Highlights

We hosted a GSA/GSPA Townhall, and it had an impressive winter term turnout. We had 69 unique attendees, 34 questions asked live, and all the students who participated in the feedback survey agreed or strongly agreed that the session will contribute to their success in grad studies! One student wrote: "Panel members were courteous and knowledgeable in their responses to students' questions. The session created an overall positive experience."

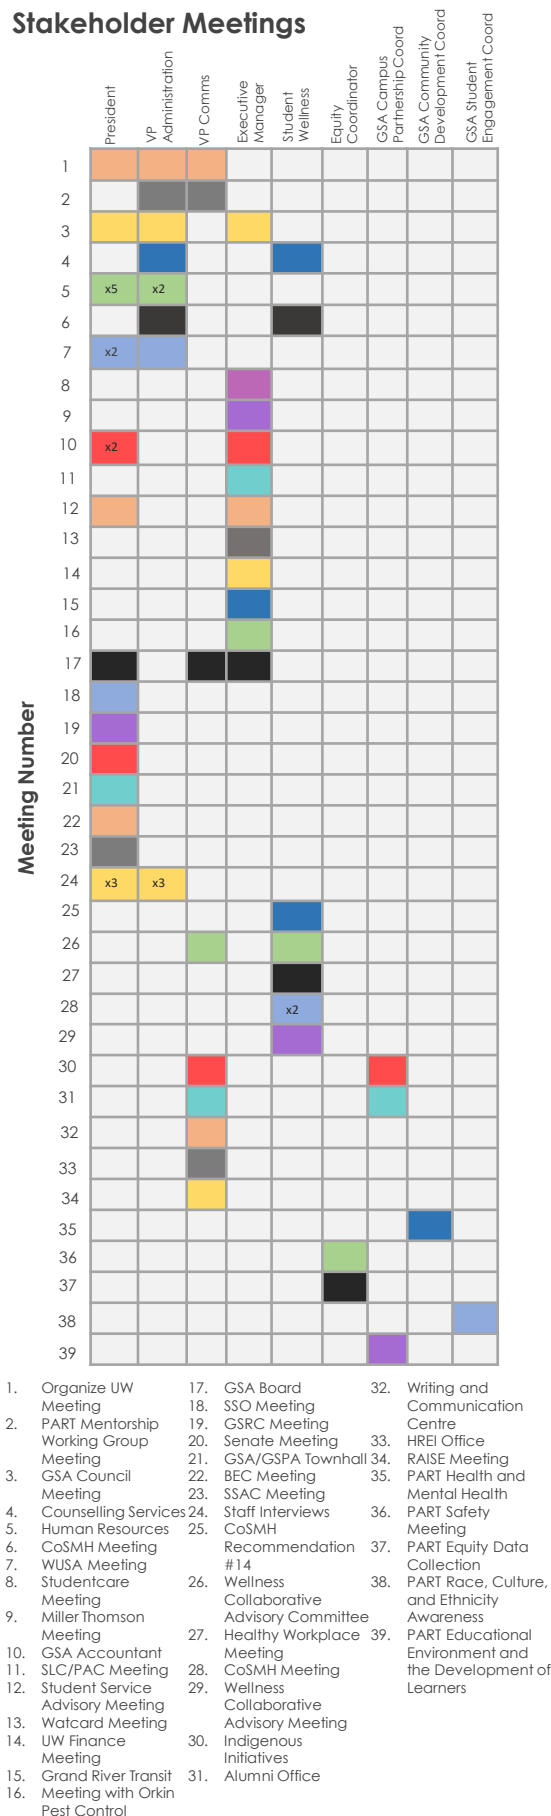

Our first Around the World Digital Quilt project was launched and is still open for submissions. Any graduate student, whether located in KW or internationally, is encouraged to submit a drawing, photo, poem, or short story describing where they are in the world right now.

Our BIPOC Graduate Community Collective was launched this month and we invited BIPOC graduate students to share their ideas on what the Collective should be doing to create safer spaces for Black students, Indigenous students, and students of colour on campus and in the community. We welcomed Wilfrid Laurier University graduate students and members of the Black Faculty Collective.

The second GSA-UW COVID-19 impact survey was launched in November. It was a follow up to an April survey released in the first Ontario provincial lockdown. The survey collected 1,256 responses. The results have been analyzed and they will help us understand issues students are facing due to COVID-19.

A new coordinator joined our team for the Winter 2021 term as the Data Analysis and Report Design Coordinator.
