey-bee Apiaries.

HERE AND THERE

Jeal, Prince Albert, taught daily Bible classes. Both spoke in chapel and counselled students having questions. Their presence was a tremendous impact upon us. The messages they brought drew us all nearer the cross.

Saturday evening brought young people from several points to the campus for a program aimed at youth. One of the new York College Foundation films on "Dancing" was shown which features George Bailey preaching. A panel discussion followed with good interest.

Those baptized were from homes not previously in connection with the church. We urge your prayers that these may stand for the Lord.

We plan a workshop June 7 with the theme, "The Eldership."

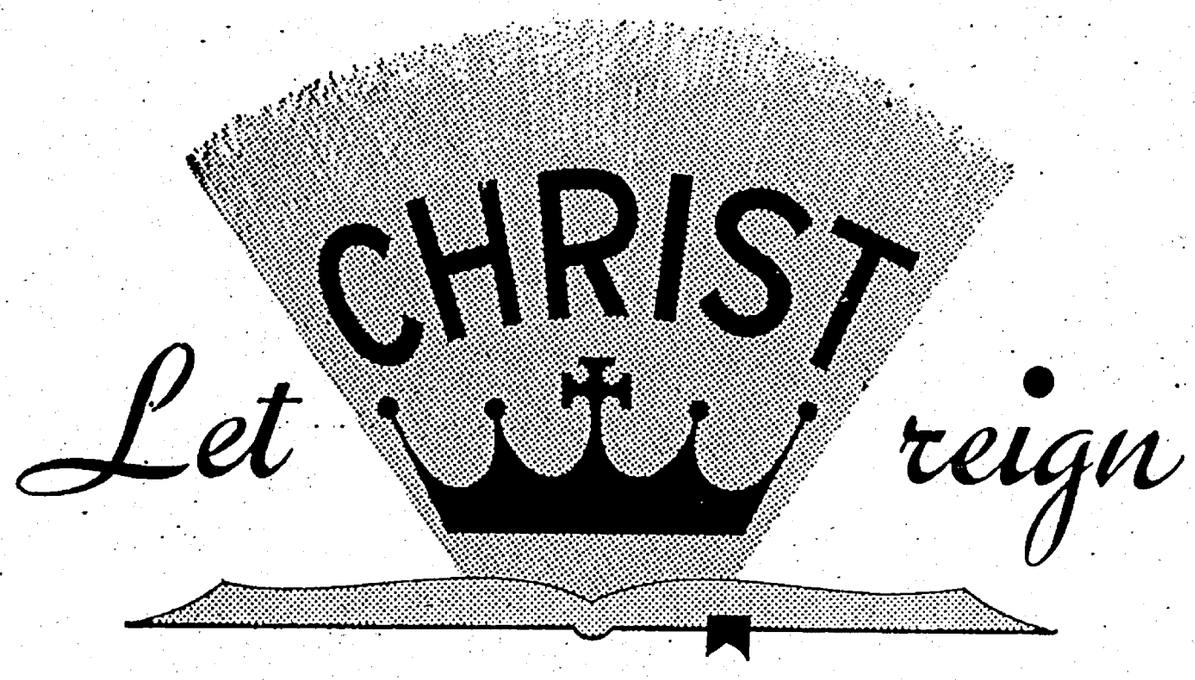
W.C.C. Alumni selected Lynn Anderson of Lepanto, Arkansas as Alumnus of the Year of 1964. During the past seven years he has held 42 gospel meetings with 557 public responses. He plans to move to Kelowna, B.C. in July. The alumni gave over $7,000 to W.C.C. in 1964.

Westlock, Alta.: Meetings began here on March 21 at 6 p.m. at the Clyde Gault home. Walter Rogers reports 12 present each of the first two weeks.

Salmon Arm, B.C.: This 23 member church plans a meeting June 6-13 with Bruce Tretreau of Moose Jaw. V.B.S. July 5-10.

Victoria, B.C.: Jim Hawkins spent April in meetings in Saskatchewan and Manitoba as follows: April 4, Dauphin; 11, Lloydminster; 18, Wawota and 25 Portage La Prairie.

Nanaimo, B.C.: A new baptistry is being installed in the meeting house.



THE NEGLECTED NORTH

north now lies before you. We ask you to pray about the need, and help us find workers to come to these places. Help us to preach the Gospel by radio. Perhaps Bible Correspondence Courses could be advertised in the newspapers of these towns. Now is the time to act!

Four hundred and eighty-one years before Christ, the greatest army ever marshalled in the history of carnal warfare set out from Persia toward Greece. It is variously estimated to have numbered about eight hundred thousand men gathered from forty-nine different nations. This campaign, under Xerxes as its commander-in-chief, was doomed to defeat by the heroic efforts of the Greeks under Leonidas. Such must ever be the end of all campaigns undertaken solely for self and depending upon mere human strength.

A "Campaign for Christ" is a much more glorious idea. It is an undertaking in which every Christian can have a part, and which has for its object the conquest of the whole world for Christ. The churches of Christ today now number well over two million souls and have for their commander-in-chief, Jesus, "the captain of our salvation."

Wherein does a campaign for Christ differ from a gospel meeting? Neither phrase is found specifically in the New Testament but the concept is entirely scriptural. Paul says, "The weapons of our warfare are not carnal but mighty through God to the casting down of strong holds" (2 Cor. 10:4). The Christian life is a constant warfare against the forces of evil in whatever form they present themselves. Vacation Bible schools, gospel meetings, teacher training series, and campaigns for Christ are phases employing differing strategy in the same warefare.

PERSONAL EVANGELISM

"Windsor For Christ" Campaign

We have made a few reports in the past to the readers of the Gospel Herald about our forthcoming "Windsor For Christ" Campaign, but it gives us exceptional pleasure to be a part of this special issue of the Herald devoted to Campaigns throughout our great Province. Contentment with our numerical size and spiritual depth not only contributes to stagnation but eventually leads to the slow but certain decease of the congregation. We are learning that to be passive may be peaceful but it is also deadly; while on the other hand, to be active may be tiring but it is also healthful. And so to the facts.

The church of Christ has existed in the city of Windsor for some forty years and to the credit of the brethren here it must be said that many fine efforts, and many long hours have gone into the work of the Lord here. The congregation has in the past, and now has excellent leadership. Through the foresight of these leaders many fine gospel meetings have been conducted with good results by some of Canada's most powerful evangelists. Visitation, radio and newspaper advertising, and other means have been used to put the simple message of Jesus before the people of this city. An excellent Bible School is maintained, and it is necessary to charter a city bus each Lord's Day to pick up and return home the many children attending that have no other affiliation with the church.

But we feel that even more must be done—greater efforts must be made to lead more of our citizens to a saving knowledge of King Jesus. And with this in mind, the "Windsor for Christ" Campaign was conceived. Over a year and a half ago, Ray L. Miller, the local evangelist, talked with three brethren from the south about the possibilities of a great effort for Christ. Those three, E. C. Meadows, of Huntingdon, Tennessee; Don Deffenbaugh, of Neosho, Missouri; and Bobby Key of Miami, Oklahoma agreed to come. Each of them received the encouragement of his local congregation, and these congregations have agreed to send them at their expense. At least one of these congregations will also be sending along a good supply of tracts to be used in the effort. Shortly after the decision was made to conduct such an effort, Brother

Bro. Owen Olbricht

Don Deffenbaugh contacted Owen Olbricht, the preacher at Lamar, Missouri, to come and take charge of the personal work. Bro. Olbricht agreed to come to Windsor, even though it meant turning down an invitation to work in a similar capacity at the N Y Worlds' Fair those same weeks. Out of over one hundred that applied to be a part of his team, Bro. Olbricht his carefully selected fifteen to accompany him. This team will be holding similar efforts in various places throughout the summer. Last year, seventy five were baptized and thirteen restored to active duty through the efforts of Bro. Olbrichts' team. Needless to say, we are looking forward to great things along these lines here in Windsor. Olbrichts' team will be at work during all three of the weeks of the Campaign, and have set their sights on two thousand contacts per week. Bro. Olbricht has written his own material for use in these efforts. These have been printed and are on sale for general use. Profits from their sale will help finance his work this summer. He may be contacted at 1401 Cherry, Lamar, Missouri, should you care to use his material in your own work.

To help in the expenses that would naturally be involved in the travelling, etc. of sixteen people over the country in these various campaigns, Bro. Olbricht has asked each congregation involved to make an effort to raise one thousand dollars. May it just be noted in passing that any one reading these lines and wishing to be a part of this great effort in Windsor, may feel free to contribute any amount to help us make up the total.

For some six months the congregation here sponsored a radio programme called "Words of Life" over radio station CJSP in Leamington, Ontario. Although we received some favourable comment, it was thought that the expense did not warrant it's continuance. It is our intention, therefore, to use the local newspaper almost exclusively in our adverising. We have found this to be the most successful means in the past.

While our campaign may seem small compared to some others with reference to money spent and number of workers involved, we feel that the length of the concentrated effort and the devotion and training of the workers (they are meeting each week now to make ready) will still render our work successful. Here in Windsor the effort is being kept before the membership and special meetings are to be conducted to "stir us up" to the task. Especially we should and will invoke the blessing of our Heavenly Father, for by His help we cannot but be victorious, but without it — we are already doomed to failure.

We are asking you, dear reader, to pray fervently for the "Windsor for Christ" campaign, as well as all other similar efforts to extend the borders of the Kingdom. May the summer of '65 be long remembered as a turning point for the church in Canada!

Fenwick and Port Colborne Campaign

JUNE 14-25

by Max Craddock

THEME:

"Christ For The World" will be the theme for the campaign to proclaim Christ that is planned for the Fenwick — Port Colborne, Ontario area this summer. This theme has been chosen because of the questions raised in recent months by "leading religionists" concerning the being of Jesus Christ, God's Son and our Saviour.

PLANNING:

Plans for this endeavour have been in the making since June of last year. A group of preachers in Stark County, Ohio expressed an interest in coming to help in a campaign to proclaim Christ in this area.

While in Ohio holding meetings in August I met with an interested group of preachers and church leaders and talked with them about helping with such an effort. Their response was such that we knew we could gain the support needed to see our ideas through. We set goals of 120 workers and $2500.00 for the campaign and set the dates of June 14-25, 1965.

In December I made another trip south and talked with brethren in Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky about our plans. This trip was a success both in money raised and workers committed.

SPEAKERS:

The speakers for the campaign will be Brothers W. L. Craddock of Massillon, Ohio (Fenwick) and Bill Heinselman of Canton, Ohio (Port Colborne). Both these men have had much experience in proclaiming the truth of God's Word and we're sure they will do a good job for Christ here. Their home congregations are sponsoring these men in their work with us. Both these men will be speaking at the June Meeting on the 13th as well.

Bro. W. L. Craddock

Bro. Bill Heinselman

JUNE MEETING:

The June Meeting this year will be held on June 13th at the E. L. Crossley School on No. 20 Highway near Fonthill, Ontario. Besides our two campaign speakers we will have Brother Stanley McInery for one of the services of this meeting. We believe the June Meeting Sunday will be a real good way to start into our campaign.

ADVERTISING:

By way of advertising we are planning to use street banners, highway signs, posters in public buildings and in cars, newspapers, Gospel Herald, handbills, and radio. In fact the Fenwick town council has given permission for us to attach directional signs on the poles below the stop signs where needed. We have also received permission to put a street banner above the highway in the town square.

A five minute radio programme will be aired daily over the radio station, C-HOW, in Welland. This programme will feature the two speakers of the campaign in lessons vital to the times. Also we will have announcements daily about the campaign. On top of this the radio station has promised us some extra announcements daily, over and above the ones we are paying for.

We are using two newspapers for advertising. We plan to have $65.00 ads, about ½ page, in the Welland paper on June 12 and 19. Then there will be ads every other day in the Welland paper throughout the campaign. The Welland paper has 14,784 subscribers in the area we are going to cover. Then we plan to put two $35.00 ads in the St. Catharines paper. It has a circulation of 565 in the area around Fenwick and Port Colborne.

NEEDS:

We still need some workers that can come for one, or more, days and help in the door to door work. If you live close enough to our area to drive in for a day, or want to come and stay longer, please contact me at P.O. Box 90, Fenwick, Ontario. Also we invite you to attend the services each evening in either Fenwick or Port at 8:00 p.m.

Let us all remember to pray daily for all the efforts to teach Christ planned in our land this summer.

SPECIAL MEETING AT IVON AVENUE

A special meeting for church members in the Hamilton area was held at the Ivon Avenue building, April 6 to 9th.

The meeting was well attended and a great deal of interest was shown in the theme "Challenges For The Church."

Max Craddock, David Johnson, Ralph Perry and James Carter as speakers did a splendid job of presenting the challenges of "The Purpose of Christian Action, Personal Involvement in Christian Action, The Means of Christian Action and Collective Action For Community Evangelism.

As in most meetings of this type the real problem remains. How may exhortation and encouragement be translated into useful productive church activities? —Walter Dale

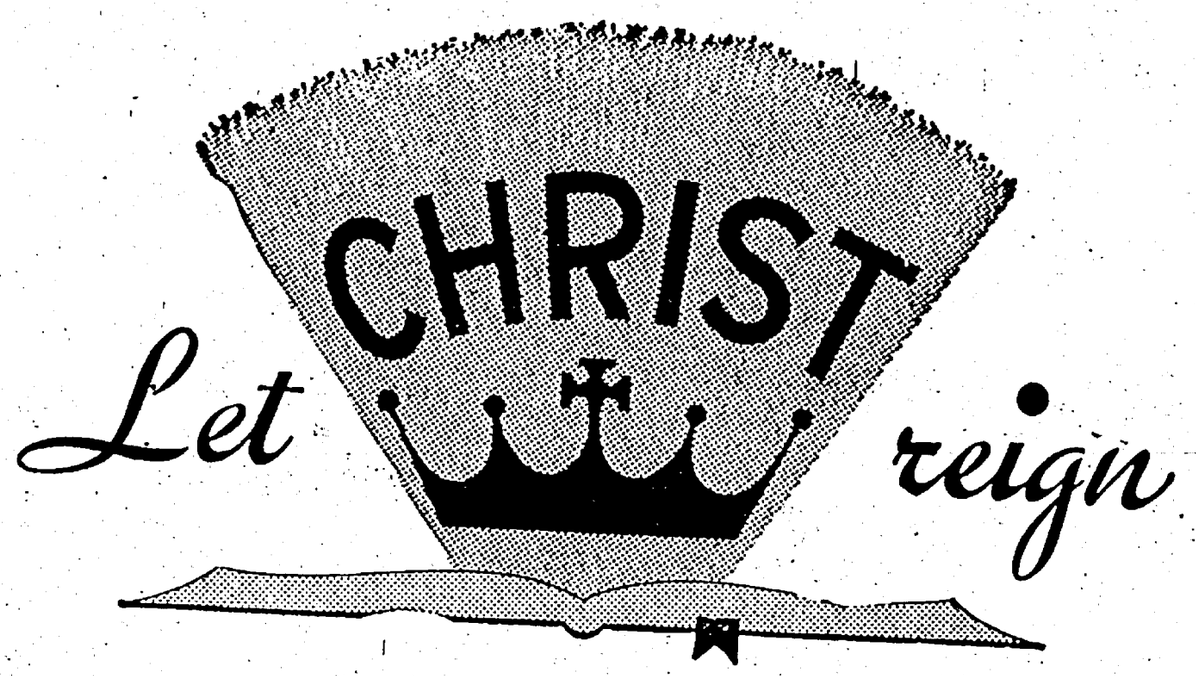
(Editor's Note: In view of the great amount of activity taking place during June, July and August, in the nature of special Campaigns with large groups of workers participating, Brother Wesley Jones of Barrie volunteered to edit this special issue of the GOSPEL HERALD. The time factor has prevented this from being as thorough as was intended. Reports of this type of activity in the west had not arrived in time for press date so Brother Jones has turned in what he had. We appreciate his fine efforts and in recognition of them give him space on the editorial page. E.C.P.)

Again this year the four congregations in the Heartland of Ontario are co-operating in a special campaign. Comprehensive plans based upon our belief that the Holy Spirit will move and work through us and the Written Word, will consumate in special activities on June 9-27.

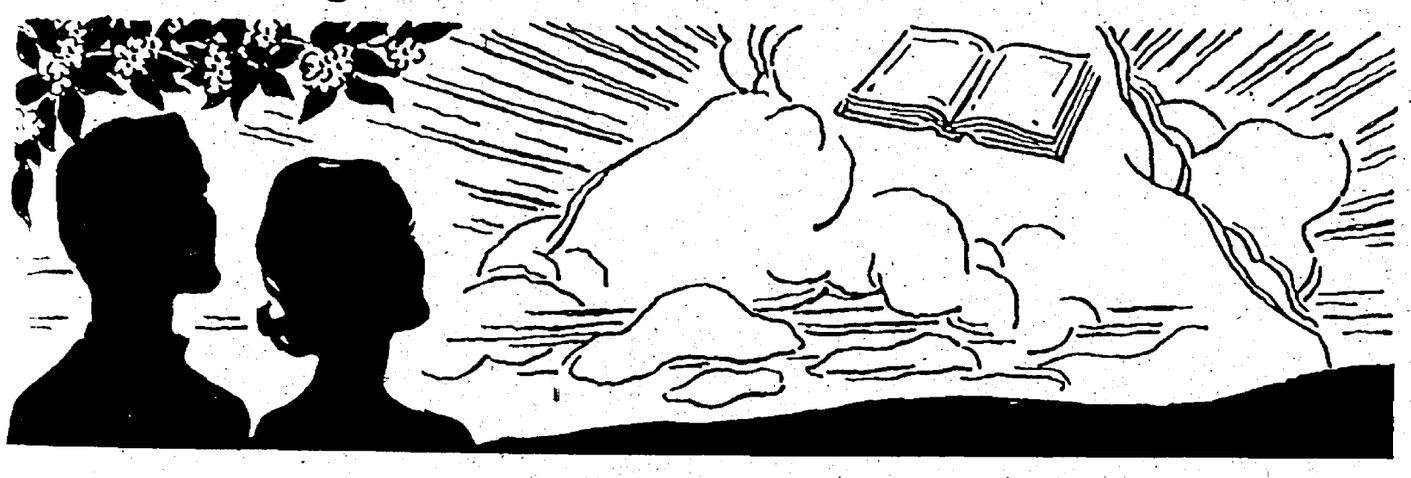
Churches at Collingwood, Barrie, Newmarket and Pine Orchard are gearing for a common and thorough effort to preach Christ in their respective communities. The four churches cooperated in such an effort in 1964. The outside help that year was led by brethren Bob Bryson and Howard Wakefield of Valdosta, Georgia. These same two brehren whose labours were so inspirational and successful last year will again lead the effort. The four churches are listing every possible resource that they might contribute the most to the campaign. Even the man-hours to be contributed are counted. Some will take their holiday to work with the visiting campaigners. Many will offer living space and meals and will join in the door-to-door work as well as the prayers.

PRE-CAMPAIGNING



The campaign leaders will be joined by a large group of brethren from Georgia, Texas, Kentucky and Michigan. Pre-campaign planning has included special bulletins mailed throughout Ontario as well as into the U.S. A number of workers are expected from Ontario this year, and by the special bulletins we have attempted to excite others. A series of business and committee meetings have been conducted since mid-winter by the four congregations in which we have prayed for and studied together the means of organizing all of our forces. It has been kept constantly before us that we are labourers together with God, and that for this reason we are not limited to our human abilities and judgments. Ground work has now been laid for a very thorough advertizing programme, and a special event is planned for May 30. At three o'clock that afternoon the four churches will gather at the Barrie Church to hear Dave Hearn, Jr., of Buffalo, New York. We expect Brother Hearn's message to erase all symptoms of spiritual fatigue and to motivate us to the very highest state of expectancy and enthusiasm.

ADVERTISING



Visual advertising will be built around a special symbol which you may see included in this article using the words "LET CHRIST REIGN". This symbol was especially designed by Brother Jody Boren of Fidelity Press in Abilene, Texas, for our campaign. It will appear in the street banners, in television advertising, in the newspaper, on bumper stickers, and in mass mailing. All of these methods will be used in advertising the campaign anl will get underway with force about June 1. However, thousands of pieces of literature will have been mailed to the homes of the four areas before campaign time. These will be simple pieces, using the campaign "trademark" and the dates June 13-20. These are the dates of the night meetings.

Radio and television advertising will be built around a stanza of "Come Thou Almighty King". You

Campaigns For Christ — And You

Young people, while we are devoting this issue of the Gospel Herald to the various campaigns for Christ throughout this coming summer, we want to bring before you the stark reality that you may contribute forcibly to these efforts to win souls to Christ. The young people here in Windsor, Ontario conceived of the idea entirely on their own to work in advance of the campaigners by passing out announcements of our meeting. You too can serve wherever you live. With brave hearts (and young legs) you can add mightily to the work of your congregation this summer, whether it is planning a campaign or not. In the North Bay effort there will be many young folks, working under the direction of Steve May, of the Omagh, Ont. congregation, we are sure in an effective way.

We commend heartily the consecration of all you young folks that are working in the service of the Master. What a fine example you are setting for those older folks that are not as active as they ought to be! Your zeal is an indication of greater things for the church in Canada in the future. Let us resolve to stay here in Canada, your native land, for truly here the "fields are white unto harvest and the labourers are few". On to great things in 1965!

As A Father Sees It

by Warren T. Whitelaw, Niagara Falls, Ontario

The years between twelve and twenty present many problems. They also afford many challenges and opportunities.

Most teenagers live in a world with many pressures. Pressures from teachers, friends, pressures brought about from school activities etc. And of course, pressures from parents. It is an age of decision. During these years many of our patterns are set. For the first time many are faced with the decision of "values". What is right, and what is wrong? "I must decide", not my parents or teachers.

During these years Christian young people must make many decisions. Is it right to dance? Others date at an early age . . . why not me? Should I go steady at fourteen? Why can't I go here, or there? All these questions and many more are magnified because many non-Christian friends engage in these activities. If we take a good look, we will soon see that many of these things lead to early or necessary marriages, divorce and broken-hearted lives.

As the father of four Christian young people, in this age group, I can see the price they say for principle. They don't dance, go to, or do many of the things non-Christian schoolmates do. Their friendships are limited to a few and their school activities become fewer. I speak of course, of the three that attend public and secondary community schools. The oldest girl attends Great Lakes Christian College and finds it a great blessing in her life. The next girl goes to the local high school. She was interested in Drama, but felt it necessary to drop this activity because much vulgar language was allowed in the plays. Yes, when you stand for that which is right you'll have to make certain sacrifices. But, believe me, it's worth it!

Young people, when you make a tough decision which involves sacrifice, and you do this because you know it's right, you gain inward strength and maturity which cannot be taken from you. You will also gain the respect of adults, teachers, and even classmates, although they may hesitate to tell you or show it. But what is vastly more important . . . you will gain he respect of God. You can have no better feeling than the feeling that comes from doing "right"!

Don't think that you must do everything others do, merely because others do it. You're not a mistrable failure if you're not going steady or dating at thirteen or fourteen. Most of the early marriages, heart-broken young lives and divorces stem from this sort of thing. Don't take my word for it, look around.

Spend some of your extra time with a good hobby, cultivate the association of other Christian young people. If your congregation is small, then plan to take in the activities at other places. Save your money for a week or two at camp.

Take your responsibility at home and in the church. A responsible adult is not formed overnight, at the age of twenty-one. Some young adults can take more responsibility than others . . . because they took more responsibility as teenagers. Responsibility is the acid test in growing up. Do you get up without a battle in the morning? Do you make your bed, or are you a special guest in your house? Do you hang up your clothes, or leave them for the "maid"? Do you volunteer for jobs? Do you see the job that needs doing or must you be told? Is it a project to get you home on time from a date?

What about the church? Are you trying to lead other young people to Christ? Do you invite them to your activities? Do you volunteer for some of the jobs that must be done? What jobs you ask: Cleaning around the building. Communion trays must be filled and washed. Snow must be shoveled and grass must be cut. Young people get sick and appreciate a visit. Bulletin printing and mailing takes time for someone. This summer there will be a dozen "Campaigns for Christ" in Canada.

'Campaign Niagara'

by Warren Whitelaw

"Campaign Niagara" is a series of organized planned actions to share Christ and the teachings of the Bible with the peoples of Niagara Falls, Ontario.

1. TRAINING PROGRAMME: On June 24 and 25 an extensive training programme will be held at Great Lakes Christian College in Beamsville. Rodney Spaulding, Personal Work Director of West Islip, Long Island will be the featured speaker.

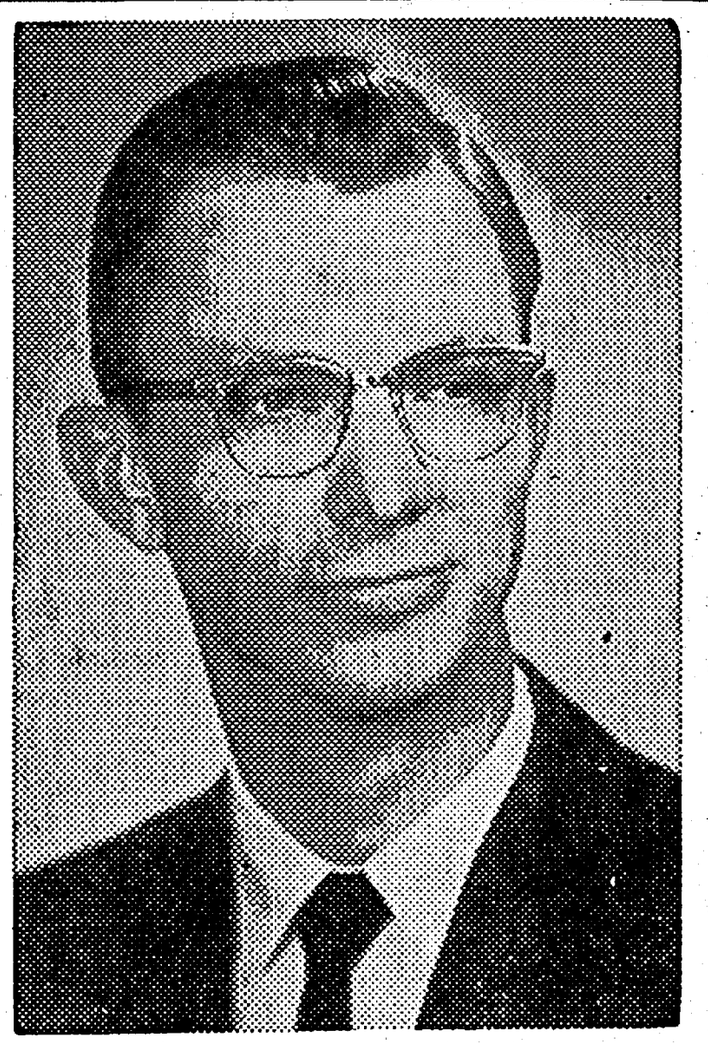
2. CANVASS OF THE AREA: Beginning on June 28th we will canvass the entire city of some 54,000 peoples giving special attention to the immediate residential areas and our Vacation Bible School enroll ment. Millard Loftis, Evangelist of the Redford church in Detroit, Michigan will be in charge of this effort.

3. VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL: Our Bible School will be conducted in the Orchard Park Public School just north of our building on Dorchester Road N. Arnold Pylkas of Plymouth, Michigan will be the Bible School Principal assisted by his wife. Brother Pylkas is principal of a 900 pupil school in Michigan. A huge "horse and wagon" parade through town will conclude a week of canvassing for V.B.S.

Featured with the regular V.B.S. will be special classes: (a) Teenage students taught by Allen Killom, evangelist of Trenton, Michigan. (b) Ladies training by Mrs. A. Killom and (c) Personal Work training by Ed Boring, evangelist of Wayne, Michigan.

4. GOSPEL PREACHING: One of the outstanding evangelists of Ontario, L. Wesley Jones will preach each day July 11-16. Many people are coming to help us during each week of the campaign. There is work for all who wish to help and training will be provided during the entire campaign.

Brother Boring will be available for instruction and guidance of workers throughout the day during this week and throughout the following week of gospel meetings.



Bro. Boring

5. FOLLOW-UP: A number of workers who could not come during the first portion of the campaign are planning to help us in the vital "follow-up work", July 18-30.

Campaign Niagara will be known

Campaign Report – Port Arthur, Fort William

by Eldon Mimms

Bro. Roy Merritt

The 1965 summer months are expected to bring much glory to the Lord and His Kingdom in Port Arthur-Fort William, Ontario. Summer plans have been made that should result in a very fruitful and fitting conclusion to the first year of this congregation's existence.

Campaign Highlights Activities

At least seventy persons plan to take part in a special two-week evangelistic effort in the Lakehead, scheduled July 5 through July 18. About fifty of these workers will come from two congregations in the states—the Casa View congregation in Mesquite, Texas and the Macon Road congregation in Memphis, Tennessee. Brother Wayne Smith, preacher for the Casa View congregation, will serve in a key position in the campaign as director and organizer of personnel.

Nightly preaching services will be held from July 11-18, though there yet remains some uncertainty about who will do the speaking. There is a desperate need in the Lakehead, as in most places, for a forceful and logical demonstration of the wisdom in returning to fundamental New Testament Christianity. These nightly services should be a successful step in that direction.

Plans have been made to use almost every available means of advertising prior to and during the campaign, including radio and television spots, teaching articles and advertisements in the two major newspapers, distribution of tracts and brochures in area homes, and word-of-mouth invitations by the campaign workers. Although some house to house visiting will be done by the workers in both cities, this year's campaign will place the greater emphasis on the city of Fort William.

Mimms And Merritt Work As Team

Since the early planning stages of the "Target: Canada" project, those involved have intended that two preachers be employed to labor in the Lakehead area. In June of 1964 Brother Roy Merritt moved his family to Port Arthur and began work as the first gospel preacher there.

Bro. Eldon Mimms

On April 6, 1965, the Eldon Mimms family, supported by the Casa View congregation in Mesquite, Texas, arrived at the Lakehead to add their full-time efforts to those of the Merritts. Brother Mimms, his wife Charlene, and their twin daughters are living in Fort William. Mimms and Merritt will work as a team, and expect to accomplish a great deal more than they could separately.

Building Program Begun

After many months of anxious waiting, the Lakehead congregation is seeing the first material evidence of its much-needed building. Several months ago the congregation purchased, very economically, two acres of property in Fort William, and began making plans to erect a building there. Now, largely through the financial backing of the Hillcrest congregation in Abilene, Texas, excavation has begun on the grounds.

The building will be very strategically placed on one of the main traffic arteries from Fort William to Port Arthur. It is located in the center of a huge new housing area, and is within a few blocks of several new schools.

The building will seat about 200 people in its auditorium, and is expected to cost approximately $50,000.

Brother Mike Bachuk, of Hamilton, Ontario, is subcontractor for the project. He expects the building to be finished by the end of August.

Another great boost has been given the Lakehead work in the promise by a Seagoville, Texas congregation to send $300 per month there, to be used as a fund for advertising, distribution of literature, etc. This is expected to set the work there ahead by several years.

Campaign "Follow-Up"

From July 31 to August 7, the Lakehead congregation plans to operate a booth at the local exhibition. Rental space has been applied for in the major exhibit building on the exhibition grounds. Ideas are being entertained for the most effective way of using this booth to the Lord's glory. This effort will be very timely, since it so closely follows the July campaign.

The members of the Lakehead congregation feel, after several years of planning and praying, that the fields there are "white unto harvest," and that the reapers are prepared to gather. If the Lord is willing, 1965 should be an important milestone in the progress of His Church in Northwestern Ontario.

As A Father Sees It

Many of these efforts would welcome your help.

Finally, make wise decisions, accept your responsibilities, and may God bless you with a full, happy and useful life.

HERE AND THERE

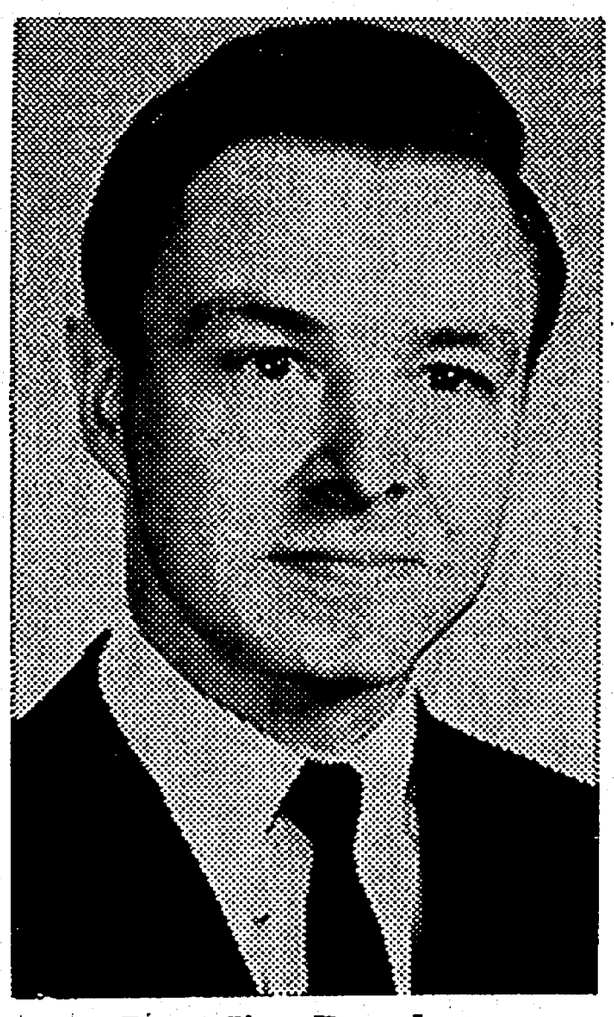
Glencoe, Ont.: Norman Midgette reports that there were visitors present at every service with over fifty different visitors. One was baptized and others showed a real interest.

Newmarket, Ont.: About 150 were present for the parents night on April 10.

An Island For God

by Brodie Harrell

Manitoulin in the Indian language means "God's Island." The church at Ice Lake intends to convert this into a fact as well as words. Christian students from the University of Alabama, the University of Tennessee, and possibly the University of Auburn (Alabama) plan to come in August to assist us in making this prayer come true. They did a beautiful job last year and we expect even greater results this fall.



One major reason for such success was remembering that a campaign is not an end in itself. The campaign is merely a means to an end —the saving of souls. Each soul contacted was "one pearl of great price." The campaign was 'big' and 'great' because of the attention given to small things. If many miles needed to be walked to talk to someone—they were walked. If a meal had to be missed that was all right, too. Attention was given to "a cup of cold water", a small gift of affection, and most of all a show of real love. Since the students returned home many have continued to keep up a correspondence with those they studied with here. Some have even made long distance calls. The church and the Island fell in love with them.

Bro. Kenneth Reed

This year brother Kenneth Reed will conduct a gospel meeting from August 23 thru 31 while the students are here. Bringing the students to the Island was originally his idea, and he has led and promoted it ever since. Brother Reed has taught Bible since 1951 at the University of Alabama under a Bible Chair Arrangement sponsored by the University Church of Christ in Tuscalcosa, Alabama. These courses carry full university credit. Brother Reed also serves as minister for the University Church of Christ, which meets adjacent to the campus.

He is a graduate of Freed-Hardeman College and of Abilene Christian College, where he received the M. S. degree in Christian Education. In addition to his regular preaching duties and activities on the University of Alabama campus, brother Reed preaches in several gospel meetings each year and has spoken on various state college campuses during Religious Emphasis Week. In 1958 he made a study tour of Egypt, Jordan, Israel, Greece and Europe. He will be accompanied by his wife, Betty, and three children.

Bro. Jim Pounders

A major aid to the campaign last year was the wonderful singing directed by brother Jim Pounders. He will do so again this year. At that time brother Jim was associate minister of the Laurel Avenue Church of Christ and Director of the Christian Student Center serving the University of Tennessee. He received his B.A. Degree from David Lipscomb College, where he served as Senior Class Presidnt, and is completing his Master's Degree at the U of T.

Brothers Pounders and Reed are currently promoting, "Target 66", an exodus of some two hundred persons to Connecticut next summer. Brother Jim has recently moved to Tuscaloosa in order to work more closely with the project as he is going to be the evangelist when they move. Brother Pounders will be accompanied to the Manitoulin by his wife, Carolyn, and two children.

A very rare treat for us this campaign will be the use of the tent from the Appalachian Mountain Mission, headquarters in Cherokee, Alabama and coordinated by brother E. C. Maynard. This can be partitioned off into rooms and the students will conduct a V.B.S. If you are not familiar with their work you should be. It reaches as far south as Panama City, Central American, and as far north as Ice Lake. Their plans include from 100 to 150 workers — preachers, personal workers, and teachers — and quite often they are found transporting tons of clothes to Indian reservations in Arizona, North Carolina, and the jungles of the Carribbean islands. Brother Maynard would like his Canadian brethren to know that there are still some openings for tent meetings, and V.B.S. with the tent next summer. They will furnish preachers, personal workers, and teachers or you can supply your own. It is an excellent opportunity for those who otherwise may not be able to conduct a campaign. Brother Maynard will assist you in every way possible — even to the point of bringing all equipment and personnel without cost if you can't pay. Write him c/o Church of Christ, Cherokee, Alabama. But you must PLAN NOW.

The students and preachers must leave us on August 31st, but we plan to continue the gospel meeting through September 10th with another preacher.

A rather unique bit of transportation for our campaign is the Land Rover which the University Church of Christ purchased for my use. As

"Gateway Campaign"

It seems that we are living in the age of space travel, moon shots, and CAMPAIGNS FOR CHRIST. From the special issue of the Gospel Herald, you can see what I mean. These special efforts have proven their effectiveness wherever they have been held. I know of no better way to reach the lost. The amazing thing about all these efforts is that there is enough personnel for each one.

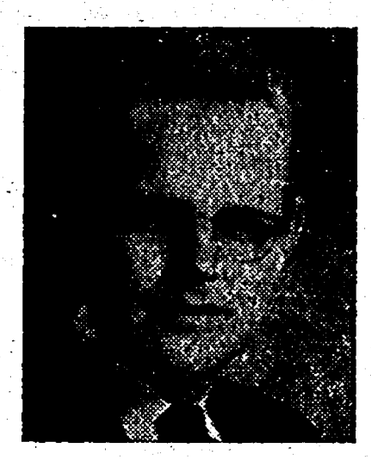
I know that in North Bay there has been nothing to thrill us more than getting ready for the "Gateway Campaign".

It all started last fall when Brother Steve May suggested that he thought he would be able to get ten or fifteen workers to come to North Bay this year from Freed-Hardeman College to help in a special effort to reach the lost.

Freed-Hardeman Group Grows

Instead of the original ten or fifteen workers, some thirty are now planning to come. This growth came mainly through the prayers and efforts of Steve May. Under his direction meetings were scheduled, posters placed all over the campus, a display prepared for the lectureship, etc.

Another step forward came when Brother Elvis Huffard agreed to serve as faculty advisor for the group. His valuable suggestions and advice have aided greatly in the group's preparation to come. Brother Huffard will be coming to North Bay with the group although he cannot stay for the entire time.



Herald Of Truth Speaker Featured

Mr. John Allen Chalk is to be featured speaker for the Campaign. He is the outstanding young evangelist who just recently was: (1) Chosen as man of the year in Cookeville, Tennessee (where he preaches); (2) Chosen as the newest speaker on the Herald of Truth Television series; (3) Chosen to highlight the David Lipscomp College lectureship and Abilene Christian College lectureship; (4) held a meeting for the Highland church of Christ in Abilene, Texas which resulted in 225 responses; (5) held a meeting in California where 150 responded to the invitation; and (6) also just recently returned from a trip into the Holy Land.

HERE AND THERE

By
Eugene C. Perry

The Herald of Truth comes to British Columbia by radio beginning on May 16. It will be heard each Sunday morning from Blaine, Washington on station Kari, both AM and FM. Times will be 7.05 to 7.30 at 550 on the AM dial and 8.30 to 8.55 at 104.3 on the FM dial. Station coverage is from Everett to Powell River, serving a listening area of 1¾ million people. The station broadcasts only religious programs. This program is being carried on sustained (free) time by the station.

We are expecting an announcement soon concerning the Herald of Truth on T.V. in this area. — The Oak Leaf.

Vancouver, B.C.: Four placed membership on April 18.

Creston, B.C.: "Plans are under way for a V.B.S. encampment at Kootenay Lake in the Kuskanook area, August 1 to August 8. Teachers and a preacher will be announced later. It would be appreciated, if those planning to attend would contact me soon. This is about 18 miles from Creston, B.C. Write to George Clarke, Box 532, Creston, B.C.

Westlock, Alta.: Meetings are now being held in Memorial Auditorium at 3.30 p.m. each Lord's Day.

Edmonton, Alta.: It has come to our attention that brother Dean Hotchkiss who gave up secular employment last fall to move to Lubbock, Texas to prepare himself for full-time Christian service is in need of financial assistance. Paying College fees and housing and feeding a family is a real strain on the amount he gets for part time preaching and he will need additional funds to move back to Canada where he takes up work at North Battleford this summer. Those wishing to encourage this venture of faith should send donations to Don Fester, Box 744, St. Albert, Alberta or to C. B. Hotchkiss,, Box 585, Beamsville, Ontario.

V.B.S. supplies should be ordered as soon as possible as some of the series we have advertised are already out of print. We still have a good stock but will fill orders on a first come first served basis.

Winnipeg Campaign: Word has been received of the results of the 10 months of concentrated effort. During the week of the meeting in the Playhouse Theatre, April 11-18, there were fifty-one who responded to the invitation of the Lord. There were twenty-nine baptisms, fifteen who pledged themselves anew to the Lord's service, and seven who came to ask to study the scripture further. One lady was immersed into Christ on the Wednesday evening following the close of the meeting. There were seven baptisms during the nine months preceding the downtown meeting.

Besides this many friends have been made and many good contacts have requested home Bible studies. Many brethren have been trained in Cottage Meeting work and are working harder for the Lord than at any time in their lives. The feeling is that as many will be led to the Lord during the follow up as obeyed the gospel during the downtown meetings.

The Jim Johnsons have embarked for India and will soon be busy in the work there. Murray Hammond will join the team of workers who will work in the campaign in Liverpool, England this summer. He will need support for this venture.

Portage La Prairie, Man.: Jim Hawkins of Victoria was recently in a meeting at this place.

Ice Lake, Ont.: The Ice Lake congregation was thrilled last Wednesday, May 5, when Mrs Louisa James (formerly Mrs Dearing) confessed her neglect of the Lord's will and asked to be restored to the Lord's body. We pray for her spiritual well-being.

It has been a good winter with four baptisms and two restorations.

Six of our young folks and myself traveled to Great Lakes Christian College for the Youth Rally in May. We all thought it was "the greatest"! In addition to the many stiring sermons, we enjoyed a trip to Niagara Falls and a few minutes spent on the U.S. side of the border. It was a first for five of the seven. Thanks to G.L.C.C. — C. Brodie Harrell.

Herald of Truth: "It is interesting to note that Barrie, Parry Sound, Huntsville, North Bay and Swift Current are now listed as Canadian stations carrying the Herald of Truth." A lady suffering with cancer in the North Bay hospital recently requested baptism as a result of hearing this program. We understand that she was immersed by brethren Jones and Hazelip on a stretcher.

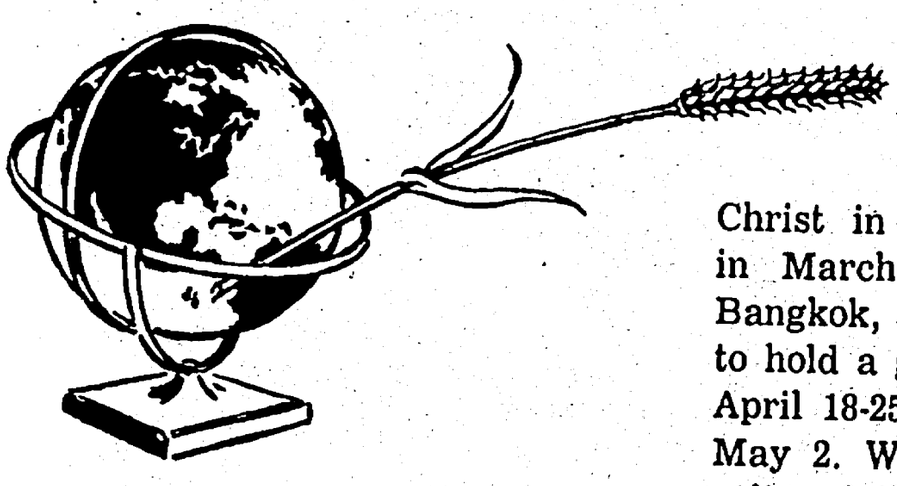
Barrie, Ont.: One young man was baptized on April 27.

Four of the Faith Corps personnel who will be moving to Barrie this fall will visit the congregation on May 30. They are Tom Blake, Carolyn Fawcett, Shirley Campbell and Karen Van Rheenan. There is now a possibility that the fifth will be a trained sign-language worker who will carry on in teaching the hard of hearing after this work is begun by the McKissicks of Dallas in the June campaign.

Griersville, Ont.: W. Jones held a meeting May 10 to 18.

Heathcote, Ont.: W. Hazelip of Collingwood will be in a meeting May 30 to June 4. He is presently in Rome, N.Y. in a meeting.

Sudbury, Ont.: The 23rd of May is the occasion of the fifth annual fellowship meeting of churches in the north being held at Sudbury.



Meaford, Ont.: This church will continue its support of the Herald of Truth. Leonard Bailey will speak on June 6 and show pictures of the work in northern Rhodesia. These pictures will be shown in Beamsville on Friday night, June 11. The Meaford church is planning its V.B.S. for July 19-23.

Owen Sound, Ont.: F. Jenkins of Memphis, Tenn. will be in a meeting in Owen Sound, June 6-11.

Toronto: A bus is being chartered at $29 per person for the trip and overnight accommodation to take

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

The following report has been received from Bro. Stanley Morgan, minister of the church in Santo Domingo. Brother Morgan was in Los Angeles briefly, but had not been forced to leave the country and planned to return immediately.

To his knowledge at that time, his wife, children, and all other Christians in Santo Domingo were safe from immediate danger, and the rebel forces had not expressed anti-religious sentiment yet.

He said food and clothing were badly needed for distribution, and can be given out through the church. All clothing, for all ages and for both men and women, must be of summer weight, and foodstuffs should be non-perishable. Packages should be sent to the Church of Christ, 1094 East 4th Ave., Hialeah, Florida, from which point they will be sent to the Dominican Republic.

The church in the Caribbean republic dates back two years when Brother Morgan, a native who had been a denominational preacher, returned to Santo Domingo and organized a church which meets in the heart of the city. It has an attendance of more than 100.

In addition, there is a small church which meets in one of the suburbs, and requests have come in from five other cities for evangelists from the church of Christ to come and work. The problem has been that Brother Morgan is the only full-time worker in the country.

However, two other natives, Bro. Prebisterio Henriquez and Bro. Cesario Rijo, are studying in the preacher training school for Latin Americans in Lubbock, Texas, preparatory to returning to work in their own country.

Brother Morgan's address is Box 1187, Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic.

PAKISTAN

One was baptized into Christ in Karachi, West Pakistan, in March. Bro. Bob Davidson of Bangkok, Thailand, was scheduled to hold a gospel meeting in Karachi April 18-25, and in Lahore April 26-May 2. We have not heard the results of these services.

Bro. and Sis. Donald Petty of Lake Jackson have received their visas to go to Pakistan as missionaries and expected to arrive there by the end of May. They will be living and working in Lahore. Bro. Gordon Hogan, who has been home in the United States on a visit, plans to return to Pakistan in August.

PANAMA

Bro. James R. Holland has just completed a trip through northern Panama where he held gospel meetings with three of the four churches in Bocas del Toro province. Three men were baptized in the Sixola River, boundary line between the Republic of Panama and Costa Rica, and were added to the Lord's church and the congregation which meets on United Fruit Company's Farm 51. In Almirante, one man was baptized.

Because of the work of native Christians along the Panama- Costa Rica border, a congregation has been established in the village of La Laguna, in Costa Rica. There are six Christians in the village, and an average of 16 people are attending worship services and studying the Bible with them.

Brother Holland, who held the meetings, preaches for the church in Balboa, in the Panama Canal Zone.

SPAIN

The first conversions in Spain have been reported by Bro. E. J. Sumerlin, who has been traveling among the small native congregations in that country. The new Christians are Bro. and Sis. Braulio Perez, who had been attending the English - language worship services in Madrid, where there is no native church. The young couple had previously attended services of the church in Caracas, Venezuela, where they lived before emigrating to Spain.

Bro. Perez is a medical doctor doing post-graduate studies at the University of Madrid. He will complete his studies in June and is considering remaining to practice medicine in Madrid rather than returning to Caracus, in order that he may help the Spanish churches more.

SWITZERLAND

A recently-passed law in Switzerland may bring about the explusion of all foreign missionaries in the country. Already a young German preacher for the church of Christ in Lucerne, Bro. Dieter Baltaz, has had to leave the country, and Bro. Bob Wilkerson, an American who had worked with the churches in Switzerland for a number of years, has not been allowed to re-enter the country after going to Munich, Germany, for a short time.

Only one evangelist, Bro. Hans Grimm, a veteran German preacher, has received a permit to stay and work in Switzerland for an indefinite period.

It is reported that hundreds of denominational workers have already been expelled.

POLAND

One of the Polish evangelists, Bro. Jozef Naumiuk, pioneer in the restoration movement in that country, became seriously ill, and doctors refuse to attend him. He passed away on May 12.

Bro. Henryk Cizek, a co-worker, wired that Brother Naumiuk had "a blood effusion into the brain" which left his left side paralyzed. He also had pneumonia.

Brother Naumiuk has been jailed several times by the Communist Government of Poland for his religious activities, and presumably doctors were afraid to have anything to do with him.

PUERTO RICO

The Cockrell Hill church in Dallas, Texas, has opened a Bible training school, called Caribbean Christian College, in San Juan, Puerto Rico, for the purpose of training native evangelistis to work in the Caribbean islands. Bro. John P. (Jack) Fogarty, who has conducted tent meetings throughout the area for the past four years, will direct the program.

CENTRAL ONTARIO

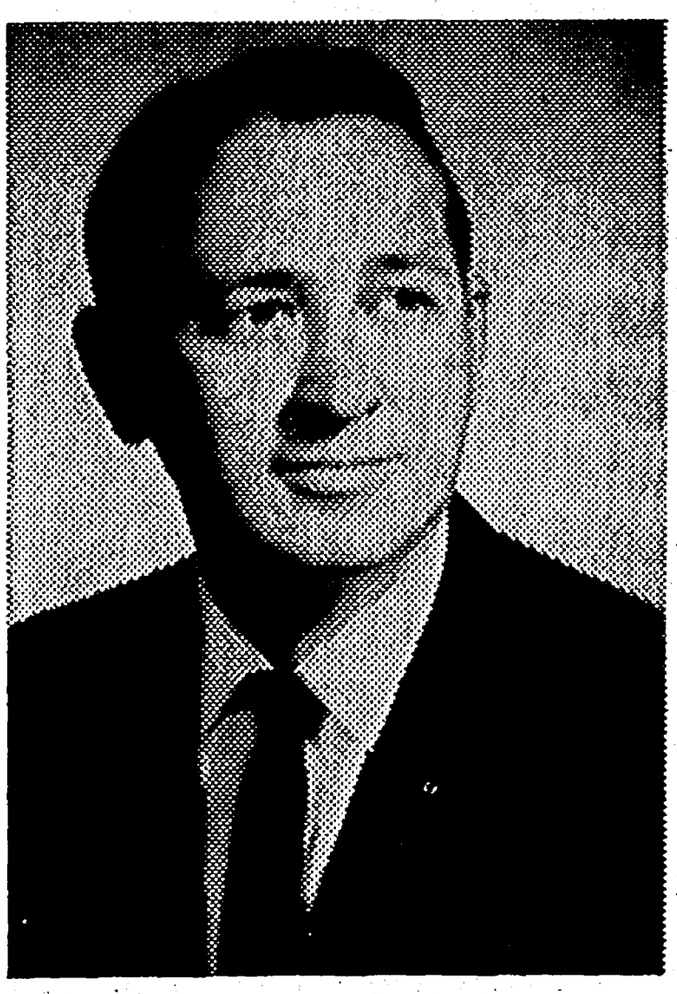
may remember that the closing words of this stanza are "Come and reign over us, ancient of days." It now appears that again this year Barrie Boardcasting, which is the company operating the radio and television facility in Barrie, will add a generous measure of public service announcements to those which we buy. The newspapers in each area offer some reduction in rate to churches. Ads began in newspapers shortly after May 1. Councils in each of the municipalities have given permission for suspending large and attractive banners across principal streets. Other advertising will include signs on church property, placards, large buttons reading "LET CHRIST REIGN" for each campaign worker, bumper stickers and about 15,000 full-colour brochures to be distributed from door-to-door by workers.

SPECIAL-FEATURES

There will be a number of special features in the campaign. First of all we know that we are venturing out to have simultaneous services. It is true that we could be helping one another in attendance under a different arrangement, but after the success of last year and the realization that we do not really want to fill our meeting houses with our own people, we are resolved to proceed. The order and arrangement of most of the night services will be unusual. A relatively brief and pointed lesson will be presented by a different speaker each night. There will be a time set aside for exhortation to obey the gospel, and a panel discussion to answer questions from the audience and to discuss headline religious problems. The particular talents of individual workers will be used to the fullest extent. Some will be excellent in using the telephone, and extra telephones will be installed in all locations. Telephone lists are already under preparation. Some workers are best at making the original contact, and some at following up with the prospect. Others do their best work at bringing that prospect to that point of complete obedience to Christ. Whatever abilities God has given the campaigner, we will do our best to make use of it.

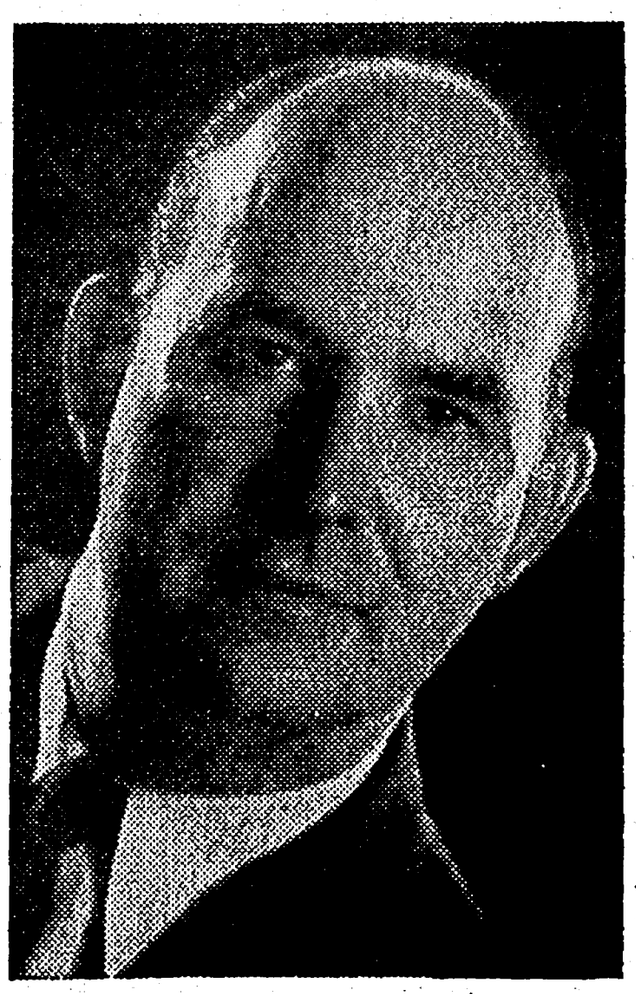
There will be frequent get togethers of all of the workers of the four areas so that we may share experiences and gather inspiration. Each day of work will begin with a devotion and worship. Some special worship services, including sunrise breakfasts, are planned.

The formal beginning of this campaign will be on June 9 at the Barrie building. Visiting workers, Ontario brethren, and members of the four churches along with local guests, will come together at eight o'clock. Some television, radio and newspaper coverage of this meeting is expected. The guest speaker from Ontario will be Brother Blenus Wright and there will be a response to his remarks from Howard Wakefield of the U.S. workers. Some special announcements concerning the future of the Barrie work will be made at that time. Those who were present will recall this meeting of last year, that it was well worth attending.



FOUR CHURCHES

In each of the four congregations an excellent foundation exists for this season of harvest. Collingwood has definitely secured space on the main thoroughfare as an office from which the campaign will be operated. Since last year they have bought and paid for new property upon which to build a building. There have been additions in number and in spirit, and there is a firm resolution to do this work well.



In Barrie several have been added by baptism and by placing of membership since last year. There is a new prayerful enthusiasm among the members, and a generous spirit of sacrifice has already been evident. Additional property has been purchased for the expansion of the Barrie work, and Faith Corps workers who will be moving into Barrie this fall will be visiting the Church around June 1.

Since last year's campaign Magnar Knutson has come to work full time with the congregation at Newmarket. There have been a number of baptisms (membership has tripled) and planning for this year's effort has been thorough and prayer-

CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP WEEK CIVIC HOLIDAY SPECIAL DON'T MISS THIS — CAMPAIGNS: A PANEL DISCUSSION

H. Ralph Perry

Churches of Christ are poised for some well planned and powerful programmes of personal evangelism and preaching this summer. Probably more committed workers for Christ will be knocking on doors and teaching people and more sermons preached in south and central Ontario than in any other period in modern restoration history. Campaigns are being conducted in Windsor, Niagara Falls, Port Colborne, Barrie, New Market, Pine Orchard, Collingwood, North Bay, and Port Arthur. 75 campaigns are planned for the New York, New Jersey, Connecticut area with over 1000 workers.

We anticipate some thrilling results for Christ. The final meeting of a recent campaign in Winnipeg resulted in 29 conversions to Christ and 22 others responded to the invitation. Wesley Reagan tells the exciting news of the final night in these words, "Eighteen people were baptized the night of April 18 as William S Banowsky preached the final night of the "Christ for Today's Crisis" campaign in Winnipeg. Half of the converts went to the baptistry in garments still wet from previous baptisms." Last year 22 (?) were baptized in campaigns in central Ontario and 18 in Edmonton, Alberta.

Most of the workers are coming from the U.S.A. Some Canadian brethren are going to be deeply involved in some of these. More and more of us should become activated in reaching the lost for Christ. We need to conduct campaigns for Christ in various needy and unevangelized areas of Ontario and Canada.

On Civic Holiday, August 2nd at 2:30 in the afternoon a valuable panel discussion will be conducted on "Campaigns for Christ". This is a special of Christian Fellowship Week at Omagh Bible School. This will be just after most of the campaigns in Ontario will be completed. Canadian brethren with some experience will appear on the panel. Topics to be discussed will be: Promotion, Preaching, Personnel, Work. Wesley Jones will chair the discussion and tentative plans call for the other panelists to be Clyde Lansdell, Warren Whitelaw, Max Craddock, and Magnar Knutson, if possible.

Elders, deacons, preachers, church leaders, you cannot afford to miss this. Many of you will be involved in campaigns and need to hear this discussion. Encourage Christians everywhere to attend.

This same day Blenus Wright will deliver a lesson "Enlarge through Dedication" at 10:15 a.m. Wesley Jones is scheduled to address the assembly at 8 p.m. on the topic, "Enlarge through Vision."

Let us make this a profitable and thrilling day of fellowship, instruction, and motivation. We will be looking for you at Omagh, Civic Holiday, August 2nd. Bring basket lunch.

THE GOSPEL TO PETERBOROUGH

by Gordon Dennis

The Lord willing, the church of our Lord will begin meeting in the city of Peterborough, Ontario on the 4th of July 1965. At the present time brother and sister Jack Maddocks are living there. We plan to move there when our children get out of school in June, so as to start working there the first of July.

I have now completed eight years with the church at Huntsville. We believe that it will be in the best interest of the Lord's work for us to move to Peterborough and begin the church in that city of 53,130 souls. We have for some time been conscious of the need for establishing the church of our Lord in Peterborough, which is ideally situated about 87 miles north east of Toronto. It is on the edge of a vast tourist region to the north, good agriculture to the south, with 97 different industries within the city, as well as a university, teacher's college, and business college.

Two ads offering correspondence Bible lessons have already been in the Peterborough paper, with 18 responses. We are thankful to a loving heavenly Father for the way our plans are materializing so smoothly for our move. We are thankful too, for the confidence which many brethren have shown in us, in promising to help with our support and work. Our personal support is already all promised. Our many thanks to the brethren at Jordan, Ontario; Birmingham, Alabama; Sarnia, Ontario; and brother and sister Bert Dearing of Chapleau, Ontario for promising to look after our personal needs. We would like to raise enough now to purchase song books, signs, Gestetner duplicator, tracts, and do as much advertising as possible, and so on. If you are able to help with any of these items please let me know. We would like to have sufficient equipment so that the church in Peterborough can get off to a good start.

Do any of you have friends or relatives living in or near Peterborough? If so, please let me know so that we may contact them. My present address is Box 478, Huntsville, Ont. Should any of you be vacationing in the Kawartha Lakes Tourist Region we will look forward to having you worship with us in Peterborough. Please watch for further notice concerning our work there. We will let you know our address, and also the address of the meeting place for the church as soon as we are able. We will send out a special invitation along with this information as soon as it is available, and hope that many of you will be able to come and worship with us on the 4th of July.

Brethren, please remember this new work in your prayers, please come and visit us when you are able, and please assist us in any way you are able to get the required equipment so the work will get off to a 'flying start' in Peterborough. God will bless all you do in His service.

All Day Meeting, July 4, 11 a.m., David Johnson; 6.30 p.m., Norman Midgette; song service and short speeches at 2.30.

A GREAT VACATION "ENLARGE"

A spiritually stimulating and a physically relaxing experience is in store for those who attend Christian Fellowship Week at Omagh Bible School. The dates are August 1-6.

Daily swimming for all in the new swimming pool. Various outdoor recreational facilities and equipment are on hand. We hope to have organized sports this year. Trips to nearby sites of interest are planned. There is a good golf course close by for those interested.

You can hardly find a cheaper vacation financially. When you consider the fellowship with Christian people and the vigorous church leaders who will be there, you just can't affort to miss this. Plan now to spend part of your vacation at Omagh, August 1-6.

Those who cannot attend for the whole week are encouraged to be present on Civic Holiday for the challenging day's programme. (see back). Drive to camp each evening for the lectures and association.

The cost. Room and board is only $12.50 for adults and youth, 12 and up. Charge for children is according to age. There is no charge from birth to five years. Five years ($5.00) and up to 12 pay $1.00 for each year of their age.

Those who bring camping equipment and cook their own meals pay just $1.00 a day.

We look for you August 1-6. Come and enlarge your vision and usefulness to our Lord.

locally as "KNOW YOUR BIBLE CAMPAIGN". Tracts, Vacation Bible School literature, Bible Correspondence courses, Visual Aids, and all advertising will be done with "Know Your Bible", as the theme.

One of the outstanding features of the campaign is sure to be the "Victoria Park" preaching services. These are scheduled for Sundays, June 27, July 4 and July 11 at 3 p.m. Victoria Park is directly opposite the American Falls.

We solicit the prayers of all and pray for an outstanding summer in campaigning for Christ throughout the Dominion. "The Christ we will not share, we cannot keep."

"GATEWAY CAMPAIGN"

The people of North Bay are already introduced to Brother Chalk by seeing him each Sunday on the Herald of Truth television series which is shown over the North Bay station.

Bill Oakley-Personal Work Director

Brother Bill Oakley from Wichita, Kansas is to serve as personal work director for our Campaign. He was in North Bay last year to assist in a Gospel Meeting. He is therefore acquainted with local problems. He is bringing two other workers.

Other Personel

(1) Brother Jim Carter from East Detroit, Michigan is preparing our newspaper advertising.

(2) Brother Brodie Harrell, Ice Lake, Ontario is preparing television and radio ads.

(3) Brother Louis Pauls, Meaford, Ontario is in charge of keeping records. I know of no one who has done more in preparation for this Campaign than Brother Pauls.

Workers

We have an elder and deacon coming with their families from the Homewood church of Christ in Birmingham, Alabama (supporting church). Some twenty workers are to come from across Ontario in addition to workers from Michigan, Ohio, Minnesota, Indiana, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Texas, and Mississippi.

Advertising

As was reported in last month's Gospel Herald, extensive radio, television, newspaper, and bill-board advertising is planned. At the height of the Campaign we will be having five television spots per day and full page ads in the newspaper twice a week (as well as daily smaller ads).

General Information

1. Name of Campaign—"Gateway Campaign".
2. Theme—"Christ for the World and the World for Christ".
3. Dates—May 30th through June 27th.
4. Public Meetings—June 7th through June 18th.

ful. Space has been secured in the heart of Newmarket as a base of operation. The Huron Height High School on East Davis Drive will be the scene of the night services Monday through Saturday. Campaign headquarters have been arranged for both Pine Orchard and Newmarket in the heart of town. On Sunday nights the services will be conducted at the Maple Leaf School where the Church customarily meets.

A building remodeling which has been under way at Pine Orchard for sometime has continued to the completion of a new baptistry. With the cooperation of the Newmarket brethren, drapes have now been installed around the baptistry, and plans are being made for a generous mailing of literature into the community before the campaign starts.

All four congregations have enjoyed additional strength from the Herald of Truths television series which is now being sen on channel 3, and a fine spirit of good will prevails among them.

Some of the gospel preachers and elders which we know about who will be coming to work in the campaign are: Joe McKissick of Dallas, Texas; W. O. Mitchell of Flint, Michigan; Bob McCready of Knoxville, Tennessee; Dewey Shaw, Missouri; David Johnson, Elders, and some members of the Fennel Avenue Church is Hamilton, Ontario; several Elders of the Church from Valdosta, Georgia, and Bowling Green, Kentucky.

NEWMARKET NEWS

"We have many reasons for rejoicing in the progress that the work here is making.

Our Sunday School attendance reached an all time high this month of 98 present.

Cottage meetings continue at the rate of three to four nights a week besides some studies during the day. We are happy to report the baptism of a fine young couple into Christ on May 16th. We welcome Brother and Sister Pospichel into the fellowship of the Lord's people here in Newmarket. They received their teaching principally through the cottage home studies (several of which were in their home). There are others who are not far from the kingdom of God.

We look forward with great anticipation to a real fruitful season during the period of our Central Ontario Campaign of June 9 through 27.

Please pray for us and the continued growth of the church here.

—M. J. Knutson

"Our Faith looks up to Thee"

ADVENTURES IN FAITH

L. Wesley Jones

There was a time when we thought a congregation should "swarm" as soon as it had enough members to pay the bills in two places. We suppose that no one ever attempted to prove by the Scriptures that this is the proper way to grow. It was a matter of judgment, and the question of whether Churches should emerge or unite is a matter of judgment. We rejoice to see the older trend reversed and smaller congregations getting together. For this reason among others we salute the brethren of Fern Ave. and Maplewood for the adventure in faith upon which they have entered.

We Learn From Others

Jesus said that the children of this generation are wiser than the children of light (Luke 16:8). The modus operandi of the '30's and '40's is not being followed by any successful organization. The school system is the best and nearest parallel to our own. At one time good judgment demanded that schools be small and scattered, within the reach of as many as possible. Consolidation or merger is the order today when transportation is no longer such a factor. We are realizing that what was good for the educational system is good for our edification. We are learning to adapt to the times in which we live without altering God's plan for the organization of a Church.

Such a union as the two Toronto congregations have formed bespeaks an attitude toward the past and its rich memories which we cannot but praise. The locations which are being given up by each congregation hold tearful memories of hard work, pleasant fellowship, scenes of conversion and many personal sacrifices. Hence, these brethren have moved with courage and love for the Lord. They have recognized that their present locations, as rich in tradition as they are, will not serve efficiently in the Mid-twentieth Century. They have thus committed themselves to what we believe is a Bible principle—the material properties of the Church must be subservient to the Church's mission rather than the mission of the Church being limited by its properties.

The principle of compounding will now work for these brethren. You have heard "that it takes money to make money," and "that a crowd draws a crowd." There will be a spontaneous generation of new zeal and fervour among these brethren. Their activities will demand attention in the new community where they choose to work. The new congregation will quickly assume proportions making it possible for them to do mission work. They will no doubt become examples for others throughout North America who should take the same action.

In Good Company

We classify what the brethren at Fern Ave. and Maplewood have done along with the historic steps taken by those who have seen the need for a well developed class programme in our Sunday schools. Their step forward is in the category of our discovery a few years ago that our meeting houses did not need to be limited to poorly located and unattractive structures in order to be economical and efficient. The boldness of these brethren compares favourably with the faith and vision of those who first realized that the old gospel could be preached by new electronic means such as radio and television. They have outgrown their fear of becoming large without outgrowing their fear of God. They are adding to Christian achievement without adding to the Word. They are surpassing previous stalemate without forgetting the sacrifices of their forefathers. They are reaching for new goals without losing their balance of faith and judgment.

As a casual observer of the preplanning of these respective brethren through the winter '64-'65, we are partly aware of the many hours of prayer and study which have gone into this decision. We believe they have proceeded like brethren who were dedicated to the Lord and who were asking, "What will God do with us?" They have received an answer and have acted like brethren who are partners with God. The individual names of so many who have worked tirelessly, who have yielded to one another in matters of opinion, who have shown charity and good will, appear in other reports of this Special Herald. The only reason that these names are not listed on a special roll in heaven is because the most honoured of all honour rolls is that one which God keeps of every faithful member of his Church.

COVER

Pictured are some of the members of the Fern Ave. and Maplewood congregations, who with the help and guidance of God have united forces to sell their present buildings and to establish a new congregation in West Metro Toronto.

The congregations express appreciation to all who have contributed to this special issue of the Herald. A sincere thanks is due to Howard Anderson for photographic work, to Dan Patterson for the artwork and to the Editors of the Gospel Herald for their fine co-operation.

HERE AND THERE

Central Ontario Campaign: One lady was baptized on May 26 prior to the campaign. Over 350 gathered at Barrie on June 9th to give an inspirational start to the campaign. Plans to build a home for the aged near the Barrie meeting house were announced on this occassion. Plans are to attempt construction in 1967.

A report from M. J. Knutson of Newmarket informs us that there have been 26 responses during the campaign up to June 22. Among these have been 10 baptized and one restored at Newmarket bringing the membership to 47. A man and wife were obedient at this place on May 16. There have been 13 responses at Barrie including the restoration of Brother Watson. The 12 baptisms include three married couples.

At Collingwood crowds have ranged from 75 to 120 people with as many as 31 visitors from the community at one meeting. We anticipate a fuller report for the next issue.

COME OUT, BE SEPARATE

(REPENT) or (PERISH)

Buford E. Pitman, Red Deer, Alta.

Early in the morning when going fishing, I watched as a boy, the wonder of the rising sun over the Gulf of Mexico as a new day heralded its advent. As darkness was dispelled, the sun assumed absolute command, separating the day from the night.

As surely as God has parted day and night in his physical world, he has equally demanded a distinct separation between believers and unbelievers in his spiritual realm. The light of the gospel has beamed brightly in modern history through the Restoration Movement. Clouds have periodically appeared on the horizon, and a recurring problem for more than half a century has come to the forefront for attention in a way that cannot be ignored by either party involved.

What is the relationship between the church of Christ and the "Christian Church?" is a question asked of me very often in meeting and talking with people here in Red Deer. There is a congregation of each located in this central Alberta city. The issue that has dogged the steps of each group ever since the disruption of fellowship must now be settled once and forever more, if at all possible.

I believe, with the help of God and the sincere efforts of all who love God and believe the Bible, the next generation will face a clean slate on this score. If not, it will be mute testimony to the fallacies and failures of disobedient men who "love the praise of men more than the praise of God." On the other side of the ledger, a great multitude of believers could be persuaded to walk side by side in peace and harmony, thus bringing greater glory to God, and salvation to the only creature made in his own image, you and me.

The following information is offered as evidence as to why the present distinction must be maintained between the "Christian Church" (where is such a term in the Bible?) and the church of Christ, Mt. 16:18. Personally, I could hope for nothing more than I do now for a reconciliation, with fellowship restored on a Bible basis. BUT, "How can two walk together, except they be agreed?"

During the period immediately following the dissention over instrumental music, there must inevitably have been some trying moments, coupled with strong and very heart-rending emotional stress. It is to be hoped that brethren on both sides of the question were diligently trying to close the breach, however unsuccessful they might have been. That breach widened steadily, so that there is a "deep gulf fixed" between the "Disciples" and the church of the present generation.

Due to efforts underway, further complications might bring about a situation which will be intolerable even between the two camps of "Disciples," — "Leftists" and "Centrists" as they are called by J. D. Murch. They are more commonly known as "Cooperative" and "conservative". These efforts are described in a booklet entitled, "Freedom or Restructure?", and is published by the "Disciples." Apparently, the purpose is for the Convention to assume power and set up absolute control over every congregation; the achievement of this goal would destroy the local autonomy and put everyone under "headquarter" control.

For serious meditation on the question of fellowship, we must consider ALL the areas of difficulty, not instrumental music only. Many have the mistaken idea that this is the ONLY point of difference between us. Had the problem we are now facing been over mechanical instruments alone, there would have been no issue. The New Testament is the poorest place in the world to turn to for authorization of mechanical worship. Basically, the issue here, as in all error, lies in the attitude of people toward the Bible. It is my conviction that if the break had not come over the music question, it would have come over something else; as evidence I bid you consider the other innovations that have followed the employment of unscriptural music in the worship. It is no matter if a corral gate is opened but one inch, the horses will soon discover it and all will be "gone with the wind!"

In the absence of divine command, mechanical music does not fit into the doctrine of Christ. Without example in the early church, who would dare to justify its use in worship as being "in spirit and in truth?" Therefore, in the absence of both command and example, only the most presumptuous of men would include mechanical music as scriptural under the heading of "necessary inference." In the light of truth, it must be classified as an addition to the Bible, which is expressly forbidden in Gal. 1:8-9 and Rev. 22:18-19. Since all scholars translate the word "sing" without fail, it is indeed strange that so many disagree and would make it read, "sing and play."

To believe that the use of mechanical music is the only difference between the church of Christ and the "Christian Church" is as mistaken a notion as the little red hen who shouted that the sky was falling, when only an acorn had hit her on the head.

A "COMMITTEE FOR THE PRESERVATION OF THE BROTHERHOOD" of Indianapolis, Indiana, has prepared a booklet entitled, "Freedom or Restructure?" It is available to everyone, and points out some startling proposals arising from the International Convention of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) last October. It lists these potential dangers:

1. Ministers of various denominations, bearing credentials from Disciples' headquarters, expounding strange doctrines in our pulpits.
2. Unimmersed persons from "other churches" being certified as full-fledged members of our churches.
3. Infant baptisms approved as a regular practice in our churches.
4. Creeds, sacraments, and liturgies (speaking as the oracles of God?) or merging denominations recognized and permitted in our churches. (I assume they mean

W.C.C. LOOKS AHEAD

On May 15th this editor was privileged to visit the campus of Western Christian College at Weyburn, to deliver the commencement address. It was a thrilling experience to see the 24 graduates in their caps and gowns solemnly receive their diplomas before their families and friends. Most of the graduates were members of the church. These young men and women represent a potential for service which will bring strength and vision to many congregations in the years to come.

As we were shown about the campus by Brother Wieb and Brother Andreas, it was quite obvious the school has come a long way in a few years. In 1946 it had but one small building. Today it has fifteen converted air force buildings. In 1946 only two students graduated. This year 24 were sent forth to higher education or the business world. This might not impress some who are accustomed to Christian schools in areas where the church is strong numerically and financially. On the Canadian scene this represents splendid progress.

Perhaps the most important event that happened during our visit was the decision reached by the board of directors to seek Junior College status. The target date for this major step forward was set at 1967. A year of work on the university level will be added plus advanced courses in Bible and related fields. Several needs were outlined in order to achieve the desired standing by the target date.

First, it is obvious that greater financial backing will be needed in order for the new academic goals to be achieved. The problem of financing Christian education is not easily solved. The tuition fee paid by young people for their education falls far short of paying for the actual cost of it. At Western Christian it is estimated that the charges cover only two-thirds of the total cost. This is true of most of our Christian colleges. Alumni of the colleges should remember this when they have graduated and established themselves financially.

Another vital need in order to meet the goal of Junior College work is the preparation of a qualified faculty. Plans are already taking shape to increase the qualifications of some of the present faculty to at least the Master's Degree. Other faculty members will be added. It is doubtful if many of us realize and appreciate properly the amount of sacrifice involved on the part of the dedicated men and women who staff our schools. They are usually underpaid, overworked and deprived of the kind of prestige they would receive in public school systems. Their work is a labour of love.

A third need in the preparation for the new level of work is the increase of library facilities. The step from high school to college work calls for reference works on various subjects. These are a must if the work is to succeed. Books, like everything else, have increased in cost drastically. Obviously money will be needed to acquire a good working library. The provision of good books for keen young minds is one of the most direct ways of helping to shape them. A Christian college library is one of the best places for young men and women to investigate the important questions of life.

Our visit on the campus of this fine young school impressed us with the conviction that every effort was being made to use available funds efficiently. We have been on many campuses which were more beautiful, but none that we can remember where brethren were striving harder to make the best use of all available facilities. The school is blessed with ample buildings for their needs in the immediate future. Operating funds are badly needed to meet the needs which we have outlined above. Mere land and buildings without dedicated teachers and necessary tools of learning will not get the job of education done.

The larger schools operated by our brethren are often the recipients of large sums of endowment money

TEACHING GOD'S WORD

Eight Practical Steps In Audio-Visual Organization

H. Ralph Perry, London, Ontario

Most of our activity for Christ could be more effective through thoughtful planning and effective organization. This is true of the purchase and use of audio - visual aids in the church's programme. Without planning and organization here much effort and money can be wasted. Worse yet is the loss of effectiveness in teaching the soul-saving gospel.

We submit eight practical steps for organizing an effective audio-visual department.

I. Appoint An Audio-Visual Director

Perhaps the old saying "Everybody's business is nobody's business" is overused. Yet it states a truth we must face. If someone is not appointed to direct and co-ordinate the purchase, storage, and use of audio-visual materials, what is on hand will be lost and rarely used.

Gene Getz, author of Audio Visuals in the Church lists seven primary requirements for the job. "(1) Dedicated to Christ and aware of the Scriptural foundation for A-V's; (2) able to spend adequate time; (3) administrative ability; (4) teaching ability; (5) working knowledge of A-V's; creative ability; (6) mechanical aptitude (if possible); (7) above all, willing to learn."

We might not find one with all these qualifications but let us select the best interested person and give him proper supervision, guidance and support.

II. Possibly Choose An Audio-Visual Committee

In small churches one man might need to accept the total responsibility for audio - visuals. However, where possible others should be brought into the picture. It would be wise to have someone mechanically inclined care for the equipment. Another person with creative ability could be in charge of creative product to develop posters and others audio-visual aids. At least three age level representatives should be on any committee — for children, youth, and adults. One person might be on this committee with the job of caring for the storage and checking out of materials.

III. Take Inventory

Audio-Visual departments can easily be set up by going though cupboards, shelves, and boxes in classrooms and gathering together odds and ends. This would include maps, pictures, flannelgraph materials, objects, models, etc. Plan a session to repair what is not discarded.

It is wise to make a master list or card file of all audio-visuals on hands. These materials should be classified according to type and usage. For instance, a picture file should have the main divisions of Old Testament, New Testament, and Modern Scenes. These will have many sub titles as the file develops. Modern scenes could be divided into religious application, missions, nature, food, people, scenery, homes, travel, and miscellaneous. Each of these would be divided. Missions would need to be divided into continents and maybe countries.

Filmstrips, flannelgraph materials and scenes, models, and maps should all be classified on cards. Teachers can then check the file to see what materials are available to aid in presenting a specific lesson or a series of lessons.

IV. Set Up An Audio-Visual Budget

Each situation will be different. Evaluate what you have, what is needed, and what can be spent.

Getz suggests three rules for an A-V budget.

1. "Purchase A-V equipment and tools according to immediate need."

2. "Purchase audio-visual materials, kits, filmstrips, etc. according to over-all usefulness."

3. "Start small and inexpensively, if necessary, but start. It's amazing what you can do with only a few dollars per year to build an effective A-V programme.

V. Correlate Audio-Visuals With Curriculum

First, the curriculum must be studied. List all lessons on a diagram to give an over-all view. Check your files on audio-visual materials and visit a religious book store to see what is available.

After becoming familiar with the lessons to be taught and what you have on hand and then what is available, ask the teachers what they need. Tell them what is available. From this gradually purchase what will be usable and used.

VI. Store Audio-Visuals Efficiently

Audio-visuals can get strayed, lost, and borrowed very easily. Have a place for them and see that they are put back in the right place. If possible a room should be converted into an audio-visual library. If not, shelves or cupboards in some accessible place should be devoted to the storge of these valuable materials.

VII. Promote Audio-Visuals Continually

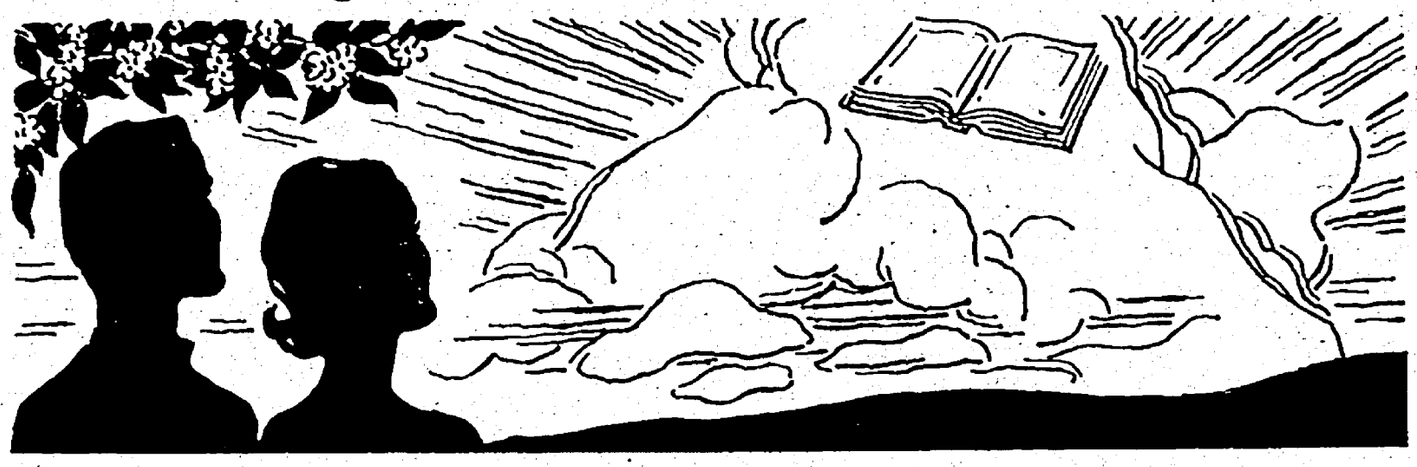
Teacher apathy towards audio-visual aids is a major problem. One reason for this apathy is that the teachers do not know what is available and how and when to get them.



At teachers' meetings audio-visuals can be displayed and demonstrated, especially new aids. A list of materials can be duplicated and given to teachers. Be sure to show the teachers where the master file is and how to use it. Demonstrate this with some specific lesson a teacher is about to teach. The director should be aware of lessons being taught and inform teachers and recommend various materials.

VIII. Train Teachers To Use Audio-Visuals.

The use of all equipment and materials should be demonstrated to the teachers. Ample opportunity should be given to the teachers to practice using flannel materials, maps, filmstrips projectors, record

WHAT ABOUT TOMORROW?

By Ed Bryant
Toronto, Ontario

The world has made much progress in recent years. We have come a long way from even the days of the horse and buggy. But it seems that the more success we have in raising the world's standard of living on a material plane, the less we have in raising it on a spiritual plane. Striving for material success often has led us along pathways that lead away from God.

The trend is very marked, and should it continue, who can say what the attitude of the average person of tomorrow's generation will be toward God and His word? Already we have seen the difficulty of teaching one who has not even the basis of a belief in God. Where once the preacher began to teach with this advantage, now he must prove to his prospect the very existence of God! Is this progress?

The church of tomorrow will have to be nourished and kept alive by the youth of today. Are they being fitted for the task? Are they preparing to teach and to preach the truth; or are they pointing toward a career in technology? If the latter. . . .where do you think the church of tomorrow will be?

(Ed.'s note: The above article was written by Bro. Bryant for the bulletin he so ably publishes, "The Strathmore Searchlight". It contains a message so vital to our time that it cannot be overemphasized. While all agree on the need to prepare for secular tasks; others feel it wrong, or at least see no need to prepare in the Lord's work. While secular areas of employment may reward more in this life (financially at least) none are more rewarding in the long run. . .for leading souls to Christ is the greatest work anyone can do. May we never lose sight of the fact that this work also calls for education and preparation. . . for to fail in this work is the greatest of all failures!! — R. L. M.)

"CIVIL RIGHTS"

by Max E. Craddock

For some time now we have been reading in the papers and seeing on T.V. the news of the 'Civil Rights Movement'. In the Southern U. S. there have been many unsavoury incidents caused when Negroes, and those who agree with their cause, have made their desires known to those around them.

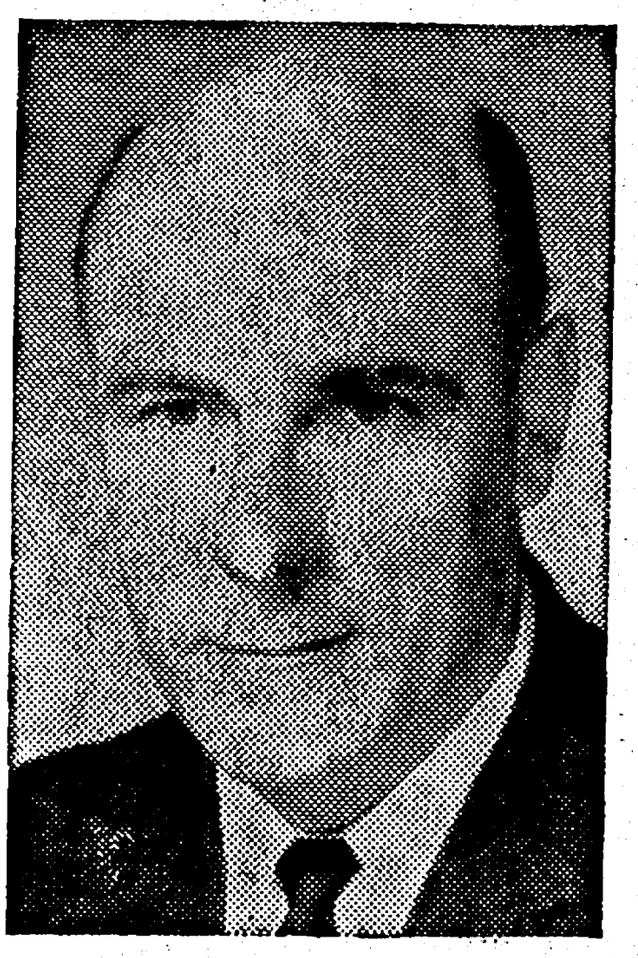
Recently our attention has been fixed on Selma, Alabama. There people from all parts of the U.S., and some from Canada, have marched, prayed, and one died. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has stood out as a leader of a people for a cause.

I think most everyone has spent some time thinking about this problem. Some have discussed it with their friends and others have shown their interest in other ways such as sending money to Dr. King and his followers. On CHML's (Hamilton, Ont. radio station) Open Line on Thursday afternoon (March 18th.) many listeners called in to ask questions and make comments to Perce Allen and some Hamilton churchmen who were in Selma the week before. Some different views to the 'civil rights' question were stated as is to be expected. The one thing it points up is that people are thinking and are worried about the 'civil rights' problem of the U.S.

I wonder, however, how many of these people are worried about the many who haven't heard the gospel of Christ. What about those Christians who have expressed their views on 'civil rights' but don't have enough concern to express their interest in the souls of others. Perhaps they feel the 'civil rights' of all men are more important than the 'eternal rights' of all men.

I am not suggesting that the 'civil rights' of all men are not important and that all men should not have them. But the question that does concern me is: ARE NOT THE SOULS OF MEN MORE IMPORTANT?

Jesus said to his disciples: "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo; I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world." Matt. 28:19,20. In this command Jesus laid upon the shoulders of every Christian the need of a personal commitment to the 'eternal rights' of all mankind.



Several times in discussions with young people I have been asked the question: "What about the heathen who have never heard the gospel of Christ?" The only answer I know is that they will stand before a just judge in the great and final day'. At the same time I know something else to be true. That is that God will hold me accountable for what I could have done, but didn't do, to see that all men had an equal chance to hear and obey.

Paul wrote these words to the Brethren at Rome. "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek. For therein is the righteousness of God revealed from faith to faith: as it is written, The just shall live by faith." Romans 1:16,17. There is only one way on God's earth that men can obtain this saving faith. Paul tells us how in Romans 10: 17 - "So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by

by Roger Jeal

"Now thanks be unto God, which always causeth us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the savour of his knowledge by us in every place. For we are unto God a sweet smelling savour of Christ, in them that are saved, and in them that perish: To the one we are the savour of death unto death; and to the other the savour of life unto life. And who is sufficient for these things? For we are not as many, which corrupt the word of God: but of sincerity, but as of God, in sight of God speak we in Christ." (2 Corinthians 2:14-17)

Thus the apostle presents the sufficiency of God's provision whereby we may be complete in Christ; triumphant over sin and death, thoroughly proclaiming the gospel and fighting against sin, is said to be, "the savour of his knowledge" and "a sweet smelling savour of Christ."

This peculiar use of the word "savour" is worthy of more than casual interest, and since we, as Christians, are striving to do all things in the name Christ, let us consider it from the standpoint of "savour for the Saviour." To this end we shall try to come to a clear understanding of the meaning of the word, evaluate the manner in which we nominally express the term, consider its usage in God's word and determine measures of application and responsibility.

More Than Taste or Smell

It seems, that to many, the real meaning of the word savour is something that tastes good or smells good. Thus, to relate this to savour for the Saviour on a purely literal plane, it would suggest nothing more than that we smell good to the Lord, for we would certainly not expect Him to eat us, or taste us. It is evident then that here must be a greater depth of meaning to this word and we must not of course, neglect its spiritual application. But, as much as it is thus understood by many, we can do little more than suggest perhaps, that we sprinkle ourselves with aromatic herbs and perfumes to make us smell good, or that we endorse the maxim, "Cleanliness is next to godliness." A good taste and a good smell are indeed savours but there is much more to its meaning than this.

Webster defines savour as: 1. Taste or odour — something that perceptibly affects the organs of taste and smell; as the savour of an orange or rose; an ill savour; a sweet savour. 2. The quality which renders a thing valuable; the quality which renders substances agreeable to the taste. 3. In Scripture - character - reputation. Synonyms are: flavor - relish - taste - fragrance - scent - smell and odour.

Thus in addition to being a good taste or smell, it can also be an ill savour, or in other words, it can also be a bad taste or smell. It refers also to the quality which renders a thing valuable and in Scripture it speaks of character and reputation. With all this, we ought to be able to broaden the scope of our understanding and with more readiness of mind receive instruction concerning savour as it is set forth in God's word.

Symbolic of Prayer

Except for its inclusion within readings of the Bible, an almost exclusive use of the word savour is in our public prayer as expressed in the phrase, "a sweet smelling savour." Here, the context is in reference to the prayer itself, that it might be received of God as, "a sweet smelling savour", that is, that it will be acceptable and pleasing to Him. There is but little doubt that such is said in connection with the writings of the beloved John in the revelation letter. In Revelation 5:8, the heavenly host are represented as having "harps, and golden vials full of odours which are the prayers of saints," and in Revelation 8:3,4 "And another angel came and stood at the altar, having a golden censer; and there was given unto him much incense, that he should offer it with the prayers of all the saints upon the golden altar which was before the throne. And the smoke of the incense which came with the prayers of the saints, ascended up before God out of the angels hand." Thus, we pray that our prayers be as a sweet smell to God. This is commendable and is part of savour for the Saviour, but should always be done with spiritual understanding as is enjoined unto us in 1 Corinthians 14:15.

An Acceptable Sacrifice

The apostle Paul wrote to the saints at Ephesus, "And walk in love as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweet smelling savour." (Eph. 5:2) An analysis of this injunction may be thus considered:

And walk in love* — let every act of life be dictated by love to God and man.

As Christ-hath loved us — laying down your lives for your brethren if necessary.

Hath given himself for us — Christ hath died in our stead, and become thereby a sacrifice for our sins.

An offering — an oblation. . .It means any offering by which gratitude is expressed.

A sacrifice — a sin offering — a victim for sin — the same as that sacrificial act in which the blood of an animal was poured out as an atonement for sin.

A sweet smelling savour — refers to the burnt offerings, the fumes

OF ONE FAMILY

By Warren T. Whitelaw

Niagara Falls Ontario, Canada

In seeking to preserve our "local autonomy" we have forgotten that we are of "one family". All Christians comprise the "house of God", the church of the living God.

The New Testament speaks of the church, in the local sense, on this wise:. . ."To all that be at Rome, beloved of God, called to be saints." Rom. 1:7; "Unto the church of God which is at Corinth"-1 Cor. 1:2: "the church which is at Cenchrea"- Rom. 16:1; "to the saints which are at Ephesus" - Eph. 1:1.

The point emphasized is this "local church" is spoken of in the New Testiment as all of the body of Christ in any given community. This "local church" worked to perform the task of preaching the gospel and caring for the needy. A good example of this is the church in the city of Jerusalem - Acts 6:1-7. The church in Jerusalem is spoken of as "the church", (Acts 15:4) all of God's people within the city. The Jerusalem church had thousands of members, one body of elders and deacons, and one organized work programme.

The scriptures are quite clear on this point. All the brethren in any given city are referred to as "the church" in that city. When Paul and Barnabas were thinking of making another trip, Paul said, "Let us go again and visit our brethren in every city" - Acts 15:36. When speaking of the oversight of these local churches, or congregations, the scriptures speak in this manner . . ."And from Miletus he sent to Ephesus and called the elders of the church". - Acts 20:17; "And when they had ordained them elders in every church" - Acts 14:23; "ordain elders in every city" - Titus 1:5. When Paul came to Antioch he gathered "the whole church together" - Acts 14:27. The apostle exhorted the church in the city of Corinth regarding matters of worship and order of service. . . "If therefore the whole church be come together into one place" - 1 Cor. 14:23.

The size of the "local church" or congregation, was apparently determined by the number of disciples within a given city, and the size of the city. He who teaches that all of God's people in any given city cannct work and worship together, because they form a body of people larger than the "local church", fails to understand the simple and plain teaching of the scriptures.

We don't find, in the scriptures, a record of fifty "local churches" in Jerusalem with each having their own body of elders. Nor do we find brethren criss-crossing the town to meet with people on "such and such" a corner,. . . .passing five other "local churches", in order to meet with their perferred group. The church in Jerusalem was "one family". They worked together under the direction of one group of elders, and in harmony with one work programme administered by one group of deacons.

In seeking to perserve "the local autonomy" we have torn the church assunder into little petty groups of ineffective people who refuse to work together. Brethren who live in the same city, face the same responsibilities, serve the same Master, and worship the same God, often are guilty of saying, "We cannot work together". Many of our present day problems have been brought about because we have changed God's ways, thoughts, and teachings into "rules of confusion".

A plea for unity, based on the teachings of God's word, falls on closed ears. . .when proclaimed by a body of people who refuse to accept the most simple and plain of all God's teachings. We are of one family.

TEACHING GOD'S WORD

players, flip charts, diorama and other teaching aids.

One audio-visual director took the teaching staff on a tour of the audio-visual library and showed them all available materials and how to check them out.

Another thing to provide training is to give the teachers good reading on the subject of audio-visual aids. One good book is the one mentioned above by Getz. Standard has a fine booklet on "How To Use Flannelg aph." I have another booklet entitled, "The Flannel Scene." Various books, booklets, and articles are available on the use of specific audio-visual aids. Be alert to these and make a file of such so that you will be able to recommend good reading.

CONCLUSION:

We believe that audiovisual aids can make more thrilling and effective the teaching of God's word. These are not an end but a means to an end — the saving of souls.

May we secure, organize, and use audio-visuals effectively for God. (Much of the material in this article came from "Teach" magazine's special issue on Audio-Visuals, Winter 1964).

"CIVIL RIGHTS"

the Word of God."

Even though men do read God's Word they don't always understand it at first. As our example we turn to Acts 8 and read of a man from Ethiopia who was a religious man, but wasn't following God's will because he didn't understand for sure what God's will was. For this reason Philip, a preacher of God, was sent to meet this man and teach him of God's will. Upon hearing he believed and obeyed. (Please read this text from your Bible)

There is, therefore, a need for individuals to stand up and be counted for the 'eternal rights' of all men. Each one of us has greater opportunities than ever before for fulfilling our individual responsibility of taking the gospel to men who have no hope in death. Several congregations are planning campaigns for the purpose of leading souls from the paths of sin, into the light of God. Won't you help?

My young friend; this summer you have the great privilege of partly preparing yourself to work in the Lord's vineyard. If you are willing to put forth your time there are those who can use you. Make your interest known. I know that you will be blessed by the Father of us all if you take advantage of your opportunities.

of which ascended from the fire in the act of burning; an offering with which God is well pleased and accepts the person who offered it.

Here then, a sweet smelling savour is an acceptable sacrifice prefigured by the burnt offerings in a past age. In the 8th chapter of Genesis, verse 20 tells us that after the great flood had subsided, Noah built "an altar unto the Lord. . .and offered burnt offerings on the altar", and verse 21 states "and the Lord smelled a sweet savour." Similarly, when the sacrifice and ceremonies for consecration of priests was outlined in Exodus 29:18, we are informed "It is a sweet savour, an offering made by fire unto the Lord." Yet other examples of burnt offerings received as a sweet savour by the Lord are given in Lev. 1:9,13 and 17; Lev. 8:21; Num. 15:13,14 and Num. 18:17. Peace offerings, also made by fire, are said to be a sweet savour unto the Lord in Lev. 3:5 and the same is said of meat offerings in Num. 28:8.

However, just because an odour is sweet, it is not necessarily acceptable as a sacrifice. To be pleasing it must be offered in sincerity. This was certainly true for the Israelites, and it is also for us. The 26th chapter of Leviticus deals with warnings to the disobedient who were under the law and the penalties they had to endure for walking contrary to God. Of this, it is written in Lev. 26:31 "I will not smell the savour of your sweet odours," but of the obedient in Ezek. 20:41 "I will accept you with your sweet savour."

Now, we are not under the law, but all this foreshadows our relationship with God as Christians and the same principle applies to us. For this cause, Paul wrote, "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service," (Rom. 12:1) and in Phil. 4:18 he wrote of sincere Christian sacrifice, that it is, "an odour of a sweet smell, a sacrifice acceptable, well-pleasing to God."

Consecrated Service

Returning now to verses 16 and 17 of our text, "And who is sufficient for these things? For we are not as many, which corrupt the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God, in the sight of God speak we in Christ." God has given us His own pure doctrine, and we are not ones to corrupt it, but we also have a duty to uphold it and teach it.

On the mount, Jesus said in His great sermon, "Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost its savour, wherewith shall it be salted? It is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men". (Matt. 5:13) As Christians, Jesus likens us to salt which is essentially a preservative. As salt, we are to do our part in preserving the world from sin and destruction. Giving of ourselves to such sacrificial service is indeed savour for the Saviour, "but if the salt have lost its savour . . . it is henceforth good for nothing."

Not all savour is sweet, or good, or pleasing to God. In Eccles. 10:1 it is said that "dead flies cause the ointment of the apothecary to send forth a stinking savour; so doth a little folly him that is in reputation for wisdom and honour." Our many foolish ways are as an offensive odour and are displeasing to God, but by walking by faith and thus expending our energies in consecrated service, our savour will be as a sweet smell. Nothing short of total commitment to our heavenly Father's will can suffice if we are to be unto God a sweet savour of Christ. Savour for the Saviour is in complete surrender to God; not only separation from sin to righteousness, but separation of self to the will of God.

Is God having His way in our lives? Are we walking by faith and are we so busy expending our energies in consecrated service and willing to sacrifice for others that we are beginning to understand more fully Paul's statement, "It is no longer I that live but Christ that lives in me?"

If so, our lives are an acceptable sacrifice and we are bringing forth fruit unto God, having found the supreme goal of Christian service. If not, may we successfuly fight the battle with self, and honestly and completely lay our lives at the feet of our Saviour.

W.C.C. LOOKS AHEAD

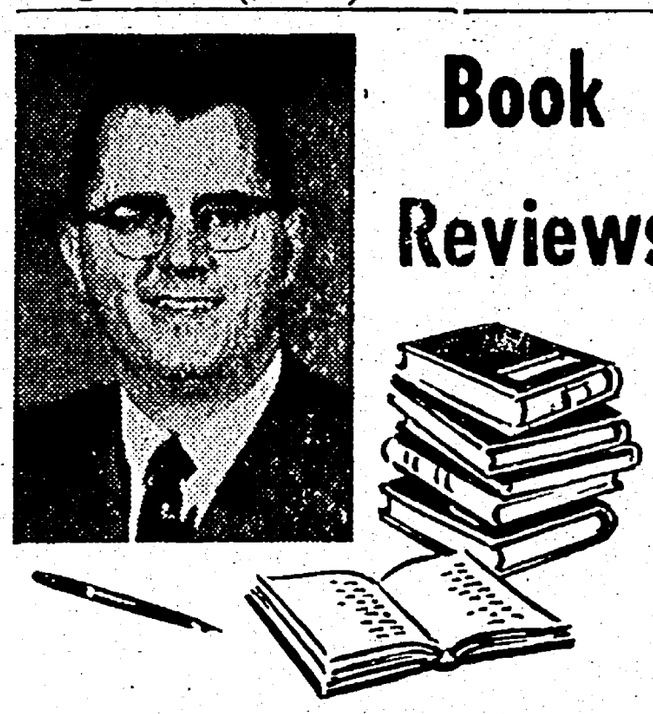
from successful business and professional friends. The smaller schools who need the assistance just as badly, if not more so, are often overlooked. Where are the brethren who will build the financial resources for these vital centers of learning? Childless couples who have been blessed by the Lord beyond their need should consider their ability to help in this area. Such individuals could find real satisfaction in making a substantial contribution in their twilight years. If security in old age concerns them to such a degree that large contributions are impossible during their lives, there is the alternative method of providing money for Christian education in their estates. One does not need to be wealthy to do a great deal of good with a thoughtful approach to the writing of one's will.



Brethren who live within easy driving distance of W.C.C. or G.L.C.C. are beginning to learn how pleasant it is to attend the various functions of these schools. Those who attend find that they are more and more sold on the value of Christian education. Most of us who have had the opportunity to study the finished product and to taste the joys of such education do not need to be sold. We are convinced that the slogan is true: "Christian education does not cost. It pays." Despite the truth of this statement, there is an investment to be made before the dividends are produced.

We call upon our brethren across Canada to rally to the support of Western Christian College as it prepares to assume a greater usefulness and a greater responsibility.

Book Reviews

Books to be reviewed in this column should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont., Canada.

None of These Diseases by S. I. McMillen, M.D., Fleming H. Revell Company (In Canada: G. R. Welch Co.). 158 pages, cloth, $2.95; paper, 60c. (plus exchange in Canada).

The best news about this book is that it is now available in paperback for only 60c (plus a little exchange in Canada). It went through at least eight printings as a hard cover book. That will give you some idea of its popularity. And it certainly deserves a wide reading.

The title is taken from a verse in Exodus 15:26: "If thou wilt diligently hearken to the voice of the Lord thy God, and wilt do that which is right in his sight, and wilt give ear to his commandments, and keep all his statutes, I will put none of these diseases upon thee." The author's thesis is that following the teaching of the Bible is not only beneficial spiritually but also physically and mentally. He shows that the laws of health and happiness laid down in the Bible have proven valid down through the years.

The chapter headings give you some idea of the interesting reading in this book. For instance there are chapters headed "Gray Hair and Rattlesnake Oil"; "Science Arrives — Four Thousand Years Late"; "Coronary and Cancer by the Carton"; "The Enemies of Sexual Happiness"; "It's Not What You Eat — It's What Eats You."

The author is college physician at Houghton College, Houghton, New York and was formerly a medical missionary.

Special Note: A limited number of the excellent commentary on James by J. W. Roberts are available at $2.50 instead of the regular price of $3.50.

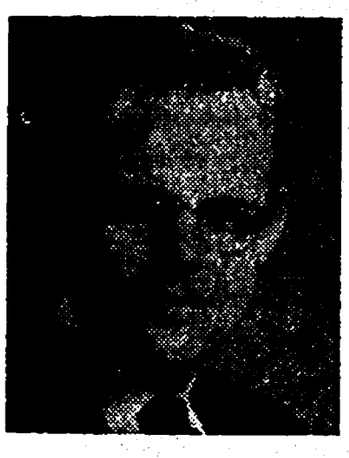
DAUPHIN, MAN. REPORT

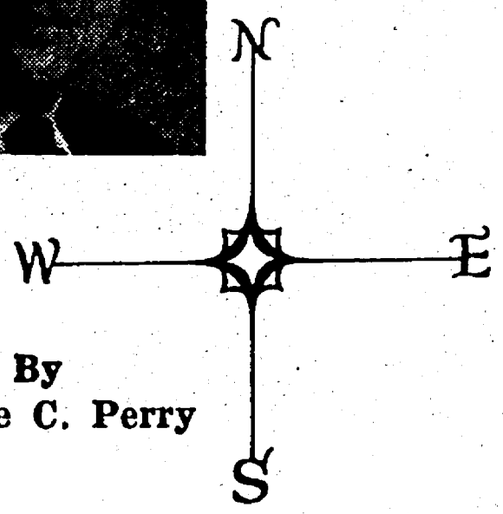
The second annual lectureship was held April 2, 3, and 4 and was a attended by members of the church from Regina, Weyburn, Estevan, Carman, Carnduff, Manson, Branden, Winnipeg, and visitors from the town. The theme was "The Christian Home" and speakers were James Burns of Regina, Clinton Brazle of Weyburn, Ed Smithsen of Central Congrgation in Moore, Okla., Dale King of Stanford, Texas, and Dryden Sinclair of Western Christian Foundation of Wichita Falls, Texas. Mrs. Ray Meneer taught the Ladies Class. Jim Hawkins began a meeting on the Sunday night and continued April 4-9. He is an outstanding evangelist and we felt greatly blessed by his presence in our midst. There were no visible results, but all were strengthened in the christian faith. We are sorry that Bro. Hawkins health has not been good of late. We pray for him, for he is of great value to the western work.

Our radio program over CKDM Dauphin continues with good interest. There are more requests for lessons at this time than any time previously. It is supported almost entirely by outside congregations and will continue to the end of this year at least. It has a good coverage. Brethren from Punnichy, Wawota and Manson are listening as are local people.



We plan a VBS for July 12-16 with Bro. Ed Baggett of Searcy, Arkansas as director for the fifth consecutive year. He will also be the song director for the Tent meeting July 18-25, with an all day meeting on July 18. Bro. Joseph Jones of Northside in Detroit, Michigan will be preaching. He preached in the 1962 campaign here and we are indeed glad to have him and his wife and family with us again.

The work in Dauphin seems to have a bright future. One outstanding feature is the excellent property we were able to secure, with the hope that we may be able to build on it before too long. Cottage meetings are being held, with others in prospect. Our meetings are well attended with almost the entire membership being present at the Sunday and Thursday evening meetings. Ladies Class is also well attended.



Our young people attended the Young People's Lectureship in Winnipeg on May 21st weekend. Bro. Dods addressed the group on May 23.

Brethren Dods and Williams continue to work here. We are pleased to have these men. We are sorry to report that the Emerson Gould family will be leaving us at the end of this month to take up residence in Brandon. We know the church in Brandon will be blessed by their work.

We ask your prayers for our work here and we extend a hearty welcome to anyone who can be with us at any time and especially for our tent meeting July 18-25.

Victoria, B.C.: Two were baptized on March 29. The new meeting house is progressing well with the walls up and the roof in process.

Nanaimo, B.C.: A lectureship on the topic of Vision in Church Leadership has been announced for July 1.

Campbell River, B.C.: Steve and Gail Pawlak have moved to this place and hope to form the nucleus of a congregation there.

Vancouver, B.C.: Two men were identified on May 9th.

Medicine Hat, Alta.: A gospel meeting has been announced for June 27 to July 4 with E. P. Lake doing the preaching.

Edmonton, Alta.: A plan of evangelizing, called "Christians at the Door" has been announced. It will encourage young people to give a period of their lives to this work. We hope to publish further details later.

Sault Ste Marie, Ont.: The McNab street church is having a V.B.S. in the evenings July 5-9. Consideration is being given to re-locating.

Lakehead: One member has donated $5000 toward the new building which is now being built. The Hillcrest church in Abilene, Texas, has also provided generous encouragement in this building program. A campaign is planned for the first part of July with evangelistic services conducted by Keith Thompson of Beamsville July 11-18. Meetings will be in the Northwood High School in Fort William which is near the building site. A booth has been contracted for the fair in August.

Ice Lake, Ont.: Sister John Kerr, Ice Lake, Manitoulin Island, is celebrating her 100th birthday on Aug. 15th. She has been a member of the Lord's family for 85 years and is a regular reader of the GOSPEL HERALD.

North Bay, Ont.: A verbal report indicates a wonderfully encouraging campaign with a total of 24 baptisms representing something like a 150% increase in the congregation.

Sundridge, Ont.: One has been baptized this spring but is now living in Sudbury. Helpers are needed for V.B.S. here and also at Huntsville. The school at Huntsville will be July 26-30.

Meaford, Ont.: Eddie Campbell of Valdosta, Georgia, began a meeting in Meaford on June 23.

Toronto: A sister from England has recently been received at Maplewood. The Warren Lewis family has moved from Boston to Toronto where he will be studying. We understand that he is an excellent speaker.

Hamilton, Ont.: The Fennell Ave. church is sending four workers to the Central Ontario Campaign and is also encouraging members to help in the Niagara Falls Campaign by paying the living expenses of those who will volunteer. One was baptized at this place on May 16.

Ajax, Ont.: Two young men have been welcomed into the church in recent months. A campaign is planned for the month of August.

Peterborough, Ont.: Gordon Dennis reports that a bid was placed on a school house (solid brick, well kept) just a mile and a half from the city. The bid was accepted. A Gestetner machine has been obtained at a good saving and 25 hymn books have been donated. The opening meeting is July 4th.

Beamsville, Ont.: Two young people from Great Lakes Christian College have been baptized recently. This church, with an eye to better provision for the large crowds and for Bible classes has purchased 3.6 acres of land north of the College Campus. There is no definite decision to build as yet. V.B.S. is July 5-9.

Tintern, Ont.: Marvin MacDonald, just returned from Texas, has taken up work with this church. V.B.S. is planned for July 5-16.

Fenwick, Ont.: The campaign is still in progress with some encouraging responses from the community. Don Alexander, a G.L.C.C. student will be assisting with this work through the summer months.

Wellandport, Ont.: This church which has grown numerically by eight baptisms is hoping to secure some property and build a meeting house as soon as possible.

Windsor, Ont.: "By the time this goes to press, we here in Windsor will be in the midst of our Campaign for Christ. We solicit the prayers of our brethren on behalf of this work. Our thanks again to those that helped financially. Over five hundred dollars has thus far been received.

I will be working with the brethren at Concord, in a gospel meeting from Sept. 19 to 26.

—Ray L. Miller

Montreal, Que.: There were 175 in attendance at the formal opening of the new building on May 16 as Keith Thompson of Beamsville began a meeting. Owen Aikin of Quebec City held a meeting in French at the "Salle Chopin" May 30 - June 4. The French speaking brethren are now meeting each Lord's Day at 11.15 a.m. in the basement of the new building.

Halifax, N.S.: One lady was baptized on April 11. Although about six members have moved from Halifax there is hope of a group of Christians moving there in the future to work. Ron Pauls and wife, supported fully by two Texas churches will come to brother Hart's assistance in August.

Mill Village meetings — July 25 to August 1, V.B.S. July 26-30.

Halifax V.B.S. August 9-13.

India: The Jim Johnsons arrived at Madras on May 28 and entered immediately into the work despite the hot climate. They had not yet found a place to live and were feeling severely the need for suitable transportation at last report. A motorcycle at about $400 was suggested as being useful. A May 31 report from J. C. Bailey states that the number baptized to that date was 2,008.

the PAST

"forgetting the things which are behind"

OUT OF ONE, INTO ONE

by Audrey Wright

The Bathurst Street Church in Toronto must have been a determined and flourishing group of Christians. Just four years after they located on Bathurst St., the June, 1907 issue of Bible Student reveals that "scarcity of houses in the City led to a few of the members of Bathurst St. locating at Wychwood Pk., later deciding to plant the banner of the Cross on the hill north of the city." Result? The Maplewood Ave. Church.

By 1910, Bathurst St. was again launching out. "Another church house has been purchased in the west end of the city, and work will be commenced about the middle of April." Result? The Fern Ave. Church. Truly? we of the sixties owe a debt of gratitude to a church of faith and vision, who, in the early years of this century could evangelize the city of Toronto as it spread north and west.

The neighbourhood surrounding the Fern Ave. meetinghouse is described as "one of Toronto's newest residential districts, offering a tempting opportunity to establish a church of Christ." The opportunity was met with a building containing a 200-seat auditorium and classrooms. An ambitious undertaking for thirty members! But with help from Bathurst St., they were soon able to defray the purchase price and repairs, totalling $4,400.

From the beginning, the work of the Bible School was an important and rewarding area of emphasis. By their second anniversary in 1912, 195 were present for Bible School and records reveal that "additions to the church are being constantly made from the ranks of the scholars and in many instances the parents also have been reached." Pertaining further to the Bible School activity, the Bible Student relates, "The work is being greatly hampered by the fact that our facilities are very inadequate. We have reached the limit of increase unless the building is extended."

Within two years, January, 1914, this demand became a reality for 137 members when the new and existing meeting house was opened by a week's meeting preached by W. D. Campbell of Detroit. Attendance figures for opening day provide ample proof of canvassing from door to door and among acquaintances: Bible School, 237; morning worship, in excess of 200; evening worship, about 400.

The early days of the church at Fern Ave. are filled with deeds of faith and daring — in the Bible School, in foreign mission work, in the women's work, and in the community. By 1916, thirty-one students of the Bible School had been baptized, and increased missionary interest initiated a four-page missions bulletin, published monthly. Local mission work in the towns of Aurora, Erin, and Stouffville occupied the interests of several in the congregation.

The succeeding years were fraught with the usual "growing pains" of a new work, yet not without their rewards. The Silver Jubilee Anniversary in May, 1935 was cause for rejoicing, reflection, and renewing of efforts. . . . A letter dated May,

The clasped hands represent the faith that the congregations have in each other and the love which must abound between them if the new congregation is to do an effective work. But faith in each other and love for each other is insufficient without the assistance of God. The praying hands are a symbol of complete dependence on God to guide our plans. With our hands clasped across the city and held up to God, we will, by His strength and abundant mercy, stretch out our hands in service to the people of Toronto.

OUT OF ONE, INTO ONE

1940 reveals an existing mortgage of $2,700, with a strong appeal to make it non-existent. . . . A fire late in 1944 gutted the building and gave rise to the question, "Rebuild or move?" Much discussion ensued but posterity is witness to the fact that Fern Ave. was to remain "Fern Ave." for the next twenty-one years. March, 1965 will go down in the annals of time for the decision of the elders that a more effective work could be accomplished in Toronto by merging with Maplewood for greater growth — numerically, financially, and spiritually.

The aggressive group of thirty members who migrated from Bathurst St. to form the Wychwood Pk. church secured a lot for $550 and erected an $800 meeting house. The June, 1907 Bible Student reports, "It is built right in the midst of a new and rapidly growing district and the Church has a splendid opportunity for sowing the good seed." A report of opening day services testifies of door to door visitation: "A large section of the audiences were neighbours living in shacks, shanties, and cottages close by the meeting house." Small wonder then, that their ranks swelled to 45 by October, and to 55 by January, 1908. This growth can be largely attributed to summer open air meetings, and weekly tract and literature distribution.

Increases among their own ranks gave way to missionary zeal so necessary to the growing, successful church. In September, 1908 there was an exodus to western Canada by several families; on the local scene, the towns of Sherwood and Stouffville were receiving assistance by the Wychwood Pk. church. But mission efforts by this young church did more than merely decrease their number. The March, 1910 Bible Student reveals, "The work at this place is making excellent progress. . . . It will not be long before a much larger church house will be absolutely necessary in order to accommodate the rapidly increasing audiences."

Twenty-two baptisms had been realized within the year ending May 1910, bringing the membership to a total of 70. "It is doubtful if there is a congregation in the dominion that is making as rapid progress, and doing more good than this little hive of workers at Wychwood Pk." (Bible Student, July, 1910).

Open air preaching continued during the summer months and doubtless gave rise to mounting interest on the part of some Mormons in the neighbourhood who were also visiting from door to door and distributing literature.

The Wychwood Church was a reading church for they maintained a library. A 1911 account suggests, "Any gift of books to the library . . . . suitable for either adults or children, will be gratefully received and acknowledged by the librarian." The collection was greatly enhanced in later years by many of Bro. H. McKerlie's books, donated at his passing by Sis. McKerlie.

Within three years of the first migration to western Canada, another group of brethren departed for the West in 1911, leaving the little band small in number, but large in activity. They published The Wychwood News, a community bulletin, providing news of coming events with an invitation to be present. But the press was not their only medium of advertising. When a two-week meeting was scheduled with Albert Brown, members were each assigned a street to canvass, "giving a personal invitation to every householder" both weeks of the meeting

In 1913 a brother arrived from the West and began worshipping at Wychwood. He possessed a great passion for open air preaching and could be found on Yonge Street (Toronto's main artery) on Sunday evenings, addressing the passers-by. Reports tell of at least two who were baptized through the efforts of this preaching brother.

A passing glance at a Sunday morning worship service in 1919 reveals the presence of 18 members and four visitors; the offering totalled $9.40.

The year 1926 recalls to many the joyous occasion of moving into a new building. Brick replaced the frame construction of the original building, whose small auditorium and few classrooms necessitated the change.

The work of the church was demanding deacons by 1927 and soon the congregation "on the hill north of the city" became aware that in order to grow, they must continue to help others to grow; therefore, monthly contributions were sent to help spread the gospel in Africa.

The traditional June Meeting was hosted by Maplewood in 1933 when events began on Saturday, followed by the Lord's Day services in Vaughan Rd. Collegiate. Speakers for this occasion were C. G. McPhee, L. J. Keffer, and H. McKerlie.

Through the years changes have occurred throughout the neighbourhood; prospects for progress became hampered by diversity of nationalities, each with its own ethnic background, and by the lo-

PUBLICITY — Troy Warren, Blenus Wright, Audrey Wright and John Banks are involved in public relations and the advertising of the work as it progresses.

FINANCE — The hardest task of all rests on the shoulders of Roy Williams, Albert Bennetts, W. G. Harmen (not pictured) and Edith Williams, sec. Approximately $150,000 will have to be raised.

"It is my belief that there is strength in numbers. With the coming together of the two congregations, with the properly appointed eldership, a strong church with tremendous future possibilities can be foreseen. The organization of any church on sound scriptural basis can be a tremendous influence for good in any community, and more particularly in a new work in a different area. The congregations here have longed for a move which would stimulate interest more than ever before. So it is with a great deal of encouragment and delight that we enter into a new era." —Russell Peckham, Fern PLANNING — Russell Peckham, Blenus Albert Bennetts, E. J. A. Kennedy, Sidney Huntsman, Troy Warren, Colin Cameron, G. Harman (not pictured), Mary Ellen Banks, sec. The overall planning of the mlity of this group concerned mainly with the work and worship of the new congreon spiritual growth.

Revival is not a miraculoon an unprepared people like a bolt out of the blue. It comes westly want revival and are willing to pay the price. It is always pr of individuals and a breaking up o: the hardened ground of theireless praying and beseeching the blessing of God, and by an heerful willingness to obey the Holy Spirit. —Christianity Today, April 9, 1965

The book of Proverbs tells no vision the people perish. The Maplewood and Fern Ave. churcnstances over which they have no control, have decided to unite inieve, can only lead to success, for the Lord does not want His peolieve He allowed the early church to be scattered abroad because e just "standing on the promises of God" and not doing enough bn of a new work can, I believe, only receive God's blessing andll who join hands together in the union of faith and love, working —George Broome, Maplewood

"The combination of thesill certainly add strength to the cause. If we all work together, tcomplished."

— Margaret Whitelaw, Fern

LOCATION — Bill MacKay, Fred Byne, Troy Warren, (Mel Stewart, Bill Sloan, Dennis MacKay, not pictured), Margaret Whitelaw, sec. are busily engaged searching for a tract of land suitable for the home of the new congregation.

As members at Maplewood for several years, we, along with many others, have felt that a more aggressive work for the Lord must be done. We are thrilled that Fern Ave. and Maplewood have seen fit to combine forces and "launch out into the deep." With God's help and much determination on the part of all concerned, we are confident that great things can be accomplished for the Lord and His kingdom extended throughout this city.

the FUTURE

"we press on toward the goal unto the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus"

A VISION OF THINGS TO COME

by Troy R. Warren

"WHERE THERE IS NO VISION THE PEOPLE PERISH," said a man who was reputed to have been the wisest to walk the earth. These words of Solomon, found in Proverbs 29:18, grow to be more meaningful to us as we consider the awe-inspiring probabilities of the population explosion and its implications to the followers of the Lord Jesus Christ. In the business world, men have recognized the need to look to the future with reality and scope in order to be prepared for the challenges of a world growing faster than the finite mind can imagine. Paper manufacturers are assuring themselves that forests are being planted today that will not be harvested for seventy years. Petroleum companies are spending millions of dollars annually in research for new fuels and lubrications which will be needed when the now-known supplies of natural oil are exhausted. Thoughtful prophets have predicted that by the year 2,000, barring natural disasters, diseases, or major wars, there will probably be a continuous uninterrupted metropolis from Niagara Falls, Ontario, all the way to Oshawa.

Applying these examples of vision and forethought to the church of our Lord, we realize that all of these multiplied thousands of people will each represent a precious soul in God's sight, whom he would not have to perish, but to come to repentance. With this knowledge in mind, the leadership of the Fern Avenue and Maplewood Avenue churches in Toronto, plan to unite their efforts. A new building in a better location will replace the existing buildings and the new congregation will begin to apply itself as never before to the task of evangelization, both at home and across the waters. This decision was made after due consideration of possible alternatives, and the announcement was made with apologies to no one, because it is viewed not as a step backward, but a bold step forward.

In the minds of those brethren who are responsible for the merger are many plans which should definitely further the Cause in Toronto and in Ontario. At the basis of these plans lies vision. These brethren foresee a church which is both numerically strong and spiritually mature enough to perform the task of planting the New Testiment church in surrounding Ontario cities where pure new Testament Christianity is still unknown. Newspaper advertisement, radio and television programs, direct mail literature, and 'Dial-a-Devotional' are all possibilities being considered as means of advancing the city's knowledge of the church and of assuring a more accurate image of the church there.

Enthusiasm is running high among membership of both congregations. There is the natural nostalgia of those who have had such a large part in the past work, but it has not interferred with the desire to progress. It can safely be said that only healthy sentiment has been exhibited for the two buildings which have served well for so long, but which must now make way for the new.

Most of all each person involved in this project is being encouraged to view himself as a weak and useless creature without the help of God who loves us, grants us grace in time of need, and will provide the means of accomplishing His will, if only they will but trust in Him and His promises. There are no dream castles about the task that is before them now. All realize the difficulty of finishing the job which has only been begun, but they are cultivating the attitude of, WE CAN!! WE MUST!! WE WILL!! If it be God's will.

Isaiah 40:29-31 — "HE GIVETH POWER TO THE FAINT; AND TO THEM THAT HAVE NO MIGHT HE INCREASETH STRENGTH. EVEN THE YOUTHS SHALL FAINT AND BE WEARY, AND THE YOUNG MEN SHALL UTTERLY FALL: BUT THEY THAT WAIT UPON THE LORD SHALL RENEW THEIR STRENGTH; THEY SHALL MOUNT UP WITH WINGS AS EAGLES; THEY SHALL RUN, AND NOT BE WEARY; AND THEY SHALL WALK, AND NOT BE FAINT."

cation of the building on a side street where parking is inadequate. Hence the wishes of the majority gave rise to the signs now posted at the front of each building: For Sale. Progress demands expansion; we are moving to grow.

And so, out of one, into one. What the great Bathurst Street Church did for Toronto in the 1910's, reaching out to evangelize north and west, the Maplewood-Fern Church hopes to continue in the 1960's.

HERE AND THERE

Ottawa, Ont.: A gospel meeting was preached by Earl West of Indianapolis, Ind. June 2-9. Contributions are over the budget and three families have home Bible studies in progress. V.B.S. dates are Aug. 23-27.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING

"As a former member of the Fern Avenue congregation I am greatly interested in the proposed merger of these two congregations. I can recall that Fern Avenue was often hampered from accomplishing all we would like to do because of a lack of sufficient members. This, I believe, has been the case with our good brethren at Maplewood as well. Of course, it is often the situation with all small congregations. In the great, constantly expanding metropolis of Toronto, there is an ever increasing need for strong congregations of the Lord's church. I feel confident that the brethren involved in this union do not feel that simply by this act alone will the job be done. But in view of the lessons of the past and the challenges of the future I would say it is a step in the right direction."

—Keith T. Thompson, Minister, Beamsville, Ontario.

I have visited the churches in Toronto over the past 25 years, and have spoken on various occasions to all of them. It has been my pleasure, therefore to observe them — their needs and development.

The church has made great strides, in spite of obstacles, and the brethren there are to be commended for their great work. One thing that has been a very definite hinderance to the church there is that it has been divided into groups that are too small. Their facilities have been inadequate, and this has hindered their efforts to advance the cause of Christ effectively.

I believe the move to consolidate two of the congregations, and move into a new building in a new and growing section of the city is one that will put the cause of Christ ahead many years in Toronto. It has been my pleasure to meet with various brethren to discuss this with them. I believe the plans they have made there are good. This is not a new venture, for such action has been taken in various cities, with the best of results.

—Otis Gatewood, World Evangelist

Sentiment, emotion and tradition can be very healthy attributes of the Lord's people. They ought not to be allowed to impede progress nor to lessen the efficiency of our efforts to proclaim Christ. It is a source of happiness to this writer to note that two congregations, both rich in memories of past days, are able to subordinate their sentimental ties to the needs of the hour. Thus, in the merger of the two, a new congregation will be born.

Maplewood and Fern Avenue congregations are each located in areas that have made growth difficult. As they merge and move into a new area, I anticipate that the Gospel of Christ will be proclaimed with increasing strength, zeal and efficiency. May God bless this happy union with a harvest of souls.

—Roy D. Merritt, Minister, Port Arthur, Ontario.

"I would like to give my congratulations to the beloved brethren of both congregations, whom I have known for many years. Like marriage, the purpose of this union is to build a new and happy life together, and raise a family to the glory of God. Also, like marriage, the basis of this union must be mutual love and respect, and unconditional devotion to God. From this kind of relationship only good can come. I know there will be many problems, and all of them will be people, but by the grace of Christ, there will be just as many solutions. God speed to you all."

—Joe Cannon, Missionary to Japan

"When brethren deliberately inconvenience themselves in order to further the cause of Christ as being the greater and higher purpose; when mutual labours are pooled, not just to become "big", but to effect economy that the Lord's work may have the benefit of increased finances; when personal preferences are cast aside as of no consequence when compared to what God desires, then can we know what it is to commit our lives wholly unto God.

"I salute the brethren at Fern Avenue and Maplewood Avenue for their very forward-looking planning in merging the two separate congregations into one, and pray that the result will be increased devotion to learning, doing and teaching the Word of God."

—Edward L. Bryant, Minister, Strathmore Blvd., Toronto, Ontario.

I am frank to say that I feel a new era is dawning. A great step forward has been made in the determination of the two groups to pool their efforts and resources for Christ. With the spirit and attitude I saw manifested on May 29, at my meeting with you, there can be no possibility of failure. I am impressed with your plans and your goals I am sure you are moving in the right direction in moving into a newer and better location and I am also much impressed with your determination to take the cause of Christ back into the older sections of the city when you are strong enough to do so. May God bless you in your efforts and your plans.

—G. E. Montgomery, Minister, Southfield, Michigan.

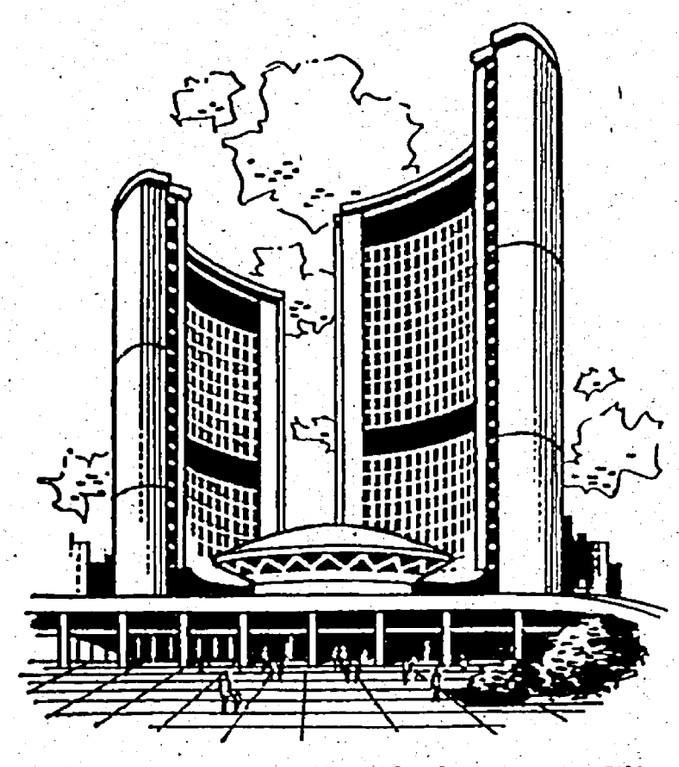
NEW CHURCH BUILDING TO BE DEDICATED

Some two years ago three or four families left with the bleessing of the Griersville church to hold services in the Vandeleur Hall. Last fall the group began to erect a proper building in which to meet and worship. With the help of a number of other brethren and by their own determined—effort the building is erected and almost paid for.

Opening Day will be July 25th., Services will be held at 11 a.m. with Bro. Marvin McDonald of Tintern speaking, at 3 p.m. with Louis Pauls of Meaford and at 8 p.m. when C. G. McPhee of St. Catharines will speak.

The Vandeleur church invites you to be with them on this day.

Planned Activities at Vandeleur



Following the formal opening of the new building on July 25th., a Vacation Bible school will be held from July 26th., to July 30th. A special service will be held for children and adults on Friday evening.

As a follow - up to the vacation Bible school a gospel meeting will begin on Lord's Day August 1st and will continue through to Lord's Day August 8th. (except Saturday)

Walter Dale, presently working with the Ivon Avenue church in Hamilton and teaching at Great Lakes Christian College will speak each evening. He will also assist in conducting the Vacation Bible school.

TORONTO CHALLENGES THE CHURCH

by Blenus Wright

The twin towers of the new City Hall depict the image of Toronto today. From the heart of the downtown area the city spreads like an octopus, grasping all available land and filling it with tall skyscrapers, unique office buildings, modern apartments, sprawling industrial plants, and multi-designed homes. But where's the church? Unfortunately, the church, if regarded as a building, is lost in the maze of modern construction. Yes, the image of the church is dim when the world looks at the material side. But, fortunately, the church as a people are living and active in this huge metropolis. The church is not lost in the maze of modernistic teaching of this age, but stands at the intersection of its greatest challenge to preach a gospel to a world in need of the power of God. The image of the church as a people is dull; unless the church accepts the challenge of Toronto now, the future will be much darker. The church as buildings and the church as people are in need of a revival today before the future so overwhelms it that there will be no hope for survival.

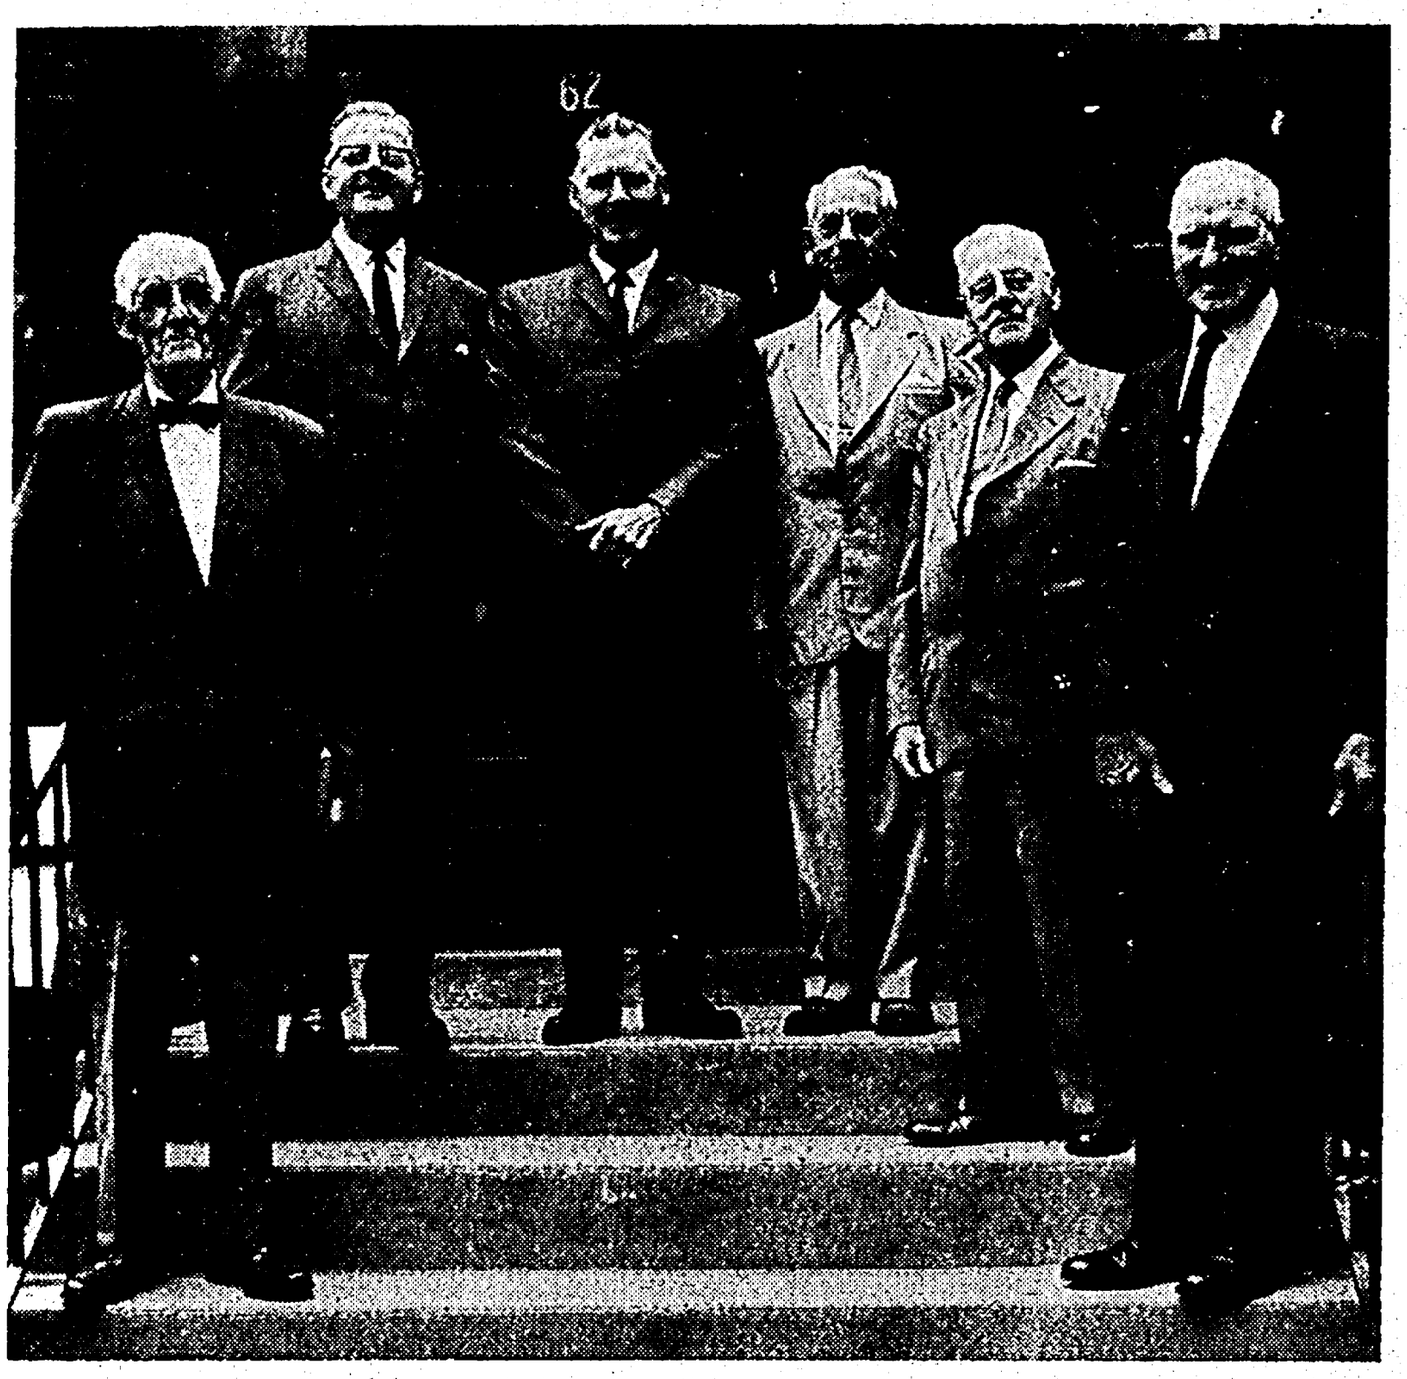
The people of the church are keeping up with the people of Toronto in material things. We live in modern homes, drive new automobiles, eat the best of food, wear good clothes, and enjoy many conveniences far above the average person. Yet the world scoffs when they see how much we spend on the spiritual part of our lives which purports to be our whole life. Our church buildings certainly don't flatter our potential for material things. We spend more for furniture for our homes than we do for equipment in our classrooms. How many would be happy living in the church buildings as they are, rather than their homes? The cost of our food, shelter, clothing, and cars compared to the amount we spend preaching the gospel via radio, TV, and the printed page is appalling. Truly, the city is out-challenging the church of today. What about the future?

Toronto challenges the church. The world of the future plans on. Think of a wrist telephone; driverless bus (already invented), simply need the cables in the streets); turbine cars needing no water, antifreeze, oil change, batteries, nor wheels; national daily newspapers; plants raised hydroponically in water and chemicals under artificial light; air-conditioned barns where livestock spend their entire lives; farmers at TV screens operating the farm by pushing buttons on a central panel. That is the world of the future, but this is Toronto today. "Entering the bigtime with a bang, Metro Toronto boasts: It's growing faster than New York, is richer than Montreal, is the brightest, boldest city in Canada . . . and, ten years after its formation, is just beginning to come alive."

The population of Metro Toronto will reach two million by 1970, four million by 1994, and the projection for 2064 is seventeen million when the city will extend from Oshawa in the east to Niagara Falls in the west, and north to Lake Simcoe. Fifty thousand souls annually swell the statistics of the city. These people must be housed, fed, clothed, educated, employed, and most important of all, "churched". Toronto's census has increased by 44.9% over the past ten years in comparison to New York's 14.3% and Chicago's 21.6%. "Few communities have as wide open a future as Metro — a future as big, busy, and bold as anyone wants to make it."

In new construction, Toronto ranks higher than any city in North America. Torontonians were impressed in the 1920's when construction of the Canadian Bank of Commerce Building was to cost ten million and the Royal York, fifteen million. Today, the East-West subway will cost 200 million; Flemingdon Pk. development 100 million; Toronto-Dominion Bank, 60 million; the new city hall, 35 million; the new court house, 16 million — just to mention a fraction of the new construction now in progress.

Toronto is "alive, friendly, cultured, attractive, exciting, tolerant, bursting with opportunity." Two hundred twenty-five trains and fifty thousand trucks move in and out every day. There are 350 take-offs and landings, and ten ships arrive every twenty-four hours.



"Downtown will be finer and more human, enjoyable, and interesting. Traffic, parking and public transportation will be underground. The surface, freed for the pedestrian, will be bright with flowers, trees, outdoor cafes; elevated walkways will connect building to building. Pollution, wiring, ugly signs will have gone. In winter, much of the downtown area will be enclosed and heated and the pedestrians will move through buildings, passages and bridges and covered public places. In this inner belt flying jetcars will be commonplace, travelling in controlled lanes and landing at garage airports."

The corner stone of the new head office of the Royal Bank contains several predictions for the future. It is expected that the building will be torn down in 100 years. This building is not completed, yet man is thinking of the future when it will be demolished to make room for progress. Truly, "the sons of this world are for their own generation wiser than the sons of light." But where's the church? The church hasn't commenced to begin to get started in planning the work of the Lord that this city so desperately needs.

Toronto challenges the church. For too long the city has been growing in all directions and the church has been satisfied to stay in its own little city-within-a-city oblivious to the happenings in a modern society. The present congregations are

THE ELDERS by John Banks

"If a man desire the office of a bishop he desires a good work"

Albert E. Bennetts — was born in Toronto in 1914. He was married to Ina Robertson in 1940 and from this happy union have come two daughters. Bro. Bennetts was added to the church in 1925 and has served as an elder of the Maplewood congregation since 1961. He is Vice-Chairman of the Board of Directors of Great Lakes Christian College, a member of the Ontario Safety Council and is very active in community affairs. Bro. Bennetts holds a position at the head office branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce.

Colin D. Cameron — was born in Falkirk, Scotland in 1886. He married Mary Long in 1911 and their marriage has been blessed with four children. Bro. Cameron was baptized into Christ in 1903 and moved to Toronto in 1907. He began worshipping with the Vaughan Road Church of Christ (now Maplewood). Along with his father he helped build the present church building. He has served as an elder since 1943 and is a retired bricklayer.

Harry Bennetts — arrived into this world June 16, 1885 at Millom, Cumberland, England. He took for his wife the former Frances Ann Bland in 1909. They have three children. Bro. Bennetts became a member of the church in 1902 and moved to Canada in 1910. He was a butcher in England and had a similar business here for a short time. Prior to this he worked with the Dominion Bank for 13 years. He has preached for a number of years having spent eleven of these in the states of West Virginia and Kentucky. He was first appointed an elder of Maplewood in 1920 and except for his absence during the years of preaching he has continued to hold this office.

John MacKay — appeared on the scene of time Jan. 27, 1909 at Perth, Scotland. The former Ivy Berry and John MacKay have enjoyed the past 35 years together as husband and wife. They have four sons and one daughter. John became a member of the church in 1920 and travelled to Canada in 1922. He is active on the Board of Directors of Omagh Bible School and has been an elder at Maplewood since 1962. For the past 28 years Bro. MacKay has operated the Phoenix Dye Works.

Sidney Huntsman — was born October 4, 1885 in Clinton Township near Tintern, Ontario. In 1922 he married the former Mrs. Jean Mason, a widow and became father to her two children. Sis. Huntsman passed from this life in 1965. Bro. Huntsman was baptized in 1901 and has held the office of elder at Fern Ave. since about 1930. He is now retired but has been a farmer and an accountant and still works occasionally as an accountant.

E. J. A. Kennedy — was born in 1880 in Belfast, Ireland. At the age of ten he came to Toronto and shortly afterwards became a member of the Bathurst Street congregation. He married the former Donna Culp. They have one son. Bro. Kennedy was employed as a manufacturing agent for several confectionary firms. He has served as an elder at Fern Ave. for about 15 years.

OUR DEPARTED

SNEDDON

Bro. James Sneddon passed away in the Henderson General Hospital on June 5th after a few days of much suffering. He was in his 62nd year. Our Brother was born in Scotland and came to Canada nearly 17 years ago.

He was baptized into Christ about 34 years ago, and was a faithful member of the church at Sanford Ave., in Hamilton. He attended the meetings of the congregation regularly and was a good worker, serving as treasurer for nearly 13 years, even to the time of his passing. He will be greatly missed.

He leaves to mourn his departure his wife, one son, also one brother and two sisters in Scotland. The funeral service was conducted from the Robinson Funeral Home, with internment in the Woodland Cemetery. The large attendance of brethren, friends and fellow-workmen indicated how highly he was esteemed.

FAITH OF OUR FATHERS AND THEIR SONS AND DAUGHTERS

by Blenus Wright

"No man is an island." No individual is justified in looking into the mirror of life and congratulating himself on the fine job he is doing in cultivating for himself a unique character and personality. The individual's nature and disposition are moulded by heredity and environment. Without the influence of family, without the faithfulness of friends, without the hundreds of other indivudals encountered at the crossroads of life he would have little character or personality. He is a debtor to others who have become a part of him.

A church does not consist only of its present membership. The Fern Ave. and Maplewood congregations have no right today to say, "Look at us. We are the church in Toronto in July, 1965!" To some degree this is true, yet one must never forget that the church of today is a product of the church of yesterday. We must pause to pay tribute to the faith of our fathers.

Faith of Our Fathers

How easy it is for youth to look to the past and see the errors, faults and lack of faith of the church of yesterday. The spectator always comprehends how the game could have been won, but the task becomes slightly more difficult when he dons a uniform and begins to experience the hard knocks of action on the field. Youth should ask this question: "What if we had lived in the past and made the decisions for the church?" Perhaps the outcome would have been disastrous and the congregations today would have been less active. A far more imposing question for the youth of the church today: "What will the youth of the next generation say concerning the activities of the church in the decade of the 60's?" The torch has been passed and it must be held high. We must do our share to contribute to the future church. It must be realized that the age in which the congregations were established was an age quite different from the present one. Truly our fathers exhibited an undaunted faith.

"Your old men shall dream dream"

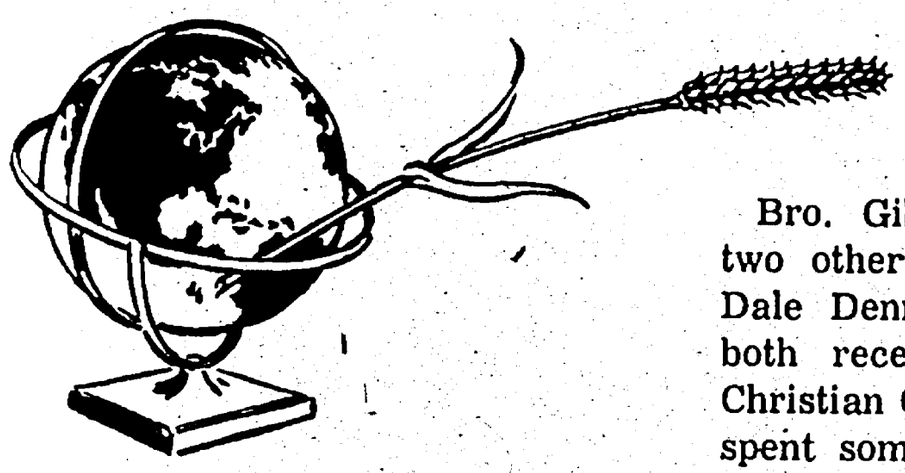
The dreams of many of the early members of the church concerned not only the work of the Lord, but the hopes and aspirations of the work of the Lord in a new and growing country. Some of our fathers were pioneers in this country and in the church. The writer lacks knowledge with which to express adequately to each member of the past the praise which they deserve. Mention will be made of only a few of the people who have contributed to building the foundation of the present congregations. It is impossible to name each person but we salute with gratitude every individual through the years who has had a part in making the church what it is today.

The nucleus of the Maplewood congregation emanated from the Stevenson, Whitfield, and Summerfield families. Worthy of mention is A. E. Hudson who, previous to coming to Canada, was a missonary to India. It should not be forgotten that not only did the men and women of the past work to provide the physical needs of life, but they also built the physical buildings in which worship is conducted today. Besides their physical activities, they did much of the preaching and teaching which built the spiritual church of which we are sons and daughters. Bro. Colin Cameron Sr. was a brick contractor and not only was responsible for the building of the present Maplewood building, but also the Strathmore Blvd. building. Bro. H. McKerlie was a man well respected for his scholarly approach to the Bible. He was a prolific writer, leaving behind a number of books and articles for our admonition today. Bro. McKerlie served as minister for all the Toronto congregations and passed away while laboring with Maplewood.

A number of men have taken their places as elders in the church, among whom was Bro. Alexander Robertson, late beloved husband of Sis. Jemimah Robertson. He serves as an example of others who shepherded the flock during lean years.

Fern Ave. has witnessed an equal number of men and women of great stature in the church to whom we of the present owe our thanks. Added to the hall of fame of preachers would be the names of Albert Brown and D. H. Jackson, late life's companion of Sis. Jackson. The church will long remember A. L. Whitelaw, a "prominent fellow around here," "a wonderful asset to Fern," "no other man like him," "always thinking of someone else who could go to college." The writer has himself experienced the great interest that Bro. Whitelaw had for Christian education as Bro. Whitelaw was the first to encourage him to pursue a Christian education. Perhaps the most significant factor in the history of Fern Ave. is the training and sending out of young men to preach. Four of these, Keith Thompson, Bert Thompson, Warren Whitelaw, and Murray Hammond preach in Canada today; Joe Cannon has been a missionary in Japan for more than ten years. These are only a few of the spiritual stones which made up the church of the past. May we build with faith on the firm foundation which they have laboured to provide.

Your young men shall see visions



The congregations of today are the sons and daughters of the fathers and mothers who have passed on. The faith of our fathers has been instilled into the lives of the present members. Praise is to be given to the members of both congregations who have weathered the storms of the past with all the difficult times and discouragements. These experiences have built a fearless people, full of faith and vision, willing to take bold steps in 1965, marching toward new horizons.

The present membership includes some who are walking down the hall of this life, but up the mountain of the next. It has been the writer's privilege to be associated with the elderly members of the congregations over the past year in work and worship;; they cease not to be a daily source of inspiration. The older in years and younger in heart challenge those of us who are younger in years and weaker in heart. What a triumph it would be to harness the young energetic bodies and minds of the youthful with the faith, wisdom and vision of the elderly.

There never has been a time in

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

NIGERIA

Chief Udoh Unwa, who lives in the village of Uto Ikot Ekpo, Nigeria, was recently baptized into Christ by Bro. John Inyang, a native gospel preacher. Though this new brother in Christ does not know his exact age, he is several years past 100.

In the course of his long life, Chief Unwa has exercised vast power over the local people with his professed witchcraft and had been responsible for many deaths. Formerly a polygamist, he now has no wives. He was a powerful warrior in the infamous secret Ekpo Society which ruled much of West Africa. His posterity is so numerous that he has long since lost count. Now his happiness is great, he says, because he knows Jesus Christ has forgiven his sins.

Chief Unwa heard Brother Inyang preaching in the village marketplace, and was convinced of his own sinfulness in contrast to the righteousness of Jesus. He confessed his faith and was baptized. Since his conversion, some of his relatives and many of his fellow villagers have accepted Christ.

TANZANIA

The elders of the Mary Ellen and Harvester Streets church in Pampa, Texas, have taken over the oversight of the Tanganyika Bible School where young preachers are trained to take the gospel of Christ to their own people.

Brother Bob Gibson will supervise the school. A structural engineer by profession, Brother Gibson has spent much of his adult life preaching and teaching Bible classes. He spent two years in Bengasi, Libya, where he converted a number of Mohammedans to Christ. It was through his influence that Bro. Bob Douglas was allowed to enter Libya as a missionary, and later Egypt, where he established the growing church in Cairo.

Bro. Gibson will be assisted by two other young gospel preachers, Dale Dennis and Michael Fortson, both recent graduates of Abilene Christian College. Both have already spent some months working among the native churches in Tanganyika, where they helped in meetings during which more than 1,000 were baptized into Christ.

The Wayne Smallings family of Briar, Texas, left the United States June 15 for Chimala, Tanganyika, where he will preach and teach the Bible and Sister Smallings, a registered nurse, will work with Bro. Ronald Huddleston in the small hospital run on the mission.

JAPAN

Eight baptisms in Ibaraki-Ken during the past few weeks are reported. Writes Bro. Billy Smith, an American missionary and president of Ibaraki Christian College, "During the past 10 weeks we have seen an awakened interest in the gospel of Christ. Churches in Ibaraki state are more active, zealous programs of work have been planned, and an air of enthusiasm flows from church to church."

Two missionaries and their families are planning to return to the United States on furlough after working among Japanese churches. The Bill Carrells are coming home after 15 years in the Orient and the Charles Meltons after three years. The Meltons will return after a year and a half in the United States.

FINLAND

The ninth annual Scandanavian Lectureship was conducted May 4 to 7 at a lodge between Helsinki and Tampere, Finland. Most of the missionaries and their families were present from Norway, Sweden, Denmark, and Finland, as well as Bro. Jerry Porter and Sis. Phyllis White (from the Bayview congregation in Toronto) from Glasgow, Scotland.

THAILAND

Bro. Larry McClung and family left Huntsville, Alabama, in April for Bangkok, Thailand, to join three other missionary families already supported there by the Mayfair church in Huntsville. Bro. McClung is a son of Bro. Paul McClug.

SWITZERLAND

About 100 personal workers from the United States are expected to be in Lausanne, Switzerland, July 15-25 to help in a gospel meeting to be held there. Some 50,000 homes will be visited personally with invitations for residents to study the Bible and attend the meetings.

UNITED STATES

Members of the church in Madison,, Tennessee, recently had a special drive to increase Bible school attendance and set Sunday, May 23, as the date when they would make an all-out effort to surpass their previous Sunday school attendance record of 3,002. They set the number 3,501 as a goal, and surpassed it by some 800 when 4,394 persons were present for the morning classes. A basket dinner followed the morning worship service attended by some 4,621 persons.

PAKISTAN

April was an historic month for the church in Pakistan as 25 persons were baptized into Christ in Karachi and 15 in Lahore. The church members in Lahore declared this to be the finest month ever, since five families were united in Christ.

OUR DEPARTED

FRANKLIN

The late Horace Franklin was born in England 70 years ago, coming to Canada in 1913. Together with his family he settled in the Vineland, Beamsville district. More than 40 years ago he moved to the city of St. Catharines, and was employed by the Bell Telephone Company. He had been in failing health for some time and passed away in the General Hospital on May 14th.

Before his marriage to Ruth McRae in 1928, Mr. Franklin had served overseas with the Canadian forces during World War I.

He is survived by his wife and one daughter Ruth, Mrs. Lloyd Nortan of Sault Ste Marie, Ontario; one brother, Harry Franklin, of this city, and two grandchildren.

The funeral service was held in the Butler Funeral Home, with burial in Pleasant View Memorial Gardens. —Charles G. McPhee situated in the old city serving about one-fifth of the area of the entire metropolis. We worry about our own convenience getting to and from the building as the centre of our activities but we don't think of the inconvenience of the masses who live miles from our buildings. Christ went to the sick for those who were well had no need of a physician.

We live in a city which is a centre of government; a city whose three large daily newspapers infiltrate the homes throughout the province; a city of numerous radio and TV stations; a city of religious fervour. Each weekend the daily newspapers print extensive religious advertising and articles. Toronto is the headquarters for many religious groups. A book like The Comfortable Pew derives from this area to effect religious groups across Canada and the United States.

This is a university city. What a golden opportunity to invite foreign students into our homes to acquaint them with the church! Who knows but that someone may take the gospel back to his homeland just because the whole thing began with a simple telephone invitation to our home? This urban area is blessed with growing foreign-speaking communities. A door is open for preachers who can communicate Christ to these fine people in their own language. Toronto has the world's largest annual exhibition. We have failed to utilize this medium for the church. God forgive us. On every hand there are challenges.

The Fern Ave. and Maplewood Ave. congregations accept the challenge of Toronto and move out boldly by faith. The task is enormous; the labourers are few. This city needs a giant campaign for Christ. What congregations will spearhead such a campaign to Toronto? We need an exodus of talented and dedicated people to this vast city. Who will come?

"Few cities on earth can match Metro for prosperity, for opportunity, for sheer thrust and dynamism in every field of human activity — social, economic, cultural" — and we add — for a challenge to the church.

FAITH OF OUR FATHERS

the history of either congregation when there existed such powerful potential for the preaching of the gospel. Both congregations are blessed with men and women of talent, capable of wonderful works for the ongoing of The Way. God has blessed the members with material prosperity. A number of the members are engaged in their own businesses. Others hold responsible positions in various walks of life. Just recently several have been promoted to places of management with their companies. God will bless His people who will put Him first in their lives. God's promises are being fulfilled in the lives of the members, but there are many more promises that God will fulfill in our lives if we are willing to fill our lives with the love of God.

A spiritual awakening has taken place. There is more dedication to the task of being the church. More love for God is manifested; a greater love for each other fills the air and, more important, a keener awareness of concern for the souls of lost mankind lingers in many hearts. A combined personal work program has been in progress over the past several months and is proving to be a valuable tool in strengthening the work of the church and the lives of the individuals participating in it. Already some who have been training are teaching others about Christ. More and more, minute by minute, day by day, and week by week, the members are working together in the body of Christ producing an ever-increasing force for good in this city. Thanks be to God for these fine brothers and sisters in Christ. May their faith, vision, zeal, enthusiasm and dedication continue to thrive. Paul speaks to them in the words of his letter to the Philippian church, 1:3-11.

Okinawa: "We are having the dedication for the Naha church building on the 20th, and brother Doi who has recently moved here from Japan, will begin a meeting the same day. Our thanks to the many brethren who have contributed to the progress of the church on Okinawa." —Joe Cannon

DENNIS ZELMERS TO WORK IN CANADA

The elders of Northside church of Christ, Dallas, Texas have agreed to fully support the Dennis Zelmer family in Nanaimo, British Columbia. Nanaimo is the second largest city on Vancouver Island, just off the west coast of the mainland. With an approximate population of 30,000, this city has a congregation of 30 members meeting in a new building erected in 1962.

Brother Zelmer, Sister Zelmer, Robert, Gerald and David

Brother and Sister Zelmer were baptized into Christ by Brother Wesley Reagan in Winnipeg, Canada in January, 1962. Dennis, a former policeman in Winnipeg, decided to give his life fully to preaching the Gospel. Immediate plans were begun for the Zelmers to move to Abilene to enable Dennis to attend Abilene Christian College. Dennis attended A.C.C. in 1963-64. He also preached for the Northside congregation in Brownwood and the Highway 36 congregation in Abilene. In August, 1964, Brother Zelmer became the minister of the Northside church in Dallas where he is doing an outstanding job.

The decision to support the Zelmers in this work resulted from a survey trip to Nanaimo by Brother Robert McClendon, one of the Northside elders, along with brother and sister Zelmer.

The Zelmers, leaving for Nanaimo July 5th, will be replaced at Northside by the Wesley Reagans from Winnipeg, Canada. Plans for Nanaimo include efforts to make this a self-supporting congregation with a minimum of 90 members by August, 1970.

Disciples, and anyone who believes that Jesus is the Christ is a Christian to them, regardless of religious affiliation.

They permit women to preach, (I know a woman who is "head of the evangelistic program" in her congregation!), observe "Easter" and partake of the Lord's Supper on Thursday evening at that time of the year, participate in denominational services and preaching campaigns, ministers belong to ministerial associations, some hold to liberal theology (reject the virgin birth, the authority of Scriptures, do not believe in miracles or the infallible inspiration of the Bible, etc.), and some practice "open membership."

These, along with the dual description, "Christian Church" and "Church of Christ" are all part of the basket of eggs they have "hatched" in departing from the truth. Some of our brethren are willing to fellowship such apostasy, and, not only so, would persuade others to enter this unholy alliance with them!

If we may add ONE thing to the word of God, then it matters not how much is added. Compromise on ONE point is not justified, or we might cast it ALL aside. With the spirit of Christ and in love, I appeal to every believer to wake up and stand for the right, to "contend earnestly for the faith once and for all delivered." "And have NO fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them." ". . . for what fellowship has righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion has light with darkness? And what concord has Christ with Belial? or what part has he that believes with an infidel? Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, SAITH THE LORD, and touch not the unclean thing. . ."

With prayerful heart these words are sent forth, sincerely desiring to bridge a gap that has existed too long and that should never have been made. "By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, IF ye have love one to another." "If ye LOVE ME, ye WILL keep my commandments."

"BEHOLD, HOW GOOD AND HOW PLEASANT IT IS FOR BRETHREN TO DWELL TOGETHER IN UNITY."

COME OUT, BE SEPARATE

10. Congregational freedom gradually eroded and denied, and the distinctive testimony of the Disciples, which has had a salutary effect on the "whole Christian world," silenced in the interests of "ecumenical goodwill."

(pp. 22-23; "Freedom or Rrestructure?")

Matters have taken such a deplorable turn for the worse that even they cannot longer sit still and remain silent on the corruptive forces at work in their own camp. The actions of the men who wrote this tract, as well as those who are publishing and distributing it, are to be heartily commended.

In addition to mechanical music can be listed other teaching and practices; the spirit of compromise is almost unlimited among the

Since returning from the mission work in Wembley, London, England, and reporting to our sponsoring church in Nashville, Tenn., we spent a few weeks with our family in Western Canada and then came on to the work in Burnaby.

This is indeed a challenging work and should develop in due course. Unfortunately, the church is now without oversight. Bro. Earl Severson, Bro. Caleb Wood and Bro. Roger Jeal were the elders. Bro. Jeal is in full time work with the Prince Albert church, and Bro. Caleb Wood passed away in October. Nonetheless, the work goes on and will improve as the congregation have a mind to work, this being evident in the past week as we made a public showing of the Jule Miller slides. The area around the meeting house was canvassed and literature distributed from house to house. In addition, the members brought their neighbours and we had a nightly average of eleven non-members.

Two have been added by baptism and two have died since we came to work here. Personal work does not meet with too much success due to the fact that such groups as the Jehovah's Witness have worked the area and caused much hard feeling against others that try door to door work.

Our membership runs to 52 active members and we have an average attendance on Sunday mornings of 69 and 56 in the evening. Our building inside is not quite finished and the big item will be the plumbing which will cost several hundreds of dollars, this we can handle along with the finishing of class rooms, landscaping the grounds etc. Much will be done this summer and we hope to have an attractive meeting house before the winter sets in.

OUR DEPARTED

BECKETT

Frederick James Beckett passed away suddenly on April 30th, when he was stricken with a heart attack while reading blueprints on a construction job. He was 63 years of age.

Brother Beckett was born March 23, 1902 in Swan River, Manitoba. He and Celia Start were married in Harptree, Sask on May 24, 1932. He was buried with his Lord in baptism at Radville, Sask. on July 14, 1932.

Moving to Vancouver in 1942, he was engaged in construction work He was building foreman during the construction of the Oakridge church building in 1958 and will be long remembered for his great assistance in this project.

He is survived by his wife Celia, two sons Doug and Ron, four brothers and one sister.

He will be greatly missed as he was esteemed by all who knew him. His work and interest in the church were indicated when he was appointed in December of 1964 to serve as a deacon of the Oakridge congregation.

The funeral service was conducted by the writer at the Mt. Pleasant Funeral Home with interment in Mt. View Cemetery.

—D. C. Marshall

V. B. S. will be held from Aug. 16th to 20th. Should any member be in this vicinity at that time on vacation, we would greatly appreciate some help. We look forward to a very successful school.

The budget is set at $550 per month and this is at the moment being exceeded. We hope to have a campaign here in the not too distant future and this should be a great help to the church.

—E. P. Lake

HERE AND THERE

Port Colborne, Ont.: Four were baptized during the campaign in which Brother Heinselman did the preaching.

Sunlridge, Ont.: Two placed membership and two baptized since February. V.B.S. August 16-20. Marshall Keeble to hold October meeting.

GOD BLESSES WINNIPEG CAMPAIGN

by Murray F. Hammond

Some very grand and exciting things have lately transpired in Winnipeg, and we, of this city, would like our brethren across Canada to share in our elation.

A Gospel meeting in the Playhouse Theatre, one of Winnipeg's oldest, most beautiful, and best known auditoriums, climaxed our city-wide Campaign for Christ — April 11th through 18th. Brother William S. Banowsky, minister of the Broadway church, Lubbock, Texas, did the preaching, and Brother Eugene Gilmore, of Burkburnett, Texas, directed the singing.

This was a Campaign in many respects unique. Take, for example, the matter of its longevity. It really began way back last August, with the arrival in town of a large group of young people, in their teens, from the Southland, who joined local workers in taking a religious census of strategic areas of the city. A few months later, another group of volunteers, older persons this time, many of them preachers, came and assisted in the doing of still more census taking. In all, some 35,000 homes were visited and thousands of pieces of literature were distributed, and, as a result, more than 30 Bible studies were set up and conducted.

In the months following, a series of Gospel meetings were held in the city by well-known evangelists — Alan Bryan, Paul McClung, Johnny Thompson, John Allen Chalk, Wesley Jones — to complement the extensive programme of personal evangelism being carried on. Other brethren, too, visited us in connection with the Campaign, among them Ralph Bumpass, an elder of the Vandelia Village church, Lubbock — the congregation, incidentally, which had graciously committed herself to underwriting the Campaign. Brother Bumpass conducted a course in leadership training.

Those were extremely busy months, but they were also very fruitful months — eight persons were baptized into Christ during that period!

But the best was yet to be It was now the beginning of April. The time had all but arrived for our Gospel meeting in the Playhouse Theatre, the occasion for which we had all prayed so long and worked so hard. We began advertising now in earnest. Large, and beautifully designed, posters were displayed on the sides of seventy-five city buses; half-page ads appeared almost nightly in both city newspapers (with a circulation between them of 200,000); spot announcements were made repeatedly on radio and television; car bumper stickers were distributed and used; thousands of brochures were mailed; telephone calls were made and letters sent out en masse — all of which combined to make our forthcoming meeting in the Playhouse one of the most publicized and talked about events in Winnipeg.

And we gave ourselves, individually and congregationally, to fervent prayer.

On April 9th, Brother Banowsky arrived, and so did forty workers, from here and there and everywhere, come to help with the personal work.

Then, on April 11th, our meeting got under way. The services throughout were well attended, an average of more than four hundred nightly. And the preaching superb; Brother Banowsky did an outstanding job, speaking on the general theme: "Christ for Today's Crisis." THERE WERE FIFTY-ONE RESPONSES TO THE INVITATION, TWENTY-NINE OF THEM BAPTISMS. AND TWO PERSONS, CONTACTED DURING THAT WEEK, HAVE SINCE BEEN BAPTIZED. For all of which, God be praised!

In addition, literally hundreds of promising contacts were made at the Playhouse, of whom we hope to convert more than a few.

That's our story. And it's a wonderful story, a story of the power of God in action. Speaking personally, this Campaign was one of the most enriching experiences of my life! Among other things, I shall not soon forget the inspiring way in which all three congregations in Winnipeg worked in perfect love and harmony together to make this endeavour for the Saviour to succeed.

NEW CONGREGATION IN WEYBURN, SASK.

"To more effectively reach the urban and rural population of the Weyburn area with the Gospel message." This is the purpose of forming the new congregation in the City of Weyburn, according to Dan Wieb, secretary for the congregation.

On May 31, 1965 members of two congregations met together to form a new congregation. The new congregation, known as the "Weyburn Church of Christ" will meet through July and August at the meeting house corner 10th & Bison in Weyburn. Then, in the fall and winter the congregation will hold two services both Sunday morning and evening. One service will be conducted at 10th & Bison, the other at the Weyburn Airport.

Plans call for the erection of a building in 1966 on a site being purchased from the City of Weyburn. The building will be built in two stages, the initial stage to have an auditorium seating 450 with adequate classroom facilities.

Also included in the plans is the securing of another full-time evangelist to work with Clinton Brazle who presently ministers with the congregation.

Weyburn is the city in which Western Christian College is situated thus giving the Weyburn Congregation a dual challenge, to provide teaching and counselling for the students of the school as well as evangelism for both students and the local community.

The local resident membership of the congregation is approximately sixty but during the school year, the membership nearly triples.

A challenging program of work has been set before the membership with a temporary weekly budget of $244.00 being set for the next few months.

CAN WE EVANGELIZE THE WORLD?

J. C. Bailey, Madras, India

Some one has said that every old man gets either bitter or soft. I can remember forty years ago looking over what, to me, were old men and assessing them as to whether they were soft or bitter. I realize now that what I called "soft" then might well be called forbearance or long-suffering. That what I called "bitter" might well be but mature judgement and lack of the frivolity of youth. Let me say in advance that what we call pessimism will occupy a large place in this article.

I am sure that WE can evangelize the world. I am sure that what was done in the first century can be done in the twentieth century. That is not the point we are discussing. Neither am I suggesting that anything I question here is wrong in itself. However, in the end, can we have these things, and multiply these things, and get the job done?

Yesterday I was reading in one of "our" papers and a church was describing the new building they had erected. They were telling about all the things that they had. One thing was wall to wall carpets. Now if one church has a right to have wall to wall carpets, of course, all churches have the same right. Can we get the gospel preached in this generation and spend millions of dollars on wall to wall carpets? Our wall to wall carpets would compare favourably with all the money we spend to preach the gospel overseas at least in one year! Do these compare equally? If they do not then we are not good stewards.

One of the workers approached me yesterday and wanted ten rupees to buy MATS for one of the places where he preaches. This amounts to $2.10 in American money. A pathetic thing compared to wall to wall carpeting. Yet, in principle, it is the same thing. Some people here do not like to sit on the bare ground. Some people there do not like to put their feet on bare wood. We bought the mats. We are anxious to strengthen this weak work. Immediately there is a reaction, other places want mats for mission funds. Did

OLD TESTAMENT "CHRISTIANS"

E. D. Wieb, N. Weyburn

The church throughout the world faces a very serious "dropout" problem. In any community today, there are at least as many unfaithful members of the church as there are faithful ones. There are probably many causes for this but perhaps they can be somewhat summed up in a broad way under the general heading of the unconverted. Sooner or later we must come to let Christ into our hearts as well as into our heads or we will not remain faithful.

For one to try to be an Old Testament "Christian" is to try to be a spiritual freak and such distorted creatures have a very short life span. In the book of Hebrews, chapter 8 verse 10 we read, "I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts." This is in direct contrast to the original covenant and the legal system based upon a law inscribed on the tables of stone.

We are very sure of our position doctrinally concerning the old law and the covenant of grace but in our application of this knowledge, I fear we sometimes fall very short. We do not believe in living under the law but many of us do not live otherwise. We serve God only as we feel the letter of the law dictates but we will go no further.

There are many examples of this type of "Christianity." For example, God's Word demands we worship

PHILOSOPHY, TRADITIONS AND TRANQUILIZERS

by Ed C. Wharton

(This article was written some time ago by brother Wharton, who is at this time one of the instructors at the Sunset Church of Christ, School of Preaching. I believe that the subject under consideration is a very important one. It is my prayer that this type of thing will not come into being among the brethren in Canada. Please read this article with an open mind and a prayerful heart. Bill Bunting, 4616 36th Lubbock, Texas.)

Not long after Billy Graham's New York "Crusade For Christ," informed sources reported that several denominational preachers gathered to analyze the lasting effects of such a campaign. The discovery was startling. Many of those who had made "decisions for Christ" were jumping into the East River.

The reason? Mr. Graham's doctrine of salvation by faith at the point of prayer produced a tranquilizing effect which gave the recipients the consent of their own consciences. Sidestepping obedience to the gospel, many "accepted Christ" expecting to find peace from the pressures of the world. Then came the disillusionment. As worldly pleasures continued, rather than burst like bubbles, the tranquilizing effect wore off bearing its natural fruit of skepticism and despondency. This ended in the cold waters of the East River.

The point is, the Lord's church has a few tranquilizers of her own that have no good end. Among these the Catholic confessional is barely distinguished from an absolution-type rite performed in behalf of those who have "responded" during invitations to be restored.

Christ stated, "Ye have made void the word of God because of your traditions" (Matt. 15:6). The Spirit's instruction to the erring is "Repend therefore of this thy wickedness and pray" (Acts 8:22). But in spite of the command which is definitely personal, and the warning against corrupting it, a tradition, which has the force of a command reflecting a modern philosophy of the flesh, is fast making void the command to repent and pray.

The indictment is strong but can be sustained. Let's start at the beginning.

Time was when it was the thing to be atheistic. But its natural fruit was a breakdown of values and morals leading to a non-ethical standard in society. Neo-orthodoxy, opposing this, used the Bible as its ethical standard, but like atheism denied the creation story, miracles, etc. This was nought but religious-atheism, but no obstacle for a high-jumper. Hurdling the obstacles of inspiration, virgin birth, etc., neo-orthodoxy jumped right into the front yard of Christian ethics. In other words, if you don't like a thing taught in Scripture just jump over it and go on!

One brother has compared this to the mother goose rhyme: "Hi-diddle-diddle, the cat and the fiddle, the cow jumped over the moon." This is just what denominations have been doing for years. If baptism for remission of sins doesn't strike a desirable chord just jump over it and go on to heaven without it. You can call this new-orthodoxy, or religious atheism, or hi-diddle-diddle; they all amount to the same thing.

Paul wrote by the Spirit of warning, "Take heed lest there shall be anyone that maketh spoil of you through his philosophy . . . after the traditions of men . . . and not after Christ" (Col. 2:8). Human philosophy has for years reflected itself in denominationalism, and has made its inroads deep into the church of Jesus Christ. Existentialism "begin(s) with this human existence as a fact without any ready-made preconceptions about the essence of man" and proceeds from that point to find the purpose in life. Paul says that man is "body, soul, and spirit" (1 Thes. 5:23), and his purpose to glorify God (Eph. 1:5, 6).

This modern philosophy denies anything but the body exists. In order to investigate the area of religion from this point of view to see if it has purpose, diddle-diddle — just jump over what doesn't click with you.

The extent of this extends from the absurd to the ridiculous. None by jumping over the word of God at ANY point have reached the eternal goal. But the end is not yet.

The tradition to "respond" to the invitation if "you've not lived as you should" and be restored, has developed into a Frankenstein. We are literally encouraging our people to jump over repentence into the front pew while another does the praying. To "come forward" is not repentence. And no one can pray the prayer YOU are commanded to pray yourself. How many respond to the INVITATION but not to CHRIST! Perhaps it never occurs to many to repent and put away the sin from their lives, and then with deep humility personally ask God's forgiveness. Having heard the word they are convinced of sin and want forgiveness. The condition is repentance and prayer, so they "go forward." That's how they interpret repentance! That repentance is not accomplished is evident in that most come forward again and again for the same reasons (if you ever knew the reason in the first place).

Without a doubt few pray about their sins before or after the preacher prays. Usually a response is based on the emotionalism of the hour and neither repentance nor prayer precedes. But they "feel guilty," as I have read on many a card, and want forgiveness of something (they won't say just what). Then after services they "feel better." They have neither repented nor prayer, but they have come forward and now everything is all right . . . till next time.

The root of this mockery lies at the foot of professionalism. Men who encourage responses on the aforementioned basis, rather than teach the people to turn from sin and to personally communicate their petitions to God, are motivated, it seems, by an ambition to have so many responses to their credit at the end of a given year.

Our concept of restoration is con-

CAN WE EVANGELIZE

we not pay for mats at Coronation Nagar? Whether it is wall to wall carpets in America or mats in India it means in the end that less tracts will be printed and our work must grind to a stop after we have baptized so many thousand people.

The way we do it, can we evangelize United States or Canada let alone the world? The sects do not intend to evangelize the world individually. I rode on the train with one of the leading Baptist preachers here in India recently. He was a fellow Canadian. There is certain territory occupied by Canadian Baptist and certain territory occupied by Northern Baptists. This is not hard to understand. I asked him a question about the "saw-off" between the Canadian and American Baptists. He misunderstood me and told me about the "saw-off with the Lutherans. There is certain territory into which Baptists do not tresspass and there is certain territory into which Lutherans do not go. They can afford to do this. We cannot do this. We cannot even make a "saw-off" with the Christian Church.

OUR PER CAPITA EXPENDITURE on foreign work is far below that of any of these denominations that I have mentioned. How then can we evangelize the world in this generation? They are not doing it COLLECTIVELY with all their expenditures. How shall we do it with far less money?

We have more than 100 years to catch up on the Northern Baptists and nearly 100 years on the Canadian Baptists. The Lutherans have been here even longer. Let us suppose we should suddenly begin to take this matter seriously at home. I mean this matter of world evangelism. This could well be true for there is a definite growth in the right direction. We would quit fooling around missing a meal a month and miss a meal a day. We would let our righteousness exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees and money would pour into what we call mission work in an unbelievable volume. We would be begging men to go overseas to make use of the money that would be available. We would cut out our attendance at movies and devout all THAT MONEY to-work overseas. Soon India would be vying with the United States in claiming members of the Lord's church. This is not an idle dream. I am here and I KNOW.

DESPITE THE APATHY ON THE PART OF MOST MEMBERS TOWARD INDIA WE HAVE A potential here second only to the United States in this generation and maybe more. We recently approached a church about helping with the work in a new field here. They were sorry but they had bought a "field". They had spent more on that piece of land than all the money that has been spent in India in baptizing 1795 people. I am finding no fault. I am simply answering my own question. We cannot evangelize the world while a church spends more money on a bare piece of land than ALL CHURCHES SPEND IN THE SECOND LARGEST NATION ON EARTH. There was not a paise for India. A paise is about 1/5 of a cent.

Brethren are supporting us. Bro. Johnson and his wife will be with us before this is read. They are being well supported. This is fine but certainly is not the answer to our problem. It is only a start.

Students want to go to America to school. Is this the answer? I have a letter on my desk wanting to know about a certain young man who has attended several years in America. I am trying to find him. I have heard that he is not true. I want to either stop the rumours or show up this young man. Sending young men to America for some reason has not proved very advantageous to work in foreign countries. There are some notable exceptions. Certainly we shall never get this tremendous job done in this way. I could write pages along this very line.

Some one cries that they must be educated on the field. Some countries have had workers for years and they have had teaching programs for years but what nation has in any sense been evangelized?

Our work has not been a failure. Thousands of souls have been born into the family of God and each soul is worth more than the wealth of this world. The number of members of the church will increase in the next 25 years at a rate that we would not have dared to hope even 25 years ago. Despite this we are not evangelizing the world nor do I see any prospect for that.

Like Job who will prove me a liar. You say, we shall do it by radio, by television? Certainly we should use these mediums but as far as getting the job done they too will not do it. Those who have any ideas along this line just do not KNOW the world in which we work.

If this article sees the light of day as far as the papers to which it is sent, then I intend to follow with another. If this article does not meet editorial approval then we must try to get these pessimistic truths home in some other way.

PORTAGE V.B.S.

Northside church of Christ held their 6th annual Bible Camp July 5th-12th. Attendance was down to some extent, over previous years, but a fine group of young people gathered to study, worship and play. Gerald McCutcheon acted as camp director. He was assisted by John McMillan, Heather Brown, Lorraine McCutcheon, Thelma McCutcheon and Ernie McCutcheon as councilors and teachers. Two ladies from the Carman congregation drove over each day to assist Eva McCutcheon in the kitchen.

During the week, some 25 hours were spent in group study, singing and memory work. We were happy to note five students who have been with us the previous five years were with us again. Bro. Leo Richardons of Moline, Ill. was with us one evening, on his way through to The Pas, Man., for a Vacation Bible School. He spoke to the students on the campfire program that evening. He and Bro. Roy Lanier, Jr., are holding their second V.B.S. at The Pas this week. There are two members there.

Dates for our 1966 camp have been set for July 11-18th.

WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH OUR BUILDING?

Since the church at the Lakehead is busy erecting a new church building, it is only natural that this writer's thoughts should be attracted to the subject of church buildings as he prepares this editorial. Other congregations are preparing to build in the near future and we pray that the next few years will see an acceleration of our building program in Canada.

We have no book, chapter and verse in the matter of erecting a meeting house. For years the church in the New Testament period seems to have met in private homes. This seemed to work out quite practically because the church grew by leaps and bounds. On the other hand, most of us know instances where churches have erected splendid buildings only to find that growth did not follow and internal dissension prevailed. Church buildings are not an end within themselves.

The truth of the matter is that buildings are merely tools assisting the accomplishment of certain goals which the church should be seeking to achieve. When these tools are chosen carefully and used wisely, the work profits. When a congregation is compelled to struggle along for years without a permanent building of its own, usually its growth is inhibited.

There is ~~a~~ need from time to time that we be warned against a false attitude of reverence toward the church building. This attitude is prevalent among certain denominational churches, especially those which stress liturgical rites and forms. We find such people referring to the material building as "God's house." Informed Christians realized that the only house God has is His church which is composed of redeemed people rather than bricks and beams (I Tim. 3:15; 2:20-22).

The denominational world has often prescribed certain rules of behaviour inside their church buildings. Women are required to have their heads covered on entering, holy water is to be applied to worshippers entering the doors. Everything is done to convince the people that the building is a holy place.

In a similar way, some brethren in the Lord's church have had peculiar ideas about the sacredness of the building. They would not allow a sandwich or a cup of coffee in the basement. They could not conceive of a visiting college chorus singing religious songs in the building, or of ladies quilting and sewing there, or of young people joining in well-chosen recreation there following a special class of instruction.

All of these things have been objected to by a few. None of these actions are necessarily evil within themselves. It will be of no avail to point out abuses to establish a law of prohibition in the matter. Abuses, in themselves, merely prove that a practice may be abused. They do not prove the practice must be abused.

This editor is concerned over a major failure in the use of church buildings by his brethren. In our judgment, expensive buildings have been allowed to stand idle too often. When we invest $50,000 to $100,000 in a building, we should carefully and prayerfully plan to use that structure in the most efficient way. Sometimes our judgment may vary as to what is expendient in such usage. This is largely in the area of human judgment and opinion and often cannot be neatly decided by an argument from Scripture. Perhaps failure to use the buildings which are entrusted to our care can be as sinful as a slight misuse of the same. Here is a question which needs to be pondered carefully.

A great portion of the Lord's Day contribution sometimes goes into our buildings. The matter of using this money effectively should be of a major concern to Christians.

TEACHING GOD'S WORD

DO WE REALLY WANT MORE STUDENTS IN OUR BIBLE SCHOOLS?

M. Norvel Young

Mr. Dean Dalton, an expert in the Sunday Bible school field who is connected with a large publishing company, told Jim. Bevis, of the Broadway Church in Lubbock, that he thought we were not interested in having many non-members in our Bible school classes. He had checked attendance reports on our adult classes in some churches and was amazed at how few outsiders attended.

Have we neglected this opportunity? Do we really want more non-members to study the Bible with us? Have we spent enough time planning, inviting and encouraging their attendance? When they visit do we make them feel welcome? Are they impressed with our desire to learn more about God and our love for them?

This expert points out that some of our religious neighbors are successful in enrolling 20% to 30% non-members in their Sunday classes. It is through this contact that they gain most of their new members.

Of course, we want more students in Bible study, but we have neglected to take the action essential to this objective. Here are a few suggestions for positive growth:

1. The elders, preachers, and Bible teachers should spend one meeting a month planning ways to recruit non-members in Bible classes. Adequate planning is critical. This is the point where most churches are falling short. More planning will nearly always result in greater numbers.

2. A systematic program of cultivation of prospects will prepare them to be receptive. For a small investment in time and expense, a select list of two or three hundred prospects could be receiving regular mailings of appropriate Christian literature (Christian magazines, tracts, special letters).

3. These people should be invited to enroll in a Bible class. An appropriate person should invite them. This is done without necessarily expecting the prospect to be baptized the first meeting.

4. Christians in the class should go out of their way to make the prospect feel at home. Invitations to our homes should follow.

5. Just as soon as these people are enrolled we should be inviting others. The cutting edge of Bible study must not be neglected. It is easy to forget that those of us who are Christians came from the ranks of prospects. There are untold multitudes of sincere people who are searching for truth. The word of God is the seed of the Kingdom. Let us spend more time and money sowing this seed in hearts that have not had the opportunity previously. The Lord will give the increase!

Note — Brother Young points out a wonderful avenue for increasing our opportunities in planting the seed of the kingdom.

In Canada I believe that most of the churches of Christ strive to enroll children from non-member families in Bible school. Here in London our Bible school enrollment is about triple the membership and their children. If some of the large churches in the U.S. had a comparable enrollment their Bible school attendance would number in the area of 6000 instead of two to three thousand.

It appears that in some parts of Canada the religious atmosphere is different. Prejudice is not so strong. Thus we can enroll quite freely many children from the community. May all churches be working diligently at reaching into the community to enroll as many as possible in Bible classes.

When it comes to enrolling non-member adults in Bible classes, we are negligent. We have worked on this some (not very hard) in London, and it his paid off. This afternoon I baptized a lady who last winter had enrolled in our adult Bible class. A cottage meeting was arranged for late in June and the fourth lesson completed last night.

If we really wanted to, we could reach many more with the gospel by following the suggestions given by brother Young.

CATHOLICISM BOOK ON CONSIGNMENT

Brother O. C. Lambert, of Winfield, Alabama, has condensed Vol. I of his book, "Catholicism Against Itself", into a paper edition, which he issues at cost; in a desperate attempt to reach the public with its vital and timely message. He offers copies to churches on consignment without obligation, except that they pay 50c each for them when sold, enabling him to print more. Several thousand congregations of the brotherhood have already handled the book, which is no wBaest Seller. We'd like to have 100% participation in this momentous effort. You can help by ordering a consignment for your local congregation. Individual readers wishing to do so may order these from the Gospel Herald at 60c.

100th BIRTHDAY

Julia Kerr, the oldest member of the Ice Lake congregation was born, Julia McArthur, on August 15, 1865 in Collingwood township, the third child of Peter and Mary McArthur. The family moved to the Manitoulin Island in 1873 and settled in Long Bay.

She was baptized into Christ at the age of fifteen during a visit of brother William Crewson to the island. Having married John Kerr in 1886 she bore him one son and six daughters. He died in 1939.

She has been a faithful member of the congregation meeting at Ice Lake for all of these years. Submitted by a niece, Dr. Eleanor Robinson.

YOUTH CAMPS GROWING, ACCOMPLISHING GOOD

by Don Gardner

Youth camps conducted by Christians have been growing in number throughout the country. The good which these camps have accomplished is difficult to measure.

One problem connected with operating youth camps is selection of class material that will be useful and inspirational for the student. The April issue of the Minister's Monthly featured a series of articles on the book of Proverbs which have been designed for study guides for our youth camps. The subjects and those writing on these themes are:

"Introducing the Proverbs," Frank Pack; "Love Not Sleep—Proverbs About Work," Bill Teague; "Greater Than Taking a City—Proverbs on Self Discipline," M. Norvel Young; "Walking on Hot Coals—Proverbs calling for Personal Purity," Jennings Davis; "A False Balance — Proverbs About Basic Honesty," Howard Horton; "Power in the Tongue—Proverbs on Words," Don Gardner.

Those who are directing a youth camp next summer would be advised to bear in mind the availability of this material. Better still, the director might anticipate his needs and place an advance order for a sufficient number of copies for the students in the camp.

Those desiring additional information may write to the Gospel Advocate, Nashville, Tennessee, or to Frank Cox, Editor, Minister's Monthly, 2108 Woodhaven Drive, Tyler, Texas.

10 BAPTISMS RECORDED AT WORLD'S FAIR SERVICE

By Walter E. Burch

The largest gathering of the church in the history of the Northeast — an estimated 7,000 persons — witnessed the first baptisms ever performed at a World's Fair, Sunday, July 4, as the New York World's Fair evangelism campaign reached a public climax in the Singer Bowl.

The service was also broadcast to millions nationally over the American Broadcasting Company radio network.

Jimmy Allen of Searcy, Ark., talented and effective evangelist, brought the message to the throng which gathered in the outdoor arena. Host for the vast evangelistic service was the Queen's Church of Christ in Flushing, N.Y.

Allen's sermon was entitled "Meeting the American Crisis." He told the crowd that the main threat to America today is not communism or poverty, but rather the lack of true Christian spirit among it's citizens.

When the invitation hymn was sung, ushers throughout the stadium assisted persons as they walked forward to express their desires for baptism or for restoration. A portable baptistry was used, and as the crowd watched and listened, 10 persons confessed their faith in Christ and were baptized. Three others came forward to ask for special prayers that they would be restored to the church.

The Singer Bowl service marked a high point of the effort of churches of Christ at the New York World's Fair and was the kickoff for an intensive co-ordinated Greater North-eastern Campaign involving some 72 churches in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Delaware, Massachusetts, and Pennsylvania.

About 1,150 personal workers from throughout the nation are in the East to work with these churches in local campaigns. On July 5, the day after the Singer Bowl activities, 15 of the congregations in the New York City area began gospel meetings, and about 15 others are planning meetings in the near future. Many special activities will continue through August and into early September.

HERE AND THERE

Portage La Prairie, Man.: Bro. Love could not come as was hoped so that this church is still without a full-time preacher.

Carnduff, Sask.: We understand that this church hopes to erect a building soon.

Burnaby, B.C.: Three were baptized in mid June.

WHY A HOME FOR THE AGED IN BARRIE?

Plans were announced by the Barrie congregation on June 9th to build a home for the aged in this city, probably in 1967. The next eighteen months will be spent in a study of the project and leaders of the congregation will appreciate constructive counsel from any of our brethren.

That all may know some of our reasons for this decision and announcement we offer the following points:

1. Christians are sent into the world as Christ was sent (John 17: 20). The Son of God carried out His mission to redeem the souls of men with compassion for the physical man and his distress as well as with a message. We do not believe we can improve on His method.

2. A definite community need has been established by careful study and survey. This need has been confirmed by the warm response of the community of senior citizens.

3. By the creation of a community of senior citizens an opportunity will be provided to older Christians to teach those of their own generation. (This is often physically impossible in any average environment.)

4. We believe that by this Christ-like programme of benevolence we may remove one of the barriers that often exists between a young church of Christ and its prospects. This barrier is best seen from the viewpoint of the "outsider". Until taught the gospel he regards the church as an intruder into his community, taking rather than giving.

Thank you for considering these points in your prayerful deliberations.

SPECIAL NOTE

Our office will be closed during the weeks August 2-7 and August 16-20 for vacation. We hope that these brief interruptions will not cause serious inconvenience to our customers and correspondents.

Despite the fact that the Post Office strike indicates some doubt as to when this issue will be mailed, we are preparing it on schedule.

YOUR QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Was Mary a virgin before and after the birth of Jesus?

That Mary was a virgin before the birth of Jesus is the plain teaching of the Bible. This truth was accepted without question for the first 1800 years of the history of the church. Unbelievers, as early as the third century, have centered their attacks on the virgin birth. It has only been in more modern times that professing Christians have denied this doctrine. Modernists like Harry Emerson Fosdick have asserted, "The virgin birth is not to be accepted as an historical fact."

The evidence for the virgin birth in the New Testament is overwhelming to the believer. Luke 1:26-38 gives us the testimony of Mary. She is introduced as "a virgin betrothed to a man whose name was Joseph." The angel Gabriel told her that she would conceive and bear a son to be called Jesus. But Mary asked, "How can this be, since I have no husband?" Gabriel explained that the birth would take place through the miraculous intervention of the Holy Spirit. He added, "For with God nothing will be impossible." Humbly Mary submitted to the divine will, saying, "Behold, I am the handmaid of the Lord; let it be to me according to your word." Surely no one would be so bold or so foolish as to suggest that Mary was an adulteress. Her hymn in Luke 1:46-55 is hardly the product of an immoral woman. Next she went to the house of the high priest. If she were an adultress she would hardly go to the man who would pronounce sentence on her.

The testimony of Joseph is no less convincing. Matthew 1:19 describes him as a just man. When he learned Mary was pregnant he considered divorcing her. (This was necessary as a betrothal was practically as binding as a marriage). This is evidence that he was not the father of Jesus.

The second part of the question asks whether Mary was a virgin after the birth of Jesus. Matthew 1:24, 25 states that Joseph took Mary as his wife "but knew her not until she had borne a son . . ." This states plainly that Joseph knew Mary as his wife after the birth of Jesus. But the Roman Catholic Confraternity Version, supporting the view that Mary was a perpetual virgin, does not agree. In a footnote it says on the word "till" in Matt. 1:25 (until R.S.V.) "the word may mark a point of time without implying any change thereafter; see Ps. 109: 1; Matt. 12:20; 1 Tim. 4:13." While the word "till" can be used in the sense claimed in this footnote it does not seem to be the logical meaning in Matthew 1:25. The obvious meaning here is that Joseph and Mary entered into normal sexual relationship after the birth of Jesus. Matthew 13:55, 56 refers to the brothers and sisters of Jesus. Again, the apparent meaning is that these are actually his brothers and sisters. But, attempting to defend their doctrine, the Roman Catholics claim that these were cousins of Jesus. (see the Douay version). To uphold their viewpoint they are forced to use doubtful arguments. We would not loose any point of faith if it could be proved that Mary was a perpetual virgin. But the Roman Catholic Church has used this as part of their claim for exalting Mary in a way that Scripture does not. The attitude of Jesus toward Mary belies that of the Roman church. (Read Matt. 12:46-50; Luke 11:27, 28).

OLD TESTAMENT

together and break bread upon the first day of the week (Heb. 10:25; Acts 20:7). So we attend the Sunday morning services. Nowhere, however, are we commanded to meet mid-week or even twice on the Lord's Day. So, our attendance falls off sharply at these services. We have obeyed the "law" of God. Again, the New Testament "law" teaches that we must give of our means. It doesn't command specifically how liberally we should give. So, as long as we place something in the collection plate, we have obeyed the "law" of God.

So, where it is convenient to do so we look to the New Testament pattern as a legal system superseding the legal system of the Old Testament. We are in effect Old Testament "Christians." If our service to God is merely the response of a fearful heart to the imagined legal demands of a powerful God, we will never grow in grace and we will perish.

How different is the Christian who serves not under law but under grace! The question of service becomes a spiritual worship, a dedication and surrender (Rom. 12:1) The "second mile" becomes the norm as he truly surrenders all. The worship service is not an obligation to be taken care of but a privilege to be entered into reverently and joyfully. His giving becomes a sacrifice of love as he shares in the work of the Lord. He knows liberty of life and freedom of Spirit.

The problem is of our own making. We have preached to our people as if they were children under the schoolmaster. We have made Church attendance, giving, etc., mandatory and just as arbitrary as if we worshiped under Moses law. We have refused to heed Jesus statement, "If I be lifted up I shall draw all men unto me." If the New Testament teaches anything, it teaches that Christianity is the response of a loving heart to the love of God, not the observance of so many rules. Let us not be guilty of substituting the law of the church for the law of Moses. Even the initial obedience of the person to God is spoken of as obedience from the heart (Rom. 6:17. This heartfelt obedience must continue if we are to grow in faith. Otherwise our service becomes only a "form of Godliness" ending in the loss of our souls.

Truly, doctrine is important and loyalty to the faith is essential but such loyalty must stem from a heart which says "What wilt thou have me do, Lord"? rather than a mind which asks "What is written in the Law?"

JOHNSONS ACTIVE IN INDIA

Annex 19, Aspiran Gardens
Madras 10, India.
June 14/65.

Dear Brehren:

It is almost three weeks since we arrived in India. We are very grateful to the Lord, and to the brethren for having made this venture possible. These 20 days have been days of education. From our first day in Karachi, Pakistan, our education began and it still continues. Every day we learn or see something different, many of which we could hardly have believed, if we had not seen or experienced. The culture here is so entirely different that one must be here in order to appreciate it. I had read most of the things which the brethren had written about India but failed completely to appreciate what they said.

We arrived on schedule the morning of May 28. We were taken to the training school which was in progress, where we received a very warm welcome. From there we came here, to Bro. and Sis. Bailey's home, where we are still staying. By four the same afternoon we, J. C. two Native workers and I, left to visit several congregations in the surrounding area. We spent the night under the stars on a wicker cot, in a brother's back yard. Except for the insects it was quite an experience. We got up before 5:00 A.M. and had our first Indian breakfast, or at least it was placed in front of us. I drank the coffee and ate bananas. During the day we visited in all more than eight places and there were 25 people added to the Lord's Church. These were as a result of teaching by Native workers. Late in the afternoon we had visited a congregation about seven miles from anywhere, and two miles from there on the way back we had two flat tires in about 500 yards. There was a town of over 5,000 people about seven miles distant, but no facilities for fixing a flat tire. We wound up walking about five miles in a cool 106, and coming in on the bus getting home about 10:00 P.M. One of the Native workers took the tire by bicycle, another twelve miles to get it fixed. He spent the whole night on the road, having a third flat tire, plus running out of gas arriving here at 6:00 A.M. He was out at meeting at 9:30 A.M. also.

We preached twice here on Lord's day, and with about two exceptions have preached at least once each day since then. We have visited a number of congregations and in all we are quite impressed with the type of workers and the general interest. Surely the harvest is plenteous and the laborers all TOO FEW. Last Monday we went, by invitation, to a gathering of NON-PROFESSIONAL preachers. Actually it is a group of different denominations who have decided to (RISE ABOVE) denominational divisions and to meet as a common group. It is headed by a Native Lutheran who is as devoted as any person we have ever met. We were told that he gives HALF his income to this work, and he is a government official. There were at least five different faith's represented at the gathering which lasted 5 days. We were only there for three, but were privileged to speak five times. We were told it was the first time a foreigner of another faith had been privileged to speak at their meetings. We did our best to set forth the prayer of the Lord and the plea of Paul to be one and to all speak the same thing. There were no immediate responses but the leader expressed great appreciation for the series of lessons and assured us they would consider seriously the truths as set forth. He further said. "Words fail to express how much your messages have taught us, and how much they will mean to us". Besides the public gatherings we talked with a group of university students regarding the church and baptism, trying to answer their questions SCRIPTURALLY, and with Scriptures. Then we talked to many of the same number in their sleeping quarters concerning the "reason for the various denominations and divisions." There were 15 who have enlisted for the "Correspondence courses", and several have expressed a desire to attend our next "Training school", which we hope D. V. will be in August. We had a good discussion with their leader and he expressed himself as "Realising they were NOT giving enough thought to some of the commands of the Lord, but justified the omission by saying that it would create too much dissension." This admission we used, we hope to great advantage in the two remaining lessons we were privileged to give. We were treated with the utmost deference throughout, and left with a warm sendoff. There were more than a dozen, including the two main leaders who accompanied us to the place where we caught the bus, and we have an invitation to return at our earliest convenience to any of their meetings.

Besides these opportunities, Eva was invited to teach a group of women on at least 3 occasions, and used these opportunities to stress the gospel principles. She was VERY greatly appreciated and they could not do enough for her. This was also a FIRST, in any of their gatherings. It grieves one to see such simple trusting faith having been indoctrinated with so many varied and deceptive doctrines. There are many who yet may be reached before they have been falsely taught, but the time is NOW before others can reach them with their deceptive doctrines. We are persuaded that we can regain many of these, if we can get to them before the dignitaries realise they are losing ground through New Testament teachings. When Bro. Bailey says "He could use fifty men" He is NOT exaggerating. In lieu of this he has many Native workers and is utilizing every means possible to get the job done. What a tremendous harvest there COULD be, if we had the NEEDED HELP. We are VERY handicaped without our own means of transportation, but hope D. V. this will be forthcoming. Bro Bailey has been forced to replace his old car (11) years old. He has purchased a 3 yr. old Fiat. It is a great improvement but will strain the finances which are needed elsewhere.

We are still in need of much assistance on our work-fund. There is a tremendous field to be gleaned,

Book Reviews

Books to be reviewed in this column should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont., Canada.

The Comfortable Pew by Pierre Berton (McClelland & Stewart, 158 pages, $4.50 cloth, $2.50 paper).

Ernest Harrison, an Anglican clergyman, states in the introduction to this book that the Anglican Church of Canada "aimed high" when they selected Pierre Berton to write it. If considered in the light of Mr. Berton's reputation as a journalist and controversial commentator then this statement can be accepted. But it is a rather amazing claim when considered in the light of the fact that Berton is according to his own description "a reverent agnostic." Is it not passing strange that a religious denomination would select an unbeliever to pen criticisms of itself?

Yet in spite of its oddity this volume has much to commend itself. It says many things that have needed saying for a long time. And Pierre Berton has a way of saying them that makes them stick. While not necessarily agreeing with all that is said the honest reader will doubtless be stimulated to serious thought about many vital questions.

The book is especially concerned with the "major denominations" such as the Anglicans, United Churchmen and Presbyterians. It is not addressed to those "hard-core fundamentalist and evangelical churches with whom I have little in common; they belong to a world apart." Here Berton unwittingly states the Biblical principle of the fundamental difference between those in the Kingdom of God and those yet in the world of sin.

Berton's book does a real service in challenging us all to be more relevant to the world in which we live. We need to face up to the current questions which he discusses. Such issues as Civil Rights, Nuclear warfare, Birth Control, the Ecumenical Movement, Capital Punishment, the Sexual Revolution must be honestly weighed by thoughtful Christians. We must learn the applications of Biblical truth to these matters and then apply them to a world that needs to hear them.

Faith For a World in Doubt, the Fort Worth Christian College Lectures, 1965, Fort Worth Christian College Bookstore, Fort Worth 18, Tex., 268 pages.

Fort Worth Christian College has given us another excellent lectureship volume. Previous volumes have been surveys of the Old and New Testaments and last year's dealt with "The Holy Spirit." These books are still in demand.

Perhaps the best way to review this volume is simply to present the various topics and speakers. ATHEISM, Hulen Jackson. "WHAT IS TRUTH?", Virgil Trout. WHY WE BELIEVE THE BIBLE, F. W. Mattox. BIBLE QUIZ

II Timothy 2:15; 3:16, 17

The Bible is God's Word. It is the meat and drink of the spiritual life. Christians need to study it daily. These questions will help to indicate something of how effective your study has been.

RAIN IN THE BIBLE

1. True or false. God caused it to rain before he made the plants and herbs.
2. True or False. Noah was 600 year old when God caused the great 40 day deluge to take place.
3. In the seventh plague God rained down destruction on Egypt. In what form did the rain fall? What accompanied the rain?
4. What improper request did the Israelites make which caused Samuel to call upon God for thunder and rain to destroy their wheat harvest?
5. How long was the drought caused by Elijah's prayer?
6. How many times did Ahab look for the rain that ended Elijah's drought?
7. Who raised the meteorological problem and to whom: "Has the rain a father, or who has begotten the crops of dew?"
8. "Like clouds and wind without rain is a man who boasts of a ..... he does not give." Complete.
9. Who said: "For the Father sends rain on the just and on the unjust"?
10. Give the book and chapter of the following quotation: "For land which has drunk the rain that often falls upon it, and brings forth vegetation useful to those for whose sake it is cultivated, receives a blessing from God."

ANSWERS: 1. True, Gen. 2:5. 6. 2. True, Gen. 7:11, 12. 3. Hail, thunder and fire, Ex. 9:22-26. 4. Ask for a king, I Sam. 12:17, 18. 5. Three and a half years, Jas. 5:17. 6. Eight, (7 plus 1) I Kings 18:43. 7. God to Job, Job 38: 28. 8. Gift, Proverbs 25: 14. 9. Jesus, Mt. 5:45. 10. Hebrews 6:7.

Stephenville, Nfld.: Efforts are being made to organize a group of Christians by August, 1966, to move and help establish New Testament Christianity in Newfoundland. Will interested persons please contact Dalton E. Voss, P.O. Box 748, Stephenville, Newfoundland.

Quebec City, Que.: "We have another baptism scheduled, the wife of the one baptized last January." — Owen Aikin.

Montreal, Que.: The first public service in French was conducted on May 9 with 14 present. The number has steadily increased. Although the special meetings in early June were disappointing in attendance, one family now attends regularly as a result. One lady was baptized on June 13. Brother Timmerman is now receiving support and work money from churches in Little Rock and Chattanooga.

Two fine Christians have moved here from Kentucky. Some $3,000 is still needed to clear current bills on the building. Brother Davidson held a meeting in Michigan and returned for the V.B.S. in Montreal. The church has sufficient staff to have this school without outside help for the first time.

Ottawa, Ont.: One was restored during the meeting held by brother West in early June.

Kingston, Ont.: One was baptized and one restored during the meeting with brother Eddy of Fairborn, Ohio. Plans for a V.B.S. in August with F. Vidler of Saginaw, Texas and R. King of Lubbock, Texas are going ahead well. Dates are August 23-27. Arrangements are being made for a Fall meeting with L. D. LaCourse of Cuyhoga Falls, Ohio.

"We are sorry to report that brother and sister Young are being transferred to London. They will be missed here but will be appreciated at London." — Harry Jacques.

Peterborough, Ont.: "We had a wonderful day for the opening meetings of the church in Peterborough. Thirty-six were present for the morning and afternoon, and 28 for the evening. B. Bailey and N. Midgette were the speakers. — Gordon Dennis.

Toronto, Ont., Strathmore Blvd.: One was baptized on June 12 before departing for Singapore. Many from this church took the chartered bus ride to the July fourth World's Fair meeting. One young lady was among the 10 who were obedient to the gospel at this great meeting. Some 7,000 attended from many places to help encourage this history making event.

Bayview Ave.: Floyd Lord moved from San Antonio, Texas to this work, July 11.

Fern Ave.: One young man from North Bay has placed his membership here.

Hamilton, Ont.: The Fennell Ave. V.B.S. will be August 23-27.

London, Ont.: V.B.S. high attendance 425 with no day below 400.

Concord, Ont.: One was baptized by brother Atkinson on June 13th.

Niagara Falls, Ont.: The "Know Your Bible Campaign" ended with high enthusiasm. There were 225 in V.B.S., one was baptized and several are near the kingdom. Sixty families in the community have accepted home Bible studies and 75 have enrolled in the Bible Correspondence course.

Thus the campaign is just the beginning of an extended effort to take the gospel to the community. The park meetings began on June 27 with about 150 present. They succeeded in further publicizing this campaign.

Ken Page, Great Lakes Christian College student from St. Catharines, is working with the church for the summer and plans are to have a full time personal worker in the near future." — W.T.W.

Omagh Bible School: Ron Zavitz is reported to be conducting an excellent camp. Including staff, capacity crowd of 100 has been on hand. Nine obeyed the gospel during the first two weeks.

Newmarket, Ont.: The membership of 48 represents an increase of 36 since this date last year. "Plans are underway to secure property and begin construction."

Pine Orchard, Ont.: One baptism has been reported.

Collingwood, Ont.: Brother Hazelip has begun a weekly bulletin, the Reminder. The meeting in June was the best attended in the history of the congregation. Brother Hazelip will be spending three weeks in meeting work in the U.S. leaving Collingwood on July 25th.

Meaford, Ont.: June 19th. "We started this morning (V.B.S.) with a total enrollment of 155. We look forward to a good week."

Owen Sound, Ont.: The meeting in June was well attended and encouraging. Two were restored to the faith. V.B.S. is announced for Aug. 16-20 with N. Midgette of Jordan assisting and also conducting evening song drills.

Iron Bridge, Ont.: "Brother L. L. Jameson of Glen Rose, Texas will be with the Iron Bridge congregation in a meeting from August 6 through August 15. We had a good meeting with brother Jameson last year and are looking forward to another one this year.

"If any congregation is in need of someone to hold a meeting for them next year they should contact us or brother Jameson. They will not be disappointed as brother Jameson can deliver fine lessons and is willing to help wherever he can. He has mentioned spending several months in Canada if enough congregations are interested." — H. I. Weir.

Sault Ste Marie: The McNabb St Church of Christ summer Bible school was conducted from July 5th through July 9th at 7 p.m. to 8.45 p.m. each evening.

This was the first time that the church here in Sault Ste Marie have conducted their Bible School in the evening and it proved to be an outstanding success.

We believe that the success of the school came as a result of the lit-

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

POLAND

In a short gospel meeting held in Warsaw June 1-4, six were baptized into Christ. During the last week in June, four more obeyed the gospel. The church is moving steadily ahead despite continued harrassments by the government.

Bro. Henry Ciszek, who was expelled from Poland for preaching the gospel more than a year ago and then allowed to return with assurance of the Polish Embassy in Washington, D.C., that he would be allowed to register as a citizen and live in Warsaw (Bro. Ciszek has lived in Pouand all his life though he was born in the United States of Polish parents), has been refused registration by the ministry of interior affairs. He has appealed the decision and is awaiting another answer.

In another situation, the widow and aged mother of Bro. Josez Kaumiuk, one of the leaders of the church in Warsaw, have been forced to move from their apartment, which was the meeting place of the church, into one unheated room.

Despite these persecutions, the brethren in Poland are carrying on with preaching and teaching the gospel of Christ to others, and conversions are reported regularly.

PAKISTAN

The church of Christ in Karachi, capital of West Pakistan, began its fourth year of existence June 10. During the month of June, 10 were baptized. A total of 63 were baptized during the church's third year, more than in the first two years combined. An overall total of 125 have been baptized into Christ during the four years.

During the past 12 months, the congregation has had four gospel meetings and a Vacation Bible School. They have published a monthly teaching magazine, offered a Bible correspondence course, taught daily Bible classes, and run teaching articles in the daily newspapers.

Bro. J. C. Choate has helped in training classes in Lahore, Pakistan, and Madras, India.

The Donald E. Petty family arrived from the United States the first of June to begin work with the church in Lahore.

A correspondence course in the Urdu language is now ready to be offered in the newspapers.

NORTHERN IRELAND

A 10-day gospel meeting was to begin July 18 in a tent located on a building lot recently purchased by the church in Coleraine, Northern Ireland. Local brethren were to be assisted in the meeting, in a follow-up campaign, and in a Vacation Bible School, scheduled July 19-23, by a group of 15 workers from the church in Huntsville, Alabama, which assists the 17 members of the Coleraine church. The local evangelist, Bro. Charles St. Johns, is supported by the Orange River Blvd. church in Fort Myers, Florida.

JAPAN

Sister Hettie Lee Ewing, missionary teacher in Shizuoka, Japan, left Tokyo June 19 on her way back to the United States at the end of 40 years works in Japan.

Sister Ewing, who was encouraged to go to Japan by Sister Lillie Cypert, a Christian teacher who was doing kindergarten work in Tokyo in the early 1920's, arrived in Japan in 1925.

After spending some time in Tokyo and Hokkaido, she moved to Shizuoka in 1927 and with the exception of the war years, has lived there until now. At the close of World War II, she returned to her work under the sponsorship of the church in Bishop, Texas.

Sister Ewing's work centered in Bible class teaching and personal instruction. Her home became a well-known gathering place for high school and college students who came to learn English but under her teaching became Christians. Several of the young men are now gospel preachers.

Sister Ewing also edited the "Japanese Christian", a monthly paper devoted to news and background of the work in Japan.

INDIA

April 29 — "We need fifty families to even BEGIN to meet the possibilities of the work. If you would like our monthly newsletter write us at Annex 19, Aspiran Garden, Madras 10, India."

May 5 — "We have the opportunity to buy some property here that would give permanency to our work but how to go about to raise it when we are so far away I just do not know.

"We are all well here. The heat is very oppressive but in about two weeks now we shall have reached the peak and by July it should begin to gradually taper off."

June 28 — "Brother and Sister Johnson have now been in India for one month. They have been able to stand the heat much better than I expected. We thank God for this.

"Our second Training School of six weeks for this year is now history. We trust that good was done in the teaching of the Word. The number of baptisms now stands at over the 2,200 mark.

"We have had quite a number of problems in recent weeks that come from such a fast expanding work. We need the prayers of the faithful that we may have wisdom to meet the problems as they arise." —J. C. Bailey.

Shillong: A $100 cheque from Jimmie Lovell's M.A.M. fund has enabled brother Hallett to advertise Bible Correspondence courses in a newspaper that is circulated throughout the whole of India.

A bilinual, mimeographed paper, edited by D. Perry is being passed out in Mawlai. In the meeting held by brother Davison, attendance was over 100 many times. One was baptized. The highest attendance at the short meeting at Laitumkhrah where brother McMillan works was 60.

The new building at Bhoilymbong is completed and is fine. A person from Umphowind was baptized there during a recent visit by D. Perry.

ECHOES FROM THE PARK

by Ed Bryant

The warm glow of fellowship, of zeal and renewed enthusiasm, still echoes from the all-day meeting on April 16th at Thorncliffe Park School. With officially recorded attendance reported to be 348, the day was also a success in that department.

The day was a lot like a three-ring circus, no disrespect intended. There was just so much to do or take part in that one was hard-pressed to know which workshop or activity to attend. Attention in all areas was given to the theme, "COMMUNICATING CHRIST". This was done with such general excellence it would be well-nigh impossible to single out any one person or activity for special mention.

It was planned at first to have the various reporters assigned to "cover" each activity to submit their reports for condensation and publication in the GOSPEL HERALD. Then it was found that each would lose too much in the condensation, especially after these reports were reviewed and found to contain much rich material. At an evaluation meeting of Bro Blenus Wright's planning staff, held after the all-day meeting, it was decided to issue this one general report, and leave the special reports for others to submit if and as desired. It should be noted that plans for the 1966 meeting were initiated at this evaluation meeting. The eldership of the Bayview Avenue congregation proposed to oversee the next effort of this kind.

Serving as the main speaker for the day, Dwain Evans, of West Islip, New York, reviewed many of the plans that went into Exodus Bay Shore, told us a great deal of what the church at West Islip is doing now, and gave a panorama of of their plans far into the future The main thought of his messages was "How Bay Shore Communicates Christ", but underlying all this was the challenging thought: "What has been done in Bay Shore, Long Island, can be done in Toronto, Ontario!" And the way he told it, it didn't seem at all impossible.

Speaking twice to the young people who assembled, William Nichols, of Bradford, Pa., challenged their thinking with the messages: "Teenagers In The New Morality," and "God's Under-Achievers". Both shots were dead on target.

Taking a broadside look at themselves and the fraternity of preaching brethren, the preachers enjoyed a frank and open discussion under the able leadership of L. Wesley Jones. In this vital area of communicating Christ to other human beings, the need for self-appraisal and honest evaluation was pointed up and ackowledged. Ways in which improved communication could be brought about were explored.

The field of preacher-elder-congregation relationships, as these are involved in communicating Christ to the community, was entered by the group in Geoffrey Ellis' workshop. Deacons, elders, and men of the church who attended very quickly discovered that this was no routine discussion. The preparation-in-depth brother Ellis brought to this workshop, and the wild-fire interest it aroused in officers and men of the church caused the allotted time to seem to evaporate. When the workshop periods ended, it was felt that the rest of the material, as yet untouched, was too good to miss. As a result, brother Ellis returned to Toronto on May 1, and continued the discussion at the Bayview meeting house. Some who had attended other workshops on the 16th were thus enabled to take in a part of this.

Pinch-hitting for Beverly Jones, who had been taken ill, Shirley Speck explored with the ladies the question of how best to communicate Christ in their roles in the home, church and community. Many areas of opportunity and service were opened to view and discussion. Some of our ladies came away with renewed determination to use their opportunities to better advantage in future efforts to communicate Christ to their neighbourhoods.

Dwain Evans, busiest man of the day, spoke to the men in two workshop periods, morning and afternoon, in addition to his main speeches in the auditorium.

Highlighting the afternoon was a panel discussion, featuring John Franklin, speaking on "Power Failures in Communicating Christ Through The Bible School"; Ralph Perry, who demonstrated that "Curriculum Planning Makes Powerful Communication"; Ira Zavitz, helping all to understand that "Bible School Is For Adults", and Dwain Evans, who showed "How Exodus/Bay Shore Communicates Christ Through The Bible School".

At the morning workshop period, the teenage girls were privileged to meet with Doreen Ellis. This group became co-educational at the afternoon period, combining with the boys' group to hear William Nichols.

Provision was also made for children, eight to twelve years of age in special sessions with Eileen Dale, Edie Kulawsky, Evelyn Perry, Mae Zavitz, Thora Whittington, Frances Miller, Ardeth Sanna and Edythe Williams.

Ronald Zavitz, director of the Omagh Bible School encampment last year and this year, spoke briefly on "Communicating Christ Through Christian Camps". Geoffrey Ellis, president of Great Lakes Christian College, gave a short talk on "Communicating Christ Through The Christian School".

Others who participated in the various programs throughout the day were: Troy Warren, George Barber, Jr, Bob Slater, Weilan Wettstein, Woodrow Hazelip, Wesley Peddle, Albert Bennetts, Magnar Knutson, Edward Haufschild, Don Jones, Fred Smart, Stan Herron and Ed Bryant. The entire program was planned by a staff of men, headed by Blenus Wright. Registration and arrangement of exhibits was under the direction of David Ellis. Preparations for the two coffee breaks, plus the two meal periods, were under the auspices of the ladies from Strathmore Boulevard, ably assisted by the ladies from Fern Avenue, Bayview Avenue, and Maplewood Avenue.

Thus went the day, from nine a.m. to nine p.m. Visitors came from near and far, along with interested brethren, to make of this event what is considered by most to be the best but we need assistance to do it. We have not had any report from either the U.S.A. or Canada since we arrived, but are hopeful there will be more assistance forthcoming. We have had one letter from Bro Beamish with a partial report, and for those who are assisting we express our great appreciation. We will be unable to put out a financial statement for awhile owing to the lack of information in the meantime. We are handicapped until we get our shipments with our own equipment also. We hope the brethren will bear with us.

I baptized my first Indian convert in the Bay of Bengal on our first Tuesday here, and then baptized eight on a second ocassion. The first one was a result of the teaching he had received in the training school, and the latter had been taught by a Native worker. These last started a new congregation in a Native village.

We had twenty four in our classes this morning and drilled them on the conversions. J.C. was away to a wedding this A.M. and is not back as yet. We still have not been able to locate a suitable house. This is to a large extent due to not having a vehicle and hence limits the distance we can investigate. We could surely use a motorcycle to great advantage. The cost would be about $400.000 and we could use it for going into out-of-the-way places which is extremely hard on a car, and it would be much more economical when one is travelling alone, or even with two. The bus service (leaves) something to be desired. They travel only at set times and on set roads and do not always connect. On one occasion we had to walk four miles or stay overnight, without any public accomodation. In the smaller places there is just ONE means of transportation, "Shanks Pony" and in this heat this is not an enviable one. Your continued prayers are NEEDED and APPRECIATED, and letters are (TREASURED). There is a 5 Acre Tea-Plantation for sale for less than $10,000 about 400 miles from here that would be ideal for a home for orphan children and also as a retreat for those who need a respite from the heat. We hope and pray this finds everyone well and WORKING for the Lord.

Yours In Him

ST. CATHARINES

The church in St. Catharines held its Vacation Bible School from July 5th through July 9th. The attendance was good throughout. Many outside children attended and on the closing day, many parents were present for the program. It was the means of contacting children for the regular Sunday School.

The church is doing well for the vacation period. Many are away, but last Sunday morning we had 174 present for the morning worship. Two young men were baptized at Omagh July 12. The heads of two families were restored to the church during July. Recently, we have had a number of outside people attend the services, and we look forward to greater things in the future.

HARTWIGSEN BECOMES G.L.C.C. VICE-PRESIDENT

Alfred Frank Hartwigsen, former member of the Board and area preacher of the gospel, has been appointed to the office of the Vice-President of Great Lakes Christian College, effective September 1.

The Board of Directors made the decision at their April 12th meeting to establish this office because of the increasing demands of a growing school. The office will be primarily responsible for Public Relations.

Al Hartwigsen served on the Board in the years 1961 to 1963 during a five year ministry with the Niagara Falls, N.Y. church. His wife Louise was the first president of the Women's Association for Vital Educational Support. Her effective leadership contributed a great deal to the vigorous program that has characterized this organization from the beginning.

Brother Hartwigsen has preached the Gospel since 1954, serving churches in Queens, N.Y. and Palmdale, Calif., in addition to Niagara Falls. For the past two years he has worked with the Holmes Rd. congregation in Lansing, Mich. He served the I.B.M. Corporation in an Administrative Management position for ten years prior to his work in preaching.

The challenges of his office, in addition to administration for which he is well-qualified, will be to develop interest in Great Lakes throughout the bordering states. He is an American citizen, born in Jersey City, N.J. He is widely known and respected by Canadian brethren for his love of the church, his native enthusiasm and ability, and for his great interest in Christian Education. His son, Brock, a former Great Lakes student, will enter Oklahoma Christian College as a Freshman this September. His daughter, Darlene, will attend G.L.C.C. this year.

The establishment of the office and the appointment of Brother Hartwigsen are two major steps forward for Great Lakes Christian College.

PHILOSOPHY, TRADITIONS

fined to the church house. For an illustration. Over a year ago the number of responses took a decided dip after preaching on this subject. An elder said to me, "Bro. Wharton, I am sure that several here would repent if they weren't afraid you would ask them what they've done." ( ) This statement is a good commentary on our thinking. The inference is clear: "Several" would not repent because of me; repentance was limited to the assembly, and prayer for forgiveness was limited to another! That means repentance is confined to the church house! As one member put it, "I just thought I wouldn't live until Sunday morning came so I could go forward and repent." Just respond to the invitation and your sins will be prayed away. This Tranquilizer pill is being sold in the large economy size and being swallowed by God's children everywhere!

Our tradition is making void the command to repent and pray. James 5:16 doesn't say to make a general statement that we "have done many things contrary to God's will." We all have. The preacher, the elders, everybody. It means to make known the sins so that the one praying in your behalf (after you have prayed about it yourself) can say something relevant. The wisdom of this is seen in that one will not continue to confess the same sins many times before he either stops sinning or stops confessing.

Luke tells us that some professed Christians who were mixed up in those black arts among the Ephesians "came confessing and declaring their deeds" (Acts 19:18). They didn't confess that they were sinners. They came confessing their sins. Quite a difference.

Let's rid ourselves of this vicarious mockery by educating the people to the Scriptural requirements to which each individual under God must submit himself. The Scripture teaches us to "repent . . . and pray the Lord." To every child of God who is in the "gall of bitterness and the bond of iniquity" I heartily recommend this as sound advice.

OUR DEPARTED

McARTHUR

Flora Marguerit McArthur
February 2, 1964 to June 30, 1965

Sister McArthur was stricken with a stroke on June 25, 1965. This was the third in possibly a little over a year. She was unconscious in the local hospital until passing from this life on June 30. Funeral services were conducted in Collingwood on July 2, 1965.

She is survived by her husband, Bill, two daughters, Pat and Jeanie, one brother and four sisters.

Greta was a faithful dedicated member of the church and will be greatly missed from our fellowship but we rejoice in her hope of eternal glory. W.H.

HODGKINSON

George Albert Hodgkinson was buried from the Ferguson Funeral Home in Meaford on July 14th. Having been born in this area 79 years ago, he had moved to Little Rapids, Ontario about six years ago. A memorial service was held for him at Thessalon on the Monday before he was buried at Meaford. The building at Meaford was filled to overflowing, and the presence of so many friends and relatives spoke highly of the esteem in which he had been held during his life.

HERE AND THERE

Nanaimo, B.C.: There were 87 present at the July 1 lectureship on Leadership. The Zelmer family has arrived to begin work here.

DAUPHIN REPORT

With an average of 108 over the five days the V.B.S. reached an all time high of 126 the last day. The evening display was attended by 43 adults and 73 children. The closing picnic at Friday noon provided recreation and food for all. Brother Ed Baggett, who directed the school, was assisted by Sisters Baggett, Williams, Dods, Heather and Pat Shaw and Diane Kalinchuc.

Brother and Sister Roy Lanier and daughter Lee of Lakeland, Fla., are with us. He began a gospel meeting on July 18th. The Richardsons and Wilson families and Mike Sullivan of Moline, Ill., the Welch family and sisters Peters and Butler of Mid-west City were with us on their return from their work in The Pas.

These fine Christians have spent two weeks for two summers now in The Pas building up the Metzner family in the faith and trying to break through the hardness of a northern town of about 5,000 population of which nearly half are Indians. It was a pleasure to have these fine brethren stop for Sunday all-day meeting, along with visitors from Brandon, Estevan and Moose Jaw. Other recent visitors have been brethren from Regina and Manson and the L. Bailey family of Koloma, Zambia.

One precious soul, Sister Betty Pearce was added to the Lord July 4th by obedience in baptism. Sis. Pearce was a teacher in the Presbyterian Sunday School. We rejoice in the Lord for what has been accomplished and thank all of those who have helped in the work here in the past.

Bro. and Sis. Glen Todd and Bro. and Sis. Howe Todd of Moore, Okla. spent a week-end with us the last of June. Please remember the work in your prayers.

NEWS FROM SUDBURY

Sudbury's first Vacation Bible School is now history, and although our attendance fell short of our objective, the school was our biggest step forward since the beginning of the work here. We had an average student attendance of fifty-one, with fifty-nine the highest attendance recorded. The attendance was consistent; Forty-five attended every day.

Our attendance would have been larger, but a sudden death on Friday prior to the opening of the school eliminated one family, and curtailed canvasing for students considerably. Needless delay, and rejection on the part of the public school board hurt our efforts. The Bible School had to be postponed one week, and a new location secured.

The value of the School was best determined by the good showing of parents and students on Friday night. An accurate count is not available, but seventy-five present, would be a conservative estimate. A number of new contacts have been secured; plus a better relationship with previous contacts.

Able assistance was provided by: Diane Robertson, Betty Frost and Blanche Bailey of Sudbury; Jim O'Neal, of Sundridge; Paula Wilson of Ice Lake; Sharon Start of Regina and Dale Rideout. Dale is formerly from Clawson, Michigan, attended A.C.C. this past year and is presently helping with the work in Sudbury. He still needs about $25.00 a week to provide adequate support for the summer months. Any congregation, or individual desiring to help in this respect should mark their donation accordingly.

In spite of disappointments, our membership has increased, and our attendance almost doubled in the past few months. If we are financially able we plan a series of meetings sometime during the summer months. Our finances are dangerously low following the expenses of the vacation School.

With new contacts to encourage, and an obligation to the boys' camp the first week in August, we feel that the Canadian Missionary must take one month's rest. The Lord willing, the August edition will be prepared.

FROM JORDAN: A REPORT ON PETERBOROUGH

It was announced previously through the Herald that a new assembly of the Lord's people would begin meeting July 4th in Peterborough. At this writing the new congregation has begun with excellent attendance at all the services on the above date. We are happy that brother Dennis and his family have the desire to move into this new and challenging field of labor and we rejoice with all the brethren who are now meeting regularly in this large and growing city.

Since the church at JORDAN is having a major role in this new work financially and had a part in the planning stages before the work was begun it is in order that we give a report of our part and role in this work.

One of the first indications of the interest in Peterborough to spiritual matters was the response received from announcements of a free Bible correspondence course. Several ads were placed in the Examiner at Peterborough with good response. Some have already completed the course with above average grades. If it holds true in this city as it has in others some of these people will, after further study, obey the Lord.

As plans are at the present we will be aiding brother Dennis with the major part of his support and having fellowship with him in the furtherance of the gospel in this manner.

As long as is needful we hope to be able to send other preachers of the gospel to Peterborough for special meetings whenever it is needful and preparations have been made.

We are vitally interested in the preaching of the gospel in this city and will continue our help and encouragement. These brethren have undertaken to do the Lord's bidding in this area and have committed themselves to sacrifices which many of the Lord's people have not in other places been willing to make. With the many cities throughout Ontario where there is not heard the sound of one Christian's voice there needs to be more willing to go and make what sacrifices are necessary that others may hear, know and obey.

The Church of the Lord now meets in Peterborough. The Church at Jordan intends to help in any scriptural way. We will make no decisions for them nor oversee all or any part of their work. But we will pray for and encourage them continually that their labors might bear fruit to the glory of the Lord and that their advance as well as defence will be nothing but Truth established by the authority of Christ.

TRULY A REMARKABLE THING HAS HAPPENED

Annex 19, Aspiran Garden,
Madras 10, India
July 14, 1965

Most converts to Christianity in India are from the no caste Hindus, or from the Untouchables. There are few converts from the caste Hindus. We have a worker in the Guntur District, in the State of Andhra Pradesh, that I visited this week. He took us to a village that he has been working. There was electricity in this village. We showed the film GOD'S PLAN FOR REDEEMING MAN. Although these people were Hindus they had already began to destroy their heathen pictures. They had already put up a small prayer hut as they call it. We urged them through the interpreter to accept the Lord Jesus Christ. We went over the plan of salvation repeatedly. We said there was no use of coming unless they were coming in true faith and in true repentance. Those who would thus come should come now. We went to a pond of water. We ask them to confess their faith in Christ. We repeated the words: I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God. Then the audience repeated that they believed that Jesus Christ was the son of God. We started baptizing these people. When we were through there were 55 caste Hindus had been baptized into Christ. We thank God for this victory.

Berthren we must assure that this work shall go on and on. One thing that we can do is to start a hostel. In fact I have in mind three of them but just one for a start. We shall send these orphans boys or poor boys to school and give them daily Bible training and thus train them into the kind of men that we want to continue this work in India. There is a probability if we can get this hostel running that we can get an American couple in to do this work. We could thus increase our working force.

We have an excellent place available and it is in the mountains where the weather is delightful. The place consists of two houses and about five acres of land. The land is planted to tea. It would make a small income later and would help to make work for the boys that we had. However, we need the money NOW to buy this land. It will take just over $10,000. I do not want to leave the ministry of the Word to raise this money. Why not help us, and help us now, to acquire this property? I am sure God will be pleased.

Brotherly,
J. C. Bailey

DISCUSSION WITH JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES

Through the personal efforts of Mrs. Jim Rigley of the Barrie congregation to teach a co-worker, plans have been completed for a discussion with representatives of the Barrie congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, August 20 and 21 at 8.00 p.m. in the building of the Barrie church of Christ.

Mr. Dennis Rogers will lead the presentation for the Witnesses. He is overseer of the local group. L. Wesley Jones will lead the discussion for the church. There will be a thirty minute address by each on both evenings, followed by a question period during which the audience may address questions to either participant. Mr. Rogers will be assisted by Mr. John Barnes, and Mr. Jones by Woodrow Hazelip. All participants have pledged themselves to high standards of conduct.

We make everyone welcome to these two very special evenings.

LAKEHEAD CAMPAIGN

Our short campaign for Christ in the Lakehead cities of Port Arthur and Fort William drew to a close Sunday, July 18. Brother Keith Thompson of Beamsville preached a series of the finest gospel sermons we have ever heard. One was baptized, the membership was surely strengthened, and new contacts were made which we believe will result in new souls won for the Lord.

The group which worked with us this year was very small when we think of last summer's campaign. But we realize that these six couples and three single girls, all from Mesquite, Texas, and the membership here passed out some 15,000 brochures in house-to-house work, we know that a great deal was accomplished.

It had been planned that 25 college and high school students from Memphis, Tenn., would have this work done before the actual meeting started, but unexpected last-minute circumstances prevented their coming, and the small group here which is physically able to do such work began immediately to try to make up for lack of numbers by long hours of work. The brethren from Texas then arrived, a few at a time, and joined us. Our workers were well received everywhere they went, and a number of persons visited services for the first time because of new contacts made with them.

Work goes ahead on our building and plans are already underway for a similar campaign next summer. The days when house-to-house work can be done in this climate are limited, and we plan to concenerate heavily on such work each summer Next year brethren from Taylor Blvd in Louisville, Kentucky, who were with us last year, plan to come again in another such effort. erature chosen and the organization of the evening classes.

The Bible School was planned as a family night which gave us plenty of teachers as well as students. The school was made up of eight classes. We had one teacher and one helper in each class which enabled them to control the students at all times. The average attendance at the Bible School was ninety-five.

Port Arthur, Ont.: A young couple has moved to this area to find employment and assist the church. The membership is now 16. The church in Seagoville, Texas is sending $300 per month to be used in forwarding the work. The building is progressing nicely with the target for completion set at September 1. Services are now being held in Sherwood Hall in Fort William, just down the street from the new building.

Dauphin, Man.: This small church has purchased two acres, two blocks from the Court House, on main arteries and hopes to erect a building soon. Why not send them some encouragement.

Lloydminster, Alberta: The big event for the summer is the Canada-Wide Singing School August 18-25. May we urge all who possibly can to take advantage of this wonderful opportunity.

Salmon Arm, B.C.: A total of 44 visitors attended the meeting here. One was restored to service.

Kelowna, B.C. About 20 have been attending regularly. Meetings alternate between the Slinn and Parker homes. Visitors and two families who were once in the church were discovered through newspaper advertising.

"We will be leaving for Kelowna the 19th of July. Three of the seven families have gone ahead and have already baptized one person." Our prayers for this new effort are solicited.

HAWAII

A "Campaign for Christ" was scheduled to get underway August 3 in Honolulu, Hawaii, directed by the 25th and Geraldine Church in Oklahoma City. The gospel meeting will continue through August 25 with Bro. Harold McRay preaching. Bro. Ivan Stewart, who will have just returned from directing a similar campaign in Brisbane, Australia, will direct the crew of personal workers. The members of the church in Honolulu raised $5,000 for advertising and auditorium expenses. There are 460 Christians scattered through the islands in five congregations, with many of these recent converts and temporary military and government employees stationed there.

PANAMA

The annual Pan American Bible Lectureship is scheduled for this fall, October 25 to 29, in Panama City, Panama. The first such lectures were held in Guatemala City, Guatemala, in 1962. Last fall they were held in Mexico City.

Brethren in the States of Texas and Florida are planning to charter planes to fly to the meetings. Those interested in going should write Reuel Lemmons, Box 77, Austin, Texas, or W. H. Rogers, 310 N. Canna Drive, Valdosta, Georgia.

MEXICO

The elders of the church in Hobbs, New Mexico, have sent Sister Becky Tilotta to Mexico City to work on graded Bible study material for children and to prepare teacher training manuals for Latin American Bible school teachers. Sister Tilotta is a well-trained and experienced teacher and writer of Bible school materials. Some of her materials have already been translated into Spanish and are used throughout Latin America. As soon as she is more fluent in the language, she will be sent throughout the Latin America churches to help train women Bible school teachers.

The warm fellowship shared, in periods of devotion; the lessons learned, under very capable leaders; the enthusiasm generated by the sum of events of the day, will continue to echo to us from this, which was indeed the best of Good Fridays.

THE NEW "MORALITY"?

by Ed Bryant

Observing human conduct around us today, and comparing it with that which prevailed even a decade ago, we are forced to admit that many taboos have gone by the board. Things once looked upon as shocking to our moral senses are now accepted by the majority with hardly a murmur of protest. Some have gone so far as to call this situation the "New Morality". We are convinced that this is a misnomer, for one whole syllable has been left out of the final word. It should read "The New IM-morality", if it is to be descriptive at all.

Those who have campaigned for the relaxing of our moral standards through the years have used for argument the supposition that increased freedom, especially in the sexual realm, would produce more enlightened people, happier people, people more suited to abundant living in the free society. Removing the restraints, they said, would make evil less attractive, and make full self-expression possible. With full self-expression was supposed to come emancipation from narrow morality, which to them seemed crippling to the psyche. We were supposed to have fewer sex crimes, less violence, more of the sense of the brotherhood of man when all the old-fogey notions about morality were dissipated.

We need not ask whether the efforts to relax the restrictions have succeeded. We need only to look around us. The evidence is everywhere. The chaste and modest woman of yesteryear has been supplanted by today's wanton. Where once a mere glimpse of exposed ankle would bring a blush of shame to the young woman's cheeks, we now have the spectacle of young women reluctant to cover any part of what nature gave them, even on a public beach! Where we once had honourable men whose word was their bond, we now have men who would not tell the truth if a lie would serve their cause better, and have no compunction about lying under oath! Where once we used to "whale the daylights" out of a child caught stealing, we now condone shoplifting to the extent of blaming external causes rather than the child himself. He is looked upon more or less as a victim of circumstances. There may be some

FROM FAITH UNTO FAITH

Donald E. Perry, Assam, India

Some four men overcame difficulties to bring a sick man to the feet of Jesus. Rather than leave this man at home on his bed so they could run off with the crowd to hear Jesus, these men carried the paralytic on a cot to the house where Jesus was teaching. Not becoming discouraged when they found the doorway of the house so crowded that they could not enter, they went upon the roof and tore it open so they could let the man down to where Jesus was. The report of Mark says that "Jesus seeing their faith saith unto the sick of the palsy, son thy sins are forgiven." Then Jesus also healed the man's body so that the people might believe on him that he also had authority on earth to forgive sins. They were amazed and glorified God.

The faith of the four men brought about the occasion for the healing and forgiveness of another man they cared for. It also gave opportunity for teaching in a dramatic manner so that many others came to have greater faith in Jesus as the Son of God who could forgive sins. Our faith, too, might do great things for others.

Our faith, if it be of working quality, will also bring others to Jesus. Andrew, when he was directed to Jesus by John the baptizer, went and told his brother Peter,

DIFFICULTIES OF UNBELIEF

Morris W. R. Bailey
Moose Jaw, Sask.

Unbelief parades in many forms and appears in varying hues and shades. Jesus equates disobedience with unbelief. "He that believeth on the Son hath eternal life; but he that obeyeth not the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth in him." (John 3:36) The unbelief that we propose to discuss in this article has to do with the denial of the existence of God.

Even among those who refuse to believe that God is, there is no complete unanimity. They disagree in many details. One of these forms of unbelief is agnosticism. The agnostic accepts as having existence, only that which he knows to exist. By that he means those things that can be discerned by the physical senses. Since God cannot be discerned by any of the five senses, the agnostic refuses to accept His existence. Neither does he deny the existence of God. He just says, "I don't know that God exists."

The more aggressive form of unbelief is athiesm. The word theist, from the Greek word Theos, is used to designate one who believes that God is. By adding the prefix "a" which, in this case, suggests the negative idea, we get the word athiest, which we use to designate one who denies the existence of God.

The athiest, in denying the existence of God and the doctrine of special creation, may adopt the extreme and illogical hypothesis that everything in the universe - the solar system, the earth, and all forms of life are all the result of blind chance. That was the proposition affirmed by Mr. Wolsley Teller in the Bales - Teller debate. The proposition read: "Resolved The Universe Is The Product Of Unintelligent Forces." Mr Teller was one of the founders of the American Association for the Advancement of Athiesm, known as the Four A society. Consequently he should have been a capable representative of that particular school of thought.

Then there is the athiest - no less vociferous in his denial that God is but who attempts to explain the existence of the universe and all forms of life in terms of evolution. By evolution, he means a hypothetical process in which, over multiplied billions of years, (evolutionists do not agree how many) the simple developed into the complex and lower forms of life developed into higher forms. His theory, as regards man, begins with the tiny amoeba,the smallest creature in the scale of life which, over millions of years, through the various stages of reptile, bird, animal, monkey, (and thus through hundreds of millions of intermediate stages between the various species) to finally emerge as man, the highest being in the scale of life. While this hypothesis is more logical than the by-chance theory of Mr. Teller, in that it has things coming from something before them, it is nevertheless beset by grave difficulties.

Too often our approach to the matter of Christian evidences is made from the defensive standpoint. In many cases it has been a matter of answering the arguments of unbelievers when they have made their attacks on Christianity and the foundation on which it rests. For centuries athiests have sneered at what they call the absurdity of believing in the existance of God. They scoff at what they call the blind faith of the Christian and would create the impression that such is a mark of lack of intelligence. Since the Christian believes that God is a spirit, (John 4:24) unbelief has sought to hold Christianity up to ridicule as mere superstition predicated on belief in ghosts.

We are grateful that in every generation there have been fearless men who have been set for the defense of those things that are most surely believed among us, and have successfully met the attacks of unbelief wherever and whenever they have been made. In such encounters the evidences on which we base our faith that God is have stood the test, and have emerged to shine with even greater brilliance.

But a defensive attitude is not enough. No battle is really won if fought solely from a defensive standpoint. Those of us who remember the days of the war will recall that it was not until after D day and the invasion of the enemy-held territory and the destruction of his strongholds that the turning point in the great conflict came and victory was achieved. And it is not sufficient for us to be satisfied with meeting the attacks of unbelief, regardless of how brilliant the defence. If there is to be any real victory for Christianity it must come about by an offensive warfare against the strongholds of unbelief.

Atheism, Actually A System of Faith

Atheism holds Christianity and the Christian's convictions as to God's existence up to ridicule because it is a system of faith. No well informed believer in God has ever contended for anything else. Gladly does he concede that he accepts the existence of God by faith. Accepting the Bible definition of faith, (Heb. 11:1), and the fact that faith is a product of evidence, the Christian believes that God is because he is convinced that the evidence is sufficiently abundant to justify his faith.

But when we examine atheism, it becomes obvious that everything of a positive nature that the atheist contends for, must, of necessity, be accepted on the basis of faith. No atheist can say that he knows that the universe came into existence merely by chance. It is certain that he was not there to see. On the contrary, all the known facts of science are solidly against him. One of the accepted tents of science is stated in these words, "Every effect is the result of an adequate cause." But to anyone who thinks matters through, it is obvious that mere chance is not sufficient cause to produce the smallest molecule of matter, to say nothing of a well-ordered universe.

Nor can the evolutionist prove that he knows that evolution is an accomplished fact. There is nothing that the evolutionist can produce that even begins to look like a plausible demonstration. Contrariwise, the absolute fixity of the various species deals a fatal blow to the theory. Moreover we have the testimony of any number of accredited scientiests who categorically deny that evolution has been proved by science, or that it is even possible. Thus any convictions that evolutionists hold concerning the origin of things must of necessity be mat-

WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH OUR BUILDING?

Tom Bunting, Miami, Florida

Brother Roy Merritt speaks out on this subject in the August 1965 issue of the Gospel Herald. Since he admits that there are those who oppose the things mentioned in his article, I see no reason why they would not allow equal space to express another view of these vital matters.

The difficulties with which Brother Merritt is wrestling may come about from the title of the article, when he says "our" building. Surely he doesn't mean our building. Now if you own a building I suppose it is up to you to do as you please with it or in it. However, the building of which he is speaking in the article was purchased with the Lord's money, not ours. It belong to Him and should be used to accomplish the purposes of God.

Like the denominational preachers who have no book, chapter, and verse for the practices of their organizations, Brother Merritt says, he has "no book, chapter, and verse in the matter of erecting a meeting house." I'm taken quite by surprise that one who has preached the gospel for a number of years is not ready to give an answer to every man that asketh him concerning the hope that is in him. Is this to say that you willfully and knowingly practice things when there is no authority? It is either God or men, if there is no authority from God then it must be a doctrine of men, if of men then not of God. "Every plant that the Father has not planted shall be rooted up." (Matt. 15:13). How could a person ever object to the practices of the denominations because they have no authority and turn right around and do something in which they say they have "no book, chapter, and verse?" I must disagree with Brother Merritt's assumption that there is no authority. I find authority in the word of God for a meeting house (Heb. 10:25; Acts 20:7; Jno. 4:21-24).

Notice, what he finally says about "what to do with our building." In paragraph five he says, "They would not allow a sandwich or a cup of coffee in the basement. They could not conceive of a visiting college chorus singing religious songs in the building, or the ladies sewing there, or our young people joining in well chosen recreation there following a special class of instruction."

If you will think for a moment about the above statement you will observe that Brother Merritt appears terribly confused. Let's consider these things: (1) You cannot parallel a cup of coffee, a college chorus, ladies sewing, and the young peoples' recreation. The paragraph implies that these are all of equal quality. They are not. One cannot equate ladies sewing with a cup of coffee, or recreation. It is possible for ladies sewing to be part of the work of the church when the others are very unlikely, if not altogether impossible. (2) The activities named are not sinful of themselves. A cup of coffee is not sinful within its self, nor is well chosen recreation. Neither is the playing of instruments of music, but when introduced into the worship in violation of the law of God it is sinful. The same principle applies to the college chorus, recreation, and cup of coffee. (3) They become sin when made a part of the work or worship. There is no authority for a chorus or choir in the worship! Some say, Oh, they did it after the worship. Then it was not worship; it was entertainment There is no authority for the church to engage in entertainment. But if it was entertainment why did they only sing "religious" songs? (4) Brother Merritt speaks of abuses. The examples cited and others which he omitted are not cases of abusing a privilege, because no such privilege has ever been given. The abuse is the abuse rendered the authority of God. Casting aside the word of God as though it were nothing. We make void the commandments of God by our traditions. (Matt. 15:6). (5) The dangers to the church by publishing such an article is not so much what was said but what he avoided saying. He spoke of a cup of coffee but said nothing of a social hour with dinners and recreation; he said nothing of the thousands of dollars of the Lord's money spent in the construction of kitchens and dining areas in church buildings. There is a vast difference between taking a cup of coffee into the building and investing thousands of dollars of God's money to build a kitchen and dining hall. He said some would oppose the young people using the building for recreation. Certainly, and they should oppose it for it is not right. I recall that the last spanking I received from my father was for playing in the church building. But why would he mention the recreation and remain completely silent on the fact that tens of thousands of dollars of the Lord's money has been used by brethren to build gymnasiums and recreation halls, and the purchasing of equipment for such facilities? I'm sorry that he left so much to be desired. These things are wrong, not because the building is sacred, but because they are not part of the work assigned by God to the church.

If we want to get the most out of the church building, use it in the work of the Lord! Let's not be talking about more recreation, more social hours, more entertainments; but more about Bible study, more song practice, more prayers. Use it every hour of every day but use it in the works proclaimed by God. Use it in the manner for which it was planned. How many souls might have been saved if brethren had used the Lord's money in preaching the gospel and building places of worship instead of spending millions of the Lord's money on kitchens, dining halls, gymnasiums, and recreation centres.

Yes, brethren, what shall we do with the church building? Shall we use it in service to God, or to promote the wishes of men?

POLICING THE CHURCH BUILDING

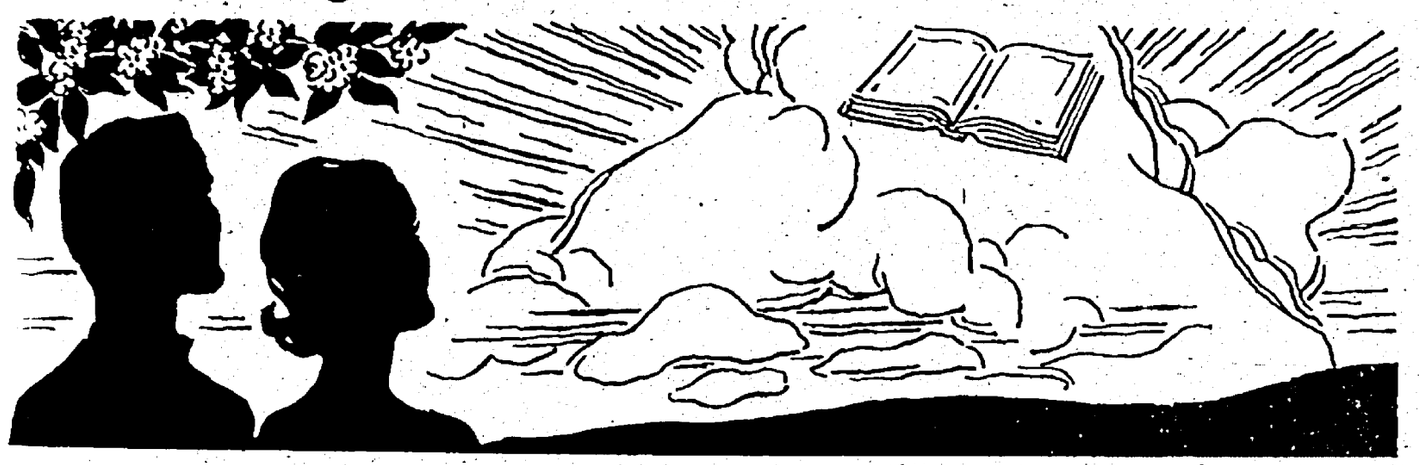
Elsewhere in this issue we have a reply to our editorial in the August edition of the Gospel Herald. Our young brother has replied in a reasonably objective tone and we feel that he is sincere in his objections to our article. Nevertheless, he shows a basic lack of depth in his thinking which makes his arguments rather weak. We do not believe that there are many Canadian brethren sympathetic to his views. Hence we shall not devote much space to them.

Our brother objects to the use of the pronominal adjective "our" in respect to church buildings. He says that such can only be used when one owns the building. In this our brother has not done much grammatical research. This writer does not own him, but you will notice that he speaks of Brother Bunting as "our" brother. If this is wrong, Brother Bunting should set straight over two million Christians who speak of "our" brethren.

We at the Lakehead have a piano in "our" meeting house every Lord's Day. Every Tuesday evening, a bingo is going on there. Before you seek to disfellowship us, Brother Bunting, let me explain that "our" place of meeting does not belong to us, but to the Foresters' Lodge. In Ottawa it was the Orange Lodge Hall. In Hamilton, our meeting place was a public school auditorium for a time. We paid the Lord's money to rent these, but each was "our" meeting place for a time.

Our young friend raps our knuckles smartly for not giving book, chapter and verse in the matter of erecting a church building. He then proceeds to give three references in the New Testament to such buildings. It is amazing to notice how easily he found these. At this point, please take your New Testament, any version, and read these "clear" references to church buildings. He gives Acts 20:7; Hebrews 10:25, and John 4:21-24. If the brethren gathered in a church building on the Lord's Day for the Lord's Supper (Acts 20:7), it seems that Paul ate a common meal in the building before departing with his company sometime after midnight.

In Hebrews 10:25, no mention is made of a building set aside for worship and purchased with the Lord's money. John 4:21-24 does not mention a church building. Brother Bunting must use a version not available to the rest of us to call these references authority for building church buildings out of money contributed to the Lord.



Brother Bunting suggests that "Brother Merritt appears terribly confused." This happens at times, but it does not seem that he is at this time. In reality, it is our young brother who is confused. He is able to draw a fine line of distinction to authorize sewing in the building but yet cannot seem to distinguish how certain other activities in the building can be just as harmless and expedient.

Our brother suggested in reference to our article that "The dangers to the church by publishing such an article is not so much what was said but what he avoided saying." Conversely, it could be said that the danger in his article was on the basis of what he said that he should have avoided saying. He has set about with some kindred spirits to police the church for the infraction of laws which he and his fellows have invented.

Much of what our brother has said is relative to the use of the Lord's money in building a meeting place. He reasons that if the Lord's money was used to build or buy the building, then only those activities may be permitted which relate to spiritual work or worship. He thereby condemns the congregation which builds a preacher's home in which all manner of activities of the family take place. He similarly condemns those congregations which allow a family to live in an apartment contained in the church building. This has been done in many places and likely will be done often in the future. The family thus located could not even play its radio or television nor could it eat in the by Crystal D. Cook, Dundas, Ont.

Today I should like to say a few words on the subject of love. There is so much hate in the world that each of us needs to be stirred up in loving one another.

I would like to place love in three categories. "Love of God," "Love of Parents," and "Love of all mankind."

"Love of God"

Why should we love God? I believe the answer is quite simply this. Because he first loved us and gave his Son to die for us. In Eph. 2:4,5 we read: "But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, Even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;)". In the well known verse, John 3:16 we are told that "God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish; but have everlasting life." Don't you think that this was the greatest of all gifts to earth? Can you imagine any father on this earth who loved his son, to give that son to his enemies, to be killed as a sacrifice for their wrong doings? No! no earthly man has that much love for mankind, that he would give his son as a sacrifice for their wrong doings. It took a heavenly Father, with a great love for his creation, to send his only Son to die for them.

How can we show our love and gratitude to God for this great sacrifice? In John 14:15 we are told: "If ye love me, ye will keep my ccommandments." This seems like a very simple task but how often we slip, and forget the commandments of God. What are the commandments we should follow? We have been given one great command. This one command is so great it will take our whole lifetime to achieve only a very small portion of it. That commandment as found in Matt. 28:19, 20 is this: "Go ye therefore and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit: Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world." This command entails a great sacrifice on our part. We must be willing to forsake all and follow Christ. Christ told us in Matt. 10:37, 38: "He that loveth father and mother more than me is not worthy of me: and he that loveth son or daughter more than me is not worthy of me. And he that taketh not up his cross, and followeth me, is not worthy of me." We must be willing, if we wear the name Christian, to obey God's will.

"Love not the world . . ." I John 2:15. Maybe in taking the gospel to the world, we are not going to have the luxuries that we are now enjoying. Some day, if we are in a poor country and are putting our all into our work, we may have to go hungry so that others may eat. But isn't the love of God worth more to us than these riches of the world? It should be. In Matt. 22:37 we read, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind." This does not leave any room for the things of the world.

"Love of Father and Mother"

God through love, in olden times delivered the children of Israel from Egyptian bondage. While they were wandering in the wilderness, God gave them the Ten Commandments. One of these commandments as found in Ex. 20:12 is this; "Honour thy father and thy mother; that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee." Why, that doesn't apply to us does it? It was given in the Old Testament and we are to follow the New! But this command is carried over to the New Testament but with greater responsibility placed with it, that of obedience. Note Eph. 6:1-3. Honour is defined as respect, esteem, reverence and so on. If we honour someone I believe of necessity, we must love them. Through love, we will obey them. Why should we love them? As with God, because they first loved us. Wasn't it they who fed and clothed, watched and protected us when we were young? Aren't they the ones who are still feeding, clothing and watching over us? Although they can not protect us from the world and its wiles as much now as when we were young, they do try to point out these wrongs so that we will know. I believe also that we as students of G.L.C.C. have another reason to love our parents more. For most of us, it is our parents who are sacrificing that we might be able to go to school under the influence of Christian men and women and with students of the same background. When you go home next time, see if that hat mother's wearing isn't the same one she wore last year, and if that suit Dad has on isn't the same one you've seen him in since way back when.

"Love For All Mankind"

We are commanded to love one another in John 15:17. The person sitting next to you, your neighbour. Read Romans 12:10. Do you love your neighbour with brotherly love? Your friend, are you kind and considerate of him at all times, or are you a fairweather friend? I believe when God said to love one another, he meant all the time, not just when it suited our fancy.

So far we have just dealt with those we call friends. Let's consider another aspect. Matt. 5:44 "Love your enemies . . ." That loud

Your Questions Answered

Questions to be answered on this page should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403 Beamsville, Ontario.

In Acts the second chapter it tells of the baptism of three thousand people. How could all these people have been immersed in a city that does not have any river flowing through it? And how could all those people be immersed in just one day,

This objection has been brought against baptism by immersion for many years. When people are not willing to submit to one of the Lord's commands they usually find a great many objections to bring against that command. Such an objection shows a deplorable lack of faith on the part of the one making it. Anyone with an honest mind who reads the New Testament for himself will find that baptism was administered only by immersion in those days. To this conclusion all scholars agree.

In Acts 2:41 we read, "Then they that gladly received his word were baptized: and the same day there were added unto them about three thousand souls." The fact that it says they were baptized is proof enough that they were immersed. The word baptize comes from the greek baptizo, meaning to plunge, to dip, to overwhelm, to submerge, to immerse. But our querist says that this could not be done in Jerusalem due to the lack of a river. It is true that there is no large river flowing through that city but that does not prove that there was not sufficient water for the immersion of three thousand people. In and immediately adjacent to the city of Jerusalem there were at least six great pools covering in all about fifteen acres of ground. Here are the names of those pools and the scripture references for each: 1. Bethesda. John 5:2. 2. The King's pool or Solomon's Neh. 2: 14. 3. Siloam John 9:7. 4. Upper Gihon 2 Kings 18:17. 5. Lower Gihon 2 Chron. 32:2,3 and 30. 6. The Pool of Hezekiah. 2 Kings 20:20. We learn from the fifth chapter of John that the pool of Bethesda had five porches around it, and that the people were accustomed to go into it. This one pool would have furnished ample facilities for the performance of the work.

The Pool of Siloam was about 360 feet long and likewise would have been ample for the performance of the task.

In the second part of the question we are asked, How could all those people have been immersed in just one day? It could have been done very easily as we shall see. Peter began his sermon at the third hour of the day, that is, at nine o'clock in the morning. Grant that he preached an hour, and that they were then two hours in getting to the water; the baptizing could then have begun at twelve o'clock, and there would have been at least six hours until sunset. Could the work have been done in six hours? In 1879 at Ongole, India, two thousand, two hundred and twenty-two Telugu converts were immersed on a single day by six ministers. The ministers worked two at a time, and the service was completed with all due solemnity in nine hours. In that same year near Franklin, Kentucky, a colored minister immersed ninety-six persons in seventy minutes; that is eighty-two in one hour. This colored minister had not been told that he would be timed though a number of gentlemen held their watches while he was doing the work. It has been demonstrated over and over again that to baptize sixty per hour is easy work. Well, if the one hundred and twenty brethren who were assembled just previous to the day of Pentecost all took part in the baptizing, there would have been just twenty-five for each to baptize; they could have finished in half an hour. If only the apostles had acted as administrators of baptism, each apostle would have had two hundred and fifty people to immerse, and could have done it easily within four hours. Hence, we see that there was no trouble about a water supply, or about time, for the immersion of the three thousand.

We feel inclined to apologize for the exchange between brethren Bunting and Merritt appearing elsewhere in this issue. Although we have no objection to matters of this kind being considered pro and con in our paper, we would like to see such done objectively and without brethren calling one another "confused" and "ridiculous". Now that the matter has been introduced we choose with some hesitation to insert two quotes on the subject.

"Actually, there is not a line of reference in the New Testament relative to church buildings. They are built on inference and rightly so. The heart of the individual is God's sanctuary. He dwells in his people, not in 'temples made with hands'."

"In spite of our general agreement upon the assertion that the building is not the church, neither does it possess any sacredness above other possessions of Christians, there are those who would legislate relative to the use of the building which is used as a meeting place for the church. When an activity becomes wrong in the meeting house of the church and right in some other building, there is an evident misconception of what the church really is." — Brad Brumley

"With the advance of Roman Catholicism came the pagan philosophy of sacred sites, buildings and temples. The Council of Laodicea (A.D. 397), in its 28th cannon, forbade any to eat of spread tables "in the house of God." Brethren today, who suppress the use of meeting houses for basket dinners and covered-dish luncheons are imitating apostate church councils, and not apostolic churches. There are two errors committed here: 1. They conceive a building of brick and mortar, or one of boards and nails, to be the house of God, and 2. They legislate where God has not legislated. One is crass ignorance of the scriptures' definition of the church, and the other is a brazen attempt to usurp the dominion of the one Lord. The matter of eating in the church building is an indifferent point, but ignorance of the scriptures and lording it over the church are both serious." — Vandalia Star

Vancouver, B.C.: It is reported that three Herald of Truth films have Canadian Television approval and others are being reviewed. These are soon to be seen on 15 Canadian stations, including Vancouver and Victoria.

The Mount Baker encampment had 239 campers. There were 42 responses to the invitation of whom seven were baptized.

Farris will preach and conduct a V.B.S. on August 16-22. Douglas Meakes was baptized in the V.B.S. at Perryville, Saskatchewan and Elaine Ellis at Big River.

Perryville, Sask.: Two were baptized during the Bible school.

There were at least 19 adults besides their children present who were non-members. Although there were no baptisms we know that the seed has been sown and if cultivated will produce the harvest.

"We want to thank all the visiting brethren who were with us and helped make the meetings more inspiring. Where the church is small any and all who attend seem to make it seem more worthwhile.

Teaching staff consisted of brother Howard Lehman and his daughter, Mrs. Clark Preston from Pine Orchard, Sister Robinson, Snure and Rubel from Jordan, Sister Hotchkiss from Beamsville, and locally Sisters Preston and Hotchkiss. Others acted as helpers. Some made two and three trips to pick up students. Brother and Sister David Hotchkiss were in charge of the school.

Barrie, Ont.: The discussion with the Jehovah Witnesses was well attended both nights. The J.W. representatives presented their teachings and brother Wesley Jones followed with an excellent lesson from the Bible each evening. He dealt with the Deity of Jesus, The Nature of Man and Eternal Reward and Punishment. The audience flooded the speakers with questions, many of which could not be answered because of the shortage of time. Some interesting and revealing answers were heard.

Sarnia, Ont.: There were three baptisms in July. Twelve young people from Sarnia attended Omagh Bible School this year. Bro. R. L. Boatwright of Lubbock, Texas arrived in Sarnia July 24th to work with the church preceding and following our Vacation Bible School which was the first week of August. The largest attendance was 141 with a total of 594 for the week. Owing to illness in the family of Brother and Sister Gale Miller of Shock, West Virginia, they did not come for the V.B.S. as planned but Bro. Roger Hart and Sister Virginia Loftis of Port Huron helped with the teaching. The week following V.B.S., Brother Randolph Prichett of Lubbock, Texas preach-justice in this, at least in realizing that he is the product of the society which spawned him.

THE NEW "MORALITY"?

We are now ready to ask, "Where is the emancipation that was supposed to come?" Where is the reduction in sex crimes that was to happen? Where is the increased sense of the brotherhood of man we were told to look for? Where is the abatement of violence that was promised? Unrest, conflicts and open wars are going on in all parts of the world. Crimes of sex and violence have increased alarmingly. People are more oppressed by the Frankenstein monster they have created in plugging for emancipation than they ever were under the restrictions of a strict morality. Moral degradation has eaten away at the vitals of civilization like a cancer, and even now threatens to drag the whole human race down into the mire of destruction and oblivion. "Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey; whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?" (Romans 6:16).

Those who have stood fast for purity and uncompromising righteousness have been tagged as "old fogey". The epithet is deserved in that this was the very original state of man when he was created upon the earth. Pure, holy, dedicated to God, and until he was tempted, a sinless being. From his first sin, he digressed into ever widening circles of disobedience and immorality, no doubt seeking emancipation from the restrictions placed upon him by a loving God, and certainly seeking his own will above that of his Maker. He arrived one day at the place where God could stand it no longer, and felt called upon to put a stop to life on the earth as it was then practiced. It is significant that only eight souls were saved alive out of all who then lived. In the whole history of the human race since the flood is seen the vicious circle repeated over and over again. From humility and rescue, man progresses to a position of affluence, then to unrighteousness, then to destruction and ruin, and over again. When will we ever learn?

There is nothing "new" about the New Morality (?). Everything has been done before. Written on a tablet about 4,800 years ago by some cynical adult in Constantinople were these words: "Our earth is degenerate in these latter days. There are signs that the world is speedily coming to an end. Bribery and corruption are common. Children no longer obey their parents. Every man wants to write a book and the end of the world is evidently approaching." Socrates was not peering into the twentieth century when he wrote the following, though it may seem as if he were: "Our youth now loves luxury. They have manners, contempt for authority, they show disrespect for elders, and they love to chatter instead of exercise. Children are now tyrants. They no longer rise when elders enter the room. They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble up their food and tyrannize their teachers." (Written in 400 B.C.). Further to this, stories of debauchery, licentiousness and depravity abound in the Bible as well as secular history. Notable are those pertaining to life within the Roman empire, prior to its fall.

From all this, anyone with half an eye could see where the end of the road lies. We are NOT headed for a higher plane of emancipated living, with all restrictions removed. What we ARE headed for is the same thing other men in other times have found at the end of their road. . . .utter ruin. As has always been the case when men forget God, civilizations crumble, mighty empires topple in the dust, to be remembered only when the spade of the archaeologist uncovers in some dim and distant future the remnants and relics of bygone glories.

It remains for us to learn for ourselves and teach others that to "gain the whole world and lose our own souls" is the utmost folly. The satisfaction of every creature comfort, desire and passion is to sacrifice the needs of the immortal soul. "Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people". (Proverbs 14:34) "The wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God." (Psalm 9:17). God is forgotten by those who press for the New Morality (?) for He is in the way of all it stands for.

We do, indeed, need a "new morality" which isn't new but is found in a return to the morality of old, the morality of the Bible. A return to the principles that made nations great in other ages is a crying need in this age. Men of courage to stand for the right in the face of overwhelming popular demand are needed, as was Moses in another age, to lead people out of the wilderness of sin to a place of safety and honour in God's own Promised Land.

saying "We have found the Messiah". Philip also coming to believe in Jesus went to Nathanael and said, "We have found Him, of whom Moses in the Law, and the prophets wrote." It was not long before Nathanael was saying to Jesus, "Rabbi, You are the Son of God; You are the King of Israel." (John 1:49).

Faith in Jesus on the part of some will bring others to Jesus to have faith in him unto salvation. Acts of faith on the part of one Christian can beget faith in others. The expression of faith in sincere sermons may beget faith in the hearers. It may not be so much what is preached but the overflowing of great confidence in God which is illustrated by earnest exhortation which may beget like faith in hearers.

I like to think that my decision to come to India with my comparatively large family was based on faith in God and his cause. I like, too, to think that in some way this act of faith might have led others to live more faithfully to Christ and to make decisions in their lives on faith.

Faith can do great things. It can be like a leaven that spreads and grows affecting all around. Let us live by faith. Such faith will bring others to Christ and beget greater acts of faith in others. Let us each be points of growth for faith.

Book Reviews

Books to be reviewed in this column should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont., Canada.

"Lift Up Your Eyes" Being the Abilene Christian College Annual Bible Lectures, 1965. Published by Abilene Christian College Students Exchange, 414 pages $3.95 (plus exchange in Canada).

This was the year, that perhaps for the first time, two Canadian preachers delivered major lectures at Abilene. One of these men, Geoffrey Ellis, a native Canadian, is president of Great Lakes Christian College and an Associate Editor of the Gospel Herald. The other, Wesley Reagan, is originally from Texas but has been preaching in Winnipeg, Manitoba for four years. The lectures of either of these men are worth the price of the book.

The Abilene Christian College lectureship is truly a phenomenon among churches of Christ. It is ably reviewed in a new book, The Mirror of a Movement by Bill Banowsky, which we will discuss in this column shortly.

It was good to be present with a good number of fellow Canadians at this year's Abilene lectures. Looking over the lectureship book, it is a joy to recall to mind the various lectures. Especially impressive were lectures delivered by John Allen Chalk, Abe Malherbe, Edward H. Rockey and Robert W. Holton. Not having heard all the lectures (it is impossible to do so as three are given at one time in different locations) I cannot judge the delivery of all of them. Yet reading them in the book makes one wish he could be in three places at once.

Also included are the informative speeches given in the Panel Discussions. Topics considered here are Science and Christian Faith, The Present Status of Evolution, Genesis and the Origin of Man and the Origin and Preservation of the Bible.

ed each evening. — W. B. Waldeck.

Toronto, Fern Ave.: Four were recently baptized from one family of former Jehovah's Witnesses. The original contact was made by their chance viewing of a "Herald of Truth" program. They then contacted us and were taught in their home. Other recent contacts include World's Fair contacts and some from the Barrie radio program. Several cottage meetings are in progress and we are praying for a rich harvest of souls. — Troy R. Warren.

Beamsville, Ont.: V.B.S. averaged 135. A number of parents visited the closing program.

St. Catharines, Ont.: V.B.S. averaged about 120.

Niagara Falls, Ont.: Bible Correspondence courses have now been sent to 80 persons.

Carman, Man.: Wesley Hanson, formerly of W.C.C. was baptized on July 11. V.B.S. averaged 90 in attendance.

THANK YOU

Sister Jack McElroy, whose house and belongings were all destroyed by fire this Spring has sent word of appreciation for the help she received. Brother George Hipwell of Fenwick and other individuals in different areas gathered up funds to send to her assistance and she wishes to thank all who were so kind in helping her in her time of need.

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

ETHIOPIA

Bro. and Sis. Artie Reed and their three young children of Sacramento, Calif., plan to leave at the end of this month for Ethiopia to join workers already on the mission field there. Their work will be supervised by the church in Stockton, Calif.

Brother Reed, a preacher and school teacher, is a native of St. Louis, Mo., and was baptized into Christ in 1952. He immediately began preparing himself to preach the gospel and has since worked with churches in Wichita, Kans., Stockton, and Sacramento. He is a graduate of Philander Smith College in Little Rock, Ark., and has done graduate work at the University of Denver and in California.

There has been only one fulltime evangelist with the church in Ethiopia since July, 1962. although there have been two Christian teachers at the deaf school in Addis Ababa. Brother Reed's work will be not only to preach but to help train young native Christians to preach. He also will be working with some 2,000 Christians who were found two years ago in an indigeneous movement in Sidamo and Wallamo Provinces.

JAPAN

Plans are being completed for the fifth annual Asian Missionaries' Workshop to be held on the campus of Ibaraki Christian College, Ibaraki, Japan, November 14-19. Preachers and other church workers plan to attend from India, Korea, South Vietnam, Okinawa, Honk Kong, Malaysia, Taiwan, Thailand, and the United States.

Among missionaries who will be teaching on the program are Haskell Chesshir of Seoul, Korea; Parker Henderson, Bob Davidson, and Kenneth Rideout of Thailand; Joe Cannon of Okinawa, and Maurice Hall of South Vietnam.

NORTHERN IRELAND (EIRE)

The Ross Bracey and Danny Proffitt families landed in Nothern Ireland July 6 to begin work with the congregation in Coleraine. Both will be supported on the field by the Webb Chapel church in Dallas, Texas.

A climax to the departure of these families for the mission field came about midnight on the eve of their departure when Brother Proffitt baptized his 75-year-old father into Christ.

HONG KONG

Six teenage boys and girls were baptized in Hong Kong during June. All were pupils in the English Bible classes of the Kowlon City Church of Christ. Since their baptism, series of home Bible studies have been set up with two sets of parents. Brother Paul H. F. Hui is evangelist with the Kowlon City congregation.

ARUBA

A recent gospel meeting held by Bro. William Miller, Nassau, resulted in five baptisms and two restorations to the church in Aruba, Netherlands West Indies. Bro. Dewayne Shappley serves as fulltime evangelist on Aruba. He is presently broadcasting a weekly radio program in the native Papiamento language and is translating Bible correspondence courses into this language.

SPAIN

Broadcasts of the Herald of Truth radio program into Spain in the Spanish language began June 3 over powerful Radio Luxembourg. Speaker for the series is Bro. Juan Monroy, Spanish author, educator, journalist and radio speaker, and also a leading gospel preacher in his native country.

Recently 25 persons have been baptized into Christ during a meeting in Seville, while four were baptized in the city of Madrid. These latter four included an 18-year-old girl who had been helping with translation, the wife of an American stationed at an air base in Madrid, and a Venezuelan doctor and his wife who now live in the city.

SOUTH VIETNAM

The church of Christ in Saigon has been advised by the director of the government - controlled Radio Vietnam that a 30-minute weekly gospel broadcast has been approved. The broadcasts were begun July 23. Bro. Phil Nhon has left his position as a translator on the staff of U.S. General Westmoreland to devote his full time to the program. He will prepare sermons from outlines provided by missionaries, and adapt the thoughts to the Vietnamese pattern. He will then provide copies of the sermons in both English and Vietnamese for checking before the sermons are taped by the network.

Time for the broadcast is provided free.

Also in Saigon, some 200 children from the ages of nine to 13 are enrolled in an English Bible class which meets in a garage four afternoons a week. Their teachers are young people from the Saigon Church of Christ, aged from 18 to 21. All are supervised by Brother Hoang, a young Vietnamese preacher.

GHANA

Brother Dewayne Davenport has returned to his work in Kumasi, Ghana, after a year's leave spent in the United States. Over 600 persons have been baptized there and ten congregations are now meeting.

URUGUAY

Bro. Evert Pickartz of Santiago, Chile, was the speaker in a recent gospel meeting held in Montevideo, Uruguay, in which two were baptized into Christ. The church in that city now has 22 members. Bro. Atilio Pinto is beginning his fourth year of evangelism there.

RHODESIA

Some 300 visitors attended the 8th annual Nhowe Lectureship held on the mission grounds July 10-13. Counting the children who live there and the people from the mission, more than 800 people were present for Sunday worship services July 11. Seven were baptized during the lecture period, bringing the total of persons who have rendered obedience to the Lord in the mission area this year to 285.

Speakers at the lectureship were James Judd and Doyle Gilliam of Malawi, formerly Nyasaland, who delivered 11 lessons on the Holy Spirit. Since spirit worship is still very prevalent among natives in the area, it was believed that a thorough discussion on this subject would help the young Christians understand it more clearly.

SAMOA

Among six persons baptized recently in Pago Pago, American Samoa, were a young chief, Laga, and his wife, Visa. They are the parents of nine children. Others included three young men from Tonga. Since the arrival of the first missionary there 16 months ago, 14 have been added to the church in Samoa and five in Fiji. Average attendance at worship services and Bible classes is 35.

SCOTLAND

Fifty persons attended the first Lord's Day worship service of the church held in the Sighthill suburb of Edinburgh Sunday morning, July 25. On the other side of the city, a congregation has been meeting in Hyvots Bank for nine years. Bro. and Sis. Claude Parrish will be working with the new congregation, assisted in the first months by Bro. and Sis. Frank Ethridge.

Among Scottish brethren who came to help American brethren in the campaign for Christ in this new area were Andrew Gardiner, Will Steele and Allister Castle of Hyvots Bank, and Alex Roberts and his son and daughter, Alex. Jr., and Betty, of Kirkaldy.

LEBANON

A gathering of missionaries and other church workers from the Middle East was held July 5-9 in Beirut, Lebbanon, for the purpose of fellowship and planning for more effective mission work. Twenty-four persons were in attendance from Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon and Pakiston. Plans were made to hold another such gathering next year in Jerusalem, Jordan.

Evertt Huffard, P.O. Box 529, Jerusalem, Jordan. We ended our first gospel meeting Sunday night, July 3rd, with 63 present. Brother Bob Douglas of Cairo, Egypt, did a wonderful job presenting the gospel as needed in this area. The average attendance each night was 48. Even though there were no baptisms, we feel that those with whom we have been working have been brought nearer to the truth. Four nights we showed Herald of Truth film following the services.

JAPAN

Four were baptized during gospel meetings held in Yokohama and Tachikawa during the first part of July

PHILLIPPINES

A "tract meeting has been conducted in Manilla and Baguio City recently, and others are planned for several other cities in the Phillippines. Some 76,000 tracts on "What Is The Church of Christ?", the first lesson of a correspondence course, and a letter explaining the lesson and inviting the recipient to return it and attend church services, were printed and distributed on two consecutive Saturdays.

Other cities in which such a work is planned are Dagupan City, Cebu, Naga City and Davao City.

MEXICO

Five were baptized during a gospel meeting in Montemorelas, Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, in which Bro. Ben Gomez, an elder in the church in Victoria, Texas, did the preaching. According to Bro. Elias Cavada, who works in Montemorelas regularly, the five were baptized in a river by the light of a small kerosene lantern "the same hour of the night."

PERU

Bro. and Sister Oscar Aguilar and their three sons left LaHabra, California, June 7 to begin work with the church in Lima, Peru. He is a native Chilean and will be supported by the churches in LaHabra and Junction, Texas. In Lima he will work with Bro. Glenn Kramar, who preached for a while in Welland, Ontario, before going to Peru.

LIBYA

Bro. and Sister Bobby James Pratt and their son arrived in Tripoli, Libya, July 7 to begin work with the church there. He graduated from Abilene Christian College this spring. There are now about 225 members of the church in Tripoli.

NEW ZEALAND

Plans for a second major "Campaign for Christ" in New Zealand are well underway. The meeting in the city of Christchurch, largest city on the south island (population 200,000), is scheduled to be held February 11-27, 1966, and is to be directed by Bro. Joe D. Gray of Valdosta, Georgia, who directed the campaign in Port Arthur - Fort William, Ont., last year, as well as the campaign in Wellington, New Zealand, the yetr before. Some 50 American Christians will go along to help in personal work and door-to-door teaching.

INDIA

I VISIT KERALA

India is divided into states. By and large the people that live in each of these States talk a different language to those who live in the neighbouring State. The culture is different one from the other to a great extent as well as the language.

Kerala is different. Kerala has the densest population on earth with more than 1,000 people per square mile. Kerala is more literate than any other State. Kerala has had a Christian population since the first century. The claim is made that Kerala was visited by the apostle Thomas and it is purported that he was killed just south of Madras. There is a hill known as St. Thomas mound where he is supposed to have met violent death.

Many of the denominations are to be found in Kerala. More than one third of the population of Kerala is nominally Christian.

Brother K. V. George is a native of this State and after some years of study has returned to preach the principles of New Testament Christianity. There are now six congregations there. It would seem the opportunities are unlimited there as in other States in Southern India.

Many people believe that the best way to evangelize is by native evangelists. Here is a man, K. V. George, who has a Master's degree, and much of his work toward his Ph.D. He seems to be well liked both in the church and by the world outside. Of course, he has opposition, but you cannot preach New Testament Christianity and not have opposition.

Should you want to, write Brother George:

NORTH BAY CAMPAIGN REPORT

". .AND THE LORD added to the church daily such as were being saved." This New Testament statement, so many times read, has never had such meaning for us for, indeed, the Lord has added to the North Bay church daily those that were being saved. Each night the last week of the meeting, some were baptized — some came forward during the meeting and were baptized immediately after—others were baptized at midnight and later after many hours of teaching. Twenty-eight have rendered obedience to Christ. One man, who was converted three days prior to the campaign beginning, attended every service of the public meetings, led prayer and read the scriptures both during the meetings. He also took complete responsibility for the opening of the building and setting up of chairs and the many other physical things that had to be done. He is already, and we are confident will continue to be, both a help and an inspiration to us. . . Another of those converted was a partially deaf man and his wife, who is a deaf mute. This man can hear and speak, but also is very fluent in the use of the sign language. Already he is preaching the Gospel. He has arranged for and invited all the deaf in the area to services for the deaf on Sunday afternoon. Last Sunday eight deaf folk assembled for the meeting. This is a great door of opportunity that would never have been opened had it not been for the conversion of Norman Roggie. . . .Pages could be written concerning different situations involved in each conversion.

ALL THIS would never have been possible except for the sacrifices made by so many. The Freed-Hardeman group, under the direction of Steve May, were primarily responsible for the work and success of the campaign. They worked continuously tramping streets, making calls, holding cottage meetings, and many other things. For three weeks they worked almost non-stop. On the last Friday of the public meetings, at the request of the students, the majority of the workers spent all day on a hill overlooking the city, in prayer and fasting. It was a soul-searching experience. . . . Bro. Bill Oakly, from Wichita, Kansas, did an excellent job of directing the personal work. Bro Jim Carter from East Detroit, Mich, did a fine job of preparing the newspaper advertising. The singing during the meeting was greatly enhanced by the direction of Troy Warren from the Fern Ave congregation in Toronto. Many comments were made concerning the fine television ads prepared by Bro. Brodie Harrell from the Ice Lake congregation on Manitoulin Island, and had it not been for the records system set up by Louis Pauls of Meaford, Ont., the follow-up would have been impossible.

Many other workers came—preachers from Canada and the United States, students other than the Freed-Hardeman group, and interested individuals from the four winds. We especially appreciated having Bro. Harvey Strough and his family from Birmingham, Ala. Bro Stough is one of the elders from the Homewood congregation in that city.

EVERYONE who listened to Bro. John Allen Chalk speak from night to night is still wondering how Bro. Chalk could speak with such forcefulness. Each sermon was a masterpiece. One visitor commented: "You may not convert me, but I sure can't argue with the logic of Mr. Chalk's lessons." Yet, on the other hand, John always had time to visit with any prospect. One new convert Bro. Chalk visited said that he was amazed that a man as busy as Bro. Chalk would come and talk to him. We heartily commend this servant of the Lord to the Brotherhood. We have scheduled him again for a campaign in June of 1973.

SEVERAL WORKERS are planning on staying here all summer to help follow-up contacts that have been made, as well as help teach our new brothers and sisters. It looks like we will have three boys and two girls. I am sure their work will aid greatly in growth of the church here. Our mid-week Bible class has grown to where we cannot meet in homes any more. We now use the auditorium where our Sunday meetings are held.

AMONG all this good news I must include a little that is not so good. We need $2,000 to pay off expenses incurred during the campaign that we hadn't counted on. My first reaction is to worry about this, but on further thought I believe that since God has been with us thus far, something will be worked out to solve this problem. If 200 people would give $10 each, this would be taken care of. Can you help this much? If not, any amount would be appreciated.

IN OUR LAST report, we were concerned about getting the $10,000 we needed to pay on our property. This finally was solved (after 3 extensions from the owner) when the following sources committed themselves to raise the money:

Birmingham (Homewood) Ala.	$4,000.00
Birmingham, Mich.	2,000.00
John Allen Chalk	2,000.00
Clyde Lansdell	2,000.00

The $2,000 for which I am responsible has not been raised as yet but letters are being sent asking congregations to assist. The bank agreed to let us have the amount needed on the understanding that it would be paid off in two months. This is another area in which we need your prayerful support. Since we are not going to be able to build this year, we have decided to rent one of the houses on the property and use the other one as an office. A temporary baptistry will be installed.

BECAUSE of limited facilities, lack of finances, and other pressing duties, we decided not to have a Vacation Bible School this year. I am sorry that this is necessary, but maybe next year we can have another one.

PLEASE pray for us daily. There is so much to be done, and without your prayers, we will fail.

Regina, Sask.: More than two dozen workers from Tulsa, Oklahoma worked at religious census and Bible teaching here in July. Gordon Thomas spoke each night.

ICE LAKE NEWS

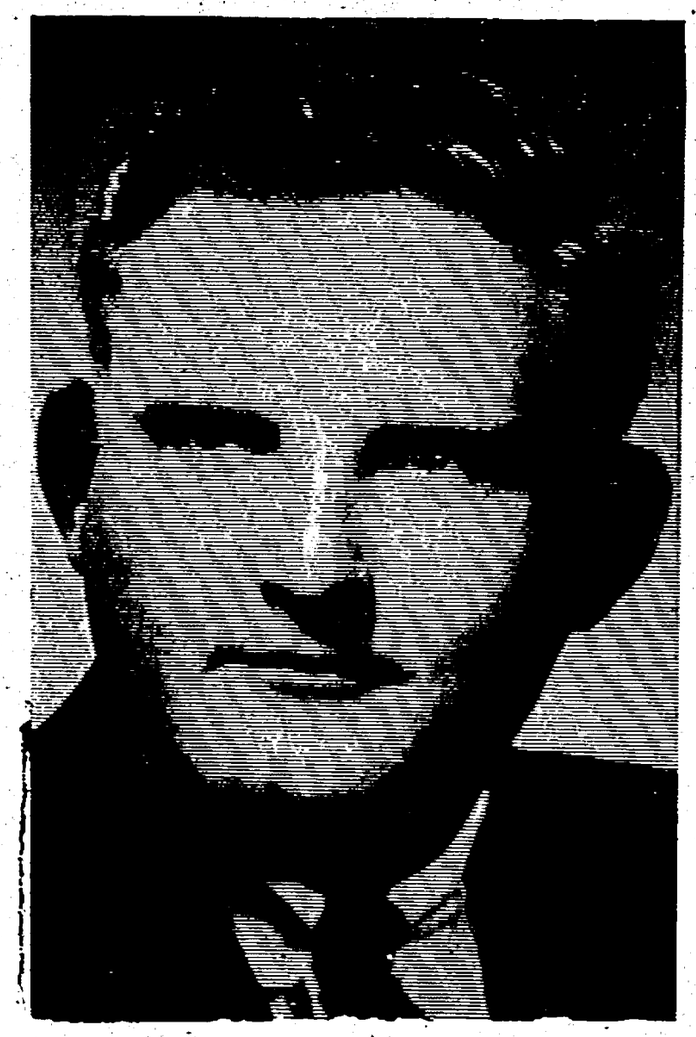
God has certainly smiled on Ice Lake recently. We had four baptisms during the week of July 25-31, and then another August 8th.

Sunday night July 25 Ken Baker's youngest daughter, Glordia, stepped forward and made the good confession. We took her to Ice Lake and baptized her immediately afterward. Later that night while Paula Wilson and I were driving Carolyn Lane (17) home she decided she wanted to be baptized right then. We drove her back to Ice Lake put the car lights on the water and immersed her at 12:30. Carolyn lives on Barrie Island. She was a member of the United Church, and is the first convert from another religious group.

That next Thursday, 29th, Ron Friberg, a college student spending the summer helping me with personal work called on Mrs. Mac McGualey of Providence Bay. She was ready to be baptized. Peggy and I drove over and baptized her in the Mindemoya River. Our students had contacted her during the campaign last year, and I had studied with her some afterwards. She moved to Copper Cliff for the winter where Bro Bethel Bailey studied with her—She will be back there to worship with the church in Sudbury this winter. Mrs McGualey is 83 years old and has a heart condition. She was afraid to be immersed thinking it would bring on an attack. She had Peggy to stand on the bank with her pills so she could take one immediately. When she came out of the water she felt so good she refused the pills then took us to her house for tea and a nice visit—and still no pills. It was wonderful to see her overcome her fears and obey the Lord regardless of what the consequences might be. Mrs. McGualey had been a Presbyterian.

That night at the conclusion of a home Bible study on the Indian Reservation, Shesheawaning (about 40 miles from Ice Lake), Mrs. May Wabegijk asked to be baptized. We took her to the Georgian Bay, put the car lights on the lake, and baptized her at 11:30 that night. I have been studying with her and several others for the past few months. She is our first Indian convert, and was a Roman Catholic.

Last Sunday morning, Aug. 8, Pat Dearing of Ice Lake stepped out at the Lord's invitation, and was buried with her Lord in baptism in Ice Lake.



We solicit your prayers on behalf of our new sisters in Christ.

Bro. Kenneth Reed and a bus load of students from the University of Alabama and Tennessee are due to arrive the 23rd to begin our campaign. Bro. Reed will preach in a gospel meeting from August 23 thru 31 when all must leave. Bro. Ermon Bain from Moulton, Alabama will continue the meeting the next night, September 1 thru 10. Some will remember Bro. Bain as preaching with New Testament Tent Evangelism in Meaford in 1962. He has travelled and preached many states and the Caribbean Islands since then. He brings two other preachers with him to help me in the follow-up after these students have left.

Meetings will be each evening at 8 p.m. at the Ice Lake meeting house.

LORD BEGINS IN TORONTO

Bro. Lord

The Bayview church in Toronto has a new evangelist. He is Brother Floyd Lord, who last preached in San Antonio, Texas.

Brother Lord is a native Arkansan. He obeyed the Gospel in 1955, just before his induction into the U.S. Army. During his tour of duty in the service, he had opportunity to serve in South Korea and received a first-hand knowledge of foreign mission work there. One of the highlights of his Korean tour was a week long trip with the missionaries visiting the churches all over the nation. During that visit, Brother Lord took over 500 colored slides of the Korean church in action.

Upon release from active duty, Bro. Lord attended Harding College in Searcy, Arkansas. Dropping out of school for awhile, he preached for about two years in Idaho, then returned to Harding. He left Harding in June 1963 and began preaching for the Palm Heights church in San Antonio. While in that city, Bro. Lord started a local church newspaper and was the South Texas editor for the CHRISTIAN CHRONICLE.

His wife, Jane, is a Harding graduate, and they have two children, Wendy Sue, age 3, and Stephen, 7 months. The entire family is quite happy to be in Canada and enjoy the splendid fellowship of the church here.

Elders at Bayview are Fred Trusler, Stan Herron and Bob Stephen.

person you just can't stand; don't you think you could forget their loudness, and look for a good point? We aren't perfect. There is only one perfect human and that is Christ. Therefore we should love one another for what we are, and not hate for what we are not.

A person enters the room,
And murmurs fill the air,
He trips and stumbles,
He falls to the floor,
By the hurt of an unkind word.
Yes, its by the unkind word,

Yes, its by the unkind word,
We show our lack of love,
Can we not find some small deed,
And show a little touch of love.

I hope by this little talk you will decide to show a greater love for God, for mother and father, and for your fellow man.

A SUCCESSFUL V.B.S.

H. Ralph Perry

A week before V.B.S. in London, Ontario, found members of the church and boys and girls from the Bible school handing out 3,000 leaflets announcing the dates and place of V.B.S. The leaflet also informed the homes of bus service offered in some areas.

Saturday evening and Sunday, previous to beginning on July 12th. teachers, co-teachers and other workers from Tennessee, Ohio, and Michigan, began to arrive. Some camped at Fanshawe Park camping grounds, some stayed in motels, some in homes of the members, and some slept in the church building. In all 36 adults and young people, from out of London, worked with Christians here to make 1965's V.B.S. in London the most successful yet It appears that we had a larger attendance than any religious group in the city.

Monday morning children began to arrive before starting time of nine o'clock. Then two bus loads arrived. For a few minutes there was confusion as we sought to seat the pupils according to classes. We had planned on 50 pre-schoolers, and had 94 the first day. Another class formed the second day to make 14 classes in the public school building and 2 in the church building.

There were 374 present the first day. The rest of the week saw 415, 424, 406, and 411 present for an average of 406. This is 99 more than cur previous high average two years ago. About 120 rode the buses daily. This means that the largest number walked or were brought by their parents from the houses near the school and church building. After four days, brother Herb Dean, preacher at Livonia, Michigan, could hardly believe what was happening.

A brief "Open House" closing programme was conducted Friday evening. As the local preacher, I was introduced to give a 15 minute talk in which the parents were thanked for having their children in V.B.S. The importance of teaching the Bible was mentioned by telling some humorous stories of wrong impressions in the classroom. Then the parents were informed of our regular meeting times and invited to attend. We mentioned other services, such as cottage meetings.

In the hall, a projector shot a scene of the death of Christ on a screen and a sign advertised home study classes. Six or seven meetings were arranged by brother Ray Pippen of the Garden City, Michigan, church.

The parents were invited to visit the classrooms. Here various classes presented short programmes of song and story. Materials from the theme "My Saviour Teaches Me" were on display with handcraft productions. An estimated 165 non-member parents attended.

One observation of importance is that over half of our 32 members in London worked with those from out-of-town. These handed out leaflets, taught, assisted in teaching, helped the teachers prepare handwork materials, helped on the buses, and baby-sat for teachers. Next year it looks as if even more will work in V.B.S. and devote vacation time to assist. They have received inspiration from the example of the dedicated, sacrificing folks who came from across the border to help us. They also were moved by the campfires held at the camping grounds.

We express thanks to all. Especially are we grateful to brother Reeder Oldham of Plymouth, Michigan, (moving to the 900 member Highland church in Memphis, in August) for getting together this wonderful group of workers for the third year in a row.

There is one regret we have about this effort. It appears that the community in northeast London is ripe for a campaign to teach and win souls for Christ. Plans had been made for such an effort by a group from a church in Nashville, Tennessee. These were cancelled just a few weeks ago.

The small church in London faces a tremendous challenge now to follow-up what has been done. We seek your prayers that we might have the dedication, courage, wisdom and strength to do this to the salvation of souls and the glory of God.

Those interested in working in V.B.S. in London and a hoped for campaign in 1966, please write to: H. Ralph Perry, 53 Tewksbury Crescent, London, Ontario, Canada.

building. How ridiculous can one get?

Brother Bunting mentions that the last spanking which he received from his father was "for playing in the church building." We are tempted to say that he has suffered a traumatic shock from this experience. Of course the term "church building" that he uses has no scriptural usage. Was he spanked for playing in something which had no scriptural background?

We repeat in closing what we said in our last editorial. The truth of the matter is that buildings are merely tools assisting the accomplishment of certain goals which the church should be seeking to achieve. When these tools are chosen carefully and used wisely, the work profits. There is need from time to time that we take a close look at the propriety of the activities conducted in such buildings. On the other hand, let us not develop a false attitude of reverence toward a mere building made with hands.

Did You Attend Beamsville Bible School?

Great Lakes Christian College desires to play host to all those who were associated with the Beamsville Bible School in the early years of this century.

October 16th has been set as a date for this year's reunion, and it is hoped that this activity may prepare for a larger reunion in 1966.

If you were associated with the school please write to Walter Dale, Box 399, Beamsville as soon as possible.

Please give us any information you have about the school.

"CHRIST FOR THE WORLD CAMPAIGN"

The "Christ For The World Campaign" in the Fenwick—Port Colborne area was very successful in many ways. Our thanks goes to God our Father who made it all possible by His continued watch-care over us in His work.

Four Baptized

Four young people in Port Colborne obeyed their Lord in baptism during the campaign. (There were no baptisms at Fenwick.) We believe these four are only the beginning of the good people whose hearts were touched with the message of Christ and his love for us.

Cottage Meetings

Several cottage meetings are now, or soon will be, in progress both in Fenwick and Port Colborne, Many people showed an interest in the Church of our Lord because of the personal contact made during the effort.

Church Known

More personal contact was made during the campaign than had ever before been made. We are encouraged by the way people accepted us at their doors, and talked about things spiritual. We had visitors every evening during the meetings, many who had never before attended a service at the Church of Christ. The fact that material concerning the Church was given to each home in the area is a great step forward we believe.

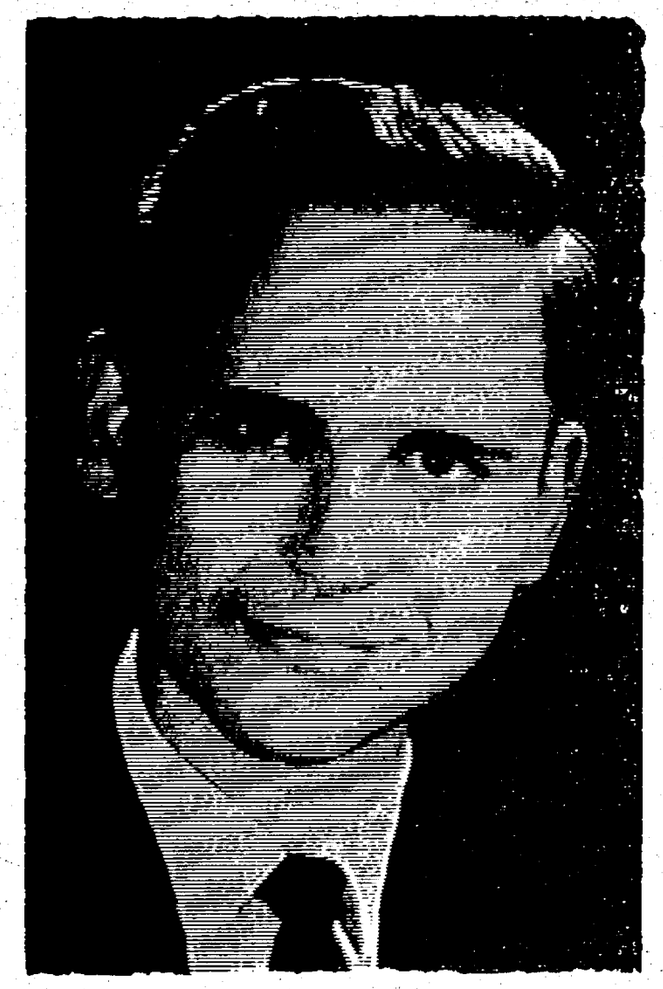
Good Relations

Since the campaign has ended we have heard from people of the area that one thing they appreciated was the cheerful, friendly manner in which the material was presented. We pray this will have a good effect in removing some of the obstacles we usually run against in trying to talk with people about the Church.

Personnel

Because of space I'll not try to list all those who helped with the campaign from the U.S. and Canada. We had 21 workers from the U.S. (Ohio) and 12 brethren from area churches that came and worked with us. We are very thankful for the help of all these brethren and pray they may be blessed as we were by their presence with us.

Follow-up



We are now involved in follow-up work and this will continue for many months. We have some plans already at Fenwick for a Fall Meeting with Brother Ray L. Miller of Windsor speaking. We're sure this will help keep the church before the people of our area. Plans are also in making for another campaign next year.

Conclusion

Both the Church at Port Colborne and at Fenwick can say with deep conviction that we have been greatly blessed by having had this experience. We know, however, that this is only the beginning of our responsibility. Therefore we ask for your prayers in filling our responsibility to those we contacted during the campaign.

WARREN LEWIS ADDS IMPETUS TO TORONTO MERGER

Bro. Warren Lewis

Warren Lewis of Amarillo, Texas, and his wife Lynne will move to Toronto in September where he will be engaged in a part-time capacity with the Fern-Maplewood merger. Both Warren and Lynne are graduates of Abilene Christian College: Warren's major field being Bible and Lynne's, music. This young talented team leave lasting impressions wherever they live and work. Warren and Lynne attained high scholastic honours and were active in the A Cappella chorus, dramatics and other extra-curricular activities on the campus of Abilene Christian College. After receiving the M.A. degree in Bible from A.C.C., Warren entered Harvard University where he graduated with the B.D. degree in May. For the next three years he will attend the Pontifical Institute of St. Michael's College, working toward a licentiate in Catholic studies. Warren's intellectual capabilities plus his evangelistic fervor coupled with Lynn's varied talents will be an immeasurable asset to the forward-looking plans of the Toronto merger. May the Lord bless this fine Christian couple with many years of devoted service to the Master.

Troy Warren will continue to serve as a full-time minister and Blenus Wright in a part-time capacity while he attends law school in Toronto.

INDIA LETTER

Dear Brethren:

We thank you good people for having published our reports in the May issue. We also would like to express once again how very thankful we are for ALL those who have helped to make our advent into India a reality.

This field in South India continues to amaze us. The breadth and the scope and the unlimited possibilities are unbelievable. Bro. Bailey and I made a tour of the various congregations in the Province of Andhra to the north. We were unable to get to all of them but we did get to visit and preach at a number of them. We continued to be impressed by the large numbers who came to listen, and with the evident interest and willingness of those who came to return to the New Testament pattern. The situation and conditions in India are so very different from anywhere or with any people with whom we have had to deal. The willingness with which they accept the plain

JOHN ANDREW SPIECE

John Andrew Spiece passed from this earthly life on Monday afternoon, August 9. Although somewhat incapacitated since a stroke suffered in 1950 he had been able to be about until a more severe stroke just a few weeks ago. Although this necessitated hospital and special care there appears to have been very little suffering.

Brother Spiece was born in Abingdon, Ontario on September 8, 1878. He was baptized into Christ in 1907 and in 1908 married Jennie Comfort of Tintern and settled down to live in that community on the farm. He was active in this and carpenter work until disabled by strokes. He leaves to grieve his departure his faithful wife, four sons, Gordon of Jordan and George, Clarence, and Ralph of Tintern as well as 3 brothers, 10 grandchidren and 12 great grandchildren.

A good husband, father and provider, he attended the church of Christ until prevented by health. The Lord was good to him and his in granting these 87 years of peace and happiness. Interment was in the Lane cemetery following services in Tallman Funeral Home, Vineland. Brother Marvin MacDonald of Tintern assisted the writer. E.C.P.

MRS. WILLIAM DOBRINDT

(July 16, 1885 - July 28, 1965)

Wednesday morning, July 28, 1965, Mrs. William Dobrindt met her appointment with death at the St Catharines General Hospital. She had been confined to a hospital bed periodically over the past year. Two weeks before her passing she had observed her 80th birthday with relatives and friends.

She was born in North Pelham township and after living in St. Catharines and Vineland moved to Jordan in 1917. This is where she was living prior to her sickness and death.

Sister Dobrindt or, "Rose" as many called her when referring to her by her first name, Rosella, became a Christian at Jordan shortly after moving into the area. During the many years she lived here her continued faithfulness was recognized and unless she was sick or unavoidably hindered you could always expect to find her at the services. During the past few years since I have known her the love she had for reading the Bible and hearing it read was a worthy example to all who were around her and she seemed as if it were so personally beneficial. Even on short visits to the hospital where visiting time was limited she wanted part of those few minutes spent in reading to her. She was in the process of reading through the book of Acts and the last chapter she was able to understand and hear was Acts 20. In the light of her character and love for the Truth these words in verse 32 were most fitting. As this reading drew to a close Paul said, "And now I commend you to God, and to the word of his Grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you the inheritance among all them that are sanctified." Her love for God and His word made it difficult for her to understand why everybody would not take the Bible as His word just as it was written and believe it. This thought she expressed many times in this writer's presence.

Mrs. Dobrindt is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Albert (Marjorie) Jones of Hamilton, Mrs. Hugh (Vera) Glover of St. Catharines and Mrs. Harry (Jean) Seymour of Beamsville. She had one living brother, Mr. Howard Beckett of Hamilton and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the Tallman Funeral Home in Vineland with the burial in Maple Lawn Cemetery, Louth Township. The writer was assisted by brother Keith Thompson of Beamsville in the services at the home and cemetery.

Our sister is now gone and we miss her presence but with proper and diligent preparation we too can face our appointment some day with a fearless approach into the gates of death having a hope of receiving our portion in that ". . . inheritance among all them that are sanctified."

teachings, and their childlike faith is very impressive. The great problem as I see it, and I have NOT been here that long. is to eradicate the Denominational background and teachings which they have had prior to our coming. The one great problem is to bring them to realize the clear cut distinction between being simply a "Christian," and being a Denominational devotee. They have been led to believe that there are just two divisions, namely "An Idol Worshipper" and a "Worshipper of the One True and Living God." In other words, If you are a "Christian" of whatever peculiar distinction, you are ALL one great brotherhood. They have "Fellowship gatherings" where anyone of any faith is welcome, and during the period of these fellowships, they claim to "rise above" their Denominational divisions and peculiarities. There has been little animosity between the various sects even though each one continues to teach and preach their own distinctive doctrines, although in most cases "very watered down" from what we have been accustomed to hear. The Natives, many of them who are better educated, have come to be dissatisfied with the different doctrines and in many cases the religious leaders have severed all connections with the original Denominations and have become what they term as "Independents." Of course they have in most cases retained much of their Denominational background, but are no longer responsible to their original leaders. This is probably one of the greatest factors in the rapid spread of the work in this area. Many of these religious leaders, many of whom are very conscientious men and have quite large fellowships, have written in since we have been here, PLEADING for someone to come, mostly addressed to Bro. Bailey, and teach them concerning this New Testament Christianity. Even in our tour of the congregations in Andhra, on several occasions we were begged to remain just one extra day to "Come to our village" to talk to our people. I tell you it was almost heart-rending to have to turn them down because of the necessity of following the schedule as set out. You say, why not go back? Yes, if there was time, we would. However, because we have determined to do what we can towards stabilizing the work already begun, and most of our lessons on this tour were directed to that end, the possibilities of us being able to return soon are negligible. TRULY THE HARVEST IS WHITE, AND THE LABORERS TOO FEW. WE NEED HELP, both FINANCIAL and PHYSICAL. Everything humanly possible is being done. Eva and I are thus far handicapped for want of a vehicle. We HOPE to have one soon. PRAY FOR US THAT WE MAY HAVE WISDOM TO DO THE RIGHT THING. Yours in His service. —James A. and Eva Johnson ters of faith.

Seeing then, that the Christian accepts God as the creator of the universe on the basis of faith, and the atheist's explanation of the origin of things is a matter of faith, the difference between the two systems of belief boils down to this simple question, Which faith is the more reasonable?

The reasonableness of any system of faith must be determined by the strength of the evidence on which it rests. Strong evidence will produce a strong faith. Weak evidence produces a weak faith. The faith of the Christian is based upon the strongest evidence. The harmony and order of the universe, the fact that man, possessing a high degree of intelligence, exists, all call for the existence of a being of superior intelligence as the designer and maker. But in ascribing the existence of the universe, and the presence of man on earth to mere chance, or to evolution, the faith of the atheist is without any evidence and in spite of all evidence to the contrary.

Atheists are wont to float over difficulties, real or imaginary, that may be encountered by one professing faith in God. That there are difficulties, no informed person will deny. No Christian professes to understand God perfectly, nor to be able to explain all his attributes or all that God does and why He does them. Our contention, however, is that the difficulties are by no means all on the side of Christianity. There are much more serious difficulties that face the unbeliever when he attempts to explain the origin of things without God.

VANDELEUR ACTIVITIES

On July 25th. the meeting house of the Vandeleur church was formally opened. In this rural area where most denominational church buildings are closed and where nearly half of the former membership of these churches is no longer active a good opportunity for service and spreading the gospel exists. At present the new curriculm of the United church is causing much confusion among the people. It may be of interest to those who think of country people being more religious to know that in one country school one student attended Sunday School but most had never attended. While looking for big challenges we should not overlook other opportunities.

Opening day saw capacity audiences for the three services at which Marvin McDonald of the Tintern church, Louis Pauls of Meaford and C. G. McPhee of St. Catharines spoke. Many neighbours also visited the opening services.

The following week a vacation Bible school was held with an average participation of 85 with a full house at the closing assembly on Friday evening. The school was directed by Walter Dale.

On the Lord's Day after the V.B.S. a week's meeting was held with Walter Dale of Beamsville doing the preaching. Attendance was good with many visitors from the community and with almost 100% participation on the part of the Vandeleur church members.

There is a great need and a fine opportunity for an active preacher who likes working in rural areas.

THE FOURTH GOSPEL

by Warren Lewis, Toronto, Ontario

By the time John came to write down his understanding of the life of Christ the story had become well known. The other three gospels had probably already been written by this time and certainly the sayings and stories they record had been passed from mouth to ear many times. In the early days, faith came by hearing the gospel much more than by reading it.

One learned about Christ by listening to a man who could repeat a part of the oral tradition that circulated among the Christians. When one re-told the fascinating story to someone new, he would tell it with all the excitement and joy that such a miracle stimulates. He would also tell the story in a way that would answer the questions of his hearers and solve their problems.

In John's time there were certain Christians who had come under the influence of a false religious philosophy called docetic gnosticism. As they re-told the gospel, the gnostics tried to explain it in terms that agreed with their borrowed philosophy. They hoped that in doing this they might better be able to reconcile and harmonize the science of their day with the revelation in Jesus Christ.

The docetic gnostic taught that a divine deamon or spirit named Christ had descended from heaven and, for a while, had occupied the body of a man called Jesus. Jesus and Christ were really two separate beings. The divine Christ had not himself really become flesh but had only seemed to be human. When Jesus was hungry or thirsty, the divine Christ did not feel these human pangs. When the human Jesus was dying on the Cross, the divine Christ appeared to some of the disciples on the Mount of Olives and explained to them that it was not he who was suffering but only the human Jesus.

John did not believe this. The personal memory of the Jesus Christ he had known was one of a Saviour who was truly human and truly divine. Consequently, when he wrote his gospel, he arranged his material in a topical and theological fashion so as to oppose the docetic gnostic error and provide a better answer to the questions that were being asked about the Lord. Any one who said

. . . BUT IS IT MODEST?

Troy R. Warren, Toronto, Ontario

In a recent article from UPI, the Toronto Daily Star quoted a writer as saying that, "The demand for short skirts derives from the urge women feel to excite men by showing off their limbs to them." This statement brings up an age-old question which Christian men and women have been asking for years. Just how far can we go following the trend of fashion and still please our creator and saviour?

In discussing this issue, we should remember that we are not living in an age of rules and regulations which state in no uncertain terms the exact do's and don'ts of all aspects of life. Christ brought us out of bondage to the law and gave us principles which should guide our lives. Paul reminds us of this change in covenants and at the same time gives us a stern warning to consider. "For, brethren, ye have — been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another" (Galatians 5:13). Let us now study the New Testament principles which God has preserved for us to use in deciding these important matters.

"In like manner also, that the women adorn themselves in modest apparel. . ." (1 Timothy 2:9). Modest - 4. having or showing regard for the decencies of behaviour." American College Dictionary. In

DIFFICULTIES OF UNBELIEF (2)

Morris W. R. Bailey
Moose Jaw, Sask.

Atheism. as we pointed out in a previous article under the above heading, is a system, or a school of thought that denies the existence of God. The atheist refuses to believe that God is, because of alleged difficulties that are encountered in such a faith.

Denying that God is, however, does not destroy the fact of His existence any more than one can blot the sun out of the heavens by merely closing his eyes. Nor does atheism solve the problems that are alleged of atheism. Rather, it poses other problems even more difficult. The presence of the universe with all its design, harmony, and order is a stubborn fact and one that must be accounted for. The atheist must offer some reasonable explanation for its origin. In rejecting the Bible account of supernatural creation, he must account for the existence of the universe on some other credible basis. Here is where one encounters the difficulties of unbelief. The atheist's explanation of the origin of things involves a tangled web of absurdities that no rational mind can honestly accept. It is more rational and therefore much easier to believe that God is, and that He is the Creator of all things, than it is to accept the theories of unbelief.

The Difficulties of Agnosticism

The agnostic, while not going so far as to deny that God is, nevertheless does not accept the fact of His existence. He is satisfied to merely say, "I don't know that there is a God". He accepts as having existence only such things as can be perceived by the physical senses of seeing, hearing, tasting, smelling, and touching. Because God is not perceptible to any of the physical senses the agnostic thus says that he does not know that God exists. And because he does not know that God is, he thus refuses to affirm, or to accept even by faith, the fact of His existence.

Apart from the difficulties in which the agnostic finds himself when he tries to explain the universe without God, he also finds it difficult to be consistent. There are many things that he does accept, without question, even though they cannot be demonstrated to the physical senses any more than God can be.

Take, for example, the mind of man. Or consider the fact that life exists. No one, — not even the agnostic will deny the existence of mind and life. Yet neither are perceptible to the physical senses. They cannot be seen, even under the most powerful microscope. Nor can they be weighed, even on the most sensitive scales. Thus, on the basis that the agnostic refuses to believe that God is, he must, to be consistent, refuse to accept the existence of mind and life, and in fact anything that cannot be demonstrated to the senses.

Of course the agnostic will be quick to point out that there is abundant evidence of the existence of mind and life. He can point to animated beings as evidence of life. And he can point to the skill with which the artist wields his brush in painting a masterpiece, of the skill with which the surgeon guides his scalpel in making an incision as evidence of mind.

It is on the basis of equally convincing evidence that the theist accepts the fact of the existence of God. Accepting as a basis the time tested axiom of science that, out of nothing, nothing comes, and every effect is the result of an adequate cause, we are led to the conclusion that life came from some life-giving source. The fact that man has a mind calls for the existence of a source that was possessed of mind. The fact that we find in the universe a high degree of design and mathematical precision, calls for a designer and mathematician. The agnostic in refusing to accept the fact of God's existence because He cannot be demonstrated to the physical senses is neither honest nor consistent.

Difficulties Of The Merely-By-Chance Theory

In the Bales - Teller debate, Mr Teller affirmed that the universe is the product of unintelligent forces. It is difficult to understand how anyone claiming to be a rational thinker could accept anything so irrational as the idea that the universe is the result of mere chance. Such an untenable position is obviously the result of a willful refusal to have God in one's knowledge. In any other realm the atheist will scornfully reject the suggestion of mere chance as the cause behind even the most insignificant things. As an example, we relate the following incident.

An astronomer one time built a miniature model of the solar system. It was skillfully designed with a sun as the centre, and orbited by models of the planets. There was a replica of the moon as a satellite of the earth. Each planet was spaced at a relative distance from the sun and travelled in its own orbit. The model of the earth rotated on its axis after the fashion of the earth on which we live.

One day a friend, who was an atheist, was visiting the astronomer. He was shown this model. The atheist was profuse in his exclamations of praise and admiration for such a piece of handiwork. Finally he asked, Who made it? The astronomer who was a devout believer in God saw an opportunity to teach his misguided friend a lesson. With a noncholant air he answered, "Nobody made it. It just happened." The atheist indignantly replied, "Nonsense! You can't tell me that anything as wonderful as that just happened. Somebody made it."

Here was a man who prided himself on being a rational thinker. He considered it an insult to his intelligence for anyone to tell him that anything even as small as a model of the universe could "just happen". He knew that someone made it. Yet this same man would look out into the universe made up of countless solar systems, and without a blush will ask us to believe that nobody made it. "It just happened, — the product of unintelligent forces", he says. And then he will scoff at what he calls the blind faith of the Christian who believes that an all-wise, all-powerful God is the creator of all things.

THE FOURTH GOSPEL

that Jesus was not the Christ, that the Son of God had not truly come in human flesh, was against Christ and must be corrected (II John 7-11).

When we understand the purpose of John's writing we are in a better position to explain some of the things that puzzle us about his gospel. John's gospel follows a chronology different from that of Matthew, Mark, and Luke, the synoptic gospels. John relates anecdotes not contained in the other gospels — in the raising of Lazarus, the pardoning of the adulterous woman, and the conversation with Nicodemas. He omits certain things contained in the other gospels — the birth narratives, the institution of the Lord's Supper and the Great Commission.

John knew that his readers already knew the stories that he was re-telling. For example, he mentions Mary as the one who annointed the Lord with ointment in 11:2 as though every one would know whom he is talking about; but, he does not tell the actual story of her devotion to Christ in his own gospel until 12:1-8. He assumes that the story is already well known.

When we realize that John is more interested in making certain points with his readers than he is in telling the story of Jesus as though for the first time, we can understand why he changes the time of the cleansing of the Temple from the end of Jesus' ministry to the beginning. The synoptic gospels all record the cleansing of the Temple as an event that took place towards the end of Jesus' ministry when his popularity with the people was sufficient enough for him to get away with so daring an act. But John, although he knows when it took place, takes liberties with the chronology because he is more interested to show the theological truth that Jesus is the purifier and supplanter of the religion of Israel; so, he puts the cleansing of the Temple at the beginning of Jesus' ministry (John 2:13-21). That which on the literal level is a "contradiction" in chronology on the theological level is a clear and vital point: Jesus Christ supersedes Israel.

Similarly, instead of discussing the Great Commission to teach and baptize the world towards the end of Christ's life and his gospel, John develops this theme in the conversation with Nicodemas (John 3). He does not mention baptism by name; but, we recognize the meaning of the passage, for it discusses a new birth from above in water and the Spirit. In the same way, instead of discussing the Lord's Supper during his recounting of the Last Supper, John elaborates this theme in Jesus' dispute with the Jews about the Bread of Heaven. Once again, John does not mention the Lord's Supper by name; but, we recognize the meaning of the passage, for it discusses a spiritual eating of the flesh and drinking of the blood of Christ.

When John comes to describe the resurrection and appearances of Christ, once again, he has a purpose in mind; he is not just telling a story. Over against the docetic gnostics he wants to make the point that Jesus was raised bodily from the dead. The resurrection was not just the appearance of a ghost or an hallucination or the affecting resurrection of the memory and spirit of Jesus in the hearts of his disciples. Over against docetic gnostics, ancient and modern, John casts his telling of the story of doubting Thomas. The climax of the entire book comes when Thomas, who refused to believe but insisted upon seeing and feeling, falls at the feet of Christ and cries in joyful astonishment: "My Lord and my God!" He was no ghost; it was really Jesus; he really got up that resurrection morning (John 20:19-31). "That which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we have looked upon and touched with our hands . . . we proclaim to you" (I John 1:1-4).

HERE AND THERE

South Burnaby, B.C.: The building which is in full use both for worship services and for classroom work is being completed as finances permit. The membership is now 55 and the budget $550 per month "The future looks very bright with a possibility of a new work starting in this area this fall."

Existentialism: Its End Is The Way To Death

Roy Davison, Utrecht, Holland

Existentialism is a modern trend of thought. The idea set forth therein is that man must look to his own inner existence for ultimate truth and quidance.

The man who said: "There is nothing new under the sun," condemned existentialism some three thousand years ago: "There is a way which seems right to a man, but its end is the way to death." Proverbs 16:25

There have always been men who tried to exalt their own inner selves to the throne of truth. Jeremiah spoke of the folly of this: "I know, O Lord, that the way of man is not in himself, that it is not in man who walks to direct his steps." Jeremiah 10:23

Man must not look to himself, but to the Word of God, as he searches for truth. As David said: "Thy word is a lamp to my feet and a light to my path." Psalms 119:105

Man is not able to direct his own steps. A way can seem right, and yet lead to death. But he who walks in the light of the scriptures gains instruction unto salvation. As Paul said to Timothy: "But as for you, continue in what you have learned and have firmly believed, knowing from whom you learned it and how from childhood you have been acquainted with the sacred writings which are able to instruct you for salvation through faith in Christ Jesus. All scripture is inspired by God and profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, and for training in righteousness, that the man of God may be complete, equipped for every good work." 2 Timothy 3:14-17

He who trusts in himself will go astray; but he who trusts in God will find his way.

PRISONERS IN ZION

Back in the seventeenth century the poet Lovelace wrote: "Stone walls do not a prison make, nor iron bars a cage." Man is captive or free according to his outlook on life.

In reality we either bring our thoughts into captivity or they imprison us. The Apostle Paul, in speaking of the Christian's warfare, declared that it consisted of "bringing every thought into captivity" (II Cor. 10:5). Unfortunately, Christians sometimes allow themselves to feel that the Lord's church is a prison where they are fettered by dogma, tradition, and conventions.

These unhappy souls can never rise to heights of spiritual ecstasy, nor even quiet contentment. They are the modern "gnostics" or "knowing ones" who feel that they are in possession of some esoteric new knowledge about freedom in Christianity which has not been grasped by the rank and file. They must lead an intellectual revolution to free their fellows and the Holy City, spiritual Zion.

Some of these brethren have become so enamoured with the scholarship of the religious world about them that they have borrowed its concepts and even its jargon. It is difficult for a man to hear clever professors of theology lecture for six or seven years and not to accept some of their errors as well as their truths. Some of our well-educated professors and preachers have come from denominational seminaries (Marshal Keeble calls them cemeteries) with the idea that they have an obligation to free their brethren from an out-moded religious perspective.

It may well be that new truths and new insights can be gained from a clearer look at God's Word. Let us never become so hidebound in our attitude that we refuse to examine the views of others. On the other hand, let us not accept the theories of philosophy and the speculations of theology as a substitute for the authority of God's Word.

In the apostolic period there were men crying "Liberty!" and meaning "License!" A certain class of people, won by the logic of the Christian message but reluctant to be transformed by its demands, will always be a thorn in the flesh to the church. Some people will bargain with the preacher all the way to the baptismal water concerning what old habits and weaknesses they may cling to after they become Christians. Their desire is for a minimum standard of Christianity which will not be too demanding.

Such individuals often will have regrets for their new relationship and will look back to the "cucumbers, and the melons, and the leeks, and the onions, and the garlic" of Egypt from whence they were delivered. Young people especially are prone to view certain worldly pastimes and habits with a longing that makes the plain teachings of Scripture about morality and responsibility to others seem like prison bars.

We live in a prosperous and wicked culture, in an age of rebellion against authority. Small wonder that our young people find powerful forces attempting to mould them into a worldly shape. Parents need to teach and live a positive purity which makes sin seem like a sordid mistake.

There is evidence that some brethren are captive to a fear of doing anything new lest they do something wrong. Like the one-talent man, they fearfully hide what is entrusted to them rather than risk a mistake in its use. The fear of doing evil becomes such an obsession with them that they decide to veto any plan of action where there is even the risk of abuse.

They erect towering walls, one human prohibition upon another, and then wonder why their brethren will not join them behind these walls. Here is a voluntary imprisonment for security. Most of us have heard from time to time of some person who has asked to be put in prison because he wanted security and to avoid having to make decisions for himself. It is

"SUNDAY SCHOOL IS FOR ADULTS"

(Note: This material was presented during the training programme at the Thorncliffe School in Toronto last April 16. The form of presentation and the personality of brother Ira Zavitz, who gave it, are needed to apprehend the full benefit that might be derived from it. — H. Ralph Perry)

AIM — To show Biblical approval for class arrangements with emphasis on mature adults.

POEM "The soul of a child" from Spring 1965 TEACH P. 4 — (Publishers Gospel Light Publications, Glendale, California).

The soul of a child is the loveliest flower
That grows in the Garden of God
It climbs from weakness to knowledge and power
To the sky from the clay and the clod.
To beauty and sweetness it grows under care,
Neglected, it is ragged and wild.
It is a plant so tender and wondrously rare;
The sweet wistful soul of a child.
Be tender, O Gardner, and give it its share
Of moisture, of warmth and of light,
And let it not lack for painstaking care
To protect it from frost and blight.
For the day will soon come when the bud will be bloom,
And the ways of the world beguile.
Let us win it to Christ while yet there is room,
In the sensitive soul of the child.

I believe in closely graded classes.

I believe in teaching everyone from tiny pre-schooler to the oldest member.

I believe that teachers should be the best and carefully chosen for the age group or class.

I believe that the very best materials and methods should be used.

I believe that our classrooms should be as good or better than the best of our public school classrooms.

I believe that the church should teach by classes, Sunday morning, Sunday night, Wednesday night — on Saturdays and as many other times as is possible — for all ages.

But! In a special and practical way, Sunday School is for adults; we have a Bible precept for class arrangements in Titus 2:4 classes, all adults. Our Text Book was written by adults. It is in adult concepts and for adult situations. It is adults that are admonished to feed the hungry, clothe the naked and visit the prisoner. Adults are asked to obey the speed laws, to report ALL income on their tax forms and to charge up only valid expenses. Adults are exorted to . . . restore the fallen . . . visit the widow and fatherless . . . TO TEACH ALL NATIONS and . . . to pay our accounts with Eatons and Simpsons PROMPTLY! The Bible teaches ADULTS to keep from GOSSIPING AND SLANDER — over the telephone — over the back yard fence and — during the morning coffee break.

Statistics, (taken in 1944 — as quoted in Christian Bible Teacher, Jan. 1962), show that 19 out of 20 are saved before age 25. I am not impressed with these. Who made these ratios possible? You and I — by our neglect of accepting our adult responsibility to teach others. Our preachers handle the bulk of conversions, funnelled to them through S.S. teachers. IT IS GOOD FOR YOUNG PEOPLE TO DECIDE FOR CHRIST. One of the truly encouraging signs of our times is the great number of spiritual, dedicated Christian young people.

Yet . . . this emphasis on converting children . . . is a concept of this age — 20th CENTURY CHILD EVANGELISM. HOWEVER . . . children are not commanded to "Bring up their parents" (unless you find that in Jude 2). Children do not make the laws . . . however much they are affected by them; they do not manufacture the whiskey, nor publish the pornographic filth, nor operate the night clubs, nor set the extreme styles.

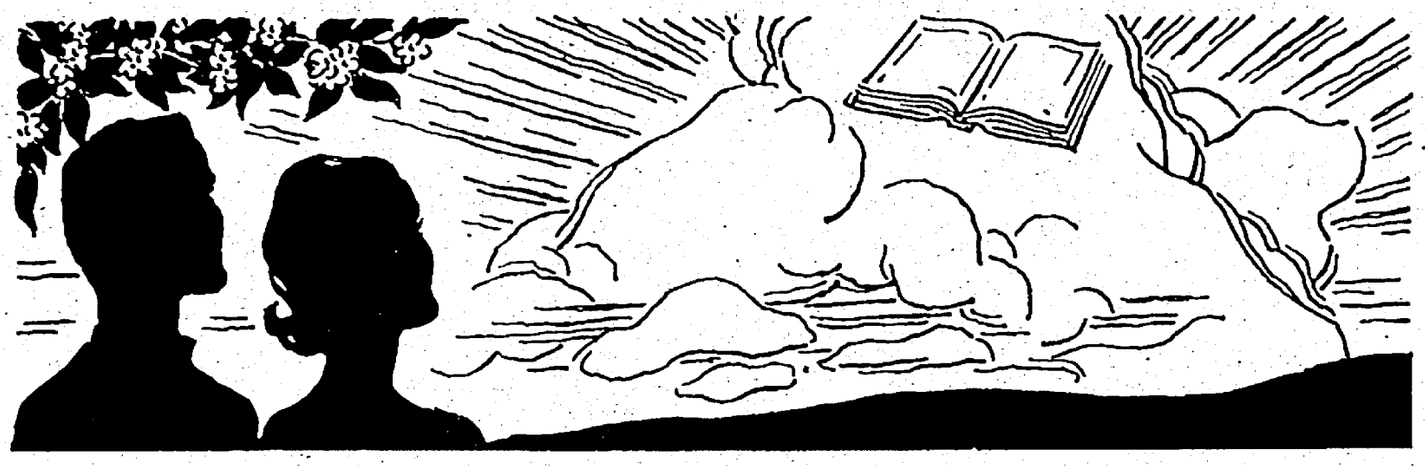
Young people do not set the stage nor arrange the lighting for the life we act out before God and before our next door neighbor. Not even our much condemned teens are responsible for the scandal that rocked the mother of parliaments; the shock and shame from Ottawa; the continuing slaughter by sword and fire; nor the bitter hatred around the world as shown in the festering sore — SELMA. IT DOES NOT TAKE A JOHN THE BAPTIST to tell us that our age is teetering on the edge of moral chaos.

The following came from the TORONTO DAILY STAR of Wednesday this week (April 14, 1965) AND IT HAPPENED IN THE LARGE STORE JUST IMMEDIATELY NORTH OF THIS SCHOOL . . .

"Karl Huesling went shopping last April 5 for records at Sayvette Ltd. in Thorncliffe Park Plaza.

"A store detective said Huesling, 29, of Bartley Dr., came in about 6.15 p.m., went to the record bar, carefully selected five records, hid them under his jacket and left the store without paying for them.

"Why did he resort to shoplighting — particularly when he had $12.00 in his pocket when arrested?



"'It was my wife's birthday,' said this Scarboro man who is steadily employed. 'I wanted to give her something real nice. Then I saw the records and I got the sudden urge to take them. I really didn't want to steal them. But now that it's done . . . well I can only plead guilty'." WITH HIS RECORDS HE FACED THE MUSIC!

The following quote is from THE SUNDAY SCHOOL TIMES, March 20, 1965 issue, 1211 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa., page 203.

"Shoplifters steal $2 billion worth of merchandise a year — a volume in theft that far exceeds the take of all burglars and robbers combined. What is frightening about this and about employee pilfering — which also accounts for stag-

EDUCATION AND OCCUPATIONS

"Money, lots of money, all mine. Money for all the new clothes I need, money for dates and good times, money to buy a car and fix it up." Thoughts similar to these have been known to find their way into the heads of young people. Sometimes when school seems "a drag", and we are tired of homework, it becomes an awful temptation to quit school and get a job. This appears at the time to be a fine course for the simple reason that we seem to be getting little out of school (we hardly ever do appreciate it while we are in it); and the money seems so good down at the corner grocery store, or one of the local gas stations. Thoughts whirl through our heads about the value of such a move, and the father of temptation (the green-eyed monster) fairly shouts in our ear that to quit school and get a job is a sign of maturity and wisdom.

But after while the bubble always seems to burst. The thrill of the job wears off (It's just as hard to get out of bed to go to work as it is to go to school!), we find ourselves missing the school activities and companionship. . .and what about the future? You apply for a better job — one with responsibility, and a decent wage, only to find that only high school graduates are eligible; and there are so many of them around that probably a college "grad" will finally get the job. Usually it is about at this point when we are face to face with the fact that we have "goofed" and in a very serious way. The facts are: in the industrial and business world there are less and less openings every year for those who have not graduated from college, much less high school. What does this mean to you? It may mean in the near future that jobs once readily available to those with a high school education will only be open to the university graduate. This in turn will mean that those who quit school will be earning less and less, and having less opportunities to find work at all. Sure, the money looks great now . . .but where will you be in ten years from now, perhaps with a family to support? You know the answer without my saying it — in trouble-

To top it off, we haven't even begun to discuss the most important part of this whole problem. What will our usefulness be as Christians? If we are always in financial hot water, how can we contribute to the church so as to be of real benefit to "our" congregation? I would not for one tiny part of a moment take anything away from the hard working brother who is not greatly blessed in a material way, and though he gives little, gives sacrifically. Most congregations would be in "hot water" without such brethren. What I am saying is this, every congregation would be in real trouble without one or two members that have a good paying job of influence and responsibility, and thus are able to contribute a larger amount to the work of the Lord. AND YOU MIGHT JUST AS WELL BE IN THIS CATEGORY!

Now is the time for you to decide on a noble profession. One that will benefit yourself, your family, AND the church of the Lord Jesus Christ. The time could not be better for you to obtain a good education, excellent training, and the proper "in-roads" to hold down a good job. Spend time in thought and meditation. How can I best use my talents to the betterment of my family, and to the glory of God? What can I do that will be of service to my community, and that will honour the name of Christ at the same time? Again, lest we be misunderstood, we are not saying that the community cannot be served, and the name of Christ cannot be honoured unless we hold down a real position of responsibility. . .a profession. We are saying that while you are young, and the pattern of your life is being decided, it is only common sense to decide to learn the most, get the most, and do the most that you possibly can . . . in order that you might have the most to help the most, and do the most good that you possibly can. Or, to put it ancther way, why play hockey for the "Podunk Pollywogs" if the Toronto Maple Leafs are giving you an opportunity to play for them?

May we urge you to consider the following suggestions, then? One, spend as much time as is necessary deciding what you want to do in life, keeping the Lord and His church in mind. Two, get as much education as you can to help you (We personally suggest that you get as much of your education as possible at the feet of men and women that are your brethren in Christ. The "fatality" rate of Christian young people in secular schools is shocking.). Three, do the very best you can in whatever field you choose. Your dedication will be a credit to you, your family, and the church. Four, always remember that whatever blessings come, come from the hand of God. Give him the credit and the glory. Any talent or ability that you have was given to you by Him. Appreciate it.

How tragic it would be to face the sunset of life, and while looking back, observe very little actually accomplished in your lifetime. Very little abiding good. How sad to have to say, "I wish I had it to do all over again, so that I might do something of value and

Not only is the atheist faced with difficulties when he tries to account for the existence of the physical universe on the basis of mere chance; but he cannot explain in terms of mere chance the marvellous combinations of various factors that make up the universe and the common necessities of our physical existence.

It is the simplest of logic to conclude that wherever design is evident in a combination of factors, chance is ruled out, and intelligence was necessary to produce such combination. As an example, we have in the field of mathematics and as a basis of our mathematical system, ten numerals. Every problem in mathematics, from the simple to the most complex is just a matter of intelligent combination of various numerals. Only sheer fantasy could ever conceive of a set of figures arranging themselves by chance into the correct answer to a mathematical problem.

In the literary field we have as a basis of our language the twenty six letters of the alphabet. Every word in our language is but a combination of various letters. But it takes intelligence to combine them. Only the wildest imagination could ever conceive of letters arranging themselves into correctly spelled words and intelligent sentences merely "by chance".

It is a matter of common knowledge in the scientific world that even the common necessities of our physical existence are but the result of combinations of various chemical elements.

Take, for example, water. The chemist will tell us that water is composed of two parts of hydrogen and one part of oxygen. Shall we believe that such a combination is the result of mere chance? It is well known that accidents? in mixing chemicals often result in explosions that destroy life and property. Since the atheist rules out intelligent forces as the cause behind the universe, let him explain how mere chance could give us such a perfect combination as is found in water.

BUT IS IT MODEST?

other words a Christian woman is supposed to wear clothing which will show that she has a regard for that which is proper, decent, and respectable. Let us first of all define the obvious cases of immodest apparel.

Any clothing which is specifically designed to ". . .excite men by showing off their limbs. . ." is obviously off limits for the Christian woman who is trying to show regard for decent behaviour. When the natural emotional differences between men and women are considered, it is clear that women have difficulty completely understanding the strong stimulus which the sight of an immodestly clad woman can be. However humorous the discussion of such things might be to some, Jesus did not consider it a subject to be lightly taken. "Whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart" (Matthew 5:28). Adultery is listed in Galatians 5 as one of the works of the flesh which could keep one out of heaven, so it is serious; very serious. But what of the "fashion-conscious working girl" who is instrumental in bringing about this sin by electing to wear inappropriate clothing?

(Luke 17:1,2) - "It is impossible but that offences will come: but woe unto him, through whom they come! It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and be cast into the sea, than that he should offend one of these little ones." (Romans 14:13) - "But judge this rather, that no man put a stumblingblock or an occasion to fall in his brother's way." It is important that we consider the effect of our conduct on the lives of others. It has been well said and too often repeated that no man is an island. That cliche has been used so many times because it is so true. We may think that it is no ones business what we wear, but if someone falls because of what we wear, then it becomes other people's business whether we like it or not.

What about that dress or that outfit that I am not sure about? I just wonder if that could possibly cause someone to be offended. "And he that doubteth is damned if he eat, because he eateth not of faith: for whatsoever is not of faith is sin." If you have to think very long to decide, the chances are great that it is doubtful enough to eliminate.

The next time you are deciding whether to purchase a particular piece of clothing, consider not only is it good quality, is the price right will it lend itself to my personality, but also. . .IS IT MODEST???

The air we breathe is a combination of seventy nine parts of nitrogen and twenty one parts of oxygen. This is the perfect combination that meets the needs of man and beast. A serious decrease, or a major increase in the oxygen content of the air can produce disastrous results.

Shall we believe that such a combination is but the result of blind chance? Let the atheist tell us how and why it is more reasonable to believe that the combination of nitrogen and oxygen that produces air is but the product of unintelligent forces. It may be that when he tries that, he will decide after all that it is much easier and certainly much more reasonable to believe that back of the universe and all its harmony and order there is a supreme intelligence, — that mere chance could not have produced it all.

WEDDING

SIMAIR — ROBERTSON

A very beautiful Military Wedding was held at the meeting house of the church of Christ in St. Catharines, on September 18th, when Terrance Simair of Gimli, Manitoba, was married to Carol Robertson, of St. Catharines. It was largely attended by relatives and friends. The reception was held at Henley Island, after which the young couple left for the West where they will reside.

? Your Questions Answered

Questions to be answered on this page should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ontario.

In the beginning God created Adam and Eve who later had two sons, Cain and Abel. A few years later Cain killed Abel, which means that there were now three human beings only on the earth. Being only three persons on the earth I would like to know where Cain got his wife.

Answer: This troublesome, often-asked question about the source of Cain's wife arises because the Bible has not provided us with all the facts relative to it, and we cannot know beyond what the Bible says. First, the Bible does not say Cain and Abel were the first children of Adam and Eve. There may have been many others before them. In Eden, God instructed Adam and Eve to "be fruitful and multiply" (Gen. 1:28), and we simply do not know when this process began. We do know that Adam and Eve "begat sons and daughters" (Gen. 5: 4), and as to just where Cain and Abel fit into this family chronologically, we simply do not know.

As to when Cain married, at what period in history, how long after creation, how old he was at the time, we do not know. We do know that at his curse for murdering his brother, he was greatly fearful that "every one that findeth me shall slay me" (Gen. 4:15), which indicates a sizable population of the world at that time. The Land of Nod was also populated at that time (Gen. 4:16), and there were cities in existence at that time (Gen. 4:17). The commentator Adam Clarke thinks it possible for the descendents of Adam and Eve to have numbered over 21,000 by the time of Cain's marriage, but of this we cannot be certain. Since these unrevealed things belong to God, we can but accept the facts He has revealed. We do know Adam had other children. No doubt at first they inter-married. We do know that many others lived by the time Cain married, so there was no difficulty in his securing a wife. As to just who she was, the Bible does not state, nor can we.

DAUPHIN REPORT

Since last report, a young lady who has been acting as part time secretary to the church and building program realized, while typing radio sermons and reading such materials that she needed to be baptized in order to become a Christian.

Brother Ken Floyde is working in Dauphin as also is Sister Candy Pearce. We are happy to have these young folks. Sister's Heather and Pat Shaw are at WCC and brother Ron Kalinchuk enrolled at O.C.C.

"World Vision Family" letters have brought in good response. If you haven't sent yours, please do. By the time this is being read, tenders should be closed and construction begun on the building. We pray that the work will grow with more adequate facilities.

Brother Dods has been and will be travelling much of the time on behalf of the building program. He expects to be in meetings at Horse Creek and Carman during October.

We had brother and sister Robert Hickerson and family worship with the church here in August. He is an elder of the Moore congregation which has the oversight of brethren Dods and Williams and the work in Dauphin.

We solicit your prayers and welcome is extended to anyone who comes our way. Why not move here and help establish the church more quickly. The Lord will bless you for it.

At the present time, brother and sister Dods have a Home Bible Study set up with a United Church minister and his wife.

KINGSTON V.B.S. AND PROSPECTS

I feel that the VBS in Kingston was a success in many ways. First of all, from the stand point of numbers. The school averaged 60 and had a high two days of 66. I understand that this is considerably larger than in past years. The brethren in Kingston canvassed most of the area and my wife and I finished the area around the church building after we arrived. Many good contacts were made, and from what I have learned from the brethren after my return home, some of these contacts are proving good.

Secondly, I know that the brethren there were encouraged by the presence of other brethren to help them. Kingston has about 80,000 people in the area and the church is very small and at present has no full time minister. In addition to myself and my wife, Bro. and Sister Bob King (presently in the preacher's school at Lubbock, Tex.) were also in Kingston to help with the VBS. Sometime ago I had considered going to Kingston (when we left Manitoba) but circumstances prevented it — Bro. King is considering very seriously the possibility of moving to Kingston and working with the church there. He will need to raise his support. It is our prayer that this fine young man will decide to move there and that this fine (though small congregation of God's people) will have the aid and encouragement of a full time Gospel preacher. My firm conviction is that a strong and large church could be built in Kingstone given the time and proper effort.

Thirdly, the teaching of God's word to young people can not help but have its effect.

Pray for the brethren in Kingston. And may I say that my wife and I appreciate the hospitality of the brethren in Kingston, and especially the Harry Jacques family with whom we stayed.

Book Reviews

Books to be reviewed in this column should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont., Canada.

The Praying Christ and Other Sermons by John Allen Chalk, Christian Publishing Company, 153 pages, $3 50 (plus exchange in Canada).

If there is any better preaching being done anywhere than that represented in this volume, we would like to know of it. This is great preaching because it exalts a great theme — the Christ of the Bible. The sermons are filled with the only material that should be preached — the Word of God.

All of the sermons are centered in Christ. In addition to the sermon used in the title of the book there are others on such topics as "The Demanding Christ", "The Humiliated Christ" anl "The Attractive Christ". A fitting climax to the series is found in the final sermon on "What If Christ Had Come Yesterday?"

Several footnotes at the end of most of the sermons indicate the wide reading done by the author in the preparation of these sermons. A helpful appendix contains outlines of all of the sermons. In addition the volume has a bibliography of two pages and over four pages containing a scripture reference index.

The author is the preacher at the Broad Street church in Cooksville, Tennessee. He has appeared on many college lectureships and has done speaking and writing for The Herald of Truth. This past June he was the speaker for the Gateway Campaign for Christ at North Bay, Ontario, in which twenty persons were added to the Lord's Church.

SANDERSON TEAM TO WESTERN CANADA

Only eternity will reveal the good accomplished by four men in the singing school at Lloydminster, Alberta, August 18-25. The school under the direction of L. O. Sanderson, Columbia, Tennessee, was possibly the first such undertaking among our brethren in this area. It is hoped that congregational singing over the area will improve as students from the school go back to their home congregations. The quality of the singing improved immensely as the school went along. A final program was well received by the citizens of Lloydminster.

Assisting brother Sanderson were Tex Stevens, Houston, (Lindale church); C. D. Davis, Kingsville, Texas; and Paul Epps, Temple (downtown church). Each taught regular classes three times daily and helped to instruct in congregational singing. Several families took their vacation time and camped out here during the school. We hope that more will plan to do this during future singing schools. It was a very worthwhile effort. Attendance reached a high of 217 or three session one day. The teachers were supported by their home congregations and others in this effort and we really do appreciate this.

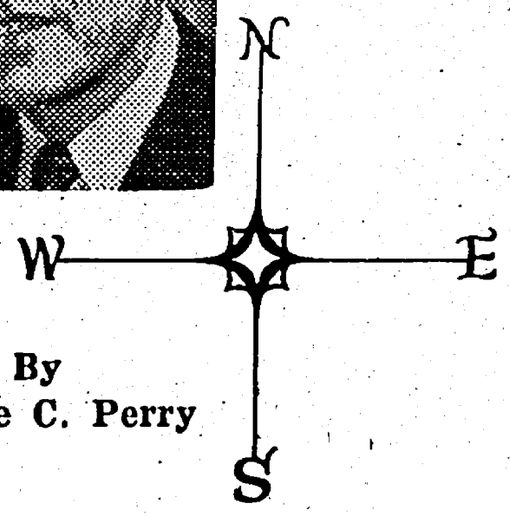
BIBLE QUIZ

II Timothy 2:15; 3:16, 17

The Bible is God's Word. It is the meat and drink of the spiritual life. Christians need to study it daily. These questions will help to indicate something of how effective your study has been.



IDOLATRY IN THE BIBLE

1. What specific Idol did Paul refer to in his sermon on Mars' Hill in Athens?
2. What heathen idol mentioned in the Old Testament was worshipped through the burning of children?
3. With the priests of what pagan deity did Elijah compete on Mt. Carmel in order to prove who is truly God?
4. Name the god, known as the "god of flies," or "the prince of demons," whom the Pharisees insisted empowered Jesus to perform his miracles.
5. What idol did the Israelites set up to worship while Moses was absent from them receiving the Law from God in the mount?
6. After the division of the Kingdom of Israel into two, Jeraboam, in an attempt to discontinue worship at the Temple in Jerusalem set up two golden idols, one in Dan in the north and one in Bethel in the south, for the citizens of the northern kingdoms to worship. What were these idols?
7. Into the temple of what heathen god was the blind Samson led with the result that in destroying the temple he killed more Philistines in his death than in his life?
8. To the honour of what goddess had the Ephesians erected a magnificent temple, the business of which was hurt by Paul's preaching?
9. Barnabas was believed to be what god come to earth by the citizens of Lystra who had built a temple to its honour outside their city?
10. Complete: "Put to death therefore your members which are upon the earth, fornication, uncleanness, passion, evil desire, and ..... which is idolatry.

ANSWERS: 1. "Altar to the unknown God," Acts 17:22. 2. Melech, Lev. 18:21; 3. Baal, I Kings 18:21; 4. Beelzebub, Lk. 11:19-23; 5. Golden Calf, Exodus 32:1-6; 6. Two calves, I Kings 12:28, 29; 7. Creston, B.C.: Although the old building which has served for many years is an eye-sore in the community, it is still being used by the church. Other property has been purchased but building has not commenced yet. A preacher and helpers are needed in this promising area.

Kelowna, B.C.: "It would appear that in the near future a place for public meetings will need to be secured."

Edmonton, Alta.: The Glenwood Church in Tyler, Texas, which has helped support this work through the years, has tentatively offered to send a chartered-bus load of workers for the campaign next summer.

The arrival of a family from England and two recent baptisms have been reported. Brother Gerald Fruzia, Jr. has moved from Edmonton to take up work elsewhere. He laboured there for 4½ years. The past 18 months saw 38 baptized.

Blackfoot, Alta.: Marie Lavigne was baptized here in July as a result of studies of a Bible Course with Leo Owen of Lloydminster.

Lloydminster: Brother Owen reports 27 signed for a Bible Course during their Exhibition. He is studying with a former leader in the Salvation Army.

North Battleford, Sask.: The Dean Hotchkiss family has settled into its new home in North Battleford and conducted a V.B.S. there. "Brother Jim Williams is still without support for his work on the Indian Reserves.

Swift Current, Sask.: Walter Moes of Edmonton was conducting an average of two Bible Studies per day in Swift Current according to one report.

Carnduff, Sask.: "Recently the church was able to purchase some property in Carnduff, on which it intends to build a meeting house. It consists of two lots on a corner. A building fund was started almost two years ago and contributions to it are invited.

Regina, Sask.: This church is planning a Lectureship, November 12, 13 and 14 featuring Leo Owen of Lloydminster as speaker.

Carman, Man.: Oct. 25-31 are the dates for the Fall meeting with Glen Dods, of Dauphin.

Windsor Park, Winnipeg: Bill Williams will begin his full time work here in January.

Fort William, Ont.: The booth at the Canadian Lakehead Exhibition has been very encouraging. New Bible correspondence students were found and home studies were arranged.

The arrival of the Dave Toews and the John Whitfield families has nicely increased the working force.

North Bay, Ont.: A booth was used at the fair.

Camp Manitou: A profitable week was enjoyed by 21 boys and six adults.

Owen Sound, Ont.: A successful V.B.S. saw an attendance of 84.

Meaford, Ont.: Marvin MacDonald of Tintern will be at this place for a meeting November 2-12. A young man was baptized on Sept. 5.

Sundridge, Ont.: Three baptisms have been reported recently.

Collingwood, Ont.: Brother Hazelip is now editing a bulletin, called The Reminder.

Barrie, Ont.: The publication formerly known as The Voice of Simcoe County will now become a weekly bulletin for local consumption.

"Shirley Campbell, Karen Van Rheenen, Carolyn and Tom Blake began full time work with the Barrie congregation near the first of September. Their spiritual skills are numerous, and their dedication outstanding. We thank God for those who have planned and developed the Faith Corps concept, and those who have made their coming possible.

"Mr. and Mrs. A. James were baptized into Christ here on Sept. 5. "We hope to begin a five day school for children aged five on Oct. 4. Our fair display will operate here in Barrie, Sept. 29 through Oct. 2. We are expecting a caravan of brethren to visit from Flint, Michigan, Oct. 10." — L. W. Jones

Vandeleur, Ont.: Sixteen members have built a beautiful brick house, with finished basement, class rooms and beautiful pews. They only borrowed $500 to complete the building.

Newmarket, Ont.: Decision has been made to purchase the Davis Drive property which was being considered. Members have committed $3,000 and help is being sought elsewhere.

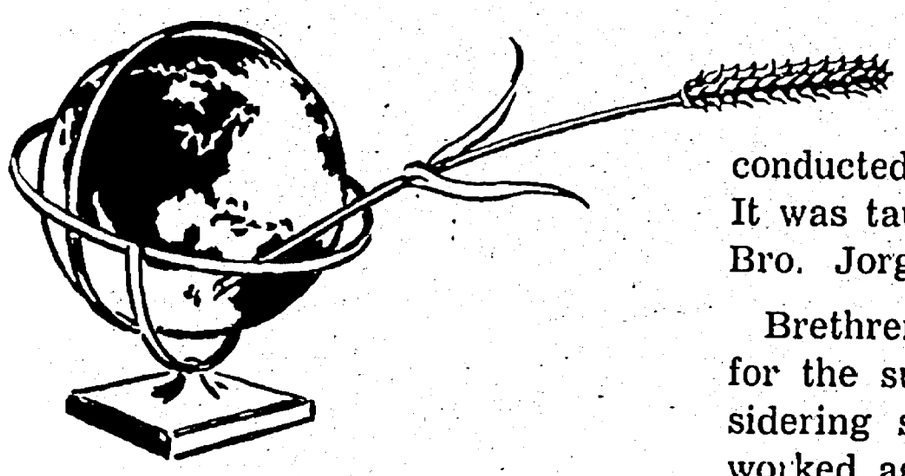
Concord, Ont.: One family recently transferred from Maplewood Ave. Ray Miller of Windsor held a meeting here September 19-26. This was this church's first.

Toronto, Strathmore Blvd.: V.B.S. held in the evenings averaged 151.

London, Ont.: Bible school goal of 150 has been set for October 3rd. Dean Clutter of Ottawa is holding a meeting September 27 - October 6. A number of workers from other churches are being sent to help. One lady was baptized in July.

Hamilton, Ont.: Ivon Avenue has a new preacher, Ben Wieb of western Canada, recently graduated from Abilene Christian College and married. Al Hartwigsen of G.L.C.C. and Niagara Falls, N.Y. will be the speaker in a meeting October 31-November 7.

Fennell Avenue: Keith Thompson of Beamsville will preach here, Nov. 14-21. This church has announced plans to conduct its own campaign in 1966 from June 16 to July 2. V.B.S. the last week of August averaged 82.



Kingston, Ont.: "On July 22nd a young man was baptized at Sharbot Lake. He was taught by his sister who was baptized during our meeting last spring. Though only a teenager he was well taught, an example to all, the teacher, just a new Christian, has already led one to Christ." Harry Jacques.

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

ENGLAND

Membership of the church in Liverpool tripled as a result of the gospel campaign conducted there this summer by brethren from the United States and other congregations in England, France, Scotland, Ireland, and one Christian from Canada — Bro. Murray Hammond of Winnipeg. Sixteen were baptized, bringing membership of the congregation to 23. Attendance at the evangelistic meetings ranged from 145 the first night to 250 for the final service. Bro. William S. Banowsky of Lubbock, Texas, preached.

ZAMBIA

Bro. and Sis. Keith Beeson of Searcy, Arkansas, will sail shortly for Zambia, formerly Northern Rhodesia, to teach in the secondary school system directed by missionaries of the churches of Christ. Bro. J. C. Shewmaker, with some 20 years of experience in the African mission field as a teacher and preacher, will serve as principal of the school. Consequently, there is need for an elementary school teacher to replace Bro. Shewmaker.

AUSTRALIA

Bro. and Sis. Ralph Crump, formerly of Pemaquid, Maine, but now living in Fort Worth, Texas, are making plans to leave early next year for mission work in Toowoomba, Queensland, Australia.

BRAZIL

The Portuguese - speaking church in the Brooklin - Paulista district of Sao Paulo, Brazil, conducted a vacation Bible school this summer with a daily average attendance of 262. Attendance at the open house which closed the school on Friday night was about 400 (the hall in which the church meets seats only 200 comfortably). 315 separate students were enrolled.

Half the teachers in this year's school were native Brazilian Christians, and a large adult class was conducted as a part of the school. It was taught by a native Christian, Bro. Jorge Mikhin.

Brethren were especially grateful for the successful school after considering some of the things which worked against it: The church budget allowed for absolutely no advertising; after the first day, rains came and the weather turned unusually cold, and the last day of the school fell on the anniversary of Sao Paulo's 1932 revolution. It was expected that attendance would fall on this holiday, but instead it reached its highest peak — 300.

Most advertising was done by the students working to bring other students. One boy brought 128 visitors and one girl brought 83. Each of these young workers was presented with a Bible at the closing exercises.

GERMANY

World Radio, Germany, is now beginning its fourth month of broadcasting the gospel of Christ to more than 78,000,000 people in East and West Germany. The program is heard each Monday evening from 8.30 to 8.45 over Radio Luxembourg. Bro. Gottfried Reichel of Munich, Germany, is the regular speaker.

Sister Elizabeth Goodwin, after 12 years of faithful missionary service for the Lord in France and Germany, died August 10 in Heidelzerg of cancer. Her body was brought home to Vicksburg, Mississippi, for burial, where funeral services were conducted by two former missionaries to France, Bro. H. B. Frank Jr., and Bro. Donald Hindsley. Her husband, Bro. Carl Goodwin, will continue his work and service with the church in Heidelberg. Bro. and Sis. Winfred Wright, missionaries in Toulouse, France, are a son-in-law and daughter.

A gospel meeting just concluded in Kaiserslautern, Germany, resulted in eight baptisms and one restoration. Bro. George Dumas of Athens, Greece, preached.

PANAMA CANAL ZONE

More than 200 brethren from six Spanish-speaking congregations met for a training for service program conducted by the church in Cristobal in July. One was baptized into Christ during the day's activities.

FINLAND

Because of their activity in printing and distributing literature in the Russian language, missionaries Dwyatt and Wanda Gantt have been expelled from Finland. Police notified them August 7 that they had one week in which to leave the country, and consequently they left Helsinki August 14. The police agreed that the work of the church and of other American missionaries in particular would not be hindered in any way if the Gantts left.

Bro. Gantt stressed that the Finnish action was taken in national self - interest. Finland officially is neutral, but is bordered in the East by the USSR, and hence feels in constant national danger. Because Bro. Gantt had since 1961 printed and helped Russian brethren distribute gospel literature across the border, it was felt that he was perhaps endangering them politically. The police told him that his work had been good, but it simply could not continue.

IRELAND

The Bill Tyner family left the United States September 6 to begin work with the church in Belfast, Northern Ireland.

PUERTO RICO

Eleven persons were baptized into Christ and 544 new students were enrolled in Bible correspondence studies as a result of the campaign conducted August 20-29 in San Juan. Fifty-nine workers from the United States assisted native brethren in house-to-house visitation, and Bro. Bob Hoover of Lubbock, Texas, preached.

PAKISTAN

As of September 17, brethren in Karachi, Pakistan, reported that no harm had come to any of the Christians meeting in Karachi or Lahore as a result of the outbreak of fighting between India and Pakistan. Later cablegrams reported that 170 had been present for Sunday morship in Karachi and that

LEONARD BAILEY FUND

The Leonard Bailey family, having spent the summer months visiting and presenting the story of the work in the Mission Field of Northern Rhodesia (now the independent nation of Zambia) across Canada, are hoping to return to this work bf December 1. Brother Bailey has spent 14 of his 27 years in Africa in mission work and his wife, Mabel, has spent six years there. Although pretty well self supporting in the past, the Baileys will have to have support now or give up the work. The change is largely the result of the Political situation there.

The church at Manson, Manitoba expresses its appreciation for the help on the travel fund in the spring and is now requesting continued assistance. We quote from the appeal being circulated by this church.

There is a great need for workers in this Mission field to strengthen those already won to Christ. Lord willing, they plan to stay another five years.

We need to raise $2000.00 for travel fund; and $300.00 regular support and working fund. The Church here at Manson have pledged $55.00 per month regular support. We need help to complete their needs. How many of you as Churches or individuals can help with the travel fund and how many can help with the monthly support? Here is an opportunity for us to GO to Africa with these labourers and continue to carry the Gospel to the people of Zambia.

They will need to have their tickets and bookings about two months in advance, so please let us hear from you as soon as convenient.

Please direct all correspondence to: Leonard Bailey Fund, c/o Gilbert Jacobs, Secretary for Fund, Box 34, Manson, Manitoba.

Thank You

A letter from the Bailey family asks us to assist them in expressing their hearty thanks to "the many who have given to the travel fund and who haye provided such wonderful hospitality to us as we have visited in so many areas showing slides of the work in Zambia."

OUR DEPARTED

WOLLABER

The late Oscar C. Wollaber was born and lived near the place of his death, outside Pekin, New York. He had been a member of the church at Pekin for many years until it was moved to Niagara Falls. While in declining health, he attended the services until near the end of his journey on earth. He was well known in the community which he served in several ways.

He is survived by his wife, three sons and many other relatives. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, August 22, at the Pike & Jones Funeral Home, with burial in North Ridge Cemetery.

EXODUS/NEW JERSEY

EXODUS/NEW JERSEY MINISTERS — The three men who will lead 100 or more families into Somerset County, New Jersey in August 1966 are seen here going over their plans at the Golf Course Road Church of Christ in Midland, Texas. They are (left to right) Winston S. Bell, associate minister and educational director of the Gendale Church of Christ, Glendale, Calif.; C. Larry Roberts, former minister of the Travis Street Church of Christ, Sherman, Texas; and Dave M. Hearn, Jr., minister of the North Buffalo Church of Christ, Buffalo, N.Y. Within three days after the program was announced, 21 families had made commitments to give their lives in the service of the Lord in New Jersey.

By M. Norvel Young

Exodus/New Jersey was announced September 5 by the Golf Course Road Church of Christ in Midland, Texas.

The new missionary program seeks to enlist and mobilize 100 or more dedicated Christian families who will move to Somerset County, New Jersey, and establish the church.

Responding to the call to move en masse to New Jersey were 21 families, totaling 67 persons. The mission call was not for a campaign or a "tour of duty" but a life-long commitment.

These families, constituting the nucleus of the new congregation, will resign their present jobs, secure new employment in Somerset County, finance their own moving expenses, and move permanently to the area in August of 1966.

The families will be enlisted from throughout the nation. They will not be full-time ministers but persons from all walks of life — business and professional people, skilled workers, school teachers, graduate students, and others.

Exodus/New Jersey is scheduled to arrive in Somerset County exactly three years after the first vocational missionary congregation among churches of Christ — Exodus/Bay Shore — was established in Suffolk County, L.I., N.Y., through the efforts of 85 families who moved from the southwestern United States.

There are 27 churches of Christ in New Jersey but none in Somerset County, which has a population of 173,000 and is situated virtually in the center of the Philadelphia-New York City metropolitan complex.

Elders of the Midland church have already purchased a ten-acre tract of property in Bridgewater Township as the site for the new church home. A three-year fund-raising goal of $350,000 has been established for the overall project. The building will be constructed in stages, beginning in 1966.

Three full-time ministers have been selected for the Somerset County congregation. They are C. Larry Roberts, formerly with the Travis Street Church of Christ, Sherman, Texas; Winston S. Bell, associate minister and educational director of the Glendale Church of Christ, Glendale, Calif.; and Dave M. Hearn, Jr., minister of the North Buffalo Church of Christ. Buffalo, N.Y. Roberts began work with Exodus/New Jersey on July 1, with Bell and Hearn slated to join him on a full-time basis October 1.

Announcement of the new missions program was the climax of a two-day Missions Conference that attracted hundreds of Christians from throughout the Southwest. More than 1,000 persons attended the first session on Saturday, September 4, and a record crowd of more than 1,300 — the largest number ever to attend a service in the two-year-old Golf Course Road building — were present at the final Sunday evening session when Jimmy Allen, evangelist of Searcy, Arkansas, called for "total commitment" as the only possible way for effective discipleship.

After the Exodus/New Jersey plans were announced by Roberts, the appeal for Christians to answer the call was made by Dwain Evans, one of the ministers of the Church in West Islip, L.I., N.Y., who was the leader of the successful 1963 exodus to Long Island.

In addition to the three ministers and their families, 18 other families responded September 5 and 8 to the invitation. Eight of these families were from Midland, including five from the host Golf Course Road church.

Two of the persons committed, will be returning home when they move to Somerset County, as they are natives of the a rea.

Other speakers encouraging the church in the missions meetings were John Allen Chalk, minister of Broad Street church, Cookeville, Tenn; Johnny Thompson, regular minister of the Golf Course church; Wesley Reagan, minister of the Northside church, Dallas; William S. Banowsky, minister of the Broadway church, Lubbock; Jack Hill, coordinator of personal evangelism for the Highland church, Abilene; and your writer.

MARCH FOR CHRIST

Brother Kenneth Reed, about 30 of our Christian students from the Universities of Alabama, Tennessee, and Auburn, and the congregation at Ice Lake "put on the whole armour of God" and went forth to battle for the Lord in a great march for Christ on the Manitoulin Island.

Our campaign record reads like this: Before the gospel meetings six baptisms; during the meetings 12 baptisms, and three that confessed their sins and asked for the prayers of the church; since the meetings one restored. Attendance during the meetings ranged from 98 to 167, and our Bible correspondence course increased by 34. All this and 73 families left for me to study with in the year before us. Praise God and pray!

One very memorable sight was the night that six in one household made the good confession and were baptized the same night (along with one other). The Lambert family of Little Current included the mother, father, and four daughters. They had all been Roman Catholics until about 5 or 6 years ago when they picked up their Bibles and Studied themselves out of that error. Since then they have been searching diligently for the truth. They said they have studied with several religious groups, but none seemed to agree with what they had learned for themselves in their own family studies. One day a team of our students knocked on their door, and presented some Bible lesons in the home. Immediately the Lamberts recognized this as being true to the teachings found in the Bible. Mrs Lambert got up out of a sick bed and travelled to the place of preaching one night to confess Christ and be baptized with him along with the rest of her family.

Regretably, we had to cancel the last ten days of the meeting with brother Ermon Bain of Alabama. He had to be taken from a gospel meeting the week before and hospitalized. Our prayers are with you, brother Bain.

September 7th was the end of our third year at Ice Lake. I asked the congregation to come together last Sunday and decide if they wanted us to stay or if they would like another preacher. Peggy and I felt humbly grateful when they sent word after the meeting that they wanted us to stay and enclosed a word of appreciation for the work done thus far.

I just now sat down and took count of the last three years. In that time 25 have been baptized, and 10 restored here at Ice Lake. Unfortunately I can't report that all of these have remained faithful, but I can thank God for being a part of this church's teaching program. Of those baptized two were from the United Church of Canada, one was Presbyterian, and eight were Roman Catholics. Yes, God's word does not return void, but gives life to those that accept it. Fifty-eight are now identified with the church at Ice Lake.

News Bits

Brother Charles Dearing started to school at Great Lakes Christian College in September. Chuck's desire is to become a preacher of the gospel. He has already studied hard, made several talks, taught a class, did house-to-house personal work, and taught in his own home Bible studies.

Chuck is in school by his own efforts and the help of Christian friends who want to see him preaching full time. God bless you, Chuck.

We hope to have a booth in the Providence Bay Fall Fair September 21 and 22nd. This will be to invite people to church services, show Bible filmstrips by Jule Miller, and offer corespondence courses.

One denominational preacher borrowed my Jule Miller filmstrips and started showing them to his teen-age class last Friday.

The Lord willing I will leave the Island about October 1st and go south for about a month in an effort to gain:

1. Full time preachers to live on the Manitoulin.
2. Christian school teachers for the Island schools.
3. Money for a baptistry, class rooms, and other building improvements.
4. Full personal support that the contribution here might be used to broaden the borders of the kingdom in other ways.

Brother Joe Nelson sanded the floors of the meeting house and the ladies treated it just before the campaign. It improved the looks of the house immensely!

I think the church here must have broken some kind of record when on August 29th the contribution showed four-hundred, twenty-six dollars and 34 cents ($426.34). Some of this was due to our visitors, but the bulk came from the members here at Ice Lake.

Ron Friberg, our college student for the summer returned south with the students on the bus. He is now back in Harding College. He gave up a good paying job for he summer to help me here. He only received about a third of the support that he needed to pay for his schooling this year. He is worthy of your support, and if you can send him anything send to: Mr Ron Friberg, Box 902, Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas.

PRISONERS IN ZION

tragic when brethren become so fearful of the dangers involved in matters of judgment that they abstain from positive action in areas of judgment.

Yes, we have some minority groups among our brethren who unconsciously regard the church as a prison. A few desire to do away with the restraints imposed by the Christian life. Another minority group would encourage a voluntary imprisonment of the mind and will for security's sake. Fortunately most of our brethren have not considered themselves under unhealthy restraint in Christianity. They simply seek to know the mind of Christ more exactly and to follow His will more fully in every area of their lives.

GREAT LAKES CHRISTIAN COLLEGE BEGINS 14th YEAR

September 7 marked the beginning of the fourteenth year of service for Great Lakes Christian College, and the beginning of the sixteenth year of its incorporation. Applications totalled 102 on the opening day, down 10 from the previous year. A fine, capable staff was on hand to receive the incoming students. The G.L.C.C. staff this year totals 18 full time workers and 6 part time workers. Of this number, only one was a replacement. One full time and one part time workers represent an increase over the staff for the '64-'65 school year.

Registration and beginning classes took place smoothly due considerably to the benefit of the new College Hall. Faculty and staff met on the 2nd and 3rd of September in pre-session confrences preparing for the year and its beginnings. Students are on hand from Ontario, New Brunswick, Quebec, British Columbia, New York, and Michigan. Included are seven students from the U.S., eight from the Georgian Bay area, and seven from Northern Ontario.

At opening chapel the assembly sang the traditional hymn, "Take Time to be Holy." Faculty member Walter Dale delivered the sermon. Welcomes were brought from the town by Mayor Franklin Laundry, from the Board of Directors by Board Chairman Oliver Tallman, and from the Beamsville Church by Keith Thompson.

A busy schedule has occupied the attention of everyone throughout September. In addition to a rigorous curriculum of studies, these events have taken place: the President's Reception for Seniors, the All-School Picnic, the beginning of clubs and inter-mural athletics, the WAVES Fall Fair, electioneering for offices in student government, and a week-end retreat to Omagh Bible School by the College Chorus for an intensive period of training.

G.L.C.C.'s new Vice-President, Al Hartwigsen, assumed his duties at the beginning of September. Under his direction, plans are underway for an intensive area effort to promote participation in the College's LEAD programme, (Living Endowment Association for Development.) Mr Hartwigsen will be this year's Christian Emphasis Week speaker. Also, aiding the school on a part time basis with emphasis on student recruitment is Warren Whitelaw, minister of the Church at Niagara Falls, Ontario.

Already noticeable on the campus is the strong siritual interest among many of the senior students. Great Lakes Christian College will need this year the continuing support and prayers of all its friends.

The Annual Meeting of the College Corporation is scheduled for October 16, 1965 at 8:00 p.m. at the College. Please plan to attend.

HERE AND THERE

Ottawa, Ont.: There is a report of one baptism in August.

Montreal, Que.: V.B.S. averaged 80 and for the first time was conducted by entirely home forces. A family is attending as a result. Two have been baptized and a family has moved in from the U.S. Beginning this month the gospel will be preached on the radio in Quebec in French for the first time. It will be at 9.30 a.m. and will cost $35 per program. Brethren Davidson and Timmerman plan a trip to visit contacts in other parts.

Mill Village, N.S.: Five helpers from the U.S. arrived in July and visited the area door to door. Murray Marshall of Union City, Georgia preached in a meeting beginning on July 25. A V.B.S. ran concurrently and was the best yet with average attendance of 60.

Halifax, N.S.: Beginning in early August the workers moved from Mill Village and canvassed 2,000 homes in Fairview. The following V.B.S. enrolled 125 and averaged 107. Ron and Rita Pauls are now working with this church in the absence of Walter Hart who is to spend some time in Texas organizing a group movement to Halifax.

ANNOUNCEMENT

MEETING of the CORPORATION of GREAT LAKES CHRISTIAN COLLEGE

COLLEGE HALL

Friday, October 16 - at 8.00 P.M.

Report: the 1964-65 School Year Plans: the 1965-66 School Year

Corporation Members and interested public cordially invited

OPPORTUNITY

I understand that we must take advantage of opportunity when it knocks. Let us do that, NOW!

There are now available small attractive display boxes in which we can distribute free cards to the public to encourage them to write in for a free Bible Study Course. Cards may be obtained, in small quantities blank to be imprinted with your address, or by the 1000 with the local address ready print ed.

By this means we could have a "Know Your Bible Campaign" for all of Ontario.

Brethren, let us act "now" on this before some of our more wide awake neighbours, "beat us to the punch."

We have tried this in Niagara Falls, Ontario with good results. From such display boxes in various public places, we have had requests for study courses from all over Ontario and even parts of the U.S.

These display boxes are available from the Gospel Herald at approximately 25c each and cards at $5.95 per thousand. Put your order in "NOW".

E. Burdett

The contents of the cards are shown below.

Know Your Bible Campaign

A special FREE home Bible study course is now being organized.

For complete information: Simply print your name and address on the upper left corner of the back of this card — stamp and mail as you would any postcard.

This course is:

- Absolutely free of charge
- Conducted entirely by mail
- Based directly on the Bible
- Contains eight lesson booklets
- Completely undenominational

Why not do so now before you forget?

HUNTSVILLE VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

The brethren at Huntsville are very grateful for the fine response to their request for help in their V.B.S. Their appreciation goes to brother Howard Lehman and his daughter of Pine Orchard; sister Clark Preston of Sundridge, (we are sorry that she was listed as being from Pine Orchard in an earlier report); sisters Robinson, Snure and Rubel of Jordan; Jim O'Neal of Sundridge who directed the school; and sister Hotchkiss of Beamsville.

Students and teachers are pictured above.

HERE AND THERE

Fenwick, Ont.: Max Craddock held a meeting for the Lily Chapel church in Ohio September 19-26. Ray Miller is to hold a meeting at Fenwick Oct. 24 - Nov. 3.

Omagh Bible Camp: About 35 young people attended the activities of the Labour Day week-end.

TEACHING GOD'S WORD

gering losses — is that most of the people involved in these crimes do not come from the recognized criminal elements of society. Housewives, college students, teen-agers in upper class suberbs, and kindly grandmother types are caught stealing from stores — stealing items they have the money to buy.

"We are in an advanced stage of breakdown — a breakdown in the basic conditions of social and community life. We find that over fifty per cents of our college students cheat on exams. We find widespread cheating on expense accounts and income taxes. Pretty soon half our population will be policemen, checking on the other half. That's a new way to get a police state. But cheating spreads to the police, too. Then we revert to the jungle.

"As a sympton of the direction in which we are heading, the Association of Pickpockets in Uruguay, one of the most industrially advanced and prosperous of the South American countries, went to that country's Supreme Court to complain that the police were making life impossible for them!

"And if that sounds fantastic, remember that in our own country is a vocal and well-financed national association for homosexuals, who are lobbying and propagandizing to make perversion respectable and socially accepted!

". . . The question is . . . HOW BAD DOES IT HAVE TO GET before (Adult) Christians declare a national emergency and go on a crash program to win their neighbors to Christ?" HE IS, AND HAS, THE ONLY ANSWER TO THE IMPERATIVE NEEDS OF OUR TIMES.

Do you remember the dialogue between God and Abraham? But . . . can adults be budged from their positions? Remember one out of twenty converted after age 25??

Twice in the history of the last 2,000 years, like a prairie fire before a high wind, ADULTS by the tens of thousands were CHANGED.

GLEANINGS

there were as yet no plans for evacuation or no damage to church property, but that no recent word had been received from Lahore where there was then no plane or mail service, and where fighting was taking place in the city itself.

There were four baptisms and one restoration in Karachi during the first part of August. Six worship services are conducted each Sunday and it was hoped that another would be added soon. A gospel meeting was scheduled for Malir (Karachi area) the first of September followed by a Family Bible School September 13-17. The church in Lahore was also engaged in such a school at the time of the outbreak of war.

JORDAN

Six young men were baptized in Zerka, Jordan, recently, and as a result a second congregation has begun in that country. Zerka is the second most populous city in Jordan. First contacts in Zerka were made through correspondence courses which were discontinued by police about a year ago. The studies were continued by personal visits from Bro. Everett Huffard. Worship services are now being conducted each Sunday afternoon in Zerka by Bro. Nabil Basil.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

Truly, all things work together for good to those who love the Lord — even war. As a direct result of United States intervention in the Dominican Republic last spring, four persons have been baptized into Christ and another congregation of New Testament Christians is meeting. It was expected that the Stanley Morgan family which was evacuated at the time of the uprising would be allowed to return to the Caribbean republic early this fall.

BELGIUM

Bro. Roy Davison expected to move the first of September from Amsterdam, Holland, to Ostende, Belgium, to become the first full-time worker of the church of Christ among the Flemish-speaking people of Belgium. The small congregation in Ostende has been without a full-time evangelist for five years.

INDIA

September 6, 1965

August was another very busy month and a very profitable one too. There were more than 200 baptized during the month. As of today (Sept. 6) there have now been 2690 baptized since we have been in the Madras area.

Brother Johnson is now on tour of the State of Andhra Pradesh. There have been some baptized but these will not be put in our number until his return.

We are now looking forward to the coming of Brother and Sister Carl Johnson early in 1966. I am sure this godly couple will do a great work here in India.

September 16, 1965

By the grace of God we are well and safe here. The work continues unabated. We hope that none are worrying about our welfare or the welfare of the Johnsons. It is still true that we do not know what the future holds but we know who holds the future.

We have a report in that one of our native workers has crossed the border into the State of Orrisa. If we can establish a beachhead there then that is the sixth State we have worked in India. We may enter Mysore State with the gospel before this month is out.

Is there any place in the world where a dollar is doing more to preach the gospel than here in India?

Next week we make the down payment on a small tea plantation that we hope to turn into a boys' hostel and we hope to have an American couple to run this work.

Our support is sufficient but our working fund is not. We have now put out about 700,000 tracts. We publish the HERALD OF RESTORATION in three languages. Keep on praying and holding up our hands.

regret that the news item, "Brian Boden of Ajax and G.L.C.C. student will preach regularly for this church while attending college," was accidently printed under the heading of Newmarket and the Newmarket News item entirely omitted from the September issue.

Windsor, Ont.: Our Windsor For Christ summer Campaign closed with good results in many respects. A total of six obeyed their Lord in baptism and were added to the body of Christ. The brethren that did the preaching did an excellent job, and a number of inspiring lessons have been impressed upon the congregation here. Our workers left a very commendable example of Christian zeal, which not only impressed the congregation here, but also the people of our community. They also left behind a number of contacts that are being followed up. The three weeks of Gospel preaching was well attended, the overall average being 85, with the high single service having 126 in attendance. We thank God for the co-operation of our brethren in both Canada and the United States for making all of this possible.

I am now in my third year with the brethren here in Windsor. We are blessed with some excellent Christian workers here. We would appreciate your worshipping with us when in the area. I will be in meetings in Concord, Ont. from Sept. 19 through 26, and in Fenwick, Ont. from Oct. 24 through Nov. 3. — Ray. L. Miller.

Weyburn, Sask.: You are probably aware that where we had two congregations, these have both been dissolved and one new one organized. Because we do not have the facilities to accommodate all the members we are using two meeting places on Sunday. Plans are in the making to rectify this with a new Church Building in the city, we hope in 1966. We feel that much growth in the Lord's work is taking place here in Western Canada.

World Wide Bible Study Ad: "How Would You Answer These Three Bible Questions is the heading of an ad which will appear in the Oct. 23 issue of THE SATURDAY EVENING POST. This is expected to result in the enrollment of 1,000 students in Correspondence Courses. In the 30 months of this program, 18,000 lessons have been processed.

CAN WE EVANGELIZE THE WORLD?

(No. 2) J. C. Bailey

It is not needful that I call attention to the fact that Jesus said the gospel was to be preached to every creature. Jesus knew that many people would reject the gospel. It is not possible then for us to convert everyone. If the past is any guide for the future then the great part of humanity will reject the gospel. However, our duty is to preach the gospel to EVERY CREATURE. In my former article I pointed out that the methods we are following are not getting this done in Canada and the United States. WHAT ABOUT OUR WORK IN THE FOREIGN FIELD?

Make no mistake about it, we are succeeding in a way now that we would not have thought possible 25 years ago. Great days are ahead in many parts of the world. The progress of the next few years will be astounding. A soul is worth more than all the wealth of this world. If we only believed that then we might begin to find an answer to our question.

India is ripe, South India is the field. Give us ten men, zealous men with vision and we can have a million members here in a generation. I dare men of vision to come to India and live with me, and travel with me, and read my mail, and not come up with the same conclusion. You may not be able to come over here to preach but you can come as a visitor and let the churches send over a man, should we say like Ira North, and then let him tell the story of the potential in South India. We shall be stirred as a people as few things have stirred us in the present generation. Wonderful as this is, it does not answer my question.

I suppose people are obeying the gospel here at less cost per capita than any place on earth at the present time. There have been 1,982 (now 3,000, Oct. '65) baptized and we are working on $400.00 per month for personal support. We cut one hundred dollars from our support to put it into the working fund. We put out a gospel paper here in three languages. We put out five Bible Cor-

Abide In The Doctrine Of Christ

Roy A. Davison
Utrecht, Holland

"Sh. . .! That's forbidden! Never assail the religious convictions of another." So speaks the spirit of our age. Truth is looked upon as something different for each person. From this standpoint, one must never oppose someone else's doctrine. A person can believe whatever he wishes. "Tolerating Everything" is regarded as the road to unity. So is the spirit of our age.

Of course, religious freedom is good and just; desire for unity is also good; but the tendency to sacrifice truth to obtain a certain "divided unity" or unity with apartness" is evil.

Real unity demands that we be united doctrinally; that is to say, we must be one in the doctrine of Christ.

Absolutely essential is it that all human traditions, creeds, and doctrines be discarded for the sake of unity. But never may we abandon the doctrine of Christ.

We must uphold His doctrine. Paul says with regard to the elder: "He must hold firm to the sure word as taught,so that he may be able to give instruction in sound doctrine and also to confute those who contradict it" (Titus 1:9).

When false doctrine is taught, Christians must oppose it. Certainly Paul was not milquetoast doctri-

Having discussed in a previous article the difficulties of agnosticism and outright atheism, we now turn our attention to another hypothesis by which some attempt to account for the origin of the universe and the various forms of life, namely:

Evolution

There was no widespread acceptance of the theory of evolution until a little over a hundred years ago when Charles Darwin published his famous book entitled, The Origin of the Species. In this book he boldly asserted that evolution had actually taken place, and he undertook to explain the process involved on the principle of natural selection, which included his much publicized theory of the survival of the fittest.

Since the days of Darwin, and largely because of the impact of his book, the theory of evolution has gained wide acceptance. Notwithstanding the fact that many weaknesses have been pointed out in Darwin's so-called explanation of how evolution is presumed to have occurred, the theory is taught with much fervor in colleges and universities and even in many of the lower grades of our schools. It permeates much of what is offered to the public in the way of reading material and entertainment. The result is that many have accepted evolution as an established fact, assuming that it has been "proved" by science, and that those who teach it must know what they are talking about.

Evolution Defined

In the minds of many people, evolution is thought of as a process in which man sprang from the monkey. Actually, the supposed step from monkey to man is but the climax of the evolutionary process.

Many, even among evolutionists, define the word evolution to mean, change, or development. It is admitted that certain changes can and do occur within species. By carefully supervised selection and breeding, men can produce various strains of the species called cattle. But such changes are not sufficient to produce what evolution calls for. Only if and when a cow developed into another species, — a horse, for example — could it be said that evolution had taken place.

Does some one say that it is impossible for one species to develop into another? We agree. Yet the evolutionist asks us to believe that not just one such change, but literally millions of such changes have occurred to produce man. He begins the supposed long evolutionary climb with a tiny one-celled form of life called the amoeba. He then assumes that over a long period of time the amoeba evolved far enough to become another species — a worm. He further assumes that the worm evolved into a fish, the fish became a reptile, the reptile became a bird, the bird became an animal, and the animal evolved through the monkey into man. Of course the evolutionist is careful to point out that each change from one species to the next higher required millions of years.

Proofs Offered

Since there is nothing in the science of biology that has ever given any evidence other than that life always comes from previous life, or that any species ever produces other than after its kind, evolutionists have largely forsaken that field and they lean heavily on the sciences of geology and paleontology.

Geology is the science that has to do with the structure of the earth, and of rock formation. There is considerable evidence to suggest that the earth has been laid down in layers resembling the layers of an onion. That being true, it is obvious that the lower stratum would be the first laid down, and therefore the oldest.

Paleontology is the science that has to do with the study of fossil remains of various forms of life that have existed in past geological ages. Embedded in the layers of the earth's surface, millions of fossil remains have been found. So well have they been preserved that the paleontologist is able to identify the species to which they belonged.

It is thus seen that geology and paleontology are valid sciences, and when the facts concerning each are properly applied and correctly interpreted they provide us with valuable information regarding the structure of the earth and of life as it existed in past ages. So, if evolution has actually occurred, some evidence of it should be and would be found among the fossils.

Difficulties Encountered in So-called "Proof"

The problems that are posed by this so-called proof of evolution, are clearly seen when we compare what the theory of evolution calls for, with the evidence provided by geoglogy and paleontology.

1. Since evolution is presumed to be a process of development from the simple to the complex, proof would require that fossils of the simplest forms of life would be found in what is regarded as the first and therefore oldest layers of the earth's structure, and that the complex and higher forms of life would be found only in the more recent layers.

The facts have proved to be embarrassing to the evolutionist. Fossil remains of well advanced forms of life have been found in the same stratum with the most simple forms. Even Darwin was aware of this problem and expressed some concern as to its effect upon his theory.

2. Much has been said by evolutionists regarding the supposed "missing link" between man and ape. But since evolution is presumed to begin with the amoeba that evolved into a worm, and then on up through the successive stages of fish, reptile, bird, animal, to finally emerge as man, it will be seen that the theory calls for not just one, but millions of missing links. It has been estimated by evolutionists that the transition from a lower species to the next higher species would require some seventeen hundred steps, or links. Multiply this number of species between amoeba and man and the figure reaches astronomical pro-

DO NOT ROB GOD

Warren T. Whitelaw, Toronto

The custom of giving a tenth of the products of the land and the spoils of war to priests and kings was a very ancient one among the nations. The Jews had this custom long before the institution of the Mosaic law, (Gen. 14:17-20; Heb. 7:4). The payment of tithes has been deeply rooted in the history of the human race.

In the Pentateuch we find legislation as to tithes in three places. According to (Lev. 27:3-33) a tithe had to be given of the seed of the land, that is of the crops and of the fruit of the tree (for example, oil and wine) and of the flock (Deut. 14:22-23; II Chron. 31:5-6). As the herds and the flocks passed out to pasture, they were counted (Jer. 33:13) and every tenth animal that came out was reckoned holy to the Lord.

In (Mal. 3:8-12) we have a picture of the people with their sins, and especially do we note the sin of refusing to pay tithes to the Lord. By so doing they were charged with robbing God. The people did not consider it so. But to withold from God what is rightfully his is to rob Him. And for this God had cursed them with a curse. The punishment was famine and sarcity brought on through unseasonable weather or through insects upon the fruits of the earth. The suggestion is made that they "bring ye all the tithes into the store house". To the extent that they would heed this command, the Lord promised to "open the windows of heaven". But this was conditional upon their bringing the tithes.

The principal of first doing our part and trusting God for the reward runs throughout the Bible. It was true in the case of Elijah and the widow (I Kings 17:13) and it has always been true. Jesus teaches that we shall seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and then the reward comes — all the necessary things of life (Matt. 6:33). God has blessings ready to bestow upon us, but, through weakness of our faith and narrowness of our desires, we have not room to receive them.

The question as to whether Christians should tithe today comes up again and again. Some argue that they must, and seek to prove it by many of these passages that we have mentioned in the Old Testament. However, it should be remembered that the Old Testament is not the covenant that we are under today.

It was a schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ (Gal. 3:24). It was not addressed to us as the authority for our faith and practice, but was written "for our learning" (Rom. 15:4). It was spoken to the fathers in the old time which is now past; in these days God speaks to us through His Son, and we are held responsible for holding to what he has spoken (Heb. 1:1-2). Today, if we would go back to Moses, he sends us to the Christ (Acts 3:33-36). If one goes to the old covenant, it sends him to the new (Heb. 9:6-17).

Realizing then, that we are under the new covenant (New Testament) it behooves us to abide in its teaching. He that goeth onward and abideth not in the teaching of Christ, hath not God (II John 9). Nowhere in the New Testament is the Christian taught to tithe. But rather "every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful giver" (II Cor. 9:7). This passage tells us plainly that our giving is not to be one of necessity. Paul does tell us however, "He which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully".

Being under a covenant with greater blessings and promises we should feel a greater obligation. The apostle commends the church in Macedonia for the riches of their liberality. The secret of this being, they "First gave their ownselves to the Lord" (II Cor. 8). The greatest gift that man can give to God is to give himself. When we have learned to do this, we will give of our means — freely.

Writing Out Loud

"Church of Tomorrow"

I like to dream, to plan, to anticipate. This is why I like to think about the "Church of Tomorrow." The church has had a glorious past, but it has a greater future. Below are some guidelines to secure this tomorrow:

The Church Of Tomorrow Must Be Redeemed From Pessimism To Optimism

How fearful and pessimistic and faint hearted some Christians can be! The Bible continually warns us "to faint not." A little setback, the loss of a few members, being a little tired — will scare some half to death. In Luke 5, the Pharisees came to quiz Jesus — but Luke says, "the power of the Lord was present to heal them." The power of God is here. Faith, hope, and optimism must prevail.

The Church Of Tomorrow Must Be Redeemed From Competition To Co-operation

Denominations compete — and that is bad. But when brethren compete, how tragic! Friendly, brotherly rivalry which provokes one another to good works is fine and needed. But jealousy, pettiness, and resentment leading to hostility is rebellion and sin. And it must be stopped! Brethren are suspicious of promotion, co-operation, and fellowship — they may lose a member!

Church Of Tomorrow Must Be Redeemed From Formalism To Evangelism

Age always provokes tradition. Tradition fosters formalism. Some brethren have synonymized Christian maturity with strong, cold, stoic, hard-heartedness — the more solemn and stern the better. We need warmth, zeal, and compassion. The church needs to return to its most important task — evangelism. These three things will make our future.

A WORKING HYPOTHESIS OR A WORKING FAITH?

These are restless times in a troubled world. Old values are being discarded. Old systems are being challenged. Youthful individuals and young nations alike are seeking recognition from their elders, in many instances with painful conflict. This restlessness is evident in religion as well as in secular affairs. Morals are said to be relative; beliefs are considered temporary accommodations and uncertainty is the order of the day.

The above picture of the restless age and the corresponding religious uncertainty was exemplified in a recent statement by a highly educated professor of philosophy in this editor's presence. He said, "To me Christianity is just a working hypothesis." What did he mean by this? He was simply applying a system of philosophy called pragmatism. In effect this is constructed on the basis of the principle, "If it works, accept it; if it doesn't work, discard it."

Probably we do not realize how much this philosophy, which was popularized by William James and John Dewey, has affected our society. In education, politics, business and even art, it has had a terrific impact. It has coloured the religious thinking of our times more than most of us realize.

In education and secular affairs, it can be a very practical philosophy under certain conditions. It contributes to progress and to new methods. It prevents staleness and lifts one out of the proverbial rut. Hypothesis after hypothesis can be constructed out of new ideas and tested for results. New ideas and new methods contribute a forward impulse that is dynamic and vital. We may deplore the abuses and doubt some of the implications, but we do approve of many benefits derived from this method.

When we bring this philosophy into the area of Christianity, not just religion in general, we are immediately struck with its helplessness. The goals of Christianity are such that one can not walk by sight. Who is to say that this concept "works" or that another does not "work"? The Apostle Paul stated the matter clearly in a little parenthesis "for we walk by faith, not by sight." (2 Cor. 5:7 A.S.V.).

That which may seem to be working for the masses in compromise and innovation may be an insult to God. As such it will condemn the participant to an eternity of despair. The man who suggests change in worship or doctrine on the basis that others find it practical or enjoyable is advocating a spiritual "Russian roulette". His own destruction and that of his fellows may be the end result. It may be fun to play with innovations and to erect new systems of religious "truth", but it is dangerous fun.

It is interesting to notice how often men are able to become so engrossed in their consideration of methods of knowing and feeling that they leave no room in their lives for faith. The writer of Hebrews defines faith as, "assurance of things hoped for, a conviction of things not seen" (Heb. 11:1 A.S.V.).

It would seem that even in the secular world the principle of faith must assume great importance in our relations with our fellow men and the universe in which we live. Most of what we know and live by requires an element of faith on the part of the individual. In Christianity, faith certainly must be the guiding principle.

We are obviously besieged on every hand with the appeal to do this or that in our religious lives because it works. Such claims are heard as: "It has achieved unity for millions" or "It has brought peace of mind to multitudes" or "its esthetic appeal is stimulating". These are used as arguments for innovations and compromise. Unity, peace of mind and esthetic satisfaction are good by-products of Christianity. They are no substitute for walking by faith. Only faith can look beyond the horizon of our

BIBLE SCHOOL IS FOR ADULTS (Part II)

by Ira Zavitz

Twice in the history of the last 2,000 years, like a prairie fire before a high wind, ADULTS by the tens of thousands were CHANGED.

The Church of God in Canada has largely depended upon generation for growth. Yet — in its infancy the Lord's Body had dynamic growth by re-generation. ADULTS taught, adults heard, considered and became believers. They displayed POWER and an attractiveness that like a river in flood time could neither be dammed nor contained.

ANOTHER GREAT TIME IN THE HISTORY OF THE WORLD; a time we often gloss over or discount, BUT one of the KEYSTONE POINTS of history . . . The great 16th century saw hundreds of thousands . . . perhaps millions (and all during the span of a man's short lifetime) moved out of the darkness and superstition of CATHOLICISM into the light and comfort of the Scriptures. AS PAUL PREACHED — to the King in the palace — to the powerful Roman Governor — and to the jailer, SO THESE BRAVE 16th CENTURY PREACHERS — proclaimed in the largest cathedrals — taught in the biggest Universities — debated in Parliaments before princes — AND THEY INCLUDED THE MILKMAID AND THE PLOUGHMAN.

THE GREAT 19th CENTURY message followed — the one that you and I are interested in promoting. Again we see men and women by the thousands CHANGED — adults coming to their Saviour!

Much as we may disagree with some of their doctrines — we have to admire the zeal of the individual — and the growth of The Jehovah's Witnesses. One afternoon this week, I had occasion to cross the street. It was a cold and windy April afternoon. A man was at the corner offering copies of THE WATCHTOWER. On the way back, I stopped and asked him a few questions concerning the growth of their organization. Within 15 minutes he was in my office with the answers. This is a story of their growth in "active" members. An "active" member with them is one who spends a certain number of hours each week in door-to-door work and also in street corner sales, or 'publishing' — (the news of the Kingdom). IN CANADA, 1942, 9,000 ACTIVE members; 1953, 24,800; 1965, 41,000 PLUS 20,000 BIBLE STUDIES NOW GOING ON. THESE PEOPLE HAVE NO SUNDAY SCHOOLS — the nearest thing to our S.S. is an hour on Wednesday night for the family called a Ministerial School.

CONSIDER THESE ADVANTAGES OF TEACHING ADULTS: more of them; adults pay the bills — support mission program — put bread in the mouth of the orphan; provide the transportation and THEY HAVE MORE INFLUENCE.

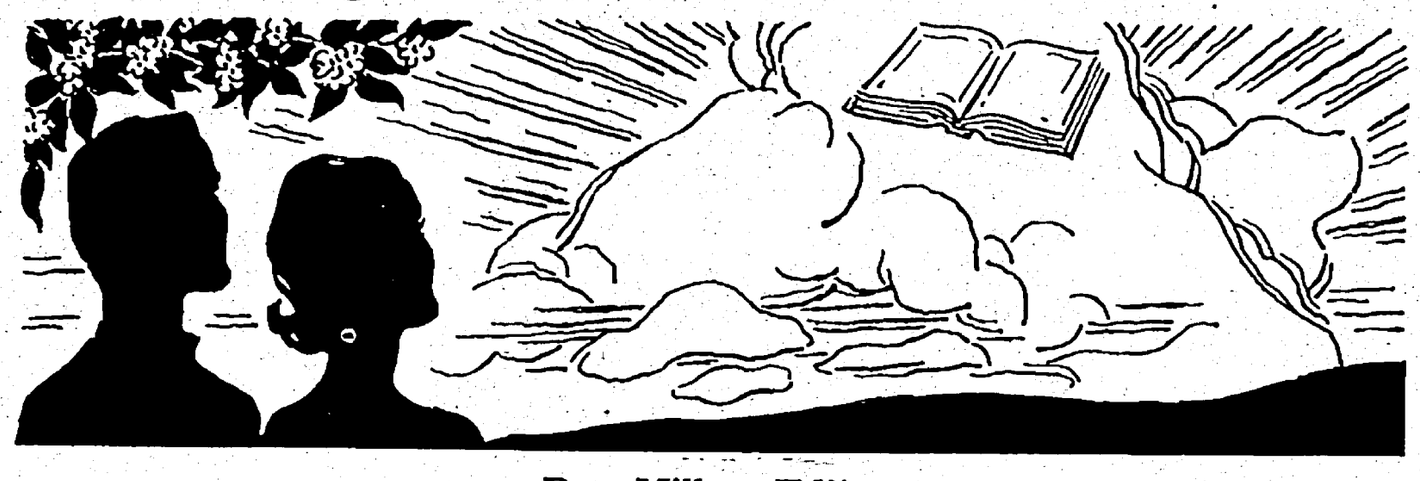
ADULTS write the laws and ADMINISTER THEM — publish the newspapers — write the books — they make the decisions which affect the home, school, government and church — teach our children — pre-school to University — do the preaching and teaching in our churches and synagogues.

Some men think the Bible is for women and children . . . and a few preachers. Others are worried about all the talk of myth and fable that swirl about THE BOOK. HOWEVER, among the great men of our age, a man among men, a leader of strong men in time of peril . . . one stands out — WINSTON CHURCHILL. Listen to that rugged and eloquent individualist:

QUOTE: from NOW of May 5, 1944 published by LeTourneau of Longview, Texas. "We reject with scorn all those learned and laboured myths that Moses was but a legendary figure upon whom the priesthood and the people hung their essential social, moral and religious ordinances.

"We believe that the most scientific view, the most up-to-date and rationalistic conception will find its fullest satisfaction in taking the Bible story literally, and in identifying one of the greatest human beings with the most decisive leap forward ever discernible in the human story.

"We remain unmoved by the tomes of Professor Gradgrind and Dr. Dryasdust. We may be sure that all these things happened just as they are set our according to Holy Writ. We may believe that they happened to people not so very different from ourselves, and that the impressions those people received were faithfully recorded and have been transmitted across the centuries with far more accuracy than many of the telegraphed accounts we read of goings on today. In the words of a forgotten work of Mr. Gladstone, we rest with assurance upon 'THE IMPREGNABLE BOOK OF HOLY SCRITURE.'



"Let the men of science and learning expand their knowledge and probe with their resources every detail of the records which have been preserved to us from these dim ages. All they will do is to fortify the grand simplicity and essential accuracy of the recorded truths which have lighted so far the pilgrimage of man."

GOD STILL COMMISSIONS ADULTS TO TELL THE WORLD ABOUT HIS SON . . . So our adult class must never be an island of theological isolation — BUT ALWAYS — A RECRUITING OFFICE — A TRAINING CAMP — A PLACE TO ARM FOR THE BATTLE.

A Page For CHRISTIAN YOUTH

Ray Miller, Editor

(Editor's note: Again we are indebted to two Great Lakes Christian College students for contributing articles to our page. These works are part of an assignment based on the wonderful twelfth chapter of Romans. We commend these articles to your profitable reading, and thank Chris and Brian for their fine efforts.)

"Roman 12:4-7, "For as in one body we have many members, and all the members do not have the same function, so we though many, are one body in Christ and individually members one of another. Having gifts that differ according to the grace given to us, let us use them: if prophecy, in proportion to our faith; if service, in our serving; he who teaches, in his teaching."

In the above scripture, Paul compares the church to a body and then individuals to the members of that body. We know that all the members of a body have different functions to perform, but we also know that it takes all of the members to make up the body. If one member of the body becomes sick, or refuses to perform his duties completely, the whole body suffers. This is also true in the church. We must all do our duties to the best of our abilities if the church is to work smoothly and accomplish all the work she could possibly do.

Paul is speaking of more than just our natural abilities in this passage. At this time in the early church, Bibles or written documents, as we have today, were not in existence. For this reason, God gave the Apostles the power to lay hands on devout Christians, which enabled them to prophesy, to teach, to preach, etc. without the written scriptures. From the last part of verse 6, ". . . if prophecy, in proportion to our faith" we see that the greater a Christians' faith, the more talent or power he had in the gift he had received. A person who had the gift of prophecy but not as much faith as another man with the same gift, would not be able to prophesy as much as the other man.

We can also see from the example of the body that not all the Christians would receive the same gift, but that each would receive gifts that differ according to the grace given to them. One man might prophesy, while another would teach or serve. Paul makes it clear that these early Christians would have these gifts, or had them already, and that they could not consider one gift greater than the other. Who can tell which is more important, an eye or an ear, prophesy or teaching? All these members or gifts work together for the common cause of spreading the gospel and saving souls.

The most important point that Paul brings up is that we must use our gift in proportion to our faith. A person might have the gift of prophecy but if he did not use it, he would be of no help to anyone. Therefore, the early Christians were exhorted by Paul to use what gifts they had received.

We can follow their example and use what natural talents we have to spread the gospel. The most important thing is to use whatever talent we have, no matter how small it may seem to us."

—by Chris Ellis

I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, to present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable to God which is your spiritual service.

The first eleven chapters of Romans deal with Paul's introduction to the practical and doctrinal expositions which begin in chapter twelve. The word "Therefore" connects the exhortation to consecration to God with the entire discussion of the foregoing chapters.

The mercy spoken of in chapter eleven, as embracing both Jews and Gentiles in a common salvation here expresses the tender compassion of God.

To present your bodies means ceasing to hold; to let God have full posssesion, not only of your spirit and soul, but of your physical body. We must yield all our members to God. We must live a life of self-denial. We should not be self-centered or desire to have our own way but it should be our desire to be controlled wholly by God.

The sanctified body might be called a living sacrifice because its natural life is not consumed but is presented to God alive. There is in every sacrifice a death unto sin, out of which arises a new life of righteousness unto God. A new life of holiness is gained.

Under the law of Moses animals free from blemish were presented and devoted to God. Under the new dispensation we must consecrate ourselves. "Ye were bought with a price; glorify God therefore in your bodies." 1 Cor. 6:20.

When our bodies are full of life they are kept free from sin and actively employed in doing God's will, then as offerings they are acceptable to him. To please God should be our aim and by pleasing God we will be rewarded.

Since we have been redeemed from death by the blood of Christ, it is reasonable that we should give our lives to rendering such service.

CAN WE EVANGELIZE

respondence Courses. We have put out more than 600,000 tracts and distributed others that have been sent from America. We are supporting 50 native workers and this is all being done on about $1100.00 per month. Beside this there are perhaps 20 buildings with the sign Church of Christ on them. This number will be increased as the months roll on.

Our workers entered a village a few weeks ago. The denominational preacher there ordered them out of his village. They refused to go. He went to the Police. The Police became interested. He came to see me and says he will bring ten villages into our work. I could go on giving illustrations.

Perhaps we would have to except Nigeria, but otherwise we have the greatest potential on earth. I think we have a greater potential than Nigeria but, of course, I might be prejudiced?

We could have 100 native workers instead of 50 in a matter of a few months. There is scarcely a church in Canada, or United States, that could not add the support of a native preacher to their budget. Most preachers could share their support with a native preacher here. The native preacher would probably make more converts than the preacher at home. Do not tell me you cannot do it. After all I have lived there. I pretty well know your potential. I know there are some people that are already supporting a native preacher that are probably not as well off as you are.

Let us say that we suddenly give the attention to India that the present situation deseryes. Let us say that we increase our number of baptisms from 200 per month to 2000 per month. In about 45 years we would reach 1,000,000 baptisms. This has not been equalled in any country on earth. It would be a wonderful thing but we would still be far short of even evangelizing one country.

It has been suggested that we can accomplish the task by radio and TV. There is no TV in India and 80% of the people live in villages. In hundreds of villages there is not so much as one radio. Much more can be done with the printed page and this work could be greatly augmented here. In many villages the majority cannot read or write.

The great cry is today for the indigenous church. I am sure this is a move in the right direction. I never read in the Bible about a mission nor a missionary. I am sure that the work of the Lord would be much farther ahead if we had come here (I mean the foreign field) and just started churches. I am sure we have made problems for ourselves by being MISSIONARIES instead of just gospel preachers. After all what difference does it make whether I preach in the U.S.A. or India? Is it not my duty to preach the gospel? What is added? What is taken away from being a gospel preacher that makes one become a missionary?

However, will the indigenous church solve the problem? If we cannot accomplish the task with the indigenous churches in America how can we produce the indigenous church on the foreign field that will do the job? I share the ideal with those who advocate the indigenous church. We are working toward that end. We are praying to that end. We are facing problems that nearly crush us as we labor to that end. We watch the efforts of our religious neighbours as they try to abandon the old method for the new. Progress is slow, painfully slow. In fact, temporarily at least in many cases, it has been retrogressive.

There are some brethren that critize the way most of us try to carry on our work. Do they have the answer? In correspondence with a brother some months ago he said, "We are doing almost as much as you are". So that is not the answer.

I am not a pessimist. Souls are being saved. More souls will be saved in the future than in the past. We are enlarging our vision. The doors are opening faster than they are closing.

However, I see no prospect of us evangelizing the world in this generation, frankly, do you?

ABIDE IN THE DOCTRINE

nally: "I am astonished that you are so quickly deserting him who called you in the grace of Christ and turning to a different gospel— not that there is another gospel, but there are some who trouble you and want to pervert the gospel of Christ. But even if we, or an angel from heaven, should preach to you a gospel contrary to that which we preached to you, let him be accursed. As we have said before, so now I say again, If any one is preaching to you a gospel contrary to that which you received, let him be accursed" (Galatians 1:6-9). The gospel of Christ is pure, or it is nothing.

John warns: "Any one who goes ahead and does not abide in the doctrine of Christ does not have God; he who abides in the doctrine has both the Father and the Son. If any one comes to you and does not bring this doctrine, do not receive him into the house or give him any greeting; for he who greets him shares his wicked work" (2 John 9-11).

Therefore, let us never be afraid to fight false doctrine, for churches of true Christians — and thus unity in Christ — are obtained by truth alone.

experience and point to a haven after death. Those who exchange a working faith for a working hypothesis are at sea in a storm of doubt.

The Apostle Paul, after asserting the dynamic power of the Gospel to save men's souls, went on to quote a relevant truth from the Old Testament writer, Habbakuk. It is God's law for all men in all ages, "But the righteous shall live by faith."

? Your Questions Answered

Questions to be answered on this page should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont.

Is there a discrepancy in the recording of the conversion of Saul in Acts 9:7 and Acts 22:9? It looks like one verse says those travelling with Saul heard a voice and in the verse in Acts 22 they didn't.

This question involves what is commonly called an "alleged Bible contradiction." Some unbelievers and modernists seem to take great delight in taking the Bible apart in an attempt to find contradictions in it. In answer to the critics one scholar wrote, ". . . the more thoroughly I have investigated the subject the more clearly have I seen the flimsy and disingenuous character of the objections alleged by infidels . . . I cannot but avow, as the issue of my investigations, the profound conviction that every difficulty and discrepancy in the scriptures is, and will yet be seen to be, capable of a fair and reasonable solution. (John W. Haley, Alleged Discrepancies of the Bible, emphasis his).

We cannot deny that there are difficulties in the Bible. Nothing is gained by refusing to admit the existence of difficulties. Yet most of them melt away when carefully investigated. There are difficulties that we cannot, at this time, solve; but we need not conclude that they cannot be solved. A hundred years ago there were other problems within the Bible for which men could find no solution; but thanks to historical and archaeological research, we can solve them today. It is the height of egotism and dogmatism to assume that a problem cannot be solved simply because we ourselves do not have the solution. No one has the right to assert that two statements are contradictory so long as there is a possible and reasonable way of reconciling them. Sometimes there are several possible ways of reconciling apparent contradictions, any one of which may be the correct explanation of the difficulty.

Now let us notice the two passages involved in the above question. First, Acts 9:7, "The men who were travelling with him stood speechless, hearing the voice but seeing no one." Next, Acts 22:9, "Now those who were with me saw the light but did not hear the voice of the one who was speaking to me."

The explanation to this apparent discrepancy seems obvious. The word "hear" has two meanings, to perceive sound and to understand. The men with Saul heard the sound, but did not understand what was said to him. We use the word "hear" with these two different meanings. A father calls to his child. The child replies, "I can not hear you." He does not mean that he cannot hear a sound for he would not reply at all if he could not hear anything. But he means that he cannot understand the words.

"Hear" is used with a similar meaning as that in Acts 22:9 in at least two other places. John 12:28 states that "a voice came from heaven, 'I have glorified it, and I will glorify it again'." Then verse 29 says "The crowd standing by heard it and said that it had thundered. Others said, 'An angel has spoken to him'." The crowd heard the sound of God's voice but thought it was thunuder. They heard but they did not understand. The other example is in 1 Cor. 14:2, "For one who speaks in a tongue speaks not to men but to God; for no one understands him, but he utters mysteries in the Spirit." The word rendered "understands" literally means "hear." Thus one might hear the sound of the one speaking in a tongue but not understand the words.

Likewise the men travelling with Paul heard a noise but did not understand the words that were spoken.

Book Reviews

Books to be reviewed in this column should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont., Canada.

The Letters of Paul, An Expanded Paraphrase by F. F. Bruce. Eerdmans. 323 pages. $4.95 (plus exchange in Canada).

F. F. Bruce has recently been described as 'the leading conservative scholar in Britain'. Those acquainted with his many published works will agree with this evaluation. His writings are characterized by an admirable combination of scripturalness and scholarship.

The author has called his work an Expanded Paraphrase. This is not merely a translation, nor even the offering of a number of synonyms for the reader to select his choice, but an expansion of the often very condensed original in order to make the course of Paul's thought and argument as clear as possible.

For the sake of comparison the REVISED VERSION of 1881 is printed parallel with the EXPANDED PARAPHRASE. Of this version Professor Bruce writes that it is "of all English translations of the New Testament the one which reproduces most accurately the nuances of Greek grammar and follows the idiom of the original as closely as possible without doing excessive violence to English literary usage." Added to the RV text are what are called the "Fuller References," compiled by Scrivener, Moulton and Greenup in order to make Scripture its own commentary by cross-references and comparison.

In addition the author has written a brief narrative of the life of Paul, based mainly on the book of Acts. Using this as a framework, he arranges Paul's letters in what he considers is their chronoligical order. The final result is a book of great value in understanding the life and writings of the most influential apostle of all.

FOCUS/Okanagan

Last Sunday the FOCUS/Okanagan movement in Western Canada became a reality. Inspired by the EXODUS/Bayshore project, this group effort to establish the Lord's church in Kelowna, British Columbia, Canada has been in the formative stages for more than two years. Under the oversight of the elders of the North Missouri church in West Memphis, Arkansas, Lynn Anderson and Sam Tumlinson have been preparing to lead a 10 family exodus to Kelowna, B.C. and a smaller group to Kamloops, B.C. God has brought this into a concrete reality.

KELOWNA

Last Sunday (September 5) eight complete families plus part of two others assembled in Kelowna for the first service after the arrival of the FOCUS/Okanagan group there. Families began to exodus to Kelowna just over a year ago. Now, counting three outsiders, 36 were present for this history making service.

Kelowna is the key city of the British Columbia interior with a total community population over 30,000. There is no church of Christ within 320 miles (except a small and young church at Salmon Arm, 70 miles away.) This city is the principal target of the FOCUS/Okanagan project because of its strategic location at the heart of over 90,000 people.

In addition to those already in Kelowna, a young Christian nurse is to arrive by October 1 and three more families are to move in by early spring. All of the families now in Kelowna are Canadians, however some families from the United States are committed to move as early as April, 1966.

KAMLOOPS

At Kamloops two couples have recently arrived plus three young school teachers, a young telephone operator and a lady whose husband is not a Christian. This makes nine people in the beginning at Kamloops. Another couple is to move there from Kelowna at the end of September. Two other families are expected to arrive within the year also.

The preacher in Kamloops is Sam Tumlinson. In Kelowna the preacher is Lynn Anderson. Both men are sponsored by the church at 1600 N. Missouri, West Memphis, Arkansas.

Optimism surrounds these groups who seek to move before the impelling winds of God's matchless Providence. This work in the Okanagan valley is no eutopia or never-never land of fairy tale perfection. It is simply a group of men and women trying to let God be their strength in an unusually favorable set of circumstances. The future for this work looks bright. This will be, Lord willing, a mighty force for Christ in Western Canada.

—Lynn Anderson

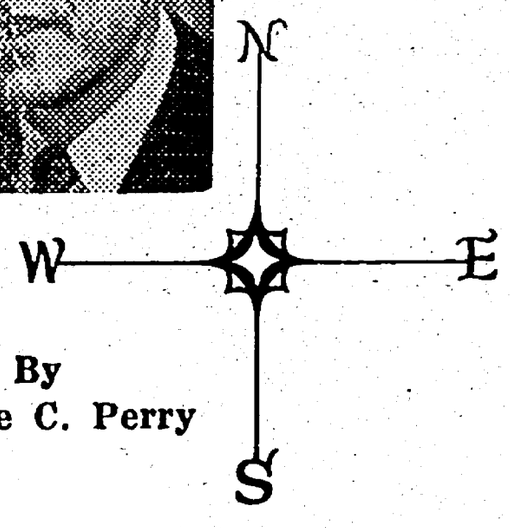
the United States displayed their appreciation of the Master's words when they presented themselves at Omagh Camp this summer to act as Counsellors and Assistant Counsellors. The Directors of Omagh Bible School wish to thank them for the way in which they conducted themselves at camp. We would like to encourage them to include this work in their plans for 1966. The young people that I refer to are: Dianne Parker, Pat Perry, Linda Hicks (Texas), Ann Patterson (Texas), Barbara Sullivan, Priscilla Brennan, Margo Murray, Crystal Cook, Harold Byne, Peter McDonald, Claude Cox, Brian Bodden, Earle Harvey, and Mark Johnson. Ron Cullison of Michigan Christian Junior College was a guest at Camp and spoke on behalf of the college. He also gave assistance whenever possible.



—Charles A. Cook, President of Omagh Bible School.

HERE AND THERE

Prince Albert, Sask.: Allan Roberts has been released from the R.C.A.F. and is helping Roger Jeal at this place. After a period of full time work for the Lord he hopes to go to a training school if finances can be arranged.

HERE AND THERE

By
Eugene C. Perry

Halifax, N.S.: The Walter Hart family is now living at 561 Hydrangea Avenue, Orange, Texas, from which place he will be working in behalf of an exodus movement to Halifax. Upon completion of this task they will be returning to Halifax.

Because of an interest shown by the young people who attended V.B.S., Ron Pauls has undertaken to provide a class for them every Friday night. The enrollment is 18.

Montreal, Que.: The French radio programme, "La voix de salut", commenced on October 3rd and will be heard each Sunday at 9.00 a.m. over radio CHRS, 1090 on the dial.

Ottawa, Ont.: The V.B.S. during the last part of August was a success with a high attendance of 147 and an average of 135 which represented a 15% increase over last year. A full house featured the closing program.

The Friday night young peoples classes resumed on September 17 with 46 in attendance. The Bible class attendance goal of 100 appears reachable with a recent attendance of 82.

Kingston, Ont.: Apparently our information in regard to the meeting by Doug LaCourse at this place was incorrect as printed last issue. We still have no direct information but it appears that the meeting is in progress in October.

Warkworth, Ont.: A lady at this place, 35 miles from Peterborough, was baptized on October 1. She had been studying a correspondence course.

Toronto, Ont.: One young man was re-dedicated at Strathmore on September 12. Wesley Jones of Barrie began a 10 day meeting here on October 17 for which date the Bible class attendance goal was set for 200. Workers from Barrie will do visitation in Toronto during a part of this effort.

"The Bayview church has begun advertising of the World's Fair Bible Course. Twice a week the offer appears in the personal column of the Daily Star. Plans are currently under way for a regular display ad in 1966." — Floyd Lord.

Plans are afoot for a move of some 50 families to west metro Toronto from the south. Seven have already pledged to move in August, 1967 and George Snure of Memphis, Tennessee is one of these.

Hamilton, Ont.: The Fennell Ave. church has formulated plans for a campaign to take place June 16-July 2, 1966. Rodney Spaulding of West Islip, N.Y. is to help with preparations for personal evangelism work. Effort is being made to train local people as well as obtaining workers from other places. Dwain Evans of West Islip is scheduled to speak in a campaign in 1967.

This church is discontinuing support to the radio program because of the little response in the immediate area and to prepare for the campaign. A systematic visitation program has been started.

Beamsville, Ont.: The contribution here has been almost $300 per week but being short of the budget, a special effort was made and on October 3 over $700 was contributed to help reach the budget.

Niagara Falls, Ont.: 71 are enrolled in Bible School and the goal is 100. Six met for Bible study on Tuesday night at Fort Erie.

St. Catharines, Ont.: The church in St. Catharines has returned to normal after the vacation period, when many have been away. A number have been seriously ill in the hospitals. Among them Sister Tom Bailey of the Soo, the wife of one of our former preachers in Ontario. Recently we have had five confessions of neglect and sin, by mature people that wanted to be restored to the fellowship.

Plans are now being considered for a Lectureship during the early part of the new year. When in St. Catharines you will find a welcome at the church of Christ." — C. G. McPhee.

Fenwick, Ont.: Ray Miller of Windsor is scheduled for a meeting Oct. 24 - Nov. 3. A campaign with Abe Miller as speaker is being planned for June 26 - July 8, 1966. Other plans call for increased attendance at all meetings, a contribution of $140 and a V.B.S. in August.

London, Ont.: The 130 present on October 3 for Bible classes was a little short of the goal of 150. Although the meeting with Dean Clutter brought no public responses, there were many visitors and an active list of prospects has resulted.

Owen Sound, Ont.: A family has moved from this church to Hamilton, Fennell Ave. Barney Keith of Florence, Alabama is being sent up to hold a meeting here beginning on November 14.

Meaford, Ont.: On October 10 attendance was 156 and 85. Marvin MacDonald of Tintern will be here in a meeting Nov. 3-12. Dean Clutter of Ottawa is scheduled for a spring meeting.

Barrie, Ont.: Kindergarten classes are being taught at the church building each day. Workers helped in the London meeting and in the meeting at Strathmore Blvd. in Toronto. The fair booth at Barrie resulted in 32 potential home Bible studies.

Wesley Jones will be in Winnipeg, Manitoba for a meeting Nov. 7-12; Flint, Mich. Nov. 14-19 and Beamsville, Ont. Dec. 5-15.

North Bay, Ont.: One lady was baptized on September 22.

Sudbury, Ont.: The new location lends encouragement. There are now 13 members in the area.

Iron Bridge, Ont.: Four were baptized during the meeting with Bro. Jameson. Norman Weir has gone to Texas for further training.

Port Arthur, Ont.: Although the building is not entirely finished the church is meeting in it. The membership now stands at about 20.

Carman, Man.: Glen Dods of Dauphin is scheduled for a meeting October 24th and following.

Winnipeg, Man.: One placed mem-

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

OKINAWA

This report comes from Brother Joe Cannon, formerly of Toronto, who has spent the past 18 years in mission work in Japan, and more recently on the island of Okinawa.

The new church building in Naha is serving as a much-appreciated and long-needed center for the active congregation. It serves as a home for three preachers, Brethren Doi, Akamine, and Nakamura. The church office is kept open daily by Brother Nishihira, who also does translation work for Christian literature.

The building also serves as an office for a daily radio program, the Bible correspondence work, Okinawa Christian Camp, Power of God magazine, ,and the temporary office of Okinawa Christian Education Center (the Bible chair).

Weekly activities include Sunday school with seven Bible classes, morning worship, evening worship, preachers' meetings and study periods, work committee meeting, two counselling periods, midweek Bible study, and bulletin printing.

Library hours are maintained so all church members may have use of the reading room and the books. "You can see the building is being put to good use," Brother Cannon said.

His report also included this summary of the Okinawa work: "Everyone is fine and very, very busy. Since June the dedication of the Naha building took place with 127 present; Brother Doi has joined the work; two were recently baptized; we averaged 40 per night in our meeting at Naha; we had a Sunday school teachers' training program directed by Brother Nidaira from the Hitachi church in Japan; our Sunday school averages 90 per week; our VBS was held and had a high of 157 present; Brother Oshiro of the Naha congregation is off to Lubbock to study at the Sunset School of Preaching. Typhoon Jean wrecked our Bible camp after one day of operation."

Sister Cannon's father died in September at the age of 78 following a heart attack. She flew home to Henryetta, Oklahoma, for the funeral service and remained visiting her family about two weeks before returning to Okinawa. Bro. Joe Cannon had baptized his father-in-law in December, 1947, the day before he first left for Japan.

JAPAN

The annual Far East Fellowship, a gathering to which Christians all over the Orient have come to look forward for the past 10 years, is scheduled to be held at the Tachikawa, Japan, church building the week of November 21-28, the American Thanksgiving holiday week. Christians will be coming this year from Japan, Korea, China, Taiwan (Formosa), Guam, Hawaii, Okinawa, the Phillipines, Thailand, and South Vietnam.

Bro. James O. Baird, president of Oklahoma Christian College, will be the principal speaker, bringing daily messages on the theme, "The Powerful Word." Special Thanksgiving Day talks will be given by several missionaries: Kenneth Rideout, Bangkok, Thailand; Maurice Hall, Saigon, Vietnam; and Billy Smith, Ibaraki, Japan.

The United States government permits all its military personnel who desire to attend the period of Bible study and fellowship to do so, without counting it against their regular furloughs. They also provide free travel space by military aircraft when available.

PHILIPPINES

Churches in the Philippine Islands have recently suffered loss in the deaths of two most active Christian workers. Brother Gregorio was shot and killed by a bandit who robbed the small store which he operated to support his family. Only a few days later Brother Royando Sameon, gospel preacher, teacher at the Philippine Bible College, song leader at the Baguio City church, director of the college chorus, and director of the English-language Bible correspondence course with over 5,000 students enrolled, was killed along with 16 others in a bus wreck on a mountain road leading into Baguio City.

Brother Sameon was the son of Brother Santiago Sameon who has preached in the middle islands of the Phillipine archipelago since before World War II. Also surviving are his wife and five small children. Brother Gregorio also left a wife and three children, ages 4 years to 2 months.

PAKISTAN

The latest report that we have heard from the churches in Lahore, Pakistan, was dated Sept. 12 and stated that no harm had come to any Christians as a result of the recent conflict between Pakistan and India. Three days after this report was mailed, the F. M. Perry family (Bro. Perry is attached to the United States AID program), the Elder family (also attached to the United States government) and the Don Petty family (missionaries) were evacuated to Teheran, Iran. We do not know if any have been allowed to return as yet. Native Christians are carrying on with the worship services and teaching program to the best of their abilities.

The war disrupted air services and consequently mail service, and all reports are coming through at least a month after being mailed.

HAWAII

Forty persons were baptized into Christ during the evangelistic campaign just concluded by the church in Honolulu, Hawaii, assisted by five other congregations on the island of Oahu. 25 persons also were restored to active service in the church.

Brother Harold McRay of Lawton, Oklahoma, did the preaching.

Some 150 new Bible correspondence students were enrolled during the services.

portions.

Stated in simple terms, the transition from fish to reptile would give rise to hundreds of forms of life somewhere in between. Somewhere along the line the fish would have to begin growing legs. In the transition from reptile to bird, at some point the reptile had to sprout wings.

Here is where the facts of paleontology deal a fatal blow to evolution. While fossil remain of every species of life (some now extinct) have been found in the various stratum of the earth, no transitional forms between any of the major classes have been found. Dr. A. H. Clark of the Smithsonian institute, and a recognized authority on paleontology, said:

"No matter how far back we go in the fossil records of previous animal life upon the earth, we find no trace of any animal forms which are intermediate between the various major groups of the phyla. . . . .The greatest groups of animal life do not merge into one another. They are and have been fixed from the beginning . . . No animals are known, even from the earliest rocks, which cannot at once be assigned to their proper phylum or major group."

3. The theory of evolution is postulated on the assumption that the small evolved into the large. A prime example is the contention that the familiar horse of today evolved from a small rodent-like animal about the size of a house cat.

Here again the facts of paleontology have proved embarrassing. They not only fail to prove evolution from the small to the large, but there is evidence of degeneration that proves the reverse to be true. In many cases the representatives of various species of today are mere pigmies when compared with their remote ancestors.

As a case in point, there is on exhibit in the museum of arts and sciences in Exposition Park, Los-Angles, California, the skeleton of an elephant which was dug from the La Brea Tar Pits within the city limits. This famous elephant, when it lived, was fifteen feet high, —nearly twice as high as the average elephant of today. It is certain that there has been no progress from the small to the large there. The dragon-fly of today has a wing span of three to four inches. Yet fossilized specimens of this insect have been found with a wing span of eighteen inches. Time and space forbid our citing many other such examples. Paleontology offers no proof of evolution.

Other Difficulties

Evolution, as an explanation of the origin, either of the universe or of man, is unacceptable because of the many questions it poses, and for which it has no answer.

1. Regardless of how far back the evolutionist goes for his beginning point, he starts with the assumption that something was already in existence. From whence did that original something come? Evolution does not tell us.

2. Man has a mind with which he is capable of thinking and reasoning. But mind is not an attribute of matter. If man is just evolved matter, from whence came the mind? Evolution has no satisfactory answer.

3. Man has a sense of moral values that distinguishes him from the brute. From whence came this moral consciousness if he is merely an improved ape? Evolution provides no answer.

Conclusion

The Christian believes that God is the great Cause behind the universe, and the Creator of man. The Bible on which the Christian bases his faith reveals that man was made in the image of God (Genesis 1:27). This is a reasonable explanation for those attributes of man that evolution cannot explain. Thus, being based on reasonable evidence, the faith of the Christian is a reasonable faith. Evolution, based on no evidence, and contrary to all known evidence is a faith, to be sure, but not reasonable. We close this article with the admonition of the apostle Paul, addressed to his young friend, Timothy:

"O Timothy, guard that which is committed to thee, turning away from the profane babblings and oppositions of the knowledge which is falsely so called; which some professing, have erred concerning the faith" (1 Tim. 6:20,21).

INDIA LETTERS

October 15, 1965:

I wish each reader of the Gospel Herald could have been with us on Wednesday morning. One of the workers came into class with four people. Two of them I recognized as members of the MILK Colony congregation. The other two were the daughter and son in law of these members. They had come to be baptized. I dismissed the class and for about 20 minutes I instructed these two people to add to what this devoted worker had already taught them.

Then we went to the baptistry and I baptized the man and then the woman was baptized. After she was baptized I said to her "Numscaram" and she sweetly replied "numscaram" (The Lord be praised). Then we turned to face the camera. THIS WAS PENTECOST. She was the one that made 3000 since the work was begun in Madras. Already the number is wrong. There have now been 3005. The number of the disciples is changing almost daily.

I hope you are doing your share in the great work here.

The Johnsons are really doing a great work. We are sure the other family of Johnsons will do as great a work when they arrive.

J. C. Bailey

October 7, 1965:

The need for assistance in this work here is CRUCIAL! there is just too much to be done, to ever get around to it all. WE would like to have you Brethren to publish the following information and we are HOPING AND PRAYING that the brethren in Canada will respond to this great NEED!

Last week-end we made a trip to Nellor and surrounding villages. The main purpose was to (Officially) open a new prayer-shed in one of the neighbouring villages. These prayer-sheds, costing only a fraction of what we would require, are just as impressive to these brethren as ours would be. During our stay there we visited a number of other villages encouraging and trying to strengthen them in the faith. In one village the tables were turned on us. We sat nearly 30 minutes listening to an appeal, by a Brother-in-Christ, on crutches, for assistance in obtaining an "OX-CART" in order that he might be able to get around to more villages to teach his people the NEW-TESTAMENT-CHRISTIANITY. He has been striving to preach, what he believed was "New Testament Christianity" for the past seven years, and now that he has learned the truth, he is MOST ANXIOUS to be able to tell his people about it. He has NO MEANS of support, except what his own people give him. BUT, he is NOT asking for pay, but only to have an (OX-CART) in order that he can get around to MORE villages. He has been going to three villages on crutches for several years now, and plans to continue to do so, even though it is a great burden to travel on crutches so far.

This man has a college education and the price of an ox-cart, which is the general mode of travel in this rough country, would be a little over $100.00 in Canadian funds. This is only ONE of the many appeals which we receive and hear almost daily, and our work-fund is stretched so thin now, that we just can not continue to answer such pleas. We do think this man is worthy of support, and especially since he is NOT ASKING to be paid, only to have an OX-CART! A horse and cart would be much better, but this would cost an additional fifty dollars, and he will be QUITE HAPPY, if he can get an ox-cart. HE is anxious to have our correspondence courses and any other teaching he may be able to have, and is MOST ANXIOUS to know the TRUTH, in all of God's commandments. There are at least two other cases where such assistance would be an asset to the work here, and workers are continually pleading for assistance to get bicycles and petro-max lamps to facilitate their ability in the work.

To have to turn down such worthy appeals continuously for lack of ability to help, is heart-breaking to say the least. WE KNOW, there are those who WOULD HELP, IF THEY COULD, and we know there are those who COULD HELP, IF THEY WOULD! Are there those who, CAN HELP AND WILL? The total baptized in this area to date is OVER 2950. We continue to press on and PRAY THAT GOD WILL SEND US HELP! YOURS IN CHRIST, J. A. and Eva Johnson.

P. S. Please state that ALL MONIES should be sent via "Arthur H. Beamish," Ste 320, 81 Roslyn Road, Winnipeg 13, Manitoba, Canada, in U.S.A. via "Sunset" Church of Christ, 2442 W. Jefferson Blvd. DALLAS, TEXAS, 75211.

SHILLONG, INDIA

A number of young College students from other parts of India have been converted at Laitumhkrah where Ray McMillan lives. Many have gone back to their native states. One recently died. A Gospel meeting by Donald Perry ended with no conversions but a a few days later a young Hindu came to be baptized. "He will prcbably be rejected by his own people." Two college students were baptized on August 29th.

Ray McMillan would like to make a trip to other parts of India and Pakistan if finances can be arranged. He would visit and help out at some of the churches. He has a very heavy schedule with school teaching from 9-4 and visiting from 6:30-8:30 besides publishing and circulating literature.

At Mawlai, Donald Perry gave his first sermon in the Khasi tongue in August. A man from Umphowind was restored and one baptized during the month. The man baptized will be the first member at this place who is able to read. Two college students were baptized on August 22.

David Hallett went to Gauhati to visit a manager of a restaurant and bus station who had been taking correspondence studies. He had been a Hindu until 1963. David baptized him. Even before this he had been advertising at his own expense to teach others. He plans to continue the ads and to break bread by himself until he can convert others in the city. He speaks six languages. David now has 1674 enrolled in Correspondence courses and 281 finished.

FIRST SOD TURNED FOR CHURCH OF CHRIST BUILDING IN DAUPHIN

On Friday afternoon, October 8th, the local congregation of the Church of Christ, held a sod turning ceremony on their property at the corner of River Avenue and Bond Street in Dauphin. The sod turning marked the beginning of construction of their new church building, to be built by Freiheit Construction of Dauphin, with Norman E. Reimer of Winnipeg, as the architect.

The ceremony was participated in by Mayor Andy Newton, representing the town of Dauphin; Mr. A. Freiheit the contractor; Mr. Glen Dods and Mr. L. B. Williams the ministers of the congregation and Mr. William Hart, secretary-treasurer of the church. A number of church members and friends of the congregation assembled to witness this historic event.

The new building will be completed approximately by March 31, 1966 and will cost some $85,000.00 including furnishings and property.

The first sods were turned by Mayor Andy Newton, Mr. Freiheit and Mr. Glen Dods. The gold coloured shovel used by Mr. Dods was then presented to Mrs. L. P. Johnson in appreciation for her faithful efforts on behalf of the Church of Christ in Dauphin. She was the first member of the church here, having moved to Dauphin in 1946.

The congregation are very happy on this the beginning of the building of their place of worship and extend a warm invitation to the people of this area to join with them for worship whenever possible.

LEADERSHIP FORUM

There is a continuing need for the development of Church leadership, widely recognized by most brethren. The establishment and reawakening of so many congregations in Ontario has magnified this need. We are very conscious of this in the local congregation at Barrie, and we believe that the Spirit has led to a step in response to this need.

Some very able brethren have responded to our call to form a forum faculty for a study of Church leadership with mission emphasis. Conducting workshops will be Geoffrey H. Ellis, President of Great Lakes Christian College; George Snure, Minister of East Frayser Church, Memphis, Tennessee, and announced leader of Exodus-to-Toronto group; Ray Frizzell, Jr., Minister of Park Street Church, Bowling Green, Kentucky, which congregation fully supports this writer; and Carl Phagan, Minister of Mission in the West Islip, New York, Church. Delivering principle addresses will be Dwain Evans, Leader of Bay Shore Exodus, and a Minister of the West Islip Congregation; and Ira Y. Rice, Jr., long-time missionary to the Far East, now studying Mandarin at Yale University.

Special presentations will be made by Kenneth A. Galloway, Bible student and teacher from the Taylor Blvd. Church in Louisville, Kentucky; and Nelson J. Brickell, Internationally known speaker and instructor for Dale Carnegie. (Barrie businessmen will be invited to join men attending the Forum for Breakfast with Bricknell Friday morning, and everyone is invited to a supper on Thursday evening, with bro. Bricknell as the after dinner speaker).

We believe you will consider it worthwhile to take the day off from work on Friday so as to not miss any of the programme. We have arranged to borrow another Church building close to ours so as to have an expanded schedule. The auditorium of the Steele Street Public School will be used for the evening sessions.

A Mission Emphasis in all Church Leadership — In the Eldership, the Pulpit, the Business Meeting and the Classroom — will be a major consideration in this Forum. Generous opportunities will be provided for discussions, both panel and general. Owing to the nature of the programme and the very valuable addresses on Sunday, we are this time encouraging you to spend that day with us too, if possible.

HAS THE HARVEST PAST?

by Sam Tumlinson
Salmon Arm, B.C.

In Jeremiah 8:20, the prophet is weeping over the sinful condition of God's people. He says, "The harvest is past, the summer is ended and we are not saved."

During this time of the year we know that, physically speaking, the harvest is past. Crops have been gathered and stored away for the winter months ahead. But spiritually speaking, has the harvest for men's souls past? Of course we have no way of knowing when the Lord may return, but if by His grace he permits us to continue living, I believe that there is a great harvest of souls to be made in Canada in the future.

When will this harvest be ripe? "Put in the sickle, for the harvest is ripe" (Joel 3:13). "— I tell you lift up your eyes, and see how the fields are already white for harvest" (John 4:35). Brethren, now is the time for winning souls to Christ! Never before has there been a greater opportunity to do so.

But someone might say," The harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few" (Mt. 9:37). This statement is true, but it should not hinder our progress. Paul said, about thirty years after the Church was established, that the Gospel had been preached to the whole creation. Someone has said that when we brood over our problems it always insures a perfect hatch. Thus if we do little ourselves because of worry over what needs to be done, men's souls will be lost. The answer to this problem is found in the next verse: "Pray therefore the Lord of Harvest to send out laborers unto his harvest." We need to pray for more workers and work for more prayers among Christians. There is also a great work to be done in further developing and encouraging those workers who are already here.

With the help and grace of the Lord, there will be a great influx of Christian families to the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia during the next few years to help evangelize that area. This can and will happen all over Canada when we realize that the harvest is ripe. The time to further evangelize Canada is RIGHT NOW!!

COME AND HELP US ENLARGE OMAGH CAMP

SUCCESSFUL YEAR AT OMAGH CAMP

It is my pleasure to have another opportunity to report to you about Omagh Camp. In our report of last year we expressed our desire to see a more successful camp in 1965 and God has blessed us favourably with a much more successful camp this year. Will you pray and work with us in making the 1966 camp even better.

During the regular camp Bro. Ron Zavitz of Ottawa served as Director and Sis. Mary Zavitz served as Girl's supervisor etc., etc.. We thank them again for a good job done in excellent manner.

NOTICE: Ron has accepted the position of director for "1966."

The counsellors arrived at camp on Thursday for a pre-camp counsellor-training and planning session. I am asking the editors to place an article in the Christian Youth section listing those who served as counsellors this year. They are to be commended for their leadership.

The campers were privileged to attend classes each morning and were taught by capable teachers in the persons of: Ed Bryant, James Carter, Dean Clutter, Max Craddock, David Johnson, Louis Pauls, Mildred Glover and Evelyn Perry. The effects of their teaching will be long lasting I am sure.

Sister Crystal Cook served as craft teacher for the camp. She conducted classes each day in which the campers were able to make various crafts.

Camp is never complete without some cuts, bruises, colds, headaches, homesickness and broken bones. This year different people were on hand at different times to c a r e for the sick a n d wounded. Sister Barbara Sullivan served as nurse for the first two weeks; Sister Ellen Weston for the third week and Sister Grace Chan for the fourth week and Sister Evelyn Perry assisted for part-time.

Our appreciation is extended to a long list of gracious ladies who took care of the kitchen duties. Sister Jean McDuffe once again acted as head cook and was assisted by a staff of 15 ladies. This was a notable improvement over last year's operation.

The number of camper weeks increased by approximately 20% over last year with a total of 297 camper weeks. Pre-registration was a definite help to the success of the camp. Last year we set a goal of 320 for 1965. Let us aim for a goal of at least 400 for 1966. Bro Ron Zavitz will appreciate that many and more.

During the regular session of camp 12 young people confessed their faith in Christ and were baptized into his body. We sincerely hope that these babes in Christ will hold fast to the truth and be encouraged by their brethren at home.

The Mary Wiper Trophy was won by Steven Major of Florence, Kentucky and Brenda Wills of Jordan, Ontario. They were the outstanding campers for the Senior and Junior periods respectively. Other award winners were Linda Perry, Wendy Bruce, Elaine Cox and Donnie Smith.

The campers selected names for cabins and these will appear on the cabins for the 1966 camp. They are names such as Comets, Mustangs, Spartans, Trojans, Twilighters, Star Dusters, Moonsters, Fire Flies, Sundowners and Shadows.

Bro. Ralph Perry was Director of Fellowship Week again this year and planned a good week which was enjoyed by far too few pecple. The attendance didn't do justice to the planning that was done. This is an excellent week of fellowship and I'm sure you would enjoy it. Why not plan to attend in 1966 when Ralph will once again have a good program planned.

A wonderful group of young people gathered at the camp for Labour Day weekend. Bro. Marvin MacDonald acted as Director of the program and worked with Bro. Max Craddock. The young people got a bit "stuck-up" on Saturady evening at the Taffy-pull.

Plan to attend the Annual Meeting and hear some of the proposals for the future success of Omagh Camp.

This report is respectfully submitted on behalf of the Directors of Omagh Bible School Corporation who wish to thank each person who ccntributed in any way to the camp this year.

—Charles A. Cook, president.

CRESTON, B.C.

The first week of August we had a very successful Bible Camp at Kootenay Lake. Permanent name chosen is "Swan Valley Bible Camp". A frame building 20 by 40 was built with a kitchen at one end, the other part for assemblies and dining. This year we had a number of families with young children, and they stayed in tents. Most of the free time was spent swimming, boating or fishing, but one afternoon all the cars were used to take a trip across the lake on the ferry. Another day folks visited the "Haunted Shack", a tourist attraction near the camp. Classes were held outside when weather permitted. Bro. LeRoy Farris of the Sunset School was our preacher, and we hope he and his family can be with us next year.

At the present time the church here plans to start the basement for the new meeting house. It is to be by contract, and will leave us with about $1500.00 to carry on with for a building 30 by 60. Present property can be sold later to add to the fund. At this time the church has no work program planned.

GLCC CHORUS ON RADIO AND TV

Plans are being completed for the GLCC chorus to visit Barrie, on November 20 and 21. On that Saturday they will put a television programme on video tape which will be seen on channel three, Nov. 21, at 12.30, in the noon hour. A radio programme will also be recorded. The two productions will replace regular Herald of Truth TV and Christ For the World Radio from Barrie stations.

The congregation in Barrie is looking forward to hosting the chorus and also presenting them to the community in sacred and secular concerts.

BELL

Sister Eva Christina Bell, wife of Brother Skip Bell, Moose Jaw, passed away at the Providence Hospital in Moose Jaw on Aug. 30, at the age of 80 years, 9 months and 5 days. She was born in Grey county Ontario and moved with her husband to Shamrock in the early '20s where they farmed till retiring to Moose Jaw about 1955. Sister Bell is survived by three sons; Elford and Walter of Shamrock, and William of Weyburn, and one daughter Betty (Jacobs) of Swift Current, and thirteen grandchildren. Also surviving are her brothers and sisters.

Sister Bell truly carried a light with her when she moved west to a community where there was no church. Through her influence all of her children and her husband as well as her sister-in-law and her four children obeyed the Gospel and the church still carries on near where they lived for so many years. Sister Bell was the very essence of hospitality and many gospel preachers have enjoyed that hospitality. She was always interested and active in trying to teach the Gospel to others, and many Christians came to her for advice and encouragement in living the Christian life. It can be truly said, 'A great woman has passed on'.

The writer was privileged to speak a few words of encouragement to brethren and neighbors as we laid her to rest.

—Wilfred Orr

POPE

After several months of ill health, the spirit of Sister Janet Pope left the frail habitation of clay and entered into the promised rest. She was seventy-nine years old. Born at Ice Lake, she spent her early days in this community; and was married to Thomas Pope in 1910. He predeceased her in 1941. There were three children, two sons and one daughter; all remain to mourn her passing. She also leaves four brothers and three sisters.

In spite of her frail condition for many months, Sister Pope has been entertaining to visit with, and a spiritual encouragement. She has attended the meetings of the church at Ice Lake when health conditions allowed her to travel.

The writer spoke words of comfort to the bereaved; giving attention to the words of Paul: the sting of death is sin.

The remains were layed to rest in the Gordon Cemetery to wait the call on judgment morn.

WEIR

Word has just been received, that Merlyn Weir of the McNabb St. congregation in the Soo was killed in a car accident Sunday morning, Oct. 17. Indeed it is tragic when a father is called home with family responsibilities left behind; but life is only a vapor. When the mist has rolled in splendor, and we stand in the presence of God; only then will the dark things be made plain. He leave to mourn his passing, a wife, and three children. Details will appear in a later issue of the Gospel Herald.

LAKEHEAD CHURCH OPENS BUILDING

On Lord's Day, November 21, the new building at the Canadian Lakehead was formally opened. The light grey stone structure with the stone laid in a rough shadow-stone pattern, is located on Edward and Redwood Streets, Fort William. The auditorium will seat about 220, with seating for about 170 presently installed. Nine classrooms, a nursery, a study and the auditorium are on the main floor. The building has a full basement although only part of this will be utilized at present. Part of the basement does not have its cement floor as yet.

Bro. Michael Bachuk of Hamilton, Ontario, was the builder. He did a tremendous job of providing about 10,000 feet of floor space for a little over $52,000 including funiture. This has saved the congregation thousands of dollars and has enabled it to move into a building which will be adequate for years to come. In addition to the cost of the building itself, $5000 was spent on a two-acre lot situated on a new expressway between the two cities at the Lakehead. Of this sum there is an indebtedness to the bank for $3,500.

The Hillcrest congregation in Abilene, Texas, has been of tremendous assistance. They sold bonds in Abilene to finance the building and commited themselves to an outright gift of $18,000 over a three year period. Words cannot express the gratitude of the Lakehead congregation for this generosity.

A debt of gratitude is also felt to all others who have assisted. A considerable number of Canadian brethren have contributed financial help or labour in this building effort.

Bro. Murray Hammond of the Osborne Street congregation in Winnipeg was the speaker for a four-day evangelistic meeting following the formal opening.

There were three baptisms at the Lakehead during the month before the formal opening of the building. Two of these were people contacted at the booth in the Lakehead Exhibition display.

ON MAKING PEACE WITH GOD

Troy R. Warren,, Toronto

"WE PRAY YOU IN CHRIST'S STEAD, BE YE RECONCILED TO GOD." II Corinthians 5:20. Paul here is making plain the Christian's responsibility to tell others to make peace with God. Not, as we might suppose, that God is to make peace with us, but that men should be reconciled to God'. The inference is that men have brought about the problem of being at war with God, and that God has done his part by sending Jesus into the world. Now, therefore, the obligation is upon mankind. Make peace with God; be reconciled to him!

But why? Why is it neccesary for man to make peace with God? What has man done that is so terrible? These questions deserve an answer from God's Word.

Separation

Isaiah told Israel of old why they were separated from God. "BEHOLD, JEHOVAH'S HAND IS NOT SHORTENED, THAT IT CANNOT SAVE; NEITHER HIS EAR HEAVY THAT IT CANNOT HEAR: BUT YOUR INQUITIES HAVE SEPARATED BETWEEN YOU AND YOUR GOD, AND YOUR SINS HAVE HID HIS FACE FROM YOU, SO THAT HE WILL NOT HEAR." Isaiah 59:2.

The God of heaven is a God of justice, and he will not tolerate sin. He will walk with a person who is not a sinner, but those who sin separate themselves from Him. The problem is that All have sinned. "THERE IS NONE RIGHTEOUS, NO NOT ONE." Rom. 3:9. "FOR ALL HAVE SINNED AND FALL SHORT OF THE GLORY OF GOD." Romans 3:23. Because of having been imperfect, all men have separated themselves from God, and there are none who do not need to be reconciled to Him.

Good Men

Everyone knows some good men whom they have even watched closely, almost trying to detect some imperfection, and yet finding none. What about these people? Do they need to be reconciled to God? Paul answered this by saying, "There is none righteous, no, not one."

No Longer In Sin

Some have lived very sordid lives in the past, but have seen the error of their way, and now live a life of respectability and honesty. Others were only moderately involved in sin, and have turned to the better life. What is their position now in God's sight?

The lack of sin now present does not remove the guilt of past sins. Some people comfort themselves by saying that they no longer sin as they once did, but while this is admirable and good, it is not the complete answer to the problem.

"NOT BY WORKS DONE IN RIGHTEOUSNESS, WHICH WE DID, BUT ACCORDING TO HIS MERCY HE SAVED US, THROUGH THE WASHING OR REGENERATION AND THE RENEWING OF THE HOLY SPIRIT." Titus 3:5. We are not able to be 'good' enough to save ourselves. It is by grace and according to God's mercy, and through a process of renewal known as regeneration or rebirth. This rebirth includes a washing and a work of the Holy Spirit. It is as Jesus explained in John 3:5 - "EXCEPT ONE BE BORN OF WATER AND THE SPIRIT, HE CANNOT ENTER INTO THE KINGDOM OF GOD."

Any person who has overcome a large problem of habitual sin is to be congratulated, but he should seek to overcome the eternal result of his sins by seeking to find the way to apply the blood of Christ to his soul.

The Way, The Truth, and The Life

"JESUS SAITH UNTO HIM, I AM THE WAY, AND THE TRUTH, AND THE LIFE: NO ONE COMETH UNTO THE FATHER BUT BY ME." John 14:6.

Taught of God

"NO MAN CAN COME TO ME, EXCEPT THE FATHER THAT SENT ME DRAW HIM: AND I WILL RAISE HIM UP IN THE LAST DAY. IT IS WRITTEN IN THE PROPHETS, AND THEY SHALL ALL BE TAUGHT OF GOD. EVERY ONE THAT HATH HEARD FROM THE FATHER AND HATH LEARNED, COMETH UNTO ME." John 6:44,45. Study God's word for your self! Then make peace with Him!

'RESPONSE' TO THE 'INVITATION'

We have recently seen a number of articles about responses, numbers and the significance of restorations. It is charged that the numbers of those coming forward are being reported for numbers' sake and that response to the invitation does not have the good solid importance that it once did.

The "invitation" song is not commanded, neither is there a New Testament example. If we are to justify it by Scripture we will have to reach into that no-man's land of "necessary inference." I think most of us would rather leave it in the realm of human judgment. As such, we should treat it with reference to the age of the great revivals in which it was invented. There are other ways of inviting people to Christ — some of them far more effective. Once we come to this conclusion we will quit treating the "invitation" song as a "sacred cow" and become more objective.

By the same reasoning we can arrive at some other important conclusions: why invite just those who want to be baptized, and those who have been "overtaken in a fault?" Sometimes there is very poor logic in this. We preach for thirty or forty minutes on giving and then invite people to be baptized. Assuming we have taught the audience something about giving, why not invite them to give? If our lesson has been on the cross, why not invite them to take the Lord's supper?

Re-Committment

If the sermon is planned on the cost of discipleship, why not plan to invite the audience to commit or re-commit themselves to Christ? Is not the Christian life a series of committments?

We have recently thrilled to see dedicated Christians, elders, experienced preachers, effective evan-

WHAT IS A CHRISTIAN?

Donald R. Givens, Coalinga, Calif.

Actually what is a Christian? What makes one a Christian? How can one identify a Christian? These are important questions we desire to answer from God's Holy Word in this short article. After we have seen clearly what a Christian is, a following article will give reasons for becoming a Christian.

The word "Christian" is used extensively in our present age. It is applied to many things; we speak of a "Christian nation," a "Christian people," a "Christian idea." Is this actually the proper usage of the term? If one looks at how the New Testament uses the word "Christian" he will find that it is always used as a noun and never as an adjective. Christian is found three times in the New Testament. In Acts 11:26; "and that disciples were called Christians first in Antioch." Again it is found in Acts 26.28; "And Agrippa said unto Paul, With but little persuasion thou wouldst fain make me a Christian." And the word is found for the third and last time in I Peter 4:16; "but if a man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God in this name." Yes, the word Christian is a name. But a name for what or whom? for the disciples of the Lord, those who obey him, as shown by the above verses. Now, do we have a right to use the term "Christian" in any other way than that used by the inspired writers of the New Testament?

Now that we have seen that only the followers of Christ and the doers of His will can be called Christians, may we see exactly what a Christian is.

First, the REDEMPTION of an individual makes him a Christian. Redemption means a "ransom, rescue, release or deliverance." The Christian has been ransomed, rescued, released and delivered from the darkness of sin. As a prisoner released from the confines of his jail-cell, so the Christian has been released from the pits of iniquity. But remember that a released convict can again commit a crime and be put right back into the jail-cell. So may the child of God fall from grace and go back into sin. I Cor. 10:12 and Galatians 5:4 and many passages prove this.

We can read a vivid description of the redemption of the Christian in I Peter 1:13-25. In these verses we see that he is a child of obedience. He respects and obeys the voice of God in every walk of life. The Christian puts away his opinions and follows unhesitatingly the commands of Jehovah. The Christian is holy in all manner of living. He lives by a high standard which is the inspired Word of God. He leaves the things of the fleshly world because he has been redeemed by the blood of Jesus Christ. The soul of the child of God has been purified and he should keep it entirely free from all the taints of of the sinful world.

In the second place, the CONSECRATION of an individual identifies him as a Christian. I Peter 2:1-10 explains to what the Christian is dedicated. ALL hypocrisy, guile, envies and evil-speakings are put away. That is, they are mortified or destroyed completely from the life of the redeemed. The child of God does not in any way participate, desire or condone these vices. On the positive side - he certainly does desire or long for the spiritual milk of the Word. He hungers and thirsts for the instruction from Jehovah. Anyone who has no desire to GROW spiritually, is certainly not Christ-like. The Christian is heard reading and studying the Bible; he is heard praying daily and he is seen walking continually in paths of righteousness. His feet are never found in the place of sinners, and he is never ashamed to stand up for Jesus though the whole world may be against him.

Our whole life is devoted to the service of God if we are true Christians. EVERYTHING we do — is with God uppermost in our mind and first in our considerations. Every chance or opportunity the Christian has to glorify God — he does exactly that. He refrains as entirely as humanly possible, from ever casting shame or reproach on the Holy Name of Jehovah the Almighty God.

The Christian is a redeemed and a consecrated individual. Why should anyone not want to become and remain a Christian? We can be redeemed and cleansed exactly as they were in the New Testament period. They became Christians then, and we can too by doing the very same thing. BUT only if we perform the SAME acts as they did. We cannot do something different today than the first Christians did — and still expect to become Christians as they were. We today should and must do the very same thing as the three-thousand did on Pentecost day. Believe, repent, and be buried in baptism and continue stedfastly in the apostle's teaching, breaking of bread and prayers. Read Acts the second chapter and see how they became children of God, read how Paul became one and read all of the conversions in the book of Acts and then become a Christian in the SAME way that they did. Remember, if you do something different than they did — you will be something different than they were. Whenever and wherever the Word of God (seed) is planted . . . it will produce Christians, and only Christians. Just as apple seed can never produce oranges, the Word of God when planted in the hearts of individuals, shall never produce sectarians — but only Christians.

My friend, if you desire to be a child of God, born anew into the Kingdom of our Saviour — then do exactly as those individuals did in the early days of the church.

If a millionaire, such as Rockefeller, were to come personally up to you and say, "He that believeth and is baptised will receive from me one-million-dollars," . . . what would you do? Honestly, what acts would you perform in order to obtain that vast sum? Would you claim that belief was enough, and then ask for your $1,000,000? Do you think for a moment that you would get it? Then, why do this when it comes to the saving of your precious soul? Why not obey

LESSONS FROM DEMONSTRATIONS

Shocking demonstrations have been conducted in the last few months which have made thinking people wonder what is wrong with society. Marches, sit-ins, stonings of representative buildings and open violence have flared up in a wide variety of places. These are symptomatic of a great unrest.

Recently two young Americans, one a Quaker and one a Roman Catholic, burned themselves as a protest against participation in Viet Nam. Earlier some Buddhists had set the example in this horrible method of making a protest. This is the ultimate in demonstration for a cause to which any individual can attain. Paul uses this form of death, although not self-inflected, to picture the ultimate in sacrifice (1 Cor. 13:3). Revolting, horrible, gruesome, though it may be, such self-immolation focuses attention on the problem that concerns the demonstrator.

We do not endorse the bulk of this present wave of demonstrations. Too often they represent an infringement on human rights even when crying out for recognition of freedom and equality for all. It seems that communism has been successful in infiltrating the ranks of the various organizations which have a leading part in the protests. Well-meaning people are used cunningly as dupes to further chaos and anarchy while crying liberty.

One great lesson stands out in a survey of the forces behind these demonstrations. These people care and care deeply. They are not content to be mere attendants or spectators. Nothing short of participation and action will suffice. If this brings sacrifice, then sacrifice will be accepted.

Christianity was meant to be characterized by demonstration. Not the violent, shouting, jostling and stone-throwing type was intended, but a quiet repetition of great convictions, aims and hopes. These were to be accompanied by a demonstration of these ideals in transformed lives.

The Author of our faith summed this up beautifully with word pictures: "Ye are the light of the world. A city set on a hill cannot be hid. Neither do men light a lamp, and put it under the bushel, but on the stand; and it shineth unto all that are in the house. Even so let your light shine before men; that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father who is in heaven" (Matt. 5:14-16).

The Christian in the earliest days of the church could even resort to civil disobedience when attempts were made to infringe on God's will. Peter could reply to the demand from the Jerusalem authorities for silence: "We cannot but speak the things which we saw and heard" (Acts 4:20), and again, "We must obey God rather than men (Acts 5:29). Since that time thousands upon thousands of sincere followers of Christ have died with similar expressions upon their lips. This is faith demonstrated in a time of testing.

Shaggy-haired, unkept, misled protesters of our era are just a caricature of what noble Christians could be and do in a demonstration for righteousness. If the same zeal, energy and concern were put into the battle against corruption, pornography, drunkenness, error and materialism, what a force there would be for a better world. If Christians could and would be concerned enough, their lives could demonstrate what Christ can do for men and society. The preserving quality of salt, the enlightening effect of a spiritual lamp and the attractive qualities of the City of God would be noticed and admired by a culture desperately in need of positive values.

Christian, have you demonstrated your faith positively and emphatically lately? Are your convictions showing? Are you satisfied with the status quo of a world of sin? Begin now to be a doer and not just a hearer. Be one of those who care enough to act.

TEACHING GOD'S WORD

TEACHING EARLY TEENS

David Carruthers
Educational Director,
Church of Christ
Barrie, Ont.

(This is a part of a lesson delivered at Christian Fellowship Week at Omagh 1965)

Why do we teach?

A story is told of a group of Bible class teachers who gathered in the main auditorium of a church building to hear a lecture about being more effective teachers.

As the room became quiet, the speaker for the evening rose up and in a loud and serious voice said, "Why are you teaching?" The auditorium remained quiet as if they expected him to give the answer — he didn't. He continued to stare at them and when he saw he was getting no respense he once again asked the question, "Why are you teaching?"

Finally one small man broke the silence and stated why he was teaching. This led others to repeat and add to his answer. Each time the lecturer would say, "Yes, I think that's part of it."

All during this time the preacher of this group was in deep thought. Finally a grin crossed is face. He was saying to himself that he would let all the other teachers give their answers and then when he thought that they had finished, he would stand and give the correct one.

The answers continued to flow. Each time the teacher of this class would say, "Yes, that's part of it."

Finally, there was complete silence. The preacher stood and commenced to give his detailed answer. When he had finished and felt that the visiting speaker was satisfied — he sat down.

"Yes, that's part of it" — was the reply once again.

This was too much! Everyone now had their ears pricked and their eyes glued on the speaker.

Quietly, but with a firm voice the speaker said, "You and I are teaching because CHRIST IS NOT HERE". How can we expect to be Christ-like of we do not teach? Jesus did other things sometimes. He taught all of the time. He was called a teacher almost constantly, evidently with his approval. He trained his apostles to teach and in Acts we have a record of their teaching throughout the world.

Today, we are supposed to discuss the teaching of the "Early Teens". Before we can do this, we must find out who they are. They are what we call Junior High students, those that take in Grades 7, 8, 9. In large church groups they are known as Intermediates. Their ages are 12, 13 and 14. If this is all we know about them, then we're in trouble. Someone might say — "Oh, I know them better than that! Mary in my class is very quiet, Tom is noisy, John always has his work done, and Jane doesn't pay much attention".

But is this enough? — of course not. This is the first step but it should go much farther than that. Find out the reason why these things are happening. Why is this a troublesome age for the teenager and for teachers and parents.

Much has been said about the characteristics of a good Bible teacher.

We know: 1. A genuine Christian.
2. Knows the Bible
3. Is well prepared.
4. Is enthusiastic

There are two characteristics that I would like to deal with specially. The first is that the Bible teacher teaching your early teens should know how to teach. If he doesn't, he shouldn't be trying to teach the class. This idea of giving a class to someone to teach in order that the teacher might grow is not good. We would be the first to complain if the School Boards of our cities hired teachers in order that they might become better citizens.

A good Bible class teacher must know how to teach. He may know thoroughly a great body of Christian truth, may know well the pupils their needs and possibilities. He may understand which particular truths the pupils he is to teach need and can use.

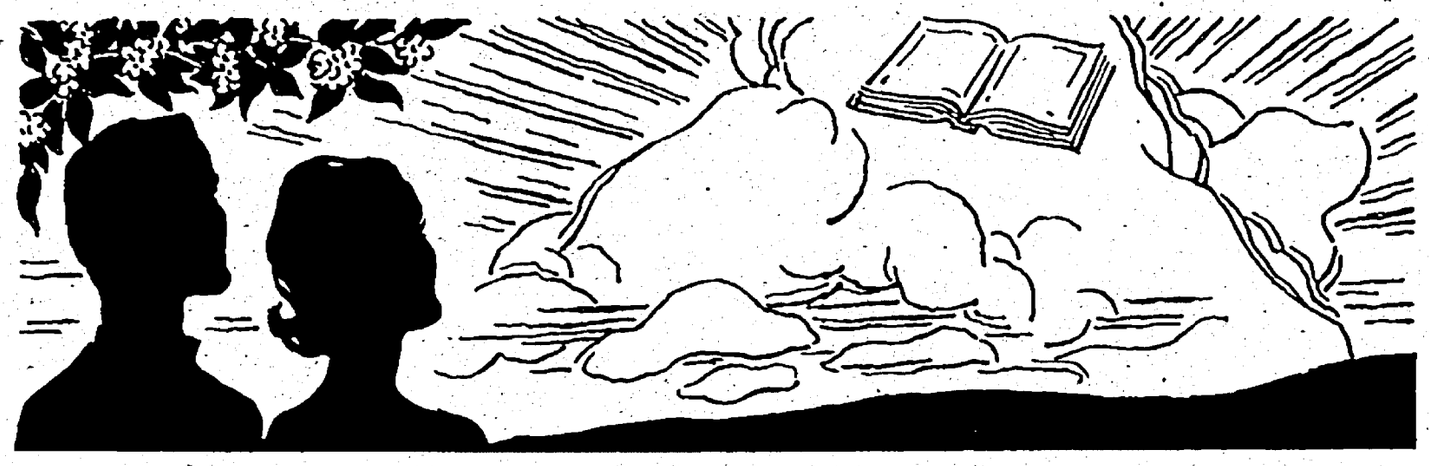
—But - if he does not know how to present these truths in such a manner as to enable the pupil to understand them, and if he does not know how to guide them in such a way as to cause them to feel and act on the basis of truth, he is not prepared to teach.

So a teacher must know how to teach — especially teenagers.

The second characteristic is that we as teachers must really know our students. I believe that this problem is THE PROBLEM—when it comes to the "Early Teenagers." We don't understand why they act the way they do because we haven't bothered to try to find an answer. Getting to know them means getting to know their likes and dislikes, their wants and desires, what their parents are like, how they get along in school, etc.

Know your students and half your battle is over. Maybe buy a psychology book. Visit homes, write letters, telephone. We must realize the physical, mental, social and spiritual problems they encounter. A survey was taken one time to find out why teenagers attend Bible classes. Here are the 5 most used answers.

*Why do teenagers attend?



1. Parents take,
2. Habit,
3. Friends there,
4. Learn more about Christ,
5. Like the teacher.

A teacher is very important in the church if nothing else he is a drawing card.

To be a teacher in the church must mean vastly more than to meet a class of pupils on the Lord's day to ask a few questions, listen to answers and to impart a little in-

THE AGE OF CHALLENGE

Man has always been confronted with challenge. There was a time when the challenge involved sailing in uncharted waters for a new world, all the while being warned by the skeptical that fate would lead them over the edge of a "flat world". Then came the time when the challenge was to leave family and friends and sail for the New World, plant your roots in an untamed land. Later, there was the challenge to strike out from the east and head to the west — land of hardship, heartache, and at the same time, wealth and all the fertile land a man could care for.

Our world, compared with the challenges of the past, may seem a little tame now, but there is no reason in the world why it should! If ever any people lived in the age of challenge it is the people of today, it is you! The challenge of crime has never been greater. The challenge of conquest has never been more real. The challenge of science has never been more spectacular. And the challenge of Christianity has never been more evident than it is at this very moment!

Probably not since the earliest days of Christianity have God's people put on a more concentrated drive to spread simple New Testament Christianity! And it is the young people that are carrying the bulk of the load! Several of your editor's personal acquaintances from days at Great Lakes Christian College are now well trained and fully qualified professional people that have moved to places where the church has just been established, and are serving their Lord effectively. Many of them (and many others that I do not know personally) are teaching in the public schools and lending a godly influence in their communities. Here is a tremendous challenge to all young people who may never go into full time preaching. Go where the church is young, and work HARD to build it up! It won't be a challenge like climbing a mountain, or crossing a desert. . .it will be a greater challenge, and a much more rewarding one! — R.L.M.

OUR TEENAGE WORLD

by Bonita McCready
Knoxville, Tennessee

Our teenage world is adventurous and exciting. We have gay and sad times together. For a teenager, this world is a challenge. We meet new problems. We may have hard problems, but with God's help, we can solve them.

As teenagers, we have many responsibilities. We have not only physical responsibilities, but spiritual responsibilities as well. We are also responsible for the actions that we take.

If a teenager hopes to be a great success in life, he or she must also have a great personality. Our personality means a great deal to us if we wish to have others care for us and to gain good friendships with others.

A teenager is recognized by this world as a person who is always in trouble. Many people say this is a result of just a few teenagers who are insecure and seem to stay in trouble. This should present a challenge to all teenagers.

As teenagers, we should be thankful to all the many people who have encouraged and helped us in this challenging world to live a more pleasing life. We must always look to God for guidance, and through God, we, as teenagers, will be able to face the future, whatever it may be, with a Christian heart and a Christian attitude.

WHAT CHRIST MEANS TO ME AS A CHRISTIAN GIRL

By Carolynne Barnes
Vancouver, B.C.

(Ed. Note: This article comes as the result of an assignment made to the teen-age girls class of the South Burnaby church of Christ. We commend highly the teacher that took the trouble to make such an assignment; and we especially commend our young sister for the fine thoughts presented in her article. It deserves our careful meditation.)

Christ means many things to many people but to me He stands for peace of mind. Everyone has problems which they cannot solve. Some tell psychiatrists but as they are only human and liable to make mistakes this is not the best method to clear up one's problems and achieve peace of mind. But we are fortunate in that having Christ as our mediator our problems will be solved. Christ has lived on earth with people like ourselves and he is capable of giving the best solution. We have at our disposal the best of psychiatrists. In the Bible is promised to us "the peace which passeth all understanding" such as John 14:27 "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you. . ." and John 16:33 "These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. . ."

With Christ to guide us we have nothing to worry about. The world is plagued by doubts and fears such as money matters, a possible hereafter, sin, and their own safety. But as Christians we should be at peace because of all the promises in the Holy Word which can be ours if only we will take advantage of them. Peter says in 1 Peter 5:7 "Cast. . .all your care upon Him for He careth for you." While others are worrying where their next meal

FIGHTING OBSCENE LITERATURE

Floyd Lord, Toronto

Recently, one of my fellow Gospel preachers, asked me what I thought about nudist magazines being offered for public sale. His question brought to light the problem of all obscene literature available to the general public.

A cursory observation of almost any magazine rack in the neighborhood reveals that obviously obscene literature occupies a great part of the display. It has been made fairly clear by the magazine vendors that they are not going to remove such trash from their stock. Further, they have made clear that they are not willing even to discriminate as to youngsters buying such trash.

What can the Christian do about it? We are concerned about the general public, ourselves, and especially our children. As far as removal of obscene literature from public sales, we are presently in a loosing battle. However, all things are possible for Christ to do. Hence, for now, pray — pray hard and long that morality will prevail in this struggle.

There is more we can do, too. We can provide good literature in our homes. The Bible should occupy a major place in the home, both in use and display. Children ought to be encouraged to take just a few minutes every day, perhaps along with their regular school lessons, to look at their Sunday Bible lessons. Subscribe to such magazines as the TEENAGE CHRISTIAN for your children.

Do you take a "Gospel" paper, such as the GOSPEL HERALD? Do you read it regularly? Do you encourage your children to read the columns regularly provided for their age group? Do you subscribe to other publications by the brethren that provide good wholesome reading on a regular basis?

Every Christian ought to develop the habit of buying and reading good books. There is good healthy literature of a secular nature, such as books of poetry, good prose, etc. We ought to place in our budgets at least an equal amount for books on religious themes, too. There are study books on Biblical fields of archeology, commentaries, etc. There are books of Biblical fiction. Every Christian home ought to have some of these books in it.

We cannot remove trashy literature from public sight, perhaps, but we can see to it that our sights are set far above it!

WHICH WAY ARE WE GOING?

Ray L. Miller, Windsor

One thing this writer has always found enjoyable is the exchange of "church" bulletins. How much people enjoy receiving mine is a matter not too easy to discern; but it is my pleasure to receive a number each week or month from several areas in the United States and Canada. Among other things, one interesting aspect of this intellectual, international swap society of church news and preachers' views is the wide degree of variance in the attitudes of those that publish the bulletins.

It seems our brotherhood is characterized by men with attitudes and moods as wide apart as the "Poles". On the one hand we are told that the church of our Lord is going, glowing, and growing. Reports of successes in Campaigns and Gospel Meetings herald an "extention of the borders"; and at the same time the co-operation and willingness to work on the part of most of the brethren seems to indicate that we are ceasing to be "hoarders" of God's Word. Great things are happening! The church is on the march!

But, lo! other bulletins tell a different story altogether! We are given to believe that our steps are backward, not forward. That a suppression of this digression is all that will save us from certain destruction. Pessimistic prophets are calling out warnings of terrible doom ahead. We are told, "smooth talkers are sowing discord among brethren. The church is headed for disaster!"

Which way are we going? So far as the "fore telling" aspect is concerned, this writer is neither a prophet, nor the son of a prophet. It would seem, however, that progress is the order of the day — though not nearly as much as we would like to see. While there will always be a need for different opinions and attitudes, we wonder if the panic button should be pushed whenever someone has an opinion that does not fit into our mold exactly.

Yes, it's true that according to Peter, God's people are to be "peculiar", but brethren, how is that word to be defined, gelists walk down the aisle during an "invitation" song. Some of them came to commit their lives to mission fields. Some of them came to make committments known only to them and God. But each of them came with a decisive action by which he said, "I am letting more of myself go to the direction of God's Holy Spirit."

A fine preacher here in Ontario recently wrote me, saying we do not have enough people who will act on their good intentions! How true. Coming forward does not necessarily mean that people are going to do more or better. But then coming forward to be baptized does not necessarily mean that one is going to heaven. There must be a beginning point — yea, there must be many beginnings, again and anew. —L. Wesley Jones

WHAT IS A CHRISTIAN?

Mark 16:16 and receive the greatest blessing possible — the saving of your soul for all eternity? This far, far, outweighs a million or even a billion dollars! Remember, only children of God, those obedient to His Holy Word, will inherit the mansions in the sky! If you desire to go to heaven — then you desire to become and remain a Christian.

? Your Questions Answered

Questions to be answered on this page should be sent to Keith T. Thompson, Box 403, Beamsville, Ont.

Once a congregation has elders does the congregation then have no further say in the business of the church?

Acts 15:22 reads "Then it seemed good to the apostles and the elders, with the whole church, to choose men from among them and send them to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas." Note the words "with the whole church" in this verse. Obviously the whole church had a part in the deliberations that resulted in this decision.

I would say that wise elders will keep the congregation informed of their activities. They will also consult the members of the congregation to find out its views on any matter. Periodically, it would be wise for the elders to invite all the brethren to a business meeting.

Do elders have the right to make decision independent of the congregation?

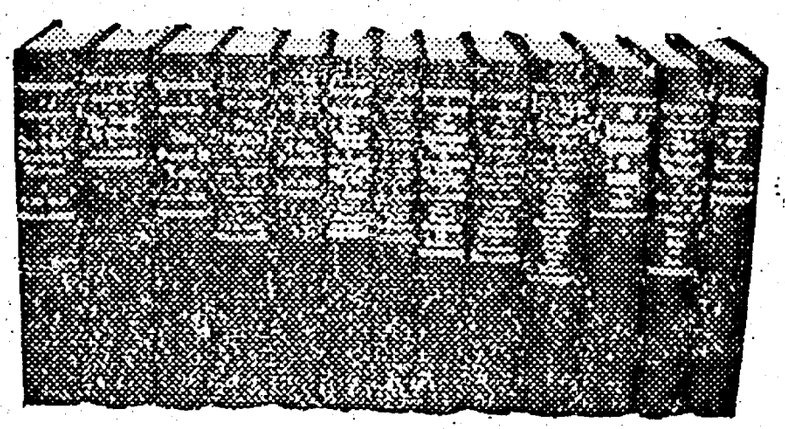
Hebrews 13:17 says that the elders "rule" and 1 Peter 5:2 uses the term "oversight" regarding their position in the congregation.

God has given elders the responsibility of governing the church. They must be courageous and faithful in their work. The church is not a democracy in which all of the members have equal vote. Christ is the head. He has ordained that elders rule in the local church.

But elders are not to be tyrants. They must not be dictators or popes. They must not be cruel and heartless. (see 1 Pet. 5:3).

Someone has said "He rules well who serves his people best." Christ said "I am not come to be ministered unto, but to minister." While most people are willing to be led, few will be driven. The good elder will not let his authority go to his head.

LONDON, ONTARIO



"We reached 138 in Bible school on October 17th. This is an all time high. Our goal of 150 is in sight as we have over 160 now enrolled.

"There were no visible results in our meeting with Dean Clutter of Ottawa preaching. Quite a few good contacts were made and some are seriously considering obeying the gospel.

"Ed Bryant, Larry Fort, Marvin MacDonald, and Louis Pauls assisted in door-to-door work during the first week of the meeting. Wesley and Beverley Jones of Barrie and three "faith corps" workers, Tom and Carolyn Blake and Shirley Campbell, also of Barrie, were here for two days. Most of the work was Bible school and V.B.S. follow-up work. Never before have we been able to do this properly. We are indebted to these folks and the churches from which they come for this excellent assistance.

'We are in desperate need of more teachers and now a classroom addition on our new building. Assistance in securing good employment will be given to anyone seeking to move to London for the Lord. One of our members is a supervisor in the employment office."

World Aflame by Billy Graham, Doubleday Publishers, 267 pages, $4.75 (Price in Canada).

The November 15 issue of the United Church Observer accuses Billy Graham of "waffling". Apparently the editor of that journal had some doubts about Graham's theological position. He thought that Graham had liberal tendencies. But now that "World Aflame" is available he can see that its author is a literalist. The United Church editor not only attacks Graham's theology, but his character as well. He writes, "Apparently he has retreated into the literalism of his childhood — he gets more converts that way. More money too!"

In the Introduction author Graham states, "The more I have traveled around the world the more convinced I have become that the Biblical revelation of man, his origin, his present predicament, and his destiny is true. . . . As a Christian, I am under no obligation to attempt to reconcile the Bible's teachings with modern philosophy. Biblical truth does not parallel human opinion of any generation; it usually opposes it! We are to be witnesses, not imitators. The prophets who spoke to their generations for God did not please and conform; they irritated and opposed."

The book reviews the great doctrines of the faith — sin, revelation, redemption, the deity of Jesus, the second coming, the judgment, heaven and hell. We are able to say "Amen" to the basic principles set forth in this book. Unfortunately, we must add a word of dissent. While we generally agree with what Billy Graham says, we find our disagreement with what he doesn't say. Though he goes far in applying Biblical teaching, we fear that he does not go far enough. For instance in the chapter on "The Possibility of the New Man" he stresses the need for the new birth. He quotes verse 7 of John 3 that "Ye must be born again." But he never even refers to verse 5 which shows what is involved in being born again.

You can read this book with profit. But you may find yourself praying that this able man will yet come to declare the whole counsel of God.

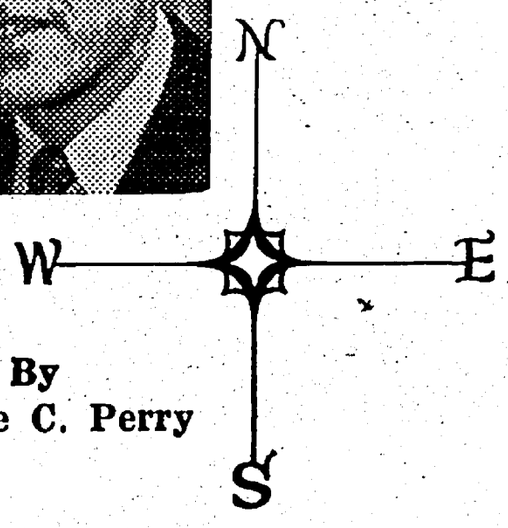
BIBLE QUIZ

II Timothy 2:15; 3:16, 17

The Bible is God's Word. It is the meat and drink of the spiritual life. Christians need to study it daily. These questions will help to indicate something of how effective your study has been.



THE BIBLE AND BENEVOLENCE

1. What similar benefit did both Ruth and Jesus and his disciples enjoy under the Mosaic terms of beneficence?
2. True or False: In addition to the Levite, the following groups could share in the tithe: Gentiles (sojourner), widows, orphans.
3. Under Moses' Law, did God place benevolence on a par with obedience?
4. Does Jesus command us to respond to the beggar and the borrower?
5. To whom did Jesus say, "If you will be perfect, go sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven"?
6. According to Jesus in Matthew 25: 35-45 what is the very highest honour that can come to a Christian in helping the poor?
7. Complete: "He who has .... let him give to him that has none."
8. The men chosen to administer to the widows' need in the early Jerusalem church in order to free the apostles were not inferior men. Give two of the three qualifications required.
9. What quality is necessary to validate any act of benevolence, according to Paul in I Cor. 13:1?
10. What was the specific object of the weekly giving enjoined by Paul on the Corinthians in I Cor. 16:1-3?

ANSWERS: 1. Ruth, Gleaning grain, Deut. 24:19; Jesus picking grain. 2. True, Deuteronomy 14:28, 29. 3. Yes, Isa. 58: 6-11; Ezek. 18:5-9. 4. Yes, Matt. 5:42. 5. The rich young ruler, Mt. 19:21. 6. The privilege of doing good unto Jesus personally, Mt. 25: 40. 7. Two coats, Lk. 3:11. 8. Honest reputations, full of the Holy Spirit, very wise, Acts 6:3. 9. Love. 10. To help the poor saints at Jerusalem, Cf. Rom. 15:25-27.

GLEANINGS FROM FOREIGN FIELDS

FORMOSA

Seventeen persons were baptized into Christ during a short four-night gospel meeting conducted Sept. 30 to Oct. 4 in the city of Taipei, Formosa (Taiwan). The preaching was done by Bro. Ernie Gill, formerly of West Islip, New York, who was en route to Perth, Western Australia, where he will work full time with the church.

Brother and Sister Gill were baptized in France some years ago by Bro. Maurice Hall, who came from Saigon, South Viet Nam, for a reunion with them.

JORDAN

One was baptized recently in the Jordan River by Bro. Dick Biggs of Jerusalem, following two months of home studies with the man and his family. Bro. Biggs reports the work in Ramallah off to a good start. Meetings began there Oct. 1, and the building is filled each time the doors are opened. A five-night gospel meeting which averaged 57 in attendance each night opened the new work in that city.

ITALY

World Radio, Italy, began a 15-minute weekly gospel broadcast Oct. 19 over the 50,000 watt shortwave transmitter of Radio Luxembourg. The program is heard throughout Italy each Tuesday from 8.15 to 8.30 p.m.

The speaker is Bro. Fausto Salvoni of Milan. Prior to his conversion in 1951, Brother Salvoni was a Catholic priest for more than 20 years. For several years he taught Hebrew, Greek, Bible and theology in Milan's Catholic University. He now preaches in Milan and is head of the church of Christ Bible Chair at Milan University.

Production of the manuscripts is under the direction of Bro. Gian Sciotti. Bro. Renato Rappo of Venenza will serve as announcer.

The Italian program is the sixth foreign-language broadcost begun by the White's Ferry Road Church of Christ, West Monroe, Louisiana, in the past 11 months.

JAPAN

Three were baptized during a gospel meeting which closed Oct. 10 at the Ooiwa church in Shizuoka City, Japan. Bro. Elmer Prout preached. Bro. Takao Kondo works regularly with the congregation.

One of those baptized was a young lady who first contacted Christianity through a Bible class held in the home of one of the church members several years ago. She had not attended the class for years, but advertisements for the meeting combined with memories of her Sunday school days led her to come, determined to obey the gospel. The other two baptized were a brother and sister from a Christian family, and their baptism marked the addition of another complete family to the church.

NEW YORK

With the Oct. 17 closing of the New York World's Fair, one of the biggest teaching projects ever undertaken by a small congregation of the church came to an end — but only in one phase. Follow-up work from the booth sponsored at the fair by the Queens congregation in Flushing will continue indefinitely.

An estimated 1.8 million visitors visited the exhibit of the churches of Christ during the two year fair. At least 505 persons were baptized as a direct result of contacts made there. Over 1,000,000 pieces of teaching material were distributed to persons who asked for them. So many Bible correspondence courses were distributed (27,065 persons enrolled in such courses), that those working on grading the papers at the fair report lessons still coming in at the rate of more than 1,000 per week. 93,162 persons viewed the 30-minute film, "What Is Christianity?"

Exhibit visitors included persons from nearly every country in the world.

The display and equipment used in the exhibit are now dismantled, crated and stored for future use. The entire exhibit is available for similar events and can be rented from the Queens church for the cost of maintaining it. All teaching materials will be reprinted (none were left at the close of the fair) and will be available soon.

GREECE

The Aeropagus, Greece's highest court, has declared null and void a former government decision against the church of Christ, and the Greek Council of State is thus granting official recognition to the church in Greece. The decision was handed down Nov. 1.

Until the reversal, the church of Christ was considered an illegal organization in Greece.

INDIA

I Attended An Immersion

On Tuesday (October 5th) I went with my family to an immersion ceremony. Many other people also went. In fact, the local newspaper here in Shillong, Assam, India, estimates there were 60,000 people there. And there was not only one immersion but some 120. However, it is sad to report that these were not immersions into Christ. This was a Hindu religious ceremony.

This grand immersion ceremony ended the Durga Puja, the big Hindu annual religious celebration. During this Puja there is general celebrations and gift giving. Some aspects of the season are similar to the Christmas celebrations of some Christians. The celebrations differ in different parts of India. In general there is a representation of the victory of good over evil as handed down through the Hindu mythology.

The festival gets its name from the goddess "Mother Durga" who is supposed to have given help in the fight of evil and good to give the victory to good. Involved also seems to be thanksgiving for the harvest. In various areas of the city here they set up colorful images with human and animal forms. Mother Durga with ten arms is the central figure. VICTORIA CAMPAIGN

A Campaign for Christ — fruition of plans initiated in 1964 - will be held June 6-24, 1966 in Victoria, British Columbia.

The 11th and Willis Church in Abilene will sponsor the evangelism. This congregation supports Jim Hawkins, local evangelist in Victoria.

It was Hawkins who in 1964 first suggested such an effort.

Approximately 30-40 personal workers will be involved in the door-to-door evangelism. Carl Spain, minister with the Hillcrest Church of Christ in Abilene, will be the campaign speaker.

Landon Hill of the College Church of Abilene will be the campaign director, and Jack Hill of Abilene's Highland Church will direct personal work.

Victoria, the capital of British Columbia, has a metropolitan population of approximately 150,000. A small church has met in the city for many years, and about four years ago Jim Hawkins, who had served for about seven years in the Canadian mission fields, moved to Victoria.

Since his arrival the congregation has almost doubled in size and now has about 50 members; average attendance is 70-80.

The congregation is in the process of building a 225-seat auditorium. It will be finished by the time of the campaign, but plans call for a "neutral" site such as a public auditorium.

The basic objective of the Victoria campaign, as outlined in a Master Plan, "is to extend the borders of the Kingdom of God in Victoria, with the specific hope that this progress will result in a sufficient increase in membership for the Victoria church to allow it to become self-supporting in its new building."

The church at 11th and Willis and in Victoria have agreed to combine resources to this end.

The first phase of the campaign actually goes into effect in the fall of 1965. An attempt will be made (through several methods) to contact "truth seekers" before the preaching begins next summer.

Also, approximately six months before the campaign begins, a direct mailing will be made to all households receiving mail in greater Victoria.

This mailing will include advertising material introducing the campaign, and the first lesson of a correspondence course. Those who respond to the correspondence course will be the first persons to be contacted by the campaign's personal workers.

A balanced advertising program will be conducted in Victoria beginning in early May, 1966.

Then about one week before the preaching starts the team of personal workers will arrive. According to the Master Plan, "Experienced workers will be sought, both male and female, from various locations in the United States and Canada."

According to members of the 11th and Willis group, a growing list of applications has already been formed.

As many members of the 11th and Willis as possible will be encouraged to go on the effort.

The personal workers will follow-up on contacts accumulated through lirect mail and newspaper advertisements.

In the last two weeks of the campaign, evangelistic services will be held nightly. Home Bible classes will continue during this phase.

A key phase of the program is an organized follow-up mission. The Master Plan proposes that at least three full-time workers be left in Victoria for at least three to four months.

They are to follow up on all home Bible classes which were not completed during the mision, to contact all new prospects who attended various public services in the campaign.

They will work to teach and strengthen all new converts.

For more information about the campaign, contact the Church of Christ, 11th and Willis Streets, Abilene, Texas.

GLEANINGS

with human forms have three eyes and others have noses like the trunk of an elephant. There may also be lions, snakes and birds in the set. Many of these images are the size of human beings or larger, depending on the money that the local Hindu organization has to spend. They are highly coloured with glossy paint. During the four or five days of celebrations they have chantings and drum beating. There are also programmes and dancing.

Some of the programmes are especially devoted to the children. As we observed at one of the "pandals" women came and offered rice and flowers at the feet of the images. Some of the rice was put at different places on the images. These women bowed themselves to the ground and let out a weird warble coming from the blowing through their mouths as they flipped their tongues about. Other people would come and in characteristic India greeting, with slightly bowed head bring hands together before their faces as they stood near the images.

All this celebration with the chanting is supposed to bring the spirit into these images, according to the explanation of one of my fellow Rotary Club members. When the festival is all over the spirits then depart. So the images are dead. It is then in order to bury them. Hence the immersion. They come to the river with their images, some carrying them on their shoulders on bamboo poles, others bringing them on trucks with drum beating and chanting and much gaity. After burning of incense and drum beating a few men then carry the images into the river. They go in with the image and climb on top of it to be sure that it goes under the water. There is general cheering from the watchers. We saw the first few immersions of the 120 or so. As the river here is rather small it was necessary to dam it up for this immersion ceremony. Afterwards they must pull out these images to clean the river. In Calcutta where the Hoogly river flows through the city they just dump them in and let them float away to the sea.

This was all very interesting, but very sad too. It is difficult to believe that these multitudes of people really believe these things. But evidently they do. The Chief Minister of this state went before on the images of Mother Durga and offered his prayers, according to the newspaper. But we live among those we would call heathens with their heathen gods. This sight moves ones heart. What can we do about it? The modern trends toward education may be with us, but it will take much to overcome these traditional beliefs. Here we do not think of working so much among the Hindus as among the tribal people. But there are many Hindus here who need the saving truth of the gospel.

Yes, I attended an immersion. I came away reflecting and with sadness. How different an immersion than I am accustomed to, associating with joy and new birth! Here was only superstition, ignorance and condemnation. I want them to know of a different immersion.

We, as teachers in the church, must lead pupils into a knowledge of Christian truth, and into the ability, and disposition to think, feel, will and act on the basis of this truth; not alone in their relationship to God, and in the experience of worship, but in all of their relationships and activities of life.

A BUSY FALL AT GREAT LAKES CHRISTIAN COLLEGE

The Fall season has proven to be one of the busiest and happiest in our memory. The student body is high spirited but spiritual. It is blessed with good student leaders who have expressed concern for Christian action as well as social activities.

Director Max Craddock has maintained a vigorous program with the College Chorus. A week-end practice session was held at Omagh Bible School under the guest direction of Fred Alexander, Director of Admissions, M.C.C. The Chorus has presented programs at the Annual Meeting, Barrie, and the College. It is scheduled to sing at St. Catharines on the 10th of December. An unusual experience came to the Chorus members when they were invited to sing on a religious program prepared for Channel 3 T.V. in Barrie on November 21.

Exceptional ability was displayed by G.L.C.C. students at the Annual Oratory Final on November 19. Winners of the Junior and Senior divisions of the speech competition were Sandra Walker and Judy Stewart respectively. And top readers in the Bible Reading competition were Linda Perry and Connie Goodman in the Junior and Senior categories.

Some thirty-three students were granted diplomas at the November graduation ceremonies, one of G.L.C.C.'s largest groups of graduating seniors. Eleven of the thirteen Grade 13 graduates are currently furthering their education in institutions of higher learning. Graduation guest speaker, Warren Lewis of Toronto, gave a compelling challenge to the graduates to live fully in the coming decades which are and will be marked by "explosions" of people, knowledge, and crime.

The Annual Meeting of the Corporation in Mid-October elected one new Board member, Arthur Fleming of Beamsville, and returned two former Board members, Jim Allcock of St Catharines and Albert Bennetts of Toronto.

The College and Home Association has held two meetings. The first included parent-teacher interviews. The second was held at the time of the Oratorical Finals. The Association voted to continue their $100 proficiency scholarship for Grade 9 and 11 first place students, and to add a $50 scholarship for the second place student in each grade. Also, the group hopes to provide black-out curtains for several classrooms this year.

"LEADing Effort '65," G.L.C.C.'s Fall campaign for support for operational funds has proven to be most encouraging. Some eight dinners were held in different centers in Ontario and New York state. The total number of LEAD participants were more than doubled as a result.

Two Homecomings were enjoyed at G.L.C.C. this fall instead of the traditional one. In addition to an enjoyable reunion of Alumni on October 23, the "old boys and girls" of the Beamsville Bible School (1903-1916) met for a reunion, the first in the 50 years since that school ceased operations.

Four religious clubs are active on campus this year including the Girls Religious, Koinonia (Boys) Mission Action, and Men's Forum. The Men's Forum will conduct a week's Student Bible Lectureship in early December. Al Hartwigsen, G.L.C.C.'s new Vice-President, delivered a stirring series of addresses during Christian Emphasis Week early in October.

DAUPHIN REPORT

The church at Dauphin is happy to report that the building is progressing. The cement has been poured for the foundation and the walls. The weather has been very favourable for this up till now.

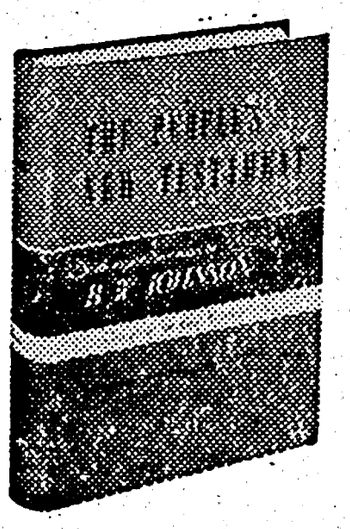
We are pleased to have Bro. and Sis. Wayne Hovind and family worshipping with us, while his work is in this area.

Some of the members of this congregation attended the lectureship at Weyburn and also the fellowship at Manson.

Bro. and Sis. Leonard Bailey and family of Zambia have shown their slides to the congregation here. Sis. Bailey will show slides to the ladies class. This will be their last showing before returning to Africa to labour there.

Our radio program is an excellent way to keep the church before the people and to teach. It has a large coverage, but unless more support comes from outside it may become necessary to discontinue at the end of this year.

Studies are going on with some who are showing interest in the church.



There has been quite a bit of sickness amongst the members lately.

We are already making some plans towards the opening of the building in the spring.

We would encourage anyone who is interested in helping to establish the church to come and work with us. The Lord will bless you and you will be encouraged in working in this new field.

GOSPEL HERALD
Box 94, Beamsville, Ontario

FIFTY YEARS LATER

Saturday, Octoper 16th was a very unusual day on the campus of Great Lakes Christian College. Some fifty people assembled that day to bridge a gap of fifty years. The last class of the Beamsville Bible School met in 1916. Since that time until the October Saturday in 1965 no general gathering of the students of the school had been held. The faculty and staff of Great Lakes Christian College took a real pleasure in being host for the gathering. It was indeed heart warming to see old friends and fellow students having this opportunity to have fellowship after so many years.

The Beamsville Bible School was established under the direction of S. M. Jones in 1902. It started with the aim of giving a practical educational program with Bible teaching as a major emphasis. This was the first attempt in Ontario to project Christian education into the life of the community and the church. Although a gap of many years existed between the close of the Beamsville Bible school and the establishment of Great Lakes Christian College both schools are connected by the continuity of influence from the first school. Today many of the ardent supporters of Great Lakes are those former students of the old school. Among the faculty and student body this year are children and grandchildren of those same people.

We are reminded by history that we of the present generation do not have a monopoly on ideas and vision. It is only our arrogance that causes us to think this way. Those of us who are younger and who joined in the fellowship were forced to give honour to whom honour was due. Even though the Beamsville Bible School had a short life it was a visionary project to begin with and one which had and is having a lasting influence.

A dinner was served in the dining hall of Great Lakes Christian College and later all assembled in College Hall. A devotion was held after which C. G. McPhee spoke to the group. He traced the Beamsville school back to an idea in the mind of David Lipscomb in Nashville, Tennessee. Lipscomb's idea was that schools could be and should be established where the Bible and its Christ could be taught along with those subjects necessary for successful living in this life. Following brother McPhee, Geoffrey Ellis emphasized the connection between the present school and the old one. Following this John Williams of Beamsville, James Yeates of Sarnia and John Gladwell of Hamilton spoke briefly to their fellow students. The group then retired to the school library to contemplate and reminisce over pictures, letters and other relics of the school activity between 1902 and 1916.

Hannah Smart of Vineland had the honour of being the oldest student present and Hulda Goode of Creston, B.C. came the greatest distance for the reunion. Others who signed the guest register were: John and Gussie Gladwell of Hamilton; Hattie McDuffe, of Milton; Sadie and Bob Brown of Oakville; Archie and Edna Purcell of Glencoe; Sydney Huntsman of Toronto; James and Maude Yates of Sarnia; Mina Culp, Ella May Jones and Flo Gage of Hamilton; Charles and Grace McPhee of St. Catharines; Christina Snure of Beamsville; Fern Tallman of Beamsville; Rosalie Jones of Hamilton; Lillian and John Williams of Beamsville; Sarah and Herbert Dale of London; Lloyd and Jean Snure of Hamilton; Marjorie and Albert Jones of Hamilton; Grace and Ernest Perry of Tintern; Cora Boulton of Beamsville; Marion and William Cox of Beamsville; Mrs. Charles Waterworth, of Beamsville and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Killom. Also on hand were various members of the faculty and staff of Great Lakes Christian College.

PAN-AMERICAN LECTURESHIP

It was the privilege of the writer to attend the Third Annual Pan-American Lecture Program held this year in Panama City from October 25-29.

This lectureship and mission training program held on the "field" was one of the richest experiences of my life.

When the airplane landed at the airport in Panama, I stepped out into a strange new world of the tropics. The language was strange, the faces were strange and the climate was strange. As we drove into the city we passed through miles and miles of banana, coconut and other strange vegetation. As we neared the city there were hundreds of Panamanians in tenaments and other buildings, outside fruit stands and children playing along the highway.

Suddenly we were in the Tourist area of plush hotels, restaurants and expensive looking stores. This is Panama City. A metropolis of half a million people from all over the world—a city of contrast. Wealth and poverty live side by side. The filth and poverty of the majority of these places defies description. Thievery, prostitution and gambling are the order of the day. A little boy of seven or eight begs you to let him shine your shoes for a dime. Another tries to sell you a lotting ticket, another simply begs for a nickel.

On every corner armed soldiers stand in pairs to "protect" the people. I saw a group of twenty or more children clammering around a soup kettle one morning to get their breakfast.

Every second door in the "business section" of the slums is a "cantina" or bar.

And in the choicest location of all-towering into the sky—stand the spires of a massive Catholic Cathedral.

The vast majority of the people give at least lip service to Catholicism.

There are about 1½ million people in the area and there are about fifteen small congregations of the Church of Christ today. There are English speaking congregations in Balboa and Cristobal. The rest are Spanish speaking. Most of the workers there are bi-lingual.

The work in Central America looks promising. In two years, the number of full time workers has multiplied four times and it appears that more will be coming soon. One of the highlights is the Pan-American Bible School now operated by the Balboa church under the direction of Carl James. Six young men are now taking training in their first year of a three year program. These young Latin Americans are the true hope for the church in Central and South America. This seems to be the lasting answer to evangelizing any area. Train the local youth to carry the banner of Christ to their own people!!! This is being done in many mission fields today.

The Lectureship itself was truly inspiring. It was good to hear the men who work in the area - Carl James, James Holland, Ted Kingery, Jerry Hill, Dan Coke and others. It was inspiring to hear men of world vision like Cline Paden, Jack Fogarty and Reuel Lemmons. It was especially good to see six Panamaniams baptized and to visit the Spanish speaking church in Ris Abajo.

I believe my faith is stronger and my vision of "mission" work is broader now. The concept of a world vision for Christ has meant little to me before but now I pray God that I will never forget the experiences I had in Panama City.

QUEBEC CITY TO HAVE BUILDING

After 12 years in France, Owen Aikin moved to Quebec City to begin the church. He has conducted Bible Correspondence courses, door-to-door work, Home Bible studies, and newspaper teaching. One family has been baptized and studies are being conducted with many others.

With this foundation, the need for a suitable meeting place is becoming more apparent. Present meetings are in the Aikin home.

After consultation with the supporting elders in Cleburne, Texas plans have been drawn up for a residence type structure with partitions left out. It will seat 60-80 and be economical and re-salable. The lot and building permit have been obtained.

The two families there, anxious to support their own work as much as possible, are soliciting interest-free loans by which to build. Plan is to repay all in 8 years. Since this is a Canadian work it is hoped that a good part of the $13,000 still needed can be raised in Canada. Gifts are, of course, acceptable.

Send correspondence to Owen Aiken, P.O. Box 41, Quebec 10, Que.

TRUE FRIENDS

You can talk about your business friends
Or those you met at school,
And lots of them are mighty fine.
But I find, as a rule,
The friends who never grieve you
Never leave you in the lurch
Are the friends you get acquainted with
Through contacts in Christ's church.

You'll find amongst acquaintances
Some folks that never grow
To mean a bit more to you,
It's because they do not show
That little spark of something.
Think about it as you may!
It's that little spark called "Wholesomeness"
That God puts there to stay.

Your Christian friends mean most to you
As on through life you roam,
They may live a long way from you
But you know that in their home,
They will always gladly greet you,
All they have they're pleased to share,
For right in their hearts they truly have
The Love that Christ put there.

HERE AND THERE

Weyburn, Sask.: There are now 70 members besides the students who number over 60. Five are reported as recently baptized. Plans are advancing on the building which will have an auditorium to seat 255 and contain 12 classrooms.

HERE AND THERE

shop is planned for February 4th.

Nanaimo, B.C.: One lady was baptized in a series of meetings held the last week of October by the local evangelist, Dennis Zelmer. This little church of 40 members averages a morning worship attendance of 65 and contribution of $85. Help is being sent to India, to Joe Cannon and to Kamloops.

Burnaby, B.C.: Joe McKissick of Dallas, Texas held a meeting in October. A forty family exodus to Vancouver has been proposed.

Wawota, Sask.: B. Gist held a meeting here beginning October 20.

Estevan, Sask.: Jim Pennington began work here in the Spring. Clinton Brazle of Weyburn held a meeting Oct. 12-22. Two were baptized during the summer. Three new classrooms are being built under the new auditorium. This church plans to use the direct mail campaign put out by Alvin Jennings.

Horse Creek, Sask.: This church held a meeting in McCord with Glen Dods preaching.

Carnduff, Sask.: There are 16 members meeting in the public school auditorium. They hope to erect a building next year.

Rochester, N.Y.: A plan for an exodus of 200 families to this city has been announced by the memorial Church of Christ, Houston, Texas. The target date is August 1967. A goal has been set to baptize 200 believers the first year.

India, Shillong: From Laitumkrah, Ray McMillan reports a total of 10 college-men baptized since the start of services there the first of the year. Two came directly from Hinduism. Three have returned to their home states, six continue and one has died.

David Hallett reports that the correspondence course work is increasing and indicates that additional financial help could be well used in it. He was recently called back to Gauhati to immerse the second convert there. He is a 30 year old Hindu who is working on his M.A. degree. The total enrolled in correspondence courses is now 2,130.

Additional conversions have been: two more at Umroy where the new congregation is just under way; one at Bhoilymbong, and the wife of one of the teachers at Mawlai.

Brother McMillan is putting out a monthly paper called "The Anchor."

Jerusualem, Jordan: When the authorities stopped the Bible Correspondence course work Everett Huffard began following up some of the students in Zerka, the second largest city in Jordan, by personal visits which resulted in a boy's class of some 12-15. Soon some parents showed interest and a second class was added. Three were baptized and it was expected that some 12 or 15 others would follow soon. Thus began a new congregation in a large city.

Beirut: A campaign for Christ is scheduled for May 1966, the first of its kind conducted by American Christians in the Arab speaking world of 60,000,000 souls. Ivan Stewart of Oklahoma City will direct the campaign.

Scotland: "The work of the church here is going on well. There were four baptisms recently. The two full-time workers are both Scottish. Jerry Porter returned to U.S. the end of August. He did a tremendous work during the six and a half years he spent in Glasgow."

—Phyllis White

Okinawa: The father of Sister Joe Cannon passed away in Okmulgee, Oklahoma on September 14. Joe writes that the brethren in Naha have begun the use of their new building. This building serves as a home for three preachers. It is used as an office for radio program, correspondence course and a number of other activities, provides a meeting place for nine or 10 services or activities during each week as well as furnishing space for seven Sunday morning classes. "Adding up the time of the different activities, the building is being used 46 hours a week besides the use for living accommodations.

Buffalo, N.Y.: Two recent baptisms and one restoration are reported. Brother Dave Hearn, who has been in the south working on the Exodus-New Jersey project, has returned to his duties with the Northside church.

Sherman, Texas: There were 309 responses in the largest one week campaign in the history of North Texas ending August 15. Of 236, during the meeting, 36 were baptisms. The three day youth rally preceeding brought 109 responses with three baptisms. Average nightly attendance around 2,800. About 20% were not members of the church. A total of 385 signed up for Bible courses.

Dallas, Texas: At a two week exhibit at the State Fair, 1,521 signed up for Bible courses, of which 570 were members of the Baptist church.

Chicago, Ill.: A two year campaign to saturate Chicago and area with the gospel will be climaxed with a one week meeting in October 1967 with a goal of 5,000 in attendance each night. There are about 5,000 active members in the area and the goal is to double this number in the two years.

Creston, B.C.: Work has started on a much needed meeting house. The basement is being done by contact, and the footings are in. There are 18 members and they have only a small balance to work on the upper structure. They now meet in the old building which will be sold.

WHAT CHRIST MEANS

or pay-cheque is coming from we have only to read from the sermon on the mount about the lilies of the field and the sparrows such as "Take no thought for your life, what you shall eat, or what you shall drink. . . .but seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you. Take therefore no thought for the morrow; for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself" and David says in Psalm 27:1 ". . .the Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid' .

We don't even have to fear death because eternal life with our Heavenly Father is promised us if we live good Christian lives. Paul says in 1 Thess. 5:10 ". . .that whether we wake or sleep we should live together with him."
