you feel like you're
living the wrong life?
Well, actually no! I know exactly how you feel because when I was in high school, I had a bunch of friends who went to a different college than me. And we used to talk about how we were all living the same life, but some of us were going to one college, while some of us were going to another college on the opposite side of the campus. We wondered how we could ever decide which life was better than the other, or if we ever had any control over our lives.

But luckily, I discovered the answer to the question. It's not that you live one life and then you die and go to a different college.

So, being a philosopher, and having many other books in that category, you may be thinking, how is this anything relevant to me? That brings us to how I am going to touch on all these topics today. First, we are going to talk about the relevant questions that you should be asking of yourself, or that I should be asking of you. Then we are going to have a conversation about how to use life, or a philosophy on life, to help you gain control of your life. And last we will finish up with a discussion on how we can live our lives with meaning. First, if you feel like you are living the wrong life, you should ask yourself: "Is there more meaning to my life? Am I able to live the life that I want? How can I find out
