(Res Ipsa loquitur)

134. Plaintiffs incorporate the preceding paragraphs by reference as if fully set forth herein.

135. Defendants, acting together and in concert, carelessly and negligently delayed calling 911 and seeking emergency medical services for immediate transportation to a hospital.

136. Plaintiff did not, in any way, cause or contribute to her own injuries and damages. Because Plaintiff was over-anesthetized, she was unconscious and not able to contract for or provide for her own safety.

137. Plaintiff was in the full custody of the Defendants, which had the sole legal duty and responsibility to provide for her care and safety.

138. Under the circumstances giving rise to this case, Defendants, acting together, were in the exclusive control of monitoring the operative equipment, following office procedures and policies, and providing medical care that fell below the standard of care when they caused a 5 ½-hour delay in calling 911 for emergency medical services.

139. The unreasonable delay in calling for emergency medical services as described in more detail herein does not occur in the absence of negligence by one or more healthcare providers within the surgical setting.

140. As such, the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur applies in this case.

141. Defendants' actions directly and proximately caused or exacerbated Plaintiff's injuries. The delay in seeking emergency medical attention, and allowing Plaintiff to remain untreated, resulted in Plaintiff suffering a permanent anoxic brain injury, leaving her in a minimally conscious state that requires 24/7 nursing care.

142. As a further direct and proximate result of the aforesaid negligence and carelessness of Defendants, Plaintiff has suffered and continues to suffer damages and losses as more fully set forth below.

XI. NINTH CLAIM FOR RELIEF
(Joint & Several Liability Pursuant to C.R.S. § 13-21-111.5(4))

143. Plaintiffs incorporate herein and make a part hereof all preceding paragraphs as though fully set forth herein.

144. In providing care and treatment to Plaintiff, the named Defendants acted in concert to provide a course of care and treatment to Plaintiff.

145. In providing care and treatment to Plaintiff, the named Defendants knowingly agreed upon a common plan to treat and monitor Plaintiff.

146. Defendants, and each of them, acted negligently in furtherance of their common plan for care and treatment of Plaintiff.

147. Accordingly, all named Defendants herein are jointly and severally liable for damages suffered by the Plaintiff, pursuant to C.R.S. 13-21-111.5(4).

DAMAGES

148. Plaintiff incorporates the preceding paragraphs by reference as if fully set forth herein.

149. As a direct and proximate result of the negligent acts and/or failures to act of all named Defendants as described above, Plaintiff suffered injuries, including, but not limited to; an irreversible anoxic brain injury resulting in a permanent "semi-conscious" state; permanent mental and physical impairment requiring 24/7 medical care; complications and necessary medical care resulting from her brain injury, including permanent tube-feeding, and other medical and functional limitations and needs arising directly as a result of Plaintiff's brain injury.

150. As a direct and proximate result of the negligent acts and/or failures to act of all named Defendants as described above, Plaintiff has incurred damages and losses, including but not limited to, past and future noneconomic damages including pain and suffering, impairment, disfigurement, a loss of enjoyment of life, and emotional distress; past and future medical and other care expenses; past and future loss of household and other services; past and future loss of earnings and loss of earning capacity; legal and other expenses associated with guardianship and conservatorship.

151. Additionally and as a further direct and proximate result of the negligent acts and/or failures to act of the Defendants as described above, Plaintiff Lynn Chan Fam, as the legal guardian and conservator for Emmalyn Nguyen, has incurred past and future damages including medical and other expenses related to Emmalyn's lifelong care and treatment; loss of services; and other incidental and consequential economic losses associated with Emmalyn Nguyen's catastrophic injury.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs pray that judgment be entered in her favor and against Defendants for general and special damages in an amount which will fully and fairly compensate the Plaintiff for her injuries and resulting economic and noneconomic damages, both past and future. Plaintiffs further pray that the court award them pre- and post- judgment interest as permitted by Colorado law, cost of this suit, and such other and further relief as this court may deem just and proper.
